

The background is a solid black field. Scattered across it are numerous triangles of various sizes and colors: purple, blue, red, yellow, and white. In the lower half of the image, a large, stylized 'X' shape is formed by two overlapping semi-circles. The left semi-circle is yellow, and the right semi-circle is orange. The word 'Together' is written in a large, blue, cursive script across the center of this 'X'.

FOR YOUR DEDICATION TO US . . .

Each year, the yearbook staff chooses a member of the faculty to honor. The qualifications are simple — the chosen must merely be our friend, our confidante, our leader, and must be an outstanding teacher, involved in our lives as well as our school. Few teachers have ever met these qualifications as thoroughly as this year's lucky winner does — he brings excitement and sunshine into his classroom and our lives. Our unanimous choice this year was Mr. John Jennings.

He is a man known for his dynamic teaching style and open manner with students. He is excited about his subjects, and he has the unique ability of transferring his enthusiasm to his students. His political science class is the perfect testimonial to his positive energy flow to his students. They became so interested in the Presidential race of 1988 that they gave speeches on behalf of both of the candidates in front of the entire student body at pep assemblies. Then they held their own mock election in the school, complete with registration and secret ballots, in which George Bush was the chosen candidate in a landslide victory. Through this electoral race, Mr. Jennings managed to get the entire school involved in politics, and made them aware of the issues facing them in today's society. He is truly dedicated to educating us, not from books, but from life experiences, so we will graduate from high school and become aware and involved adults, knowing the value of the vote and of democracy.

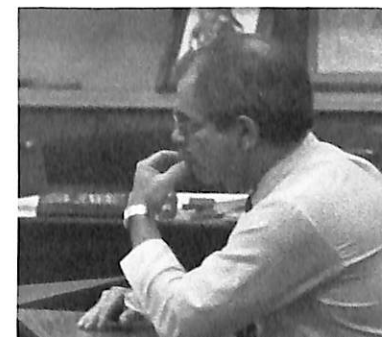

WE DEDICATE THIS BOOK TO YOU!

Thoughtful . . . (right)

Educational . . . (far right)

And a sense of humor, too! (above)

Mr. Jennings' dedication doesn't merely remain in the classroom, however. He is the initiator and sponsor of many intellectual extracurricular activities. In the past few years he has successfully conducted the Mock Trial Team, a competition devoted to educating its participants in the judicial process. He has also been the guide for the GTC class. He has taken a group of exceptional students to a competition called Odyssey of the Mind, where they competed intellectually with other such students.

Outside of school Mr. Jennings has a very busy life, still very much devoted to education. He teaches courses at Austin Peay State University in Political Science and U.S. History. For awhile now he has been a sponsor of foreign exchange students. And in between this and FCHS, he still finds time to paint walls!

Mr. Jennings is truly open with his students about his life and his personal activities, and he encourages them to be as open with him. He discusses controversial topics in his classroom with great regularity and no censorship. Once a student is comfortable in his class, there is nothing that he feels he cannot bring up or query about. John Jennings more than deserves the dedication of this 1988-89 yearbook, and we proudly and gladly give it to him with our thanks for his caring and services rendered.

WHEN IT ALL COMES TOGETHER

"When it all comes together" —

This theme for our 1988-89 yearbook can be more than accurately applied to the medley of students and faculty at Fort Campbell High School. We are a truly unique group of people, coming from all parts of the country — a blend of different personalities, customs, and traditions. We are individuals in every sense of the word. In virtually any other school environment, our differences would make waves, but here at FCHS we're all in the same boat. Our parents uproot us with startling regularity as they change duty stations. Because all of us experience this, we understand the uncomfortable feeling of being out of place, so we all make an effort to accept new people. We are a team when we come together for any purpose. The past year illustrates this like no other in Fort Campbell High School's history!

We came together in sports. In fact, this was a great year for FCHS in sports. Team work and pride provided us with a state championship in cross-country and with countless other victories. We proved that while we might not have been together for twelve years or even for the four years of our high school career, we are definitely a force to be reckoned with.

