BEN ZOBRIST

2016 WORLD SERIES MVP

DBU BASEBALL'S BEN ZOBRIST ETCHED HIS NAME IN MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL HISTORY WHEN HE WAS NAMED THE MOST VALUABLE PLAYER OF THE 2016 WORLD SERIES, AS HE HELPED LIFT THE CHICAGO CUBS TO THEIR FIRST WORLD SERIES TITLE SINCE 1908.

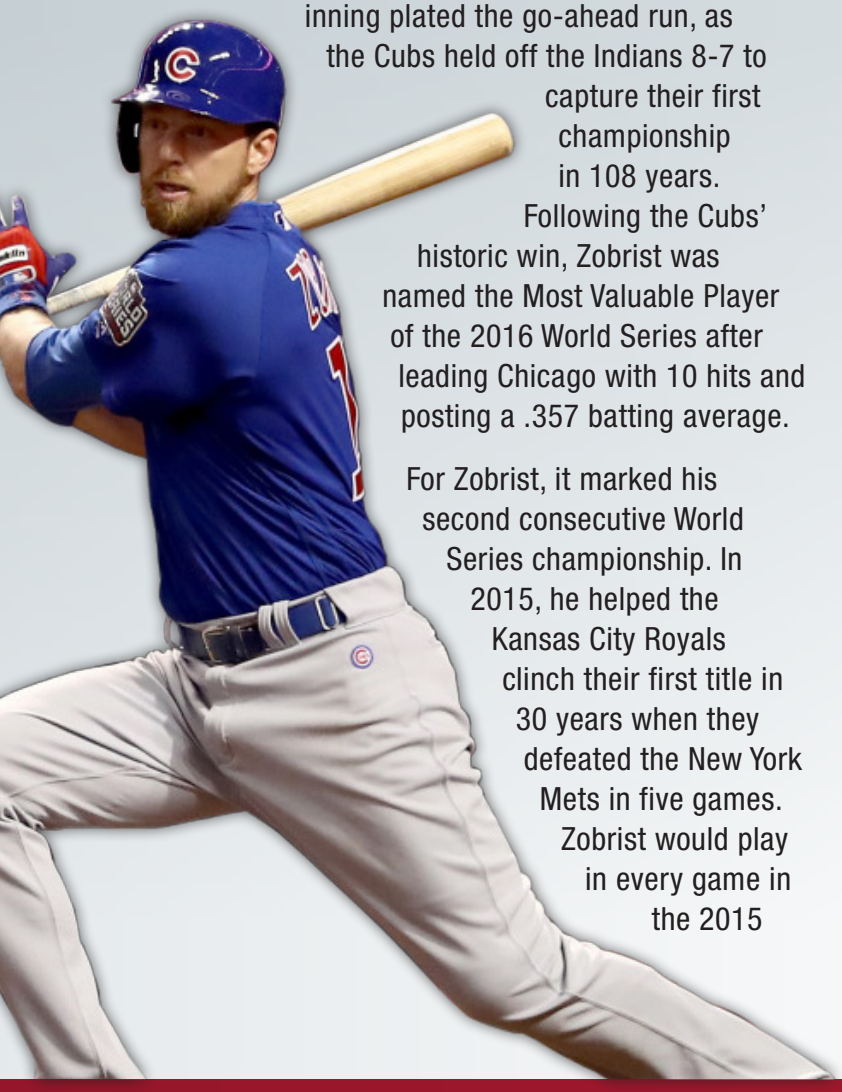
Facing the Cleveland Indians in Game 7 of the World Series, a double from Zobrist in the top of the 10th inning plated the go-ahead run, as the Cubs held off the Indians 8-7 to capture their first championship in 108 years. Following the Cubs' historic win, Zobrist was named the Most Valuable Player of the 2016 World Series after leading Chicago with 10 hits and posting a .357 batting average.



For Zobrist, it marked his second consecutive World Series championship. In 2015, he helped the Kansas City Royals clinch their first title in 30 years when they defeated the New York Mets in five games. Zobrist would play in every game in the 2015 postseason for the Royals, hitting .303 with a pair of home runs and six RBIs.

As a Patriot, Zobrist spent his senior year at DBU in 2004 and hit a team-best .378 for a Patriots' team that went 44-16. Zobrist also led the team in home runs (8), RBIs (66), slugging percentage (.590), and stolen bases (22).

Following the 2004 season, Zobrist was selected in the sixth round of the Major League Draft by the Houston Astros. Two years later, he was traded to the Tampa Bay Rays and made his Major League debut in 2006. Zobrist spent nine seasons in Tampa Bay, playing in 1,064 games in a Rays' uniform before signing with the Oakland Athletics in 2015. Later that same year, he was acquired by the Kansas City Royals before the trading deadline in their push to the postseason. Following the Royals' World Series title in 2015, Zobrist signed a four-year deal as a free agent with the Chicago Cubs.

Zobrist completed his 14-year Major League career in 2019, giving him the longest Big League career by a player from DBU. The Patriot legend was a three-time All-Star and was named to the American and National League All-Star teams during his career.

GLOBAL SPORTS MISSION INITIATIVE

THE DBU BASEBALL TEAM TRAVELED TO THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC DURING THE FALL BREAK OF 2023. The team's trip was their fifth as part of DBU's Global Sports Mission Initiative program, dating back to their first trip to Guatemala in 2007. The Patriots have also visited the Dominican in 2011, Curacao in 2015, and Cuba in 2019.

Players, coaches, and staff traveled to the Dominican Republic in October of 2023 with the mission to spread the gospel message of Jesus Christ through the sport of baseball. During their five-day trip, the Patriots competed against teams consisting of professional players in the capital city of Santo Domingo, as well as the New York Yankees' Complex in Boga Chica. While in Jarabacoa, the Patriots hosted a baseball clinic for local children. The team also served in various communities, painting homes in impoverished areas.

"I know our players would agree with me when I say that the mission trips have been a highlight of their time at DBU," DBU Head Coach Dan Heefner said. "Each trip has brought us closer together as a team, but more importantly they have reinforced what we talk about in regards to faith and humility. We get to see how big God is, that he is not just the God of the United States, but that he is being worshipped all over the world. When we go and serve, we see that it truly is better to give than to receive."

In addition to participating in the Global Sports Mission Initiative, DBU Baseball players take an active role in supporting the University's mission of developing servant leaders through serving locally as well. The players and coaches have served the Dallas/Fort Worth community by conducting several free baseball clinics, volunteering at the Special Olympics of Texas State Track and Field Meet, Feast of Sharing, Operation Christmas Child, Habitat for Humanity, and the North Texas Food Bank.

TOP 20 BALLPARK IN THE NATION

The home of DBU Baseball, Horner Ballpark, was ranked as the 20th best venue for college baseball in the nation, as announced by D1Baseball.com in September of 2016. In a survey sent to every full-time coach and sports information director across the landscape of NCAA Division I baseball, Horner Ballpark ranked No. 20, receiving three first-place votes and 29 points overall.

Among the 25 ballparks ranked by D1Baseball.com, Horner Ballpark ranks as the 18th best stadium that is designated solely for college baseball. (This excludes No. 11 Haymarket Park, which is home to both the University of Nebraska and the Lincoln Saltdogs of the American Association of Independent Professional Baseball, as well as No. 16 TD Ameritrade Park, the home ballpark for Creighton University and the College World Series).

HORNER BALLPARK

BACKGROUND

On February 15, 2013, the first pitch was thrown at Horner Ballpark and a new era in DBU Baseball was ushered in. With the opening of one of the premier facilities in NCAA Division I College Baseball, the Dallas Baptist University Administration showed, once again, the strength of their commitment to a top tier baseball program on University Hill.

In keeping with the architectural theme of the campus, Horner Ballpark exhibits a Georgian-style facade of dark red brick and offers state-of-the-art fan amenities throughout the stadium. With a capacity of 2,000 persons, Horner Ballpark contains four guest suites available for rental, a pavilion down the leftfield line for large groups, and party plazas along both sides of the concourse available for medium sized gatherings. With closed-circuit televisions throughout the park and the audio broadcast of the game piped into each suite and restroom, fans are never far from the action at Horner Ballpark.

Designed by HKS (Cowboys Stadium, Globe Life Park in Arlington, and more) and built by FJW Construction, DBU partnered with the premier companies in the nation in ballpark construction to build Horner Ballpark. Along with the construction of Horner Ballpark, batting tunnels were added underneath the stadium for easy access from behind the home dugout. Coaches' offices, a meeting room with video capabilities, and a reception area were all included in the design and construction of Horner Ballpark to aid players and coaches in their time at DBU.

2015 DALLAS REGIONAL

In just its third season of existence, Horner Ballpark played host to the 2015 Dallas Regional.On May 31, 2015, a Horner Ballpark record crowd of 3,242 watched DBU win 8-1 over the University of Texas.

VIDEO BOARD ADDED IN 2018

A new state-of-the-art LED video board was added in 2018 and features 1,320 square feet of digital space for high-definition video, statistics, instant replay and advertising.

BALLPARK ADDITIONS

Weight Room - A final addition to the player development phase located underneath the stadium was completed in the fall of 2021 with the completion of a 3,300 square foot weight room.

Pitching Lab - An artificial turf pitching lab was constructed underneath Horner Ballpark that features 3 pitching mounds and 4 cameras, used for biomechanical analysis.

Artificial Turf - Horner Ballpark added a new AstroTurf playing surface in 2016.

Padded Walls - The wall project was headed by one of the leading companies in the sport padding industry and features a color change from green to dark navy in order to match the seating and dugouts of Horner Ballpark.

CAMPUS

DALLAS BAPTIST UNIVERSITY

MAJESTIC CAMPUS

Located in Southwest Dallas and overlooking Mountain Creek Lake, the DBU main campus is well known for its beautiful, rural setting. The physical characteristics of the campus leaves an impression born of an early American Colonial-style architecture nestled within a majestic and varied landscape. More than the University's lakeside, hill country setting, DBU's beauty is inspired by a vision for a distinctly Christian institution of higher education that welcomes all those who come to learn, grow, and be transformed on University Hill.

The University's 292-acre main campus is one of only two official arboretums in Dallas as identified by the National Public Gardens Association, and has been named a Tree Campus USA by the Arbor Day Foundation every year since 2010, yet it is located only 13 miles from downtown Dallas and 19 miles from downtown Fort Worth. This thriving metropolitan locale provides students a wide range of opportunities for growth academically, socially, physically, professionally, and spiritually. The academic program offers options for rigorous scholastic engagement at the undergraduate and graduate level, and is coupled with opportunities for community service, social development, cultural enrichment, and spiritual development.

