THE MILLENNIUM BEARKAT

To some an end, to all a new beginning. A new beginning more bright than yesterdays. A tomorrow more full of promise than ever before. A new dawn the likes of which man has never seen before. A new future filled with curiosity, challenges, catastrophes, and cataclysms. Just what we've been preparing a thousand years for. Just what the next thousand years should fear. The brightest, most intelligent, most original, and highest idealists the world has to offer. Nothing can stop them, nothing will get in their way. The Class of 2000 and beyond will prove to be the most enduring and best yet of all the generations which have come before. It is not enough that they shall excel, they shall overwhelm. Before the next millennium, they shall have conquered not only space but inner space, not only poetry but poverty, not only AIDS but the common cold. They will find a way to clean up... to clean up the air and the waters. To find even faster ways to move information. To find better ways to solve our differences. To find a way to feed, clothe, and house those less able. These young people, who begin this millennium journey, go better equipped, smarter, and with the greatest tools to fight the good fight, the smarter fight. They go blessed with the knowledge that they may be afraid of the unknown, but they are prepared to conquer it. The Millennium

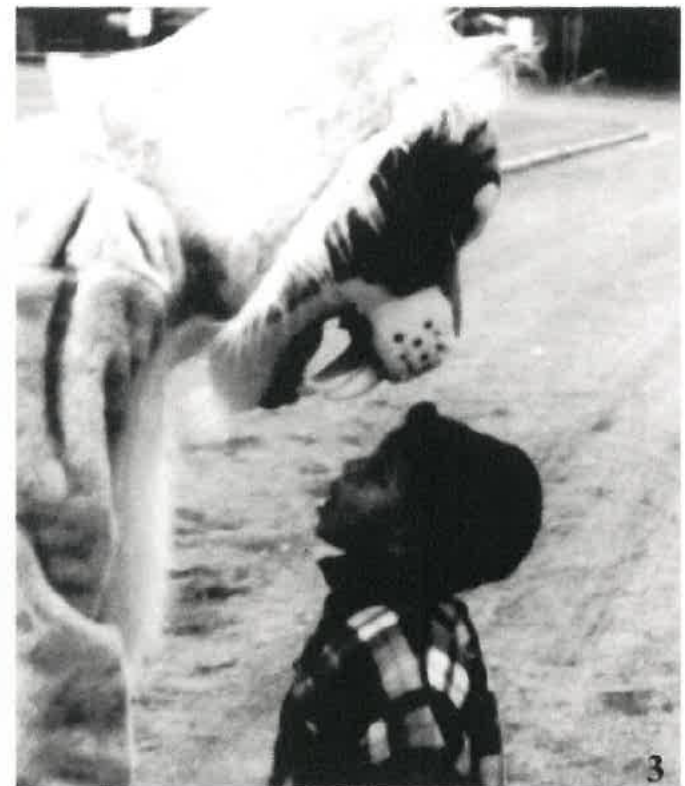

BearKat goes forward on the hunt with a keener insight, a stronger will, and a sense that he will prevail. The Millennium BearKat will fight for the future- a fight he and she fights to win.

This year, the second to last before the closure of Bad Kreuznach as a military installation, has been a bittersweet time. We have seen success upon success: Championships in Football, Tennis, Cross Country, Girls Basketball, Rifle Team, Boys Basketball repeats as European Champs; European athletes in major sports; major awards and successes in Video and Drama festivals, middle school and high school Brain Bowls, THIMUN, MathCounts, Creative Connections, All-DoDDS Jazz Band, to name a few. The downside, to go with the farewell's to family, friends, and faculty. So many will part as the last class at BK says goodbye to the first class of Millennium BearKats, the Class of 2000. It's time now to turn the pages and celebrate the past before we look only to the future.

Matthew J. Benjamin

"I want you to get swept away. I want you to levitate. I want you to sing with rapture and dance like a dervish. Be deliciously happy. Love is passion. . . obsession. . . someone you can't live without. I say, fall head over heels. Find someone you can love like crazy and who will love you the same way back. How do you find them? Well, you forget your head and listen to your heart. The truth is, there's no sense in living your life without this. To make the journey and not fall deeply in love. . . well, you haven't lived a life at all. But you have to try, because if you haven't tried. Who knows? Lightning could strike."

