Principal, Faculty and Students
Roger B. Chaffee High School
Department of Defense Schools
U. S. Naval Air Station, Bermuda

Dear Principal, Faculty and Students,

This year has been a very special one for the Phelan family because of our close association with the students and staff of Chaffee High School. We, as a community, have been blessed with a unique opportunity - a chance to share our wonderful overseas experiences with a very small, but close group of friends and classmates. In the years to come, I am quite certain that each of us will look back on this time together as one of the most memorable periods of our lives.

Trish and the children join me in wishing each of you success and happiness in the future. Your friendship and support have been very much appreciated and have served to greatly enrich our lives. Good luck in all future endeavors, and cherish your memories of Bermuda. God Bless!

Warm Regards,

Dr. Smith's Message

"Future leaders of the 21st century." These words will ring out during the graduation ceremony of this year's graduating class. As leaders, consider the fact that you are entering a world which is changing at an ever increasing speed. The events of the last few months, including the student uprising in China, breaking down of the Iron Curtain and Berlin Wall, release of Nelson Mandela and changing views of apartheid in South Africa, breaking apart of the Soviet Union and reunification of Germany are just a few examples.

The United States of America is changing. The role it plays in world politics and the economic position it holds will be different when you begin to lead our country than it is as you graduate.

You, the graduating class of "90", will be the decision makers in the early 21st century. Chaffee High School has been a place for you to learn and experiment with your attitudes and ideas about life. During the next few years you will be called upon to stand up and be counted as decision makers in the world. The faculty and I wish you the very best in making those decisions to better all humanity. Good luck, good health, and God-speed.

Bermuda: Beautiful Scenery And Lots Of Wonderful Water

Senior Jennifer Tucker said, "I've been going to Chaffee for three years and I feel very privileged to be able to attend school in Bermuda. One day I was in the library and I glanced out of the window. As I saw the beautiful scenery such as the pastel houses and the wonderful flowers, I thought that it would be difficult to ever get such a view if I were somewhere else. From one of the windows I could see the ocean. One day some of my friends and I witnessed a unique situation: We saw a cruise ship leaving. We all agreed that it would be hard to see that in any stateside school. I've always felt fortunate to live in such a beautiful country."

Friendships Forged At Chaffee Last Forever!

Because Chaffee High School is a small school, people are closer and almost everyone knows each other. Many friendships are formed throughout the year.

Friends make plans during school to go out on the weekends and have fun. Many new friends were made when Chaffee students went to places like Spain, the Netherlands, and England and who can forget friendships started at the Invitational Basketball Tournament when schools from Iceland and Cuba paid us a visit. And we make many new Bermudian friends in our travels around the island.

Our size makes us special. It contributes to the feeling that we are a family. It's a very friendly feeling.

Friends pull together to help their sophomore class win the tug of war.

Friends Fiona van der Lugt and Jennifer Tucker find time for a little goofing off at Model United Nations.

Chaffee Students Meet "Young And Restless" Stars

Fiona flashes her rabbit smile with Adriene Hunter.

"Gosh! I can't believe we're with Paul Williams!" Kat and Fiona pose with Paul.

It was early Sunday morning and the sky was overcast. The place was Elbow Beach Hotel and our mission was to meet at least one of the stars from the popular soap opera "The Young and the Restless."

We walked around the hotel for what seemed like hours just hoping to catch a glimpse of the 'stars.' We waited for what seemed like eternity. Finally, the director and the art director came over to speak to us. They explained that there were many complications involved in filming in a foreign country and that many of the indoor scenes would be filmed in a studio in California.

Suddenly Mark "Adrian" Derwin appeared. Everybody rushed over to him, but we got there first. Natalie got his autograph first and proceeded to flirt with him, hoping to be cast as an extra on the show. She discreetly slipped him a piece of paper with her phone number on it and told him to call her. Much to our surprise she received a phone call from him later that week.

Adriene Hunter and location director smile while conversing about the weather.

"Is this a star or what?" Fiona and Natalie were lucky enough to meet Casandra Rollins.

Chaffee Teacher Interviews Pulitzer Prize Winner!

When Mr. Steven Petsch arrived in Bermuda he got involved immediately. His interests were varied: Model United Nations, Humanities, Advanced Placement English, photography, drama, journalism, and debate start the list. He was also involved in research on one of America's finest writers: Ms. Toni Morrison.

Before coming to Chaffee, Mr. Petsch was on a DODDS-sponsored sabbatical. He spent that time at the University of Minnesota working on a graduate degree. Part of that degree program called for an extensive project. Mr. Petsch decided to do research on Ms. Morrison.

He was elated when he heard that Ms. Morrison was visiting the island. She arrived here on October 28th to speak at the Hamilton Princess Hotel. Ms. Morrison was here for a special reason: the Bermuda Library's 150th anniversary.

Although she won the 1988 Pulitzer Prize for Beloved, most Chaffee students have read parts of her first book, The Bluest Eye. When Ms. Morrison heard about Mr. Petsch's interest in her work, he was invited to the press conference and had the opportunity to talk to Ms. Morrison about his research.

The Advanced Placement English 12 students have had the opportunity to learn a great deal about literature and about the progress of Mr. Petsch's research project. Toni Morrison now seems like a special writer because of her visit to Bermuda.

Chaffee Students Love To Participate!

Chaffee High School offered many opportunities to participate in extracurricular activities and most Chaffee students took advantage of them; in fact, in some cases there were several things going on at the same time and students had to choose.

This year we had new things to do! There was the trip to Spain taken by the students in the Spanish classes. And who can forget the Model United Nations trip to the Netherlands or the chance to see England offered by Speech and Drama and Young at Arts. In addition to all of these, there were numerous opportunities to participate in athletic events, community events and activities sponsored by our Bermudian friends.

Chaffee students learned a great deal in the classroom. They also took the opportunity to participate in many other worthwhile activities.

Marlo Smith and Janna Holman were two of the Chaffee students who participated in Model United Nations.

Students weren't the only ones to participate. Ms. Driscoll and Mr. Brew teamed up to compete in several running events.

Mr. Lee boosts spirits at the Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Cathy Duchock, Jennifer Larson, and Natalie Gaudet show their class spirit by participating in the tug-of-war on Field Day.

Mike Kafka and Chuck Paul have fun enjoying themselves with friends at the Annex's Bermadoo.

Jennifer Tucker, Marlo Smith, Natalie Thorne, and Jana Holman participated in Model United Nations, one of the most popular activities at Chaffee.

You'll Never Forget Your Classmates!

"Hey, can you help me with number seven?", asks one student of his fellow classmate.

Many people at Chaffee find that many of the same students are in a lot of their classes. This lets the students share their knowledge with each other on many subjects. Everyone helps one another here at Chaffee.

Because the students work together in school, they become better acquainted with one another. This usually leads to the formation of good friendships. Seeing each other during the school day allows students to share many memorable experiences which continue after school hours as well. The feeling one gets at Chaffee is that everyone is a big family living and working together and enjoying themselves.

Many classmates become close friends outside of class.

Brandi, Sarah, and David have been in many of the same classes together. They have also become close friends outside of class.

Classmates Brian Leo and Michael Saunders wait to appear at the Fashion Show.

The Chaffee Fashion Show was a total success as these two beauties will testify.

Pride In Chaffee Athletics

Athletics are highly respected at Chaffee High School. Every year the competition gets stronger and stronger. This means that the Chaffee athletes have to be in the best possible condition. Although the school is small, it always seems to come up with good athletes.

Many hours of hard practice and dedication are put into making a strong athletic program. Each athlete makes it his responsibility to contribute one hundred per cent. At Chaffee, athletes are expected to be the "example setters" for the school. We at Chaffee are all proud of our athletes.

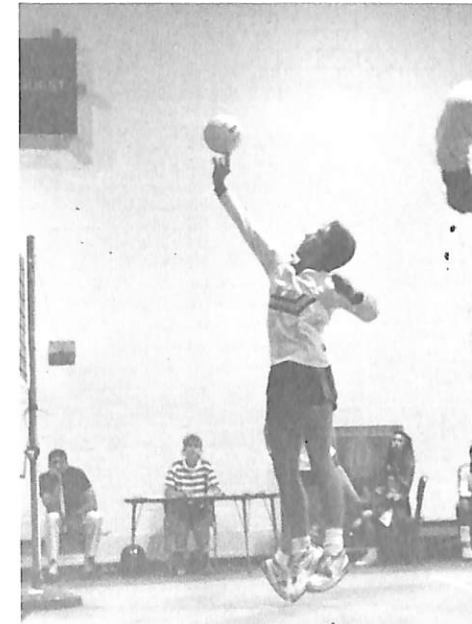

As the athletic director, Casey Decker is responsible for establishing the athletic philosophy.

