Bad Kreuznach American High School

KAISERSLAUTERN AMERICAN
HIGH SCHOOL
APO NEW YORK 09227

DEDICATION

This year's Kreuznacher is dedicated to coach and teacher Robert Bacon. Mr. Bacon, serving his third year at Bad Kreuznach High School, has contributed in innumerable ways, particularly to the athletic program of the school. Always understanding, seeing things from the student's point of view, and always giving credit to someone, whether it be deserved or not, are just part of describing Mr. Bacon. For example, after the football team lost a game, Mr. Bacon replied, "Win or lose them all, there is no team in the world that I would rather coach." Immediately following this statement the team had a series of victories. Aside from being head coach of the football team, Mr. Bacon also coaches the basketball team and teaches physical education and first aid.

No person is more worthy of this dedication than Mr. Bacon, and after he leaves Bad Kreuznach, his contributions and helpfulness will never be forgotten by the students and faculty of this school.

Foreword

Few there are who have the opportunity to travel as much as we students of the Armed Forces. Here in Germany, we can very easily visit all over Europe: from England to Russia, from Norway to the Mediterranean. Education also presents an opportunity to travel: from the minute atom to our large universe, from the very serious sermons of Jonathan Edwards to the hilarious essays of James Thurber. As you travel through the pages of this '63 Kreuznacher, we of the yearbook staff hope that you will recall the memories of the year 1962-1963: our teachers, our classmates, our activities.

Principal's Message

The quality of any school is measured to a large extent by the pupils of its student body. This is especially true at Bad Kreuznach High School where the pupil is considered to be the center of the learning process and where the goal is, by both students and faculty, to approach truth in the spirit of learners.

The quality of your education has been greatly enhanced by the opportunity of attending a school in a foreign land. You have been in a true sense ambassadors abroad.

As you return to the United States this rich background should make you a better than average person. You should be able to contribute to a better understanding of common world problems.

It is my sincere hope and desire that as you continue through life you will understand life by contributing some permanent and positive result in surrounding lives.

On behalf of the staff at Bad Kreuznach High School, I wish to congratulate the senior class on the fine achievement and graduation.

Class Prophecy

America's most famous secretary, Sandy Maynard, called in the psychiatrist's first patient for the morning.

"Doctor McClenathen will see you now, Mr. Hunt."

As Mr. Hunt rises and goes through the door of the psychiatrist's office, we follow to learn more.

"Now just relax, Mr. Hunt. Lie down on the sofa and tell me all your troubles."

"Well, it's like this--vague faces appear before me all the time. It seems as if I know the face but again I don't."

"Mmmmm, this sounds very interesting."

"Doctor McClenathen, your face seems familiar, and come to think of it, so does your secretary's, but I can't place them."

"I don't know what is wrong with you. I'm not going to take care of you," said Dr. McClenathen.

"You're not what? We'll see about that. Be in court Monday morning, and you better have a good lawyer," shouted Mr. Hunt.

Monday morning came around with no worry to Dr. McClenathen, for with him walked the most famous lawyer of all times, Sandy Underwood. Although a woman, she has won every case with what she called "no sweat." For Mr. Hunt, Monday was just another day. The great prosecutor, Michele Cloutier, was his pride and joy, and she promised to win the case even if she had to cheat.

Judge Joe Sloan made the details of the trial simple. Mr. Hunt was accusing Dr. McClenathen of helping "sane" people go "insane," and Dr. McClenathen said Mr. Hunt was already "insane" and couldn't be helped.

Judge Sloan dismissed the case till further notice and left the court roaring in laughter as he walked out mocking the walk of the great model, Johnna Schwieger.

The following Monday the trial continued, and the court stenographer, Louise Jones, read the details of the last meeting.

As in a usual courtroom scene witnesses were called for both sides and the great lawyer and the prosecutor gave their talks. As the jury was about to pronounce the verdict, Mr. Hunt jumped up. "I've got it. I've got it. I know all you here are the Seniors I graduated with in '63."

Judge Sloan raised his head and asked the "archangel," Ricky Floyd, to please help him get rid of all those Seniors. As the archangel appeared, Judge Sloan remembered he was one of the Seniors, too, but it was too late; for once again the Senior Class of 1963 of Bad Kreuznach American High School was together again.

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1963 of Bad Kreuznach American High School, being of sound mind, do hereby will and bequeath the following:

To the Juniors, we leave our most prized possession, the name of Senior.

To the Sophomores, we leave our fighting spirit to be on top since we were the smallest class.

To the Freshmen, we leave the school in hopes they will have as much fun as we did.

To the Eighth and Seventh Grades, we leave never to return.

Michele Cloutier wills to Sue H. her long list of ex's although she has a good start on her own. Chuck Hunt wills to Mary Horton eleven months in Germany. Ricky Floyd wills his archangel wings to Miss Lyken's next victim. Sandy Maynard wills her ability to be liked to anyone who needs it. Sandy Underwood leaves the "single" stage to Gloria Maney. Johnna Schwieger wills good-bye to all Seniors; she will be here two more years in Germany. Joe Sloan wills his name of "Jumping Jack" to Shorty Rogers, who sure needs it. Louise Jones wills her ability to "leave school" to Sue Greenwood. Ricky McClenathen being of unsound mind wills nothing to anyone.

As we leave this school we hope everyone wills us the ability and courage to go forth into the world.

Miss Lykens caught Ricky F. in a rare position; his head isn't down.

Mmmmmmmmm, this doesn't look like you Miss Lykens; you're not laughing.

The Seniors are up to their old tricks again.

"How dare you say I look the part of the old mother," says Miss Lykens.

The Seniors are still for a change.

The bells have stopped ringing, the school year has ended, our trip has come to an end, and flashes of the past year will perhaps bring a smile to our lips or a tear to our eyes.
