NATIONAL TOURNAMENT TEAMS

2013 - NCCAA World Series

The 2013 team became the first in program history to reach the NCCAA World Series. It appeared as if the season was over for the Scots after finishing third in the NCCAA Mid-East Regional, but the Scots were selected as an at-large and seeded 10th at the NCCAA World Series in Mason, Ohio. Covenant went 0-4 in pool play at the World Series.

2014 - NCAA Tournament

After claiming the USA South regular season championship, the Scots earned the conference's automatic berth to the NCAA Tournament. It marked the first time in Covenant athletics history that a team had qualified for an NCAA championship tournament. Led by eight all-USA South performers, Covenant was placed in the South Regional as the No. 6 seed. The Scots went 0-2 in the regional which was hosted by Piedmont College in Demorest, Georgia.

After losing to top-seed, and 13th-ranked, Shenandoah 11-3 in the first round, the Scots were eliminated from the tournament with a 5-3 loss to Rhodes.

The Original Era of Covenant Baseball

The days are long gone, but they have not been forgotten. The original era of the Covenant baseball program spanned from 1966-83 before lying dormant as a varsity sport for 24 years.

In the first era of the program, the Scots were guided mostly by Walter Bowman, a man who greatly influenced the Covenant athletic department as its director and as a coach in multiple sports. Bowman coached the Scots for a total of 11 seasons in addition to his other duties within the department and the college.

After Covenant moved to Lookout Mountain in 1964, baseball first burst on to the scene in 1966. Under the leadership of Charles Anderson, another significant influencer for Covenant athletics and the college as a whole, the Scots began their baseball quest.

Bowman took over in 1968 and led the Scots to their first winning season in 1969 with a 7-6 mark. In that 1969 season, the Scots went on a four-game winning streak that culminated with a 3-2, 12-inning win over Cleveland State CC, and a 6-5 victory over Bryan that clinched a winning season.

In 1974, Covenant came up with one of its best wins of that era. On April 6, the Scots shutout Mercer, 2-0, behind the pitching of Dave Nelson who tossed a one-hitter. The game ball, signed by head coach Walter Bowman and lists the entire starting lineup, still sits in the trophy display area inside Barnes PE Center.

Covenant had perhaps its best team of the era in 1981. New head coach Richard Brooks had a talented team that included Steve "Hawk" Phillips, Danny Griffin, Jerry Scheuber, Scott Whitted, and others. The group went 12-17, the most wins of any team during the period. In that season, the Scots rallied from a 16-6 deficit in the fourth inning to earn a thrilling, 17-16, victory over King.

Rumblings began in the 1981 season about the possibility of the program's funding being cut. The program survived the next two seasons (1982 and 1983), but was ultimately discontinued in the summer of 1983.

Although club baseball would continue at Covenant for a few years after the varsity program was stopped, baseball would not officially return to Covenant until the mid-2000s. Doug Simons was brought on board to restart varsity baseball in 2005. The Scots played a club season in 2006 before going back to the varsity level in 2007, 24 years after the original era of Covenant baseball had ended.

Covenant Excited About New Season

Coach Walt Bowman (center) feels this years Scot team could be a strong or stronger than any of his teams of the past.

All the players are returning from last years team and will be a key factor in their success.