Students like formal and informal athletic events. The annual Turkey Trot is always a favorite.

George McShay prepares to pass to a teammate during practice.

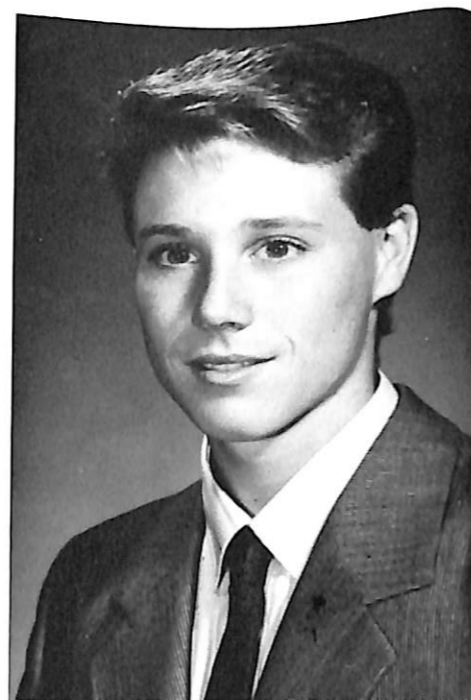

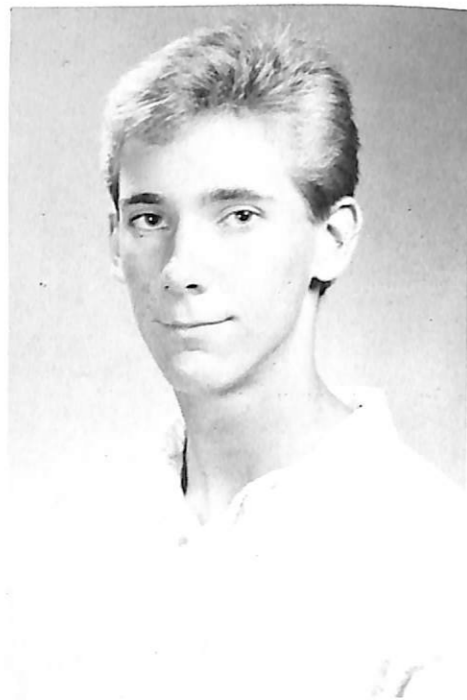

Mike Saunders taps the volleyball back to the opponent's side.

Cathy Duchock shows how to shoot a free throw.

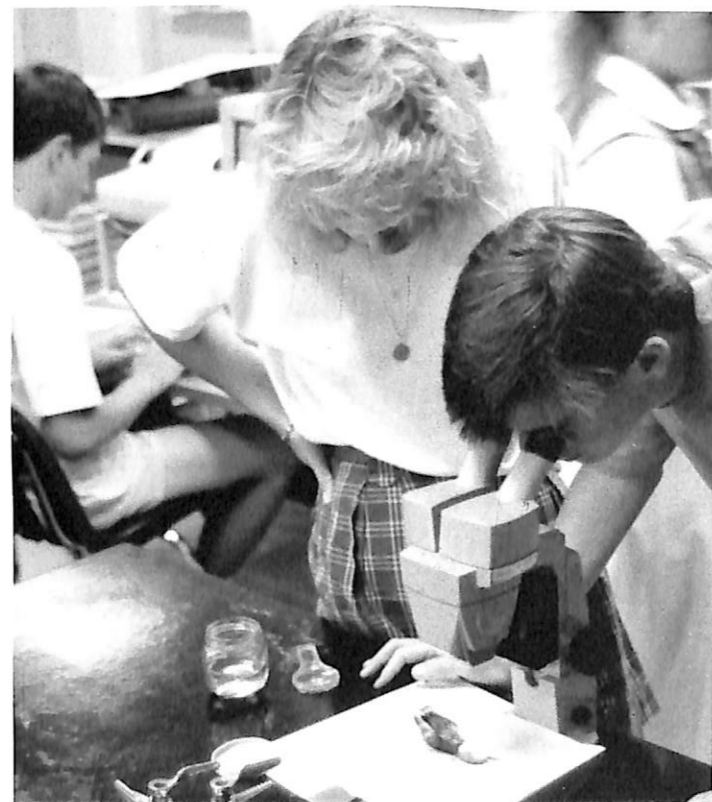

Chaffee Is Proud Of Its Scholars

Like stateside schools, Chaffee is an academically competitive school. Students try their hardest to do well in each class and to make good grades on the SAT and ACT.

Good grades always help when applying to college. Some students return to the states for their college education while some attend a Bermudian college.

Chaffee has a very good reputation in the DODDS school system. This is due to the motivated students and the high standards set by the teachers. Motivated students were encouraged this year with the introduction of an Advanced Placement English 12 class. Taught by Mr. Petsch, this class added to the already strong Chaffee curriculum.

Michael Saunders was selected as the valedictorian of the class of 1990.

