Wolverines to Wrap Up Players Era Against Kansas State

Michigan (3-4) closes out its Thanksgiving week in Las Vegas against Kansas State (3-4) on Friday (Nov. 27) in the seventh-place game of the Players Era Sixteen at T-Mobile Arena. Tipoff is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. PT (5:30 p.m. ET), with Jon Sciambi (play-by-play) and Fran Fraschilla (analyst) calling the action on ESPNU.

Before the Tip

- One More in Vegas: Michigan wraps up its three-game stay at the Players Era Sixteen against Kansas State. Friday's matchup marks U-M's fourth game in seven days, a stretch that began at Villanova (Nov. 21) before heading to Las Vegas for three games in four days.
- Looking to Get Back on Track: Both Michigan and Kansas State enter Friday's matchup on three-game losing streaks. The Wolverines have dropped games to Villanova (79-73), Creighton (99-73) and Miami (97-70), while the Wildcats have fallen to Campbell (80-70), Gonzaga (101-61) and Alabama (104-91).
- A Series on Neutral Ground: Michigan holds a 3-1 all-time advantage over Kansas State, with all four previous meetings coming at neutral sites. Las Vegas becomes the fifth different location in the series, joining Kansas City (1964), Maui (1985), the U.S. Virgin Islands (2002) and New York City (2012).
- A Little History: U-M defeated Kansas State, 100-90, in the 1964 NCAA national third-place game, capping the Wolverines' first Final Four appearance. In the last meeting, Tim Hardaway Jr. scored 23 points and earned tournament MVP honors as U-M defeated the Wildcats, 71-57, to win the 2012 NIT Season Tip-Off.
- Beyond the Arc: Kansas State averages 11.3 three-pointers on 34.4 attempts per game, with 54.4 percent of its field-goal attempts coming from long range. Brandon Rechsteiner (26) and Jaden Schutt (16) have combined for 42 of the Wildcats' 79 three-pointers (53.2 percent).
- Leading the Wildcats: Rechsteiner leads Kansas State in scoring (18.7 ppg), assists (3.9 apg) and three-pointers (26). He has three games with 26 or more points, including a season-best 27 against Alabama on Thanksgiving. Brock Vice averages 11.6 points and a team-best 5.4 rebounds while shooting 62.0 percent from the field and 47.8 percent from long range. Vice also scored 27 against Alabama, connecting on five three-pointers.
- Estrella in Las Vegas: J.P. Estrella has put together back-to-back 20-point games, scoring 22 against Creighton and 21 against Miami. He is averaging 21.5 points on 76.2 percent shooting (16-for-21) in Las Vegas and now leads Michigan in scoring (17.0 ppg) and rebounding (8.0 rpg).
- McKenney's Consistency: Trey McKenney has started and scored in double figures in all seven games, averaging 16.6 points. He leads U-M with 22 three-pointers, making at least one in every game and three or more in six.
- Cleaning the Offensive Glass: Michigan has grabbed 81 offensive rebounds over its last four games (20.3 per game), including 39 in two games in Las Vegas. The Wolverines are averaging 17.0 offensive rebounds per game and have not been outrebounded in six straight games.
- Sharing the Basketball: Michigan has assisted on 34 of its 48 field goals (70.8 percent) in Las Vegas. Elliot Cadeau leads U-M with 45 assists (6.4 apg) and enters Friday needing one point for 500 and 21 assists for 300 as a Wolverine.

What Next

- After four straight games away from Ann Arbor, Michigan returns to Crisler Center to host Mississippi Valley State on Tuesday (Dec. 1) before taking on Louisville in Motor City Madness on Saturday (Dec. 5) at Little Caesars Arena in downtown Detroit.

The Maize & Blue Through Six Games

Building an Identity

• A Lot Has Changed: Since winning the 2026 national championship, Michigan lost head coach Dusty May to the Dallas Mavericks and four starters, including three NBA lottery picks -- Morez Johnson Jr. (No. 9, Dallas), Yaxel Lendeborg (No. 11, Golden State) and Aday Mara (No. 12, Oklahoma City). Veterans Nimari Burnett and Will Tschetter exhausted their eligibility, while L.J. Cason, Winters Grady and Malick Kordel transferred.

