2003-2004

Our Principal,

Ms. Virginia Briggs

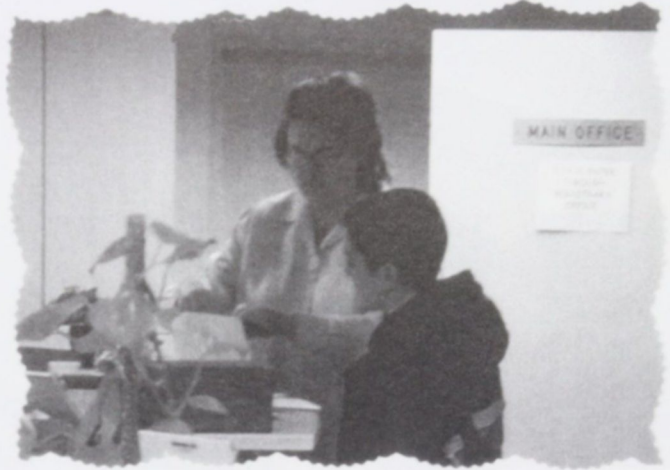

Can you believe this year is over? Hopefully, you found it to be one filled with curiosity, discovery, wonder, and fun. It has been enjoyable to watch you grow, learn new skills, meet new challenges, develop new friends, and continue your journey toward self-reliance and independence.

As you know, we place great importance on your academic achievement at BMS, but we are equally committed to promoting the kind of personal behaviors that help create a school filled with STARS...safe, tolerant, and responsible students! Thank you for the part you played in helping to make our environment a more pleasant one.

You have gained a lot of new knowledge and learned many new skills. Now that the year is over, I hope that you will take some time to reflect, with pride, on your many personal accomplishments over the last ten months, and then look back on SY 2003/2004 as a happy and memorable year at Bitburg Middle School.

Operation Iraqi Freedom

THREAT OF WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION

On March 17, 2003 President Bush gave Saddam Hussein a 48-hour deadline to leave Iraq or the U.S. and its coalition allies would initiate a military action against the Iraqi regime. This ultimatum came after years of difficulties concerning Iraqis failing to cooperate with U.N. weapons inspectors. On March 20, the United States launched a pre-dawn missile attack on selected targets of Iraqi military importance. The war escalated with the help of British troops.

P.O.W. Army Pfc. Jessica Lynch was rescued from an Iraqi hospital.

Seven American prisoners of war were rescued by U.S. Marines.

Baghdad looters emptied official buildings and Iraq's national museum of priceless antiquities.

"Most Wanted" Iraqi playing cards were issued.

U.S. Congress changed french fries to FREEDOM FRIES in a small but symbolic effort to protest France's opposition to the war.

President Bush made a surprise visit to Baghdad to have Thanksgiving dinner with about 550 troops.

Saddam's sons, Uday and Qusay, were killed in Mosul, a northern Iraqi City.

In December U.S. forces captured Saddam Hussein in an underground hideout.