MEET THE PATRIOTS

DAN HEEFNER—HEAD COACH

Dan Heefner is in his 18th season as the head coach of the DBU Baseball team and his 21st year with the program. During his previous 17 seasons at the helm, Heefner has guided the DBU Baseball program to the NCAA postseason 13 times, including 12 of the last 13 years. The Patriots are also one of just five teams in college baseball to reach the NCAA Regionals each of the past 10 years.

Heefner has been a four-time Conference Coach of the Year during his career, garnering the Keith LeClair Conference USA Coach of the Year in 2023 and 2024 and the Missouri Valley Conference Dan Callahan Coach of the Year in 2016 and 2021. Heefner is also a two-time American Baseball Coaches Association Midwest Region Coach of the Year (2008 & 2011).

In 17 seasons at DBU, Heefner owns a career record of 652-326-1, and his .667 win percentage ranks as the eighth-highest in the nation among active NCAA Division I coaches. Dating back to the 2015 season when the Patriots hosted the Dallas Regional, Heefner has guided DBU to 396 wins, and the Patriots' 43 wins per season is the third-highest average in the country over the last 10 years.

AVERAGE WINS PER YEAR SINCE 2015

1. Florida (45)	3. East Carolina (43)
1. LSU (45)	3. Southern Miss (43)
2. Oregon State (44)	3. Texas A&M (43)
2. Vanderbilt (44)	4. Louisville (42)
3. DBU (43)	5. TCU (41)
3. Arkansas (43)	5. Texas Tech (41)

In the postseason, Heefner has led DBU to a pair of trips to the Super Regionals. In 2021, the Patriots won the Fort Worth Regional to advance to the Columbia Super Regional. Ten years prior, in 2011, DBU clinched the Fort Worth Regional to punch their ticket to the Santa Clara Super Regional. The Patriots have also reached the regional finals in seven of the last nine years, dating back to 2015 when DBU hosted the Dallas Regional.

Player development has been a hallmark of Dan Heefner's coaching career. During his tenure as the head coach at DBU, Heefner has produced 24 All-Americans, a mark that ranks as the eighth-highest total in college baseball dating back to 2009, as well as 16 Freshman All-Americans since 2008. Heefner has also coached 75 players selected in the Major League Baseball Draft, including 10 that have reached the Big Leagues. Since 2015, the Patriots' 51 draft picks rank as the 15th-most selections from any program in the nation.

YEAR-BY-YEAR

The Patriots are coming off a 2024 season in which they won the Conference USA Tournament and advanced as the No. 2 seed to the Tucson Regional. DBU stormed out of the gates to their best start in the program's Division I era by winning their first nine games and improved to 11-1 after defeating No. 15 Alabama in 12 innings to win the Frisco College Classic. DBU eventually earned its highest ranking in school history, reaching as high as No. 7 on March 25, and was a consensus top 10 team in all five major college baseball polls on the week of April 1. DBU finished the season with a 45-15 record, posting their third-highest win total in program history.

The 2023 season saw DBU win the Conference USA regular season title in their first year in the league and earn the No. 2 seed at the Stillwater Regional, where they would reach their seventh regional final in the last eight years. The Patriots joined the likes of Florida, LSU, Oklahoma State, and Vanderbilt as one of only five teams in the nation to reach the NCAA postseason each of the last nine years. During the 2023 season, the Patriots set a school record for most consecutive wins, winning 14 straight games from April 1-22.

In 2022, DBU reached the NCAA Tournament as the No. 3 seed at the Austin Regional. The Patriots capped off their season with a 34-24-1 record and fell six wins shy of posting their eighth consecutive 40-win season.

2021 will be remembered as one of the all-time great seasons in program history as DBU won three championships and reached the Columbia Super Regionals, where they faced Virginia. The Patriots' three titles included the Missouri Valley Conference regular-season and tournament titles before winning the Fort Worth Regional over a field that included the No. 6 national seed TCU, a three-time national champion in Oregon State, and McNeese State. DBU finished with a 41-18 record, making them the only team in college baseball to have seven consecutive 40-win seasons. The Patriots also earned their highest end-of-season ranking when all five national polls tabbed DBU at No. 14.

In 2020, the Patriots posted a 12-4 record before college baseball witnessed the cancellation of the season due to the COVID-19 pandemic. During the 2020 season, DBU was ranked in the Top 25 all five weeks, winning all four of their weekend series, including a key series win on the road at then-ranked No. 13 North Carolina.

Prior to the 2020 season, the Patriots were coming off their sixth consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament after earning an at-large bid to the postseason in 2019. As the No. 2 seed at the Lubbock Regional, DBU advanced to the regional finals for the fifth consecutive year, where they eventually fell to then-ranked No. 6 Texas Tech, capping off the 2019 season with a 43-20 record. At season's end, the Patriots were ranked No. 24 in the nation by D1Baseball.

The 2018 season saw the Patriots reach the postseason as the No. 3 seed at the Fayetteville Regional. After a first-round loss to Southern Miss, DBU bounced back with victories over Oral Roberts and Southern Miss before falling to then-ranked No. 4 Arkansas, 4-3, capping off their 2018 campaign with a 42-21 record.

In 2017, DBU won the Missouri Valley Conference Tournament to earn the league's automatic bid. It marked the third time since DBU joined The Valley in 2014, in which the Patriots clinched the MVC Tournament title. DBU advanced to the Fort Worth Regional as the No. 3 seed and reached the regional finals for the third straight year. The Patriots finished 2017 with a 42-21 record and won 22 of their final 26 games leading up to the NCAA postseason, which was the second-best record in the nation over that span. Following the 2017 season, DBU was ranked No. 20 in the nation by Collegiate Baseball, marking the third straight year that the Patriots finished the season nationally ranked.

In 2016, DBU won both the Missouri Valley Conference regular-season and tournament titles and advanced to the Lubbock Regional as the No. 2 seed. The Patriots finished the 2016 season with a 44-19 record, reaching the regional final for the fourth time in the last six years and finishing just two wins shy of matching a school record for the most victories in a single season. Following their 2016 campaign, DBU was tabbed No. 24 in the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association and Collegiate Baseball polls.

Heefner guided the Patriots to a historic season in 2015, as DBU won a school-record 46 games and hosted the program's first-ever NCAA Regional Tournament. The Patriots also held the No. 1 RPI in the nation for eight of the last nine weeks of the regular season and finished the year ranked No. 15 in the country by Perfect Game, a mark that ranks as the highest end-of-season ranking in school history.

In 2014, DBU competed in its inaugural season as a member of the Missouri Valley Conference. Heefner's club burst onto the scene by winning the MVC Tournament in Terre Haute, Indiana, and received an automatic bid to the NCAA Regional Tournament. The Patriots earned the No. 2 seed at the Fort Worth Regional and finished the season with a 40-21 record, making it the third time in the past four years in which DBU reached 40 wins.

Heefner and the Patriots made their second consecutive trip to the postseason in 2012, as DBU earned a trip to the Waco Regional. The Patriots advanced to the Regional Championship game for the second straight year and finished the year with a 41-19 record.

In 2011, Heefner guided the Patriots to even more national recognition, winning the NCAA Fort Worth Regional in a field that included TCU, Oklahoma, and Oral Roberts. Heefner was again named the ABCA Midwest Region Coach of the Year as his team competed in the Santa Clara Super Regional against the University of California-Berkley. The Patriots finished the year with a 42-20 record, marking the 33rd consecutive winning season for the program, and finished as high as No. 16 in the nation at season's end by Collegiate Baseball. DBU's high-powered offense in 2011 ranked in the Top 25 nationally in several different categories, and Jason Krizan set a new NCAA record for doubles in a season.

Heefner took little time to make his mark at DBU after being named the sixth head coach in Dallas Baptist University history in July 2007. In his first year at the helm, Heefner led the Patriots to several historic milestones. In 2008, DBU earned its first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance by receiving a No. 2 seed in the College Station Regional after finishing the regular season with the 29th-best RPI in the nation.

DBU's at-large bid marked the first time since 1992 that an NCAA Division I Independent team, other than Miami, made the NCAA Tournament and earned Heefner the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA) Midwest Region Coach of the Year Award. Heefner was also named the Independent Coach of the Year, which he received again following the 2009 season. In 2009, the Patriots went 38-17 and finished the regular season with the 36th best RPI in the nation.

DAN HEEFNER—HEAD COACH

DBU IN THE DRAFT UNDER HEEFNER

Developing players to advance their careers to the professional ranks has become a staple of the DBU Baseball program under Heefner's guidance. During Heefner's 17-year career as the head coach at DBU, 73 players have been selected in the Major League Draft, including 27 taken in the top 10 rounds. Dating back to the 2015 MLB Draft, DBU's 49 draft selections are the ninth-highest total in college baseball. Since Heefner arrived at DBU as an assistant coach in 2005, 89 players have pursued professional baseball careers.

The DBU Baseball program set a school record in 2023 when eight players were selected in the Major League Draft. The Patriots eight draft picks were also tied for the fourth-most selections from any college program in the country. Three pitchers were taken in the top 10 rounds, including Braxton Bragg in the eighth round by the Baltimore Orioles, followed by Kyle Amendt and Zane Russell going to the Arizona Diamondbacks in the ninth and 10th rounds, respectively. The Atlanta Braves nabbed Jace Grady in the 11th round before Bryson Hammer went to the Colorado Rockies, and Brady Rose was taken by the New York in the 12th round. Nate Rombach was an 18th-round selection by the Washington Nationals, and 10 picks later; Alec Baker became the eighth Patriot to go in the draft when the Diamondbacks chose him in the 18th round.

In 2022, three players from DBU were selected in the MLB Draft, led by right-handed pitcher Jacob Meador, whose name was called in the 12th round by the Los Angeles Dodgers. One round later, fellow righty Chandler Arnold was selected by the St. Louis Cardinals. Utility player Ryan Wrobleski rounded out the Patriots' draft selections when he was drafted by the Houston Astros in the 20th round.

The 2021 MLB Draft saw five Patriots selected, including a pair in the top 10 rounds: Dominic Hamel went to the New York Mets in the third round, and Jackson Glenn was chosen by the Pittsburgh Pirates in the fifth round. DBU's five draft picks ranked as the sixth-highest total in the nation.

In 2020, DBU was one of only nine programs in the nation with two or more players selected in the first two rounds of the Major League Draft, and Burl Carraway and Jimmy Glowenke were each selected in the second round. Carraway became the third-highest draft pick in school history when the Chicago Cubs selected him with the 51st overall pick, while Glowenke matched Jake Johansen as the program's fourth-highest pick after going 68th overall to the San Francisco Giants.

Following the 2019 season, six Patriots were taken in the MLB Draft. A pair of senior pitchers were the top two picks from DBU: MD Johnson went to the Miami Marlins in the sixth round, and Jordan Martinson was taken by the New York Mets in the 11th round.