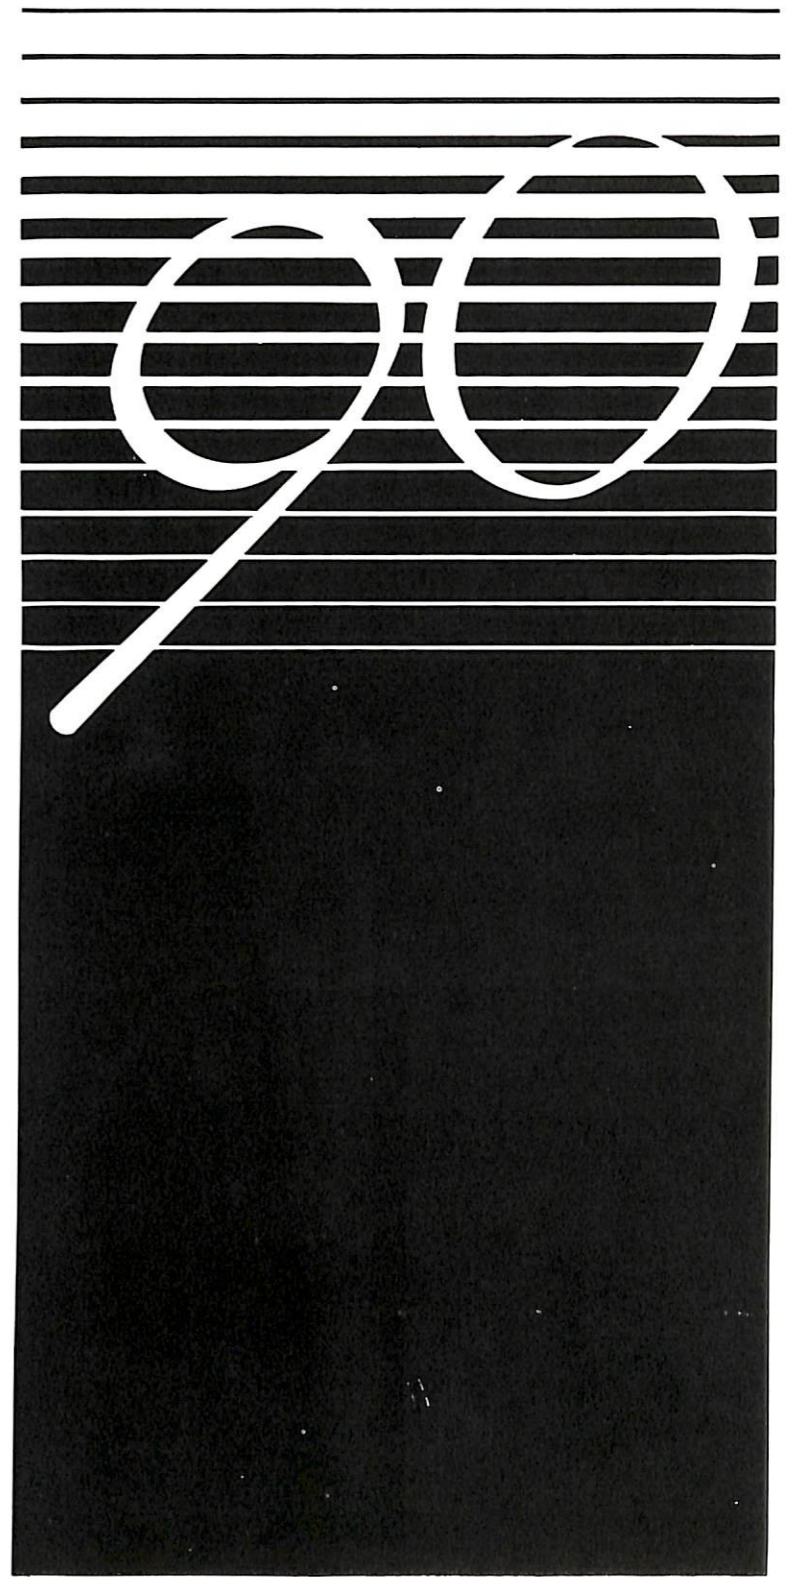

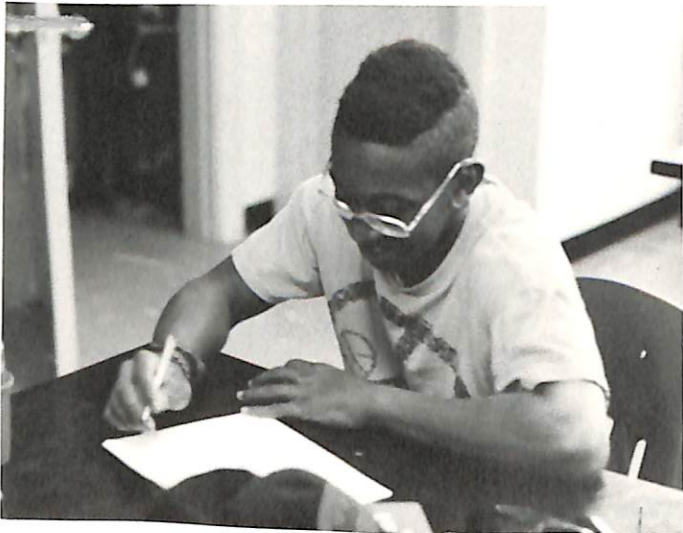

John Duchock is this year's salutatorian. Both Michael and John won four-year Air Force ROTC scholarships.

Chaffee's image as a strong academic institution has increased in the last few years.

Mr. Petsch's Advanced Placement English 12 class gave Chaffee seniors an opportunity to do college-level work.

Mr. Hasselbring instructs a student about the next field day event.

FACULTY

Just like students here at Chaffee, teachers also come and go. It's a lot harder for students to get used to a new teacher than it is for a teacher to get used to a new student. One of the teachers most students like is Ms. Sandona, the French and English teacher.

Ms. Sandona has been teaching for twenty-five years, eighteen of them have been here at Chaffee High School. She joined this faculty in 1972 and has been going full force ever since. She is a fine teacher who knows how to reach students and keep their interest at the same time.

Just like anyone else, teachers also acquire reputations. Everyone thinks of a teacher as a mean person behind a desk: a person who makes kids suffer by giving them lots of homework, but every teacher has a unique quality to him that students identify with. Anyone who has or has had Ms. Sandona for a teacher knows she loves saying "listening skills" or "guest speller." She also has a great sense of humor and very strong opinions. The one subject that Ms. Sandona loves to give her opinion on is cats. She says, "They're great for dogs to play with!"

I asked her about her most embarrassing moment and she told me about the time she was stomping around the classroom to get a point across and got her size nine foot stuck in the wastebasket. That's the way to put your foot down Ms. Sandona!

Although she's full of enthusiasm and joy, there's a serious side to her. Her biggest pet peeve is kids who bring nothing of themselves to class and expect her to do it for them.

I asked her what grade she liked to teach best and she said, "It's a tie between ninth and tenth. Students in those grades are relatively mature but still have some youthful enthusiasm." As you can see, Ms. Sandona is one special lady who has brought English and French to life for most of the Chaffee student body. Anyone who has Ms. Sandona for a teacher is indeed fortunate because your year will be full of fun, excitement and hard work. I speak from experience: I had Ms. Sandona for both French and English. She's full of spunk and enthusiasm and really knows how to convey her knowledge of the subject matter. I hope she stays at Chaffee for many years to come.

Animal Lovers

Our best friends in life don't have to be people. A friend once told me that he loved his dog because he could tell it all his problems and secrets knowing the dog would never tell anyone. Pets serve as companions to many Chaffee students. Cats seem to be the most popular pet. Brandi Harris, a junior, has two cats: one big, fat, lazy cat named Misty and one, strange cat named Beaudreux. Other Chaffee students with cats include Junior Jaida Raglin, Sophomore Mike Reece and Junior Tricia Phelan.

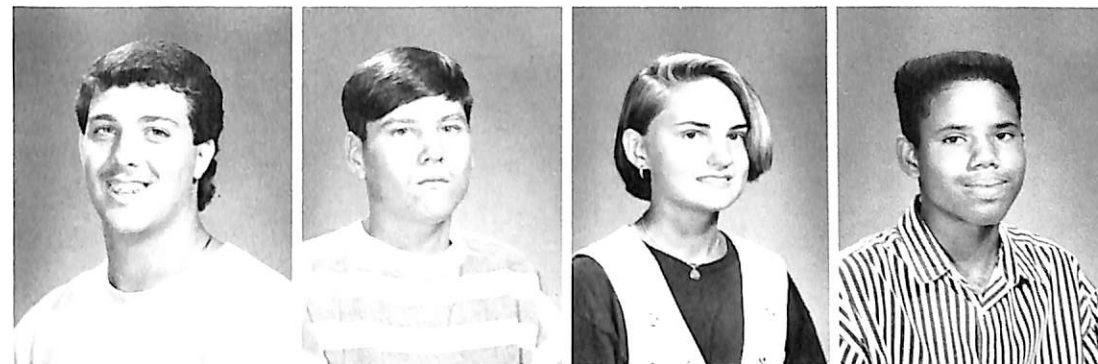

Terry and Wes Reid have birds; in fact, they have four of them. The birds are named Petey, Fred Tweety, and Sweety. Fred once flew into the ceiling fan- while it was on! Petey likes to hang upside down on his perch while Tweety talks to you and Sweety talks to himself.

The other popular pet is a dog. Senior Nicole Duncan has two dogs named Rosie and Ming. While staying at a hotel in Bermuda, Nicole's dog decided to go for a swim. The dog jumped from a window on the second floor and landed in the pool. Other dog owners are Freshman Brian Pulley, Sophomore Rob Wagner and Junior Kevin Leo.

As you can see, can see Chaffee students are animal lovers. So be careful next time you call someone a dog; he might take it as a compliment.

Youth Gone Wild!!!

Of all the classes at Chaffee, I think the freshmen class is the most hyper. This class is full of people who are really spirited. They really know how to have fun. Although none of young adults is old enough to own his own bike, this doesn't stop them from going places. They make use of the NAS shuttle bus. It's common for them to get on the bus and ride around the base for hours. They enjoy riding, gossiping, listening to the radio, and just having fun. Then they will get off the bus at McDonald's and sit around there for a few hours.

Most of the freshmen hang out together. On the weekends, you can find them in the NAS theater watching PG movies. They always have their feet on the back of the seats in front of them. Or you can find the freshmen at the Recreation Center. When there, you can find them playing pool, ping-pong or pinball. They listen to the stereo and talk to each other.

Sometimes you can find them at Kirsten Harris' house jumping on the trampoline. No matter what the obstacles of boredom are they always manage to have a blast.

Yes, there is a wild side to some Chaffee students!

As these three underclassmen illustrate, fashion was important to most Chaffee students.

Fashion is one issue that every high school student can relate to in a big way. From what's hot to what's not, students like to wear the "in" thing and during the 1989-90 school year that meant a variety of things.

Many students celebrated the twentieth anniversary of Woodstock. The 60's look was back: vests were a hot item and peace symbols were everywhere. These symbols could be found on jackets, shoes, and shirts.

Another favorite was the cape crusader himself. Batman was all over thanks to the hit movie. T-shirts, hats, buttons, shoes, and even haircuts displayed the famous bat symbol.

Juniors Kristen Rosner and Kathleen Smith demonstrate that informal fashion statement that so many students liked.

