

'87 ISLANDER

WE ARE CHAFFEE!

The 1987 Islander is dedicated to all those who made Chaffee High School what it is today. A thank you is extended to students, teachers, parents, and the support of NAS Bermuda. We are proud of our school!

Captain Thomas F. Hall Commander Kenneth W. Peters

The Yearbook staff would like to thank Captain Hall for the use of the photograph featured on this year's cover. The picture was taken from a plane in the Captain's Squadron and has been featured on the cover of National Geographic Magazine.

Dear Students,

School is a place where people come together to learn and prepare for the future. Not all learning, however, takes place in the classroom. A great deal of learning takes place in other pursuits that have a bonafide educational value. One such pursuit is this Yearbook. The Yearbook Staff has obviously learned their lessons in photography, scripting, advertizing, public relations, sales, and publications. I salute and congratulate you for a job well done. The Yearbook speaks for itself.

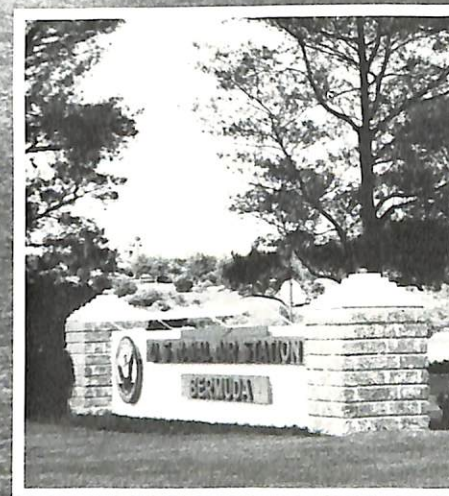

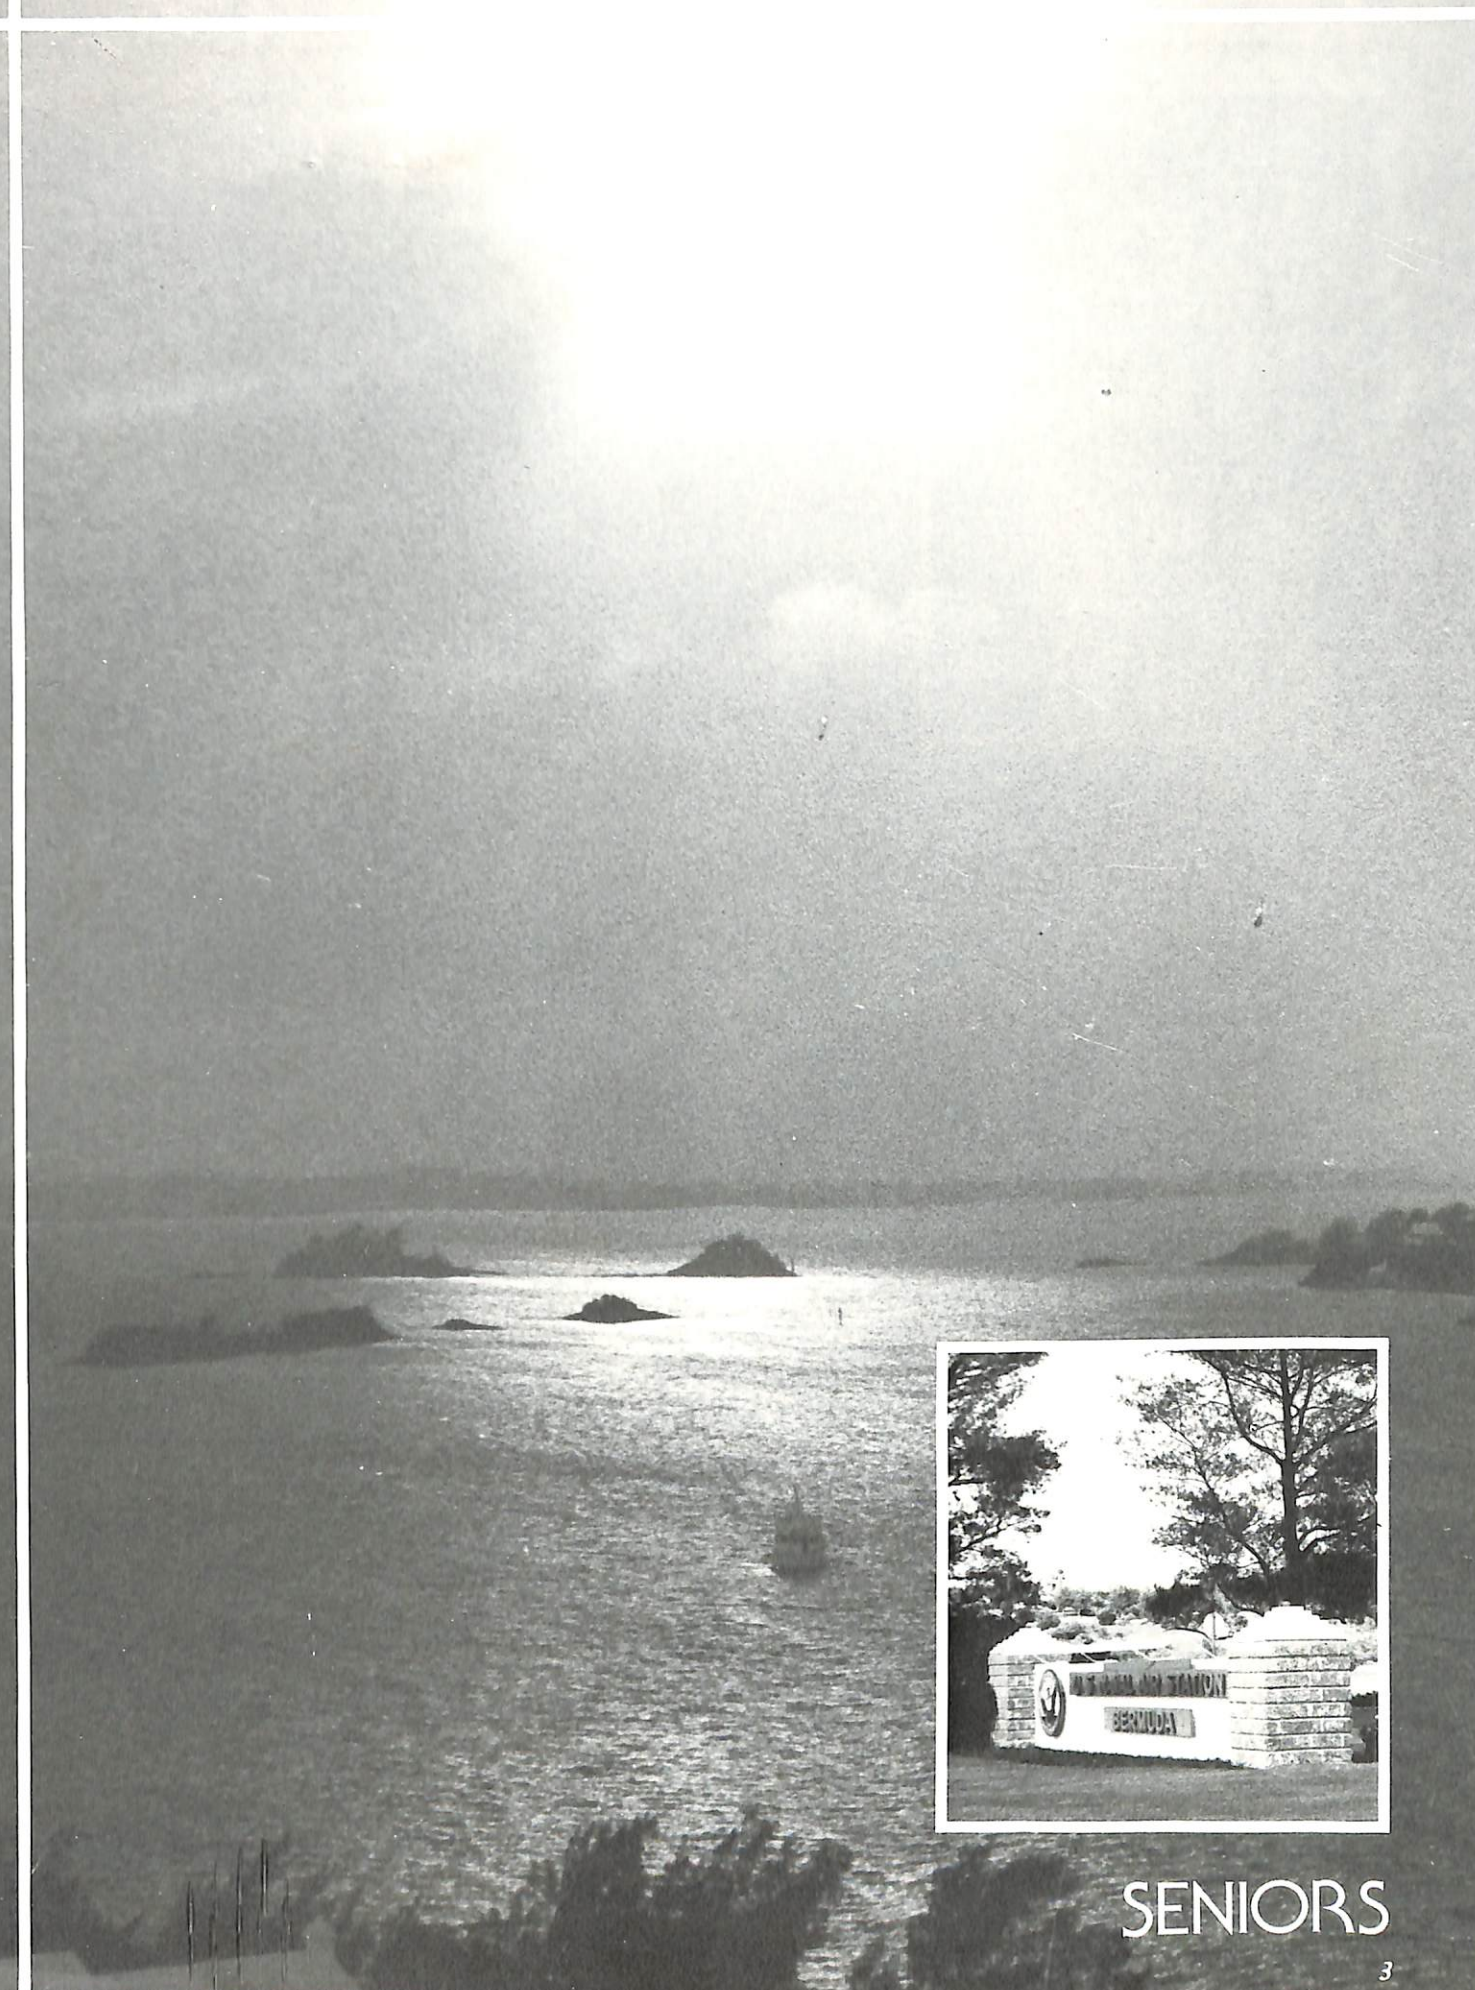

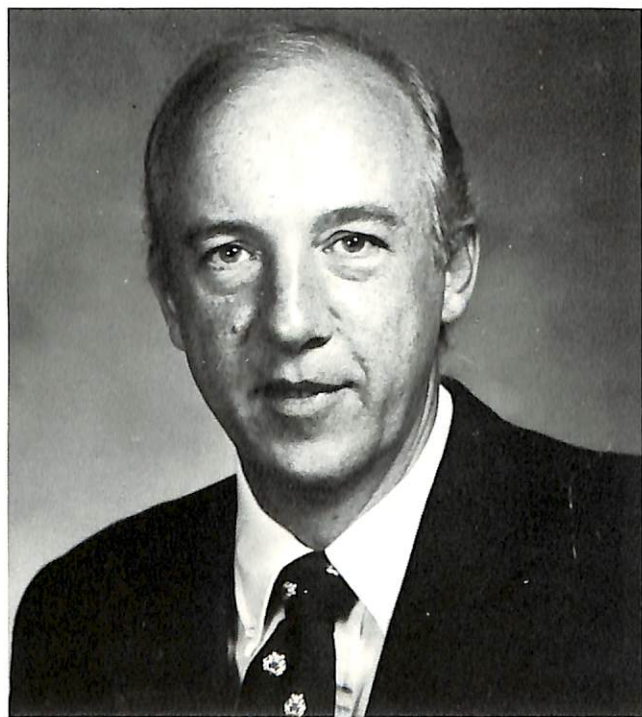

As I have stated before, Chaffee is a positive place for young people to learn and develop skills and abilities. Graduates, take what you have learned here and build upon it. Learning is a lifelong process. You have achieved a very important milestone in your life; keep moving forward for other milestones lie ahead.

