Homecoming Parade Fires Up Spirit

Wade Callison

Raise your hands if you love cross country!

Andrea Morgan

Wade Callison

The Homecoming float is ready to roll.

Wade Callison

The Homecoming King and Queen: Chris Watts and Shelley Fitch salute the crowd.

Greg Merritt

Does this crowd have spirit or what?

Wade Callison

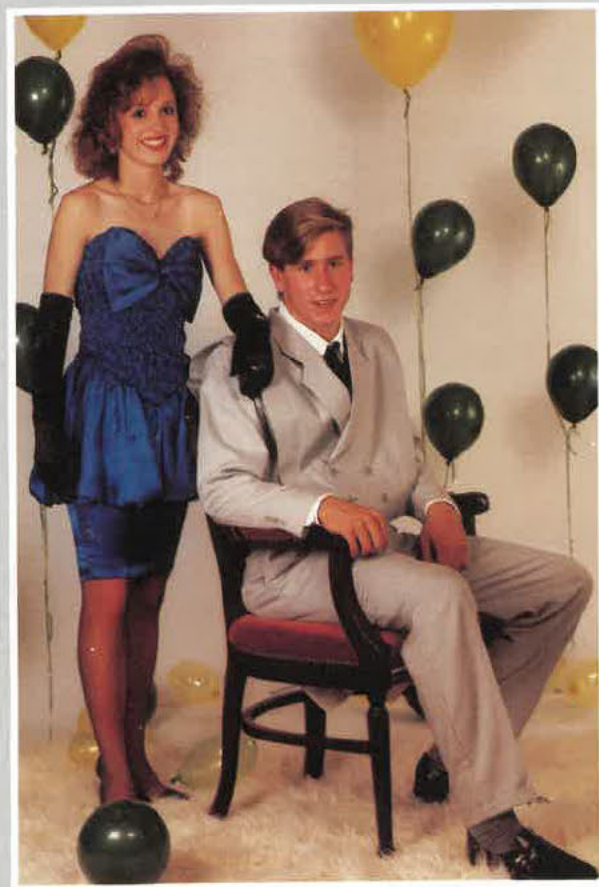

Doesn't the band look thrilled?

The Homecoming Spirit Week ended with the parade and the Homecoming game. This is the first year that AHS has had a Homecoming parade. Thanks to the students, parents, and faculty, the parade was a big success. Hopefully the parade will become a new tradition at AHS.

At the pep rally, the cheerleaders really fired up the spirits of the students, so that by the time the game started the crowd was psyched up and ready for another victory.

Homecoming '89 Was Divine!

To the Seniors

Hold on to your memories, for they were once dreams.
Keep reaching for the stars, 'cause things aren't always what they seem.

People come and people go,
But in the end, real friendships show.

It doesn't matter, race, color, or creed,
Just reach out your hand to find a friend in need.

There's always someone who needs a friend,
Someone on whom they can always depend.

So keep smiling, shining and being so carefree
And remember, you'll always be able to count on me.

I love you guys!

Mr. Keegan's Social Studies classes visited the St. Ives Day Care Center during Thanksgiving week. Their objective was to share Thanksgiving "goodies" and traditions with the elderly people who spend one day per week at the center. Students learned how easy it really is to bring enjoyment into someone else's life. This beginning foray into the local community proved to be beneficial for the students as well as the Day Care patients.

The National Geography Bee was conducted throughout the American school system. Students from grades 5 through 8 were allowed to participate. The qualifying test at Alconbury was handled by Mr. Keegan, a social studies teacher. Chris Duncan passed all of the qualifying heats with flying colors, and went on to win all of England. He was then faced with competing against three other students for the title of DoDDS-A. After taking the written test, and waiting semi-patiently for the results, Chris found that he had beaten the other three students and he earned himself a trip to Washington D. C. to compete in the finals against the finalists from each state or territory.

To make a long story short, Chris qualified and competed in the finals, taking fourth place after incorrectly locating Soviet Georgia. He went home with six hundred dollars, and a great feeling of accomplishment.

Cross Country Runs Wild!

