DEDICATION

Because we believe in the right of man to live within the scope of the dignity of his soul, we dedicate our yearbook to Light. May it penetrate the shadows of doubt, fear, and suspicion, that devastate this troubled continent upon which we live.

To you who have just turned the first page of ERINNERUNGEN:

You are about to read the pages and look at the pictures which represent a year in Europe to every American high school student in Germany and France, especially to those who have had any part, no matter how small, in the production of this book. Before you turn the next page, you may have no idea of what is to follow. Perhaps not until you have perused every article and picture in our annual will you realize that fourteen different schools in foreign lands have worked together to prepare one memory book.

Our yearbook has grown from the original 317 pages which represented seven schools in 1949 to the 536 pages you are now reading which represent eleven high schools and three junior highs in Germany and France. Each school has a unique story to tell. Our European setting makes Erinnerungen entirely different from the usual annual, for each staff emphasizes its particular background with a theme which brings out a distinctive feature of its environment. Yet every one contributes to the story of American youth living and learning in a foreign country.

To our friends at home we hope to give a few glimpses of our school life in Europe. To those who are a part of "our big family", who will never forget your European alma maters, we bring memories of the laughter and tears, the successes and failures, and all the little details that only you can remember — all of which make this year one of the best in our lives.

Members of the Graduating Class:

You have been privileged to enjoy the unique experience of obtaining an American education in a foreign country which has over the centuries contributed to the cultural heritage of our nation. Many of you have been in Germany for several years and thus have had the good fortune to observe the tremendous progress made by the German people. You can profit from this experience in the important task of furthering and strengthening the cultural bonds between the two countries.

The American schools in Germany are an expression of our national heritage. The attitudes and behavior of United States citizens abroad determine to a large extent the idea of America current in the minds of the inhabitants of a foreign country. In a sense each of you may be considered a special representative of America. You have an important responsibility in demonstrating our concept of the way of life in a free nation.

In the crucial years ahead youth will be called upon to play an increasingly important role in world affairs. Because of your enlarged horizons through living and learning abroad, you can be of great service, I feel sure, in furthering the cause of freedom and understanding among the free countries of the world.

JAMES B. CONANT
*United States High Commissioner

To the 1954 High School Graduates:

At the close of the academic year, it is customary in thousands of schools and colleges throughout the world to congratulate the graduates upon the successful completion of their studies. To those of you who are being graduated from the high schools of the United States Army in Europe, I should like to express my congratulations in a great deal more than the customary sense.

It is no small achievement to carry out a significant program of work over a period of twelve or thirteen years. For most of you, this job has been complicated by the frequent moves associated with the military profession. In many cases, it has been necessary for you to become acquainted with new languages and new customs while adjusting at the same time to more advanced studies, new teachers, and different school systems. Along with all this, you have made many new friendships and have taken part in a wide variety of school and community activities.

Here in Europe our schools have placed special emphasis on an appreciation of foreign cultures and on the development of international understanding. The opportunities you have had for broadening experiences in a foreign land, coupled with the adaptability you have shown in meeting so many new situations, promise well for your future as participating members in a democratic world community.

Congratulations and best wishes.

First established in September, 1946, the Thomas A. Roberts School of Berlin was one of the first American organizations in operation after the war. Formerly located on Im Gehege, the school moved to Dahlem, near the center of the American Community, during the summer of 1953. With appropriate ceremonies, Brigadier General Charles F. Craig officially opened the modern building which was completed shortly before the fall term began on September 8.

The enrollment has fluctuated erratically since 1946, ranging in attendance from hundreds to the present number of twenty-five regular students and eighteen correspondence students.

Berlin High has weathered everything from a polio epidemic (when school was conducted via AFN) and the historic Berlin Blockade to the East Sector Riots of June 17, 1953. To quote some of the "old-timers", "We are still here," and we hope to remain as long as we can continue to serve as an example of American democracy in the last outpost of freedom behind the Iron Curtain.

SENIOR HISTORY

As graduation draws near, our thoughts go back over our high school years and experiences. Even though there are only four of us, our pasts are different. We have been drawn together by fate, and we have learned to know and understand each other, although our acquaintance has been short. As we look back over this year, the first days are vivid in our memory. For us seniors they were not only the beginning of a new school year, but also the closing of our high school life. All our years in high school have been happy ones. We have all looked forward to our senior year, and now at last we have obtained our goal!

Charles (Chuck) Harrell, our Student Council President, came to us from Paris in August. Chuck, who is from Wyoming, is looking forward to attending the University of Oregon.

Janice (Jan) Ewalt, Student Council Secretary, is the "old timer" of the Senior Class, having come from Seattle, Washington, in the summer of 1952. She also plans to attend the University of Oregon after a year at the International School at Geneva, Switzerland.

Virginia (Jan) McConnell is from the "Flickertail State" of North Dakota, and came in late September of this school year. She is planning to travel through Europe for one year before starting her education at the University of Wyoming.

Gary (Butch) Holman, from Leavenworth, Kansas, arrived in Berlin just in time for Christmas vacation. We were all very happy to have a new addition to our Senior Class, as we had been awaiting his arrival for two months. Gary plans to attend West Point in the familiar Army tradition.

We seniors owe many thanks to our principal, Miss Reilly, and to all of the other teachers who have helped us over the rough spots this year. Each one has proved a friend to us in many ways, and we do appreciate each act of kindness very much.

Attending the Berlin American School has been a unique experience for each of us. When we graduate, our lives will take different paths, but we shall always look back upon our senior year with many happy recollections.

SENIOR WILL

We, the Senior Class of Berlin American High, being of sound mind and body, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament. Signed this twentieth day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-four.

I, Jan Ewalt, leave my ability to eat and stay thin to Ginny Wine.

I, Chuck Harrell, leave my well worn gym shirt to Dale Learn and my typing ability to Toni Dolozik.

I, Jan McConnell, leave my ability to see in the dark to Bobbie Douglas.

I, Gary Holman, leave my ability to make perfect letters to Dale Learn.

Boasting the largest membership, the Junior class is among the most active in school affairs. Its five members may be seen scurrying to and from Annual, BEAR FACTS, Photo Club and Drama Club meetings on all days of the week. Three editorships and two presidencies are filled by Juniors while they also claim two old timers in Germany with thirteen years of overseas life between them.

Our original four Jimmy, Toni, Wally and Ginny, were reinforced in October by Ruth Zornow. Included in the long list of activities are the Christmas pageant with all members of the class in major parts and the March of Dimes raffle sponsored by the entire high school.

The sophomores started out in September with only two people but by October had increased to the staggering number of three. Members of this class include a Californian, a New Yorker, and a fellow from Washington, all of whom are active in student activities such as Annual, Photo Club, BEAR FACTS staff, and school sports. These three lively personalities do much to add to the bustling atmosphere which surrounds Berlin High.

The Freshman Class in its entirety was composed of only two members. The first was Charley Bartlett, active especially in sports, who was with us only from September to October. Shortly after his departure for Frankfurt, Barbara Douglas came to fulfill the whole school's hopes for another freshman to initiate. Her contributions to the school consist chiefly of secretarial and Honor Roll positions.

High School Building

BREMERHAVEN AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL

In the spring of 1953 we were besieged by carpenters, bricklayers and other builders putting up a new wing of three large classrooms which were ready for the opening of school in the fall. Since school began in September we have had a twenty-five percent increase in enrollment.

The history of our school goes back to 1947 when a Dependents School was established in the old Hanseatic city of Bremen. In the following year the installation was moved to Bremerhaven where we have since occupied one wing of the Marine Schule, a group of buildings which is also temporarily housing the Buergermeister and his staff. Even though our numbers are relatively small, we endeavor to carry on all the activities in which we would participate if we were in the ZI. These include the Student Council, school newspaper, yearbook, music festival, and athletic events as well as social activities, many of which are centered in our Teenage Club located in the Dependents Staging Area. This sometimes spreads us pretty thin, but we at least can be said to cover a lot of territory.

SENIOR HISTORY

The history of our graduating class covers not only several years but, also a lot of territory. Sylvia Nixon and Fran Prouty have been in Bremerhaven since their freshman year. Louis Beauzay started high school in North Carolina and came to us in his sophomore year along with Bill Lamb who began high school in Georgia. We really started to expand with the arrival of Fran MacKay from Oakland, California, whose schooling includes three years in Kokura, Japan, and Charlyne Fisher from San Francisco who attended schools in Subic Bay and Hawaii. Our class members have been in dependents schools an average of three years each.

The first things we accomplished as a class were elections and choosing the Annual staff. The next thing that came along was Louie's trip to the Student Council Conference at Kaiserslautern. This year will be memorable for the choosing of class rings, the series of Student Council discussions resulting in seniors having the privilege of being first in the lunch line, the fun we had reading Macbeth and going over our parts in class, especially the fifteen lines we each memorized. We became quite serious in some of our discussions in American Government and all came to recognize the advantages of looking at our country from this side of the ocean.

The day came when we tried on our caps and gowns for size. This led to a debate on caps and gowns or white dresses and suits but we put off action until time when many matters will be resolved for us one way or another.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

An interesting fact about the Junior Class this year is that each of the four remaining members and our homeroom teacher is new to Bremerhaven. Jane Ostenberg has been in Germany longer than anyone else in the class, having attended Munich in her sophomore year. Arlene Dose spent last year in Maryland, while Danny Van Cleave was in California and David Warburton in New York. Danny had previously attended school in Seoul, Korea, and David in Sendai, Japan. Sue Blodgett transferred to Munich early in the Year and Emma Shipley was here until Thanksgiving when she left for sunny California.

In November the class selected for its officers Danny, president; Jane, vice-president; and Arlene, secretary-treasurer. Miss Evelyn Paxton from California is our sponsor. The main project of the Junior Class has been the publication of the school newspaper. We have tried to learn the principles of Journalism so that we could put out the paper in good style. We think we have a more appropriate name this year and are calling our paper the "Gateway News" instead of "The Keyhole". Emma Shipley was editor until she left in November. Four members of the class now act as associate editors until Miss Paxton appoints someone else editor-in-chief.

The main event that we have to look forward to now is the Junior-Senior Prom which the juniors sponsor. We hope to make the event one of the best of the school year and one that the seniors will remember with pleasure.

Though the class is small, each member takes an active part in school life. Jane is vice-president of the Student Council and Danny is a representative. He is also a hard-working member of the basketball team. David, Arlene, and Jane are all members of the Slide Rule Club. On the lighter side we have Emma and Jane on the cheerleading squad.

This year's sophomore class is again the largest in the high school with the boys outnumbering the girls more than two to one as the surrounding pictures will show. As a result we are well represented in school activities, especially sports. Seven sophomores play varsity basketball. Four of us are on the "Gateway News" staff. Bill Brigante, our class president, is also treasurer of the Student Council. As a class we sponsored a dance at Thanksgiving to help the Student Council raise funds for the Christmas dance.

We have a total of about twenty-eight years attendance in army schools. The Ryan twins have been in Bremerhaven five years each and Rae and Paul have spent some years in Japan so the sophomore class with its homeroom teacher, Mr. Delbaun, is well represented by world travelers.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

When the rush began and war whoops echoed down the hall, we were off with the seniors close on our heels. After we had outrun them they knew they couldn't touch us under the protection of our home-room teacher Miss Emily Girault. Our number seems to stay at eleven, but new ones come and old ones go and like the army the personnel changes.

Not only do we study but we feel that we contribute enormously to school functions. We elected Karen Bansemer president, Jackie Nixon vice-president, and Rosemary Hoopert secretary-treasurer of this year's Freshman Class.

Jackie Nixon and Nellie Woodruff represent us at Student Council meetings while Jackie is also on the newspaper staff. Rosemary Hoopert has been hard at work on the Annual.

Rolf Berkefeld, Tommy Ostenberg, and Linwood Townsend represent us on the Basketball Team and three of this year's cheerleaders, Jackie Nixon, Rosemary Hoopert, and Kitty Schleuder, are freshmen. The eleven members of the Freshman class represent twenty-four years in Dependent Schools. This is an average of a little over two years per person and we think that is quite a record.

NEWSPAPER

The editorship of the newspaper was passed on this year to the new Junior class and their adviser Miss Evelyn Paxton. After the first edition a new name was chosen and on the day of the next issue there emerged the "Gateway News". At the beginning of the school year the editor-in-Chief was Emma Shipley, who left for the States in November. After Emma's departure the editorship of the "Gateway News" became a joint editorship of the remaining four Juniors. The six Seniors are staff writers and write up the sports and most of the editorials in addition to regular news articles.

When the annual staff was chosen, many of the newspaper writers became part of the staff. The editor-in-chief is Fran MacKay, who is assisted by the adviser, Miss Dorothy Kay, the Senior class, and representatives of the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes. We would like to give special credit to the Sophomore representative, David Cox, who was in charge of the photography. David not only took pictures but donated both the film, the paper, and gave much of his time, for he also did the developing and printing of the great majority of them. This year's Annual is the combined efforts of all the classes and they all worked toward its successful completion.

and Programs

On these and the following pages is a pictorial account of an average year at Bremerhaven. We began this year with fifty-five students in junior high and senior high school and by the end of the second marking period were pleased to see our student body increased by 25 percent.

After the business of electing officers for classes and other activities was out of the way, all the auguries pointed to a good year coming up. In October the Freshmen got together and sponsored a dance. Not to be outdone the Sophomores and Juniors followed suit. Our first-term social season had as its climax the formal Christmas dance sponsored by the Student Council at the Casino Club on December 17 and attended by students of both junior and senior high school together with most of the faculty.

The conference of USAREUR Student Council representatives at Kaiserslautern in November was the first big event on our Student Council calendar. We were represented by our president, Louis Beauzay, and treasurer, Bill Brigante. Miss Kay is sponsor of our group which at Christmas welcomed gifts from the entire school which were then boxed and presented to our German personnel as a holiday "thank you". At about this time we received a letter from a group of German-American Exchangees inviting us to spend Sunday evening, December 20, at Bremen. We had a delightful evening learning their impression of the States and hearing what they had done there. We left, discussing plans for a return visit, and, are looking forward to a pleasant future relationship.

With the opening of the basketball season, the cheerleaders are planning their new uniforms and seeking means of raising money for them. This urgent matter is still getting attention as this year's Annual goes to press.

Sports

One of the main sporting events at Bremerhaven seems to be provided by the Germans. As we look out our windows we behold two groups of boys from the GYA kicking a ball back and forth on our football field. We are amazed at the agility with which they keep control of the ball and kick it into the backstop. We have received some very good lessons as spectators of this European game of soccer although it seems as though you'd need shins of iron to play the game. On the other hand the Germans tell us that our game of football seems to them a good preparation for combat. To them our game seems too rough and requires more strength and brutality than skill. When our class work is over for the day and we begin practicing basketball the Germans come and watch us through the windows or in the sidelines of the gym and so lessons are learned on both sides.

Before our basketball season officially opened, the Blackhawks had the opportunity to play several practice games with some of the intramural company teams of Bremerhaven. A very interesting practice game was played with a British high school team from the Prince Rupert High School in Wilhelmshaven. The Blackhawks' official season opened on January 15 when the squad went to Heidelberg. Other games are proposed with Wiesbaden and Frankfurt when we will be guests of both these high schools.

In the spring we are looking forward to having a track team. Also on the spring sports agenda are intramural games of softball and volleyball.

A winding road leads to...

Our Alma Mater

Winter comes to F. H. S.

Oh - Oh! He didn't duck!

EIGHT YEARS AT

As we consider the fact that Frankfurt High School is soon to be moved to a brand new building in another location, we look back on the events which make up the story of this school, the things which really make it our Alma Mater — its beginnings, little milestones and "firsts" along the way, its progress and growth up to the present.

Eight years ago, in October, 1946, a group of 185 American teen-agers met for the first time in classrooms equipped only with folding chairs and field tables which threatened to collapse on the slightest provocation, and sometimes did. Teachers improvised with whatever materials they could find until the scarce and precious textbooks and supplies began to trickle in.

The newly-opened Frankfurt American High School had a varied past. From its construction as a brand new German experimental school for modern educational techniques in 1933, it had gone through various phases as an officer's training school, a wartime field hospital, a warehouse, and finally, a school for dependents of American military personnel.

At first the dormitory girls were quartered in what is now the nurse's office, while the boys were billeted in the room being used by the music department. The teacher-supervisor slept in the teachers' lounge and each evening had to make the rounds all the way down the pitch black, icy halls to the farthest wing where the boys stayed. The joy was great when two requisitioned buildings in town provided more livable billets run by qualified guidance counselors. It was with real regret that our students from North Africa, Belgium, France, and the Netherlands bid us goodbye to transfer to newly built schools closer to their homes when the Frankfurt dormitories were de-requisitioned.

The Music Department, too, has enjoyed a colorful history. Who of the Frankfurt alumni will ever forget the memorable HMS Pinafore presented under the direction of Mr. Ralph Bowen in 1947? The first Zonewide spring music festival, held at the Frankfurt Casino in May 1951, marked another milestone. All the American high schools throughout Germany and France participated under the baton of Mr. Gilbert Morrissey, guest conductor. Arrangements and planning were ably handled by Miss Delta Barker, who also started the custom of taking the chorus "on the road" at Christmas. This year Miss Comeaux's chorus presented its Christmas concert at a German school, an unprecedented event which, we hope, will become a tradition.

"I'll meet you in the main hall..."

Another inter-school meet for which Frankfurt has been host is the exciting basketball tournament held annually in March since 1947. We have fought our way to the top several times, winning the basketball championship in 1951 and 1953. Other sports have brought trophies for Frankfurt as well; in 1953 we scored in track, golf and tennis. The excitement was great this year when our team went through an undefeated football season to the championship game with Munich to take second place after a heartbreaking thriller.

From our beginning as a school of 135 students, supplied with only the barest essentials, we have grown to a thriving group of 400, provided with modern desks and equipment, numerous clubs and extracurricular activities, a chapter of the National Honor Society, a working student government, and winning teams.

The building also has been improved, for the library, once located in what is now Mr. Crowder's outer office, occupies a bright, convenient place in the spacious new wing built only last year.

Because of our location in Europe, we shall probably never be able to return to visit these memory-filled halls, or to see again those teachers who have helped us more than we now realize. Nor is it probable that our class will ever be able to gather for a reunion to reminisce about the fun and work we have shared. But in our mind's eye we'll always look back with pleasure to the time when we were students in a foreign land, and this was our oasis of Americana. This is our Alma Mater!

There's a lot going on this weekend!

WE MEET THE PEOPLE

"We, the people" — little did we realize the implications of this great phrase when we were at home in the United States among those we had known all our lives. So much in the world today is said to be done "for the people". But just who are they? Your best friend or a favorite aunt or uncle? Your teacher or the minister at your church? If we will stop to think for a moment just whom we consider to be "the people", we will realize that this phrase includes everyone in the world, from the smallest boy to the oldest man, from the poorest family to the richest, from the native African to the Eskimo in Alaska. Human beings are the most important factor in our lives. Yet how much do we really know about the people we see around us every day? Do we have any idea why the chimney sweep wears a silk hat, why the Hamburger carpenters are seen traveling in every part of Germany, or why the Bavarians wear brushes on their hats? Are we ever interested enough to get more than a glimpse of the everyday life of those around us?

Because people will hold the top spot in our lives, no matter where we live, the annual staff of Frankfurt American High School has chosen "We Meet the People" as the theme for our 1954 yearbook.

Although customs, traditions, and dress sometimes make us seem very different outwardly, we have come to understand the fact that all human beings are basically alike. It is necessary for us to realize that everyone in the world has his own characteristics; to live together peaceably we must also live with those characteristics. People we once considered distant foreigners have become our next-door neighbors. Only when we learn to accept others as they are and to respect their customs will we truly be able to say that we know the people.

PARENT TEACHERS ASSOCIATION AIDS WORTHY PROJECTS

The Parent-Teachers Association proved to be an essential factor in the success of the 1953-1954 school year. Their financial aid and sympathetic interest made possible many things — the risers for the high school music department, the presentation of awards to the chorus, the annual football banquet, and various activities of the German American Club. For their generous aid and wholehearted support of the PTA, the students at Frankfurt High v to express sincere appreciation.

THE SCHOOL BOARD CONSIDERS LOGISTICS PROBLEMS

The School Board provides a link between the Frankfurt schools and the Frankfurt Municipal Detachment. Composed of various representatives of the military community, the school officer, and the principals of the schools, this group acts in an advisory capacity to the Commanding Officer.

SENIORS

CLASS OF '54 REVIEWS MEMORABLE YEAR

Our story starts thirteen years ago in kindergartens throughout the forty-eight states with fifty-seven girls and boys destined to cross the Atlantic Ocean and meet as members of the graduating class of 1954 at Frankfurt American High School. Little did we realize, during those years, that one day we would be walking down Eschersheimer Landstrasse and looking in windows labeled "Drogerie" and "Spielwaren" in a land of crumbling castles and silk-hatted chimney sweeps.

However on the eighth of September 1953, a convoy of olive-drab buses drove up in front of a modern-looking school building at the end of Bornheimer Hang. The drivers — Hans, Eric, and Fritz — opened the doors, and our class was officially born.

After the initial excitement of greeting old friends and meeting new ones, we settled down to a week of registration, testing, and guidance talks with Mr. Martin, the counselor, on curricula, credits, and colleges. Full of anticipation we started our schedule of classes which would prepare us for college or careers.

We shall never forget the thrill of riding third class to Munich and rooting for our marvelous "eleven" after Mr. Crowder had wrangled permission from the School Board; the surprise proposal that Miss Johnson made to our guest speaker; the attempted mutiny of the senior boys in favor of the Freshmen girls; singing "Auld Lang Syne" at the Christmas formal in honor of Chuck's and Buster's departure; the field trip to Rhein Main when our "Angel" was elected Miss Co-Pilot; our tenor's voice singing "Gesu Bambino" with deep feeling at Christmas time; the last minute rush to order class rings and the final looks of triumph when we received them; the ordering of corsages and the fitting of formals for our last and best dance of the year — the Junior-Senior Prom; Baccalaureate, and then the crowning event of our thirteen years of school, that proud moment when we walked down the aisle and received a diploma which ended our high school life and marked the beginning of a new one.

None of these events are important enough to turn the tide of world history; yet to us they will always be part of the laughter, the planning, the disappointments, and the success of our senior year. We shall always remember our graduation day as one of great happiness, yet sincere regret — happiness, because we have successfully completed our high school years; regret, because we are leaving the classmates and teachers with whom we have worked throughout the year. Our only consolation is the realization that we were, we are, and we always will be members of Frankfurt High's class of 1954.

JUNIORS REACH ANOTHER GOAL

We were upperclassmen at last. Our lives as juniors centered around two things — the prom and the money needed to finance it. "Make money!" was our motto and we lived up to it. In a great flurry of activity we sold thousands of hot dogs, pom-poms, cakes, "Beat Heidelberg" signs, and anything else we could get our hands on. A junior was easily identified by the dollar signs flashing in his eyes.

The Homecoming Dance and the Sock Hop were great financial and social successes. Remember the last minute rush as we scurried around, hanging crepe paper decorations, blowing up balloons, and preparing refreshments?

However busy with the various fund-raising projects we might have been, the class found time for many extra-curricular activities and produced a number of celebrities — homecoming attendants, athletic heroes, a maid of honor for the Prom, a Student Council secretary, and a cheerleader.

Lest you think we overlooked our studies completely, let us say that we managed to probe the mysteries of chemistry, untangle the mathematical maze of Algebra II, wade through The House of Seven Gables, and look 'em in the "whites of their eyes" at Banker Hill. In connection with our study of drama in English we took a field trip to the opera house where we saw the workrooms in which the sets, costumes, and other stage props are made, as well as the ballet practice room with its many mirrors.

In the years ahead when our class will scatter to the four corners of the world, we'll look back, now and then, to the time well spent at Frankfurt High and our junior year in Deutschland.

SOPHOMORES STEP UP

On September 8, 1953 the first gathering of the Sophomore Class took place in the big sprawling building at the end of Am Bornheimer Hang. Many of us who were new were bewildered by the seemingly endless country road which leads to Frankfurt High.

We found that we had acquired a new self-confidence that can only come from being a sophomore. No longer were we the green freshmen of last year. Even through the trying days of cooperative tests we sailed with the ease of veterans.

The memories of our classes will linger always in our minds, for who of us can forget the struggle to unravel the mysteries of the Pythagorean theorem or the dissecting of frogs in biology? We will always remember fighting the Battle of Hastings with Mr. Coss who invited us to "tune in tomorrow, same time, same place, for the next thrilling chapter." This is the year we waded through piles of knowledge. We had quite a struggle as amateur authors and research enthusiasts. History taught us of the Piltdown Man before we discovered him to be a hoax. "Operation Fraud" then began, in which we tried to convince our teachers that study should be abolished since all it did was to disprove well known facts. Our campaign was defeated, however, because of the superior offensive forces.