In 2018, seven players were selected from DBU in the draft, a total that ranked as the sixth-most draft picks from one school among the 297 NCAA Division I programs in the nation. Headlining the 2018 draft class for DBU was junior outfielder Jameson Hannah, who became the program's second-highest draft pick when he went in the second round with the 50th overall pick to the Oakland Athletics. Following Hannah was the 2018 Missouri Valley Conference Player of the Year, Devlin Granberg, who the Boston Red Sox selected in the sixth round. Rounding out the Patriots' third pick in the top 10 rounds was senior catcher Matt Duce, a ninth-round pick of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Patriots saw six players drafted in 2017, ranked as the fifth-most selection in college baseball. All six players that were selected in the 2017 MLB Draft were taken in the first 17 rounds, highlighted by Seth Elledge, who the Seattle Mariners picked in the fourth round. The New York Yankees took Dalton Higgins in the seventh round, while the Arizona Diamondbacks selected Camden Duzenack in round nine. The program's all-time home run leader, Austin Listi, was taken in the 17th round by the Philadelphia Phillies.

In 2016, five players from DBU were selected in the Major League Draft, headlined by junior outfielder David Martinelli, a sixth-round selection of the Philadelphia Phillies. Both Darick Hall and Colin Poche were selected in the 14th rounds, as Hall was taken by the Phillies, and Poche went to the Arizona Diamondbacks.

In 2015, DBU saw seven players selected in the MLB Draft, matching the previous high set in 2006. Drew Smith was the highest draft selection from DBU in 2015, as the Detroit Tigers took the junior right-hand pitcher in the third round. With the selection of Smith in round three, DBU became the only school from the state of Texas and one of only nine programs in the nation to have a player taken in the top three rounds from 2013-2015. Joining Smith on that elite list of players from DBU taken in the first three rounds are Cy Sneed, a third round selection of the Milwaukee Brewers in 2014, and Jake Johansen, who went in the second round to the Washington Nationals in 2013.

In total, DBU saw five junior pitchers taken in the first 12 rounds of the 2015 Major League Draft, including Drew Smith (3rd round - Detroit Tigers), Brandon Koch (4th round - Tampa Bay Rays), Chance Adams (5th round - New York Yankees), Cory Taylor (8th round - San Francisco Giants), and Joseph Shaw (12th round - New York Mets), making it the first time in school history in which five pitchers have been selected from a single draft class.

Also selected in the 2015 draft class were two position players, catcher Daniel Salters, and second baseman Drew Turbin. Salters, who was one of 20 finalists in 2015 for the Johnny Bench Award, given to the nation's top catcher, went in the 13th round to the Cleveland Indians. It marked the second consecutive year in which Salters' name had been called in the draft, as he was a 22nd-round selection of the Washington Nationals in 2014. Turbin on the other hand, who was a First Team All-Missouri Valley Conference selection in 2015 and ranked No. 21 in the nation in on-base percentage, went in the 14th round to the Baltimore Orioles.

In 2013, DBU saw six players selected in the draft, the most from any school in the state of Texas. Three Patriots also made their Major League debuts in 2013, including Brandon Bantz (Seattle Mariners), Vic Black (Pittsburgh Pirates), and Ryan Goins (Toronto Blue Jays). All three players were selected out of DBU in the 2009 Major League Draft.

In 2009, Vic Black became the highest draft pick in school history when the Pittsburgh Pirates selected him in the first round with the 49th overall pick. Black would make his Major League debut just four years later.

Under Heefner's direction, the Patriots' skipper has developed DBU into one of the most potent offensive teams in the nation. As a result of his leadership, DBU has inserted itself into the college baseball spotlight by ranking in the top 25 nationally in 110 offensive categories since 2005. Widely regarded as one of the top hitting coaches in the country, Heefner has presented twice at the American Baseball Coaches Association national convention on hitting and has also presented in Europe, Canada, and numerous state conventions on hitting and building team culture.

While Heefner has led the Patriots to great success on the field, it is far from the team's sole focus; the Patriot Discipleship program is designed with opportunities to challenge players at all levels of spiritual maturity. The Patriot Baseball Team has also embraced DBU's mission of developing servant leaders by participating in numerous service activities in the community and even internationally.

Over the past 17 years, the Patriots have served in the San Gabriel Orphanage and conducted baseball clinics while on mission trips to the Dominican Republic (2023 & 2011), Cuba (2019), Curacao (2015), and Guatemala (2007). The Patriots have also volunteered at the North Texas Food Bank, Habitat for Humanity, the Special Olympics of Texas Track and Field Championship, and conducted numerous free baseball clinics in and around Dallas. The team has also excelled in the classroom, posting a team GPA average of 3.21 since Heefner became head coach.

Before coming to DBU, Heefner was an assistant coach at Creighton University and the University of Northern Iowa. While at Creighton, he was the hitting and catching coach. Under his guidance in 2004, the Bluejay hitters saw an improvement in nearly every statistical category from the 2003 season, including a 24-point increase in batting average. Defensively, the Bluejay catchers contributed to Creighton's nation-leading .982 fielding percentage, which at the time was the second-best in NCAA history.

While working with the University of Northern Iowa hitters, his 2003 team led the Missouri Valley Conference in 10 offensive categories in conference play. His 2002 squad also posted the highest batting average of any team in conference play.

As a player, Heefner was named an All-American in his junior and senior seasons at Olivet Nazarene University, an NAIA school in Kankakee, Illinois. In 2000, he led the nation in both home runs (22) and RBIs (102). Before transferring to Olivet Nazarene University, Heefner played for two years at the University of Northern Iowa.

Heefner received his bachelor's degree from Olivet Nazarene University and his master's from the University of Northern Iowa. Heefner and his wife, Liz, reside in Cedar Hill, Texas, with their five sons: Luke (22), David (19), Zachariah (18), Titus (16) and Jacob (10). The Heefners attend Midlothian Bible Church.

CALE JOHNSON—PITCHING COACH

Cale Johnson is in his second season as the Pitching Coach for the DBU Baseball program. In his first year with the Patriots, Johnson led a pitching staff that ranked seventh in the nation in ERA (4.01). His leadership was pivotal in the development of several standout pitchers, including Ryan Johnson, who was named a First Team All-American by four major publications after setting both DBU's all-time strikeout record and a new single-season record with 151 strikeouts in 2024. Johnson also played a key role in the success of Luke Pettitte, who earned Freshman All-American honors and was named Conference USA Freshman of the Year. Additionally, three of Johnson's pitchers—Jaron DeBerry, Ryan Johnson, and Conner Mackay—were named First Team All-Conference USA selections.

Following the 2024 season, Johnson and DeBerry were selected in the Major League Baseball Draft. Johnson was chosen in the second round (74th overall) by the Los Angeles Angels, making him the sixth-highest draft pick in DBU history, while DeBerry was selected just 19 picks later by the Milwaukee Brewers in the third round (93rd overall).

Johnson came to DBU from the Pittsburgh Pirates organization, where he served as the Double-A Pitching Coach for the Altoona Curve. Over his nine-year professional baseball career, Johnson has mentored 31 pitchers who have reached the Major Leagues. His coaching journey also includes roles with the Atlanta Braves, where he served as the Minor League Assistant Pitching Coordinator in 2021, for a Braves organization that won a World Series title. The following year, Johnson was named the Braves' Pitching Strategist, playing a critical role in developing pitching strategies and goals for the organization's minor league system.

A native of Greenville, Illinois, Johnson began his coaching career in professional baseball with the St. Louis Cardinals, where he served as a Minor League Pitching Coach for five seasons (2015-2019). In 2015, Johnson was on the staff for the Cardinals' Rookie League team that won the Gulf Coach League's Eastern Division. Four pitchers on Johnson's staff would eventually reach the Major Leagues, including future All-Star Sandy Alcantara.

The following two years he spent with the organization's Rookie Advanced league team, the Johnson City Cardinals, in the Appalachian League. During his two seasons in Johnson City, the Cardinals won an Appalachian League title in 2016, and five pitchers on Johnson's staff advanced their careers to the Big Leagues.

In his two seasons with the Peoria Chiefs, Johnson helped guide the Chiefs to the Midwest League Championship Series in 2018. He also helped to develop five hurlers that would go on to pitch in the Majors.

Johnson played collegiate baseball at McKendree University from 2006 to 2009, earning two-time American Midwest Conference Pitcher of the Year honors and was an All-Region selection as a junior. He was selected by the St. Louis Cardinals in the 41st round of the 2009 MLB Draft and went on to pitch in the Cardinals' Rookie League and Single-A teams, where he transitioned to the bullpen and posted a career-high 30 appearances in 2011. After three seasons in the Cardinals' organization, Johnson finished his playing career with the Gateway Grizzlies of the Independent Frontier League.

Johnson earned two degrees from McKendree University, including a Bachelor of Business Administration in Economics/Finance and a Bachelor of Administration in Management. He is married to Jess Johnson and has three children: Maclin (10), Sadie (8), and Rhett (5).

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING ABOUT CALE JOHNSON

"I've had the pleasure of knowing and working closely with Cale since 2015, and he is the most talented pitching coach I've met in that time. He has a unique ability to inform, instruct, and inspire pitchers so that they can maximize their performance potential. No matter what level he is coaching at, his combination of character, intellect, and authenticity will create a positive environment in which the pitchers under his tutelage will thrive." - Paul Davis, Atlanta Braves Director of Pitching Development

"Cale Johnson has worked to become a pitching coach who blends analytics, movement, and strategy gleaned from progressive organizations like the Cardinals and Braves. He will be a solid guiding force for DBU pitchers." - Brent Strom, Arizona Diamondbacks Pitching Coach

"Cale Johnson has been an integral part of my professional baseball career. Cale has helped with mechanical adjustments, analytical changes, and the mindset behind pitching. He is a strong leader of the pitching staff and a fantastic communicator. Cale is a perfect fit for DBU Baseball." - Seth Elledge, DBU Baseball Alum and MLB Pitcher

CLIFF PENNINGTON–RECRUITING COORDINATOR

Cliff Pennington is in his fourth season as the Recruiting Coordinator and Assistant Coach for the DBU Baseball team. In 2024, Pennington was named the Conference USA Assistant Coach of the Year and has helped lead the Patriots to the NCAA postseason in each of his previous three seasons with the Patriots. A first round selection and the 21st overall pick by the Oakland Athletics in the 2005 Major League Draft, Pennington spent 11 seasons in the Big Leagues from 2008-2018. He joined the DBU coaching after spending two years as an assistant coach at Texas A&M.

