A Word From The Wise . . .

Captain Jim Arnold

COMMANDING OFFICER
U.S. NAVAL AIR STATION
BERMUDA

Principal, Faculty, and Students
Roger B. Chaffee High School
Department of Defense Dependents Schools
U. S. Naval Air Station, Bermuda

Dear Principal, Faculty and Students,

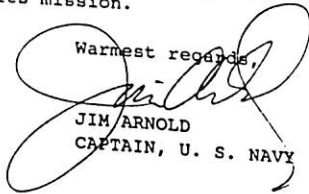

This has been a year filled with incredible and historic changes within the world. We've witnessed the buildup and successful conclusion of a war in the Persian Gulf against Iraq and a coup attempt followed by the demise of Communism in the Soviet Union.

As a follow up to these events, the prospects for peace and harmony between nations has perhaps never been brighter and the release of our hostages previously held as political pawns in the Mideast appears to amplify that hope.

At NAS Bermuda we are continuing to support both allied and national interests while we attend to quality of life improvements at the base. It should be noted that our DoDDS school system, its faculty and the positive personal involvement of the students and their parents make NAS Bermuda's schools a hallmark of excellence.

Thank you all for your strong support and contribution to our base and its mission.

Warmest regards,

JIM ARNOLD
CAPTAIN, U. S. NAVY

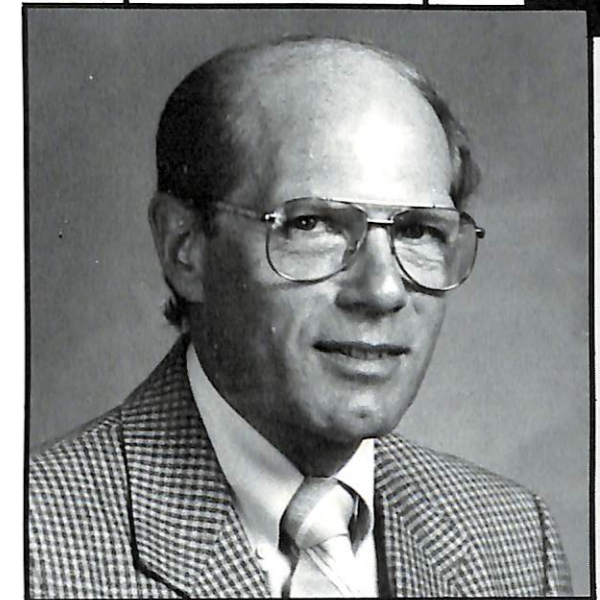

"Tomorrows Success Begins Today" was the theme around which our school program was built this year. The emphasis on being the best you can be will pay great dividends in the future.

The class of '92 is faced with taking the United States into the twenty first century and holding our position as world leaders. During their high school years, this senior class has seen some dramatic events on the world stage. The breakup of the Soviet Union and realignment of countries around the world will be a challenge that will confront our current leaders. By the time the class of '92 is in leadership positions, we will be looking at a completely different geographic and political economic world.

It is important to be prepared to meet every eventuality. We on the staff as well as parents have done our best to provide the nurturing and thirst for knowledge which is required in our changing world. We are only as successful as our sons and daughters and student are in their quest for excellence.

Always carry with you the thought that each day begins anew and with it the opportunity to look forward knowing "Tomorrows Success Begins Today". On behalf of the faculty I would like to wish you all good luck, good health, and Godspeed.

Principal Dr. Tom Smith

Student

Student life is a new section in this year's year-book. This section reflects the activities of the students in and out of school. Unfortunately, we are not able to cover all the different aspects of student life.

By: Jeff Torres

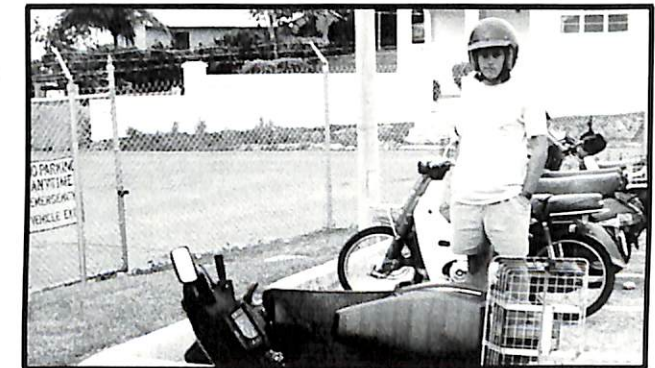

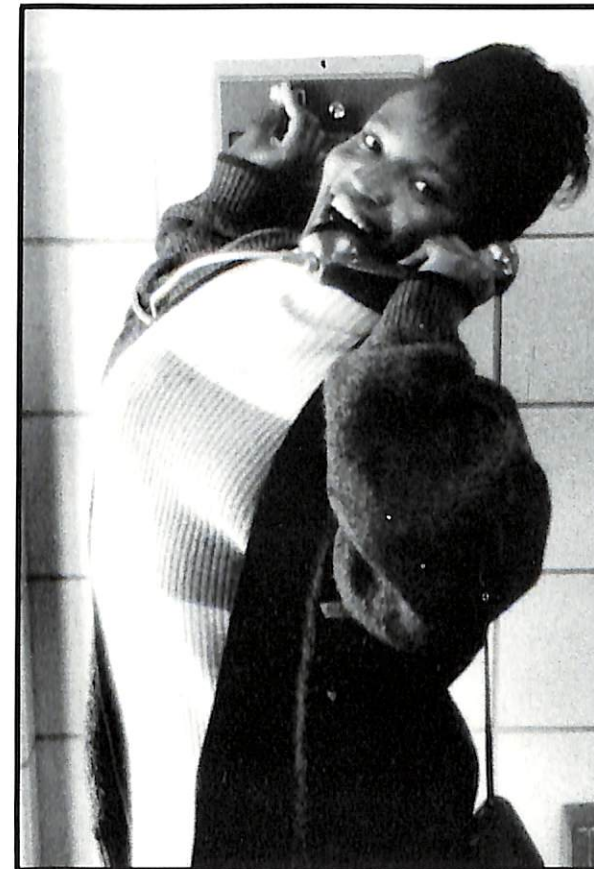

The variety of personalities are very present in Chaffee. Sophomore Julian Francis displays his photogenic qualities.

Seniors obtain certain privileges when they reach the twelfth grade such as this senior lunch area.

Life

Top - left: Many people use the telephone in the hallway during lunch. LaSonya Bellamy uses the phone to talk to one of her friends.

Only Time For Part-Time

Picture this: You and a group of friends go into town. You see some clothes that you want. You reach into your pocket and pull out a handful of lint. When students hang out somewhere what is the one thing they usually need? The answer is money!

Students, if they are old enough, usually get a part-time job. The most popular part-time job is bagging groceries at the commissary. The majority of the students at Chaffee work in the commissary. Senior Terry Reid said, "It's quick, easy money." Terry has been working at the commissary for four years.

Life guarding is also a popular part-time job. Life guard Nick Clark commented, "It was really hard work. My main tasks were sitting in the sun, working on my tan, and watching the girls. I don't think I could handle another year of it!"

No matter what you do for a part-time job, the reasons usually boil down to one thing- money. There are a lot of different jobs and many different money-making opportunities out there. All you have to do is look.

By Jeff Torres

McDonalds is a common place to find students. Sophomore Dawn Claywell handles an order.

Top: The commissary is the most common place to find students working. Senior Terry Reid takes care of an order.

Bottom: Some orders are bigger than others. Senior Richard Melvin has no problem with this one.