• Big Shoes to Fill: Michigan lost nearly 68 percent of its scoring, 75 percent of its individual rebounding, 86 percent of its blocked shots, 56 percent of its assists and 64 percent of its minutes played from a year ago. U-M also lost 159 of its 200 starts (79.5 percent). The three lottery picks alone accounted for 1,611 points, 834 rebounds, 274 assists, 196 blocks and 118 starts.

• Boynton Takes Over: After two seasons on Michigan's staff, Mike Boynton Jr. was promoted to head coach. Boynton oversaw U-M's defense, which went from No. 12 nationally in KenPom's adjusted defensive efficiency rankings in 2024-25 to No. 1 last season.

• Getting to Know Each Other: Michigan has 10 newcomers -- four transfers and six freshmen -- to go along with seven returners. Elliot Cadeau, the 2026 Final Four Most Outstanding Player, is the lone returning regular starter. Seven games into the season, U-M is still sorting out roles and rotations and learning how to play together.

• New Team, Same Expectations: Michigan has played well in stretches but has struggled to put together a complete 40-minute performance. Getting better defensively, taking care of the basketball and finding more consistent scoring remain priorities. The expectations haven't changed, but this group is still finding its own identity.

• An Up-and-Down Start: After a season-opening loss to South Dakota State (68-66), Kansas State won three straight, including an 89-82 win over Creighton -- a team Michigan lost to in its Players Era opener. Like Michigan, the Wildcats have dropped three straight, falling to Campbell (80-70), Gonzaga (101-61) and Alabama (104-91). After averaging 90.0 points during its three-game winning streak, K-State has averaged 74.0 during its three-game skid.

• Leading the Wildcats: Rechsteiner leads Kansas State in scoring (18.7 ppg), assists (3.9 apg) and three-pointers (26). He has scored 26 or more points three times, including a season-best 27 against Alabama. Vice also scored 27 against the Crimson Tide, making five three-pointers. He averages 11.6 points and a team-best 5.4 rebounds while shooting 62.0 percent from the field.

• Creighton shot 51.6 percent from long range (16-for-31), connecting on 12 three-pointers in the first half. The Bluejays outscored Michigan 48-27 from beyond the arc and turned 17 U-M turnovers into 27 points.

• J.P. Estrella led four Wolverines in double figures with a season-best 22 points on 8-for-9 shooting, including two three-pointers, and added nine rebounds. Moustapha Thiam had 12 points, eight rebounds and four blocks.

• Trey McKenney and Elliot Cadeau each added 10 points, with McKenney scoring in double figures for the sixth straight game. Roddy Gayle Jr. led U-M with 10 rebounds and six assists.

Players Era | #17 Miami (Nov. 26)

• Michigan dropped its second game of the Players Era Sixteen, falling to No. 17 Miami (Fla.), 97-70. U-M jumped out to an early 21-13 lead before the Hurricanes rallied to take a 52-45 halftime advantage. Miami outscored Michigan 45-25 in the second half.

• Trey McKenney scored 16 points, including three three-pointers, and has reached double figures in all seven games this season. Elliot Cadeau added 15 points and a team-high eight assists, while U-M had 19 assists on its 24 field goals.

• Creating Extra Opportunities: Michigan is averaging 17.0 offensive rebounds and has grabbed 81 over its last four games (20.3 per game) -- William & Mary (22), Villanova (20), Creighton (22) and Miami (17). U-M has generated 61 second-chance points over its last three games.

Who are the Wolverines?

The Leaders & Best

• A New Era: Mike Boynton Jr. takes over as Michigan's head coach after two seasons as an assistant and defensive coordinator, helping guide the Wolverines to the 2026 national championship. A former seven-year head coach at Oklahoma State (119-109), Boynton provides continuity for a program coming off a historic 37-3 season.

• A Defensive Foundation: Michigan climbed from No. 12 nationally in KenPom adjusted defensive efficiency in 2024-25 to No. 1 during its national championship season. The Wolverines went 64-13 during Boynton's two seasons as an assistant, with defense playing a major role in that success.

• Building the Culture: Boynton emphasizes relationships, trust and accountability, with players expected to embrace their roles and hold one another to a high standard. His approach centers on playing together, leading by example and making winning plays when games are on the line.

• Offensive Approach: Michigan uses spacing, ball screens and perimeter shooting to create driving lanes and opportunities around the basket. Boynton has identified shooting and offensive rebounding as strengths, with an emphasis on attacking the paint and generating second-chance opportunities.