There was also a lighter side to our school activities. In sports, the class of '56 was well represented, while the rest of us turned out in full force to cheer them on. Our "Sock Hop" after the Bremerhaven game, and the crowning event of all, the Valentine's Dance which we sponsored, were both enjoyed by the whole school.

For each of us this year holds something a little different. But though many of us will not be here until we graduate, and members of our class may be scattered around the world, we will always be able to recall our sophomore year here in Germany with fond memories and sighs of "Ah, those were the days!"

FRESHMEN

FRESHMEN COMPLETE FIRST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

"What? One hundred thirty? Did you say there are that many freshmen in school this year?" — Everyone was surprised; but, none the worse for our initiation at the beginning of school, we plunged into making our large class one of the best.

We had reason to be proud with such able leaders to guide us. The Student Council representatives from the four homerooms were Beth Ann Alexander, Bobbie Clayton, Dick Howell, and Jim Millet. Naturally the "big wigs" weren't everything, and with our whole class willing and eager to help, we were bound to go places. It's hard to overlook the fact that two of Frankfurt's "mighty football Eagles" were Dan McCune and Mike Garrett and that we had potential "greats" whizzing around the floor during basketball season.

As for our accomplishments, we sponsored the Thanksgiving assembly and the March of Dimes talent show. At Christmas we all contributed generously in order to give a huge basket of food to a poor family. Showing our school-spirit, we organized a "Booster Club," the freshman version of the Pep Club, for which we had the help of our two freshman varsity cheerleaders, Anita Volz and Jody Falkner.

Nineteen hundred fifty-seven seems a long way off, but at the end of that year, when our class is scattered all over the globe, we will look back on our high school life and realize that our freshman year was undoubtedly one of the best.

One of the most important organizations at Frankfurt High School is the Student Council, the purpose of which is to organize and coordinate activities for the year and to set up the calendar of social events.

Experience in good government and responsible citizenship has always been a feature of this group. But this year, something new has been added — an hour a week for classes in leadership training under the guidance of the sponsor, Miss Matz.

Twice a year all American High schools in USAREUR send two Council representatives to a convention to discuss problems of student government and to evaluate the progress made during the year. In October Frankfurt High sent Mike Orr and Judy Scarbrough to Kaiserslautern to attend the first of the meetings and to exchange ideas with other high school representatives.

Many entertaining special assemblies and schoolwide campaigns, such as the Thanksgiving collection for the poor and the March of Dimes, were conducted through the Student Council. The highlight of the social activities sponsored by the group was the Christmas Formal, one of the most successful dances Frankfurt High has ever had.

At year's end, many of the campaign promises have become reality and the council has earned the respect and confidence of the student body.

Up four flights from Miss Long's apartment is a small unimposing room; here the Frankfurt section of our Erinnerungen was born. Many afternoons after school, members of the various staffs climbed the steps eagerly, chatted breathlessly for a few moments, then settled to work — planning our "dummy" and layouts, sorting photos, planning the features, writing the copy, sketching and inking the art work. Ever ready to lend a hand or give a word of advice, Miss Long and Miss Kramer, the advisers, skillfully guided the staff in performing their tasks. Happiest of all were the evenings when we fondly checked each finished page ready to turn in.

Not only was there the rush to get our own annual ready for the press, but Frankfurt High was host for the all-school Annual Conference which met in February. The billeting had to be provided and refreshments and entertainment had to be planned. At this conference, common problems of yearbook production were brought up and discussed. The dedication and farewell pages, state distribution page and inside cover were submitted by each school and voted upon. The best were finally selected, and after deciding the color of the "Erinnerungen" the all-day meeting adjourned.

Making posters for publicity and taking orders for the "Erinnerungen" was also a big job but what a sense of achievement we had when the book finally came out and how proud we were to see our work in print!

The brains behind the Frankfurt annual was the Editorial Staff:

"And after the 'Hokey Pokey', we'll speak only German for the next fifteen minutes."

Yes, you're right! That's a part of a German-American Club meeting, one of the most interesting and active clubs at FHS.

The GAC was formed during the school year of 1952 under the sponsorship of Miss Matz and Miss Sutton. The club membership is made up of twenty to twenty-five American youths and an equal number of German students.

The goal of the club is to promote better understanding and friendship between American and German teenagers. This mutual effort, though on a small scale, may prove quite important to both nations in the future.

Among the year's activities, these stand out most in our memories: Christmas carolling, exchange Sunday visits in churches and homes, the Fasching parade in Mainz, the boys' school chorus that visited us, our trip to one of the German schools, and our last dance — the Spring Formal.

In years to come, we can look back on these experiences and truthfully say, "We met the people."

Miss Sutton presents a problem for discussion to the members of the German-American Club.

Members of the club vote on a plan for a future meeting.

The goal towards which many students work throughout their high school years is membership in the National Honor Society. The highlight of the year is the solemn induction ceremony in the spring, when the new members in the chapter are named from among the seniors and juniors. Only those who are outstanding in character, service, leadership, and scholarship, the four points of the "measuring stick" of eligibility, are chosen from among the aspirants.

The group hopes to promote the healthy development of character, to provide a goal for ambitious students, to encourage high scholastic standards throughout the school, and to make students aware of their responsibility to the people around them.

A BIG NOTE IN FRANKFURT HIGH . . .

Always an important group in FHS is the Chorus, which sang forth this year with interest and enthusiasm under the able baton of Miss Comeaux.

The Thanksgiving program at school was our first appearance. But who among the sixty-five members can possibly forget the hours of preparation for the Christmas Concert, which was presented with such success at the high school, the hospital, P.T.A., and the Helmholtzschule.

After the holidays we worked steadily for the biggest event of the year — the annual Music Festival. We greeted old friends, met new ones, and experienced the thrill of singing with 500 American students from all over Europe.

Wherever a group of Frankfurt students gather you are sure to hear the click of a camera belonging to a Photography Club member. The beginners, under the sponsorship of Miss Herklotz, learn the basic essentials of good photography. In the meantime, Mr. Jarboe and the advanced members work with enlarging and developing to turn out some excellent pictures. These photography enthusiasts have been "on the job" all year, contributing many of their best snapshots to the annual staff. All of us realize how important pictures are to us now and how very much more they will mean in years to come when we look back on our high school years. The Photography Club has certainly made a great contribution to Frankfurt High this year.

As we read the latest news in sports, school, and social life, we realized what the hard-working members of the newspaper staff, under the guidance of Miss Brewton and Miss Wood, put into every edition of the Eagle's Echo.

Class reporters are on the job every day at class meetings and extracurricular activities. The sports reporters are seen at games intensely watching the plays that they report. The proofreaders and typists have the task of preparing copy for final publication. In spite of the hard work, the staff finds much enjoyment in covering the events at FHS, and the experience gained in journalism is invaluable.

What word is more prominent in our lives in Europe than "travel"? the keynote to our lives in Europe, the topic of our conversation and our means of entertainment and education?

Through the Travel Club, its members have learned that you do not need transportation to visit a town or country. The tales that other members relate, along with the slides and pictures they show, make us feel that we have really traveled all over the globe. Our discussions in the Travel Club bring us closer to peoples of other lands and help us to understand their customs, so that when we get a chance to meet the people we are able to approach them with real understanding.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

The way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Perhaps that is one of the reasons why girls join the Homemaking Club at Frankfurt High School. Under the supervision of Miss Osborn the club works on many projects which will aid them now as well as in later life. Credit is given for related projects done outside of school such as decorating, baking, cooking a meal or making a dress.

Many a student walking past the homemaking room views the typical scene of the girls at work or sniffs the delicious fragrance of a cake in the oven. This active club is not open for boys yet but in ten years, how they'll really appreciate this domestic club at FHS!

MICROSCOPIC MYSTERIES!

Mr. Bell's biology club has led its members to discover many interesting things about plants and animals. As microscope slides are made the student biologist learns of the minute animals that inhabit a drop of water. He dissects a crayfish and finds out what makes it tick. The chief purpose of the Biology Club is to encourage those who have a special interest in this fascinating field.

GIVEN TO PROVE . . .

The Plane Geometry Club, under Miss Scott's capable leadership, tries to interest students in further study of geometry as well as supplementing class work.

Meeting once a week, the club has various activities — practice surveying, construction and use of instruments, working unusual problems brought in by the students, and discovering fallacies in arguments — all of which help to lay the basis for the study of more advanced mathematics.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

Something new in the way of activities has been organized this year in FHS. Under the able sponsorship of Miss Pragman, the students decided to combine their knowledge, records, and talents to form a Music Appreciation Club.

Heated discussions crop up occasionally on the pros and cons of classical music versus jazz. Favorite records are played and reports given on topics of musical interest. Best of all, though, are the enjoyable evenings spent at operas and concerts which highlight the club's activities.

The high school spirit this year has really been tops, thanks to the five girls in black and gold, Anita Volz and Jane Falkner, two freshmen on the squad, have real Frankfurt spirit and their yelling can only be equaled by Carol Peddicord, who has really got pep and personality. Two years a cheerleader, Ruthie Hansen did more work than is realized to help organize this "Frankfurt Five." She and Janet Volz are seniors and co-captains of the squad, and much credit is due for their loyalty and continual backing of the Frankfurt

Eagle teams. Janet has been on the squad for four years and next year FHS will be minus a cheerleader who's really "got that spirit."

These girls never seem to lose their pep and energy — remember those foggy, rainy, football days when they cheered in mud, and the basketball nights when they were always on the floor with that familiar line — "All set? You bet!" Yes, we'll remember these five girls who really deserve the biggest cheer the school can give.

"BEAT HEIDELBERG!" Who of us hasn't heard that famous cry? When you do, look around and you're sure to find members of the Pep Club, those spirited junior and senior girls who have given their wholehearted support to the cheerleaders in backing up the team. Throughout the year they presented entertaining skits at pep assemblies and placed colorful posters in the halls urging the teams on to victory. The main event each year is the basketball tournament which demands much planning and energy. The club members play hostess to the visiting teams, arrange accommodations for students from schools all over Europe and provide for entertainment after the games. With our winning teams and the Frankfurt spirit at its best, these girls really prove to the coach and the team that they have the pep and the steam.

Among the many boys who participate in athletics at FHS, only a small number earn a letter. As a reward for their time, energy, and determination in the field of sports, the Lettermen's Club was organized as an honorary association which cultivates leadership and sportsmanship.

Such activities as the annual football banquet, several dances, and the all important awards assembly have gained the Lettermen's Club its paramount place in the hearts of all at FHS. The Black and Gold jacket, which is the emblem of the club, is one of the most respected and colorful in Germany.

FRANKFURT EAGLES SCORE HIGH

The Frankfurt Eagles ended a superior season November 13th with a record of five wins and one loss. The team started the season of six scheduled games by slipping by Kaiserslautern 12-0. Next was the rugged, hard-fought game with Stuttgart, played after many sleepless hours on the autobahn and a bus 'breakdown' near Heidelberg. The main difficulty in these and the following games was overcoming the eagerness to make a block or tackle and staying "on sides."

The squad took the Stuttgart eleven by the score of 19-6. Having drawn a bye the following week, the boys worked eagerly for the big game of the season with Heidelberg. This eagerness and consistent teamwork paid off in their overwhelming victory over the Heidelberg Lions by a score of 24-0. Thus, the Eagles defeated their arch-rivals for the first time in seven years of football.

The following week, after a "muddy skirmish," Wiesbaden fell prey to the hard blocking and tackling of the Eagles' line and the outstanding running and passing of our backfield.

The Nurnberg game was chosen to be Homecoming and therefore perhaps even more enthusiasm was shown in preparation. This spirit sent the boys to the showers with a spectacular 44-13 victory.

Finally, after a perfect season with five wins, the squad traveled to Munich for the USAREUR Championship game with the Mustangs. The teams being well matched, there were many outstanding plays and attempts to elude the opponents; however, only two TD's were scored by either team. The Eagles' weakness in converting the extra point was the deciding factor in the final score, 14-12. The team will not forget the great leadership and coaching of Mr. Bownes and his assistant, Mr. Jarboe.

FRANKFURT EAGLES SOAR HIGH

"All we want from you is lots of baskets, BASKETS, BASKETS!" The Eagles rocked back from last year's record of fifteen wins and no losses to take the Warriors of Wiesbaden by a score of 63-33 in the first game of the '54 season. Again the arch rival Lions of Heidelberg fell prey to the Eagles to make the season complete and bring our record wins to seventeen. The following game at Kaiserslautern proved to be the most exciting one of the year with three overtimes and a "sudden death," but it ended in the first loss for the Black and Gold by a score of 59-57.

The following week the somewhat stunned Eagles played host to the Nurnberg five on Friday and Munich on Saturday. The team eased by Nurnberg to whip the Mustangs by the overwhelming score of 86-39. Many members of the veteran football team were present at the game and had somewhat of a consolation for their shortcomings last fall.

Two weeks later, in spite of semester exams and eligibility difficulties, the team traveled to Stuttgart to rack up a score of seventy points to their opponents' fifty-six.

Bremerhaven also fell to the eagles to finish the first half of the round robin on top of the league with a 6-1 standing. Having been successful thus far in the season, the Eagles rolled on to complete an equally successful second half and make a fine showing in the March tournaments.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

Having written the following document with sane brain and happy heart, we, the class of 1954, do hereby make our last will and testament.

To the future graduates of F.H.S., we leave our good times in school, the fun at dances and games, and the work too, which kept our days busy and full.

Our thanks and goodbyes go to the faculty, who helped us to become better people, and provided friendship as well as guidance throughout the year. Our thoughts turn especially to our senior advisers, Miss Kramer and Miss Brewton, and we leave our best wishes for the future to these two teachers who have helped make our 1953-54 year the best ever!

I, CHUCK BARLOW, leave my ability to ride to Heidelberg on a 10 pfennig Bahnsteig ticket to Jackie Hammond.

I, EVA BEDO, will my third class train ride from Stuttgart to all the boys on the basketball team in hopes that they don't get blisters sitting on the bench.

I, BETSIE BELL, leave my chipped tooth to the Hanau Teenage Club with fond memories.

I, HARRY BOLICK, leave my autographed arm cast to the Munich football team in hopes that they can use it in the 1955 Munich-Frankfurt game.

I, BOB BRYANT, will my track shoes and my wool socks with the hole in the toe to Mr. Bownes with the subtle hint that we need some new equipment.

I, RICK BURLEY, will my position on the basketball squad to anyone who likes to see the game up close.

I, BETTY CAMPBELL, leave, still saying, "Have you got any gum?"

I, BOB CASTLE, will my number "five" basketball jersey to the captain of next year's team.

I, CAROLYN CONNETT, leave a letter of recommendation with Frankfurt High in hopes that it helps the new students of next year.

I, EDDIE COOK, leave my cigarette ration to Coach Bownes.

I, STELLMAN COVELL, will my size eleven shoes to anyone who thinks he can fill them.

I, CAROL DAEHLER, will my flirting ability to Nancy Oliver who's been begging me for it all year.

I, LINDA DOANE, will my pretty brown eyes to the team mascot, Monster McDormitory, who lost his during football season.

I, PAT DOYLE, will my arguing zest and debating ability to Anita Herb.

I, DAVE DUNNING, leave my "Double Kings X" to Dick DeCamp, who will probably need it next year in football.

I, HUGH ERSKINE, will my long eyelashes to Virginia Perez to use when her eyelash curler makes all hers fall out.

I, JEAN FERGUSON, leave my short hair to all the boys with upsweeps, waves, and ducktails.

I, JOAN FROST, leave my prima Deutsch accent to all the unsuspecting German II classes.

I, WILMA GAITO, bequeath my infectious giggle to the Rhein Main bus so they won't miss me next year.

I, JEANETTE GARRETT, leave my high school life to become Walt's wife.

I, MARILYN GERKEN, will Bill Moomaw a broom to sweep up his broken chemistry test tubes.

I, BOB GRIFFIN, leave my pegged pants to Richard Peddicord along with instructions on how to wear them.

I, PAT GORMAN, leave to Margaret Phillips my secret formula for doing away with the theory "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

I, DONNA GONNELLA, leave my dangling earrings to Trink Johnson to add to her collection.

I, FRANCES HAMPTON, will Ernie Laflamme a bottle of my peroxide.

I, RUTHIE HANSEN, will my yellow shoestrings and Monster McDormitory to the F.H.S. trophy case.

I, DON HATCH, will my experiences on the link trainer at Rhein Main to Miss Co-Pilot of 1954.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

- I, ROY HEATH, will my ability to tell tall tales to Rod Casey.
I, FRITZIE HERNDON, will the Senior boys to next year's Freshmen girls.
I, BAB-O HERB, will my daily banana to Ollie Olsen to go along with his monkey laugh.
I, PAT JONES, leave my grey suede shoes to Tome Thompson to match his pegged pants.
I, PAT LAWDER, am WILLing to leave.
I, BARBARA MEINARDUS, bequeath my leather briefcase to Mona Fox so she can carry her lunch to school next year and beat the noon hour rush.
I, DAVE McBROOM, leave my glasses to Miss Johnson to use while correcting her "Memorial" Government tests.
I, CHRISTINE MURRAY, leave my eternal sniffles to Jerry Borders along with the challenge of getting rid of them during her stay in Deutschland.
I, MIKE ORR, will my gavel to next year's Student Council president.
I, MARCIE PEARLS, bequeath to Beth Hines my stack of calorie books with the hope that she will gain as much from them as I.
I, BONNIE PETERSON, leave my height to Mike McCurdy.
I, VAUNDA REED, will my petite frame to Don Hesch.
I, ROB REID, leave my little brother, Larry, to next year's football team.
I, CHUCK REYNOLDS, leave all my molody sayings to Bob Fisk who needs some new material.
I, ROBB ROBBINS, will next year's seniors the best year of their lives.
I, MIKE ROUSSEAU, will Mead Marshall my three dimensions which broke the camera during the taking of the annual pictures.
I, GEORGIA SANDBACK, will my Giessen bus ride to those people who just naturally arise at 5:30 a. m.
I, KARL SANTONE, leave my curly locks to the girls who run around school with straight hair after gym class.
I, JUDY SCARBROUGH, bequeath my dimples to Miss Kramer so she'll have two pairs.
I, JANICE SEVERE, leave my driver's license to all the boys still waiting to "come of age."
I, EILEEN SKILLMAN, bequeath my long hair to Marilyn Whales.
I, HUGH SOCKS, will my bell-bottomed trousers to all the "cats" who wear their pants pegged.
I, SHARON STACKHOUSE, leave my soprano seat in chorus to my sister, Pat.
I, PHIL STAPLETON, will the presidency of the fourth period Government class to Claude Langas in hopes that he can carry on the great French tradition of government regulation.
I, PAT TOTH, will my four years in F. H. S. to one of next year's "tourists."
I, JANET VOLZ, will a bottle of "stink perty" to the boys in solid geometry class.
I, BOB WEST, leave my Colgate smile to Jim Warren so he can look pretty in all his annual pictures next year.
I, BILL WEST, will "THE" Lettermen's paddle to Frankfurt High's posterity and next year's initiations.
I, JIM WILLIS, leave my cheerleading ability to a member of next year's football squad.
I, GAIL WOOD, leave my plaid glasses to Dave Radike.
I, PAT YOUNG, leave nothing; I'm taking it all with me.
Sincerely hoping we have also left fond memories, we say farewell to school and "hello" to the world!

Seniors give Traditional Orientation Assembly

SENIORS SPONSOR FIRST ASSEMBLY

FRANKFURT, September 25 — During the first hectic weeks of school-wide testing, returning seniors busily prepared for their first public appearance, the purpose of which was to acquaint new students and freshmen with the extra-curricular life of Frankfurt High School. Chandler Robbins, the master-of-ceremonies, introduced the speakers who summarized briefly the activities of the major clubs and organizations. An illustrated school calendar by Pat Lawder helped to give the audience a good idea of what to expect and better enabled them to select the activities they would most enjoy.

CARNIVAL IS COMPLETE SUCCESS

FRANKFURT, November 1 — The mammoth money-making project of the year was the PTA Halloween Carnival held at the Athletic Field on October 31 and November 1, 1953.

Among the entertainment provided were the ferris wheel, the spook house, games of skill and chance, hot dog stands, a merry-go-round and a dance at the Field House.

Many of the workers at the Carnival were high school students, their parents, and their teachers. Every one entered into the spirit of the occasion and all had a wonderful time, whether they were just there to spend their money or to work.

The $ 1500 earned will go toward the financing of many worthy school projects such as special awards to the music and athletic departments, kindergarten equipment, school playgrounds, and special supplies.

BULLETIN: Members of the Junior Class would like to urge all students to buy their used pom-poms now, while they are still in stock. These pom-poms are offered at a "give-away" price reduction and are just like new, with the exception of a few coke stains acquired at the Tournaments. Buy NOW!

FLY BOYS "CLUE IN" SENIOR CLASS

The Air Force uses Eddie Cook for a model!

RHEIN MAIN, November 19 — The Rhein Main Field trip taken by the seniors proved to be one of fascination and interest. The class was met by Lt. Colonel Evans, public information officer, who outlined a full program for the day. Colonel Bishop, Commander of Rhein Main Air Base, gave a short speech of welcome and introduced the company commanders.

A short movie reviewed recent maneuvers and gave us an idea of the many operations carried on by the Air Force. Eddie Cook provided many laughs when he was chosen as the guinea pig to demonstrate a survival suit. Soon afterwards the tour of the air base began.

A few of the most interesting parts of the trip were the tour of a flying boxcar, the visit to the weather station, reviewing the parachute building and the dizzy piloting of many students in the link trainer. No one will forget the delicious meal at the mess hall and the hospitality of the Rhein Main officers in making the day a complete success.

TURNABOUT BRINGS BIG TURNOUT

FRANKFURT, October 1953 — Two buses transported 50 American teenagers from Frankfurt High School to the Rhein Main ice-skating rink on an October afternoon which has gained national recognition as "Sadie Hawkins Day."

The Frankfurt girls had asked their favorite beans to the day's activities and their only regret was the fact that it was the girls' turn to pay. After a day of wobbling ankles, rosy cheeks, and much fun, the buses transported the happy crowd back to Frankfurt. Sadie Hawkins Day was just beginning. The girls called on the boys around 7:00 with corsages of radishes, pickles, lettuce, and much to the boys' dismay and the girls' delight, ONIONS. To start things off at the Teen Club, a conga-line was formed which wound in and out of all the rooms to the tune of "Go Mighty Eagles."

After a few slow dances, the boys' hints became impossible to ignore and the girls got out the box lunches that they had so carefully prepared. Blankets were spread on the floor picnic style, salt was passed around, and coke bottles were quickly emptied. In between mouthfuls, full reports were given on the progress of the Army-Navy game by an ardent Army fan who was huddled in the corner with a portable radio.

By the time the couples had completed a broom dance, a multiplication dance, the Hokey-Pokey, a game of Spin-the-Bottle, and passed a lifesaver on a toothpick down four rows of laughing participants, the hands of the clock brought the day of gala activities to an end.

LOYAL "EAGLE" BACKERS TRAVEL TO MUNICH GAME

MUNICH, November 13 — Distance proved no obstacle to the 25 Frankfurt students who traveled to the last and most important game of the gridiron season held on November 13th at Munich.

The rooters for the Black and Gold, though huddled together because of the cold, waved banners, cheered, and sang throughout the game. The weather didn't dampen their spirits, and they yelled until the very last second, walking off the field still protesting that the Frankfurt Eagles were "über alles."

It was a close, exciting contest, and the hoarse and sleepy students rode back on the train with a feeling of contentment for the support they had able to furnish their team.

Coach Bownes announces that the USAREUR-wide basketball tournament will be held on March 11—12—13.

HOLIDAY DANCE IS OUTSTANDING SUCCESS

Students pass along the buffet table at the Christmas Formal.

FRANKFURT, December 18 — The Student Council of Frankfurt High School highlighted their activities of the year with the presentation of the Christmas Dance — "Winter Wonderland." The dance was attended by approximately 150 high school students and returning alumni. Among the guests honored at the dance were General and Mrs. Herren, Colonel and Mrs. Blandford, Mr. and Mrs. Castle, Colonel and Mrs. Orr, and two college students from Persia. The vice-president of the Student Council, Bob Castle, acted as Master of Ceremonies and was highly complimented on his excellent handling of the program. The orchestra and the singer were acquired through the Casino where the dance was held. Students of Frankfurt High arranged the tables and decorated them with branches of greens, white candles, place cards, and favors. The atmosphere was enhanced by the gaily colored dresses and the candy-striped dance cards which were designed by Pat Lawder.