Speaking of hairstyles, guys were getting into the long hair craze. The girls liked to wear their hair in a style that didn't take a great deal of work due to the high winds that often hit Bermuda. Living in Bermuda wasn't all negative; it provided the warm climate that made heavy jackets, scarves, and gloves unnecessary. Chaffee students could run around in shorts, a tee-shirt, and a small wind-breaker.

Chaffee kids welcomed the opportunity to visit places like Spain and the Netherlands where they could see what students there were wearing and perhaps find time for a little shopping. When students visited our school they discovered that Chaffee High fashion was definitely the "in" thing.

Run, Kim, Run, Run!!!

"And the winner is ... Kim Hills!" This spunky eighth grader surprised all the upperclassmen by beating them in this year's Turkey Trot. "It felt good!" said Kim. Not only does she run, but she also keeps in shape by skating, doing gymnastics and being a junior varsity cheerleader. So a warning for my fellow upperclassmen: watch out for this up and coming runner, next year she'll be even better.

Eighth Graders Help With Constitution Week

Jonathan Kelly, eighth grade president, waits for the ceremony to begin while Dr. Smith, Captain Phelan, and Mr. Tiberi chat.

Congress set aside the week of September 17-23 as Constitution Week to help celebrate the bicentennial of the Constitution. The eighth grade U.S. History class and the seniors worked together to prepare an area of the school for our very own Constitution Park.

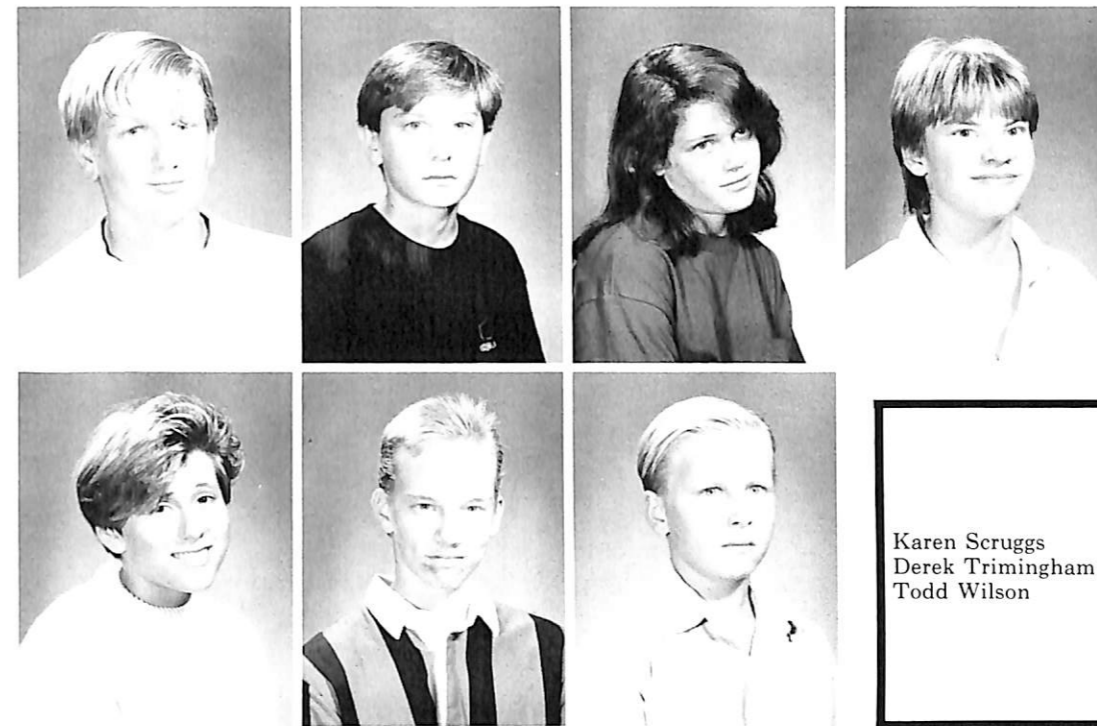

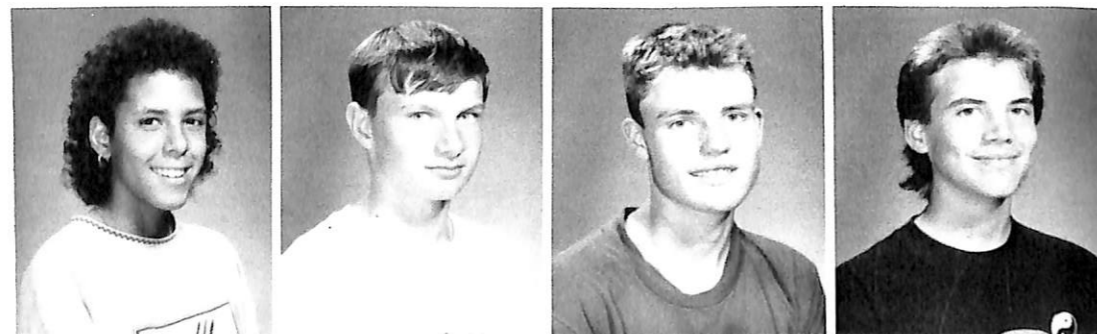

The city of Hamilton donated two benches which were presented by the Rt. Worshipful, Cecil R. Dismont, the mayor of Hamilton. Jeffery Tiberi, the head park ranger of Bermuda, gave the Constitution Park four trees: a Bermuda cedar, an olive wood, and two palmettos.

Ms. Gladys Haynie, the Superintendent of Schools for the Islands, spoke about the importance of the Constitution in our daily lives. Captain Joseph Phelan then gave a speech stressing the importance of the Constitution in the lives of those people in the military. It was then time for Jonathan Kelly, the eighth grade president, to give a speech. He says that Constitution Week gave him "a really great feeling for my country." He also feels that the U.S. Constitution could be used as a basis for world peace.

Seniors Richard Pinto and Michael Saunders also appeared on the program. Richard said, "The idea of a Constitution Park helps us recognize that the U.S. has pride in its country and hopes that people in other countries take the same pride in theirs."

Tronya Hoverkamp and Jean Clark love to show off their smiles.

Remember when you started seventh grade? Being the youngest kids in the school isn't easy. It's a dirty job but somebody has to do it.

Seventh graders probably have it the hardest out of anybody in a high school. People pick on them and they constantly try too hard to be accepted by the upperclassmen. Seventh grade is a time to show some independence and responsibility. It's difficult to get used to having seven different teachers instead of two or three. Just trying to figure out where everything is can be a big job. It can be scary walking down a hall with a bunch of kids bigger than you are pushing you around.

What's really difficult is trying to look like an upperclassmen when you have no idea what you're doing. Seventh graders, just take my advice: be yourself and take it easy. Just remember that one day you'll rule the school.

This year's seventh graders were talented and full of enthusiasm.

Have you ever wondered who those cute guys are that you see riding those skateboards at lunch, after school and on weekends? One of those cuties is talented twelve-year-old Josh Buck. Although Josh is only in the seventh grade, he is bursting with talent.

You can see him skating around on his Steve Saiz with Tracker Rastas and O.J. II team riders. If it's not during school hours, you can probably find Josh at King's Square or Ordinance Island in St. George's.

