The Future Begins With Us

B . A . H . S .

Greetings from Mr. Calabria

My congratulations to the Year 2001 Yearbook staff for its outstanding coverage and fine presentation of this year's edition. To this year's seniors I say thank you for your innumerable contributions to our school.

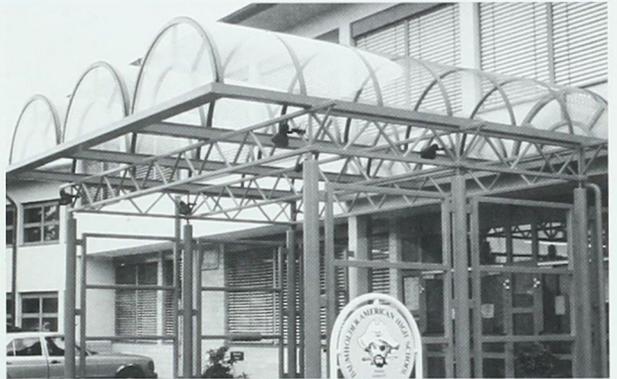

The classes, activities and athletics depicted in these pages are but a small part of every student's BAHS experience. I hope all the memories of this school year have been positive and rewarding. I also hope that our expectations have challenged and advanced you intellectually, socially and emotionally.

On behalf of the faculty, I extend my best wishes to you in your future endeavors. Remember, every student contributed to the success of BAHS. May your future be filled with happiness, success and peace.

Dominick Calabria, Principal

With its notorious orange paint, BAHS has become an all too familiar sight for hundreds of students in grades seven through twelve.

The Future Begins With Us...

This year's theme "The Future Begins With Us..." represents both the seniors who are leaving high school to begin their lives and the underclassmen who are still preparing for their futures. Ultimately, it will be up to us, the younger generation, to take on the role of caregivers and peacemakers to improve the lives of millions in this world. And although the future begins with us, it is always fun to look back and remember our pasts during some of the best years of our lives.

A few of these students may one day play a vital role in changing future society for the better.

Life of the Student...

Students have a whole life outside of class, even though they are still at Baumholder High School. A student's life does not end at 2:50 when the final bell rings. On any given day students can be found participating in extracurricular activities, whether they be athletic, artistic, or working to earn some extra money. The following pages show these students at work and play trying to find activities that they love, in order to continue them in the future.

Baumholder Buccaneers

Football

The Baumholder Bucs football team, led by head coach Bob Best, had a successful season of 4-2. The well-trained Bucs took trips to Italy and even London proving that they could overcome adversity on the road. However, the battle for the conference title proved fatal for the team when Bad Kreuznach defeated the Bucs, 15-18, to ruin Homecoming and BHS playoff hopes. With only three seniors graduating this year and many players returning for next season, the Bucs could continue their goal of being successful in Division III.

SECOND IN EUROPE! Congratulations to the Volleyball team in their success this season. The team, with so few returning players, erased it's doubts about what they can accomplish. The girls won the Division III championships, and were runner-ups at Europeans. With many players returning next year, the team's destiny is in their hands. Congratulations.

The Season

Starting off as a small and inexperienced team, the cross country squad grew to be one of the best Division III teams in Europe. Over fifty percent of the team had no experience in cross-country; however, by mid-season they were dominating the courses. Most new runners showed great determination, demonstrated by outstanding times. The exhibition athletes proved with their times that they show great promise for the future. The varsity team excelled this year with Liessa Laigaie and Matthew Forshee as European qualifiers. Ultimately, the real star of the team was the coach. Coach Forshee always encouraged the team and never let them quit.

Ms. Massey led the team this year as the spirited coach. The cheerleaders showed positive support at all of the athletic events. One of the goals of the cheerleading squad is to promote positive sportsmanship. The fall squad made us proud as they promoted school spirit.

Boy Basketball

Last year's Conference Champions started out strong once again this year. There were several returning players from last year, but also some important new additions. While the varsity team has spent most of the time in the limelight, the young and inexperienced players have had plenty of 'play time' in the JV games. The team came together to win some important games and prove themselves to be among the best in the divisions. Many key basketball team members are leaving after this year and although they are certainly not superstars, they will always be remembered as Baumholder legends.