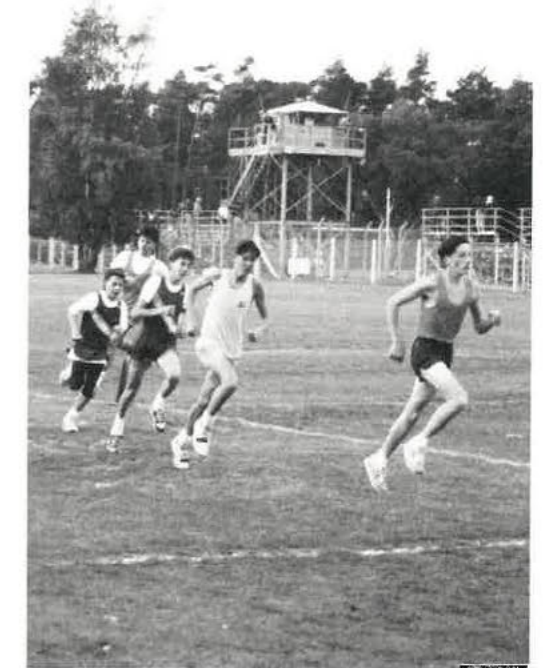

Cross Country started with several returning varsity runners, and the Junior High program was reintroduced. Alconbury had one of the strongest men's Varsity teams in its history, led by Scott D'Amour and Steve Elsbury, team captains. At the finals, Alconbury took third, surpassed only by ASL and Lakenheath. Scott D'Amour and Steve Elsbury made All-Conference by placing sixth and seventh respectively. Joe Tezak took thirteenth, Duane Robinson took twenty-sixth, and Pete Gonzalez had thirty-first.

GO DRAGONS!

Dear Vicci,

Congratulations on your graduation, you have had a most challenging year. What you have gone through, the peaks and valleys of emotion and stress, would have tested the sanity of anyone, but you never lost sight of who you were. Yes, you have changed, you could not help but change, but you remained within yourself. You kept the same high standards that you have demanded of yourself ever since you were three years old. We are extremely proud of you Vicci, not just of what you have accomplished this year, and not just of what you have accomplished over the past twelve years, but of what you gave of yourself to get where you are. Not many people know of all the work you put into maintaining your level of accomplishment. You have it made because you made it happen. Thank you Vicci for enriching our lives, may you continue to walk in God's grace.

As the first editor at Alconbury to include graduation in the yearbook, I'd like to say that I think that it worked out well, at it will become a tradition that will continue at Alconbury, provided that there is no violent uprising.

First of all, I would like to thank the yearbook staff, for supporting me, and overall doing a great job. I would like to mention Amy Johnsrud and Wade Callison, my "editors", although the terms never came up after the first week. Also, Tara Resolme and Pete Dixon for doing a great job while graduation was looming over their heads.

A special thanks is due to Sgt. Greg Merritt, who did the almost all of the group photos, and also came to the rescue on many deadlines when we needed photos developed.

I would also like to thank the staff of the Base Photo Lab, for allowing us to use their facilities when ours weren't in working condition.

Also, I would like to recognize Mike Dunn, who did the cover, and the artwork on the first 15 pages. I think he's done a great job.

For all of my teachers, most especially Mr. Keegan and Ms. Beristain, who let me out of class to come and work on a deadline, I hope the final product is worth it. Also, for all of the people, students and faculty, who supported and encouraged me throughout the year.

And finally, thanks to the advisers, Diane Manning and Trudi Hashagen. Ms. Manning has been a great advisor over the two years I've been working with her. Thank you for all of the help, work, and extra hours you've put in. I wish you every happiness in the future. Ms. Manning had to leave to have her baby (Congratulations!) and Ms. Hashagen stepped in and helped out. I know that it wasn't easy, stepping in at the end of the year, right at the busiest time, but I hope that you enjoyed working with us. Thank you for the support and encouragement I needed to keep going during the rough times.

To all of you who read this, I hope you have enjoyed it, take the time to appreciate it, and enjoy the memories that it brings in the future.