The dance was concluded at 12:00 and provided a delightful opening to the 1953 Christmas season.

TWO SENIORS HAVE READY-MADE CAREERS

FRANKFURT, December 1953 — "They're engaged, they're seniors and there are two of them at Frankfurt High this year!" When Fritzie Herndon and Marilyn Gerken surprised us with sparkling rings and proud smiles, the halls echoed with our oh's and ah's of approval. To these girls we wish all the happiness possible for the future.

SENIOR MISS BECOMES MRS.

FRANKFURT, November 14 — On November 14, 1953, Jeanette Garrett was married to Corporal Walt Hagler in the first wedding of a member of the class of '54.

The ceremony was performed at Christ Chapel by Chaplain Frost. The bride wore a white silk dress with matching hat and gloves and carried a spray of sweetpeas. Her maid of honor, Pat Lawder, wore a lovely princess dress of blue taffeta.

A reception was given by Colonel and Mrs. Garrett, parents of the bride, before the happy couple left on their honeymoon.

YOUR ROVING REPORTER

F. H. S. (Special) — To those who are no longer attending school, the life and activities of a student seem so carefree and happy — not a thing to worry about. Recently we visited the hallowed halls of F. H. S. to see what the students were up to and found a lot of serious work and fun going on.

As we stepped into World History class the other day with a few seniors who had not taken the course in their sophomore year, Mr. Coss began to reenact Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo, dramatically pacing to and fro, putting the dates and data across in an extremely interesting manner.

Parliamentary procedure is used in conducting Miss Johnson's American Government classes; as we slipped into our seats, a very official-looking senior, one of the democratically-elected officers, called the class to order, shushing several enthusiastic class members with the help of the sergeant-at-arms, who had just finished chasing two bees out the back window. After studying our government's organization and activities, working on their ten-page current-event theme, and taking "memorial" tests, the students have accomplished quite a bit this year.

When we attempted to enter Miss Kramer's English class, wild cries and clanking sounds met our ears — not mutiny, just an original enactment of Macbeth's battle scene. It seems that the study of this play, with its "carousing" gate attendant, ranks as the most memorable event in the opinion of most seniors. The classes have really been buzzing with oral reports, book reviews, grammar and literature discussions, and the April term paper.

Continuing our tour, we walked into an orderly beehive of activity; Miss Scott's junior chemists were experimenting with sulphur. Though there was no need to tiptoe cautiously, we felt a bit apprehensive; perhaps the brainchild of an amateur Einstein would explode, sending us scurrying for gas masks or fresh air.

The familiar sound of singing voices lured us down the hall into Miss Comeaux's music room to listen as the chorus practiced numbers for the Music Festival. Behind the scene these singers really work, raising their voices in harmony, preparing the songs we all enjoy hearing so much.

After roaming around and observing the classes in session, we felt that this has been a rather busy year, one to remember for a long time. School life isn't all effort and no fun, is it?

GRADUATION DATE TENTATIVELY SET FOR JUNE 9

FRANKFURT, May 1954 — Preparations are in full swing as the seniors of FHS busily try on caps and gowns for the big day which is set for the 9th of June.

During refreshments at the Annual Conference students discuss publication problems.

CELEBRATION FETES FOOTBALL TEAM

FRANKFURT, November 6 — The forecast for Friday, November 6, 1953 was clear and mild; FHS was aglow with cheers and preparation for the long awaited Big Day which was to be a "first" in Frankfurt; the team had been in strict training for two weeks since their last victory over Wiesbaden and was ready to stand up against Nurnberg. Sparked by the combined efforts of Captain and quarterback Jim Willis and fullback Bob West, the Frankfurt Eagles set a lead of 14 points early in the first quarter. Late in the second quarter, after a series of kicks had been exchanged, the co-captain and right halfback, Harry Bolick, received a Nurnberg punt and raced 80 yards for the final score of the half. The second half saw many outstanding players, both defensive and offensive, among which were Dave Dunning, Bob Reid, and Bill West. Through the efforts of the team, FHS was able to sustain an attempt of the opponents to score in the last few minutes to bring the final score to 43-13. The tired but happy players left the field looking forward to the Homecoming Dance that night.

The senior players had given their sponsors beautiful black and gold flowers at the pep assembly that morning and the Pep Club had produced a skit and a song using all the players' names. Janet Volz was elected Homecoming Queen by the team and was crowned that night by Mr. Crowder. After the coronation of the King and Queen, there was a gala dance at the Teenage Club where the students enjoyed refreshments and music by a German band. This brought to a close another wonderful day in the lives of the American teenagers in Frankfurt.

SUCCESSFUL ANNUAL CONFERENCE HELD

FRANKFURT, February 5 — On Friday, February 5, 1954, Frankfurt was host for the sixth USAREUR Annual Conference attended by 46 students and faculty sponsors from fourteen schools in Germany and France.

Miss Long opened the meeting at 9:30 a.m. with a welcome and a short program by Miss Comeaux's quartet. The business of the day — choosing the dedication, farewell, end pages, and state distribution — was led by Dee Allgeier, elected student chairman of the conference. Selection of the yearbook color, discussions of publication problems, and suggestions for future annuals highlighted the afternoon session.

From all reports, the Frankfurt seniors, in charge of billeting and entertaining, did a creditable job. A Friday night movie, innumerable snack bar chats, shopping jaunts, and an informal party at Pat Lawder's kept the conferees busy until departure time.

Heidelberg

Erinnerungen an Heidelberg

We feel that our school has a history of which we can be proud. Originally we were located in the new addition of Heidelberg University, but the following year lack of space moved us across the Neckar River to the Bunsen School. This had been a college for German teachers and had been built from funds donated by Robert Wilhelm Eberhard Bunsen, inventor of the famous Bunsen burner. It was 1947 when American Occupation forces converted it into a school for dependents of American personnel living in Heidelberg, Mannheim, Karlsruhe and Stuttgart.

With the beginning of the school year 1948-49 our school was renamed in honor of George W. Orford, former director of administration and personnel of the dependents school division.

At first the entire school and boys' dorm was located in one building, but in 1948 the first four grades were moved to another, larger building across the street. The following year saw grades one through six plus the boys' dorm situated there.

The beginning of 1952 found us in the beautiful, new, modern school across the river in "Little America", in which it is now our pleasure to be located. In our opinion our school is as good as any stateside, and surpasses most. It seemed certain that this school would be sufficiently large to hold our ever-growing student body for a long time to come. But even a school as large as ours was found lacking in room, and construction was begun on a new annex, which is now being occupied by the Junior High.

Our principals have been Miss Baxter, Miss Linck, Mr. Ahee, and finally our present head, Mr. Lohela, formerly one of our teachers.

We hope that our graduates, many of whom we are confident will prove worthy additions to the world, will some day look back in their old school annual and remember their eventful, fun-filled days at Heidelberg High.

Ich hab' mein Herz in Heidelberg verloren, in einer lauen Sommernacht;
Ich war verliebt bis ueber beide Ohren
Und wie ein Roeslein hat ihr Mund gelacht.
Und als wir Abschied nahmen vor dem Tore,
da habe ich es klar erkannt,
Dass ich mein Herz in Heidelberg verloren.
Mein Herz, das schlaegt am Neckarstrand.

In the Lion's Den

In the Fall of 1950, we, who had come from all parts of the world, and would someday be the full grown Lions of the class of '54, came as slightly bewildered cubs to our first pack meeting with the Lions of Heidelberg High School. We were unaccepted fledglings at first, and, like all cubs, had to undergo the rigors of initiation, the first of many growing pains. With the end of initiation we were ready to take part in the life of the pack. We began by electing Gay Burkett the president, Gordon Piper the vice-president, and Gini Snetzer the secretary-treasurer. Later in the year, we had our freshmen "Hard Times" party and in December, our newly formed basketball team went to Stuttgart, with their coach, Mr. Lohela, only to lose by a rather lopsided score.

We waxed literary for the Dads' Club Citizenship Essay Contest and walked away with three of the four prizes.

1951-1952

A year later, we were still cubs, but a little bigger, a little more learned, and a great deal more active. Leader of our den was Charles Maxwell and co-leader, Charles Harrison, Jack Ferriek recorded our activities and Gay Burkett handled the den's funds. This proved to be our sportive year. Sally Brown and Dacia Custer, as cheerleaders, led the Lion roars at all our games. Our sophomore basketball team lost to the seniors by a score of 63-49, but came back to tear them to pieces in the second game, 53-49. Lenny Katsarsky and Ludlow Adams were among the greats on the Championship Football Team of Heidelberg. By the end of this year, our number had increased from forty-eight to eighty and...

When we returned in September of 1952, we came as Junior Lions. But during the summer some of our members had moved on to other dens and as we started the new year, most of the faces were unfamiliar. However, before many days had passed, these faces became well known to us, and we were soon working together as if we were long time friends.

Our goal for this year was the Junior-Senior Prom. We were on the prowl for bigger and better fund-raising activities. Harry Foster, our president; Bob Dey, our vice-president; and Jack Ferriek, our secretary, led the attack and Mike Coder took care of the money we accumulated via cake sales, a carnival, dances, and refreshment sales at pack functions.

Sally and Dacia were joined on the squad by Beki McWilliams. Our enthusiastic roars were a threat to any challenger.

By this time, we were almost full-grown, ready to take our places at the head of the pack.

So we came once more to gather at H. H. S. In 1954 we were ready to lead. Mighty Lions, now, we had exchanged the purrs of a few years back for the growls of self-confidence we would need in the years to come. We chose as our leaders: Miles Henderson, president; Glen Mease, vice-president; Rita Wycoff, secretary; and Ace Evans, treasurer. Miles also led the Pack Council. Rita Wycoff and Skip Davis joined the cheering squad, and many of us were active on the football and basketball teams.

In December we sponsored the Snow Ball in the auditorium. Sue Doran reigned as queen and we all had a marvelous time!

As graduation nears, we realize how swiftly the years have gone. Never again will we see Heidelberg High School exactly as we see it now. When we receive our diplomas and the last strains of Pomp and Circumstance fade into the shadows of memory, we leave all that we have loved, belonged to, and grown up with, behind. Our thanks, gratitude and appreciation are given to our sponsors, teachers, and parents as we bid Heidelberg High a fond, but sad farewell.

Class Will of 1954

WE, THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1954, BEING OF SOUND MIND AND BODY, DO HEREBY DECLARE THIS TO BE OUR LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT.

- I, Carol Bellamy, leave my way with the men to Marta Martin.
- I, Gymee Bellamy, leave my tableslapping habit to Cindy Moore.
- I, Juanita Bradley, leave my drum to the Heidelberg Lions.
- I, Ray Burgamy, leave my manly ways to Ed Berry.
- I, Bobby Carlson, leave my aggressiveness with the girls to Jim Arthur.
- I, Frank Carrejo, leave my beautiful hair to Ginger Thrash.
- I, Glenda Casey, leave my grace to Barbara Hayes.
- I, Sally Coulson, leave my injured muscle to anyone who wants it.
- I, Geraldine Cronkite, leave to Eleanor Smith all the fun of being busy.
- I, Skip Davis, leave my passion for Paris to all young lovers.
- I, Kathy Dennis, leave my model's figure to Maureen Bensak.
- I, Ginny Diestel, leave my typewriter to my sister, Dotty.
- I, Carrol Dlugosch, leave my Fullerbrush hair-do to Gary Evans.
- I, Sue Doran, leave to my sister, Diane, my graduation gown, in hopes that her class won't have as much trouble getting them as did the Class of '54.
- I, Juanita Easterly, leave my quiet nature to Shirley Fladeland.
- I, Nick Emery, leave each future bachelor, the comforts of home in one of my harem palaces in Siberia.
- I, Ace Evans, leave my five o'clock shadow to Mark Smith.
- I, Lela Foltz, leave my suggestions to the faculty.
- I, Bob Gall, leave my golfing ability to Jack Barlow.
- I, Barbara Green, leave my ability to frolic while still a Senior to Rose Nixon.
- I, Bill Hall, leave my casanova ways to Don Parsons.
- I, Sally Harris, leave my naturally curly hair to Louise Vigneras.
- I, Miles Henderson, leave before I'm called back.
- I, Chad Henry, leave my artistic ability to the Art Department.
- I, Odeen Hensly, leave cheering.
- I, Bob Hoagland, leave my intelligent remarks to my brother, Bill.
- I, Jim Holland, leave my crazy trumpet to "blow-hard" Mills.
- I, Barbara Houston, leave to my sister, Yvonne, my ability to put up with Nick Emery.
- I, Evelyn James, leave my lieutenants to Audrey Bush.
- I, Sue Johnson, leave the Alabama sun to Heidelberg.
- I, Roberta Kennard, leave my ability to sprechen Deutsch to Bev Brooks.
- I, Charles Levendosky, leave my acting ability to Mr. Neumann.
- I, Lorriane Lewis, leave my ability to make faux pas to the Freshmen.
- I, Dave McCulloch, leave my chivalrous ways to the Junior boys.
- I, Beki McWilliams, leave my hours of fencing with Herr Goldhagen to the next good looking girl in the front row.
- I, Marlene Meadows, leave my Teen Age Club Presidency to Carlo Walker in hopes that he survives it better than I.
- I, Glen Mease, leave my everpopular nose to Mr. Condley who doesn't really need it.
- I, Gene Meder, leave all the boots at the Zillertal to Joe Hutchison.
- I, Irene Novotney, leave my slinky walk to Carolyn James.
- I, Ed Plitt, leave my ability as a lover to "Digger" Lundak.
- I, Barbara Pottieger, leave my gentle manner to Mr. Folino.
- I, Suzy Pryce, leave my expressive voice to Mrs. Burks.
- I, Richard Quandrad, leave my personality to anyone who doesn't have one.
- I, Sandra Radcliffe, leave my Honor Society pin to Peggy Chase.
- I, Judy Reed, leave my ability to be tardy to Duke Becker.
- I, Mike Rohaly, leave the big wheel of the school to any ambitious Junior who wishes to give it a turn.
- I, Maritza Romans, leave my extra year of high school to Ruby Romans.
- I, Roger Rowan, leave my partiality for brunettes to Don Parsons.
- I, Stan Rutkowski, leave my way with the ladies to Pete Pederson.
- I, Steve Rutkowski, just leave.
- I, Carol Sartain, leave my Lions roar to Caroline Emery.
- I, Gus Schomburg, leave a bag of cement to harden soft Freshmen.
- I, Joan Schubert, leave my freckles to Suzy Burkes.
- I, Libby Shinn, leave my lost curls to Bob Pegg.
- I, Loretta Skeath, don't leave anything because I'm taking it all with me.
- I, Fred Sladen, leave my muscles to Gary Atterbarry.
- I, Glanda Springfield, leave laughing.
- I, Paula Turnbull, leave to the Junior Class my press notices.
- I, Bob Van Horn, leave Heidelberg High School.
- I, Yvonne Vigneras, leave my French accent to Mr. Hille.
- I, Pat Weber, leave my sober personality to any flightly Freshman.
- I, Barbara Wheaton, leave my sultry ways to the Casbah.
- I, David White, leave my enthusiasm as basketball manager to all future athletic supporters.
- I, Barbara Williams, leave my gracious mannerisms to Robin Palmer.
- I, Joan Willoughby, leave my eyelashes to "Harvey".
- I, Bruce Woodworth, leave "Bevo Francis" to Coach Stakkstad.
- I, Rita Wycoff, leave my purple tights to Mary Ann Curtis.
- I, Frances Fields, leave one bottle of peroxide to anyone who can make as successful use of it as I.
- I, Pat Pruitt, leave my southern accent to Hilda.

Into the future-

Mr. Lohela, the retired old principal of Heidelberg High, hobbled out on his front porch to pick up the morning newspaper. The date at the top of the paper read: January 20, 1994. In big bold print the headlines were – Miles Henderson to be Innaugurated today. Mr. Lohela sat back in his chair and began to reminisce to himself – “Why that lad graduated from Heidelberg High in the class of ’54 and now just look where he is!” As Mr. Lohela read on through the newspaper, he found several more familiar names. Here is what he read:

EVANS IS STARRY-EYED

Today Lt. Gen. Robert Gall will pin the second star on the dignified shoulders of Gen. Arthur Evans. Attending the ceremony will be many of his fellow classmates from the Military Academy – Col. Dluglosh, Col. Meder, Col. McMahon, and Admiral Woodworth. We hope his able chauffeur, Pvt. Ray Bergamy, will be able to get the General there in good condition amidst all the excitement. Unfortunately Col. David McCulloch will be unable to attend the event because he is sojourning in Casablanca on a honeymoon with his second wife, the former Miss Virginia Diestel.

UNITED NATIONS SCHEDULED NEXT WEEK

Among the notables present will be Count Nicholas Emery, La Countess Sapin from France (the former Miss “Skip” Davis), Sir Chadwick Weatherford Henry of Great Britain, Baroness Lorraine Von Lewis of Germany, and Dr. Roger Rowan – the United States envoy. Mrs. Rauptikestihaky (formerly Miss Phil Harris) – will be paid $ 1000 per day as translator due to her mastery of 36 languages.

SCHOMBURG MAKES SECOND MILLION

Mr. August Schomburg has just made his second million, this time in the diamond mines of South Africa. After graduation from Colorado Mines Institute, he went to Peru where he became wealthy in mineralogical probings.

HOLLAND WRAPS UP SPY RING

Mr. James Holland, the notorious lawyer, just closed the case of the Smugglers Ring. This heroic piece of detective work will certainly go down in history. He was assisted by a beautiful blonde F. B. I. worker, Miss Barbara Wheaton.

GRAND OPENING FOR WACKELBURG MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

This hospital is privileged to welcome to its staff honorary nurses from such hospitals as Walter Reed and John Hopkins. Of these shall be the noted Miss Susie Pryce, Miss Barbara Houston, Miss Joan Schubert, and Miss Barbara Green. In the basement of this hospital will be a special animal clinic. The head veterinarian will be Dr. Susan Johnson. In the left wing of this hospital will be a modern laboratory. Here two outstanding Doctors of Science – Dr. Richard Quanrud and Dr. Charles Levendosky – will devote their talents to the “Nuferocious LIONitis”, the disease which is now sweeping the country. This laboratory was donated by the Multimillion dollar Plitts Typewriter Co., Inc.

ROHALY'S HAVE THIRD SET OF TWINS

Mrs. Rita Rohaly gave birth to her third set of twins today. She convinced Mike, a year ago, to give up his coaching position at Northwestern and settle down in Texas. There they immediately discovered an oil well.

As Mr. Lohela turned to the Sports Section his attention was caught by:

MEASE POUNDS OUT VICTORY TEAM AGAIN

Penn State again won the Big Ten Conference under the splendid training of Coach Glen Mease. The star quarterback, Bill Hall, carried the ball a record breaking 999 yards to climax a glorious career with his 121st touchdown. The great calamity of the game was when Steve Rutkowski, the "terrific tackler" was accidentally intercepted by his brother, Stan, the waterboy, who unfortunately slipped on an orange peel.

"Enough of the Athletic section. I wonder if any of my students have hit Broadway. I remember some of them were aspiring Thespians," reflected Mr. Lohela. And he found —

SKYROCKETING SUCCESS OF NEW BROADWAY HIT

The fabulous star, Rebecca McWilliams, portrays Olivia in the revived melodrama "Over the Neckar", under the direction of Mr. Robert Carlson. Miss Sally Coulson plays the part of the jealous sister, Roberta. The play is having unusual success. Standing room only.

CARNEGIE HALL PRESENTS DORAN AND VIGNERAS

These two world-famous pianists will perform a concert of their smash-hit two piano arrangements. They will open with "Chop Sticks" and close with "Klazzhassukipy Concerto No. 403". Immediately after their performance they will leave for a concert tour of Europe. Attention autograph fans — the stars will devote ten minutes of their precious time for autographs at the left wing door following the performance.

SPECIAL OCCASION AT STORK CLUB

Tonight for your special enjoyment you may dance to the smooth rhythm of "Dave White and his Eighth Notes", featuring Fred Sladen on his craazy drums. We are especially privileged in having this group as they were recently picked as the Number One Band of the Land.

SUIT AGAINST ACTRESS

The beautiful Caky Kate Dennis in being sued by her studio for failure to dye her lovely tresses green. At present she is on tour in Europe with Lovely Lela and Luscious Libby and it is rumored that they are ending all their troubles and settling permanently in Heidelberg, Germany.

Turning to the Television page he read —

LEADING EVENTS ON TELEVISION

6:30 — Morning Pick-up — Jill Carson, calisthenics authority, demonstrates proper push-up technique for bigger and better muscles.

10:00 — Bleeding Hearts — Advice to the lovelorn given by experienced Lorreta Skeath.

11:00 — The Great Adventure — cooking expert, Judy Read, prepares Hungarian Goulash on a Bunsen Burner.

3:00 — Jazz Jems — Latest song hits spun by disc-jockey Hoagy Hoagland with special guests as Miss Cronkite's second grade class will present "We're the Mighty Lions", accompanied on the piano by Mademoiselle Juanita.

8:00 — Culture Vultures — discussion of art and journalism led by Gymee Bellamy and Glenda Casey.

As the pages slid to the floor, Mr. Lohela was lost in memories of earlier escapades of his former students. "No sir", he thought, "They just don't make 'em like that any more. Three cheers for the Class of '54."

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1955

In September 1951, about forty bashful teen-agers got their first glimpse of the "Halls of Heidelberg High School." We were embarking upon what we now know as some of the most wonderful years of our life.

Our most important event in our freshman year was our initiation, after which we could walk with our heads high. To guide us, we had Bill Ziert as president, Richard Johnson as vice-president, Ben Evans as treasurer, and Jill Carson as secretary.

At the end of the year, we dropped that taunted name of Freshman and became dignified sophomores. Our officers this year were George Beasley, president; Don Parsons, vice-president; Ben Evans, secretary, and Richard Johnsons, treasurer. Our important event this year was "The Hard-Times Dance" organized at the first of the year.

Finally we became upper-classmen, or juniors, in September 1953. Our president is Don Parsons, Jim Arthur is vice-president, Ellie Smith is secretary, and Mark Smith is treasurer. About six or ten of our class were represented on the football team, and the same number were members of the basketball team. Our events this year have been the Homecoming Dance, the Junior Carnival, a record dance, and our biggest and greatest event - the Junior-Senior Prom.

Through all these years, we have enjoyed some great times, though we eagerly look forward to the best of all - our senior year.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1956

As last year's Freshman Class, we elected to lead us, Nancy Kirk as president, Stan Pitts as vice-president, Leah Wade as secretary, and Buddy Hufford as treasurer.

During Freshman Initiation Week we had a taste of senior authority. Girls were required to wear fifty-three pigtailed, and skirts six inches above the knee. The boys wore their clothes inside out, and they appeared with lipstick, and bows in their hair.

About the middle of the year we had a wiener roast followed by a dance, and in the spring we sponsored a boat ride on the Neckar River.

Billy McNair was elected sophomore class president, but on his return to French Morocco our vice-president, Rusty Wilson, assumed the leadership. He was aided by Cindy Moore as secretary, and Wesley Holt as treasurer.

Our April Fool's Dance was a great success and we are now looking forward to our junior year with its many activities and added responsibilities.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1957

Dazed but determined, the students of the Freshman class with a 100% increase over last year's enrollment, entered their first year of high school. New students from all over the command necessitated twice as many teachers as last year. Mr. McLoud, Miss Stevens, Mr. Neuman, and Mr. Dresser were our homeroom advisers. After much debate, we chose the following class officers: president, Bill Cumming; vice-president, Willy Taylor; secretary, Bob Pegg; treasurer, Harry Pitchford. Martin Thon, Carl Peterson, Judy Brose, and Ronny Leoni were our representatives to the Student Council.

A high point of orientation was Freshman Initiation Week. A slave in pajamas carrying a Senior's books down the hall, or a Freshman complete with onion around his neck, and reciting the "Rat's Creed" was not an uncommon sight.

We were mighty proud of our Freshman varsity basketball team and we made an excellent record. The social highlight of our year was the Freshman Dance held in the fall.

Events of this phase of our high school career will be long remembered by every student, and we acknowledge our place with eager anticipation for our Sophomore year.

Heidelberg High started its football season with an exceptionally light team but hoped to make up for it in speed. The Lions got off to a slow start when they lost to Munich at Kaefertal Stadium, 12-0.

Heidelberg's second game was at Kaiserslautern. A close game-Heidelberg lost 7-6.

The Lion's next played Stuttgart here and picked up their first victory, 18-0.