Hanging Out

Where to go? What to do? These are common questions for many Chaffee students.

Many of the older students go to St. Georges and hang out at The Wharf. The main reason these students go to The Wharf is to socialize with friends, play darts, and listen to music. This is a popular place with students, not to mention just about the only place students can go and socialize in St. George.

The teen center is a popular hangout with the younger students. The teen center is run by the Morale, Welfare, and Recreation. MWR has fun activities for the people who show up. The teen center offers the younger kids a place where they can hang out and be safe. Students can play pool, listen to music, and talk to their friends. MWR has sponsored such events as three on three co-ed volleyball, three on three basketball, and Saturday afternoon flag football.

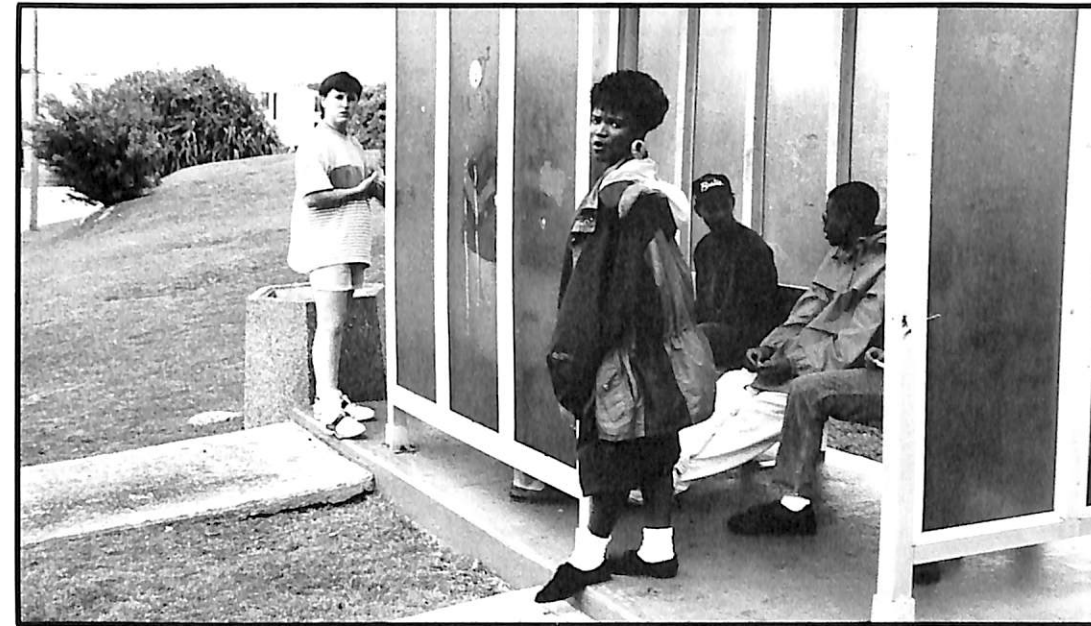

The popular hang-out place around Bermuda usually changes from month to month. However, no matter where you go and who you go with, the important thing is that you are with your friends.

By: Jeriamee Leeman

Many people can be seen hanging around the Exchange and Commissary. Senior Michelle Gearhart and Junior Elizabeth Owens mess around with a young kid.

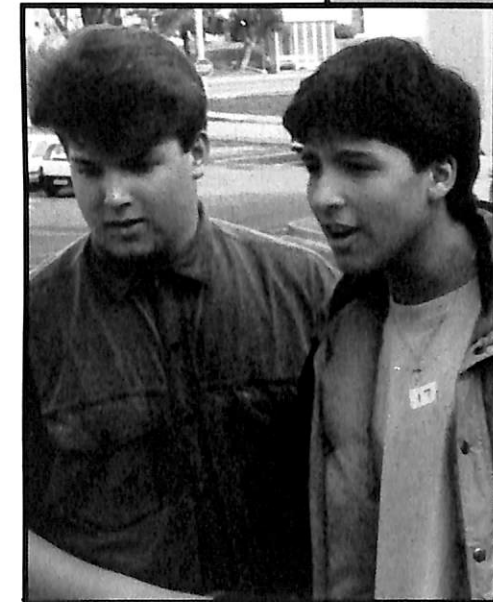

Motor bikes are the typical transportation for students to get place to place. Senior Terry Reid tests out Andrew Zuill's bike.

"Bring The Noise" . . .

FADE TO BLACK

It all began in the month of October in 1990. A Marine Corps sponsored talent show brought together four men: Stephen Daniels, Stanford Florence, Devin Jones, and Shawn Williams. They collaborated and combined to win first prize as Fourth Qwest. They performed a rap/dance combination to the instrumental of the hit single by Bell Biv DeVoe, "Poison."

After their first impressive performance, Stephen Daniels departed from the group, and they acquired Nakia Hill. Their first performance with Nakia was the Multi-Cultural Club Christmas program. As Shawn Williams was unable to perform this time around, the remaining three went on as M.C. Santa and the New Jack Elves. Their second performance, as The Rhythm and Gigi Wafford, was to be the opening act for Father M.C., a popular rap artist. The show fell through due to a booking mistake. This brought us to the end of the school year, and everyone went their separate ways. Nakia went to San Diego, Shawn left for Florida, Stanford went to visit in California's Bay Area, and Devin remained in Bermuda.

In 1991, there were only two of the original members remaining: Stanford Florence and Devin Jones. They became the forefathers of Fade To Black, a new kind of rap/dance sensation that expanded into other areas, such as video production and modeling. Fade To Black does not only consist of Devin and Stan; however, they have performed with Kristen Harris, Vanessa Jacks, Jeriamce Leeman, and a host of others. The group hopes for continual success for the future.

By Stanford Florence

From Fourth Qwest to Fade To Black, only two original members remain. Seniors Stanford Florence and Devin Jones "chill-out" at the annual air show.

AFTERMATH

Greg Brown and Jason Fubler are two aspiring young individuals who are steadily gaining recognition as the premier metal group in Chaffee. Playing under the name "Aftermath", the Brown/Fubler metal machine are setting the example for all students to follow.

Last year, after opening the Earth Day festivities with a rollicking version of Anthrax's "I'm The Man", Aftermath began its slow ascent to the top. The group played several other venues which included a dance at the teen center, and a talent show wherein they took second place.

Jason Fubler comes from a strong thrash background but he is not indifferent to the more melodious guitar players. He is strongly influenced by White Lion's Vito Bratta, Ozzy Osbourne's late guitarist, Randy Rhoads, and the immortal Jimi Hendrix. Songs that influenced his playing the most were "Dee" by Randy Rhoads and "Musical Death" by Testament. Greg Brown, an old-school player, is mainly influenced by Jimi Hendrix, Led Zeppelin, and Black Sabbath. Yngwie J. Malmsteen has had a strong influence on Greg's playing as well. The songs that have inspired Greg the most are "All Along the Watchtower," "Spanish Castle Magic," and "Voodoo Chile (Slight Return)"; all performed by Jimi Hendrix.

Aftermath has written several distinctively different songs varying from hard thrash to classical fingerpicking. Jason Fubler and Greg Brown definitely have the talent and determination and will, no doubt, be successful.

By Greg Brown

A Day On The Field

Once again, the Class of 1992 dominated on field day. The field day began with the traditional faculty vs. senior class softball game. In the final outcome, which had already been predicted, the seniors walked away victorious after slaughtering the faculty 22-2. The senior class fielding talents were not displayed adequately because of repeated pop-ups and fouls hit by the faculty.

The medley relay was the next event and also one of the toughest. The relay, consisting of sprinting, hula-hopping, running, and jump roping. The results of the relay were the following: first - Sophomores, second - Seniors', and third - Junior Class.