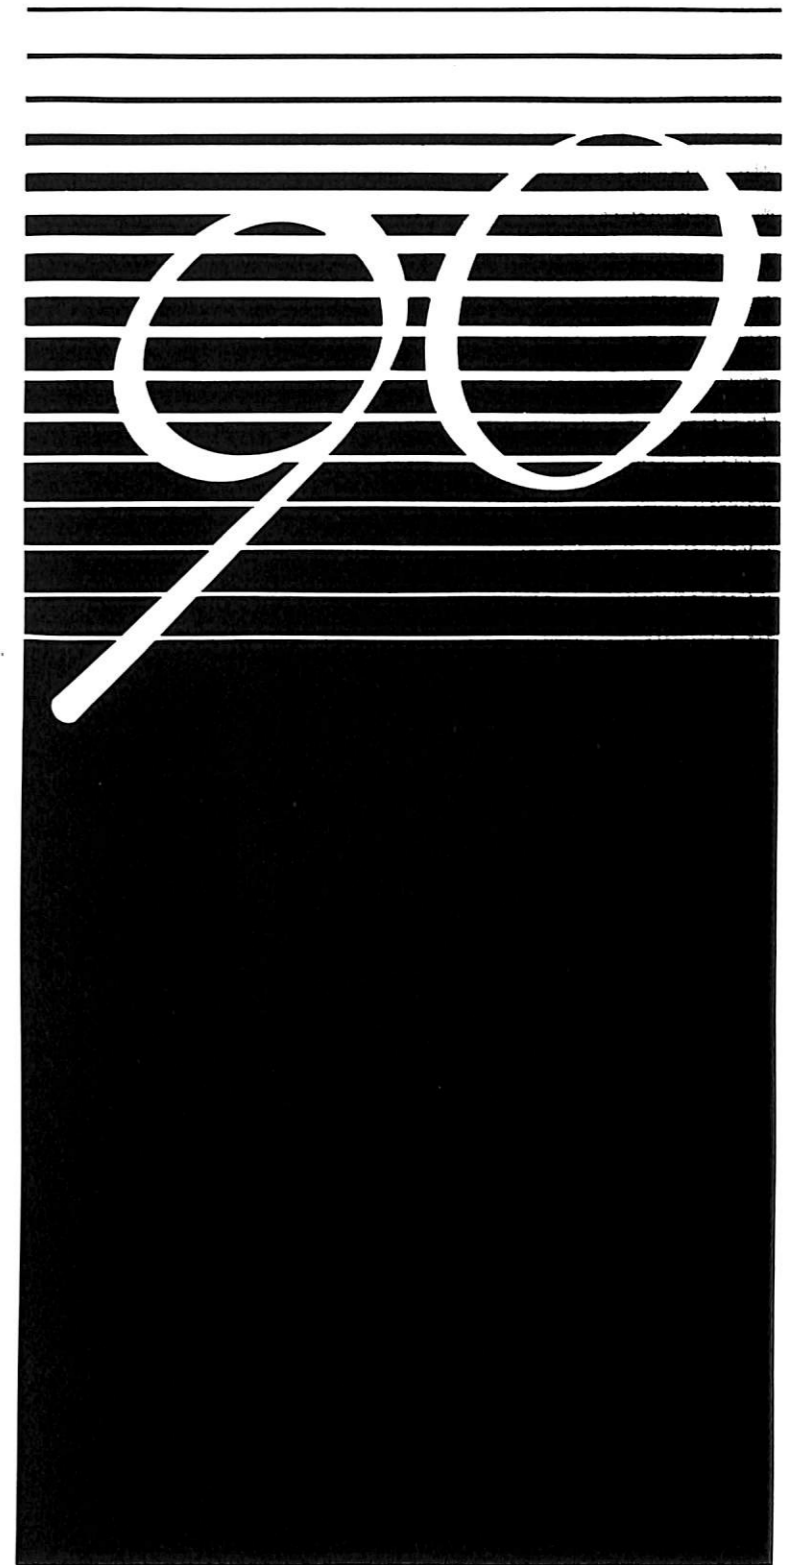

You've be able to find Josh showing off his favorite tricks, an ollie and step-off variations with his fellow skaters: those handsome guys Jason Taylor and John Duchock.

Josh has his own opinion about skating. He thinks that pro skater Natas Kaupas is really awesome. He says that "on base", the skaters are limited to terrain so they progress a little slower. Off base the possibilities for skaters are endless so they progress much faster.

As you can see, when it comes to skating, Josh really knows his stuff. Although you can see Josh chasing girls around the school campus, everyone knows that Josh's first true love is skateboarding.

The 1989-90 varsity boys basketball team started in October with long, hard practices every night. Unlike most seasons, there were over twenty participants which meant that cuts had to be made.

When November rolled around, the team was set and it was time to begin the NAS base league. The team started off a little shaky but won enough games to make the play-offs.

It was then time for the Bermuda league. When Chaffee went into the league, they dominated every team they played. In January, the Chaffee Invitational was held. Teams from Cuba and Iceland came to Bermuda for a week-long tournament. Iceland went away with the first place trophy.

After the tournament, it was back to regular season league games. All in all, it was an excellent season thanks to the fine coaching of Mr. Lorenzo Lee.

This year's Chaffee girls' basketball team was a great surprise to many. The season began with only a few returning players: Nicole Todd, Nicole Duncan, Fiona van der Lugt, Michelle Thorne and Rachel Roberts. New members that joined were either part of the junior varsity team the previous year or were newcomers to the sport.

Intense practices were held for the base league games which were a definite learning experience for the girls. Although they were not ranked highly in the league, they gained what they needed to become champions. Along with winning the Chaffee Invitational, the varsity girls beat most of the Bermudian school teams as well.

The girls' team was coached by Mr. Widdop who was an inspiration to all of the players. This was his first year of coaching the team alone and he did an excellent job.

"I don't even have to look!" says Cathy as she makes her shot.

The girls' J.V. basketball team is designed to teach seventh, eighth, and ninth graders the basic skills of defense and offense. Sportsmanship is also stressed at this level.

Coach Widdop helped this year's team show incredible improvement. There were only four players who had previous experience: Tracie Hanscom, Vanessa Jacks, Wendy Paul, and Laurel Ingalsbe. New players included Tronya Hoverkamp, Jean Clark, Karen Clark, Sarah Widdop, Suzy Dillinger, and Amanda Daniels.

All the girls practiced intensely for their six Bermudian league games. They may have only won one game but the girls gained a world of experience.

Varsity Cheerleaders Take It To The Top!

Mrs. Martin-Lee, cheerleading sponsor

Many people think that cheerleaders are just a bunch of girls in cute short skirts. Some people think that all these spirited girls do is jump up and down and yell, "Go, team, go!" Ten years ago that was true but today things have changed radically. Cheerleading is now considered a sport all over the world. It's a tough sport that takes a great deal of practice and hard work.

This year's varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders have been working extremely hard since they were chosen at the beginning of the year. The girls worked hard on several fund raisers including a subsandwich sale, a bake sale, and a dunking booth at the Carter House Fair. All the fundraisers were successful and the money raised was used to help pay for new uniforms.

The girls concentrated on how to do pyramids and tosses and worked hard on physical fitness. In the past, Chaffee's cheerleading squads focused on the basics but this year's teams looked into new things and broadened their horizons.

This year's sponsor was Mrs. Valerie Martin-Lee. Tena Harris and Patty Frost served as sistant coaches. The girls were very luck to have these three ladies helping them. All three of them spent a great deal of their time and energy making this year's Chaffee cheerleading squads the best ever.

Invitational Week At Chaffee

During the week of January 29th through February 4th, there were new students roaming the halls of Chaffee High School. They were the W.T. Sampson boys' basketball team and cheerleading squad from Cuba, and the A.T. Mahan boys' and girls' basketball team from Iceland. They were invited to Bermuda to participate in Chaffee's 1990 Invitational.

The students from Cuba arrived in evening on January 18th. They were greeted with a warm welcome from the Chaffee hosts and hostesses. To the surprise of many, a former Chaffee student, Kathleen Smith, returned and was tackled on the runway by her good friends Tricia Phelan and Kristen Rosner. From the minute they stepped off the plane, it seemed as though everyone was reunited with old friends.

The entire Invitational week was very eventful. A dance sponsored by the boys' varsity basketball team was held at the Longfield House. Also, there was a warming bonfire at Clearwater Beach.

Chaffee High School bid a tearful farewell to their island friends on February 4th. When they left, all the talk was of returning next year. It was strange how everyone became such good friends in such a short time. By the time they left, it was like everyone was one big happy family.

This year's Chaffee girls' volleyball team came out on top although there were only two returning players. The new players, Jaida Raglin, Michelle Thorne, Cathy Duchock, Kathleen Smith, Tricia Phelan, Jennifer Larson, Traci Quinn, were coached by Ms. Driscol and more experienced players Natalie Thorne and Jennifer Tucker. Ms. Driscol's excellent teaching techniques were reflected in the way the team played in the MSA tournament. The girls finished third.

The girls' team used the skills taught to them and their natural athletic talents to win many games for Chaffee. These girls came a long way from the beginning of the season and deserve a great deal of credit.

"Kick down, kick down!" Nat and Jennifer try to teach their teammates some dancing moves. Although the team practiced hard, they still had time for some fun!

Playing volleyball wasn't all hard work. At times good food was involved.

Hard practices made success possible. The team worked on fundamental during this after-school practice session.

The boys' team had a winning year in the 1989-90 volleyball season losing only one game to Saltus. They placed second at the Chaffee Tournament and third at the MSA Tournament.

Mike Saunders, John Duchock, Kevin Leo, Brian Leo, and Greg Brown were the returning players. They were joined by first-time players Chuck Paul, Mike Kafka, Mike Reece, Tito Nieves, Richard Pinto, Jim Chandler, and George McShay.