Pennington's impact on the DBU program has been immediate and significant. In 2024, he played a pivotal role in shaping an explosive Patriot offense that ranked in the top 25 nationally in six categories, including 12th in home runs (115), 13th in slugging percentage (.542), 14th in doubles (134), and 24th in hits (625). His work with the infield has been equally influential, helping guide a defense in 2024 that ranked fourth nationally in fielding percentage (.982) and led college baseball with 56 double plays.

Pennington's work with the running game has also been a defining feature of his time at DBU. The Patriots' 134 stolen bases in 2023 ranked as the seventh-most in the nation and helped to produce the 19th-highest scoring average (8.3 runs per game) in all of college baseball. Over the past three seasons, DBU has stolen 305 bases, ranking 18th nationally, showcasing Pennington's emphasis on speed and aggressive baserunning.

In three seasons at DBU, Pennington has helped develop three All-Americans, including Grant Jay, Ryan Johnson, and Ethan Mann, and three Conference Freshman of the Year honorees: Luke Heefner (2022 - Missouri Valley Conference), Grant Jay (2023 - Conference USA), and Luke Pettitte (2024 - Conference USA), all of whom also earned Freshman All-American honors. Under Pennington's guidance, 28 players have also received All-Conference recognition.

Pennington was a standout at Texas A&M from 2003-05 where he was a three-time All-Big 12 selection and earned All-American honors in 2005. In one of the most decorated careers in Aggie baseball history, Pennington ranks in the top 10 on the Aggies' career list for hits (246), triples (10) and stolen bases (53). Pennington finished his collegiate career with a .346 batting average in 182 games.

Following his junior season at Texas A&M, Pennington was selected by the Oakland Athletics as the 21st overall pick in the first round of the 2005 Major League Baseball Draft. Three years later, Pennington made his Big League debut with the Oakland A's on August 12, 2008. Pennington spent five seasons in Oakland and completed his 11-year career in the Majors with four other teams including the Arizona Diamondbacks, Toronto Blue Jays, Los Angeles Angels, and Cincinnati Reds.

The Corpus Christi, Texas, native finished his MLB career with 678 hits, 121 doubles, 21 triples, 36 home runs, 242 RBI, and 84 stolen bases in 971 games. His finest seasons came between 2010 and 2012. In 2010, he set career-highs in five categories including games (156), doubles (26), runs (64), triples (8), and stolen bases (29), while hitting six home runs and collecting 46 RBI. The following year, Pennington batted .264 with a career-best eight home runs and 58 RBI, while matching his career-high in doubles (26).

Pennington was a part of two teams that reached the postseason during his Major League career. In 2012, Pennington and the Oakland A's won the American League West and played in the American League Division Series. Three years later, Pennington was a key part of a Toronto Blue Jays team that clinched the AL East and reached the American League Championship Series. Pennington also made history as the first position player to pitch in an MLB playoff game, appearing on the mound in the ninth inning in Game 4 of the 2015 ALCS against the Kansas City Royals.

Cliff and his wife Missy have three children, Brady (14), Hudson (10), and Kinsley (8).

KODIE KOLDEN– ASSISTANT COACH

Kolden, who was the Patriots' starting third baseman in 2023, helped guide a defense that ranked fourth nationally in fielding percentage (.982) and led college baseball with 56 double plays last season.

Kolden capped off his playing career at DBU in 2023 after transferring from Washington State. In his lone season with the Patriots, Kolden was a cornerstone in the DBU lineup, playing a pivotal role for a team that won a school-record 47 games and finished the year ranked No. 20 in the nation by the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association.

Kolden garnered Second Team All-Conference USA honors after leading the Patriots in hitting with a .353 batting average and was second on the team in stolen bases (21). As one of the nation's top defensive third basemen, Kolden committed only five errors in 105 chances at the hot corner.

Kolden was an integral part of the Patriots' historic 2023 season, which included a Conference USA regular season title in their inaugural year in the league. The Patriots advanced to the Stillwater Regional as the No. 2 seed, where Kolden earned a spot on the Stillwater Regional All-Tournament Team after hitting .470 (8-for-15) with two home runs in the team's run to the regional final.

In addition to his on-field success, Kolden was also recognized for his academic excellence, being named one of 11 players to the Conference USA All-Academic Team in 2023.

Before arriving at DBU for his final season, Kolden played his first four years at Washington State. As a sophomore in 2021, he was named a semifinalist for the prestigious Brooks Wallace Award, which recognizes the nation's top shortstop. Over his four seasons at Washington State, Kolden made 143 starts and posted a 29-game on-base streak, which ranks as the ninth-longest in school history.

2025 SEASON OUTLOOK

2025 POSITION OUTLOOK

DBU ENTERS THE 2025 SEASON AS ONE OF ONLY FIVE TEAMS IN COLLEGE BASEBALL TO ADVANCE TO THE NCAA POSTSEASON EACH OF THE LAST TEN YEARS.

DBU enters the 2025 baseball season with a solid foundation, boasting 21 returning lettermen from last year's squad. The Patriots clinched the Conference USA Tournament title in 2024 and secured an at-large bid as the No. 2 seed in the Tucson Regional. With a strong core returning, DBU is primed to make another postseason run in 2025.

The Patriots' offense is set to remain a formidable force, with 67 percent of their run production from last season returning to the lineup. Leading the charge will be a pair of All-Region selections in Chayton Krauss and Tom Poole, along with last year's CUSA Newcomer of the Year, Michael Dattalo. The Patriots also bring back five players who earned All-CUSA honors last season: Dattalo, Krauss, Poole, Grant Jay, and Luke Heefner.

On the mound, DBU's pitching staff returns eight hurlers who saw time on the mound last year, including this year's CUSA Preseason Pitcher of the Year, Jerrod Jenkins, and Freshman All-American, Luke Pettitte.

The Patriots also welcomes 20 newcomers to campus and a class that includes four transfers from NCAA Division I programs.

DBU's 2025 schedule is packed with marquee matchups, featuring 14 games against teams that reached the NCAA Tournament last season. Among the six NCAA Tournament teams that will face the Patriots this season are Louisiana, Louisiana Tech, LSU, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, and Oral Roberts.

PITCHING

Last year's dynamic one-two punch in the weekend rotation of Ryan Johnson and Jaron DeBerry ranked among the elite pitching tandems in college baseball. As the Patriots head into the 2025 season, they face the challenge of replacing two cornerstone arms - Johnson, the program's all-time strikeout leader and a second-round MLB Draft pick by the Los Angeles Angels, and DeBerry, who was selected in the third round by the Milwaukee Brewers.

Despite these departures, the Patriots' pitching staff retains a formidable core, returning several arms that played pivotal roles last season. Among the team's eight returning pitchers, three saw time in the weekend rotation, including James Ellwanger, Jerrod Jenkins, and Luke Pettitte, who are each poised to be integral to DBU's rotation in 2025.

Ellwanger arrived at DBU as one of the most highly coveted pitching prospects in the nation, having starred at Magnolia West High School before being selected in the 19th round of the 2023 MLB Draft by the Washington Nationals. Opting to continue his development journey at the collegiate level, the electric right-hander made an immediate impact as a freshman at DBU. He opened the season as the Patriots' Sunday starter, lighting up the radar gun with a fastball that touched 100 miles per hour in his collegiate debut. Over the summer, he honed his skills in the Cape Cod League, the nation's premier summer league, further solidifying his reputation as one of the top young arms in the country heading into his sophomore campaign.

Jenkins enters his junior year riding the momentum of a breakout sophomore season in which he posted a flawless 6-0 record with a 3.48 ERA. Initially a bullpen weapon, he transitioned into a midweek starter role before earning a spot in the weekend rotation. His dominance was on full display on April 28 in Miami, Florida, when he combined with Ellwanger for a seven-inning no-hitter against FIU, tossing six hitless frames in a dazzling performance. He continued to thrive on the big stage, tossing six scoreless innings in the Conference USA Tournament to earn All-Tournament honors and enters this season as the CUSA Preseason Pitcher of the Year.

Pettitte is as another key weapon on the mound, coming off a stellar freshman campaign that saw him earn Conference USA Freshman of the Year honors and was tabbed a Second Team Freshman All-American by Perfect Game. Much like Jenkins, he began the season in a relief role before rapidly ascending to the weekend rotation, where he made eight starts and finished the season with a 3-2 record and a 4.17 ERA. With exceptional command, Pettitte struck out 43 batters and issued just nine walks in 36.2 innings of work.

DBU's bullpen remains a strength heading into 2025, with six key arms returning to solidify the staff. Among them are seasoned left-handers Dillon Haines and Tyler Schott, junior Jace Russell, sophomores Charlie Atkinson and Zach Todd, and redshirt freshman, David Heefner.

Haines and Schott provide versatility beyond traditional lefty specialists, proving effective against both left- and right-handed hitters. The duo combined for 41 strikeouts over 37.0 innings, showcasing their ability to miss bats in high-leverage situations.

Atkinson is an intriguing bullpen weapon who made an immediate impact as a freshman, logging 20 appearances—just three shy of Chris Haney's 2008 program record for most outings by a freshman. His heavy sinker generated a team-high eight double plays, making him a valuable ground-ball inducer. Todd, another promising young arm, figures to play a key role in 2025. After redshirting his freshman year, he returned to the mound midway through last season and flashed electric stuff, racking up 15 strikeouts in just 11.2 innings while posting a 4.63 ERA.

Russell also showed encouraging signs in his limited action, making five relief appearances without surrendering an earned run in two innings of work. Meanwhile, Heefner is set to make his debut on the mound after redshirting his freshman year and spending last summer in the Alaska Baseball League.

PITCHING

DBU bolsters its pitching staff with a talented group of 14 newcomers, including eight transfers and six freshmen. Leading the Patriots' transfer class are three Division I arms—Nick Bonn (Pepperdine), Micah Bucknam (LSU), and Rian Schwede (Villanova),who each bringing valuable collegiate experience to the mound.

Bonn spent last season in Pepperdine's weekend rotation, making 13 starts in the Friday night spot after serving in a relief role two years ago as a freshman. Bucknam was a 16th round draft pick of the Toronto Blue Jays in 2021 and was part of LSU's national championship as a freshman in 2023. Last year, he made eight relief appearances for the Tigers. Schwede comes to DBU from Villanova where he pitched in 19 games and was second on the staff in strikeouts.

DBU's junior college transfer class brings a wealth of talent and experience, with several arms poised to make an immediate impact on the mound. Left-hander Mason Peters, a transfer from Temple College, possesses electric stuff and is coming off an impressive fall, positioning himself as a potential difference-maker. Joining him is fellow lefty Liam Watt, who arrives at DBU with a championship pedigree after leading LSU Eunice to an NJCAA Division II national title, where he earned National Championship Tournament MVP Pitcher honors.