Girl Basketball

Entering the season with the European crown from last year, the Lady Bucs were looking to defend the title. The ladies lost almost all of their players from last year and started a new season with a very young team. Although the ladies were unable to continue their undefeated record, the ladies showed great enthusiasm and proved that they can still play without their starters from last year. All of the players are valuable to the team, but no one is as valuable as Coach West. His most important rule that he insists on is for the team to work together.

Cheer and Step Team!

GO TEAM GO!

T

he cheerleading winter squad this year was unlike any other squad from the past. There is not a varsity or junior varsity team, but a cheer and step team instead. The cheer team, made up of four members, is a typical cheerleading squad. They cheer for the Baumholder Bucs with their enthusiastic (and loud) voices with traditional cheers. The step team, also made up of four members, is often mistakenly called the “stomp team.” However, it is not hard to make the mistake because the step team use their sense of rhythm to create catchy beats while clapping their hands and stomping their feet. Both squads have proven themselves as supportive representatives of Baumholder High School.

JROTC & Rifle Team

Ready...Aim...Fire!

J

ROTC, the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps, has been part of Baumholder American High School curriculum for 10 years. Besides the Honor Guard and Color Guard, JROTC also promotes the Rifle Team. The Rifle Team is a mostly novice team, with seven of the eight members participating for the first time this year. The highest score one can receive is a 360; all of Baumholder's team members can shoot above 200. A score of 200 and above is considered to be expert shooting. The Rifle team and JROTC class is more than just learning to shoot. JROTC is a class that can and will prepare a student for military life if they wish to continue in that field. However, the purpose of the class, contrary to popular belief, is not to prepare students for a career in the military. The goal of the class is to establish leadership skills and teach students to be better citizens.

DRAMA CLUB

Mr. Smith's last year as a teacher at Baumholder also brings an end to his reign as drama king. About his future departure, "I'm excited about being in a different place. After thirty-one years of teaching it's time to graduate [on to something different.] Looking back, I wouldn't change the decisions I've made in my life. Living overseas and traveling has given me wonderful opportunities. I remember when I first started teaching in Ohio... opportunities were limited. Working for DoDDS opened a world and I seized the opportunity." With many experienced actors leaving last year, the quality and future of the drama club was in serious question. However, Mr. Smith led the drama team to successful productions in a fall and spring production and Europe's annual drama fest. Mr. Smith's legacy to the students of Baumholder is to "Go act your part, not somebody else's."

Thespian Troupe 1703 presents the Fall Play...

Baumholder High School's fall play was a little bit different this year. Instead of presenting a long three-act play, the actors presented a series of ten minute one-acts. The title of the evening was "A Night of Individual Conflicts" to convey that all of the acts were about misunderstandings and arguments. Grace Nolan and Richie Estrada starred in "The Telephone Call." Khristen Logan and Julie Sanchez starred in "The Eclipse." And Ryan Bryson and Jennifer Bingham starred in "The Argument Clinic." The highlight of the evening was a slightly longer skit entitled, "All in the Timing" and starred, Nadia Bowen, Stephen Calabria, Lloyd Compton, Richie Estrada, Grace Nolan, and Katherine Rose. According to Katherine Rose, the fall play was, "...a wonderful experience. I feel so honored to have been able to work with such wonderful actors and produce an entertaining evening for Baumholder's community."

HOME ECONOMICS

Ms. Belote's home economics class teaches students survival skills, whether it be sewing on a button or baking muffins. This year she helped students beyond the classroom by starting a home economics club. ## Future Business Leaders of America

FBLA is the acronym for Future Business Leaders of America. FBLA members give up their lunch period almost every Thursday to attend meetings and training on how to become a better business person. FBLA's major project this year was the Stars Tutoring Program. The members spent their time during seminar to tutor children at Smith Elementary School. Ms. Morant, chose to sponsor the club because she is a business teacher and FBLA is a program she can relate to. She says, "Most kids need to take some form of business [class or club] to prepare them for their life ahead."

