2025: A SEASON IN REVIEW

The Bulldogs finished their season 15-35 and finished eighth in the Big South Conference standings.

LAST SEASON'S BIG SOUTH ALL-CONFERENCE SELECTIONS

Clay Edmondson was Asheville's first Big South Pitcher of the Year honoree since 2008 (Alan DeRatt) and second overall, and was a near unanimous selection as he received eight of the nine first-place votes and 26 of the maximum 27 points. He concluded the season as the Big South leader in earned run average at 2.20 (11th in the nation), innings pitched with 81.2 and runners picked off (5), and tied as the strikeout leader with 87. Edmondson was 5-1 on the hill with a 1.13 WHIP and just four home runs allowed, and his .224 opponents' batting average was second-lowest in the league. A two-time Big South Starting Pitcher of the Week honoree in 2025, Edmondson was 3-0 in Big South action with a 1.16 WHIP, and was tops with a 2.61 ERA, 51.2 innings pitched and 56 strikeouts, while holding opposing batters to a .219 average.

Owen Michelson earned Big South All-Academic Honors.

SERIES HISTORY

This will be the 47th, 48th and 49th meetings all-time between Asheville and USC Upstate, with Upstate leading the all-time series 32-13-1 and on a six-game winning streak in the series. Upstate swept last year's regular season series in Asheville.

WEEKLY AWARDS

Drew Turner earned the first weekly award of the 2026 season for the Bulldogs, being named the Big South Conference Starting Pitcher of the Week on Mar. 2, 2026.

THE NO. 6

For the past several years, it has been a tradition within the UNC Asheville Baseball program to pass along the No. 6 jersey in honor of late alum Jeff Fox. This year, the honor is being passed to senior infielder Patrick Gillen. Gillen is a business major from Jensen Beach, Fla. who found his home in Asheville after transferring from Division III Calvin University.
The No. 6 jersey was worn by Jeff Fox, a former standout Bulldog baseball player who served as a Secret Service member and was charged with protecting American Presidents Bill Clinton and George W. Bush during an eight-year stint at the White House. Fox passed away on March 16, 2021, from the COVID-19 disease. Each year, the program awards the No. 6 to the student-athlete who best exemplifies Jeff's core values - loyalty, determination and dedication. The team's hitting facility beyond the right field wall is also named in his honor.