The Patriots also strengthened their staff with three right-handers from the junior college ranks—Landon Abrahamson, Ryan Borberg, and Ashton Branson. Abrahamson spent the past two seasons at Patrick & Henry Community College, while Borberg, who began his collegiate career at Illinois State, excelled at Johnson County Community College, earning All-Conference honors in 2024. Branson was a dominant force for Crowder College, leading the staff with 96 strikeouts in 66.0 innings while helping guide his team to the NJCAA Division I National Championships.

DBU's incoming class of freshman arms features four promising talents, including left-hander Park Prater and right-handers Avery Duncan, Athan Kroll, and Will Yeary. Prater arrives as a highly touted two-way player after leading Argyle High School to back-to-back state championship appearances in 2022 and 2023. As a junior, he posted the second-lowest ERA in Texas and was ranked the No. 58 left-handed pitcher in the nation by Perfect Game.

Duncan, a standout from Green Bay, Wisconsin, was a First Team All-State selection at Notre Dame Academy and recently earned recognition as the No. 86 right-handed pitching prospect in the class of 2025 by Perfect Game. Kroll was a dominant force at Valor Christian High School, where he helped lead his team to a Class 5A state championship and earned First Team All-State honors as a junior. Perfect Game also ranked him as the No. 3 overall player in Colorado.

Yeary, a local product from Mansfield, Texas, made his mark at Covenant Christian Academy, where he was a two-time All-State selection and named District Pitcher of the Year as a senior.

INFIELD

DBU's infield figures to be one of the most experienced and talented groups in the nation in 2025. Four starters return that earned All-Conference USA honors last year including Michael Dattalo, Luke Heefner, Grant Jay, and Chayton Krauss. Last season, this dynamic group combined to hit 50 home runs and total 206 RBI, serving as the backbone of DBU's potent offense.

At the heart of the lineup stands Grant Jay, one of the nation's top power hitters. The junior catcher from Semmes, Alabama, has been named the Conference USA Preseason Player of the Year after a standout 2024 campaign in which he hit .300 with 21 home runs and 57 RBIs. Jay enters the season with 42 career home runs, needing just 12 more to etch his name in the record books as DBU's all-time home run leader.

At first base, Chayton Krauss stands out as a defensive stalwart and an imposing force at the plate. A finalist for the ABCA/Rawlings Gold Glove Team, Krauss committed just two errors in 429 chances, posting an elite .995 fielding percentage last year. At the plate, he was equally dominant, leading the team with a .358 batting average and finishing among Conference USA's top 10 in six offensive categories.

Up the middle, senior shortstop Luke Heefner provides leadership, consistency, and elite defensive ability. A three-year starter, Heefner enters his final season as one of college baseball's most dependable and dynamic shortstops. His exceptional range and steady glove earned him Second Team All-CUSA honors last year, while his bat remained a key asset—hitting .273 with five home runs, 15 doubles, and 36 RBI.

At third base, Michael Dattalo wasted no time making an impact in his first year at DBU. After transferring from Northwestern State, he seized the everyday starting role at the hot corner and emerged as one of the conference's most dangerous hitters. His impressive .345 batting average, paired with eight home runs, 14 doubles, and 47 RBIs, earned him the title of CUSA Newcomer of the Year.

The Patriots also return four key contributors from last season, each poised to make a greater impact in 2025. Adam Berghult, a junior catcher, brings an impressive pedigree, having earned All-American honors two years ago at North Iowa Area Community College. Keaton Grady, now in his third year at DBU after transferring from Incarnate Word, saw action in 21 games last season, making six starts while providing depth to the lineup. Cody Grebeck, another transfer addition in 2024, served as a reliable late-inning defensive replacement, appearing in 23 games in 2024. Meanwhile, Ben Tryon showcased his power early as a freshman last year, launching home runs for his first two career hits in his debut start and went on to play 18 games in his first season at DBU. Luke Pettitte, who starred on the mound last year for DBU, could also see time as a two-way player in the Patriot infield in 2025.

DBU bolsters its infield depth with seven newcomers in 2025, including four transfers with Division I and junior college experience, as well as three talented freshmen looking to make an impact. Mason Swinney, a junior transfer from Alabama, arrives after spending the past two seasons with the Crimson Tide, making 15 starts at second base in 2024. A highly touted prospect out of Phil Campbell High School in Alabama, Swinney was ranked the state's top shortstop by Prep Baseball Report and was one of Alabama's most sought-after recruits. Another key addition is Landon Underhill, who began his career at Mercer University before transferring to McLennan Community College, where he played a pivotal role in leading the team to the NJCAA Division I World Series last season.

The Patriots also add offensive firepower with Jake Bennett, a versatile transfer from San Jacinto College who can contribute both behind the plate and in the outfield. Bennett was a JUCO All-American in 2024 after slashing .337 with 18 home runs and 72 RBIs, making him one of the most productive hitters at his level. Tyler Ness rounds out DBU's transfer class, bringing an elite bat from Tyler Junior College, where he hit .372 and was named the Conference Player of the Year last season.

Hudson Ellis, Colton Roquemore, and Brooks Sartain are three highly touted freshmen looking to make their mark on the Patriot roster in 2025. Ellis, a standout from Round Rock, Texas, was named District Offensive MVP in 2023 and showcased his elite hitting ability throughout his high school career. Recognized as one of the top infield prospects in the state, Perfect Game ranked him as the No. 13 shortstop in Texas. Roquemore is a utility player that helped guide Argyle High School to a pair of state championship appearances and holds the school's record for hits. He was also ranked the No. 22 shortstop in the state of Texas by Perfect Game. Sartain, a Fort Worth native, brings an impressive resume to DBU after earning All-Conference honors in all four seasons at Trinity Valley School. His talent was further validated by Perfect Game, which ranked him as the No. 39 overall prospect in Texas.

OUTFIELD

DBU's outfield is stacked with talent heading into the 2025 season, featuring a formidable mix of experience, power, and elite defense. With the return of veterans Tom Poole, Nathan Humphreys, and Joey Nerat, along with the emergence of redshirt freshman Dylan Schlaegel and a trio of promising newcomers, the Patriots are primed for a dynamic year in the outfield.

Tom Poole transitions to the outfield after serving as DBU's primary designated hitter last season. The senior from Calgary, Alberta, was an offensive force in 2024, earning All-Region honors after launching 13 home runs—12 of which came in a scorching 19-game stretch during the Patriots' postseason push. Poole also led Conference USA in on-base percentage (.488) while ranking third in slugging percentage (.704) and fifth in batting average (.352).

Anchoring center field is Nathan Humphreys, one of the most decorated defensive players in DBU history. A former CUSA Defensive Player of the Year, Humphreys brings elite glove work and speed to the lineup. Over three seasons, he has started 152 games and looks to regain his offensive form after hitting .351 two years ago. His presence on the base paths is a game-changer, as his 37 career stolen bases rank sixth all-time in program history.

Joey Nerat enters his junior campaign with significant power potential. In 2024, he made 22 starts, belting five home runs and seven doubles while driving in 17 runs. With another year of development, Nerat could be poised for a breakout season.

A player to watch in 2025 is redshirt freshman Dylan Schlaegel, a 17th-round pick of the Boston Red Sox in the 2023 MLB Draft pick, who took a year to develop and refine his game. This past summer, Schlaegel showcased his skills in the West Coast League, where he was named to the league's All-Star Team.

DBU also welcomes three highly touted freshmen who could push for playing time, including Park Prater, Colton Roquemore, and Bryan Williams Jr. Prater and Roquemore both come to DBU from an Argyle High School program that reached the state championship in 2022 and 2023. Prater is a two-way player who was ranked the No. 49 overall prospect from the state of Texas by Perfect Game, while Roquemore was a First Team All-State selection as a junior and holds the school's record for hits. Williams is from Midwest City, Oklahoma, where he garnered First Team All-State honors last year and was rated the No. 2 outfielder from the state of Oklahoma by Perfect Game. He gained valuable experience last summer playing with the Mahoning Valley Scrappers in the MLB Draft League.

2024 SEASON IN REVIEW

2024 SEASON IN REVIEW

JOHNSON BECOMES DBU'S ALL-TIME STRIKEOUT LEADER

Ryan Johnson made history during the 2024 season, setting both the single-season and all-time strikeout records in DBU Baseball history. The Patriots' Friday night ace etched his name in the record books on April 26 against FIU in Miami, Florida, surpassing the program's career strikeout record. With that performance, Johnson became the first pitcher in school history to reach the 300-strikeout milestone, ultimately finishing his remarkable three-year career with 314 total strikeouts. His dominance continued as he also set the single-season strikeout record on May 10 against Liberty, wrapping up the season with an impressive 151 strikeouts.

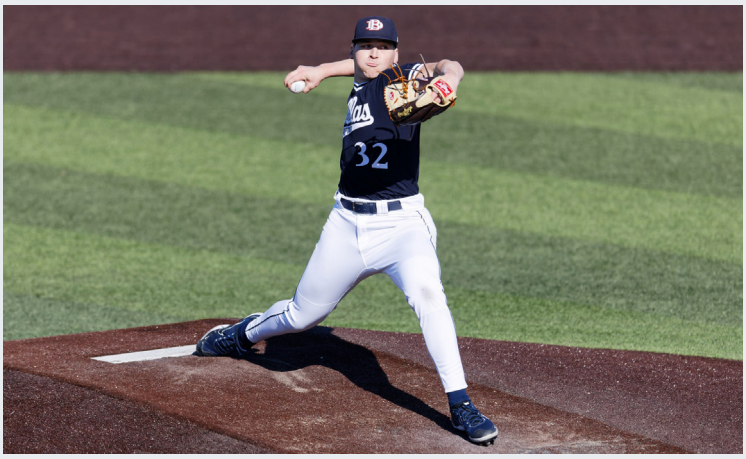
DBU WINS CONFERENCE USA TOURNAMENT

DBU won their first-ever Conference USA Tournament in just their second season in the league after winning all four games at the CUSA Championships in Ruston, Louisiana. The Patriots dominated their side of the bracket, securing victories over New Mexico State, FIU, and WKU before clinching the championship with a thrilling 17-10 win over Louisiana Tech. Alex Pendergast was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player of the tournament after hitting .562 with two doubles, a home run, four RBI, and four stolen bases. In addition to Pendergast's standout effort, Michael Dattalo, Jerrod Jenkins, Ethan Mann, and Miguel Santos earned spots on the CUSA All-Tournament Team, each playing a key role in propelling the Patriots to the 2024 CUSA Tournament title.