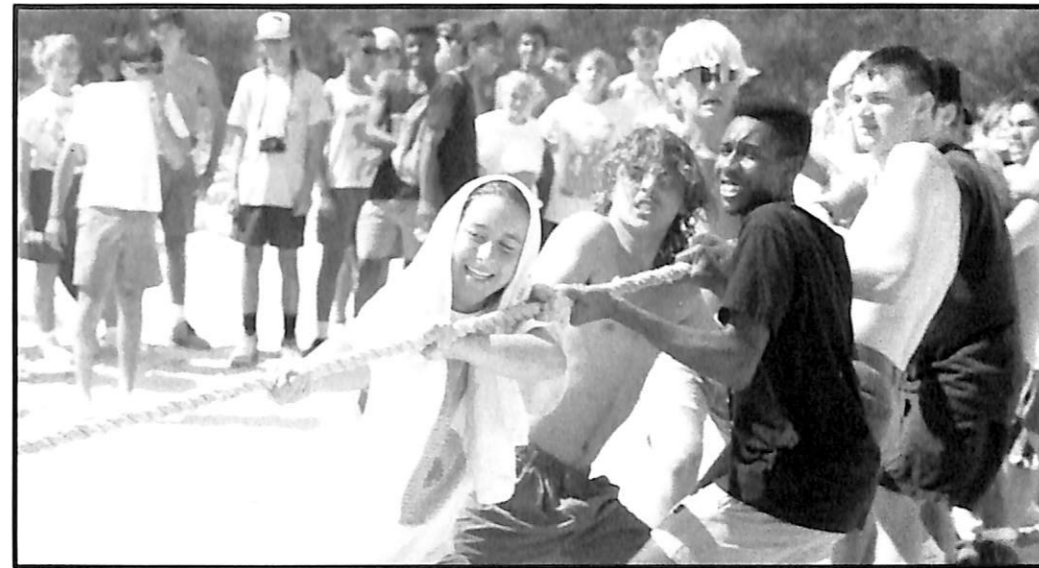

The next event was the three-legged race. The teams consisted of two people joined at the foot. This, however, created some funny mishaps. Reigning champions Terry Reid and Greg Brown again walked away with the prestigious title of first place.

After a rough game of flag football came the indoor activities. The seniors walked away in first place with everything except "flippers and freethrows." The sophomores beat out the seniors and the juniors.

Bottom: Tug-o-war is a popular contest among the students. The seventh graders proved to be strong competition.

The tug-of-war contest brings out class strength. The Sophomore Class did their best to win.

The three-legged race is a tricky game to master. Juniors, Tracy Leonard and Ariel Mierzejewski, had no problems.

Field day can be a very tiring day. Junior, Andrew Zuill, lays down for a rest.

The rest of the day was spent at the beach where other fun games were played. For example, the traditional tug-of-war, in which the seniors walked away as champions. The Class of 1992 has won in the tug-of-war contest since the seventh grade. Other beach games included the mighty egg toss, different games of volleyball, and tackle football. A great time was held by all and examples were set for other classes to follow.

World

Events

By Jess Torres

A lot of things went on in the world during this school year. This year was full of surprising come-backs, radical changes, and depressing situations. As it was once written, "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times."

As the school year began, students welcomed the men and women who served in the Persian Gulf. These people came home to a country that was in a state of recession. Many companies went bankrupt and laid off thousands of people. As President Bush tried to do what he could, attempts to save the U.S. economy seemed to be useless.

In world news, the month of August in 1991 seemed to be the turning point in the U.S.S.R. After a massive coup attempt on Mikhail Gorbachev, it seemed that communist power in the country was soon diminishing. A new leader arose from all the chaos that was occurring - Boris Yeltsin. This new leader helped to change the entire government of the country. The switching of governments began on January 1, 1992. After the switch, the country struggled to get back on its feet. In late September of 1991, Mount Pinatubo in the Philippines erupted. This volcano has been extinct for over six hundred years. The eruption caused thousands of people to lose their homes and for some, their lives. However, the people of the Philippines were not the only people affected by the eruption. Because of the damage that Mount Pinatubo made, a U.S. base was forced to shut down. Also in mid 1991, a two year science project known as Bio-Sphere II began. Several scientist were locked in a modeled version of the earth for two years. The scientists hope to discover what would be the environmental effects if this model was placed in outer space. A lot of controversy surrounds this project. Some scientists believe that this project is a waste of money, and some scientists believe that this project will help develop future colonizations in space. Despite what has been said about this project it continues. In sports news, the Minnesota Twins beat the Atlanta Braves in the World Series. These two teams came from last place standings in the previous year to first place standings in their divisions this year. The trend of Japanese companies taking over U.S. companies soon appeared in the sports pages. In early 1992, a Japanese company showed interest in buying the Seattle Mariners. In mid 1991, the U.S. Open was held in New York. Stefan Edberg captured the mens championship, and Monica Sellis captured the women's championship. However, the playing abilities of these people are not always going to be remembered about the U.S. Open. A veteran to the tennis field, Jimmy Connors, displayed unbelievable skill proving that rumors of his aging body were only rumors.

On November 7, 1991, "Magic Johnson" retired from the L.A. Lakers because the HIV virus was discovered in his body. On January 19, 1992, the Washington Redskins defeated the Buffalo Bills in the Superbowl - 37 to 24.

In entertainment news, Michael Jackson, Guns N' Roses, Hammer, and U2 are just a few of the music groups who released their long awaited albums. CD's were becoming the most popular forms of listening to music. Because the sound quality will never diminish, CD's are the choice over cassette tapes. In late 1991, Nintendo released its new and improved version of the nintendo system -called Super Nintendo. Unlike the regular system, this Super Nintendo has sixteen bit graphics. On "The Big Screen", movies like Robin Hood, Terminator 2, Star Trek VI,

The Last Boyscout, Juice, and House Party II brought in millions of dollars. On the television screen, the Fresh Prince of Bel Air soon became the most popular television show with young adults.

In health news, awareness of sexually transmitted diseases were widely known to the public. Because of the growing number of AIDS cases and death, people began to use more precautions. Also, the effects of polluting the earth became more known to people in the past year. Recycling soon became a more popular way of living.

In local news, a few changes happened in and around Roger B. Chaffee High School. Last year, the Chaffee staff lost Mrs. Frances Wyand. This year, she was replaced by Ms. Anderson. December 20 1991, marked the last day of secretary Jamie Rivers. This veteran of Chaffee served the school in the office. She will be greatly missed. A soda machine was added to the halls of Chaffee. Credit goes to Senior Brian Leo and Principal Dr. Thomas Smith for pushing the papers through. In every school, there are rules to follow. In January of 1992, these rules and their punishments were reinstated. On February 3-8, 1992, Chaffee held it's fourteenth annual Basketball Invitational Tournament. Unfortunately, the teams from Cuba and Iceland were not able to attend.

The world that we live in is always changing. Nothing ever stays the same. Nobody knows what is going to happen next. The only thing that anybody can do is just sit back and let things happen.

BOYS TO MEN
 BY NEW EDITION

Growing up can be a pain
 You're not a man until you come of age
 We've given up our teenage years
 In the effort to pursue our careers
 Who assumes responsibility
 Of having to support our families
 Who's protecting us from harm
 Is there anyone around
 That we can trust
 So we search for answers to our questions
 Looking for the answers
 No answers but we're taught a lesson every time
 Through mistakes we've learned to gather wisdom
 Life's responsibility falls in our hands
 Keep on learning, keep on growing
 'Cause wisdom helps us understand
 We're maturing without knowing
 These are the things that change boys to men
 Oh the goals we set may exceed reality
 Cause failure always is a possibility
 Who can tell us that we're wrong
 It's up to us to figure out what life is all about....