DIVISION III NORTH CHAMPIONS

After what appeared to be an omen for a disastrous BearKat season, Bad Kreuznach rose from the grave to storm back into the Division III hunt behind the speed of All-Conference and All-Europe senior running back Charles Dukes (#44), the crushing power of All-Conference linebacker Junior Moore (#34), and the steady play of junior quarterback Drew Garrett (#24) and sophomore Junior Ayala. The opening game of the season seemed to spell doom as Dukes went down with what looked like a season ending knee injury. However he didn't leave before picking up 150 yards on ten carries. The BearKats fell to Brussels 20-24 that day, but the prediction was made- if Dukes came back healthy for the conference games, BK would take the crown. The BearKats dropped the next two games 0-21 to Baumholder and a heartbreaker to Hohenfels 6-13. But Dukes was back the fourth week and began his All-Europe run. The BearKats defeated Giessen 13-3, Baumholder 21-8. They stumbled to a 18-21 loss after a transportation mix-up got them started late against Giessen, and they fell after Dukes went down injured late in the game. So with BK at 1-1 in the conference, Giessen and Baumholder mathematically out of it; one game would decide the championship - BK versus undefeated Brussels. The contest was over early as Dukes, Moore and Garrett ran all over the Brigands and grounded them for the season 40-8. Next came the regional championship against Rota. Dukes ran yard for yard with the Admirals All-Conference running back and the Kats prevailed 52-28. One week later and 10 hours by bus, the BearKats were in the championships against Vicenza. Although they stopped the BK Express, Dukes still stole the show with a 80 kick-off return in the second half of a 18-29 loss.

This guy was lucky All Conference linebacker Junior Moore (34) didn't get to him first.