The team traveled to Frankfurt to play its fourth game, and was greeted cordially, but friendships were forgotten when the game began. Frankfurt made four touchdowns behind good blocking and fast running. Final score: Frankfurt 24, Heidelberg 0. On a rainy afternoon here Heidelberg faced Wiesbaden. Heidelberg scored an early touchdown in the mud. Wiesbaden scored in the last period. As soon as the Lions got the ball they staged an inspiring touchdown march without losing the ball once, and won 13-6.

Heidelberg traveled to Nürnberg for its final game and won, again 13-6.

Heidelberg had a 50-50 record with three wins and three losses. Mr. Condley did nobly with the lack of experience and weight of the boys he had to work with, and deserves congratulations for a job well done.

1954 TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONS

Heidelberg's 1953-54 basketballers started their second season under Mr. Condley's guidance. Seven of the top players were: Mike Rohaly, captain; Bill Coakley; Jack Barlow; Glen Mease; Roger Rowan; Bruce Woodworth and Bob Gall. The Lions now have a three and three record. They played host to Kaiserslautern and Frankfurt and dropped those two games. Then away to Wiesbaden and home again to face Bremerhaven which gave us two victories. Stuttgart and Wiesbaden both came here, and the Lions lost the first game and dropped the second. It was with great enthusiasm that we cheered our championship team on to victory over Frankfurt to win the 1954 USAREUR Basketball Tournament.

BASEBALL 1953

The Lion's baseball nine, led by Mr. Condley and lettermen Bob Moore, Al Howard, Bill Roosma, Lee Buyze, Jim Searey and Mike Rohaly, finished with five wins and three losses. Heidelberg beat Frankfurt twice here, beat Nurnberg twice there, split with Munich here, and dropped two to Frankfurt. Returning Lettermen this year are Mike Rohaly and Carrol Duglosch.

TRACK 1953

The 1953 Heidelberg track team, under the direction of Mr. Lohela, and behind the running of Dave Murphy and Hal Lyons, and the jumping of Glen Mease and Don Ide, participated in five track meets and finished first in all but two, one of which was a Soldier's Meet. In the first HAC Track Meet of the year the Lions ran, jumped, threw, and placed second to a team of soldiers.

The team then traveled to Wiesbaden, participating in a three-way meet with Wiesbaden and Frankfurt, and placed first.

The Lions visited Nurnberg next for the Southern Regional Meet, competed against Nurnberg, Munich, and Linz, and took first place again.

Heidelberg returned home and defeated the Heidelberg University track team in a meet here.

To wind up the year we played host to all American high school track teams at Kaefertal Stadium for the USAREUR track finals.

Heidelberg finished second by $1\frac{1}{2}$ points. We felt we had good year.

GOLF 1953

Heidelberg organized a golf team last year under the direction of Mr. Mc Loud. The five boys on the team, chosen by competitive play on the Mannheim golf course, were Richard Johnson, Lyle Schertz, Bob Gall, Bruce Gard, and Dick Gatcher. The team participated in the Regional Golf Tournament at Frankfurt and placed second.

TENNIS 1953

The Heidelberg tennis team last year was composed of: Scott Marshall, captain and manager, Nancy Clark, Nancy Dreibelbies, Kathy Dennis, John Johnson, Bill Roosina and Jim Searcy. We were host at the HAC tournament.

H Club

One of our most exclusive clubs is the H-Club, comprised of lettermen and cheerleaders willing to undergo the initiation.

Begun in 1948, it has been carried on ever since. Nine original members formed the backbone of the club. Mike Rohaly, Glen Mease, Miles Henderson, Roger Rowan, Carrol Dlugosch, Bill Hall, Frank Carrejo, Don Parsons, and Gary Meadows are veterans from last year.

With Coach Condley as sponsor this year's officers are — Mike Rohaly, president; Glen Mease, vice-president; Roger Rowan, secretary; Carrol Dlugosch, treasurer.

This club has sponsored many activities during the year among these being the initiation of new members, the Wednesday noon dance and the annual Ball in the spring.

Membership of this club is restricted to those who are voted in — after initiation.

The Student Council of 1953-54, perhaps the most active and useful student organization in the school, organized in September by electing Miles Henderson president of the Student body and Don Parsons, vice-president. In the first regular meeting on October 6, 1953, Mary Anne Curtis was elected secretary and Roger Rowen, treasurer. A legislative branch composed of homeroom representatives and class presidents was formed to aid in governing. In November, Miles and Mary Anne represented Heidelberg at the conference of Student Councils of American schools in Europe, held in Kaiserslautern.

This year the Council has solved such problems as the congestion in the lunch line, and freshman initiation. In January the annual Varsity-Faculty basketball game was sponsored by the Student Council as a moneymaking project for the March of Dimes. In order to create better understanding between German and American students an exchange system was set up. We have had German visitors several times, who have marvelled at our freedom and friendly student-teacher attitudes. A need equally important was that of understanding ourselves and our fellow students. A homeroom discussion schedule was set up with suggestions and plans for making it interesting and thought provoking.

The purposes of this council are to insure complete understanding between students and faculty members, and to provide an atmosphere conducive to assist in those aims and endeavors which will make this school a better place to develop mind and character.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is a nation-wide organization which is open to all secondary schools which apply for a charter. The charter for Heidelberg High was requested in May of 1950 and in June the Lion Chapter of the National Honor Society came into being. The Society was established to fulfill the need of a stimulant to scholarship and to bring out the abilities of outstanding students.

Members began their duties and service to the school by becoming office assistants and have followed this by the present sponsorship of the Honor Roll. Also Honor Society members are granted special privileges not given to other students. Eligibility is limited to one third of the Senior Class, five percent of the Junior Class, and from these nominees, new members are then chosen for leadership, character and service. Those selected at the end of the first semester are working members and Seniors selected at the end of the second semester are honorary members.

The Induction of new members is carried out by the candlelight "tapping" ceremony. In this impressive program, old members walk through the audience carrying candles and "tap" new members who then take the oath to uphold these high ideals.

The Heidelberg High Student Prints has undergone a great changeover from last year. The staff established at its first meeting a policy of issuing a paper every three weeks, thereby giving the students a periodical report of the happenings in and around Heidelberg High, and began with a semi-readable, five-column, lithographed edition complete with pictures.

Originally an extra-curricular activity, the Student Prints staff decided it would like to meet every day and so a journalism class resulted. The group has benefited greatly from the informative lectures given by Pvt. Ernest Ostro, News Editor of the local HAC Post.

At the beginning of the year, Marlene Meadows was chosen Editor but her departure for the States in December left a vacancy which was filled by Glenda Casey and Ed Plitt, who acted as co-editors. Charles Levendosky was the humor Editor, Bob Carlson, art Editor, Ed Plitt and Bill Lundak handled sports, Joyce Stevenson reported for the Junior High and Glenda Casey acted as Feature Editor. Much credit for success of the paper goes to the reporters who were Tom Lehmann, Chad Henry, Phil Harris, Kay Barnes, Jean Grogan, Cherri Bowers, Ruby Romans, and Stephanie Brodie.

Annual

Early in the year, the annual group met to begin plans for the Heidelberg section of 1954 Erinnerungen. Hopeful and blithely unaware of the hardship and work involved, we stepped into the maze of unfamiliar and often baffling tasks. We soon found that working hard and long was the only way to complete our job to keep up the high standards set by past staffs of Heidelberg. Often we were tired, sometimes discouraged, but thanks to our able sponsors, Miss Frazer and Miss Sharrow, we pulled through. Our staff consisted of Beki McWilliams, editor-in-chief, Marion Burlingham, assistant editor, Joe Hutchinson, photography editor, Bill Meder, art editor and Bob Hoagland, sports editor. Lauri Hillberg was one of our most valuable members; his printing being a definite asset to our part of the Annual. Bill Hoagland was also a wonderful literary discovery, though unfortunately, during the last week.

Now, as we know the thrill of seeing our own words in print and of reading again our own experiences, we realize that no amount of work was too great. In the future we hope each of you will regard this book as a true picture of your "Erinnerungen" in Heidelberg and in Europe.

A tiny car glides noisily to a stop, and as the driver extracts himself, he heaves a sigh of relief. There is a sudden burst of girlish laughter followed by a masculine roar as nine people untangle themselves from all sorts of paraphanelia, untwist their arms and legs, and pile out onto the street. Circus?? No, don't be silly. This is their "home away from home". Ein Zengerstrasse, Heidelberg Dorm which houses 110 kids.

I happen to be Konrad, an ET taxi driver, and nine months out of the year I hold my head and groan inwardly and outwardly everytime I see an American teen-ager come towards me. Never alone, they are always in droves. They worry me terribly because they might demolish my "luxury limousine".

I know these jungen-kids have wondered many times what we talk about as we sit together in our taxis waiting for calls. Why just the other night Max, Felix, Wilhelm, Hans, and I were telling what we had overheard during the year.

We decided that those kids must be having the time of their lives. In September all I heard was the election of their dorm council. I heard so many names and become familiar with so many faces that I can recognize almost every one of them. I know Glen Mease and Glanda Springfield. They're the presidents. Gymee Bellamy (whom I hear is terrific with the hula) and Mike Rohaly are second in line. Art Babb and Mary Anne Curtis are the note takers, and Rita Wycoff and Dennis McMahon guard the Geld. I know that there are two girls and two boys chosen from each class to make their wants known, and to holler lights out. What a racket this makes — you should hear that place around 9:30 and 10:00. Mein Goodness!

I understand that this year for the first time in Heidelberg history the dorm is open seven days a week. A-h so! We have kids from all over Europe-Paris, Naples, Cannes, Brussles, Athens, Warsaw, Prague, Belgrade and the Hague. They even had some from North Africa until Christmas time!

In October plans were underway for Freshman initiation and every afternoon for a whole week all I saw on my frequent visits was a group of boys and girls sitting on the curbstone polishing shoes. I was beginning to wonder if the dorm had been moved until I ran into my four friends the Misses Peterson, Bell, Flynn, and Mrs. Mead, who patiently care for the brood. One night near the end of October I parked my chariot in front and glanced up at the door. All of the boys had skirts on! Somehow that just didn't seem right. It took me three days to find out there had been a Turn-About Halloween party. Must have been quite a show. All of a sudden at the end of October things were quiet for five whole days so I could nurse my bruised and beaten "wagon".

Soon it was November and all I heard were details of the Homecoming Dance. It must have been a big hit. Rita Wycoff was the lovely queen and, best of all, she was crowned by Mike Rohaly. Along about this time people started carrying jugs of apple cider and all kinds of munchies back to the Dorm for something they call after-lights-out parties.

These kids think they get away with murder. They would be surprised if they knew how much their snoopervisors knew. I hear tales of a short sheet... and rolling waste baskets down the halls and of doors slamming — I wonder if I should give them some ideas? For instance, take the many visits the first floor girls have held through the windows with special friends, and the mystery of the hidden coke bottles in a certain Junior's room.

Ach, December, one big event, the Snow-Ball. I drove people around for days while they bought the most outlandish assortment of things you ever saw. The strange thing was — how can you have a snow ball without snow? I guess I just don't understand these Americans.

In January I had a nice rest. What could they be doing this month? Some blonde placed a poster in the back of my buggy advertising a raffle for caps and gowns. Something new to me! Good luck kids! Then I heard that the French class is planning a trip to ze beeg cite — gay Parree. A lot of people are trying like mad to learn French but my comrade Peter stands firm.

In February the little man with bow and arrow makes his appearance, but these kids don't need him. They're OK at it.

I leave them at March as they are jubilantly on their way to tournaments full of hopes and dreams of fame. Good bye kids. We've got only three months to go and I know we'll miss you in years to come.

KAISERSLAUTERN

THE BIRTH OF RHINE HIGH

In the year 1952, Washington, D. C., said, "Let there be knowledge!" So, Rhine High began.

School opened in September, 1952, in a Vogelweh apartment building. The original enrollment of forty doubled by the close of the school term. There was a noticeable lack of facilities, but soon steps were taken to cope with the situation. In November of 1952, work was begun on a new combination grade and high school, gymnasium, auditorium, cafeteria, and dormitories. On March 12, 1953, Brigadier General Oliver W. Hughes cut the ribbon to officially open the school. The student body moved in during April of the same year.

In September, 1953, the school doors were opened to about four hundred students from all corners of Western Area Command and France.

The pride of being a member of the newest and finest high school in USAREUR is best expressed by the words of one member of the Senior Class of '53; "We couldn't have all the students in USAREUR, so we settled for some of the best."

Since we are only the second Senior Class to graduate from this school, we have had to make our own traditions. Our campaigning for senior privileges will probably be our outstanding contribution to the school, although we have all worked long and hard helping to make this school what it is. CLASS WILL OF 1954

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

WE, THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1954, BEING OF SLIGHTLY SOUND BODY, DO HEREBY DECLARE THIS TO BE OUR LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT.

To the faculty and administration, whose patience we have taxed these many years, we leave our deepest gratitude for making it possible for us to graduate so far from home.

To Miss Cook, our sponsor and adviser, who has guided us through so much hot water, we leave... it isn't much, but we leave, and we know that she will be grateful.

And to the underclassmen, whom we have tormented so unmercifully, we leave the following personal bequests:

I, Bob Alexander, leave my car to any junior lucky enough to have a driver's license.

I, Joyce Arnone, bequeath my quiet, subdued personality to Mary Bradley.

I, Marty Bales, will my ability to "foam at the cheeks" to anyone meeting face to face with Pepsodent.

I, Robert Blackmore, do hereby leave my ability to get along with Mr. Rushworth to any underclassman.

I, Jeannie Bradt, would like to leave tomorrow for Phoenix.

I, Lee Buchanan, sane in mind, will my happy personality to anyone willing to take it.

I, Joy Burkhart, leave my biology book to some incoming senior who needs a "lab science" to graduate.

I, Dave Carroll, leave my loud laugh and overpowering speech to Jack Green.

I, Bruce Cary, leave to Sonny Self my ability to sleep in Mrs. Landes' English class.

I, Nancy Clark, leave my paper-cutting, hair curling Neefus machine to anyone having a finigan pin.

I, Roberta Colby, leave all the addresses in my little black book to Noel.

I, Ann Coltey, leave all my English books and classes to Dorothy Burkhart.

I, Anne Condon, leave all my indecisions to anyone who wants them... Please!

I, Bob Corbett, leave my "D's" to any senior who can take care of them (or her).

I, Marguerite Cowhig, leave my Gregg Shorthand book to some unfortunate underclassman.

I, Wendell Danielson, will my basketball shoe-laces to W. L. Burkhart.

I, Carol Doody, leave my room in the dorm to any future senior girl foolhardy enough to take it.

I, Zule Eberlin, will my English book to anyone dumb enough to take it.

I, Robbie Eden, leave my super-sane mind to anyone who might run into another Joyce Arnone.

I, Virginia Edwards, leave.

I, Jim Fite, leave my favorite jokes to Pete Faust and Larry Clark.

I, Mike Flannery, leave my ability to hurry slowly to Irvin Mitchell.

I, Jean Futrell, leave Tee Wilson the ability to "fly the coop" in '55.

I, Myrna Garwick, leave my ability to stay out of trouble to my brother Jerry. He needs it!

I, Betsy Gosman, leave my sister Nancy to the boys of the future Senior Class.

I, Patsy Grace, leave my ability to do pages of shorthand every night to anyone planning to take it.

I, Bill Groves, leave my ability to make all "A's" in American Government to Gene Lucas.

I, Tann Hammond, leave my ability to talk faster than anyone else to a freshman.

I, Joe Harris, leave either one or both of my diplomas to Frazier Driver. (If it will do any good.)

I, Mary Jo Hebbe, leave my ability to eat all I want and not gain weight to Mary "Pudgy" Bradley.

I, Tom Hunter, leave my addiction to chess playing to anyone who will use it wisely.

I, Rita Jordan, leave my ability to stay in Deutschland 5 years to any other fortunate R. A.

I, Granger Kelley, leave my ability to take two dates to the Sadie Hawkins Day dance to Don West.

I, Bill Kilborn, leave Miss Cook and her oral reports to all future American Government students.

I, Dick Kyser, leave my eat clothes and hop to Alex Sheafe.

I, Bill Lofthus, leave Poochie Enterprise to the Junior Class.

I, Peggy Marcum, leave the ride every other day from Pirmasens to Jackie McClain.

I, Betty Marshall, leave my seat on the Ramstein bus to Susie O'Morrow.

I, Owen Martin, leave my money making ability to any ambitious dorm student.

I, Barbara McClain, leave my ability to write letters and "wait" to Maxine Adams.

I, Marilyn Nussbaum, leave a place to stay for our week-ends to Katie Walker.

I, Al Ormiston, leave in locker 598 all of my cheat sheets collected during the past four years.

I, Jody Pope, leave a loaded pistol to any girl who might cast her eyes in Eddie's direction.

I, Arlene Randle, leave my little sister to the tender mercies of Barbara, Timmie, and Angie.

I, Al Rutledge, leave Germany to the entering freshmen.

I, Frances Storey, leave both money and headaches to future treasurers of the Senior Class.

I, Steve Stout, leave my USC pennant to Earleen.

I, Patt Towers, leave my 1948 copy of Erinnerungen to Magoo.

I, John Weems, leave my punny jokes to Woody Traudt.

I, Hal Wilson, bequeath my exquisite pair of black, one-legged trunks to coach Roncoli.

I, Helen Wingard, leave my great height to tiny Lynne Kilgro.

I, Richard Zagami, leave my autographed cast to the French II class.

SIGNED, SEALED, AND DELIVERED THIS GRAY
DEUTSCHLAND DAY IN 1954.

CLASS OF 1954

TIME: 1964

PLACE: TEXARKANA MUNICIPAL AIRPORT ARKANSAS

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Miss Cook, eating a piece of "chocolate cake" is patiently awaiting the arrival of the rocket-ship "REUNION SPECIAL", designed by the famous Owen Martin, which will take her to the various corners of the world to visit her Senior Class of '54. She swallows the last bite, of cake, steps into the rocket and to her surprise sees Bill Groves who had overshot his ambition to be a jet pilot and, Frankie Storey, the ship's hostess. In 55 minutes she arrives in Paris where she attends a fashion show having on display all the latest styles of that famous dress designer Rose Ann Krupinski. The first model is Jean Futrell, followed by stunning creations worn by Betsy Gosman and Jean Bradd. After buying a pair of pajamas to wear on her next senior pajama day, she flies on to Madrid where she is greeted by Ann Colty, Betty Marshall, and Allen Ormiston, all of whom are studying "plant life" at Madrid University. In the same city she finds Al Rutledge working as an electronics engineer at one of the large aircraft companies. "Shortie" Buchanan, rocket-ship mechanic, after repairing her ship sees Miss Cook off to Granada where Bob Blackmore has just designed and built a fabulous arena. The first to "throw" the bull in this arena is Bob "Buckalong" Alexander. This sports event is being broadcast all over the world through the courtesy of Wendell Danielson's Broadcasting Company.

From here she goes to Baumholder, Germany, to see if Mary Jo Hebbe has left yet. While in Baumholder she is the guest of Mike Flannery who has become a successful Jagermeister. (If excitement is what you are after, go on a "bore" hunt with Mike!)

Again Miss Cook takes off, this time to see the world known Professor "Poochie" Loftus in Africa. There his efficient secretary, Margarite Cowhig, shows us the results of his many year's work as an archeologist. Next she flies to New York to see the stage production "Believe It Or Not" written by Patsy Grace and directed by Joyce Arnone. Myrna Garwick, the winner of so many Academy Awards, and Dick "Twinkle Toes" Kyser, the hop-king, are co-starring. At the premiere she sees the famous personalities, Dave Carroll and Bruce Cary. These millionaires are backing the show. Tann Hammond is also there, as a critic. Atop the Empire State Building she finds Jim Fite, John Weems and Tom Hunter III discussing the possibilities of a suspended city. From here she can see the results of Jody Pope's unequalled work of clearing the slums. She also sees Robbie Eden entering her office in the Empire State Building. She learns that Robbie is Art Editor of Mademoiselle magazine.

Miss Cook leaves New York, stopping next in Miami, Florida. There Peggy Marcum and Marilyn Nussbaum take her on a tour of the beautiful city. Peggy has reached top "Bill"ing as a housewife, and Marilyn has fulfilled her greatest ambition to be a Florida's sandiest beach-comber.

Miss Cook picks up a paper in Miami and on her way to California she reads Nancy Clark's column "Advice to the Lovelorn". In it she gives excellent advice to such people as Ava, Frankie, Lana, Rita, Fernando, and A. D. Chunko.

In Los Angeles, Mayor Steve Stout greets her with the key to the city. He and his secretary, Barbara McClain, take Miss Cook first to the long delayed wedding of Granger Kelley and Marilyn Monroe. As we pass the Rose Bowl she sees Hal Wilson attended by a nurse, Patt Towers, being carried out on a stretcher. As he is put into the ambulance she catches the barely audible words, "Best game I ever coached". At U.C.L.A. Miss Cook visits Carol Doody who is Dean of Women there. Carol proudly points to Marty Bales who has recently received world-wide recognition as the inventor of the AUTOMATIC SHORTHAND MACHINE. From California Miss Cook starts on her final leg of the journey to Hawaii. The first familiar face is that of Arlene Randle, ship's stewardess, who is resting between voyages of the luxury liner, "U.S.S. KILBORN". Captain of the ship is Bill Kilborn. On the beach she sees "Cookie" Corbett and "Big" Joe Harris relaxing after finally finishing school—playing it cool, they call it.

Anne Condon, having finally mastered the mysteries of physics, offers to take Miss Cook to the Eberlin farm where she sees Zade entertaining Helen Wingard and Roberta Colby, who have introduced the new "twist" in designing sarongs.

Zade switches on his 3-D color T.V. set just as Dick Zagami is announcing the return of the star of the program, Virginia Popwell, in the "The Tricks of Cooking".

After an enjoyable stay in Hawaii, Miss Cook boards the rocket-ship for her home in Arkansas to teach the Nancy Clarks of the future how to use their "Neefus" machines. She is looking forward, we know, to making the reunion trip again sometime in the next thirty years.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

The history of the Junior Class began on September 13th, when we trudged up the hill behind K. A. H. S. to the auditorium. There we were given our homeroom sections and introduced to our new faculty. We sat with our fingers crossed, hoping we would be with some of our new-found friends.

The first few days of school, there were many problems which caused a great deal of confusion, but very soon everything settled down. Plans were made for Student Council, class, and club elections. When the ballots were counted, we found that the Junior Class was well represented in every activity.

As the year progressed we found ourselves knee-deep in hot dogs, buns, cokes, and pom-poms. After costs were deducted, we cleared enough money to sponsor a Junior-Senior Prom which will be remembered for a long time.

As juniors, we had watched Freshman Initiation with enthusiasm, just waiting for our senior year. Now that time has come. Until our return in the fall, we will be like the New Moon, which no one can see; but in September, we will become like a full moon, and shine with a radiance as only seniors can.

HISTORY OF THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

The history of our Sophomore Class began last September when most of us met for the first time. Soon after, we started plans for innumerable activities during the year. Under the leadership of the faculty and the Student Council, numerous plans for dances, parties, and many other activities were drawn up which, when put into practice proved to be great successes. One of the most successful of these was the Turn-About Dance, which will no doubt become a tradition at Rhine High.

In the field of sports the Sophomore Class was well represented in football, basketball, track, tennis, and baseball. The girls also showed their athletic abilities in the G. A. A. and in intramural activities. All activities, far too many to mention here, were actively participated in by the Sophomores both as groups in Girl's League, and the Men's Service Club, and individually in many clubs and organizations for individual interests.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

We freshmen, being the lowest form of being, are going to tell you something of ourselves.

We started the year with a memorable initiation. The purpose of the initiation was to install us officially into the humble class of freshmen and to introduce us to our school.

To the freshmen the day was long. Our lowly brains were taxed with many difficult subjects, but we knew that if we studied hard, maybe someday we could be glorious Seniors. That is our goal.

At the end of our year we had a "Freshmen Prom", which we all attended. This dance left many memories for everyone.

The passing of our freshmen year was a celebrated moment, and as sophomores, we look down at the new freshmen, and have pity. We remember so well the time when we, too, were such inferior creatures.

FOOTBALL SUMMARY

The Kaiserslautern Raiders had a fairly good season, considering that this was their first year for an eleven man football team.

At the end of the season the team elected the most valuable player. W. E. Davenport, left half-back, was honored with this title. During the season he scored 66 points for the Raiders.