When it came to Falcon spirit, we truly pulled together. Spirit Week was a never-ending battle among the classes to see just which of us had the most spirit. We stopped at nothing — we dressed as nerds, put out large amounts of money for spirit links, and all-in-all, we flaunted our Blue and Gray! The Blue Crue II carried our enthusiasm through the winter sports and made us feel like true Falcons! Even those who have been at FCHS for a short time could proudly claim and support "our" teams.

We literally came together in the area of academics. During the semester exams, one could find many groups of desperate students joined in an effort to complete their last-minute cramming. There was an occasional Physics or Calculus "party", (bring-your-own-book, of course) and even though these were a result of our procrastination, they paid off. This year's senior class was one of the most academically competitive classes in years. Over all, in each class the number of students attending the Honors Breakfast each quarter increased dramatically over past years.

Yes, we came together in a school environment, but by no means did our friendships end there. We, as a student body, were incredibly social outside the school doors. One could often find a group of friends having a rousing match of football on a cool fall day in Drennan, or find two friends walking together and sharing their experiences. One could even find some of us acting just plain silly after school! "The crowd" was anyone and everyone this year, and they could be found on virtually any weekend night at a sports event, (showing off that famed Falcon Spirit!) or hanging out at Burger King, or at the movies, the tire graveyard, the Teen Center, or wherever there was a good time among good friends. We found good times in all that we did, whether it was a huge party on a Friday night or an intimate conversation on quiet Sunday afternoons.

We were a compassionate, fun-loving group. Fort Campbell High School meant different things to each of us. It meant new friends and new loves, learning, team-work, companionship and acceptance. It was, is, and always will be an important stepping stone in all our lives. Despite our many individual differences, we shared a common bond that made this 1988-89 school year a success. When we all came together, we definitely made it work!