The veteran players helped the newcomers acquire the skills that were essential to a winning team and it worked. The coach, Ms. Jan Driscol, had only one word to describe the team, "Awesome" "They were awesome."

Chaffee Soccer Team Makes The Playoffs

Brian makes an excellent save. He should be a great goalie.

Coach Tom Hale talks to the team during half-time.

Led by their sponsor, Mr. Hasselbring, and their coach, Chaffee graduate Tom Hale Class of '87, this year's varsity soccer team went to the play-offs. This year there was an outstanding team captained by Richard Pinto and Ken Hale. Exceptional players were Richard Pinto, Ken Hale, Kevin Leo, Brian Leo, Chuck Paul, and John Evans.

"No way! It's mine!" Mike gives the ball a powerful kick.

There were many exciting games. Two of the best were the second games against Navy Resale and NASA. Mr. Hasselbring stated that this year's team had much better ball control and team work partly due to the fact that most of the people on the team were veteran players.

"Here goes!" Ken Hale makes a corner kick.

The soccer team held challenging practices on Tuesdays and Fridays after school. Their season began on September eighth and went through December second. Fans were many students and parents who attended all games in spite of bad weather.

The dance instructor, Mrs. Denise Smith, has been the coordinator of the dance team for all three years.

This year the dance team worked with the cheerleaders to raise money for new skirts. They worked at the Carter House Fair painting faces and operating a dunking booth.

On November 22, 1989, Chaffee High School participated in the annual Turkey Trot. Early in the morning the participating students anxiously awaited the arrival of security guards. When they arrived, the students made their way to the starting line. The horn blew and off they went.

The turkey trot course started by the crosswalk near the gym, went up by the elementary school, down the beach road, and then back to the school. Those who didn't participate in the race anxiously waited to see who would come over the hill first.

Richard Pinto was the first place finisher for the boys and Kim Hills took that honor for the girls. The Turkey Trot has become a tradition at Chaffee and all of this year's participants hope it will continue next year.

Coaches Make The Difference!

Coaches play a very important part in the development of a team. They give players support and direction. They plan practices, organize player's positions, and schedule games. Coaches are the center of a team. They accept great responsibilities for their players and try to pass on their knowledge to them.

By definition, a coach is someone who trains athletes. This is true of many at Chaffee. Among these are Ms. Driscol, Mr. Decker, Mr. Lee, Mr. Widdop, and Mr. Hasselbring. Each one brings their unique talents to help the team members improve their skills and gain a sense of good sportsmanship.

We must all take time out to recognize these people who make our sports teams possible. Thanks to all the coaches!

Each page was assigned to a staff member and he was responsible for getting it in on time. The page is planned, the articles written and then the proofreading process started. When everything is just perfect, Ms. Branick gives the final "go" and the page is ready for reproduction.

When asked how the "Flyer" compares with other school newspapers, Ms. Branick said, "Very favorably! Based on other DODDS's student papers, the "Flyer" not only comes out more regularly and has more pages but it also has a greater variety of articles."

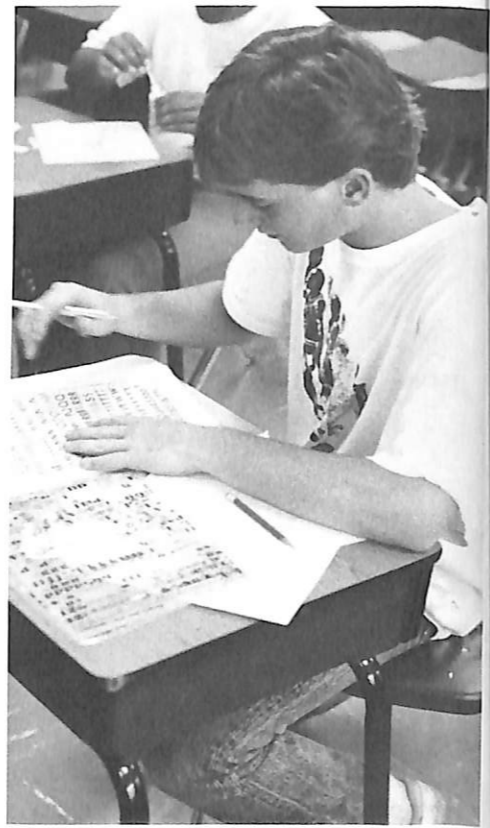

"Yeah, writing for the paper is really interesting!"

The Business Club is a money management club designed to teach the members about stocks. Club members always look forward to the club's annual trip to New York City; this year the students were there from March 8th to the 11th.

The club meets every Wednesday at lunch to discuss the New York Stock Exchange and to plan fund raisers to help pay for their trip. The president of the club is Dave Hanscom; Jennifer Tucker is the treasurer and the secretary is Natalie Thorne.

During the visit to New York City, the club members will visit well-known companies like NBC, IBM, and AT&T. This will give the members a first-hand look at how these companies conduct their business.

The club members raised money for their trip by having bake sales, a sub-sandwich sale, a chili dinner, and the members spent one day bagging at the commissary.

Officers: Brian Leo, treasurer; John Duchock, Vice-President; Mike Saunders, President; Fiona van der Lugt, Secretary and Jennifer Tucker, Booster/SAC representative.

The student government was one of the more active organizations in our school this year. Its purpose was to find out what activities the students wanted and to plan, organize, and carry them out.

Meetings were held every Wednesday during lunch. Students who attended included the Student Government officers, class officers from grades eight to twelve, SAC and Booster Club representatives Jennifer Tucker and Marlo Smith, and anyone else who wanted to know what was going on. Also present were Mr. Hasselbring and Teen Coordinator Patti Frost. The purpose of these meetings was to propose ideas for activities, vote on them, and set up committees to organize plans.

Some of the activities that the Student Government sponsored this year were Spring and Fall Field Days, the Christmas Dance, Roger B. Chaffee Day, Earth Day, and the Chaffee International Dance.

Chaffee Students Go To Spain!!!

The whole gang, including the Spanish classes, chaperones, and Spanish friends stop to pose for a photo.

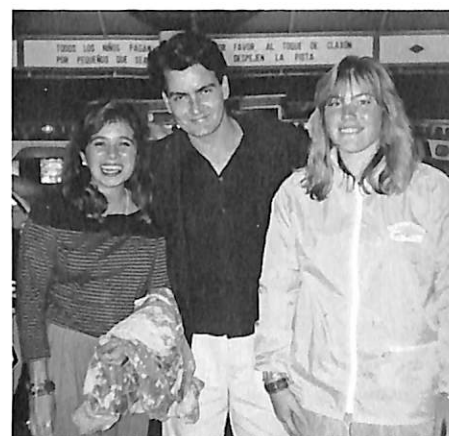

Many of the students became interested in the Spanish architecture.

This year the Spanish classes had a unique opportunity: they took a trip to Spain. The trip was organized by our Spanish teacher, Mrs. Hoffman-Paul and the people at the high school on the U.S. Naval Base in Rota, Spain.

The purpose of the trip was to learn about the culture, history, and language of Spain. When the Chaffee students arrived in Spain, Mrs. Hoffman-Paul made the observation that, "The students were afraid to use their knowledge of the Spanish language. But as the trip progressed, they became more than eager to speak the language."

As you can see, the trip was also a social success.

Learning Spanish was easy for some Chaffee students.

Instrumental Ensemble

Chaffee High School continued its campaign against drugs and alcohol with the help of YADA (Youth Against Drugs and Alcohol). The purpose of this organization is to make students aware of the damaging effects of drugs and alcohol.

During their weekly meetings, the members talked about fundraisers, planned activities, and organized conferences. A big part of YADA's year is the annual seminar; this year's was held on March 30th. Its focus was to present speakers associated with the prevention and treatment of drug and alcohol abusers. Throughout the day, students attended lectures and demonstrations.

This year's officers were President Nicole Todd, Vice-President Nicole Duncan, Treasurer Jerry Scruggs, and Secretary Akilah Matthews. The group owed much of its success to Mrs. Wyand, the sponsor.

Chaffee MUNers Represent The Solomon Islands

After several months of intense preparation, excitement had mounted. As the students eagerly waited for the arrival of the bus, emotions ran wild. When the bus pulled up in front of the school, the moment we had all been waiting for had finally arrived. We were leaving for the Netherlands. The luggage was loaded and the students all squished into the bus. We were finally ready to go.