Thanks Moms and Pops for your love and support. I love you!

Mother

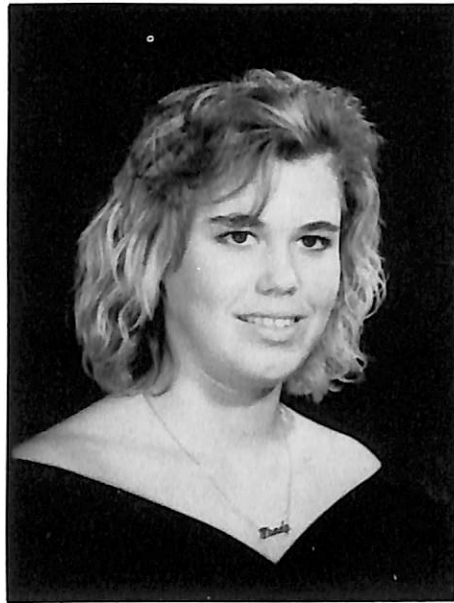

Love is something special,
Love is something rare,
Love is something a person gives to show how much they care.

You gave me your love mother,
You gave me your heart too.
And you've given me forgiveness
For all I've put you through.

You don't know what that means to me,
Or how it makes me feel,
To know the kind of love
You give me mother is the kind of love thats real.

Thanks to both of my families. I love U all. But a special "I love you" goes to my mother who is very dear to me.

I know I cannot bear
The trouble of today
With fears of future years
And guilts of yesterday
But God does not require
That I face present years
While burdened with past sins
And crushed with future fears
But I can live today
And make it seem sublime
By learning how to live
Just one day at a time

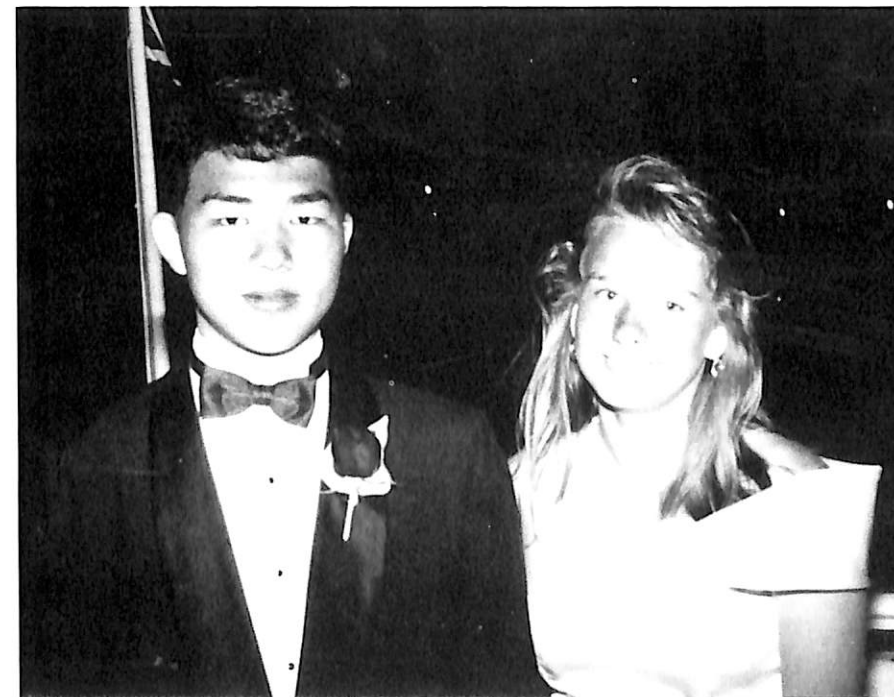

Thanks Mom and Dad for everything. Love you always.

Fashion Statements

If you go into any high school that doesn't require a uniform you'll find a wide variety of styles. A lot of times you can tell what type of music a person likes, what sport and team a person likes, and sometimes, what college a person would like to go to.

From time to time, certain brands of clothes are considered the "in" thing ... such as clothes from Esprit, Guess, Ocean Pacific, Quick Silver, or the local surf shop shirts. At Chaffee this year the style seems to be print shirts. Of course there are some people that prefer to be unique and they just wear whatever feels good or comfortable.

Here are a few students with their own personal views on styles ...

"I like overalls worn backwards with a nice print tee. I also like print shirts (long sleeves) with matching solid rayon shorts on guys and on girls."

Elicia Hill

"Guys clothes. I love wearing baggy shirts and print shirts, everything silk, and anything in style."

Kristen Harris

"I enjoy wearing comfortable mens jeans, print shirts and I have a passion for polka-dots. Be unique!"

A Junior's Life

Field day is a time to goof off and have some fun. Junior Ariel Mierzejewski finds relief from the sun with a trashcan hat.

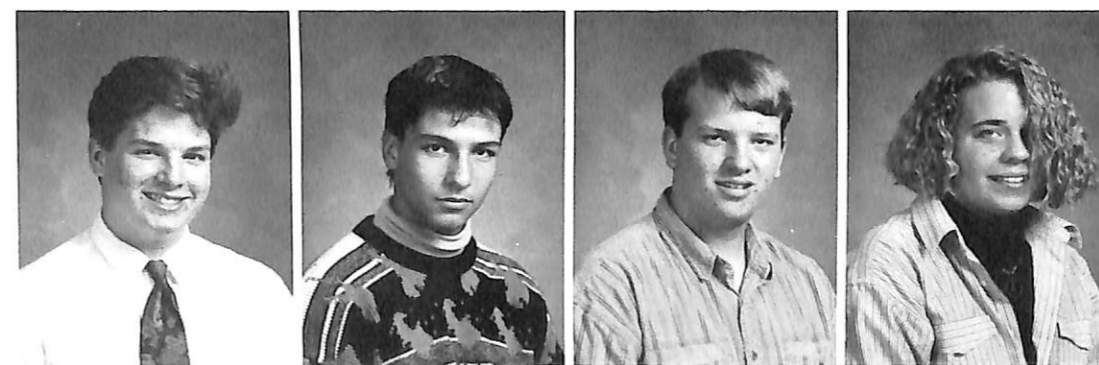

To most underclassmen it seems like it would be fun to be a junior. A junior has more freedoms. Juniors can go out more often, and they can stay out later. Most juniors are at the age where they can start driving. They can also go to the prom without being accompanied by an older student.

Unfortunately, being a junior is not as fun as it first seems. Sure, juniors may go to the prom but it is the junior class that carries the responsibility of planning and paying for the prom. They must choose the location, entertainment, and the amount of money that will be spent. The juniors have to earn all the money that will be spent on the prom. This is no easy task.

A junior also has to worry about whether or not he/she is taking the right courses to get into the right college. Taking the PSAT, ACT, and the SAT is also a heavy responsibility that taxes the nerves and patience of most ambitious juniors.

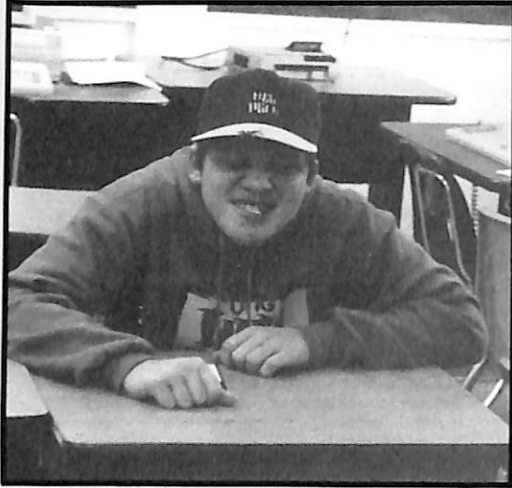

Fortunately, juniors can look forward to being a senior the next year. This doesn't mean that high school will get any easier. The classes get tougher, and the homework gets harder. They can handle this though; they are juniors!