SCHOOL HISTORY

The pattern of Munich High's history is one of increasing enrollment, enlarging quarters, and bettering facilities. In 1946, the first M. H. S. boasted an enrollment of 32 at the year's beginning, but, by June, the 96 pioneers practically spilled out onto Holzkirchen Strasse. The next year found the school near its present location on Rotbuchen Strasse, but just one wing of a German school was ours. Mr. Gleason and six teachers acted as the trainers for the 130 spirited Mustangs in the 1947-48 term. By 1950, the students were growing out of these small quarters, so our present building was invaded by "Corypheus" Gleason and his band of 220. An enrollment of 300 pupils under the direction of 24 pedagogues began the 1952-53 year. The straining seams were eased when the 58 Seniors, 77 Juniors, 83 Sophomores and 122 Freshmen moved into the beautiful new addition in January, 1954. Mr. Gleason and an increased faculty uttered a sigh of relief and gave us their blessings as we, the class of '54, were graduated, thus becoming a part of the M. H. S. history.

PRESENTING THE SENIOR CLASS

Graduating! It's hard to realize that that phase of life called high school is drawing to a close. As we look back over the years, our heartaches, triumphs, parties, homework and friendships seem to take on the aspect of wholeness.

The first year was one of new ideas and a new environment. Initiation, the remarks about "green frosh" tossed at us by upperclassmen, and the traditional Valentine's Dance were all part of our initial chapter.

The fall of 1951 found us Sophomores working in various clubs, on teams and sponsoring the St. Patrick's Day Dance.

"Springtime in Paris", the Junior-Senior Prom, highlighted our third year. Fund raising for this event kept us busy all year with concessions at the games, dances, and an original idea, the blue and white Munich beanie sale. This was our first taste of being upperclassmen but the best was yet to come.

Now the last nine months of our high school life were before us. September 8, fifty-four of us were seated in home rooms capably managed by Miss Shultz, Mrs. Dodge and Mrs. Ashbaugh. The first task we undertook was an election of officers to head "that dignified group of intellectuals". Football co-captain Gil Decker presided as chief officer, head cheerleader Zana Pflugrath was elected as our "veep", National Honor Society member Konni Taylor wrote the minutes and annual editor Dale Hruby kept the financial records.

Student Council executive offices were filled by boys' dorm proxy Don Caddes and vice-president Decker, second man in our government. Lynn Skell, Bob Aarhus, and Dick Conti represented the seniors in this organization.

Pep Club president Zana Pflugrath, Homecoming Queen Ginger Miller, and "Messenger" Editor Mary Chambers were senior cheerleaders.

We sponsored the Homecoming festivities with floats, royalty, the dance, and even a trophy which our co-operative team captured to make the day complete.

The class took a vacation from the books when we journeyed to Holland this spring. It was an unforgettable adventure that our being in Europe made possible.

Commencement, the Prom, our teachers, friends and innumerable other things will conjure up pleasant memories in the coming years. As the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" build slowly to a crescendo in the background, we shall press our four years of high school in a book that is now fresh and new to us. With this, the class of '54 leaves the corridors of M. H. S. to take their places as world citizens. Farewell!

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the class of '54, being of sound mind and somewhat tired after four years of themes, thermodynamics, test tubes and typewriters do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.
 To our teachers we leave our sincere gratitude and thanks.
 To the Junior Class we bequeath our senior lockers and our three understanding advisers.
 To the Sophomore Class we will our title as upperclassmen.
 To the Freshman Class we leave our tenacity and fortitude in hopes that they too may be graduated from Munich High.

- I, Bob Aarhus, leave my school spirit to next year's Pep Club.
- I, Ronnie Alberts, leave my boxing gloves to Mike Mumma.
- I, Joan Arthington, leave my ring to Joe Mastronardi.
- I, Jeraldine Benton, leave my statuesque height to Teddy Hamilton.
- I, Ann Biard, leave my chewing gum to Miss Weaver.
- I, Bonnie Bibb, leave my love for English to Bobbie Thompson.
- I, Carl Bridgers, leave my delicious daily sandwiches to anyone who gets hungry about third period.
- I, Nancy Brown, leave my four wonderful years of high school to my sister, Carol.
- I, Don Caddes, leave my ability to always be "a fur piece yonder ahead" to "Uncle Marv" Denney.
- I, Mary Chambers, leave my office in Honor Society to Larry Wertz.
- I, Carole Conover, will my seven day diet to Nancy Ballis.
- I, Dick Conti, will my ability to make the football team to "Cousin Jarrel" Williams.
- I, Sandra Cosby, will my bottle of peroxide to Valerie Conner.
- I, Dewey Davis, leave my long, curly eyelashes to Margie Alper.
- I, Gil Decker, will never trust females again.
- I, Billy Devoyle, will my basketball ability to Bob Estabrook; he needs it.
- I, Shirley Deyarmin, leave my ability to get by with only one semester of English IV to Gayle Bynum.
- I, Martha Diaz, leave my Spanish accent to Wanda Ollis.
- I, Larry Doty, leave my ability to play ping-pong to Don Kemp.
- I, Richard DuPont, leave my height to Mike Mumma.
- I, Rudy Geiser Jr., leave my typing ability to Pat Walsh.
- I, Jeanine Gorsline, leave my ability to jump out of bed at the crack of dawn to Bobbie Thompson.
- I, Sue Groover, leave my shy, demure nature to Jean Barlow.
- I, Murray Hale, leave Munich High, at last.
- I, Dale Hruby, leave the queen of spades to "Cousin Jarrel" Williams.
- I, Audrey Lambrecht, leave my "straight A" report card to Andrea Julian.
- I, Sandy Landau, leave my ability to be quiet and reserved to Peggie McKrell.
- I, Sam Lankford, leave my ability to irritate teachers to DuWayne Watkins.
- I, Marlene Ludwig, leave my bashfulness to Juanita Thurmond.
- I, Ginger Miller, leave my "boiled sneakers" and cheerleading uniform to Carol Mazza.
- I, Roberts Mumma, leave my ability to keep a girl to Francis Crowley.
- I, Patsy Noel, leave my height and build to Blair Mc Elwain.
- I, Walter Ollis, leave my southern accent to Joe Mastronardi.
- I, Zana Pflugrath, leave my unique German vocabulary to der Steve Baffery, ein ganz gutes kind.
- I, James William Raymond, leave my lil ole Southern accent to any Southerner who has lost his because he has been away from Dixie too long.
- I, Howard Reitz, leave my height to Tommie Tinker.
- I, Gail Rhoads, leave my flowing tresses to Janie Conley.
- I, Bert Rice, leave my freckles to Bob Caddes.
- I, Marilyn Richardson, leave my pony tail to Carolyn Hayes.
- I, Eva Rosenthal, leave my cheerful disposition to Mr. Gleason.
- I, Bill Ryder, leave my dashing, debonair person to Miss Weaver.
- I, Ladd Schrantz, leave the back seat of my car to Joan and Joe.
- I, Lee Shafer, leave my ability to master the art of tennis to Rusty Rhoads.
- I, Jim Sherrard, leave my government book to any Junior crazy enough to want it.
- I, Bob Shohan, leave membership in the W. H. A. to Pete Wakefield.
- I, Lynn Skell, leave my lizards to Miss Shultz's biology class.
- I, Sue Snowden, leave my ability to get along with Mr. Gleason to Margie Alper.
- I, Barbara Stang, leave my ability to make Home Ec projects work to Kit Arnold.
- I, Sharon Stenerson, leave my enjoyable trips to Dachau to Gay Bergeron.
- I, Carolyn Stevens, leave my silent alarm clock to Pat Patterson for the benefit of her future roommates.
- I, Konni Taylor, leave my four years at M. H. S. to any fortunate Freshman.
- I, Toni Telle, leave my ability to graduate without an American Government credit to Connie Coy.
- I, Annette Thorpe, leave my fountain pen to Pat Reardon for use in Mrs. Dodge's class.
- I, Harry Tomlinson, leave my forgetfulness of English assignments to Pete Wakefield.
- I, Boswell Risher Ulmer III, leave all my plaid shirts to Carol Ann Marcydt.
- I, Phyllis Worthington, leave my absence slips to Glenda Lael.

PRESENTING THE JUNIOR CLASS

Headed by Pete Wakefield, president; Gerry Hauck, vice-president; Carole Copeland, secretary; Ann Teyssier, treasurer; and Martha Copeland, social chairman, we seventy-seven worked during the year to prepare for the Junior-Senior Prom, said to be the most fabulous in the annals of M. H. S.

When it comes to sports we're well represented. On the USAREUR Championship Football Team, were Juniors, Pete Wakefield, Blair McElwain, Bob Marchand, Francis Crowley, Marvin Denny, Tom Gray, Bob DesRosier, Paul Meloun and Mike Mumma. Two of the regular cheerleaders, Gerry Hauck and Martha Copeland, and the two substitutes, Pat Walsh and Carole Copeland, are from our class. Carole Mazza was elected Student Council secretary in October; she, too, is a Junior.

The class advisers, Miss Howes, Miss Thompson, and Miss Walkonen, gave us invaluable suggestions and that ever welcome "helping hand" throughout the year.

You can see that we are a busy group with our goal in sight, for next year we shall ascend the throne of dignity, don the robes of wisdom and be transformed into Seniors.

PRESENTING THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

STEVE MCCARL
President

SALLY KEEDY
Secretary

"This is Easton Kegler, your You Are Here reporter from station M.H.S. Today we're going to a sophomore class meeting. Presiding over this group of distinguished persons is Steve McCarl; to his right we see Veep Barbara White. That girl with the poised pencil is Sally Keedy, beside Rusty Rhoads, the money man."

"As we scan the room, we can see many prominent sophomores. There's Carol Mareydt, treasurer of Student Council; over to the right is Diane Reichtine. Seated to the left of the mike are Bob Cadden and Jim McManis. All these people are representatives to the student body government."

"Steve Baffery, co-editor of the 'Messenger', gave a report on the successful St. Patrick's Day Dance sponsored by this group. Remember that gala affair... shamrocks and all!"

"On the other side of the room, we see Bill Helm, quarterback of the championship football team, and Bill Simons, one of his football colleagues."

"Here's President McCarl. Next year you'll be in the ranks of the Upperclassmen, right, Steve?"

"Yes, Easton, and we're really looking forward to it."

"Thank you, Steve."

"Well folks, this is Easton Kegler signing off with a reminder — in every club, sport or activity this year you'll find a sophomore."

PRESENTING THE FRESHMAN CLASS

"Say, Joe, what do you think of Heidelberg?" asked Freddie Frosh during a telephone call to a friend. "Not bad, eh? Well, let me tell you about what went on in Munich this year."

"To start the year we had a big class election and elected Ken Hruby, president; Lora Newell, vice-president; Gail Bynum secretary; and Pat Craig, treasurer as our class officers. Dick Harris, Bob Feldman, Steve Rice, and Bill Sherer represented us on the Student Council.

"Although we started off with the usual initiation, we soon grew to be the biggest class in the school. Students came and went, but the enrollment stayed at about 130 all year.

"Through coke and cake sales and the collection of class dues we raised the money to sponsor the annual Valentine Dance which was enjoyed by everyone.

"Our Freshman class was well represented in sports. Ken Hruby, Jim Durbin, and George Miller were our top athletes.

"Freshmen were on, or in many of the schools activities. We almost hated to leave the 'Frosh' home rooms, but it was only to go on to bigger things. After all, next September, we begin our first year as upper under classmen. Maybe I'll see you then. So long."

BAVARIA

It's the chance of a lifetime to come to Bavaria. Never did we dream we would see these things: the magnificence of the towering Zugspitz, the huge crops and lush green valleys, and the castles of Ludwig II. In the midst of this beauty, we must not forget that we are ambassadors in Bavaria; we want to make friends with these people who live in gingerbread houses and plod along the country roads.

Bavaria is made up of beauty: a snow-capped mountain reflected in a blue lake, sailboats cutting along in the breeze, quiet shrines and the tinkling of cowbells. Bavaria is a clash of dark green against a light blue sky, a small evergreen atop a new building, aisle after aisle of blue cabbage, or just sitting in a boat at Tegernsee, looking at the mountains. Bavaria is a peasant in his lederhosen, smoking his foot-long pipe, cows grazing in green fields, and oxen silhouetted against the sky; but Bavaria is also a mad king who built magic castles.

In Bavaria, you can almost see a knight in armor or a scholarly monk copying a manuscript, beside an ancient and heavy, crumbling city wall. All Europe crowds into the old city of Munich. In its dark wood and bright murals and gleaming whiteness, in its smells of wurst and cheese, Munich is a stage-set for a musical comedy, or an operetta, or even for Wagnerian opera. Munich has fairy tale churches and a clock that moves around in a pantomime at eleven. Munich is stein after stein of beer in the warm Bavarian afternoon, and at night well aired bedding. Munich is the Isar, the Museum, and the Hofbrauhaus with its famed "Eins, Zwei, Guffa!" Munich is a bicycle race with death and the ballet of the traffic polizei.

Jawohl, Komerade, in Bavaria they sprechen Deutsch, ride the jammed Strassenbahn, and greet you with a hearty "Gruess Gott".

DON CADDES
President

... With "A Better Bet for the Students of Munich High" as its theme for the 1953-54 school year, the Student Council began its task of co-ordinating activities, bettering teacher-student relations and acting as the government for the nearly 400 Mustangs.

A struggle ensued between the "Better Bet" and the "Student Voice" parties at the campaign assembly held during the latter part of September. Results of the election found the "Better Betters" in complete control with Don Caddes, president; Gilbert Decker, vice-president; Carole Mazza, secretary; and Carol Maryedt, treasurer.

Although the biggest project of the year was sponsoring the Christmas Prom, the council served as hosts at an Open House, and provided efficient student government throughout the year.

Seniors, Konni Taylor, Zana Pflugrath, Don Caddes, Dale Hruby, and alumni, Sylvia Brickson and Pat McManis, conducted a candlelight ceremony in which they initiated twelve new members.

Don Caddes was elected president; Zana Pflugrath, vice-president; Konni Taylor, secretary; and Mary Chambers, treasurer. The Honor Society was divided into the service, program, and social committees. The service committee undertook a project to help "Die Waldwiese," a German tubercular home. At Christmas time, they presented the home with food, clothing and other needed articles contributed by the M. H. S. students. Additions have been made to the Waldwiese library started by the Honor Society two years ago.

The program committee presented the inspiring Christmas Pageant at the Open House in December. The social committee, in an effort to further German-American relations, entertained a group of German exchange students at a square dance. In February, a Faculty Tea was given, followed by the all-school "Bunny Hop" at Easter.

The Munich Girl's Athletic Association has completed its fourth year of organization under the sponsorship of Mrs. Ashbaugh. The officers elected at the beginning of the year were Murray Hale, president; Ginger Miller, vice-president; Judy Coffin, secretary; and Pat Walsh, treasurer.

The G. A. A. traveled to Chiemsee this spring for the annual Munich outing.

Throughout the year, the girls accumulated points for various unorganized and extracurricular sports activities for which they received letters at the end of the school year.

It's been said that as for team backing and "shout appeal", this year's Pep Club tops 'em all. No wonder, look whom we had heading the organization: Sandy Landau, president; Zana Pflugrath, vice-president; Pat Walsh, secretary; Walter Ollis, treasurer; and Miss Barbara Buch, sponsor.

Whether football, basketball, baseball, or track season, it was the Pep Club who made posters, decorated goal posts or stands, and gave the entire school that feeling of "Let's Go, Big Team!!"

Off to world famous ski resorts in the Alps, donning mittens and woolen scarves to go flying down the glistening Zugspitze, Hinterbrand, or Kruzeck — sounds like a trip taken on the magic carpet of fantasy, doesn't it? When you're a member of the Ski Heil it all becomes a reality.

Mrs. Ashbaugh with Dick Conti, president; Ronnie Aarhus, vice-president; and Pat Walsh, secretary-treasurer plan the excursions.

Without one veteran of the '52 gridiron campaign, Coach Ray Grossman molded the 1953 version of the Munich Mustangs from a nucleus of mostly first year but hard working ballplayers.

Early practice sessions seemed futile. Converting an end here, a tackle there and a quarterback to a live position were only a few of the many sights which greeted an onlooker's eyes. As time for the season opener drew near, the team began to take the shape that was to bring the championship to Munich.

Our first grid battle took place at Heidelberg. The Mustangs, led by the quarterbacking of Bill Helm, did the unexpected and came up with a 13-0 triumph over the Lions. After holding the Heidelbergers scoreless throughout the first half, Boswell Ulmer blocked a Lion punt which was recovered by Gil Decker in the end zone. In the closing minutes of the final quarter Bill Helm intercepted a H. H. S. pass and returned it to the Lion double stripe for the tally.

The following week the Wiesbaden Warriors invaded Stadt Stadium only to be turned back by a 25-0 score.

Riding on the prospect of a perfect defensive slate, the Mustangs traveled to Nurnberg. After being held away from the green and white goal, the Munich crew broke loose for 14 counters in the final frame. Decker intercepted an Eagle pass as the quarter opened and returned it 70 yards for the T.D. Once again, in the final minutes Ladd Schrantz pulled down an N.H.S. aerial and returned it 19 yards for the score. Dick Conti added the extras to post a 14-0 on the board.

In a mid-season exhibition game with the Linz Panthers, the Mustangs took another contest, 36-0.

Playing the role of spoilers, the Rhine Raiders of Kaiserslautern came up with 12 markers in a game played at Stadt Stadium. Behind the conversions of Conti the Munich team came out on the long end of a 14-12 win.

The Mustangs tested their weather offense and defence on a soft, wet field in Stuttgart. The 32-20 score proved in Munich's favor.

Then came the big game, the big day. In a contest for the USAREUR High School Championship, our Mustangs met the Frankfurt Eagles at Stadt Stadium, Munich.

Early in the opening period Pete Wakefield circled his own left end for 26 yards and a Munich tally. The Mustangs and McElwain hit pay dirt again in the third frame on a 12 yard line buck. The educated toe of Conti directed both conversions favorably. When the final whistle blew, the Mustang's hard charging line and unpredictable backfield were proclaimed CHAMPS!

In a post-season non-conference game against the Linz Panthers, the lads cinched their undefeated record with a 46-12 score thus closing the 1953 USAREUR football season.

Invaders Absorb 25-0 Loss As Helm Shines for Munich

MUNICH—Unleashing a powerful passing attack at Stadt Stadium last afternoon, Munich High School's Mustangs rolled to a 25-0 triumph over the Wiesbaden Warriors.

The win kept Coach Ray Grossman's crew an unblemished record of 2-0 in the league as they left yesterday for a travel team in Nuernberg.

With Bill Helm leading the stellar performance, the Mustangs won the air for all of the game and gained 161 yards in 40 plays for a 25-0 victory.

Even though it was a starting whistle that the edge over the invaders offense slipped into a series of early stages of the game, the Mustangs became aroused by a six-minute opening minutes of the game.

A Wiesbaden fumble was for setting up the first

Later in the game, Coach Grossman sent Dick Conti into enemy territory. Dick Conti passed a pass to Helm in the end zone.

With a scant 6-0 margin at the half, the Mustangs' power on offense burst into full bloom during the latter portion of the game. In the third period, Coach Grossman's charges halted a Warrior drive on their own 24-yard line and took possession of the pigskin. Then, using both the air and ground, Munich marched down to the Wiesbaden 37, where Helm flipped

Mustangs Win

MUNICH—The unbeaten, Munich High School Mustangs won a three in a row when they took the field at Soldiers' Field in Nuernberg last afternoon to clash with the Wiesbaden Warriors.

Coach Ray Grossman's charges, off some rather early passes in the direction of the end before two final interceptions snatched the game from the invaders.

Employing a defensive method that proved more effective than the invaders' offense, the Mustangs staved off the Warriors' early attempts to score three full periods, but a 9-yard runback of an interception by Blair McElwain gave the Mustangs a scoring edge early in the fourth quarter.

Battle at Stadt Stadium Determined Zone Champions

MUNICH—Out to add the USAEUR High School Conference title to an already fine collection of grid honors for this season, the Munich Mustangs will head to Stuttgart today to go against the Frankfurt Eagles in a showdown skirmish for the title.

Odds for the contest will be about even since neither crew has met its nemesis in league activity this year. Both squads boast an impressive record of five straight circuit victories.

The two finalist teams primed themselves for the title clash last week by putting away a pair of weaker conference foes. While the Mustangs were in Stuttgart concocting a 32-20 win over the Ponies, the Eagles flew high to garner a 41-13 triumph over Nuernberg.

The Kaiserslautern Rhine Raiders, the third ranked squad in the league, have been beaten by both the Mustangs and the Eagles.

Coach Grossman sends his charges into the field this afternoon with a confidence that they will remain virtually unbeaten all year, with the Mustangs' record in a brilliant 10-0.

In the first quarter, the Mustangs' offense was in full bloom. Coach Grossman's charges halted a Warrior drive on their own 24-yard line and took possession of the pigskin. Then, using both the air and ground, Munich marched down to the Wiesbaden 37, where Helm flipped Approximately 35 hoop hopefuls turned out for the opening sessions of basketball practice in November. With Don Caddes, Dick Conti, and Billy Devoye returning from last year's quintet to provide needed experience, Coach Grossman soon placed Jerry Williams and Dale Hruby with this trio to round out the starting five. After adding Jim Sherrard, Howard Reitz, Marvin Denny, Bob Estabrook, and Ken Hruby to the roster, the team took the shape that has shared the laurels through both victorious and not-so-fortunate campaigns.

The Mustangs opened this year's conference with a 51-39 victory over Nurnberg. Stuttgart next fell at Munich hands. Wiesbaden and Frankfurt, however, toppled the Mustangs, 45-39 and 86-39, respectively. After this double dumping, the Munich crew displayed a more defensive-wise squad. It was this changed quintet that carried the Munich name through a successful schedule.

The Munich Mustangs, behind the hurling of Jesse Webster and Billy Devoyle, opened the 1953 season by taking a double win from Nurnberg, 8-2 and 19-3. The following week found the blue and white capturing half of a double header from the Eagles of Frankfurt. Devoyle took the 4-3 win while Webster was charged with a 3-2 loss.

The brilliant pitching of Webster sparked the team to victory over Heidelberg for the first time in three years by a 6-1 score. Devoyle started the second contest but was relieved by Webster who took the loss, 3-2.

In the year's final series at Nurnberg, Munich's stellar hitting attack in the last frame edged out the Nurnbergers, 14-13. Helm, relieving in the seventh, chalked up the win. After tying the contest seven all in the sixth, the Munich crew allowed the winning run to score with two out in the bottom half of the final inning.

The '53 infield included Chandler, Henry, Tinker and Conti; Caddes, Williams, Helm, Wertz made up the outfield. The battery for Munich was Webster and Devoyle pitching, Fred McLeay and Boswell Ulmer behind the plate.

Led by Williams (.471), Helm (.435), and Conti (.409) the Munich Mustangs, as a team, batted .270 and fielded .865. Webster earned a 1.76 average by striking out 54 opposing batters in 33 2/3 innings to set a command pitching record.

SENIOR BOYS' DORM

The Senior Boys' Dorm at 85 Harthausen Strasse is a very quiet place — on Friday and Saturday nights. The lights-out bell is rung at 10:00, when it can be found, and then the fun begins! Between rolling waste paper baskets and exploding firecrackers Miss Erikson runs upstairs, but by the time she gets to the third floor, we're all in bed sleeping like babies.

To open the school social season we gave a big Open House. Faculty and students all turned out to dance, eat, and get acquainted.

The slate of dorm officers this year included: Don Caddes, president; Gil Decker, vice-president; Dick Conti, secretary-treasurer; Pete Wakefield, Teen Club representative; and Bob Mumma, social chairman.

The Senior Boys' Dormitory

JUNIOR BOYS' DORM

Miss Gould opened the doors at 2 Faistenberger Strasse to admit twenty-nine freshman and sophomore boys last September.

Beginning with a wiener roast, we have sponsored a number of social affairs this year, including the big Christmas party.

Every night is movie night at our dorm and the monotony of homework and studying is further broken by ping-pong and chess tournaments.

The executive house council consisted of Bob Feldman, president; Bill Thompson, secretary; Gary Reed, fire captain; Stewart Kincaid, sophomore representative; Tom Pearson, freshman representative; Bill Cash and Bob Boston, floor representatives and Clarence Balkey, our delegate to the Teen-Age Club.

SENIOR GIRLS' DORM

Our home away from home, that's the dorm. We thirty-one girls have learned to live together and like it. Remember the peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, the 11:00 talks in the dark, Miss Collins and her bell, the mad scramble on Friday morning, and all the other things that made dorm life our life?

At the year's beginning, we elected Zana Pflugrath, president; Konni Taylor, vice-president; Pat Walsh, secretary-treasurer; and Patsy Noel, Teen Club representative.

The Sadie Hawkins Dance, the Open House, the Christmas party, and the monthly birthday parties were highlights of the year.