At the airport, we filled in several forms and were told that there would be a four-hour layover at JFK and a two-hour wait at Heathrow in London. Finally we boarded the airplane, and we were ready to leave. It was a short flight to New York and once in the terminal we explored the many shops and were delighted when we discovered that the restaurant served Pizza Hut personal pan pizzas. Just when we were beginning to get bored, Giovanni van der Lugt showed up with some life-saving news about the Solomon Islands. Giovanni works at the Netherlands mission to the real United Nations and was able to tell us the position that the Solomon Islands held on most of the important issues being discussed during the current session of the UN.

It was finally time to leave JFK and we were excited about a trans-Atlantic flight. After take-off, several of us changed places on the plane. We finally got settled and prepared ourselves for the long flight to England. We arrived at Heathrow at 6:30 A.M. local time. Needless to say, we were exhausted but still found time to browse through the duty-free shops.

After arriving in Amsterdam, we had our first experience with the Dutch train system. It took two trains and a long wait at the train station before we finally reached our destination, Soesterberg Air Force Base in the Netherlands. When we saw the deluxe accommodations, we knew that it had been worth the wait. After twenty hours of traveling and waiting, we were all ready for showers and long naps.

Delegates to the 1990 Model United Nations: Jennifer Tucker, Jana Holman, Marlo Smith, Michael Saunders, Fiona van der Lugt, Kevin Leo, Natalie Thorne, John Duchock, and Brian Leo

Mr. Wim van der Lugt, the parent chaperone, became part of the MUN family.

Senior Natalie Thorne watches the sights on the canal cruise.

Vincent Van Petsch (alias Mr. Steven Petsch) tours the Van Gogh Museum in Amsterdam. MUN was one of Mr. Petsch's many activities.

John, Kevin and Marlo found representing the Solomon Islands to be exciting.

Jennifer and Marlo relax on the train to Soesterberg.

On Sunday we went to Amsterdam spending the day visiting the Van Gogh Museum, the Rijksmuseum and enjoying ourselves on a canal cruise. During our stay in Amsterdam, we adjusted to the tram system and quickly learned one thing: Tram drivers don't stop for pedestrians. After a full day of walking, we were exhausted and glad to take the train back to Soesterberg. We were filled with despair when we saw the last bus pull away just as we stepped off the train. After a day of heavy exercise, we weren't looking forward to another long walk. Two girls decided that they were too tired to walk the long distance and paid a couple of guys to carry them back to the base.

On Monday we left for the Hague and the Promenade Hotel. After checking into the hotel, we went to the Congress Center for our first taste of Model United Nations. As thorough as Mr. Petsch's teaching had been, nothing would have prepared us for the next five days.

On the first day we were presented with resolution after resolution. Many of the delegates were persistent in their lobbying. The second day was the opening session of the General Assembly and Fiona van der Lugt, a senior at Chaffee, had the difficult job of stepping to the podium and speaking in front of over two thousand people.

Thursday was spent in committee debating resolutions and Friday and Saturday were spent in two separate General Assemblies focusing on the resolutions passed in committee. It was a busy five days and all of us were exhausted each night, but we managed to get in our nightly social life no matter how tired we were at the end of the day. On the last night most of the delegates attended a dance for all the MUN delegates. It gave the students an opportunity to exchange addresses and say good-bye before leaving for home late Saturday night or early Sunday.

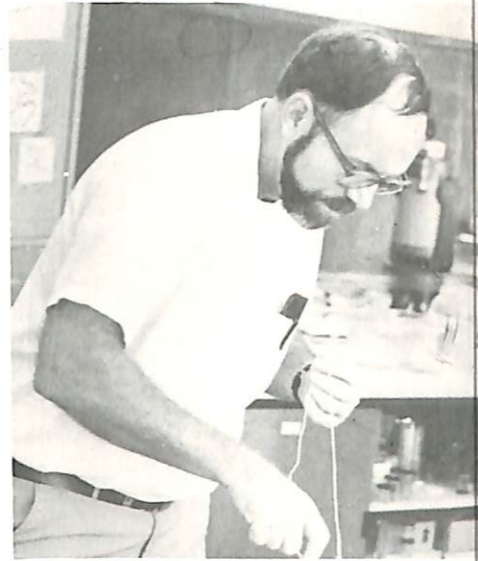

Sunday we started the return trip. After stopping in London and New York we arrived in Bermuda around midnight. Thank God Monday was a teachers' workday. We were all so tired.

Explorers... Better Than Ever!

The Chaffee Explorers met every Thursday in Mr. Hasselbring's room.

Sponsor Mr. Lee Hasselbring was always busy doing something for the Explorers.

Greg says, "Hey!" to patrons as he, Sarah, and Tito sell steak dinners during the Carter House Fair.

The Explorers started off early this year by electing the following officers: Sarah Lins, President; Brandi Harris, Vice-President; Mike Jean, Secretary; Greg Brown, Treasurer; and Sara Widdop, seventh grade representative.

This year the Explorers went skiing in Quebec. They started raising money for the trip early in the year by working at the Carter House Fair and by selling dinners at the mall. All of the fund-raising activities paid off when the Explorers hit the slopes in Quebec!

Young At Arts On The Go!!!

This year's "Young at Arts" students prepared for the one event that they awaited eagerly: the Young at Arts Festival in England to be held March 23 through the 27th. In addition to the festival, the students would have an opportunity to visit several museums while in London. They worked closely with Ms. Harlan, their sponsor, to get ready for this special activity.

Ms. Harlan and Mr. Petsch had lots of fun at the Street Fair in Hamilton.

Spotlight On Chaffee Drama!

This was a special year for Chaffee drama. Under the direction of Mr. Petsch, the drama program had an outstanding year. The focus of the group's activities was the DODDS-A Speech and Drama Festival. This year the festival was held at London Central High School in England.

The participating students included Kelly Fowler, Robert Wagner, Michael Saunders, Marlo Smith, Elizabeth Owen, Michelle Thorne, Jaida Raglin, Carmen Stokes, Stacy Breen, and Fiona van der Lugt. For the first time in Chaffee's history, we entered a debate team: Michael Saunders and Fiona van der Lugt. We also had an excellent one-act play: "Steel Magnolias" which Mr. Petsch directed.

In addition to the Speech and Drama Festival, the students had an opportunity to spend several days in London and to attend several plays. Chaffee drama proved to be one of the strongest extracurricular programs. Based on this year, Chaffee drama will really be in the spotlight.