“Word Of Mouth”

A Commentary On The Grapevine Of Chaffee

One good quality of Chaffee is that it is a small school and everyone is fairly close. A bad quality of Chaffee is that it is a small school and everyone is fairly close (that's right, I repeated myself.) In last year's yearbook (The Islander 1990-1991), editor Brandi Harris, wrote an article regarding rumors. Since this problem is an ongoing one at Chaffee, I thought another article should be written.

I've never been in a school that thrives on rumors and backstabbing. Are our lives that dull and boring that our only means of entertainment is talking about other people? Come on people, get a grip! I'm sure some of you out there have been in a position where you've heard about something you've done, but in actuality, you didn't do it. These rumors and backstabbing could possibly effect the way people see you.

If people talked more to people opposed to talking behind other peoples' back, then I think more things could get cleared up. Throughout the school year, I've noticed how people got upset with what someone said about them. In most cases, that person never said anything to begin with. What does this lead to? This usually leads to grudges and bad feelings between friends. The next time you hear something said about you, talk to people before pointing any fingers.

Jeff Torres

Pre-Purchased Meals

The clock rings 12:00 p.m. and hungry students rush for the cafeteria to be first in line to get the day's lunch.

Instead of pulling out the green stuff to purchase their meal, they are pulling out the blue stuff. That is right I said "the blue stuff."

This year is marked as the first year that lunch tickets have been used at Chaffee.

So what is the purpose for having lunch tickets? There are many people who can not afford to buy school lunch. Their parents' money is limited and they can not always afford to buy their children lunch; therefore, they are given free lunch tickets.

So then why is everyone given lunch tickets and not just those who can't afford them?

The reason why everyone is given lunch tickets is very simple. Students often tend to tease those who are less fortunate then they are. It is not a wise idea to have everyone knowing those who are less fortunate. That is why the parents of all the students who purchase lunch here at Chaffee come in and either collect their children's tickets or pay for them. If the family has a senior, the senior may pick up the tickets also.

I think that this is one of the best ideas that I've heard of this year because no one wants to be the center of attention.

Hispanic Month Assembly

September 27, 1991, marked the day the Multicultural Club presented a National Hispanic Month assembly. This month was designated to reflect upon the future of Hispanics in our nation. The Hispanic people make up 6.4 percent or 20 million people of the United States population.

Two guest speakers joined the Multicultural Club in presenting information. Chief Al Sosa came and talked about his heritage. Lt. Guillermo Samuels spoke about Hispanics in our nation's defense.

A School Within-A-School

Chaffee High Middle School is in full gear. The "school-within-a-school", geared towards the seventh and eighth graders, focuses on the intellectual and developmental needs.

To ensure that the transition from the elementary school to the high school is a stable one, a closed environment for learning is provided. Teachers and students are grouped together as teams. This way every student is known by at least one adult. This year there were three phases in the middle school program- the advisory committee, intramural activities, and team competition.

The advisory program was established to help students feel better about themselves and to feel respected and independent.

The second phase was the intramural activities. The students took part in lunchtime activities.

The third phase was the team competition. During this phase students were teamed with their advisory groups to take part in a range of events - bulletin board creations, scholarship bowls, and trash-a-thons. The goal of this group was to teach students to cooperate with others in a group while having fun.

The Middle School Concept

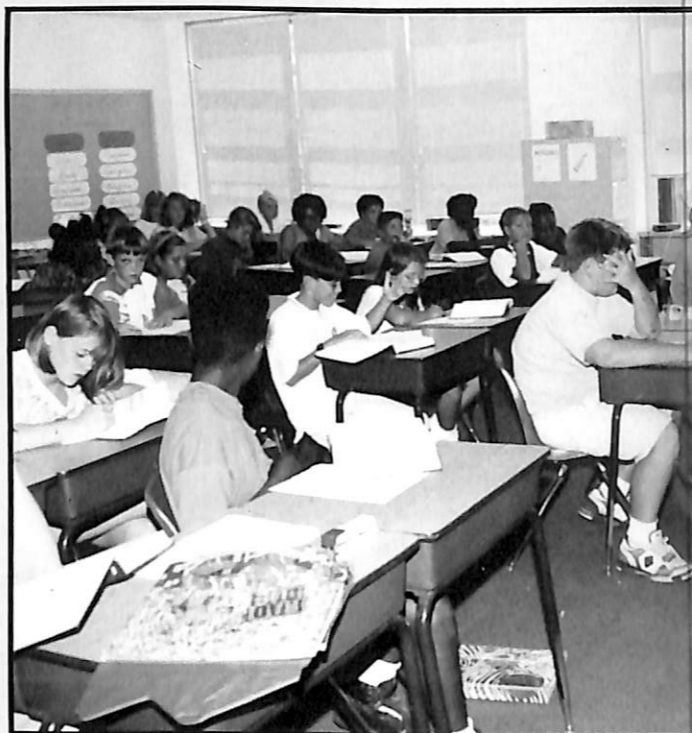

Early Monday morning, 8:25 a.m., eight enthusiastic seventh graders sit eagerly waiting to begin their first session of the Middle School Advisory Committee.

The Advisory program is just one phase of the Middle School Activities that includes a lunchtime intramurals program. It will allow students to play sports, board games, and develop interests in a variety of crafts.

Mr. Richard Pahl, this year's Middle School Activities Coordinator, stated, "This program is designed to encourage students to open up and share their concerns about the transition from elementary to high school."

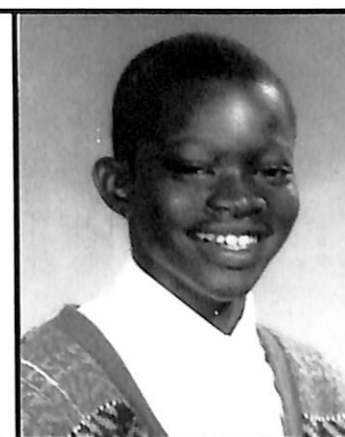

Middle School students who are participating in the program seem to be enjoying it and think the program is fun. Seventh-grader Candice McDaniel commented, "The Advisory Committees are great. We get a chance to share our ideas but have fun at the same time."

Faculty

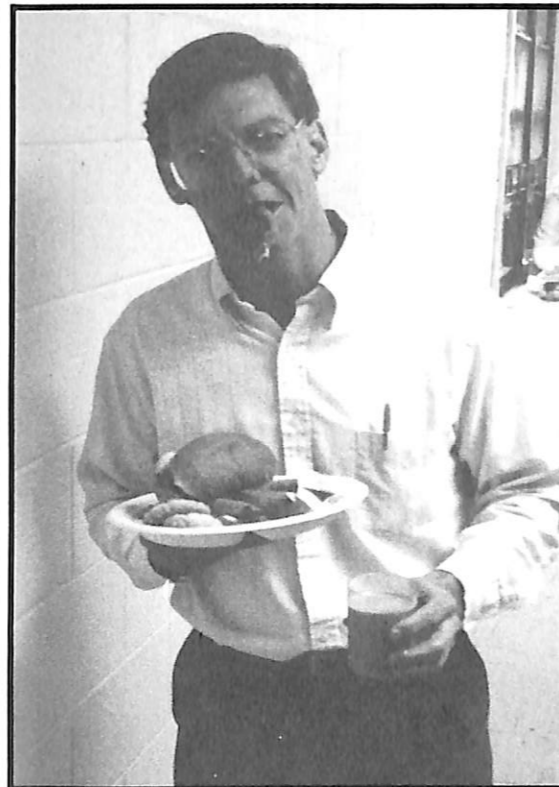

A number of students have traveled to many places and been to many schools. These students are exposed to various personalities of the faculty. One of the most memorable staff member is Secretary Jamie Rivers. Mrs. Rivers has been serving Chaffee for 2½ years. December 20, 1991 was Mrs. River's last day at Chaffee. The students of Chaffee appreciate all the work that Mrs. River's has done for the school. We will miss you.