• Defensive Approach: Communication, rim protection and ball-screen coverage remain priorities. Boynton adjusts his schemes to fit his personnel, including using 7-2 Moustapha Thiam in drop coverage to protect the paint and contain opposing ball handlers.

• Experience on the Bench: Boynton's staff brings a mix of college head-coaching and NBA experience. Associate head coach Mike Martin spent 14 seasons leading Brown, while assistant coach and co-offensive coordinator Dylan Murphy worked eight seasons in the Orlando Magic organization. Kyle Church serves as assistant coach/general manager, Akeem Miskdeen as assistant coach/recruiting coordinator and KT Harrell as assistant coach.

Roster Construction

• A New-Look Roster: Michigan enters 2026-27 with seven returning members of its national championship team and 10 newcomers. The Wolverines added four transfers and six freshmen, blending championship experience with a largely rebuilt roster.

• The Returning Seven: Elliot Cadeau, Roddy Gayle Jr., Howard Eisley Jr., Oscar Goodman, Harrison Hochberg, Ricky Liburd and Trey McKenney return from Michigan's 37-3 championship team. Cadeau is the lone returning starter, while Gayle and McKenney provide additional experience from last season's rotation.

• Four Transfers: J.P. Estrella (Tennessee), Jalen Reed (LSU), Moustapha Thiam (Cincinnati) and Kenny Noland (Columbia) bring experience from four different programs. The group adds three frontcourt options and another proven scorer and ball handler in the backcourt.

• Six Freshmen: Michigan welcomes Malachi Brown, Brandon McCoy Jr., Lincoln Cosby, Quinn Costello, Joseph Hartman and Marcus Møller. The group adds size, shooting and versatility, although McCoy will miss the season following an ACL injury suffered during the August foreign tour. Cosby also will sit out the season to continue his rehabilitation.

• A Historic NBA Draft: Michigan had three players selected in the 2026 NBA Draft lottery: Morez Johnson Jr. (No. 9, Dallas), Yaxel Lendeborg (No. 11, Golden State) and Aday Mara (No. 12, Oklahoma City). It marked the first time in program history the Wolverines had three lottery selections in the same draft.

• Championship Turnover: Beyond the three NBA lottery selections, Michigan lost Nimari Burnett and Will Tschetter to exhausted eligibility, while L.J. Cason, Winters Grady and Malick Kordel transferred. Charlie May also departed to become a graduate assistant at Georgia.

The Backcourt

• Championship Experience: Michigan returns Elliot Cadeau, Roddy Gayle Jr. and Trey McKenney from its national championship team, giving the Wolverines an experienced foundation in the backcourt. Columbia transfer Kenny Noland adds another proven scorer and ball handler, while Ricky Liburd and freshmen Joseph Hartman and Malachi Brown provide additional size and depth on the perimeter.

• Running the Show: Cadeau started all 40 games during Michigan's championship season, averaging 10.5 points and a team-best 5.9 assists. His 234 assists marked his second straight 200-assist season. The Final Four Most Outstanding Player matched his career high with 19 points in the 69-63 national championship victory over UConn.

• The Veteran: Gayle brings experience, toughness and versatility to Michigan's backcourt. The 6-5 guard earned NCAA All-Midwest Regional Team honors during the championship run and gives the Wolverines a physical perimeter defender who can attack the basket and finish through contact.

• A Bigger Role: McKenney enters his sophomore season after earning Big Ten All-Freshman Team honors and preseason All-Big Ten recognition. He averaged 9.9 points, led Michigan with 68 three-pointers and shot 39.1 percent from beyond the arc and 89.5 percent at the free-throw line. The Flint native gives Michigan a proven outside shooter who can also create his own shot.

• Another Scoring Option: Noland joins Michigan after averaging 17.1 points and 3.7 assists in his final season at Columbia. The 6-2 guard can run the offense or play off the ball, giving the Wolverines another experienced scorer and playmaker alongside Cadeau.

• Young Perimeter Depth: Liburd returns after redshirting during Michigan's championship season. Freshmen Hartman and Brown both stand 6-6, adding length and versatility on the perimeter. Hartman, who is expected to return from a shoulder injury, brings outside shooting, while Brown provides a defensive-minded presence.