The 2000-2001 Yearbook Staff

KEY WORDS:

- deadlines

The yearbook staff had a lot of work cut out for them this year. Not only was the sponsor, Mr. Hollenbeck, completely new to Baumholder, but he had no experience in creating a yearbook! Although a few members of the staff had worked on yearbooks at their past schools, no one had worked on a Baumholder yearbook. Obviously, the year started out with low confidence levels with all people involved. However, after Mr. Hollenbeck and a couple of students attended a yearbook conference in the Netherlands and learned how to produce a yearbook, the staff and sponsor felt much more assured of their abilities to produce a quality yearbook. A lot of hard work, dedication, and perseverance allowed the staff to succeed in producing, "what we feel," is one of the best Baumholder yearbooks in years. Special acknowledgment to 1st semester staffers: Josh Best, Pablo Moreno, Amanda Vargo, Dia Lynn Matos, Jamie Green, Danny Hilden, Ernest Cervantes, Steven Dixon and Jennifer Wilkinson.

Drama Fest

Drama Fest for 2000-2001 was held at Oberwesel, Germany on March 12. The participants included Ashley Stanford, Nadia Bowen, Daniel Hilden, David Seghorn, Mario Coronado, Richie Estrada, Stephen Calabria, Grace Nolan, and Jennifer Bingham. These students performed one-act plays, duets, and solos. Drama Fest is a seminar at which schools from all over the district come together and perform, showing off their talent to others. Baumholder was the host of this year's competition. Baumholder has been a top contender in the competition for several years; Mr. Smith and most of his students have won every year in the past twenty-one years.

AVID

Advanced Via Individual Determination

AVID is a college prep course that stands for Advanced Via Individual Determination. Mr. Lundy, the AVID coordinator, helps prepare the students in their strive for success. AVID is designed to change the study habits of the students who join. Students must sign a contract saying they will do a minimum of two hours of homework a night. The class preps students for college by teaching them note-taking skills, a tool utilized every day in the classroom. A key part in the students' task is to maintain a binder of the student's classwork. This binder must maintain organization. Also part of the curriculum are current event discussions, to assist the students in learning every day knowledge of worldly events. Some students may appreciate the class today, but most likely they will in the future.

With regret, the yearbook staff couldn't give as much coverage to the spring sports as the fall and winter sports. Boy's and Girl's...

Soccer

Ray Jones and Kurt Schmidt coached this year's girl's soccer team, while David Schwab and Jeffery O'Neil coached the boy's team. The coaches had only one thing on their minds this year and that was to win! To achieve this, the players had to work together as a team, learn sportsmanship, and learn to cooperate with fellow team members to be successful. Coach Jones says, "Team play is the key to success in any sport; there are many teammates and only one ball. Working on individual skills will make the individual part of the team effort. You [the individual] must make the effort to become a fundamentally sound soccer player." Jones believes that the coaching staff can only guide a person in his or her effort. But Coach Jones' most important advice is to, "Respect yourself and don't forget to behave appropriately on and off the field."

Track & Field

A strong showing by Baumholder in all of the events was evident this 2001 Track & Field season. Coach Hollenbeck and Coach Forshee were proud of the number of student athletes participating. Track & Field is a unique sport, measuring success as a team, as well as individual efforts. Several events occur simultaneously during a meet. Sprinters, jumpers, hurdlers, weight and distance people are all necessary for the team to be successful. The Baumholder team showed great determination as evidence of their desire to persevere. Junior high students gained experience and participated as exhibition athletes. Coach Hollenbeck and Coach Forshee look forward to the young students competing at the high school level in the near future.

Mr. Lynn Barnes

Mr. Barnes has been an educator for 35 years. He arrived at Baumholder in 1973. Mr. Barnes is an Art and Social Studies teacher. Mr. Barnes chose education as a career because he loves art and working with children. During his free time, Mr. Barnes enjoys cooking and traveling Europe which are some of the reasons why he became a DoDDS teacher. Mr. Barnes retires in June and plans to move back to the states to Pennsylvania. He has been a dedicated and aspiring educator. He will surely be missed by students and teachers all over Europe.

Congratulations to retiring teacher Mr. Lynn Barnes!

Mr. Richard Smith

Mr. Smith has been an educator for 31 years. He had two tours at Baumholder from 1974-77 and 1990-01. Mr. Smith is an English and Drama teacher. He instructed and helped develop successful actors such as Julianne Moore and Markus Calvin. During his free time, Mr. Smith enjoys traveling Europe and participating in organizations such as the International School of Theater. Mr. Smith retires in June and plans to move back to the states to Pennsylvania. He will surely be missed by students and teachers all over Europe.