Teachers are more commonly seen driving cars rather than bikes. Secretary Jamie Rivers heads out to her car.

Field Day is not just for students to relax, but also teachers. Mr. Bege man seems to be enjoying himself.

Activities

If there are a few things that add to the fun of school, the clubs would definitely be one of them. Without these activities, the school would be utterly boring.

This section is for the various clubs, organizations, and groups at Chaffee. We regret that we couldn't include everything and everyone that we wanted to.

Small Group With A Big Sound

Chances are you won't see them in a marching band or on a football field, but everyday during third period you will see the seven dedicated members of Chaffee's advanced band trudging up stairs, heading for the Elementary School. Forty-five minutes of non-stop practice is just what they enjoy. Why are they working so hard? They perform twice a year for an audience other than their instructor, Mr. Peter. Once at Christmas and again in the spring the band has a chance to perform and sometimes show-off, for their family and friends. When sophomore Monnique Bellamy, was asked to describe the class she said, "Band is very interesting. The small size helps me to listen more and realize my own mistakes. I think I have become a better clarinet player because of this." Chaffee's band may be small, but their talent, performances, and leadership speak for itself each time they perform.

What do stock sheets, fundraisers, and numerous field trips have in common? All of these are related to the Chaffee High Business Club.

The 1992 Business Club is sponsored by Mr. Gerald Begeman. The officers are president Jeff Torres, vice-president Brian Leo, secretary Stacy Breeden, and treasurer Cristy Larson.

This year's Business club began with each member choosing two stocks from the NYSE and monitoring his stocks throughout the course of the year. The Business Club also went on several field trips. They visited the data processing office in the NAS, the Bank of Bermuda, and the Bermuda Commodities Exchange.

Fundraisers are the major source of income for the Business Club. One of the annual Business Club Fundraisers is the trash-a-thon. Club members collect pledges for the bags of trash they collect. Mr. Begeman thinks this is not only a good way for club members to learn the value of money, it is also a beneficial community service.

Around March, the Business Club goes on a trip to New York City. While in the "Big Apple," the club visits the NYSE, Commodities Exchange, and various other business sites.

If this club sounds interesting to you, feel free to attend the meetings. Senior Stacy Breeden says, "It's a great way to learn about the business world."

Students Raise Their Voices

Everyday at fourth period, a group of students sing to their best potential. This group is known as the Chorus.

The Chorus is based on a nine week exploratory program for eighth grade students. For 9th-12th grade students chorus is offered for one semester or a full year. "In future years," Mr. Richard Peter said, "I would like to have a 15-18 week program in place of the 9 week program, for the eighth graders." Also he said he would like to have a chorus of 30 voices. Chorus doesn't have many concerts because there are not enough students to participate in the program.

Mr. Peter says unhappily, "Our program hasn't progressed in the last few years. It is very discouraging. We need more students to join!"

Over all the chorus is on its feet. They just ask for a little time and a few more students.

Amy Sanderson and Kristi Dando feel at home in chorus.

The Bermuda Explorers

Have you ever wondered what Bermuda has to offer, or what is there to do in Bermuda? Well, this club is for you.

The Explorer's Club meets on Thursday at lunch in Mr. Hasselbring's room. There they discuss many things that they can do. Some things include: horseback riding, cave exploring, snorkeling, and many more things. They usually take an off island trip.

This year Stacy Breeden is the president, Karen Clark and Gretchen Hasselbring are co-vice presidents, Sarah Widdop is the secretary, Jean Clark is the treasurer, and Kimberly Pahl is the seventh grade representative.

They have a lot of fun and hope to see more people in this club next year.

Hot Off The Presses!

Three of the staff work frantically to get the paper out on time.

Struggling to complete the paper, Shaun staples the finished product.

Ms. Branick, Vanessa Jacks, Aisha Henderson, Elizabeth Owen, Gary Woods, LaSonya Bellamy -(not pictured) Shaun Powers-Sharpe.

The Falcon Flyer Sponsor is Ms. Marion Branick.

This year the staff of the Falcon Flyer, led by Ms. Marion Branick, is reduced in size very severely. There are only six journalists on the staff, but the shortage has not reduced the efficiency of the school paper. The co-editors of this year's paper are Gary Woods and LaSonya Bellamy.

The size of the staff has not diminished the quality of the paper. The articles have covered everything from common school activities to important base functions. The class size hasn't deterred the class goals either. Aisha Henderson said, "Being on the newspaper staff can be very challenging because you are constantly relying on your colleagues; however, when the paper is finally out you get a good feeling when you know that you played a key role in its production."

The Falcon Flyer has been in production for nine years, and it is still going strong. They know the demand for a school newspaper, and because of this they are constantly on the lookout for new news stories.

Tomorrow's Teachers

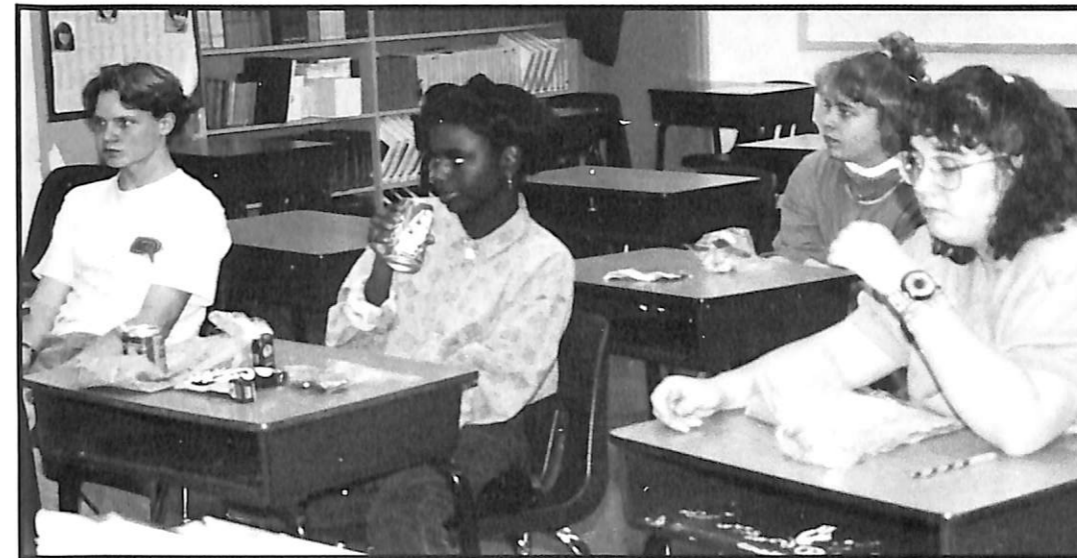

The Future Teachers of America, FTA, is an organized club geared toward showing students and giving them the experience of what being a teacher includes.