PATRIOTS ADVANCE TO 10TH STRAIGHT REGIONAL

DBU continued its postseason excellence in 2024, earning a spot in the NCAA Tournament for the 10th consecutive year—joining an elite group of just five teams nationwide, alongside Florida, LSU, Oklahoma State, and Vanderbilt. As the No. 2 seed at the Tucson Regional, the Patriots faced an early setback, dropping their first game to No. 3 seed West Virginia. Undeterred, DBU bounced back in dominant fashion, shutting out top-seeded Arizona 7-0 to keep their tournament hopes alive. However, the Patriots' remarkable run came to an end in a 12-10 slugfest in an elimination game against Grand Canyon, capping off their 2024 season with a 45-15 record. Following the regional, Chayton Krauss and Tom Poole earned well-deserved spots on the Tucson All-Regional Team. Krauss led the team with a sizzling .462 average, while Poole hit .429 with three home runs and drove in a a tournament-high 10 RBI.

2024 SEASON IN REVIEW



JOHNSON & PETTITTE NAMED ALL-AMERICANS IN 2024

At the conclusion of the 2024 season, Ryan Johnson and Luke Pettitte each garnered All-American honors. Johnson was named an All-American by all five major college baseball publications, cementing his place in DBU history as just the third consensus All-American, joining Jason Krizan (2011) and Devlin Granberg (2018). In 16 starts, Johnson posted an 11-3 record, and his 2.21 ERA was the fifth-lowest in a single season in DBU's Division I era dating back to 2004. His dominance on the mound also placed him in the top 10 nationally in six statistical categories. Meanwhile, Luke Pettitte was named a Second Team Freshman All-American by Perfect Game. In his 11 appearances, including eight starts, Pettitte went 3-2 with a 4.17 ERA, while striking out 43 batters and walking only nine in 36.2 innings of work.

DBU LANDS LEAGUE-HIGH ELEVEN ON ALL-CUSA TEAM

For the second straight year, DBU led Conference USA with 11 players selected to the All-CUSA team. Leading the way with individual accolades were Ryan Johnson, who was named CUSA Pitcher of the Year, Michael Dattalo, who earned CUSA Newcomer of the Year honors, and Luke Pettitte, who was recognized as CUSA Freshman of the Year. Head coach Dan Heefner was also honored with CUSA's prestigious Keith LeClair Coach of the Year award, while assistant coach Cliff Pennington was named Assistant Coach of the Year. The Patriots were well represented across the teams, with six players named to the First Team: Johnson, Jaron DeBerry, Chayton Krauss, Conner Mackay, Ethan Mann, and Miguel Santos. Dattalo, Luke Heefner, and Grant Jay each earned Second Team selections, while Pettitte was further recognized with a spot on CUSA's All-Freshman Team.

JOHNSON & DEBERRY DRAFTED IN FIRST THREE ROUNDS

Ryan Johnson and Jaron DeBerry, who headlined the Patriots' weekend pitching rotation in 2024, were each selected in the Major League Baseball Draft at season's end. Johnson became the sixth-highest draft pick in school history when the Los Angeles Angels selected him with the 74th overall pick in the second round. Just 19 picks later, the Milwaukee Brewers called on DeBerry, choosing him in the third round.

In addition to Johnson and DeBerry, senior second baseman Miguel Santos also earned his opportunity to play professionally, signing with the Chicago White Sox as a non-drafted free agent following the MLB Draft. Over his three-year career at DBU, Santos established himself as one of the program's premier players, earning three All-Conference selections and being named to the ABCA Central All-Region team after his senior season.

In 2008, DBU earned a trip to the NCAA Division I National Tournament for the first time in school history. The Patriots finished a historic season at 37-19 with notable wins over #5 Texas A&M, #12 Rice, and #24 Oral Roberts. The record becomes even more impressive considering that DBU had to play one of the toughest schedules in the country in order to receive an at large bid as an independent team in the NCAA. Selected as the two-seed in the College Station Regional, the Patriots became the first independent team to make an NCAA Regional since the University of Miami in 1992.

Ryan Enos posted the team's second highest batting average at .360 and led the team in stolen bases with 16.

Ryan Goins hits .357 with 10 home runs and 44 RBI, while also going 3-1 on the mound in eight starts.

POSTSEASON HISTORY

2008 COLLEGE STATION REGIONAL

While they would eventually drop both games in the College Station Regional, the 2008 season served as a milestone for the program and acted as a launching point for future teams.

Dallas Baptist University Head Baseball Coach, Dan Heefner, was named the 2008 ABCA Midwest Baseball Coach of the Year and was also tabbed the NCAA Division I Independent Coach of the Year.

Senior Tyson Bagley, junior Trevor Head, and sophomore Ryan Goins were each named First Team All-Independent. Bagley, who was also named to the All-Independent Academic Team, was the Patriots closer during the 2008 campaign and finished the season with a 2.56 ERA, 56 strikeouts, and 11 saves in 38.2 innings of work. Head and Goins were rock steady in the Patriots' infield, with Goins hitting .357, with 10 home runs, and 44 RBI, while Head finished his season with a .329 average, a team high 16 home runs, and 55 RBI.

DBU also placed four players to the Second Team, including senior Nick Santos, juniors Evan Bigley and Jordan Meaker, and freshman Chris Haney. Santos led the team in hitting with a .390 batting average; he also had six homer uns and 38 RBI. Bigley, who started every game in centerfield for the Patriots, hit .333, with 13 home runs, and 58 RBI, while Meaker and Haney played a key part in the DBU's pitching staff. Meaker was the Patriots' ace, finishing his campaign with a 7-1 record, a 4.19 ERA, and 62 strikeouts in 88.0 innings of work. Haney, who was the setup man for Bagley, secured several victories for the Patriots by pitching his way to a 6-5 record, a 2.64 ERA, three saves, and 47 strikeouts, in 47.2 innings.

Dallas Baptist knows David-Goliath story

By Andy Gardiner
USA TODAY

Rice coach Wayne Graham has advice for Texas A&M, Houston and Illinois-Chicago, who join upstart Dallas Baptist in the double-elimination regional of the NCAA baseball tournament that starts Friday in College Station, Texas.

"Be ready to play, because this is a hard-nosed team, a dangerous team," Graham says. "They have more 90-mph arms than we do, and they have veteran guys who can swing it."

Graham speaks from experience. His fifth-ranked Owls went 0-2 against the Patriots this season, benchmarks in a rugged Dallas Baptist schedule designed to impress the tournament selection committee.

The Patriots finished 37-17, playing 36 games on the road or at neutral sites. Dallas Baptist also had wins against 13th-ranked Texas A&M, Baylor and Texas Tech. The Patriots beat Oral Roberts and Louisiana-Monroe, the top teams in the Summit League and Sun Belt Conference. They also are No. 29 in the NCAA power rankings and seeded second in the four-team regional.

Dallas Baptist is the first full independent to make the NCAA field since Cal State-Northridge in 1992. Miami (Fla.) made it as a baseball independent while its other sports played in the Big East before the school joined the Atlantic Coast Conference as a full member. The Patriots open NCAA play Friday against Houston (39-22).

"For us to make a regional as an independent, we knew we would have to play an aggressive schedule," first-year coach Dan Heefner says. "Playing top-25 teams day in, day out, mostly on the road — we didn't know how that would pan out. But for the most part we got it done."

Dallas Baptist competed in NAIA from 1982 to 2002, making 10 appearances in the NAIA World Series and twice finishing national runner-up. After one season in NCAA Division II, the Patriots became a provisional Division I member in 2004 and received full status in 2006.

Heefner became head coach this season after three years as an assistant.

"Coming in, I really liked our club," he says. "It was probably the most balanced team in terms of offense and pitching in my time here, and we had a chance to be really good defensively. I thought we could do some great things."

All nine Patriots starters are native Texans, and the majority of the team comes from the greater Dallas area.

"If you have to be an independent, this is probably the best place to be because of the number of talented high school players and really good college programs all around you," Heefner says.

Outfielder Nick Santos and closer Tyson Bagley are seniors who transferred from junior colleges, but most of the Patriots were recruited from the high school ranks.

"We're not going to get the blue-chip All-American, so we have to develop players over the course of four years," Heefner says. "We do a lot of teaching and put a lot of emphasis on the fundamentals."

Evan Bigley personifies the type of player at the heart of the team's success. A Dallas native, Bigley hit .293 as a freshman, .329 as a sophomore and .340 this season with 13 homers and a team-high 58 RBI.

"I think we're a really disciplined team that is always looking to improve," Bigley says. "We practice hard, and we play hard."

The wins against Rice brought Dallas Baptist national validation. The Patriots won a neutral-site meeting in March on catcher Andrew Pirtle's walk-off home run in the 12th in a game in which they once trailed 5-1. They won again a month later 3-2 at Rice.

Dallas Baptist University

Giant-killers: Dallas Baptist, which opens play Friday in the NCAA baseball tournament, has victories against several big-name schools despite playing only 18 of 54 games at home.

Dallas Baptist University

Location: Dallas
Enrollment: 5,244 (total)
Religious affiliation: Baptist General Convention of Texas
Founded: 1898 as Decatur (Texas) Baptist College; moved to Dallas in 1965
Sports: Men — baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, tennis, track. Women — cross country, golf, soccer, tennis, track, volleyball.
In the pros: The Patriots have 15 former players in professional baseball, including catcher Jason LaRue of the St. Louis Cardinals, second baseman Freddie Sanchez of the Pittsburgh Pirates and shortstop Ben Zobrist of the Tampa Bay Rays.

"We knew we had a good team, but that gave us a ton of confidence," Heefner says. "We showed not only that we could play with the best, but that we could come back and win against the best."

Santos leads with a .394 batting average, while Bigley has been rock solid in the No. 3 slot in the order. Shortstop Austin Knight's .285 batting average doesn't reflect his importance as the team leader.

Jordan Meeker is the ace with a 7-1 record. But the pitching keys have been Bagley and freshman setup man Chris Haney. Bagley is 4-2 with 11 saves and a 2.19 ERA. Haney is 6-4 with three saves and a 2.33 ERA.

"The biggest difference in our team from past years is our bullpen," Heefner says. "If our starters can give us six innings, we're in great shape."

As a coach, Heefner looks to this tournament exposure to help recruiting and the school's hopes of joining a conference. As a player, Bigley has a different agenda.

"I'm sure some people think we're not supposed to be here, that we're going to be scared because this is our first time," he says. "But this is a team that can do some special things. We're here to win."

DBU was featured in USA Today as the Patriots reached their first-ever NCAA Regional.

In 2011 the Patriots made history once again, advancing to a Super Regional for the first time in program history. DBU (42-20) won the Fort Worth Regional by knocking off a pair of nationally ranked opponents in #6 TCU and #14 Oklahoma before defeating Oral Roberts in the finals. The win propelled the Patriots to the Santa Clara Super Regional where they faced the California Golden Bears. While DBU dropped both games to Cal, 2011 served as a landmark season that put the nation on notice that the Patriots were quickly becoming a powerhouse on the diamond.