BEARKAT TENNIS RULES DIVISION III

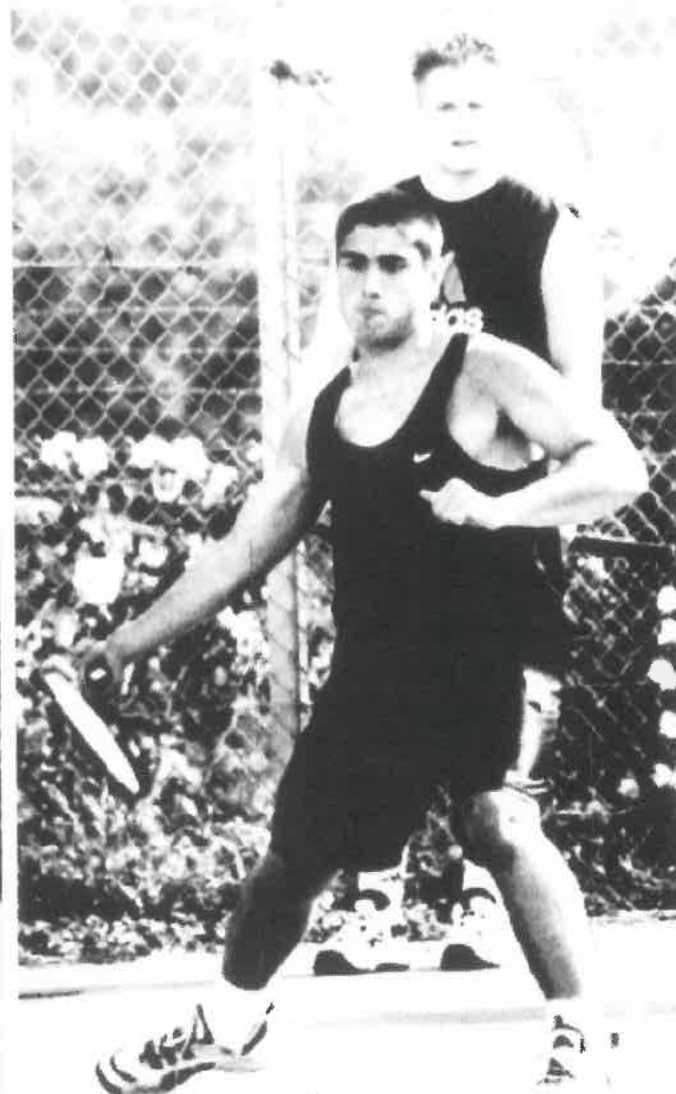

After a rough couple of years, Coach Jake Wayne's BearKats returned to their winning ways. Led by four year varsity starter Jake Bushman and a couple of sophomore phenoms, the boys team took on all comers and mopped the court with their Division III competition. Sophomore double partners John Mackey and Hakan Kittelson dropped their competition like a bad habit. The pair marched into the Europeans with a perfect record and a pretty good seed considering no one had heard of them. A fifth place finish for such an unheralded team was a fine ending for the young duo. Senior Jake Bushman lost rarely and only to the best Europe had to offer. At Wiesbaden's European tournament, Bushman had to come back from near elimination to take the sixth place spot. For athletes from one of the smallest schools in Germany, this was an awesome feat. The Lady BearKats had a fine season themselves. Tanchaka Herrod led a young and relatively inexperienced team that consistently won with youth. Senior Luna Bloom and junior Eryne Reilly teamed up to qualify for the Euros and represented their teammates and themselves quite proudly. Coach Wayne's BearKats proved Europe wasn't too big for his fired up 'Kats.

LADY BEARKAT VOLLEYBALL

The End of the Millennium Lady BearKats had it all, quickness, experience, jumping ability, and spikers with power. Unfortunately they had a rival with the same. Arch nemesis Brussels spoiled the Ladies their date with Conference Championship and European destiny. The BearKats lost only to Brussels twice, once during the conference season and again in the finals of the regional championships in Alconbury, denying them a chance to go to Heidelberg for the Division III Volleyball Championships. Easing the pain of not being in the finals was the announcement of All-Conference players Avie Sanders, Vanessa Johnson, and Sarah Mohr. Making All-Tournament were Johnson and Mohr. Johnson was also named to the All-Europe Team as well.

BEARKAT CROSS COUNTRY

Fall sports winning streak continued with the youngest of the teams: Cross Country. Coach John Mackey found himself with the youngest team ever with nary a senior or junior on the course. This didn't hinder the enthusiasm of the team led by European runners Damerus Wilcher and Emily Kuhlbars. Both sophomores have been long time runners with Wilcher sharpening his teeth for three years on the JV team and number two as a freshman. Kuhlbars entered the fray late as a ninth grader but her long term experience proved the key to success. The girls team ran steady throughout the season and improved each week to take an unofficial title in Division III. The boys, strong on 9th and 10th graders, put in great weekly performances against bigger schools with more runners.

For four years Coach Dave White took a small group of students out behind the school and worked on their golf swing. For four years he hauled players to Wiesbaden to practice, or rode in crowded vans back and forth. For four years he and his golfers played on the best courses in the military. For four years it was always questionable whether he'd have enough players for a full team. For four years he continued to beat the odds and fielded young golfers long on desire if a bit short on experience. For four years he kept at it and this school year it paid off. The BearKat Golf team competed, did well, and actually beat BSB rival Baumholder... twice. Although this is our only golf picture, we wanted to honor a team which may not have a lot of matches... but for heart and competition they proved themselves matchless!

The perfect night to end the perfect day. Millennium Homecoming came after a fantastic football win, a sweep by the volleyball girls, and big wins by the tennis teams. THE BEARKAT BOYS REPEAT

Mike Newsome's returned to coach his 1999 European Champions having lost an All-Europe player as well as graduating one starter, a sixth man off the bench, and a sophomore with a lot of playing time. He came back to a core of three starters, senior Junior Moore, Junior Kawarski Harris, and sophomore Keith Walker. He added a transfer senior Terrell Garth, sophomore newcomers 'Chello Fields and Junior Ayala, and he had the toxic ingredients of another European Championship. Probably, according to many who saw them play, the best overall team in Europe during the Millennium year. The team was never truly tested throughout the year. They merely ruled many of their opponents in their preparation for the European tournament. The ran up and down the court like stallions owning the wild. They played tough "in your face defense". They were everywhere, doing everything before teams could even realize they'd not only been scored on, but they'd been robbed of the ball on the throw in and were down by four instead of two. This was a team so determined in their game that they got better and better despite weaker opponents. No team in BK's history had been so complete in its destruction and although larger schools may have had bragging rights within their own divisions, no school dared ask for a game for fear of being embarrassed by tiny BK. Three players were named to the All-Conference and All-Tournament (Division III-Regional) teams- Walker, Harris, and Garth. Walker and Harris were also named to the All-Tournament (Division III) Team. Harris was named MVP of both tournaments and he and Walker topped it all with an All-Europe nod from Stars and Stripes. What a way to open Y2K and close the school. Words don't describe it... one just had to be there.