The Frontcourt

• Size to Spare: Michigan features two seven-footers in 7-3 freshman Marcus Møller and 7-2 junior Moustapha Thiam. Add 6-11 J.P. Estrella and 6-9 Jalen Reed, and the Wolverines have four big men with different skill sets, giving Boynton flexibility with his frontcourt combinations.

• Protecting the Paint: Thiam arrives from Cincinnati after earning All-Big 12 honorable mention. He started all 31 games he played last season, averaging 12.8 points, 7.1 rebounds and 1.6 blocks. The 7-2 center gives Michigan a shot blocker and interior presence who can also score around the basket.

• Work on the Glass: Estrella joins Michigan from Tennessee, where he averaged 10.0 points and 5.4 rebounds last season. He recorded five double-doubles, led the Volunteers with 92 offensive rebounds and shot 59.6 percent from the field. The 6-11 forward brings energy, physicality and a knack for creating second-chance opportunities.

• Back in Action: Reed brings four seasons of experience from LSU, where he played 79 games with 39 starts. He averaged 9.5 points and 5.7 rebounds in six games last season before suffering a season-ending Achilles injury. After 317 days away from game action, he returned to the court in Michigan's Oct. 11 exhibition against Eastern Michigan.

• The Danish Big Man: At 7-3, Møller gives Michigan size with an outside shooting touch. The Copenhagen native developed his game in Spain with Unicaja Málaga and has represented Denmark internationally. His perimeter skills and ability to stretch the floor offer a different dimension to Michigan's frontcourt.

The Lighter Side

There's more to Michigan Basketball than points, rebounds and assists. From trash talk and pregame rituals to hidden talents, fashion debates and friendly rivalries, the Wolverines shared a glimpse of their personalities and life away from the court. Here's a look at the lighter side, straight from the players themselves.

The Players Have Spoken

• The Undisputed Trash-Talk King: Elliot Cadeau is the clear choice as Michigan's biggest trash talker in practice. Every player who answered the question named Cadeau, either alone or alongside another teammate. Roddy Gayle Jr. didn't hesitate: "By far."
• The Locker Room Comedian: Howard Eisley Jr. received the most votes as Michigan's funniest player, although Lincoln Cosby and Joseph Hartman also earned plenty of recognition. There's no shortage of personalities in the Wolverines' locker room.
• The Fashion Debate: Cadeau earned plenty of recognition for his off-court style, but Trey McKenney wasn't ready to concede the title. "Elliot Cadeau is into fashion, but I would say I have pretty good style. I'm up there."
• The Battle for the Speakers: Malachi Brown and Joseph Hartman were popular choices for the team's best pregame playlist, with Cadeau also receiving votes. The Wolverines have several players competing for control of the locker room music.
• The Reality TV Survivor: Harrison Hochberg was a popular choice when teammates were asked who would last the longest on a reality show. McKenney, Cosby and Gayle also received nominations. Hochberg, meanwhile, picked McKenney for Too Hot to Handle.
• The Trivia Night MVP: Hochberg was the overwhelming choice when teammates were asked who they'd want on their trivia team. Cadeau, Marcus Møller, Hartman, Gayle and Oscar Goodman all selected him.
• The Ultimate Competitor: Cadeau isn't just Michigan's biggest trash talker. He's also one of its fiercest competitors in practice. Gayle says Cadeau tries to "dominate every drill," challenging his teammates to match his intensity.

Pregame Rituals

• J.P. Estrella | Perfect Timing: Has a 47-minute playlist that must finish just before the coaches enter the locker room. The final song has to end at exactly the right moment.
• Trey McKenney | A Little Motivation: Watches the same motivational speech from Creed on the bus before every game.
• Elliot Cadeau | Sleep Comes First: Needs 11 to 12 hours of sleep the night before a game.
• Marcus Møller | Nine Songs, 40 Minutes: Listens to the same nine-song, 40-minute playlist before every game.
• Joseph Hartman | Music Is a Must: Needs music playing for 45 minutes before tipoff.
• Roddy Gayle Jr. | Three-Song Routine: Takes a lap while listening to the same three songs before every game.
• Lincoln Cosby | Bringing the Heat: Eats a bag of Takis before every game.
• Jalen Reed | Doritos and Cheese: Back in 10th grade, Reed ate Doritos and cheese before every game. His assessment? "I never threw up." He has since retired the ritual.
• Moustapha Thiam | Nap Time: Takes multiple naps on game day.