This year we hope to accomplish many things. Since this was our first year it was a little tough to get on our feet, but we worked on it. This year, we had guest speakers talk to us about credits in high school and what college is really like. Also we had looked at different colleges to find out where they offer what we want. Another thing that we accomplished was to get more information on seminars in the states to see if we could possibly send some one next year. Also, we followed a teacher around all day to find out what he/she does from 8:00am to 3:30pm.

We hope that there will be an FTA next year because we accomplished a lot this year, and we hope to do the same next year.

The Key To A Fun Time

President Kristen Harris gets the club running.

Lots of people like to express their opinion.

Serving the school and community is hard work but at Chaffee it's always done with a smile. It's just what you would expect from the Chaffee Key Club.

The Key Club is marked as the first in Bermuda. The group is advised by Mrs. Hoffman-Pahl and sponsored by the Kiwanas of St. Georges.

The Key Club is a service organization that does many things for the school and community. Some Activities that the Key Club are known for include the valentine semi-formal, fundraisers, contests around the school, the birthday cards with pencils, and volunteering twice a month at St. Brendan's Hospital.

Not just anyone could become a member of the Key Club. It takes responsibility and determination. In addition to meeting every Monday, you have to survive the initiation. If you think you can handle it, then try joining the Key Club.

The Multi-Cultural Society, only in its second year, has accomplished a lot. Acting under the leadership of president Stan Florence, vice-president Stephen Squire, secretary Candice McDaniel, and treasurer Daniel Andrews along with the guidance of sponsor Ms. Valerie Martin-Lee, the society has hosted several talent shows and assemblies to honor ethnic heroes past and present.

The National Hispanic History Assembly in September of 1991 was only the beginning. The Multi-Cultural Society also hosted Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Black History Month, and Native American Day. The group's main goal is to increase awareness and encourage appreciation of various cultures found in America like Native Americans, Asian Americans, Jewish Americans, and Afro-Americans.

The Multi-Cultural Society meets every other Friday at lunch in the library and new members are always welcome.

Young Senators

Model United Nations is a program in which bright young students get to visit The Hague, Netherlands, and take part in the Hague International M.U.N. program. Students from schools throughout the world take part in the model UN session. Each school is given a country to represent. This year, Chaffee has been chosen to represent the country of Madagascar. Constant news watching, reading, and listening are also requirements for this class. The council must know what is going on in the world. This class depends on knowledge of the chosen country and current events. Senior Brian Leo has been chosen as this year's ambassador. The rest of the council are Tim Hasselbring, Jason Fubler, Cathy Duchock, Suzy Dillinger, Yalonda Johnson, April Sanderson, and Amy DeAngelo.

Going For The Gold

The Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme is an honor for students from the age of fourteen to twenty-one years old. This project is divided into three awards. The first award is the bronze award for people fourteen and up. Next, there is the silver award for the people fifteen and up. Last, there is a gold award for people sixteen and up.

There are four teachers available for those students who need help. Each teacher is in charge of one of three sections. Mrs. Moyra Benbow keeps track of the students' physical recreation. Mrs. Valerie Martin-Lee helps the students with community service. Mr. Steven Petsch helps students find a skill they are interested in. Mr. Lee Hasselbring helps students plan their practice expedition.

Six freshmen are working for their bronze awards: Jean Clark, Karen Clark, Sarah Widdop, Naomi Sosa, Daniel Watts, and Jonathan Weed. The six that finished the bronze award by the end of the year were Suzy Dillinger, Derek Trimmingham, Travis Myers, Jonathan Kelly, April Sanderson, and Amie DeAngelo.

The students worked on their final expedition throughout the year. The purpose for this award is for the students to get awarded for things they do in their spare time.

Societies Of Honor

The National Honor and Junior Honor Society were created in 1921 and 1929 respectively. They were created to help members maintain and extend the qualities that won them a position in these two prestigious organizations. Membership in these organizations is considered an honor and a commitment.

These organizations expect the best from their members. These organizations believe that their members should maintain an exemplary scholastic record and exhibit only the best qualities. A member should be well-rounded, participating in both school activities and community based activities.

A member should show exemplary citizenship qualities along with a dedication to scholastic excellence, service, and leadership. A member should always strive for the best for himself and his fellow classmates.

Top: Taking care of the school flag is a duty of the honor society. Seniors Tim Hasselbring, Cathy Duchock, and Brian Leo put the flag up one morning.

A member should always stretch his boundaries and the boundaries of his fellow students. A member should try to be a leader in both the classroom activities and athletic activities. The member should show a dedication to serving his school and his community by volunteer work or by making a helpful suggestion to someone in a position to make a change to the way things are done.

These four following words basically summarize the qualities a member of the National Junior Honor Society should exhibit: citizenship, service, leadership, and scholarship.

Tomorrow's Leaders

... Begin Today

Student Government continued its tradition of accomplishment again this year with a full year's schedule. After class elections, Student Government hosted another successful field day. The event was organized by the students. It was a great opportunity to raise class spirit and have a good time.

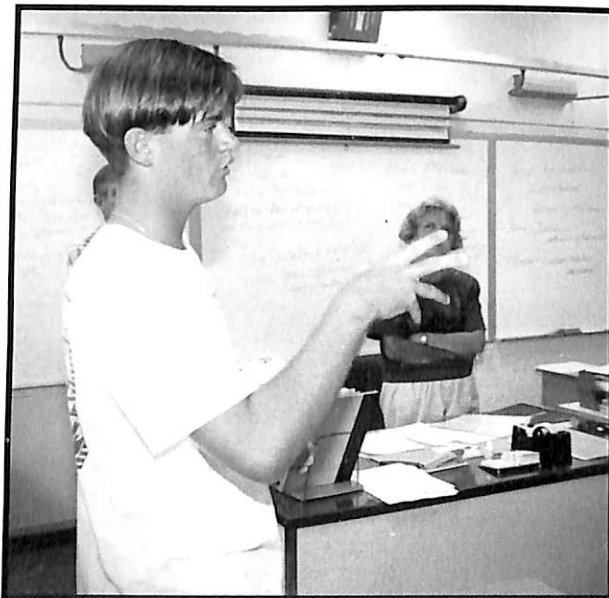

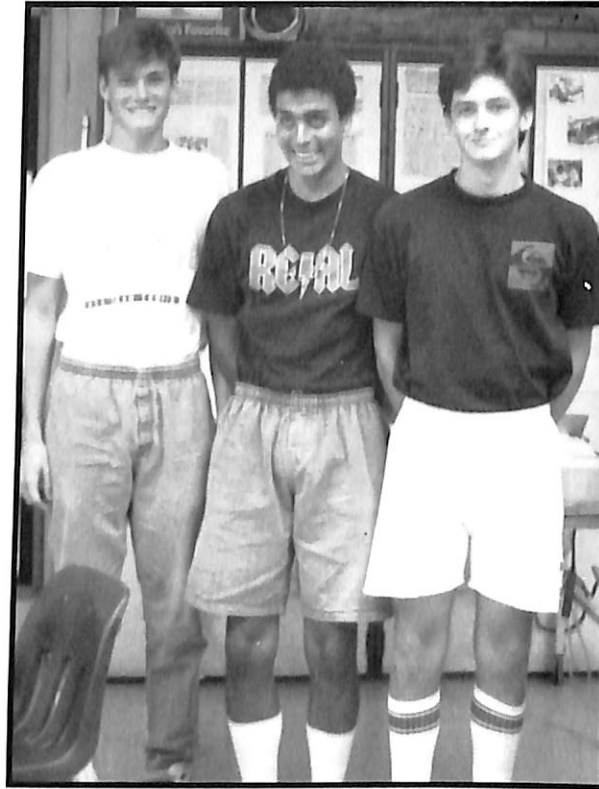

For the upperclassmen, it was the seniors who prevailed. The ninth grade was victorious in the underclassmen section.