We leave with a feeling of sorrow because we're saying goodbye to an unforgettable part of our life.

JUNIOR GIRL'S DORM

On the eighth of September, 15 Harthausen Strasse was a riot of activity and confusion. Girls were rushing around meeting the dorm mother, Miss Davis, claiming a room and finally settling down to begin new friendships and renew the old ones.

After several weeks of "that wonderful dorm life" elections were held. We twenty-eight chose Janie Conley, president; Juanita Hillman, vice-president; Dottie Shohan, secretary-treasurer; Wanda Ollis and Nancy Donoval sophomore representatives, Ada Ros and Margaret Vaughn freshman representatives. This council governed our dorm throughout the year.

We have experienced the feeling of dependence upon others when given a portion of freedom. Each of us feels that living in a dorm provides an opportunity known to few, that of living with others your own age.

THE VOYAGER

NURNBERG AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL

1954

Hi...

Sorry I haven't written sooner but, honestly, I've just been too busy. You know how it is when final exam time rolls around.

In your last letter you asked me about the school I'm attending. It's really a very attractive school, and three stories of it. On the front is a wonderful glass facade which is beautiful until one starts decorating it for the Christmas holidays. Then one gets the feeling that he's never seen so much glass. I'm enclosing a picture of the school so you can see what it's like from the outside. The inside is very modern. All the windows have red and white awnings, and just inside the front door there is a huge mural. I thought you might be interested in that, so I'm sending along a picture of it.

By now you're probably wondering what the other picture is. It's a snapshot of the dormitory. Okay, okay! If you'll calm down a minute, I'll tell you why a high school has a dormitory.

You see, there are so many little villages with just one or two kids of high school age living there that it's impossible to build a high school in each town. So we have high schools in several large cities, and the students from outlying districts attend them by using the dormitories and going home only on week-ends. Get it?

There are also three elementary schools and a kindergarten on the "campus" of our school. One of the elementary buildings was finished just last fall. In fact, the whole school is comparatively new, since it was completed in January, 1951.

I'll finish this later. Mother wants me to go to the PX for her...

FACULTY

...Hi! I'm back again. After glancing over your letter to see what you wanted to know, I've decided on the faculty. Okay?

I'll have to begin with last year so you will get everything straight. You see, Miss Palmer was our guidance director last year. She was doing a wonderful job and knew this school like a book — so when we needed a new principal this year, Miss Palmer was appointed. And we certainly are lucky! She's a very fine person and, more important, a wonderful friend.

We have something in our school that you don't have. What? — a school officer, of course. What's that? Well, the military schools here have school officers that handle the "military" part of school administration, such as transportation, military correspondence, and loads of other things. I'd hate to have Lieutenant Gerber's job, but she's the nicest person and she's certainly helping us.

I won't go into detail about the rest of the faculty because, to be honest, there are way too many. But I thought maybe you'd be interested in knowing how they happen to be teaching over here. They are very carefully selected according to their past experience and education. Most of the teachers love to travel and spend their vacations and holidays in Switzerland, France, Austria, and many other countries.

This is the first year I've ever seen teachers that really enjoy a high school dance. Every single teacher comes to the dances, and they seem to have as good a time as we do. Of course, the teachers have their private parties too, and according to the faculty, they have a wonderful time! Here are some snapshots.

Oh, another thing. We are privileged to have a nurse and a dentist right here in the school. Wonderful, huh?

CLASSES

At last, we're seniors! Did you ever think we'd make it? Remember when we were freshmen? We'd look at the upperclassmen and wonder if we'd ever be lucky enough to say, "WE'RE seniors." We made it, gal, and now we haven't much longer to go. I'm sure I'll always remember my senior year; it's been so much fun.

Since the kids come and go from month to month in army schools, we can't elect our class officers at the end of the year as you do in Stateside schools. We never know who's going to be here the next year. So that's the first thing we do when school starts.

We very promptly elected Jack Crenshaw Student Council president. Horton Chandler became our class president; Ann Moore, our vice-president; Bette Thomas, our secretary; and Charles Cobb, our treasurer. Bernice Coghlan and Bette Thomas were elected as class representatives to the Student Council.

We certainly have had our share of fun this year — yelling ourselves hoarse at the games, attending open house parties at the dorm, skating, dancing at the youth center, and picnicking. And, of course, there were the big dances — the homecoming dance, the Christmas formal, the Valentine dance, and, last but not least, our beloved junior-senior prom. We seniors certainly added our share of laughter to the fun!

I certainly wish you could be here to graduate with me. We had some big plans about graduation, didn't we? But I'll be seeing you soon.

Enough about the seniors. If you can stand the scribble, I'll start another page and tell you about our underclassmen. Oh, before I forget it, here are some snapshots of a few of the kids...

... Oh yes, the underclassmen. I really don't know where to start so bear with me, please.

For the first time in Nurnberg history, the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes all have been large enough to be divided into two homerooms. To get things started right, the juniors elected Marvin Phillips as their president. The sophomores followed suit by electing Kent Harrison and Wesley Saylor as their leaders. And finally the freshmen elected Delores Genzel for their president.

These three classes furnished us with many star players for our teams. The fellows, most of them new to this school, came forth with flying colors.

And, of course, they had their share of social life. The sophomores gave a beautiful Christmas formal with out-of-this-world decorations and, to top it all, tricky little presents for the teachers.

We can't forget the junior-senior prom. The juniors really worked hard this year to finance and present one of the best proms ever. I think the seniors can sympathize with them because we know how much trouble — and how much fun — it was to give the prom last year.

We have a wonderful crop of future seniors in our school this year. They have what it takes — school spirit, pep, and intelligence. It almost makes me wish I could start all over again.

Let me start a new sheet of paper, and I'll tell you all about our clubs...

SCHOOL LIFE

Our activities were so popular this year that a seventh period was set aside especially for clubs. For our "rah, rah" boys, we have the Lettermen's Club, and the kids all decked out in green and white at the games belong to the Pep Club. For those who feel they have a talent for writing, there are the Journalism Club, newspaper, and the annual. The students who have maintained a "B" average belong to the National Honor Society. Brains, you know.

We really have a wonderful Student Council this year. Because of them, we have a Saturday radio program and a much more organized social schedule.

For the sports minded, we have the Rifle Club (alias the gun-happy gang), the Bowling Club, and the Girl's Athletic Association. And the Chess Club is so popular that it meets three times a week. For the shutter-bugs, we have a Camera Club. There they not only snap pictures but also learn the fundamentals of photography.

One of our most popular clubs in school is the German-American Club. Everyone feels that our relationship with the Germans is important; therefore most of the school belongs to the club, and it has really been active.

We have a wonderful mixed chorus. Those who belong have done a marvelous job singing at assemblies and for the various women's clubs. And, then too, there are those who are looking to the future with stars in their eyes. For them, we have the Dramatics Club.

We're so very proud of our school that a lot of spirit and effort goes into making our clubs worthwhile...

... I hope you'll forgive me for rattling on and on, but I can't help myself. Once I get started writing, I just can't stop until I've said it all. And now for SPORTS!

Since football is my favorite and also because the season is first in the school year, I'll start with that. We had a very good season studded with some spectacular runs. The fellows were very enthusiastic about going out — just about every boy in school was there for the first meeting. Right off the bat, they elected Gene Horan captain. He led them through some very exciting games.

By the time the boys had their breath back and some of the aches and pains were forgotten, basketball season was upon them. With renewed spirit, they practiced and practiced — and practiced. Although we lost our first game, we soon started rolling, and before we knew it, the season was over. Then baseball season was upon us. The tangy spring air had given the boys new life! And what a wonderful season we had! Next to football, I love baseball most. To me the sound of the bat hitting the ball is beautiful. Of course, with baseball one thinks of hot dogs and cokes. We had these too. I think I gained fifty pounds. More fun!

All those boys that were running around the field in their bathing trunks weren't really off their rockers. They were just practicing for the annual spring track meet. They all got over their huffing and puffing in time to put up a very good show...

Well, gal, I've tried to give you an all-round description of our school. I hope I've succeeded. All in all, the school's not so different from the ones back home. It's true that not many of the schools back in the States have dormitories, but they're a lot of fun and it's very good experience for the kids. It gives them a responsibility — having to watch out for themselves without their parents' keeping them in line. It's good training for when they're on their own. Don't you agree?

Another thing that's nice about being over here is that we can visit France, England, Holland, Switzerland, and many other European countries. They're all so close and they certainly provide an exciting way to spend holidays.

I must close now, but I'll write again in the very near future. I'll be waiting for your answer. Please hurry!!!

Bye now,

History

Progress — an eight-letter word which in itself describes Paris American High School's four year history. An increase in enrollment from 25 students to 143, an increase in faculty members from 5 to 15 and changes in location are among its biggest advances. The school has seen four moves: 53 Rue de la Faisanderie to 3 Rue Cimara, then back to Faisanderie and finally to the present school at Bleriot Plant, 7 Rue Gallieni, Suresne. The Bleriot Plant, a former airplane factory, has been rebuilt to house the Headquarters Seine Area Command. It provided many new facilities which greatly boosted the morale of the students: a music room, an audio-visual room, and a gymnasium.

There was some bitter with the sweet, however — heat and plumbing mishaps caused some inconvenience, but like experienced veterans, the students and faculty turned their troubles into laughs! A wonderful principal, Dr. James R. Johnston; a dependable school officer, Lieutenant Richard Spencer; and a full time counselor, Miss Elizabeth Funkhouser, have efficiently guided the high school this year.

New courses such as typing 2, shorthand, more French classes and more arts and crafts helped to enlarge the school curriculum while activities — field trips, school dances, chorus, and the basketball tournament in Germany — helped to keep school spirit high.

Paris American High School may look forward to a bright future. After years of inadequate space and facilities, February saw the beginning of construction on the new dependent school, which should be ready for use September, 1954.

For if they were to return in later years to the halls of their school in an airplane factory at Bleriot, they would certainly be confronted with a flood of memories. Around every corner would lurk an apprehensive freshman with a large F lipsticked on his forehead. The seniors remember the culmination of that unparalleled freshman initiation day, the senior "Sock Hop" honoring the revived freshmen.

Outstanding in their memories would be these highlights of the year: the Student Council elections, Senior skip day and trip, the basketball tournaments, and prom night and Brad Hosmer's alarm clock wrist watch ringing in Government class.

They will always remember the laughter and closeness they shared as a class. The seniors will perhaps hear echoes of this laughter in the vicinity of room 37, where they battled long and loudly in senior class meetings, and shared lunch over a blaring phonograph.

Mr. Harvey, senior sponsor, must be included in these echoes, for his voice sounded mightily on the ears of the '54 grads during the school year.

These are all memories to be cherished, but the ghosts which linger on to be re-encountered in a tour of these halls are the phantoms of personalities, the people who made the Paris Class of '54 unique. As the largest class ever to be graduated from P. A. H. S. and yet the smallest group in school, it is no wonder the class of '54 was unique. Representing the two extremes of height were Howard Gates and Anne Bradford, the tallest and shortest P. A. H. S. students. Between these two were the rest of the seniors and the memories they recall to us. The eternal prepping for Miss Rahm's memorable English tests, Yon Lindsey and Harold Hughes reading aloud from the witches scene in "Macbeth" — "Double, double toil and trouble —", the gray, drippy, Paris days when they wondered if the sun would ever shine again, the signs of a black and red "Paris" jacket as a P. A. H. Left Row, top to bottom:

Mme. Bartoli converses with French III students Joan Rubinacci, Anne Hampton, Sally Gearhart, and Emily Kabrich. Howard Gates, Ray Isanes, and Martha Hoopman learning 3-D tick-tack-toe in trig class.

With a gigantic slide rule, Mr. Conrad (on chair) demonstrates problems to Howard Gates, Jack McCooley, and Brad Hosmer. Sally Gearhart takes her piano lesson from Mr. Humble.

Yon Lindsey, Harold Hughes, Dee Buchanan, Glenn Hall, Linda Levin, Anne Bradford, read "Macbeth" to the English class.

For American Government, Lou Sullenberger, Jackie Ridlehuber, Jack McCooley, Joyce Adams and Sonia Skonord conduct a panel discussion.

MILLIONS FROM AVIATION

Test pilot Yon Lindsey says "Fly and make millions!" Yon took his boss up once and scared him so badly that he promised Yon a junior partnership in Air Crafts, Inc., in order to get down in one piece.

Mr. Bradley Hosmer, multi-millionaire, says that he too owes his millions to aviation. While crash landing an old saber jet in the Badlands, he gouged up about 13 cubic feet of gold. He staked out a claim around it and just trucked it away.

WRESTLING HEROES

Louis "The Rock" Sullenberger and Richard "Hammerlock" Brooks will wrestle for the title "Mr. Universe" this coming week at Nebula 4. Sullenberger is in fine condition says his promoter. Undefeated after their world tour, this match proves to be the most notable event of the sports year, 1970.

Atmospheric changes due to waste gases from rocket ship exhaust required a repainting of the rainbow. Prominent artists, Joyce Adams and Sonia Skonord, have undertaken this task.

SOCIAL FLASHES

Millionaire, Jack McCooley threw one of the biggest social events of the year last night at the Stork Club. John Holmes, currently taking Sherman Billingsley's place, was the master of ceremonies. The song and dance team, Emily Kabrich and Anne Hampton, provided the entertainment but, as always, Mr. Jack McCooley himself stole the show with his ever-famous Charleston.

Dee Buchanan and Jane O'Malley have recently been "moonstruck" and are planning weddings later in the year. Linda Levin, beautiful, blond heiress, was seen last night at the McCooley Ball wearing the famed Kohinoor diamond.

NEW FILIBUSTER RECORD

It was revealed after the fourth annual conference of the Interplanetary Congress, that Senator Stan Baldwin had set a new record for filibustering: 52 hours, 37 minutes, and 46 seconds. He was awarded a new set of chrome plated vocal chords to reduce the harsh vibrations which set in after 35 hours of consistent conversation.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Posters and campaign managers started the candidates for Student Council officers on their way. In order to acquaint the student body with the candidates and their platforms, speeches by the candidates and their campaign managers were given at an assembly, and then voting took place. For the governing body of the school the students elected Brad Hosmer, president; Stan Baldwin, vice-president; Connie Taylor, secretary; and Richard Burke, treasurer. The homerooms were represented by Jack McCooley and Yon Lindsey, seniors; Donald Erlenkotter and Phil Peterson, juniors; Deidre Doolan and Marinell Peters, sophomores; William Gates and Julie Harmon, freshman. Adviser was Mr. Paul Coste. Through these homeroom representatives the Student Council kept in close contact with the wants and feelings of the student body; therefore, the Council could recognize school problems at once.

New ideas and plans were gained from the USAREUR conference at Kaiserslautern. Brad Hosmer and Connie Taylor represented Paris American High School and got to know other members of the Student Councils.

One of the most important duties of the Student Council this year was to increase favorable relations with the school rival, the American Community School.

Student cards were distributed by the Council so that the Students could be entitled to reduced rates at museums and other places of interest. The Council set up a student store and directory.

Guided by Mr. Coste, this leading body was striving constantly for a better student body government.

Themes - copy - pictures - layouts - dead-lines, these are just a few of the million-and-one headaches that faced the annual staff at the beginning of the year. The sponsors, Miss Dorothy Rahm and Miss Alice Brewer, assigned temporary editors and the staffs set to work. The literary, art, and photography staffs, all three, wracked their brains for a unique, yet Parisian theme. Harold Hughes was made editor-in-chief and other permanent editors were assigned. The literary staff worked on write-ups, striving to portray in vivid language the activities of the school. In co-ordination with the photography staff, this group wrote captions for the activity pictures.

In a picturesque and unusual way, the photography staff attempted to follow out the theme. One of the biggest jobs of the photography staff was getting the individual student and class pictures taken.

Presenting the theme in sketches and layouts was the tremendous task done by the art staff. They worked hard to be original and at the same time portray life at Paris American High School as vividly as possible. Being on the annual staff sounds like all work and no play - but here is the big surprise. The students worked, and worked hard - but they found a great deal of fun and enjoyment in doing it.

News and views of school life in Paris American High School were graphically and accurately reported by the Staff of the Pirate's Log. Sophomores and freshmen composed most of the staff and under the leadership of their editor, Tom Dudley, and their sponsor, Mr. Robert Zibell, they did an excellent job of covering school news. At every school event, large or small, there was a Pirate reporter on the job.

Like everything else, the Pirate's Log had its growing pains: inexperienced staff members learning how to find and write a story, shortages of paper and of typists, and lack of time. In spite of these and many other handicaps, each edition of the paper excelled its predecessor. One of the biggest and best of all was the Christmas copy.

An interesting, as well as an extremely helpful, project carried on by the Pirate staff was the exchange of school newspapers with other American schools in Europe and in the United States. They took advantage of every opportunity which would help make the Pirate's Log a more outstanding school paper. They worked diligently and their efforts were rewarded with success.

★ LIBRARY CLUB

Organized under the leadership of Mrs. Martin, the Library Club was one of the newer activities this year. Some objectives were to promote interest in the library, to do library work, and to teach others to use the library properly.

Several field trips to other libraries in Paris taught the club members a lot about large book collections. They also published a library bulletin.

All year the members were kept busy classifying and cataloguing new books, a lot of work; but looking back, they realized how much they had enjoyed it.

CHORUS

Music filled the air of the Paris American High School this year — music by two splendid choral groups, the mixed chorus and the girl's chorus. Under the direction of Miss Alice Brewer, they presented several successful concerts.

Highlights of the year were the seasonal concerts presented by the choral groups. In November, they presented a program of fall music at the American Student and Artists Center in Paris. To brighten the holiday season, the mixed chorus and the girls' chorus presented a Christmas Candlelight concert in the SHAPE Chapel at Camp Voluceau. The choral groups considered it a privilege to present some of our American ways and thoughts in this international setting.

In order to give students practical experience in secretarial work, the Secretaries' Club was organized with Miss Carla Lucas as adviser. All the girls worked in the office one period a day, and twice a week met with Miss Lucas to discuss techniques of their work and special problems. Filing, collecting absence slips, typing, and answering the phone were part of their duties in the office under Miss Edyta Podaska's direction. At times the girls also worked for Miss Elizabeth Funkhouser.

In April, the climax to the seasonal programs was a spring recital which included Easter music. One of the first opportunities for many of the chorus members to participate in a radio broadcast was the presentation of a concert over a French radio station in Paris. This splendid opportunity was arranged by the United States cultural attaché. The choral groups also sang for high school assembly programs. After all the hard work of rehearsing for their many concerts, the trip to Germany in May was a well-earned reward. At Frankfurt, they participated in a mass chorus of 500 voices — voices from all the American schools in USAREUR. This was a thrilling experience! Singing for Baccalaureate and graduation ended the happy school year for the chorus members.

With the expectation of success on the road of sports, the spirit of our school was at an all time high. But without the drive of the six "spark plugs" selected for their enthusiasm, this esprit de corps would have remained dormant. A new system of election was devised by which the cheerleaders were selected in open competition by points.

Under the leadership of Anne Hampton, the cheerleaders planned pep rallies, made posters and pom-poms to provide the needed encouragement to bolster the moral of the Paris team.

At the tournament in Germany we were very impressed by their fine representation of our small school. The spirit of our cheerleaders brought the students closer to the team and their contribution to the sports program was appreciated by everyone.

The potentiality of the Paris basketball squad was twice that of the previous year but it was only by their determination, fighting spirit, and the coaching of Mr. Max Perdue that they made winning an actuality.

No gym is the worst calamity a basketball team can face but they took it in their stride and worked harder to excel.

Three scrimmages with Army teams, from which the lads of Paris emerged victorious, molded them into a hard, fighting unit. An invitation by a French school celebrating the opening of their new gym meant a fast and interesting game.

Later the team traveled to Germany where they met Kaiserslautern and Frankfurt and then competed against American schools in France, Chateauroux and Rochefort. At their homecoming, the boys were both honored and surprised by the spirit of the reception given them by the students.

There first games, their tests of achievement, gave Paris a glimpse of the possible future success at the tournament in Germany.

An organization for all Paris American High School girls interested in sports, Girls Athletic Association had Miss Eleanor Baum as adviser. In the fall they elected Joanne Britton, president; Joan Bowser, vice-president; Joan Reynolds, secretary; Lee Harvey, treasurer; and Jeanne Voshel, recording secretary.

One of the main events of the year was the Sweetheart Dance in February, given in conjunction with the cheerleaders. Hard work meant a successful party for Paris and Rochefort.

During the spring awards assembly, girls who had earned 700 points by participating in various outside sports were awarded letters and emblems.

SCHOOL HISTORY

Rochefort, located in the province of Charente Maritime, is a quiet, picturesque French town. Built in 1665 by Colbert, it was once an ancient naval base. Used by Napoleon as an arsenal, it again serves an army — the United States Army.

Little did the French port authorities, previous occupants of Direction des Travaux Maritime, know that it would ever be occupied by an American School. The elementary students first initiated the building in April of 1953. The doors were closed for the summer months, but when Mr. Kyrios arrived from Berlin in August, he reopened the portals for the Rochefort American High School.

September 8, 1953, brought unfamiliar faces into the building. Students were swarming the halls and shouting greetings to old friends and making new ones as classes got under way. The teenage touch soon appeared in the rooms to give them that familiar look of high school. Dormitories, the mess hall, and Army buses soon felt the unmistakable presence of high school students.

Once the doors opened, supplies from Karlsruhe began arriving and came at intervals throughout the year. By mid-term the starting enrollment of 65 had risen to over 100. Students and teachers worked together, not minding the inconveniences and even enjoying them at times, conscious of the fact that they were beginning the history of Rochefort American High School.

PROPHECY

"Take it easy, you clumsy bag of bones. I'm not getting any younger you know! Ah, Sahib Dick Kitt, we meet again. Still in the Used Camel Business, I see. Twenty years since we left good old Rochefort High School; it didn't take you long to become the best camel dealer in Algiers.

"Where did I get my silly hat? Why I'll have you know it was designed expecially to match my personality by none other than Senora Shirley Erickson of Madrid. You know, of course, that she has a special contract to make all the hats of the world renowned Miss Martha Arant, who was our class sponsor and has contributed so much to the fields of science and psychology."

Taking a short skip to Lisbon, I dropped off at the hospital to check on a sprained ankle. Who should come stomping down the corridor but Dr. Sandy Elliott, the only doctor to earn twenty degrees. We had a short chat and he gave me the address of Barbara Zawilinski in Paris, where she is getting ready to set up an international theater agency. Through her I renewed my acquaintance with John Gorski, first American director of the Folies Bergere.

Trying to get plane reservations was like trying to take the holes out of Swiss cheese. But luck was with me, for I happened to meet Sir Herbert Smith, who gave me a ride in his private plane. He was on his way to London to have his portrait painted for being the outstanding actor of the past two decades.

While there I met Cecil B. Turnbull (alias Bob). He was directing the filming of Macbeth for three-dimensional colored television. Receiving an invitation to a reception, I was overwhelmed to find the guest of honor, "Speed" Hedges. He had just set a new motorcycle record of 500 M. P. H. Speaking of records, all over the world people are listening to that ever popular recording of Joan Leonard's "What Do They Do On a Rainy Night in Fouras", (on a Rocket label).

A few days later, I picked up a newspaper and smack on the front page was the ten times winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, Margaret Ross. This time the award was for her outstanding work in marriage counseling. Working side by side with Dr. Ross is her assistant, Macy Sunday. She conducts a class in Home Economics, teaching her students the principles of pickling frog's legs.

I attended several lectures of Mr. Cecil G. Keltner as he demonstrated a new kind of dye developed in his chemical laboratory. It can be used for everything from a hair dye to food coloring. Although its main selling power is that it is color-fast, it is only perfected in one color. Red!

Scooting to Switzerland, I made it just in time to hear Ed Middleton in a debate on current world problems. You remember he has won, for the past eight years, the contest sponsored by the United States for the most talkative person in the world. How times have changed!

Italy, again the fashion center of the world, attracted me to a private showing of gowns designed by Betty McBee. Her recent book, How to Get Fat in Ten Easy Lessons, is a best seller.

And what have I been doing for the past twenty years? Well, before becoming a world traveler, I spent ten years in the Fouras jail for writing the prophecy for the Senior Class of 1954. This sign now hangs over my former cell, HERE LIVED A ROCHEFORT HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT, DOLORES 'writer's cramp' HARRIS. C'est la vie!"