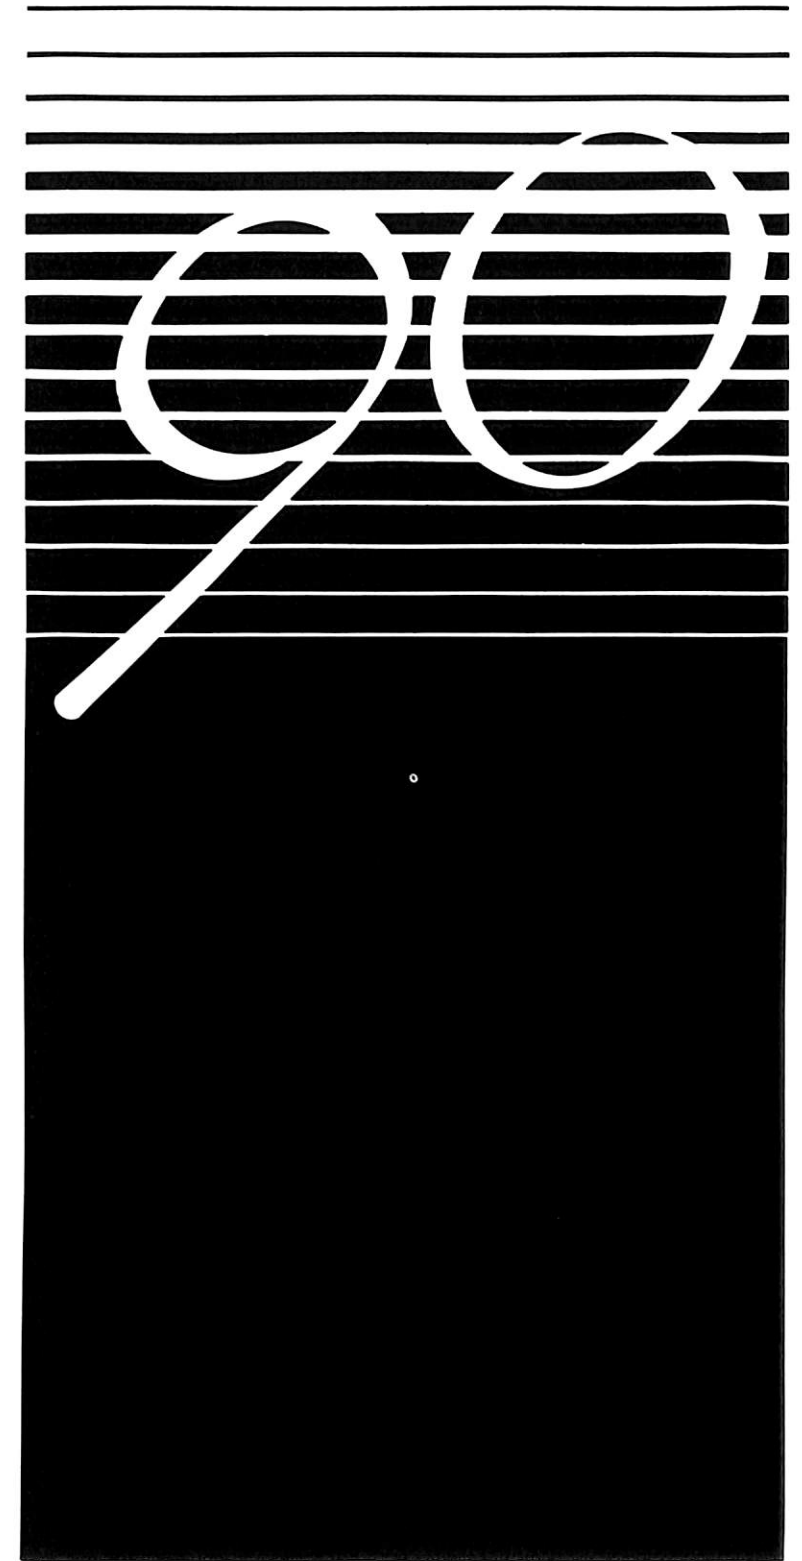

Drama Club Members: Fiona van der Lugt, Michael Saunders, Marlo Smith, Carmen Stokes, Stacy Breen, and Elizabeth Owen.

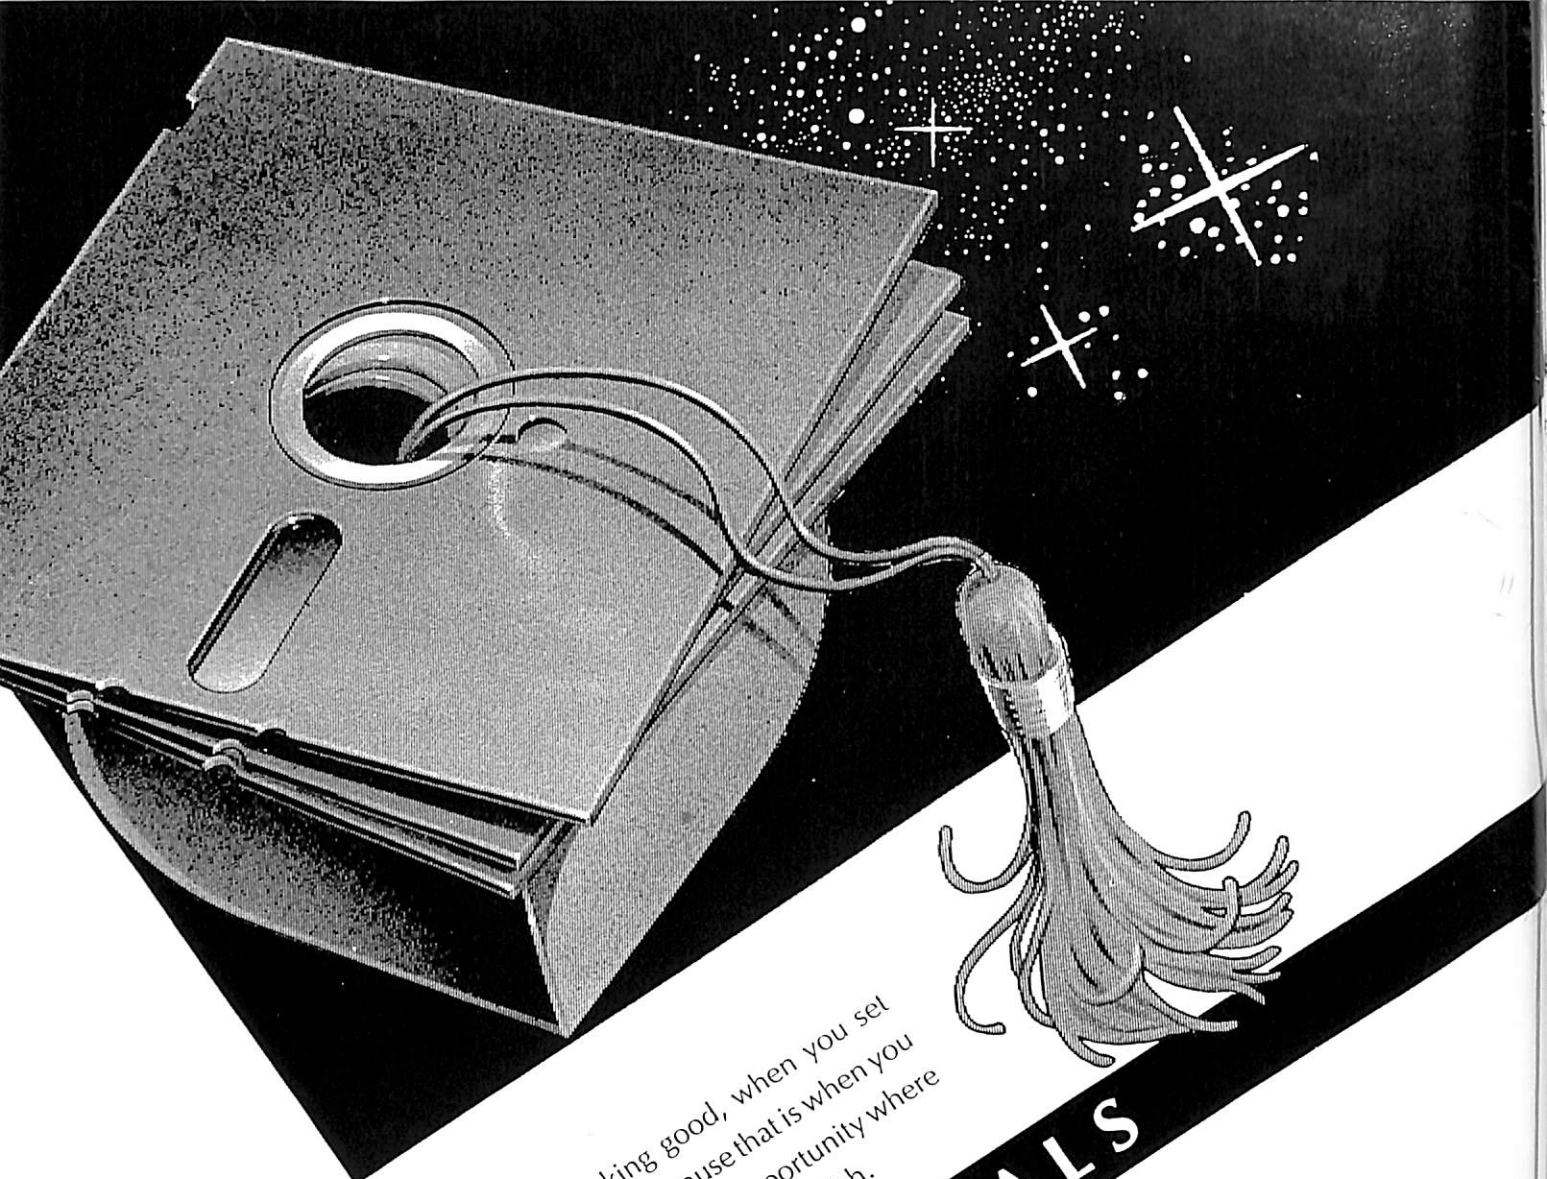

Kelly Fowler performed in "Steel Magnolias" and "The Taming of the Shrew."

Mr. Petsch has had a great deal of experience in Speech and Drama. Chaffee High School gained when Mr. Petsch used his drama background to enhance the speech and drama program.