Chris Haney earned three saves over Oklahoma, TCU, and Oral Roberts in the Fort Worth Regional.

Jason Krizan set a national record with 39 doubles in 2011.

POSTSEASON HISTORY

2011 SANTA CLARA SUPER REGIONALS

The 2011 campaign featured several wins over top 25 programs, as the Patriots knocked of #6 TCU, #9 Texas A&M, #11 Oklahoma, and #17 Rice during the regular-season. DBU's 39 wins at the end of their regular-season schedule culminated in their second-ever at-large bid, earning the #3 seed at the Fort Worth Regional.

Outfielder Jason Krizan had one of the best seasons in school history, setting the NCAA record for most doubles in one season (39), while also leading the team in batting average (.413), hits (102), home runs (10), and RBI (81). At season's end, Krizan was named a consensus First Team All-American by five publications and was also tabbed as a finalist for the Dick Howser Trophy - awarded to the best collegiate baseball player in the country, and the USA Baseball Golden Spikes Award.

Tyler Robbins also garnered Second Team All-American honors from the American Baseball Coaches Association after hitting .316 with 10 home runs, 17 doubles, and 40 RBI.

Big bats for small Texas school

Dallas Baptist faces Cal for berth in CWS

DALLAS — Move over, Butler and Virginia Commonwealth.

Who needs a tournament bracket in March to be the little guy who could? Sixteen regional champion baseball teams remain on the road to the College World Series. Texas, Florida, Virginia and … Dallas Baptist?

"You can definitely call it a Cinderella story," coach Dan Heefner said in his office Wednesday. "To a lot of people around the country, DBU is an unknown program."

Not your everyday contender, the Patriots. The campus — enrollment just more than 5,400 — sits on rolling hills in southwest Dallas, with a lake in one direction and cows in another. A national cemetery is just down the road, so you can hear Taps on campus each evening. A white chapel towers over everything and everybody, including the baseball stadium.

Not exactly the place you'd expect to find a lineup that lights up scoreboards.

Seven years ago, the Patriots were in NAIA. Now, they're Division I — in baseball only — though still with the small Christian school approach. The players' bios on the school's website include their favorite Bible verse, while the coaches' bios include what church they attend.

So we know, for example, that Jason Krizan, who set an NCAA Division I record for doubles this year with 39, goes for Proverbs 3:5-6.

"We play," pitcher Chris Haney mentioned, "for an audience of one."

That would be God, and maybe even He is pretty pleased about the .311 team batting average and 8.45 runs a game. In the deciding game of the regionals Monday, Dallas Baptist put up eight runs on Oral Roberts — in the first inning. Eventually, Haney had to come in and save an 11-9 win.

By Kevin Jairaj, US Presswire

Texas-sized offense: Dallas Baptist pitcher Stuart Pudenz, right, celebrates with teammates during a series-clinching 11-9 win.

These guys speak softly but carry very big sticks.

"We play hard every out. We're going to be hard-nosed, we're going to be scrappy, we're not going to let you breathe," Krizan said. "One thing that makes us different, we're not playing for ourselves, we're not playing to get drafted, we're not playing for stats. We're playing for the glory of God."

Said Haney: "We play the game, not the opponent. The way we see it, the pressure is not on us."

When they're not bashing opposing pitchers, the Patriots have worked food banks and orphanages. A recent week was fairly typical. They helped the Special Olympics. Then they gathered in the chapel to watch the NCAA selection show.

Their invitation was no sure thing, having started the season 17-11 before hitting their stride, and nearly anything else in sight. They had watch parties in 2008 and '09, too. One time in, one time out. "We've been lifted up high," Haney said, "and crushed pretty low."

They'll carry a 42-18 record to the super regional against California in Santa Clara, Calif. If that works out, Dallas Baptist shows up in Omaha. The school has produced a gaggle of major leaguers, among them 2006 National League batting champion Freddy Sanchez and the Tampa Bay Rays' Ben Zobrist. Their uniforms hang in the baseball office hallways. But as a program, there has never been a month like this.

Krizan and Haney were just drafted by the Detroit Tigers and San Diego Padres, respectively. "We're more excited about the regional," Krizan said.

The team grade-point average is 3.06. The players, nearly all Texans, talk of faith and service.

"It's genuine. It's not Christian in name only," Heefner said. "It's not just our school, it's our program.

"But we're going to get after the baseball."

In a year of bad news for college sports, this combo of performance and perspective puts Dallas Baptist on the unique side.

"One thing we talk about," Heefner said, "is we wish it wasn't unique."

So no unsavory headlines for the Patriots, no matter how many ERAs they ruin.

"We hope not," Heefner said. "We're by no means perfect." Just hard to get out."

2012 saw the Patriots finish the season at 41-19, clinching their second consecutive postseason berth. Fresh off their run to the Super Regionals in 2011, DBU kept the momentum rolling, knocking off the likes of #17 Oklahoma twice during the regular-season, while also boasting wins over TCU and Oklahoma State. A series win at Creighton in mid-May also bolstered the Patriots' postseason hopes, as DBU eventually earned #2 seed in the Waco Regional.

In their second consecutive trip to the NCAA Regionals, DBU rolled over UT Arlington, 10-0, as Taylor Massey pitched a complete-game shutout. The Patriots also defeated Oral Roberts, 11-8, to advance to the finals where they dropped back-to-back games to #5 Baylor to see their season come to a close in Waco.

At season's end, shortstop Joel Hutter and outfielder Boomer Collins were each named All-Americans. Collins boasted a .374 batting average and led the team in home runs (13), while Hutter hit .338 and drove in a team-high 72 runs.

The Patriots' roster was riddled with professional talent once again, as six players from DBU were called on draft day. It was the third time in program history that at least six players had been selected.

Taylor Massey threw as complete game shutout versus UT Arlington in the first game of the Waco Regional.

Joel Hutter's 72 RBI were the sixth most in the nation in 2012.

In DBU's inaugural season in the Missouri Valley Conference, the Patriots claimed the MVC Tournament Title and secured an automatic bid to the NCAA Regionals for the second straight year. Freshman Camden Duzenack led the way for DBU in the MVC Tournament in Terre Haute, Indiana, claiming Most Outstanding Player honors after hitting .500 (9-for-18). Following their win over Illinois State in the title game, the Patriots earned the two-seed in the Ft. Worth Regional, but dropped both games to conclude their season at 40-21.

At season's end, a pair of Patriots earned Freshman All-American honors in Camden Duzenack and David Martinelli. Duzenack also garnered National Player of the Week honors twice during his rookie season.

DBU saw three players selected in the Major League Draft, headlined by junior right-handed pitcher Cy Sneed, who went in the third round to the Milwaukee Brewers after compiling an 8-3 record and a career best 3.55 ERA. Daniel Salters (Washington Nationals) and Paul Voelker (Detroit Tigers) were also selected in the draft.

Camden Duzenack capped off one of the most decorated freshman seasons in school history, earning Freshman All-American honors and was named the MVC Tournament's Most Outstanding Player.

2015 saw DBU Baseball reach historic heights, as the Patriots capped off the regular-season with the #1 RPI in the nation, won a school-record 46 games, and hosted their first-ever NCAA Regional at Horner Ballpark. The Dallas Regional consisted of #17 Oregon State, Texas, and Virginia Commonwealth. After dropping the opener to VCU, the Patriots rallied to knock off both the Longhorns and Beavers in the same day to advance to the finals. Following a 2-1 win over VCU to force a winner-take-all game, DBU lost 3-1 to see their postseason come to an end.

Brandon Koch totaled 14 saves and set a single-season school-record with 15.91 strikeouts per-nine innings.

Cory Taylor stymied the Texas Longhorns in the Dallas Regional, throwing a complete game in an 8-1 win.

POSTSEASON HISTORY

2015 DALLAS REGIONAL FINALISTS

During the 2015 regular-season, DBU reeled off a 12-game win streak that spanned nearly the entire month of March, going 16-2 in during that period. The Patriots also posted victories over then-ranked #4 TCU, #21 Baylor, and #23 Oklahoma.

DBU fielded one of the most dominate bullpens in the country that season, as the tandem of Brandon Koch and Chance Adams were each named All-Americans. The one-two punch of Koch and Adams combined for 16 saves, a 1.68 ERA, and 159 strikeouts in 109 innings. The two hard-throwing relievers also helped the Patriots to a perfect 39-0 record in games where they led after six innings.

At the plate, Drew Turbin hit a team-best .347, while Justin Wall led the club in home runs (12).

Following the 2015 season, the Patriots tied a school-record with seven players selected in the Major League Draft, including four taken in the top 10 rounds.

2017 marked the Patriots' fourth consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament. DBU posted a 42-21 record for the season, claiming their second straight MVC Tournament title by beating Illinois State, 10-6. The championship earned DBU the #3 seed in the Fort Worth Regional, where once again the Patriots would reach the regional championship.

After dropping the first game to second-seeded Virginia, DBU rallied to knock off Central Connecticut State and Virginia in the rematch. Despite the momentum,

Austin Listi became the program's all-time home run king and also set a single-season school record with 24 home runs in 2017.

Seth Elledge set a new career saves record at DBU with 27 saves over a three-year span.

The 2017 campaign can be defined by the Patriots' response to the program's first-ever six-game losing streak. From April 14 through the end of the regular-season on May 20, DBU posted an 18-4 record, a mark that ranked second best in the nation during that stretch.

In a season highlighted by several individual performances, DBU landed 10 players on the All-Missouri Valley Conference Team, including shortstop Camden Duzenack who was awarded MVC Defensive Player of the Year. Senior Austin Listi also earned All-American honors after setting a school-record for career home runs (53)

In 2019, the Patriots compiled a 43-20 record, won a share of the Missouri Valley Conference regular-season crown, and reached the finals of the Lubbock Regional. DBU's sixth consecutive 40-win season placed them in elite company as they joined Florida State and Louisville as the only three teams in the nation to accomplish that feat.

Amongst the many highlights of the 2019 campaign was a glittering 24-7 record inside the friendly confines of Horner Ballpark. DBU knocked off the likes of #18 Texas A&M in front of the largest regular-season home crowd in school history and also boasted wins over #18 TCU and #24 Oklahoma.

Jordan Martinson set both the career strikeout record (276) and single-season record for strikeouts (115) in 2019.

MD Johnson earned All-American honors after going 10-2 with a 2.76 ERA.

2021 proved to be one of the most historic seasons in DBU Baseball history as the Patriots clinched both the regular-season and tournament titles in the Missouri Valley Conference, won the Fort Worth Regional, and fell one win shy of reaching the College World Series after falling to Virginia in the Columbia Super Regional. DBU finished with their seventh consecutive 40-win season, becoming the only team in the country to post seven straight seasons of 40 wins or more.