Hidden Talents

• The Music Makers: Cadeau produces music, while Howard Eisley Jr. can rap. The Wolverines have musical talent beyond their pregame playlists.
• The Yo-Yo Specialist: Malachi Brown can perform tricks, including Around the World and Walk the Dog.
• The Great Dane in the Kitchen: Marcus Møller considers himself a good chef, while Harrison Hochberg enjoys cooking Italian food.
• The Backyard Games Champion: Lincoln Cosby considers himself especially good at cornhole, KanJam and Spikeball.
• The Golf Enthusiasts: Hochberg enjoys golf, while Oscar Goodman is working on improving his game. Goodman also considers himself a strong swimmer.
• The Juggler: Ricky Liburd can juggle.
• The Gamers: Roddy Gayle Jr. enjoys NBA 2K, Rainbow Six Siege and Apex Legends, while Joseph Hartman considers himself particularly good at NBA 2K.

A Little Friendly Fire

• The Defender Nobody Wants: McKenney and Cadeau both selected Roddy Gayle Jr. as the teammate they'd least want guarding them. Cadeau called Gayle Michigan's best on-ball defender. McKenney offered another explanation: "Just because he fouls so much."
• Don't Sleep on the Big Fella: Cadeau and Kenny Noland both singled out Marcus Møller as an underrated teammate. Noland admitted he didn't expect a 7-3 center to shoot as well as Møller does, while Cadeau believes he has NBA potential.
• The Sleepers: McKenney selected Ricky Liburd as an underrated teammate, while Gayle pointed to Malachi Brown, praising his defensive effort and calling him a sleeper.
• The Name Game: McKenney believes he has the team's best nickname: Trey. His actual first name is John, and he's the third generation in his family to carry the name. That's how he became Trey.
• The Great Dane: Møller has two nicknames: "The Great Dane" and "M&M."
• A Little Friendly Warning: When asked who he'd least want guarding him in practice, Lincoln Cosby jokingly dismissed Joseph Hartman: "Not Joseph Hartman because it is over for him if he does."

What Fans Might Not Know

• Speed Kills: Cadeau believes his quickness is one of the most overlooked parts of his game. "I feel like people don't realize how fast I am on the court."
• More Than a Shooter: Quinn Costello doesn't want to be known strictly for his outside shooting, while Oscar Goodman believes fans might be surprised by his athleticism and ability to knock down shots from the perimeter.
• Guarding Everybody: Moustapha Thiam believes his versatility is one of his biggest strengths, particularly his ability to defend all five positions despite standing 7-2.
• The Competitive Edge: Kenny Noland wants fans to recognize his competitive nature as much as his shooting and ball-handling. "I just love to compete."
• The Little Things Matter: McKenney believes the simplicity of his game often gets overlooked, particularly his ability to make an impact without doing anything flashy.
• Finding His Confidence: Estrella says his biggest improvement since arriving at Michigan has been regaining his confidence on the court. He believes there's more to his game than he's shown in previous seasons.
• Growing as a Leader: Gayle believes his leadership has grown since arriving at Michigan, particularly his ability to connect with teammates and bring the group together.

• Michigan became the first school since Florida in 2007 to have three non-freshmen selected in the same NBA Draft lottery. The Gators' trio included juniors Al Horford (No. 3, Atlanta Hawks), Corey Brewer (No. 7, Minnesota Timberwolves) and Joakim Noah (No. 9, Chicago Bulls).

• Michigan became the first NCAA national champion since Villanova in 2018 to have three players selected in the first round of the ensuing NBA Draft. The Wildcats, who defeated Michigan 79-62 in the 2018 national championship game, had Mikal Bridges (No. 10, Philadelphia 76ers), Donte DiVincenzo (No. 17, Milwaukee Bucks) and Omari Spellman (No. 30, Atlanta Hawks) selected.

The Return

- Back in the Head Coach's Chair: Mike Boynton Jr. returns to the head coaching ranks after seven seasons at Oklahoma State (2017-24). After joining Michigan as an assistant in 2024, he helped the Wolverines win three championships in two seasons, including the 2026 national title. Now gets another opportunity to lead a program, this time taking over the defending national champions.