Senior Nick Clark commented on what a great job Student Government did for this year's students. "They have all worked very hard, and their efforts are shown in their accomplishments."

Other activities that the student government has worked on were the winter formal, and the school's participation at the leadership seminar in Europe.

This year's Executive board consisted of president Brian Leo, vice-president Catherine Duchock, secretary Elizabeth Owen, and treasurer Tim Hasselbring. Student Government is sponsored by Mr. Richard Pahl. Brian Leo commented, "We got off to a slow start, but once we became motivated things went great."

Putting together a yearbook may seem like an easy task. However, ask anyone on a yearbook staff, and they will tell you otherwise.

In a yearbook staff, students learn about cropping, writing articles, photography, and various other publication techniques. There were times where everyone was at each other's throats, and there were times when everyone laughed together. The stress builds up greatly on a yearbook staff. However, with teamwork and the ability to stay on task, everybody pulled through.

This year's yearbook staff worked hard to make this yearbook a very unique one. The staff was aided by sponsor, Mr. Lee Hasselbring, and Josten's representative, Mr. Ernie Barrera. A big "thank you" goes out to both of them.

The three editors, Greg Brown, Jeff Torres, and Jeriamee Leeman, did their best to get this book to you.

The use of the apple computers played a big roll in typing copy sheets. Greg Brown checks over copy while Jeff Torres types on the computer.

The yearbook staff was greatly aided by an outside source. Josten's representative, Ernie Barrera, held up the possibilities for the yearbook cover.

The staff worked hard on their assigned pages. Junior Heather Bijoux concentrated as she organizes her papers.

Lights, Camera, Action!

Have you ever noticed students around the school armed with camcorders videotaping every Chaffee event? Chances are you have; these people are members of the Chaffee High Video Club, or CH1.

CH1 was created at the beginning of the school year and has been in full swing all year. Like all the other organizations at Chaffee, CH1 has a definite goal-to get the students interested in the production of movies, editing, and all the other fields of video production.

Mrs. Valerie Martin-Lee is the CH1 sponsor and the group was privileged to receive over $30,000 in video equipment. CH1 was also honored to receive a visit from DoDDS Atlantic Media Director Ken Poverud. He conducted an all-day workshop with the CH1 members. There they learned the finer points of reording and editing. Mrs. Martin-Lee thinks that the future for CH1 looks bright for years to come.

Being president of YADA is no easy job. President Yalonda Johnson has faithfully led YADA for two successful years.

Having a blast while helping students remain drug and alcohol free is the purpose of YADA- (Youth Against Drugs and Alcohol). For six consecutive years, YADA members have been spreading the word that you don't have to be under the influence of drugs or alcohol to have a good time.

Throughout the year, dedicated members engage themselves in various activities such as "The Moment," "The Great American Smokeout," and the "Red Ribbon Campaign" - which encourages people to pledge to be drug and alcohol free for the holidays.

In addition, the main attraction on YADA's calendar is the annual YADA Day seminar. On this day, American and Bermudian students congregate at Chaffee High to learn more about drugs, alcohol, and having fun.

This year's group is considerably larger than last year's group. YADA is led by president Yalonda Johnson, vice-president Aisha Henderson, treasurer Danielle Andrews, and secretary April McNeil. This year's YADA sponsor is Mrs. Valerie Martin-Lee.

New Coach Directs Varsity Boy's Basketball

The Chaffee varsity boy's basketball almost didn't happen. After a long search for someone who was willing to coach, things began to make a change for the better. Coach Kent Morris, a newcomer to the island, took control of the boys squad. He taught the team to work together, enforcing controlled basketball and outstanding physical fitness. His leadership and guidance would be seen in the actions of his players.

This year's team captains were elected by members of the team. Terry Reid was chosen as team captain, and Brian Leo as co-captain. It was their responsibility to call plays and keep the guys together as a team.

Varsity Girls Worked Hard For A Good Season

Fast break, awesome defense, and creative plays were all a part of the winning combination of the Lady Falcons. This year's team saw many returning players and brought in a lot of great new talent. The Chaffee soccer program completed another year of outstanding soccer action. Mr. Lee Hasselbring organized the year's play by dividing the intramural action into two groups. The younger and less experienced teams played on Tuesdays while the older and meaner teams destroyed each other on Fridays. Everyone began the season with lots of enthusiasm.

Team captains were elected and players were picked for each team. The rules were published and then the season got under way. Ariel Mierzejewski and Brian Leo were the captains of the first place team in the older division. Michael Kafka and Nick Clark led the second place team. “Setting” Up A New Team

Girls Volleyball Starts Fresh Except Two

This year's girl's volleyball team was comprised of a lot of young, inexperienced players. Coach, Ms. Jan Driscol, worked feverishly to make winners out of the girls. The 1991-1992 girls squad was comprised of only two returning players. They were Senior Cathy Duchock and Sophomore Suzy Dillinger. The rest of the team consisted of Monnique Bellamy, Karen Clark, Lorraine Albright, Sarah Widdop, and Danielle Andrews.

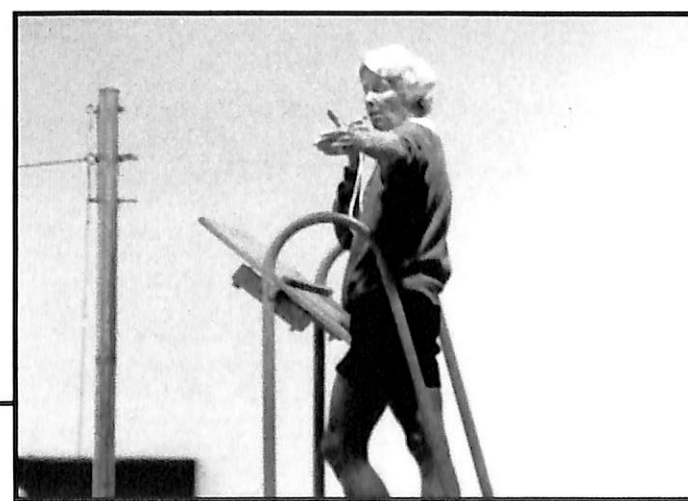

The girls had a difficult time getting their basic skills mastered. They failed to win any of their regular season games until their final match. They beat Warwick Academy for their first victory of the season.

At the Girl's Championship Tournament held at Mount Saint Agnes, the girls made an awesome turn around. They earned second place, losing only to M.S.A. and Saltus. Suzy Dillinger commented, "I was really impressed with the team's improvement. We got second place!"

Actual planning for this years yearbook began half way through the last school year. When I planned the yearbook, I had originally planned for over 200 pages. However, because of costs, it was greatly reduced. I'd like to thank Alan and Ian for taking care of the ads, Stacy and Jean for putting together the senior section, Richard and Shaun for their photography work, Seriamae for making sure we have enough money, Mike K. and Nick for handling the sports section, Greg for typing all those copy sheets, and to Sandra, Cristina, Aisha, Devin, Elex, Tricia, Mike O., Heather, and Yalonda for being by my side when jobs needed to be done. Also, I'd like to thank Stanford Florence and Jennifer O'Neil for contributing articles to the yearbook. A big "Thank You" goes out to Mr. Lee Hasselbring for keeping us on track. This yearbook couldn't have been made without the hard work and dedication that these people displayed.