Following their run to their third MVC regular-season title and their fourth MVC Tournament Championship since the Patriots joined The Valley in 2014, DBU entered the Fort Worth Regional as the No. 3 seed and faced a field that included top-seeded TCU, No. 2 seed Oregon State, and No. 4 seed Murray State. DBU knocked Oregon State 6-5 in game one and a rallied for five runs in the seventh to claim an 8-6 win over TCU. After falling to Oregon State the next day, the Patriots

Andrew Benefield's grand slam in the 7th inning against Oregon State erased a 5-2 deficit and lifted DBU to the Fort Worth Regional title.

Fierce rally to earn super regional berth reveals special team

FORT WORTH — The sheer height and distance with which the ball left Andrew Benefield's bat afforded him a second, maybe two, to enjoy his work.

The Dallas Baptist offense had been dead for the first 5⅔ innings Monday. It had gotten in a five-run hole. It had grounded into three double plays. It was staring the end of its season right in the eyes.

Then, in an instant, Benefield changed everything with one mighty swing. He gave the Patriots the lead with a two-out grand slam.

It will be the enduring moment in the Patriots' 8-5 win over Oregon State to clinch the program's first super regional berth in a decade.

"I remember seeing the pitch come in. I knew I got it," Benefield said. "I just don't really remember much about it. ... I was just telling the guys and Coach [Dan Heefner], it didn't really sink in until the game was over."

Dallas Baptist will play next weekend against the winner of Tuesday's Old Dominion-Virginia game — a three-game set with a College World Series berth on the line.

This program has been to the last seven NCAA tournaments. The previous six tries, though, ended in the regional round. It'd been a team good enough to get in but not good enough to advance. It's a narrative that's been written about the program for years.

Ron Jenkins/Special Contributor

Dallas Baptist's Andrew Benefield reacts as he rounds third after hitting a seventh-inning grand slam to put the Patriots ahead to stay vs. Oregon State a walkoff homer Sunday night. Then, on Monday, with multiple guys injured and a worn-down pitching staff, Dallas Baptist was firmly on the ropes.

That seems to be where this team does best. Down four runs against TCU on Saturday night, it scored five runs in the seventh inning. Down to its last out Sunday night, Dallas Baptist tied it up. And down five runs in the winner-take-all showdown, it exploded for eight runs to make history.

The offense got kick-started after Dallas Baptist grounded into its third double play in the first six innings. Christian Boulware hit a seeing-eye single, followed by a two-run homer from Ryan Wrobleski.

Benefield hit the grand slam in the seventh. Then River Town provided insurance with a two-run home run in the eighth inning. Dallas Baptist took advantage of a taxed Beavers pitching staff that had to play five games, all close, in the span of four days.

Meanwhile, Dallas Baptist relied on Zane Russell to throw 4⅓ shutout innings. He'd recorded just 47 outs all season long. Nobody else. We're always ready for any situation that the game can throw at us."

Earlier this season, amid a stretch of six consecutive games canceled because of a COVID-19 outbreak, the team was down to nine available position players. Heefner and his staff were testing out pitchers to see who could slot into the field, if needed. It won that next game.

That experience was akin to the one Dallas Baptist faced halfway through this game. An impossible and dire situation in need of something special.

This series could have gone like the last six regionals. In 2015, Dallas Baptist lost a game seven to VCU at home. In 2016, it lost a game seven to Texas Tech in Lubbock. In 2017, it lost on to TCU on the same Lupton Stadium field it won at on Monday. In 2018, Arkansas won its regional final against the Patriots. In 2019, it was Texas Tech again in the regional final.

This 2021 team could have done the same thing. The score was trending in that direction. The momentum of the game was, too. But then, the turnaround happened.

belief. We feel like we've arrived."

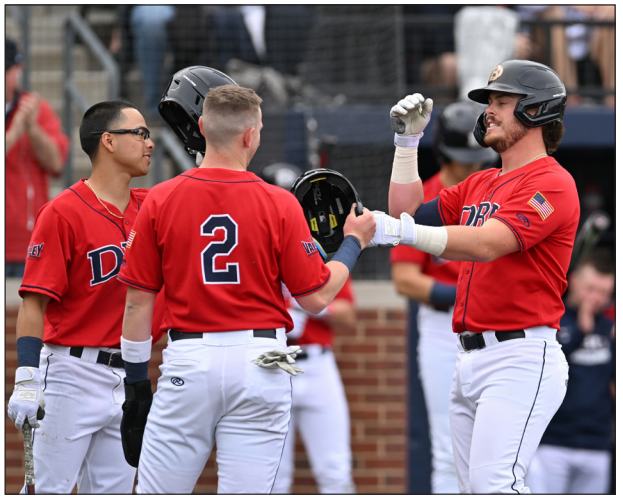
The 2022 season marked the final year for DBU in the Missouri Valley Conference. After posting 34 wins during the regular-season, including a 13-8 record versus teams with an RPI ranking in the top 50, DBU earned an at-large bid as the No. 3 seed at the Austin Regional. DBU's postseason resume was bolstered by a strength of schedule that was ranked as the ninth-toughest in the nation and their opponents' .613 overall winning percentage was tops in the country.

The Patriots' season was highlighted by several memorable wins including six over teams ranked in the Top 25. In a key weekend series versus No. 20 Maryland in late March, DBU took two of three from a Terrapins team that went on to win 48 games and host the College Park Regional. In a pair of midweek matchups against TCU, the Patriots swept both games over the Horner Frogs, including a dramatic comeback win on April 26th at Lupton Stadium in Fort Worth. Trailing 5-2 in the bottom of the eighth, the Patriots rallied to score four runs to claim a 6-5 win over No. 6 TCU. One of the biggest wins in program history came on May 10th at home

Luke Heefner was named a Freshman All-American in 2022 and became the third player from DBU to be named the MVC Freshman of the Year.



Cole Moore led the Patriots offensively hitting a team-high .352 with 11 home runs, 22 doubles, and 47 RBI.

DBU also routed an Oklahoma Sooners team 10-1 on May 3rd. The Sooners would eventually reach the finals of the College World Series and finished the year ranked No. 2 in the nation.

At season's end, Luke Heefner was named both a Freshman All-American by Collegiate Baseball and the Missouri Valley Conference Freshman of the Year. Eight Patriots were also selected to the All-Missouri Valley Conference Team headlined by First Team selections Chandler Arnold, Cole Moore, and Ryan Wrobleski. The DBU Patriots achieved remarkable success in 2024, securing 45 wins and capturing their first-ever Conference USA Tournament title in just their second season in the league. This victory in the CUSA Championship earned DBU the automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament, marking the team's 10th consecutive postseason appearance. As the No. 2 seed at the Tucson Regional, the Patriots became one of just five teams in the nation to reach the NCAA Tournament each of the last 10 years.

The Patriots opened the 2024 season on a nine-game win streak, matching the 1987 team for the best start to a season. Facing a field that included Arizona and a pair of nationally ranked teams in No. 19 Indiana and No. 15 Alabama, DBU won the Frisco Classic. The Patriots' dramatic 7-5 win in 12 innings over the Crimson Tide clinched the title in one of the nation's premier tournaments at the beginning of the season. By the first week of April, DBU had reached as high as No. 7 in the national polls, marking their first-ever consensus top-10 ranking in all four major polls. The Patriots finished the regular season with a stellar 17-7 record in Conference USA play, just one game behind first-place Louisiana Tech, setting up a deep postseason run.

DBU won the 2024 Frisco Classic with wins over Arizona and Alabama.

Ryan Johnson was a consensus All-American and became DBU's all-time strikeout leader in 2024.

Alex Pendergast was named the CUSA Tournament MVP after hitting an impressive .562 across four games, leading DBU to the championship.

Following the CUSA Tournament, the Patriots were named the No. 2 seed at the Tucson Regional, where they faced off against top-seeded Arizona, No. 3 seed West Virginia, and No. 4 seed Grand Canyon. DBU opened the regional at Hi Corbett Field in Tucson, Arizona, with a 4-1 loss to West Virginia but bounced back with a dominating 7-0 win over No. 15 Arizona. Jaron DeBerry delivered a standout performance, throwing six shutout innings, while Tom Poole's two home runs powered the offense. However, DBU's postseason run came to an end the following day with a 12-10 loss to Grand Canyon in an elimination game.

DeBerry followed as a third-round selection by the Milwaukee Brewers, while senior infielder Miguel Santos was signed as a non-drafted free agent by the Chicago White Sox.

Luke Pettitte was named a Freshman All-American and CUSA's Newcomer of the Year.

PATRIOT BROADCASTING NETWORK

DBU Baseball is gearing up to celebrate its 14th year on the Patriot Broadcasting Network (PBN) in 2025, continuing a legacy of bringing live play-by-play action to DBU fans across the globe. Since its inception in 2012, the PBN has been a vital part of the fan experience, offering a up-close look at one of the nation's top collegiate baseball programs.

For the 2025 season, all home broadcasts of DBU Baseball will be available on ESPN+, allowing fans to catch every thrilling moment of the Patriots' home games. As one of the elite programs in college baseball, DBU will be prominently featured on ESPN's platform, with all 30 of the team's home games set to air for a nationwide audience.

When the Patriots take to the road, fans can follow all the action live through the PBN's official website at www.patriotbroadcastingnetwork.com. The PBN will also cover every pitch of DBU Baseball at the Conference USA Tournament and the NCAA postseason.

The broadcast team of Reagan Ratcliff and Brendan Smith will return for their 14th season together as the voices of DBU Baseball. The pair has been instrumental in the success of the PBN since its debut in 2012, helping bring the excitement of Patriot Baseball to fans near and far. Over the past 13 years, Ratcliff and Smith have called 11 NCAA Regional appearances, highlighted by memorable moments like the 2015 Dallas Regional and the 2021 Columbia Super Regional, where DBU made an unforgettable run.

Joining the broadcast team in 2025 is former DBU pitcher Kragen Kechely, who will serve as an analyst for road games. Kechely, who pitched for DBU from 2017-2021, holds the school record for most career appearances with 100. His insights and knowledge of the game will provide fans with a unique perspective from a Patriot legend.

In addition, Alexis DeLaGarza will make her debut on the PBN broadcast team in 2025, serving as a reporter for ESPN+ broadcasts. DeLaGarza, who also works as a sideline reporter for DBU Basketball broadcasts, will offer fans in-depth stories and interviews throughout the season.

The 2025 season will also see the continuation of PBN's partnership with the Horner Communications Department, ensuring that DBU fans will enjoy one of the most professional and comprehensive broadcasts in college baseball. The video production team will work alongside the broadcast crew to deliver high-quality coverage that captures all the excitement of DBU Baseball.