Michigan | Building a Champion

- Shock the World: Helped Michigan compile a 64-13 record over two seasons, winning the 2025 Big Ten Tournament, 2026 Big Ten regular-season title and 2026 NCAA national championship. The Wolverines went from eight wins in 2023-24 to 27 in Boynton's first season and a school-record 37 in his second.
- Defense Built for a Title: Served as Michigan's defensive coordinator during the 2025-26 national championship season, helping develop one of the nation's top defenses. The Wolverines won their first five NCAA Tournament games by double digits before holding Connecticut to 63 points in the national championship game.
- Defense Comes First: Has built his coaching reputation around toughness, ball pressure and making opponents work for everything. His Oklahoma State teams regularly ranked among the Big 12's better defensive units, including a No. 4 national ranking in KenPom defensive efficiency in 2021-22.

Oklahoma State | Seven Seasons at the Helm

- Leading the Cowboys: Compiled a 119-109 record over seven seasons (2017-24), taking over at age 35 as one of the youngest head coaches in major college basketball. Guided Oklahoma State to the 2021 NCAA Tournament and NIT quarterfinals in 2018 and 2023.
- Making an Early Statement: Went 21-15 and reached the NIT quarterfinals in his first season (2017-18). The Cowboys swept Kansas during the regular season, winning in both Lawrence and Stillwater, and knocked off four teams that eventually reached the NCAA Tournament's Elite Eight.
- Taking Down the Big Boys: During his seven seasons at Oklahoma State (2017-24), Mike Boynton Jr. recorded 23 wins over nationally ranked opponents, including 11 against top-10 teams. His 23 ranked victories were the third-most in program history, trailing only legendary coaches Eddie Sutton and Henry Iba.

Who is Quinn Costello?

• The Stretch Four: A 6-10 forward who brings size, shooting touch and athleticism. Can stretch the floor with his outside shooting, put the ball on the floor and attack the basket. Runs the floor well, has a soft touch around the rim and gives Michigan another scoring option in the frontcourt.

• More Than a Shooter: Has a good feel for the game and knows how to use his size. Moves well without the ball, finds open spots and can make the extra pass. Comfortable facing the basket, reading defenses and creating opportunities for himself or teammates. Continues to develop his game beyond just shooting threes.

• Plays with a Motor: Brings energy, toughness and a competitive edge. Runs the floor hard, battles for rebounds and isn't afraid of contact. Uses his length to contest shots and make plays defensively. Stays active and finds ways to contribute even when he's not scoring.

• A Quick Learner: Has impressed Mike Boynton Jr. with how quickly he picks things up and makes adjustments. Boynton believes Costello could have a bigger impact as a freshman than some might expect.

Did You Know?

• From Unknown to All-American: After transferring to The Newman School, repeated his sophomore year and reclassified from 2025 to 2026. Went from playing on Newman's second team and averaging just 1.7 points as a sophomore to a consensus four-star, top-50 recruit and a 2026 McDonald's All-American.

• A Championship Performance: Helped The Newman School win its first National Prep Championship in 2026, finishing 38-3. Saved one of his best games for the championship, scoring 24 points with eight rebounds and four assists against Blair Academy. Knocked down six three-pointers in the first half alone.

• A Summer Breakthrough: Made a name for himself playing for Middlesex Magic on the Under Armour circuit in 2025. Entered the spring without much national attention but finished with 25 high-major scholarship offers. Also earned Most Outstanding Player honors at the Pangos All-American Camp.

• A Family of Rowers: Basketball wasn't necessarily the family sport growing up. Both of his parents, Kevin and Bethany, rowed at Boston College. Quinn tried several sports as a kid but took to basketball early. Says he was always one of the bigger kids and fell in love with the game almost immediately.

Reminds Us Of ...

• Professional Comparisons: Michael Porter Jr., Lauri Markkanen and Trey Murphy III -- tall, athletic forwards who can really shoot the ball. Have a smooth outside shot, can score off the catch or dribble and use their height to shoot over smaller defenders. Can attack closeouts, finish above the rim and get out and run in transition.

Who is Marcus Møller?

- The Modern Big Man: A 7-3 center from Denmark who brings size, length and a soft shooting touch. Can score around the basket, step outside and knock down threes, and put the ball on the floor when needed. Moves well for his size and gives Michigan another big man who can stretch the floor and create mismatches.