WILL

We, the 1954 Senior Class of Rochefort American High School, being of sound mind (?) and body, do hereby will and bequeath as the parties of the first part to the parties of the second part the following:

- I, Sandy Elliott, leave my fortitude to Dick Davis.
- I, Shirley Erickson, leave one carton of gum to Mr. Kyrios.
- I, John Gorski, leave to anyone living in La Rochelle, my ability to get to Fouras on a moment's notice.
- I, Dolores Harris, leave to Pat Riley, my ability to talk fast and to make a mess of things in general.
- I, Tex Hedges, leave to Jackie Keltner, my ability to take corners without flopping on my motorbike.
- I, Jerry Keltner, leave my red, red hair and side burns to Jim Foley.
- I, Dick Kitt, leave to Bill McKee, my ability to look intelligent in class while really asleep.
- I, John Leonard, leave my singing ability to Billie Miller.
- I, Betty McBee, leave my blond streak to Johanna Skaggs.
- I, Ed Middleton, leave my long bus rides to all future commuters.
- I, Margaret Ross, leave my brains to L. J. McDaniel.
- I, Bart Smith, leave my ability to behave like a gentleman in English class to the Sophomores.
- I, Macy Sunday, leave one pack of Double Bubble gum to Deon Zinnamon.
- I, Bob Turnbull, leave to the next person who gets the job of running errands, my Packard.
- I, Barbara Zawilinski, leave my eyes with the dreamy look to Irene Reim.

SENIOR HISTORY

"Underclassmen, back door!" It didn't take us long as the first Senior Class of Rochefort High School to establish the privileges due "exalted" seniors. Twelve strong, we spent the first few weeks getting acquainted with studies, students, and instructors. Being represented in all organizations, we considered it our responsibility to give the underclassmen tips on our experiences in our climb to broader education. After a short deliberation we elected our officers: Bob Turnbull, president; Sandy Elliott, vice-president; Dolores Harris, secretary-treasurer; with Bob and Macy Sunday as our representatives, helping to organize the Student Council. John Gorski, Tex Hedges, Jerry Keltner, Joan Leonard, Betty McBee and Bart Smith rounded out the class to ten, as Tom Hollenbeck and Tom Whittlesey left us smaller in number but not in spirit. Before mid-semester, Shirley Erickson, Dick Kitt, Ed Middleton, Margaret Ross, and Barbara Zawilinski joined the ranks to bring up our grand total to fifteen.

Indoctrinating the freshmen to high school life was one of our first important problems. Just what methods should be taken were discussed and discarded as we thought it wiser to leave a few of our gems of wisdom here and there to be absorbed by those who would consider themselves experts on "how to get by in high school".

A slight push toward the social season and a Halloween dance established the tempo soon picked up by the other classes for monthly dances.

Our successful climb to graduation was guided by Miss Martha Arant, our sponsor, who gave much appreciated advice and help for every occasion.

Money! It was always a problem, so with paraffin covering us and the chemistry lab, a money-making project was launched in the form of Christmas candles. With ideas galore for our senior trip, money-making projects, and how to get better grades, we began to look at the new year with the realization that our four years of sweat and toil (packed with plenty of fun and memories) were not over yet. The coming of graduation set us in a tizzy with endless preparations to make.

The advantages and opportunities of the high schools in Germany very seldom reached us; so we created opportunities of our own. We considered ourselves more fortunate than our friends stateside, as our student-faculty relationship was closer. We received individual assistance not only from teachers, but from students, who were experts in everything from "Beowulf" to beauty aids.

The speculations of the future, our hopes and ambitions, our minor grievances and other incidents that seemed such catastrophes, were all shared in our own "family" group, the Senior Class of 1954.

Three down and one to go! But what wonderful three years they have been. Our junior year will be especially remembered, not only for the pranks and fun, but the work as well, (remember American History?).

We fought off the seniors and underclassmen with a grand and glorious total of sixteen. Our class officers were the best, naturally; to prove this were Roy McDaniel, serving as president; Jim Dumas, vice-president; Deanie Larson, secretary-treasurer; with Elizabeth Murphy and Jackie Keltner as our representatives on the Student Council. At mid-term we lost Deanie to the service, leaving Irene Reim to step up and fill the vacancy of secretary-treasurer.

The class contributed to the Student Council by sponsoring a Thanksgiving Dance, with the promise of another dance later in the year to aid our funds for the Junior-Senior Prom. Remember the Prom? We could never have made it such a success without the assistance of Miss Wagner, our sponsor.

Annual, newspaper, basketball, Student Council, and cheerleaders — we were well represented in each. We look forward to the completion of our high school career, making the next, our senior year, the best of all.

The first day of school and the dread of dozens of new faces soon vanished as we banded together to prepare the freshmen for high school and to acknowledge to the other classes that the sophomores were on hand and everything was under control.

To get the business side of our famed class under way, we chose Bill Kelliker for president; Billie Miller as vice-president; Pat Riley, secretary; and Jerry Guyton, treasurer; completing the officers with La Princie Prince and Bill McKee serving as the sophomore Student Council representatives.

The Christmas season brought our dance, complete with the finishing touch of a Santa Claus. Now we had made our debut into the social circle, but it would have been impossible without the guiding hand of Miss Nash. She untangled the botched up messes we always managed to make.

No organization was complete without a few sophomores to liven the proceedings and to lend them a colorful touch.

History, English, French, Geometry, and Biology — work was never so hard! We often wondered if teachers had ever heard of not giving homework. Oh, to be back to the first two weeks of school without books or assignments.

To be a sophomore is a wonderful experience and one which we will never forget; but we are looking forward to our junior year with great anticipation and excitement and we feel assured that it holds in store many new experiences.

In the fall of 1953, we entered the hallowed halls of Rochefort High School as the first Freshman Class. Although we were without organizations at the beginning of the year, the school calendar began to take shape slowly but surely. We lent our classes, sports, and activities what we could, gaining profitable experience for our coming years. Mr. Gray and Mr. Caligiuri, our sponsors, brought the two home-rooms together to plan our Valentine's Dance to aid the Student Council funds.

We elected the following officers for 9 A: Ronnie Rogers, president; Bill Cornish, vice-president; Dick Davis, secretary; and Don McClellan as treasurer. Carrying out the duties of 9 B were John Knight, president; Bill Meserve, vice-president; and Barbara Warren, secretary-treasurer. Kim Elliott, 9 B, and Lance Burris, 9 A, represented us on the Student Council.

With one year's work behind us, we look forward to the remaining three years of high school life with less skepticism and an abundance of enthusiasm.

BASKETBALL

The Rochefort High School basketball squad under Coach Caligiuri got off to a rousing start, winning the first two games of the season from Chateauroux High. In the first game, Dick Kitt was "high point man" with 13 points, and in the second game, L. J. McDaniels led with 12 points. Prior to the first game no gym was available, so practice sessions were held in an Army hanger, 28 miles away. Though the team was not large it made up for its smallness with skill, determination and spirit.

We are looking forward to a continued victory trail in spite of limited facilities.

ANNUAL STAFF

Seated: Macy Sunday; Sandy Elliott, Art Editor; John Gorski
Dolores Harris, Literary Editor; Margaret Ross; Miss Foos, Sponsor

The deadline is February 1, 1954, and what a race to finish on time! Paper, ink, and typewriter ribbons are strewn everywhere! As the last picture is slipped into its envelope, a sigh of relief settles over the room from the entire staff.

Bob Turnbull, Editor-in-chief; Sandy Elliott, art editor; Dolores Harris, literary editor; Jackie Keltner, layout editor; Macy Sunday, senior editor; and Jerry Keltner serving on all committees, strove to make the 1954 annual one to be long remembered.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, made up of two elected representatives from each class, plus dorm presidents, and the sponsor Miss Arant, drew up a constitution this year which was submitted to each class for suggestions and further improvements.

Dances were sponsored by the Student Council with a different class in charge of details each month. Proceeds were entered into a central fund to be used by school organizations and for authorized school activities.

ROCKETTE

Rockette, a bi-monthly publication, produced under the direction of Sandy Elliott, editor-in-chief; Jerry Keltner, feature editor; and Miss Dolores Harris, sponsor, was Rochefort High School's first newspaper. As assignments completed, it became a job for the typing staff. Jerry Keltner and Dolores Harris took over as the first process began. Stencilling! Cut the stencil on the machine, turn the crank and out rolled the sheets from the corners, crooks, and corners of Rochefort High School.

CHEERLEADERS

ta Beck; Barbara Zawilinski; Dolores Harris, Captain; Gail Pickard; Nancy Boyer; Gene Dashner

The battle of sore throats — cheerleaders tryouts — was well fought. The results: six of the liveliest students in school began work on routines to bring out school spirit and to give each game a certain touch of purple and white. The captain, Dolores Harris, called and directed practices throughout the season. In case the strain became too much for anyone, Pat Riley, substitute, completed the squad. Miss Foss, The Rockettes' sponsor, offered needed advice.

DORM

On September 7, 1953, the dormitories at Rochefort High School opened their doors to admit the first students from the French Coastal area. They came from Bussac, Captieux, Braconne, St. Nazaire, and the Bordeaux area.

In September the dorm officers were chosen. The boys elected Sandy Elliott, president; Bart Smith, vice-president; Bill Moore, secretary-treasurer. The girls chose Kim Elliott, president; Maureen King, vice-president; Liz Murphy, secretary-treasurer.

From our first greeting to the dorm with its army cots, foot lockers, cold salt water showers and fleas to mahogany beds, lockers, hot water and steam heat, the dorms gradually improved. How we remember the smoky soot from the coal stoves, the early morning dash to the mess hall amid mud and slush, and the delight of the first snow.

LIFE

New arrivals sent both dorms in a flurry for close examinations and general inspections. But visiting teams billeting here always managed to set the whole area in a dither.

On Armistice Day we toured Charante Maritime, the Department of Cognac and Angouleme. The Sleeping Beauty Chateau, the amphitheater, and the Castle de la Rocheforcauld introduced to us the surrounding area of Rochefort. We not only enjoyed giving a Christmas program, but were proud to know that it started a series of student assemblies and activities.

To Miss Reynolds and Miss Sanders, our dorm supervisors, we offer many thanks for putting up with us. We're quite sure they will never have another experience like this again. C'est formidable!

STUTTGART

STUTTGART HIGH MAKES FIRST YEAR'S HISTORY

Stuttgart High School originally was a junior high school consisting of the seventh and eighth grades, and was located in Möhringen from 1946 to 1948. Because of the tremendous increase of incoming students, the school was moved to larger quarters at Robinson Barracks in 1948. That year the ninth grade was added to the school. The fine facilities made for a fine school, but the student body soon outgrew this home too. In 1949 the school moved to its present site, and additional space was added in 1950.

Due to the increased student population in Stuttgart, the second addition to the school in 1953 made feasible a new high school which was sorely needed. The new high school of modern design is equipped with the most up-to-date and efficient facilities possible in a modern high school building.

Our new school was not unique, in that its opening was accompanied by the usual problems and headaches, such as a student body larger than had been anticipated and a shortage of teachers. The count of students from the seventh through the twelfth grades was 276 students with only thirteen teachers and one substitute teacher. After a few weeks we adjusted ourselves and we began organizing our activities. By January we proudly watched 302 students file into classrooms with an increased faculty of eighteen teachers and one teacher librarian.

The aim of the student body during this first year has been to establish high standards with the hope that our student body produces successful scholars and happy citizens of the world who will bring glory to themselves and to their country.

SENIOR CLASS

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

So this is the Senior Class of Stuttgart High... didn't think there would be so many seniors... Who's your homeroom teacher?... What subjects are you taking?... WHAT, senior privileges haven't been passed by Student Council yet???... When do we find out about ordering our class rings??...

Hundreds of questions and comments were aired by this, the first senior class of Stuttgart American High School. Our members hail from nineteen states, the territory of Hawaii, and the Dominion of Canada. Many of us attended other high schools in the zone in our previous years of high school.

We discovered that it is hard work starting from scratch. As seniors we found ourselves leaders in clubs, Student Council, and other school activities. Then came one of our big social responsibilities for the year, the Christmas Formal. Class rings were decided on and ordered; mid-terms were getting closer. We managed to throw several informal sock-hops during basketball season.

Then mid-terms were past, college boards were coming up and we began to work harder still towards graduation. Last minute plans had to be made concerning our senior trip, senior skip day, and our class picnic. Cardboard graduation caps gave our classmates a look into our future. Committees were busy working on final details for Baccalaureate and graduation.

With a feeling of accomplishment we look back on four full years of high school. We wonder especially how we managed to do so much this year with all the work and activities; particularly the informal dances, the Christmas Formal, the Junior Senior Prom, the basketball tournaments, and the music festival. It is with a sigh of relief that we present our gift to the school; we are now ready to take our leave. The big day has finally arrived and we greet it with misgivings and high expectations.

No matter what our future plans are — college, the Armed Services, or work — we shall always remember our high school years; especially our senior year here at Stuttgart High School.

We, the first graduating class of Stuttgart American High School, in memory of our senior year, do hereby establish this to be our last will and testament.

Section I

To Mr. Wiksten, our principal and the faculty, who have brought us through many trials, we leave our sincere appreciation for their cooperation.

Section II

To Miss Moody, Miss Streckfuss, and Mr. Ford, our senior advisers, we leave our many thanks for all the wonderful help they have given us.

Section III

To the underclassmen, we leave the following:

- To the juniors, we leave our privileges as "High and Mighty Seniors".
- To the sophomores, we leave the ability to make money for the future seniors.
- To the freshmen, we leave the ability to have fun in future years.

Section IV

As our last wishes we would like to add the following personal bequests:

- I, Dee Allgeier, leave to the senior class of next year, the trials and tribulations, the joys and sorrows of being a senior in one of the newest high schools in the zone.
- I, Mike Bogart, leave my "witch" laugh to anyone clever enough to make it.
- I, Jeff Bolt, leave bus patrolling to anyone willing to be scalped by a marauding third grader.
- I, Sandy Giles, leave my southern accent to Connie Hunter.
- I, Bob Hines, leave senior English Literature to all the juniors.
- I, Pat Hibbard, leave my smile to Joe Russo.
- I, Bob Finkenaar, leave my various recorded voices to anyone who can master them.
- I, Frances Fuller, leave my ability to blush to Sally Brewer.
- I, Jim Hoge, leave Macbeth to the Junior Class.
- I, Donna Gonnella, leave my red hair and terrible temper to Joan Fuller.
- I, Paul Bonham, leave "the office" to my executive minded junior.
- I, Marion Burlingham, leave my ability to burn my candle at both ends to Nancy Andrick.
- I, Art Babb, leave "my line" to my brother, Glenn Babb.
- I, Nancy Douthitt, leave my red hair to Maxine Goodrich.
- I, Tom Whittlesey, leave my funny hop to anybody that's "gone" enough to take it.
- I, Charlotte Lundy, leave all my pep to anyone that wants it.
- I, Jack Morrison, leave all my textbooks to John Miles.
- I, Sandy Morse, leave poodle cut to anyone who wants it.
- I, Phyllis Luando, leave my educated toes to Nancy Andrick.
- I, Fred McLeay, leave my nickname "booby" to Pat Hoge.
- I, Jackie Lloyd, leave my love for square dancing to Eva Colbert.
- I, Marylyn Lott, leave, and am glad of it.
- I, Bob Morton, leave my English class to anyone who is foolish enough to take it.
- I, June Hunter, leave my bleached blonde hair to Marie Kline.
- I, Ray Jackson, leave the will to will Carl Broswiech's will to whomsoever will will his will better than I will.
- I, Shirley Issacs, leave my ability to argue to Marie Kline.
- I, Lenny Katsarsky, leave all the girls in the other schools to Joe Russo.
- I, Laura Hunter, leave my ability to be late to everything to all punctual students.
- I, Mickey Jeffery, leave "the good ole school days" to the future senior class.
- I, Roger Knight, leave my cough syrup bottle to anyone who wants it.
- I, Ann Fernald, leave my long hair and love of dancing to Barbara Lintner.
- I, Fred Little, leave my ability to get along with Herr Reek to Joe Russo.
- I, Audry Leiker, leave my height to Frances Williamson.
- I, Norman Riggins, leave the "boggy dingles" to anyone who can find it.
- I, Jackie Rees, leave Ha! I'm taking it with me.
- I, Marsha Shoppach, leave my job as editor of the annual to someone who is willing to work hard.
- I, Dixie White, leave a chicken in the 4 hole to Mr. Matthews.
- I, Jane Snyder, leave my giggles at parties to Marie Kline.
- I, Jack Thomas, leave my northern accent to Miss Streckfuss.
- I, Beverly Woodka, leave my scars and bruises to a future senior.
- I, John Van Dyke, leave "winged victory" to anybody that wants it.
- I, Roy Wood, leave my quietness to Mitzi Munn.

Two gaunt trees stand a sentinel watch
From a lonely hill each night,
And faithfully the city guard,
Till the coming of the light.
The twinkling lights erase the fears;
Night abounds in every lane,
Its solitude knows joy and tears,
Until the light returns again.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

In early September the first Junior Class, thirty-seven strong, came trooping into a spic and span new Stuttgart High. These juniors were pleasurably aware of the freshness of a clean new building, and they were also aware of their new responsibilities. There were stacks of textbooks, a gleaming gymnasium, an awe-inspiring science laboratory, and classrooms designed for work.

The class promptly held its first junior class meeting, electing John Miles, president; Peter Liwski, vice-president; Patricia Hoge, secretary and Nancy Andrick treasurer. In subsequent class meetings the class decided to operate concessions for the football and basketball games. A homecoming dance after the first football game was the initial success of many class projects.

Then came the carnivals in early December and March. These were the biggest money raising projects of the year and were marked successes because of the excellent publicity.

The object of the fund raising, the Junior-Senior Prom, wound up the year's activities in a gala whirl of fun and dancing.

As the class advances to the rank of seniors, it leaves these newly established precedents to the next junior class.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

As another school year closes, we, Stuttgart's first Sophomore Class can reminisce over this year's events.

Being the largest class in the school, we were divided into two homerooms under the capable leadership of both Miss Clark and Miss Michener.

We were certainly well represented in school activities. We contributed three cute and peppy cheerleaders: Joan Fuller, Sandra Martin, and Ann Perez. Also, many of the sophomore boys were active participants in all inter-scholastic sports.

Although most of us will depart from Stuttgart High School before we become seniors, we will always cherish the memories of our sophomore year in Stuttgart, the city of flowers.

STUDENT COUNCIL

When Stuttgart American High School opened its doors in early September, the many problems facing both the students and faculty loomed into view. The students, in order to cope with their responsibilities began taking steps towards the organization of an efficient student council.

Under the capable supervision of Miss Woerner the Student Council became a reality. First, temporary representatives were chosen. Representation was in the following manner: each class, grades nine through twelve, had the class president and a representative from each homeroom on the Council; grades seven and eight had one representative plus the two class presidents on the Council. The president and vice-president were nominated by the Council and were voted on by the student body. The secretary and the treasurer were elected from within the Council. The officers were as follows: first semester president, Leonhard Katsarsky; first semester vice-president and second semester president, Paul Bonham; second semester vice-president, Jack Morrison; secretary, Susan Raber; and treasurer, Peter Liwski.

Some of the responsibilities of the Council were: the co-ordination of student activities, establishing policies of conduct for the student body, establishing a bus code, aiding the mess hall operation, and supporting athletic activities.

Stuttgart American High School made great progress due to the hard work and effort on the part of its Student Council.

THE ANNUAL STAFF

When the clubs were organized, the Annual drew many interested and talented students. Work began at once. At the time there were pictures of each class that had to be taken, money to be collected, and layouts to be started. We met on Saturdays and laid out many pages in advance of our schedule.

In the beginning the club worked as one unit. Then as each member of the club exhibited his talent, editors were chosen and work became departmentalized.

The editors emerged as follows: Marion Burlingham and Marsha Shoppach, co-editors; Diane Allgeier, literary editor; Beth Colvin, assistant literary editor; Robert Hines, layout editor; and Marylyn Lott, staff artist. The last few days before the Annual Conference in Frankfurt found the staff working diligently in order to complete last minute details.

After the completion of the annual, a banquet was held by the staff to celebrate the results of their effort. At the banquet our appreciation was expressed for the help given by our advisers, Miss Streckfuss and Mr. Ford, without whom our section of the annual would have been impossible.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Paul Bonham, President
Robert Finkenaug, Vice-President
Diane Allgeler, Secretary
Marsha Shoppach, Treasurer
Miss LaVonne Land, Sponsor

The Stuttgart chapter of the National Honor Society was founded in October, 1953, with four charter members. There were two impressive induction ceremonies, one in February and one late in May. All the members carried on the duties and enjoyed the privileges of the society. The goal of the society was to encourage the qualities of leadership, citizenship, character, and service.

The German-American Club of Stuttgart High has had a wonderful experience this year in getting to know German teen-agers better. We started by having casual get-together parties. Then we visited the German schools and realized that there really is not too much difference in the way students think and act. Many of the American students in the club became good friends with German students and were asked to concerts, to German parties, and into German homes. We think that we have profited this year by promoting better German-American relations, and we have come to a closer understanding of each other.

Peter Liwski served as the president, Charlotte Lundy was the secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Fritz Reck was the sponsor.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

The purpose of the Photography Club is to gain new knowledge and to enjoy comparing pictures with other "shutter bugs."

The programs included a study of photographic techniques, a study of equipment, and contests to select the best photographs taken by members. Some of these photographs were entered in the 1953 Ninth Annual National High School Photographic Contest.

FOOTBALL

At the beginning of this, our first year at Stuttgart High School, any mention of football was followed by loud moaning and groaning from the students. There were two reasons for this: one, our coach was stalled in a nearby city by red tape, and two, we were scheduled to play six man football.

The solution to the first seemed also to solve the latter. When Coach Matthews arrived, he soon put the wheels to working and within a few days we were scheduled to play an eleven man football season. The Stuttgart Post team, or Stallions, took us under their wing and helped us in every way possible. They even let us use their uniforms.

There was an enthusiastic group of boys who turned out for football, but very little experienced material and almost no time to prepare for the games ahead.

On October 9 with only three days of scrimmage behind them, the Ponies yielded to Frankfurt 19-6.

The following week we again suffered defeat at the hands of the Heidelberg Lions.

Disappointed, but not discouraged, the Ponies returned to another week of practice after which we won a hard earned 15-12 victory over Wiesbaden.

With this long awaited victory behind us, we moved to Nuernberg where we received a 25-0 defeat.

Our next game, which was with Munich, was one of the most exciting of the season. School and team spirit was at its peak and the Ponies were trying hard to put a blemish on Munich's perfect record. We didn't win the game, but we did give Munich something to worry about, and we made them fight hard for their 32-20 victory.

One week later we played our final game against Kaiserslautern. There we closed our season with a 59-13 defeat.

Although we didn't have an outstanding record, we feel that we have learned a great deal, and we are looking forward to next season.

BASKETBALL

On February 11 Stuttgart High School's first basketball team started its season with a 34-38 win over Linz. This being our first season, there was not too much experienced material, but Coach Matthews and the boys worked hard to develop a team which could work together and which could win games. Their hard work was rewarded, for the following week the Ponies won from Nuernberg a 48-39 victory.

During the Christmas season the team and the coach worked hard and the school spirit mounted. On January 8 we met Munich on our home court and the moans were many when the game ended with a final score of Munich 52 and Stuttgart 50.

A week later we went to Kaiserslautern where we attempted to overshadow our loss, and succeeded with a 50-44 victory. Then we traveled to Heidelberg where we won a 60-43 victory over the Lions.

On January 29 Frankfurt came calling and returned home leaving us with the memory of a 70-56 loss.

With the season not half over the Ponies are riding in second place with four wins, two losses, and high expectations for success in the final stretch of the season.

AUF WIEDERSEHEN

Now we have come to the end of our four years, years filled with fun and memories which we shall never forget. But these have been scattered years. As seventh and eighth graders we were located in Japan and then in Porto Rica. As freshmen we were in Texas and in Virginia. As seasoned sophomores and juniors we left home and lived in the dormitories at Heidelberg. There we studied and laughed, sharing many precious memories. At last, the heights we have been working for have been reached. As seniors starting out fresh in our new, modern school, we elected our officers. It was a hard task leading 276 students, planning ways to build up our treasury, getting the dances organized, and establishing school traditions. But credit should also be given to our principal and teachers. They took over and taught several more classes than the normal teaching load, helped us plan, and pushed for us when we hit tough spots.

In these early months our hard work was rewarded in our successful sock hops, football games, slave sales, carnivals, and our beautiful Christmas formal.

We started our second semester with a victorious basketball team, and much school spirit. We were so proud of our successful March of Dimes drive that netted $165. Our reward was a riotous basketball game between the varsity team and the faculty. With spring new loves, school dances, picnics, track, and baseball hit the calendar of our school life. Then one of our most treasured moments arrived — the senior prom! Now graduation is here with the completion of our high school years and the beginning of a whole new life. With our rings, cards, and announcements intact, and privileges initialed we realize that at last the time has come. Our diplomas in hand and our eyes on the future, we are stepping out into our new world!