Walker (34) goes for his patented fast break lay-up.

Two from Garth in the paint as sure as it gets.

Fields loved to play in traffic.

ELEVEN CHAMPIONS

Coach Bryan Lewis missed the Championship team four years ago, but he worked three long years to put together one of the best ladies teams to ever play at BK. They may not have been the tallest, they may not have been the best shooters, but they were definitely the most exciting. The 2000 team was blessed with experience with youth. Five seniors, two of them starters last year, mixed with a junior, four sophomores, and two freshmen took on all comers, fought hard, and finished the season with the best record in Division III north, 11-4. They had everyone respect but didn't win the title Coach Lewis knew they were capable of. The conference title went to Brussels with a 7-1 record. BK followed at 6-2. However, the ladies got their revenge at the northern tournament at Alconbury beating the conference champs by five. The Lady BearKats faced number one seed Rota Lady Admirals in the championship. Questionable calls took 18 points off the BK side of the scoreboard, yet Rota never had it easy and struggled for every shot. When the dust settled BK had been beaten but not humbled. They knew who the better team was, they knew who should have been going to the European tournament. They team had a small sense of retribution as Avie Sanders and Sarah Mohr added All-Tournament plaques to go with their All-Conference titles. Vanessa Johnson was also named to the All-Tournament team...

not bad for the second place team. "Hell hath no fury, as a woman scorned." Hell for a BearKat is staying home for Euros.

2. Sarah goes for two... and she remembered the left hand!

BRIDGEHOUSE SHOOTERS

For the last four or five years, the Bridgehouse guard rifle team has been a bridesmaid but never a bride. This year the team vowed that that wouldn't happen again. For years the Bad Kreuznach shooters have been the best in Europe every week in their regular meets. However, when it came time for the European Championships, the team seemed to choke and Wuerzburg would become a thorn in BK's side. This year things were different. Week in and week out the rifle team would win their matches, but they didn't just win, they consistently destroyed their conference competition (much like the boys basketball team did theirs). And to top that weekly achievement, they would also post the top scores in Europe. For the entire season, BK was the highest scoring team in Europe. The great thing about the season was that the team seemed to get better and better each week. Their seemed to be someone different at the top of the individual honors. One week it would be senior Ed Ballou (Euros top shooter), or maybe sophomore Hakan Kittelson; maybe Luna Bloom would show that this wasn't a sport dominated by men and show her metal, or perhaps Guttenburg Diehl, Jonathan Bauer, or Tyler Ruger would place on top. The great thing about this team was that they didn't choke under any of the pressure and they brought home ALL the gold. It was a great season for 1SGT Jack Wayne's eagle-eyed team.

THE IDES OF MARCH

as you've never seen them before.

Ms. Fly's 10th grade English classes, under the supervision of interns Robert Robinson and Kelley Cotter, decided that studying Shakespeare's Julius Caesar just didn't have any relevancy unless it was performed. Perform it they did. Each class divided up the play, and came up with their own twisted takes on the Bard's work. The show was written, rehearsed, and performed (complete with rock and roll and cheerleaders) for various English classes and grade levels. The world's greatest writer was never interpreted so loosely and yet everyone came out appreciating, just a little bit, Ol' Will Shakespeare's words.

LONDON STUDY TRIP

Right: Steph, Valerie and David decide where to go next.
Below: Throw a rock in London and you're going to hit a palace, right?
Center: Arielle and Jessica stop in to visit Dr. Who. Ask Mr. Craig.
Below Right: Tom is looking just too cute in that barmaids outfit.
Bottom: The study group finds togetherness on the tube.

AJROTC MILITARY BALL

The Greatest Night of the Year!

What better way to begin the millennium and say goodbye to the old one than with the most popular event in the schools calendar - the AJROTC Annual Military Ball. This is the one that has it all. Girls in formal evening wear, young men in tuxes and dress uniforms. Parents beaming with pride. The BKJILCOM shows off its finest. Good food, good friends, a perfect evening topped off with the crowning of Laura Stewart (top right) as Queen of the Ball. It's an evening of pride personified. Young people showing their best sides. BearKats living the dream.