- More Than Just Size: Has a good feel for the game and wants to be more than a traditional back-to-the-basket center. Worked on his guard skills while playing in Spain, where big men and guards often trained together. Comfortable facing the basket, reading defenses and making plays away from the rim.

- A Presence in the Paint: Uses his height, long arms and timing to protect the basket and change shots. Makes things difficult for opposing players around the rim and uses his length to battle for rebounds. Continues to work on his strength, physicality and ability to defend smaller players on the perimeter.

- Ready to Compete: Didn't want to be eased into things after arriving at Michigan during the summer. Told the coaches he was ready to jump right into practice and compete. Has embraced the challenge of adjusting to the physicality and pace of college basketball.

Did You Know?

- A Remarkable Comeback: Diagnosed with testicular cancer in January 2026 while playing in Spain. Returned home to Denmark for treatment and continued working out whenever he could. Announced he was cancer-free in May and arrived at Michigan in July, determined to get back to basketball. Says staying active and being on the court helped him remain positive during treatment.

- On His Own at 16: Left Denmark at age 16 to join Unicaja Málaga's developmental program in Spain. Spent several years playing against older competition while continuing his education online. Credits his family for supporting his decision to leave home and chase his basketball dreams.

- Seven Feet at 15: Started playing basketball when he was nine and was already around seven feet tall by age 15. Says he's always been taller than just about everyone around him, so he doesn't really remember having one big growth spurt.

- The Family Chef: One of the things he misses most about Denmark is his dad's cooking, especially his chicken and salmon. Has been trying to recreate some of those meals in Ann Arbor and considers himself a pretty good cook. Rates his own cooking an eight out of 10 and thinks he might actually make a better steak than his dad.

Reminds Us Of ...

- Professional Comparisons: Kristaps Porzingis, Brook Lopez and Chet Holmgren -- tall, skilled big men who can stretch the floor with their shooting and protect the basket with their length. Move well for their size, have a soft touch and can score inside or step out for threes. Can find open teammates and use their length to change shots around the rim.

Who is Joseph Hartman?

• The Do-It-All Guard: A 6-6 guard who brings size, versatility and a well-rounded game to the backcourt. Can knock down outside shots, attack the basket, handle the ball and create for teammates. Most comfortable at shooting guard but can play either backcourt position.

• A Feel for the Game: Smart, instinctive player who sees the floor well and knows when to attack or get teammates involved. Reads defenses, makes the extra pass and understands how to play with or without the ball. Grew up around college basketball and has the instincts of a coach's son.

• Plays with an Edge: Competitive, physical guard who isn't afraid to mix it up. Uses his size and strength to defend multiple positions, battle for rebounds and get into passing lanes. Willing to fight through contact and make the hustle plays that don't always show up in the box score.

• Whatever the Team Needs: Doesn't get caught up in whether he's playing point guard or shooting guard, starting or coming off the bench. Willing to take on whatever role the team needs, whether that's scoring, setting up teammates or helping defensively. More concerned with making the right play and helping his team win than putting up numbers.

Did You Know?

• Raised Around the Game: His father, Carlin Hartman, is Florida's associate head coach and helped the Gators win the 2025 national championship. Joseph grew up around college basketball, spending plenty of time at practices, games and in locker rooms. Says his dad has been one of his biggest influences, both on and off the court.

• A Basketball Childhood: Born in Richmond, Va., when his dad was coaching at Richmond. One of his earliest basketball memories came when the family lived in New York and Carlin coached at Columbia. Joseph loved watching his dad throw alley-oops to the big guys during workouts, especially when they finished with dunks.

• A Late Basketball Bloom: Despite growing up around basketball, his parents never pushed him to play. Always liked the game, but it wasn't until eighth grade that he really fell in love with it and started taking it seriously.

• Finding His Own Path: Even with his dad coaching at Florida, Joseph and Carlin felt it would be better for him to go somewhere else and make his own name. Carlin even talked with other coaches who had coached their sons before they decided that some independence away from Gainesville would be good for Joseph.

Reminds Us Of ...

• Professional Comparisons: Josh Hart, Austin Reaves and Donte DiVincenzo -- tough, smart guards who can do a little bit of everything. Can handle the ball, knock down outside shots, make the extra pass and defend different positions. Play with good instincts, aren't afraid of contact and seem to have a knack for being in the right place at the right time. Don't need to be the leading scorer to make an impact.