Congratulations to the Class of 1987. I join your fellow students, staff, and faculty in wishing you every success,

Sincerely,

Paul Ristow

SOMETHING CALLED LOVE
When there's someone one someone
Who makes your days brighter
Makes your joys greater
Makes your heart lighter
Someone you want so to share with
Do everything with Go everywhere with
One someone you want to live for
You have that something called
LOVE

Boxes
 Cartons of keepsakes,
 tucked beneath my bed.
 Box of memories,
 reflect the life I've led.
 Photographs and ribbons, certificates and such,
 ticket stubs and programs,
 all that mean so much.
 Cards and invitations,
 keys to things I've lost,
 poems and verses I've written,
 Into the boxes are tossed.
 Cartons full of keepsakes,
 Someday I'm sure we'll part,
 But the fondest of all my memories,
 are safe within my heart.

The Falcon Flyer was published for the fourth consecutive year. Because of the absence of a journalism class, the staff worked during lunch as well as before and after school. In addition to learning how a school paper is produced, the staff learned the importance of coping with deadlines and assuming much responsibility in meeting their challenges.

After each issue, a "dissection" was conducted on the strengths and weaknesses of the paper. Lopsided layouts and lackluster articles were panned, while attractive layouts and impressive articles were praised. Efforts were made to include every student in the paper at least once. Polls and the zodiac column aided in this endeavor.

As of presstime, there were plans for the staff to carry on the tradition of producing a literary magazine, which will contain the finest creations of Chaffee's aspiring student authors.

A WHALE OF A PROJECT

The Whale Project and study of Whales came from a new course in Science, Technology, and Society. The class was studying endangered creatures. The whales were featured to the students first, followed by other creatures. Lee Hasselbring, Teacher

When the whales were first introduced to us the class was not very interested. However, as we started to compare the different whales with each other and became more educated with the actual size, it seemed like a whole new class.

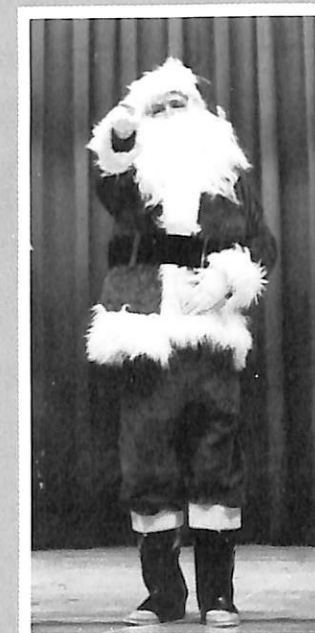

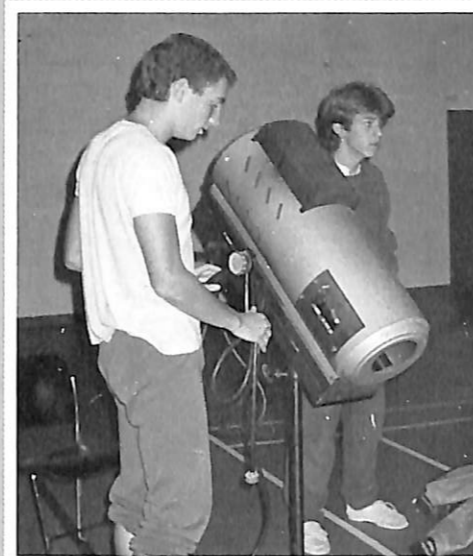

We took various steps leading up to the actual construction of the wind tunnel whale which Junior Sims built. First the class chose the whale we would duplicate, the Sperm Whale. Second we compared the size of the whale to things we were already familiar with, like a school bus. Then we painted the actual size on a hill behind the school. More background research and studying was done before we could construct the whale, which Ms. Youngblood, art teacher, assisted us with. Following our research we began to assemble our whale. The whale was put together by two sides cut out exactly the same, then taped together. A lot of props were made along with more art works and the whale was completed.

Invitations were made for people to come and experience the whale, such as A.F.R.T.S., teachers, and Chaffee Elementary School students. All went very well for an educational experience.