ANOTHER FASCHING

From my position high on Lahnstrasse hill, I can look down on the streets of Wiesbaden, where the annual Fasching parade is taking place. I can remember my first Fasching in 1915 when I was serving as a boys' school. Since then I have changed a great deal. Thirty years after I was built I was taken over by the American Forces as an elementary school. Five years ago fifty-six teen-agers came to me from Frankfurt and I was established as the Wiesbaden American High School. Since then I have added a gym, chemistry lab, art and homemaking departments, and 150 additional students. Each year my students form football, basketball, and track teams. They have assemblies and pep rallies in my gym and yell until I think my sides will split. Also they have parties and dances such as the Fasching party by the Student Council. This is another Fasching, which I will never forget. Next year there are plans to have a new school building so my students will be parting from me. I shall always have memories of them and know that they, too, will remember me.

CLASS HISTORY

Of course, seniors are always the very best class in school, but this year's seniors were determined to be absolutely matchless. As soon as we had been issued our school books and had grown accustomed to room 202-A, we elected officers. Bob Duncan became our harried president, Scottie Eldridge vice-president, Jane Cleckler secretary, and Julia Strader treasurer.

The first class project was freshman initiation. We prepared the first of many requests for special permission to Mr. Bushey, our sponsor, and freshman initiation was on. The freshmen agreed that we were matchless.

Football season began and "yea team!" began to ring through our class meetings. Cecil Norquist, Ronny Covert, Mitch Turner, and Bob Duncan were on the team, while Cece Bradley became senior cheerleader. Other seniors sold cokes for our first fund raising project.

In October a days trip to the Rhein towns of Kiedrich, the Watch on the Rhein, and to Kloster Eberbach broke our routine of school.

Then came November with the homecoming dance and the departure of three seniors: our president, Bob Duncan, Arlene Francis, and Ann Mosely. Seniors Jane Cleckler and Cecil Norquist were chosen queen and king respectively of the dance.

The memorable Christmas formal was held at the Neroberg Club on December eighteenth. Ann Walker, the senior candidate, was elected queen. Just before vacation we held a Christmas party in our home-room. We exchanged gifts and had refreshments. After Christmas we came back ready for (?) exams.

Basketball season began and the school spirit soared sky high. Jack Schweizer, Willie Vasher, and Charles Kengla were the senior members of the team.

In January our greatest problem was ordering class rings. Just before the holidays we decided on a ring that everyone liked. Next we discussed the Senior Class trip to Spain, which took place over the Easter Holidays. To raise money for graduation and our Senior Ball, we made plans for a carnival to be held in April. After a cold German winter, we were glad for the arrival of June and all its many events. Exams, report cards, Baccalaureate, graduation, and the Senior Ball took their place in the last few days of school. Now we are departing from one another, each to go his own way; but we'll never forget our days and friends at W. H. S.

CLASS WILL

We, the graduating class of 1954, being of sound mind and body, do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

To the faculty we leave our thanks for their guidance and understanding.

Cece Bradley bequeaths her ability in algebra to Kathy Mather; Jane Cleckler bequeaths her ability to take minutes to the next Senior Class Secretary; Ronny Covert bequeaths his ability to play basketball to Bill Reynolds; Pat Diozzi bequeaths Wiesbaden High to the natives of darkest Africa; Scottie Eldridge leaves two hundred sheets of slightly-used paper and a large box of aspirin to the next annual staff; Diane Fairchild leaves "the times I've had as a senior to the Junior Class so they can enjoy the good ones and avoid the others"; Judy Hass bequeaths her singing ability to any future hog callers of Wiesbaden High; Lorna Jorgensen leaves her long hair to any one who will have it; Charles Kengla leaves all the light waves he used to next year's photographer; Martha Martin leaves Jim her athletic ability in hopes it will be truly appreciated; Pat Miller bequeaths to some needy junior her much used textbooks, but she takes all her wonderful memories of Wiesbaden with her; Cecil Norquist leaves all his football ability to Corky Taylor and his wonderful friendship to Bud Burpo; Dan Olson leaves to all future seniors excellent ability to make passing grades; Gae Robinson leaves the Presidency of the Student Council to Jim Fisher; Marilyn Rutherford leaves her brother Tony Rutherford to Bobbie Lutz; Jack Schweizer leaves Jim Martin "my most favored friendship with Coach Coyne, and dribbling ability" to Tony; Alfred Sickler gives his ability to be first in the lunch room to those who are not fast enough to get there first; Julia Strader leaves her ability to sing to Teena Williams; Mitch Turner leaves his height to Tom Rutherford; Wilford Vasher leaves his basketball suit to Wayne Murry; Ernest Waldy bequeaths his school bag to an absent minded freshman; Ann Walker bequeaths Clara to anyone who may want a twin; Clara Walker bequeaths her southern accent to all of y'all; Carol Wilburn leaves her ability to pass English to Bill Reynolds and lots of luck; Joyce Wolverton leaves Germany to her brother, De Wayne; Danny Zeff leaves his hook shot to Hoke West, who will need something to stay on the varsity next year.

SENIOR PROPHECY

In the spring of 1954 the Wiesbaden Senior Class went to Spain. One day while we were in Barcelona I secretly went to a fortune teller and asked her if she would foretell the futures of my classmates. As she gazed into her crystal ball, Senora Garcia predicted many strange events. I will relate them to you, but mind you, it is strictly confidential! Her words were "I see: The big top of The Bushey-Bushey Circus. In the center ring stands Bob Duncan announcing the main event, bareback rider CeCe Bradley. In the left ring is the world famous clown, Cede Norquist. The ball clouds up, then clears and I see Jane Cleckler and Pat Diozzi, seated in the front row of the Christian Dior fashion designers' convention in Paris, France. Alfred Sickler just received the patent on his newest invention, a classroom lounge chair. Gae Robinson, Julia Strader and Joyce Wolverton are competing for first prize, twin baby carriages, in the Mrs. Housewife contest. Arlene Francis is supervising a children's T. V. program. Here is Charles Kengla, photographing the Beauties in Atlantic City, which include Martha Martin, who is running for the title of Mrs. America. Ann Moseley has just set the new typing speed at 150 words per minute. Mitch Turner is treating a frequent patient to his dental office, Judy "Texas" Haas, a well known hillbilly singer; and Scottie Eldridge, now poetry editor of the Jack and Jill magazine often sees Daniel Zeff, top news reporter for the New Mexico state frog race. Who do I see sitting on the side line cheering for his pet frog but Dan Olson. Carol Wilburn, receiving recognition as the last judge on the Circuit Court sometimes meets Marilyn Rutherford, U. S. Ambassador to Brazil, where she works with Brazilian chief diplomat, Ernie Waldy. She has just requested the expert military advice of Jack Schweizer on certain problems. Ann Walker, queen of the Alabama Cotton Festival, has just been crowned by her sister, Miss Clara Walker, who is now starring in the current film "Der Krieger," directed by Ronnie Covert. The newest addition to the Harlem Globe Trotters, Willie Vasher, eats at Lorna Jorgensen's Italian restaurant in New York. Pat Miller who grew tired of teaching French is now in Switzerland - teaching English. Diane Fairchild is back in Wiesbaden working on a formula for synthetic wiener schnitzel. And that should shatter any glass ball!

Upperclassmen at last!

These three words, as we walked into our new homeroom sponsored by Miss Maffeo, distinguished us from "just being in high school."

In our first class meeting we held a discussion of the Junior-Senior Prom. From the various ideas expressed on financing it, we finally decided on a super colossal cake sale to be held at the Eagle Club. This was a great success, as was the camera raffle a few months later. At last we had enough money for the long-awaited Prom! It was a tremendous success, for we had worked so hard! We are certain it will be a sparkling picture in our minds for years to come.

Sports were an important factor in our class. Bill Barks, Bud Burpo, Jim Fisher, Hoke West, Norris Lyle, Jim Matchan, Bob Peavy, David Shortridge, and Lon Grice were the boys that we watched out on the football field. On the basketball team were Hoke West, Jim Matchan, Bob Peavy, Bill Reynolds, Bill Merrill, and Jim Fisher. Many boys went out for the baseball and track teams. Billye Bell, Barbara Lutz, Alice Neuendorf, Penny Olson, and Ann Owsley led the cheers for W.H.S.

As we walked through the doors of Wiesbaden American High School in June, we knew we would never forget our junior year of 1953-54.

CLASS OF '56

Although the rapid turnover of students at our school shortened many associations, we had more students entering than leaving, so our class grew by leaps and bounds.

Our Christmas party, held at the Teen-Age Club was a highlight of the year. Then, on an eventful day in June, we at last saw what we were looking forward to, vacation, and the next step up the ladder of education, our Junior Year!

ACTIVITIES

We are the Warriors of Wiesbaden High!
 We never weaken, we never die.
 We've got a team that's good as gold,
 It'll take more than you to make us fold!
 We've got the spirit.

We'll win we know,
We've got the ball,
Now you watch us go!
Cheer our team to victory,
And fight for the blue and gold.

It was a long, hard football season for the Wiesbaden Warriors as they lost all six conference games but salvaged some glory taking their final game of the year.

Wiesbaden was caught at the beginning of the season by a switch-over to eleven man football. The Warriors had been designing their team for six man football and Coach Ken Coyne had to make a hasty conversion with comparatively little manpower to work with. With only two weeks to work on the eleven man variety, Wiesbaden shaped their attack around quarterback Cecil Norquist and probably the heaviest line in the conference. Inexperience and a small squad hampered the team throughout the year.

The Warriors dropped their first contest to Nurnberg 19-13 at Wiesbaden after leading 13-7 at the half. Jim Martin scored the first six points and Norquist ran 52 yards for the other touchdown. Wiesbaden lost the game in the last 90 seconds when Nurnberg broke the tie with a touchdown from the two yard line.

Wiesbaden gained consistently on the ground but fell victim to a strong Munich passing attack as the Mustangs beat the Blue and Gold 25-0. Norquist and fullback Bob Duncan bit off large pieces of yardage for Wiesbaden, but the team could never muster enough push for a second drive.

Kaiserslautern dropped Wiesbaden the following week with a fine all-around attack which ground out a 27-0 defeat. Only little Johnny McGrory could consistently dent the Kaiserslautern defense.

Wiesbaden lost the most thrilling game of the year by a close 15-12 count to home-standing Stuttgart. Norquist did everything but eat the ball, but the Ponies rallied for a last minute TD for the win. The speedy quarterback raced 96 yards for the first score and took a short pass from Tony Rutherford and dashed 75 yards for the other.

Frankfurt dealt Wiesbaden its fifth straight loss in the Warrior Homecoming game by a 19-0 margin. The game was played in the rain and mud, and neither team could show much in the way of offense.

Heidelberg gave Wiesbaden another last play beating by a 13-7 score after the Indians had led for most of the way in the second half.

The season assumed some measure of luster, however, as visiting Linz was beaten 14-6 on the last Saturday of the season on scores by Norquist and Corky Taylor.

This year's basketball season was marked by the steady improvement of one of the best teams in the history of Wiesbaden High School. Coach Ken Coyne had to work with an entirely different squad from that of last year. Although blessed with its tallest team in many years, inexperience hampered the players in the early games, and the Warriors were slow in getting started.

Wiesbaden began the year with a 63-41 loss to Frankfurt. Although Wiesbaden never put the organized threat together during the game, its proved potential was there and spotlighted center Jack Schweizer as one of the finest players in the league.

Failure at the free throw line cost the Warriors their next decision against powerful Kaiserslautern 46-43. Wiesbaden used its height to good advantage but missed 30 free throws to doom the game.

Wiesbaden dropped its third game of the season to Heidelberg, 50-43, in one of the season's roughest games. The Blue and Gold stayed in the game in the early stages but faded in the closing stages. This contest marked the turning point of Wiesbaden's hoop fortunes.

Wiesbaden won its next three games behind the tall front lines of Schweizer, sharp shooting Bill Reynolds and rangy Bob Peavy, all with the help of guards Tony Rutherford and Jim Matchan. Reynolds, Peavy, and Schweizer became the team's most consistent scorers besides pulling down a lion's share of the rebounds. Wiesbaden began the reformation by dropping Munich 45-39 and continued with wins over Nurnberg, 39-34, and Bremerhaven 42-23. Only a narrow margin 48-47 loss at Heidelberg slowed the Warriors march. With the season's games only half gone, it appeared as if Wiesbaden was on the move and would cause trouble at the tournament.

CLASS HISTORY

Twenty-seven freshmen reported to room 14 on September 8, 1953, to begin a year which we all agree has been interesting to say the least.

One of the first tasks was the nomination and election of class officers. The results were Raymond Jenkins president; Tom Norton, vice-president; Karl Tiger, secretary and Ronnie Edwards, treasurer.

With Halloween came the first school party which was held in the school gym. Everyone pitched in to make this a big success.

Shortly after we had our delayed nomination and election of Student Council officers. After a heated campaign, Randy Carter was elected president and Margaret Lane, secretary-treasurer.

Next came the organization of our school's first basketball team. The boys had to work hard to get "in shape." The girls contributed their part with a peppy pep squad.

As the days slip by and our freshman year draws to an end, each member of the class looks forward to next year and our more dignified title of "Sophisticated Sophomores."

A WORD ABOUT OUR SCHOOL

The Ben Franklin Grammar and Junior High School is a new structure built in the form of a square with classrooms on all four sides and having a well protected and well equipped playground in the center. Almost a complete block of playground adjacent to the school provides adequate space for the more than five hundred students at the school.

The original school building, no more than a third of its present size, was built in 1951. Each year more space has been provided until we now have twenty-one well lighted and pleasant classrooms in which subjects of every description from kindergarten through junior high are conducted. In addition to these a fine library, a spacious auditorium, teacher's lounge, and administrative offices complete our school.

In the fall of 1953 with the entry of many more junior high students, the 7th, 8th and 9th graders were put on a straight departmentalized basis.

Our school is located in the center of one of the large residential areas on the Wurzburg Post. We are only a short distance from the Kino, the Service Club, and the gymnasium, which makes all of these facilities available for school purposes.

CLASS HISTORY

CECELIA ZERBY
 President

When the doors of the Ben Franklin School were opened to the impatient and eager student body on September 8, 1953, some five hundred and twenty children embarked upon the new school year. Twenty eight of this number made up the ninth grade class pictured above. One of the first jobs early in the school year was to organize the members in our class so that we could carry out the duties and responsibilities which were soon to be ours. We held class elections choosing Cecilia Zerby, president; Ronald Cole, vice-president; Rita Magadieu, secretary and treasurer, and Bill Triplett, a freshman, was chosen Student Council president.

For the most part we have been able to stay together as a group which has made it possible to build a fine class. We are the highest grade in the Wurzburg School and it is up to us to conduct ourselves in such a way that we provide a model which the lower classmen can follow. We dedicate ourselves to this purpose. We have a good foundation for our future years of education. We will hold the line on the gains we have made, improve upon them, and enter our sophomore year with confidence that we have done our best in our junior high school years. Come on senior high school! We've got the spirit! We're prepared! Let's go!

TEAM HISTORY

Of the many activities in which the Wurzburg Junior High School took part outside the classroom, basketball stands out as our greatest achievement. We were all novices at the game when we entered last fall but under the coaching of Sergeant Mihura we have developed two teams composed of junior high students of which we are really proud.

We opened the season by taking on a powerful Nurnberg team on our own floor and defeated them to the tune of 32-14. In our next venture we returned the game to Nurnberg and defeated them by a 30-20 score. Our next game was with Wiesbaden and even though we had had no games and little practice for two weeks, we were able to defeat them in a thriller 35-31. The entire Wurzburg student body led by our cheerleaders were on hand for this game to cheer us on to victory. We have a schedule of games against powerful contenders as this is being written. Frankfurt and the regular Nurnberg and Wiesbaden ninth graders will probably give us a real battle but we are practicing and working hard with the hope that we may complete the season undefeated.

The seventh and eighth grade also have a very capable and willing group of boys coached by PFC. Stocker and have given a very good account of themselves in their games with other teams. Their record so far is four wins and one defeat. They look good and should be a valuable contribution to any basketball organization next year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

Most of the seventeen pupils who make up the first tenth grade of Orleans High were here to suffer the perils of the freshman at our beloved Alma Mater. In September we gained seven pupils and lost only two which gave us the total of twenty two pupils.

Apart from their scholastic efforts, Sammy Morrissey, Ellen Mathewson, Sandra Linzinmeir, Phyllis Plaford, Beverley White, and Larry Martell managed to make up the tenth grade part of the Gadabout, the school's newspaper. It has brought students up to date on all school activities.

The tenth grade members of the Annual Staff were Nick Billing, John Crawford, Ellen Mathewson, and Beverley White. Our own Mr. Temple was the harried annual adviser. This was the first year Orleans has had a Student Council. Representing our class in this organization were Nick Billing, the president, John Crawford, and Sandra Linzinmeir. This functioned with the help of our able faculty adviser, Miss Perta.

These organizations plus our hard working faculty and Mr. Dick, our principal, backed up by the P. T. A., have made our first year as a full fledged school a very enjoyable one.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

In September, the beginning of our freshman year, seventeen pupils entered the Orleans American High School's ninth grade class. During the year, we lost Larry Cooper, Ronald Balian, Jack Rizzola, and Tommy McKeown, but two new students, Gayle Dover and Oma Sue Davis, took their places. Katherine Fleischman is the vice-president of the Student Council and Terry White and Anne Longley are our two representatives.

We take pride in the role we played in publishing the school newspaper, the Orleans Gadabout. The ninth grade members of the staff are Katherine Fleischman, Terry White, Donald Adams, Mary Corey, Russell Peck, Linda Plaford, and Sandra Nogar.

Next to the Gadabout we are proudest of our acting abilities. One may hear screams and thuds coming from literature class as our heroine faints to the floor or Robin Hood speeds to the rescue. One or two of our class are thinking of becoming professional Thespians.

We have been able to buy several books of plays with the money we have won as the homeroom having the highest attendance of parents at the P. T. A.

ANNUAL

Students discuss choice of the Dedication for Erinnerungen.

The sixth annual conference of the staffs of Erinnerungen, the combined yearbook of the American High Schools in Germany and France, met in Frankfurt on February 5, 1954. Eleven high schools and three junior highs were represented by two members from each annual staff and their faculty sponsors.

The out of town students were guests in the homes of the Frankfurt seniors who, under the direction of Miss Luise Kramer, arranged billoting, transportation, refreshments and entertainment.

Dee Algeier from Stuttgart High School was elected chairman and ably led the group in the discussion and decisions, which were recorded by Pat Lawder from Frankfurt High School. The meeting was directed by Miss Gay Long who has been in charge of the coordinating of the combined annual for the past five years. This conference was the highlight of the year for the annual staffs who, since September, had worked hard to prepare their individual sections for this unique book which records the high school memories of students who live in widely scattered sections of the continent. Each staff submitted an entry for the end pages, state distribution map, dedication, and farewell to be voted on by the assembled group.

The opportunity to exchange ideas, discuss problems, get together for informal chats and parties, and to make the acquaintance of students from other schools were the main ingredients of this successful and enjoyable conference.

Students get acquainted over the lunch table.

FAREWELL

The final page of this book of memories is turned and we of the Class of 1954 must bid farewell. We earnestly hope that our experiences here may help us to strengthen the bonds of peace and friendship between our own homeland across the sea and our adopted homes in Europe.

MANNHEIM AMERICAN SCHOOL

AMERICAN SCHOOLS IN GERMANY AND FRANCE

ESTABLISHMENT AND GROWTH

The Dependents School Program was formally established on May 4, 1946. Its purpose was twofold: (1) to organize and maintain schools on both the elementary and secondary levels in military communities in Germany, and (2) to supply German educators with a model American school system in action, from which to draw inspiration for the reorganization of the German educational program.

From 1946 to 1954 the Dependents Schools grew in number from thirty-eight elementary and five high schools to one hundred six elementary and eleven high schools. In 1946 enrollments totalled 3,087 of which 108 pupils were in the kindergarten, 2,353 in the elementary and 626 in the high schools. By February 26, 1954, the enrollment had reached 31,357 with 4,584 in the kindergarten, 24,463 in the elementary and 2,310 in the high schools. 1098 American teachers and principals, assisted by 281 German and French employees, staffed the schools.

ADMINISTRATION

The American schools in Europe are jointly administered by the Director of the Dependents Education Organization and the Commanding Officer of the Dependents School Detachment. The Dependents Education Organization, comprised of educational specialists in all fields, is responsible for the academic operation of the school program. Support activities are provided by the Dependents School Detachment. For convenience of field administration and supervision, the school area has been divided into five regions. The schools are under the general supervision of the regional superintendent, who visits the schools frequently to assist principals and teachers and effect necessary liaison between the schools and the central headquarters in Karlsruhe.

THE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Standard curricula and sound American educational philosophy according to practices of the best American public schools, have been accepted as patterns of the education of children in the American schools in Europe.

Each school is supplied with basic textbooks, along with an abundance of well-chosen supplementary texts, library books, workbooks, and audio-visual aids. A headquarters staff librarian works in close cooperation with all schools, assisting personnel in the efficient operation of a school library.

Students' activities are enriched by opportunities found for travel and study of varied German and other European environment. Pupils completing the work of a grade in the American schools in Germany and France are prepared to enter the next advanced grade in any elementary or high school in the States.

German language instruction is part of every school program. In the high schools, German and French are offered as a regular elective subject. All foreign language instruction is given by qualified native personnel.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM OF INSTRUCTION AND GUIDANCE

American high schools in Europe are accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. A basic curriculum is offered which allows each student to acquire those techniques and bodies of knowledge essential for personal and social adjustment and development in our modern society.

In addition to this basic curricular offering, a program of pupil activities, including music, art, athletics, homemaking, business subjects, shop, journalism, and dramatics, is offered to the extent which physical, personnel, and financial considerations in the various schools allow. Throughout the high school program an attempt is made to use to best possible advantage the cultural-geographical location of the school to enrich the program of studies and to ensure the utmost profit from the unique opportunity of living in a foreign country.

The student personnel program places great emphasis upon evaluation of individual student needs, interests, and aptitudes. To this end, approved standardized instruments of evaluation are used to supplement personal counseling interviews, written records, and teacher and parent evaluations. With this body of information at hand, an attempt is made to guide each student in that direction where success and happiness are indicated.

Follow-up studies indicate that over 60% of the students who have graduated from American high schools in Europe entered an institution of higher learning. The curriculum allows a student to prepare himself for admission to any college or university in the United States.

Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board are administered upon request, and students, recommended by their principals for college entrance, have repeatedly scored high in these examinations.

Some graduates of American high schools in Europe have entered United States military and naval academies and others have been awarded scholarships for study in well-known colleges and universities in the United States.

HEALTH AND SAFETY EDUCATION

Health and safety activities are operative in all schools. School nurses are assigned to some of the larger schools. In the smaller schools a local nurse is on call at all times. Medical officers of local installations assist in the administration of physical examinations and health care. In many local installations, pupils are provided with a hot noon lunch at a minimum cost. The noon lunch is prepared and served by German or French personnel under the direction of a local installation officer.

MODERN SCHOOL FACILITIES

The passing school year has shown outstanding progress in the construction of modern school plants in Germany. Many local communities, through their American engineers and in cooperation with Dependent School headquarters staff, have succeeded in erecting school buildings comparable with some of the best in the States. The safety and health of school children has been taken into account in both the selection of the location and construction of new buildings.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATIONS

Parent-Teacher Associations have become an important factor in the operation of a successful school in most school communities. Eighty-four PTA's are now in operation in Germany and France. Several have become members of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. A European Command Parent-Teacher Council was organized in October 1951 at a meeting in Garmisch by delegates from nearly all PTA's in Germany. Most PTA's in Germany have become members of the Council. The principal objectives are to exchange experiences on successful PTA activities and practices, to unite in common projects, and to cooperate in definite lines of work for the improvement of conditions affecting the welfare of children and youth in American communities.

ATHLETICS AND PLAYGROUND ACTIVITIES

School playgrounds are equipped with playground apparatus, including swings, slides, high bars and teeter-totters. Most playgrounds are also equipped with basketball and volleyball courts. In many schools, playgrounds and gymnasiums are made available to both elementary and high school pupils. Playground and playroom supervision is regarded as a regular duty of the teaching staff. In many schools, regularly established physical education classes are conducted for both boys and girls on all grade levels. Athletic sports, particularly football, basketball, and baseball, are carried on in high schools and in the larger elementary schools.