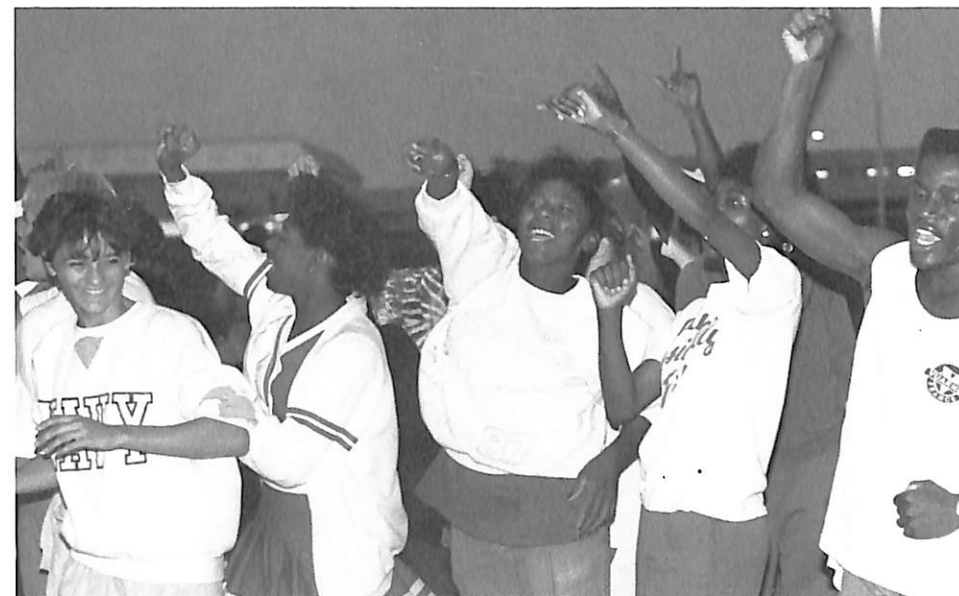

HOMECOMING 1988

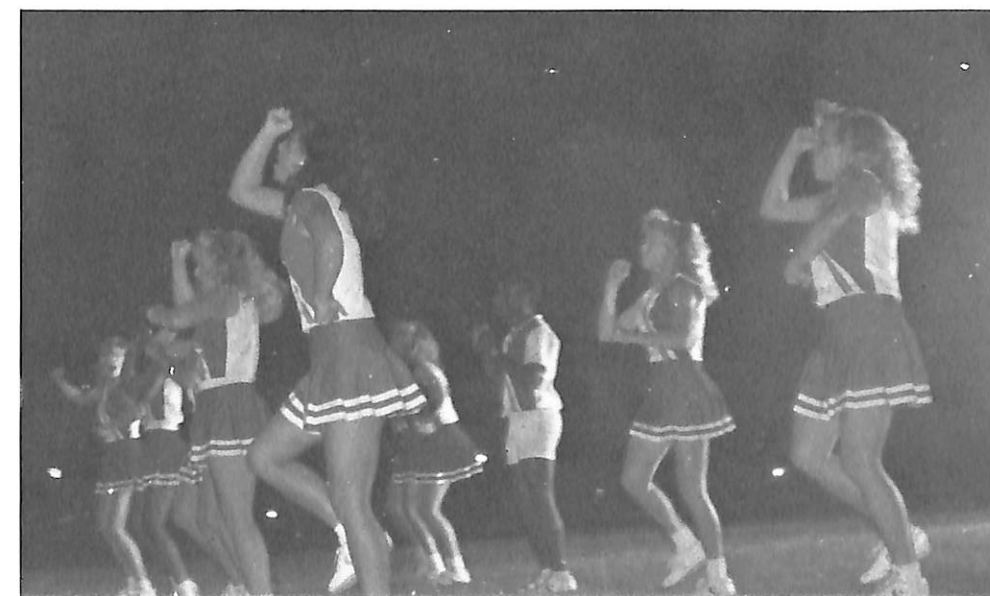

There are many formal traditions associated with Homecoming. The greatest of these is probably the election and coronation of a queen and king and a princess from each class. This year's court was: Queen — DeeDee Kremenak, Senior princess — Loretta Carmichael, Junior princess — Kristen Brickman, Sophomore princess — Stephanie Moore, Freshman princess — Tiffinea Reid, and King — Kyle Penman. The queen and her court were announced at a pre-game ceremony. The crowning was preceded by the children of Greg Gillis and Eddie Hawkins as crown-bearers.

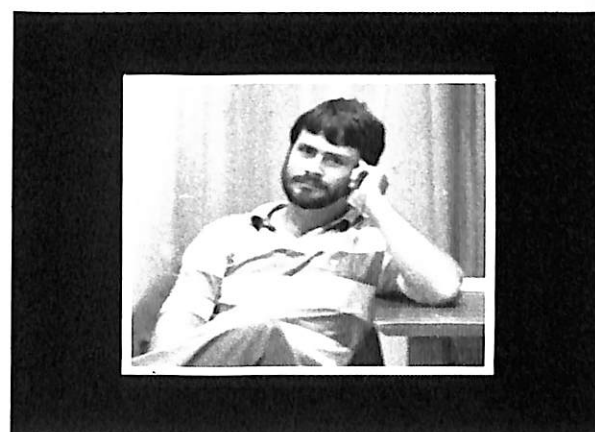

SPIRIT OF THE FALCONS

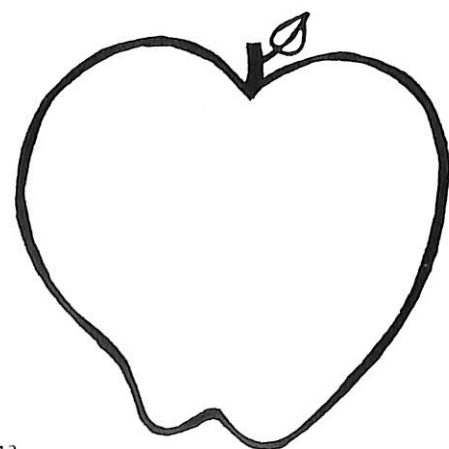

But Homecoming is more than a football game and a ceremony and a dance. It's the time for students to show their spirit. At FCHS Homecoming really begins the week prior to the dance. Every day students were permitted to dress to some wild theme. Wednesday night brought the Falcon Olympics to our fields, and the bonfire. Friday saw the onset of a slew of exciting events, beginning with the pep rally and parade, and continuing to the pre-game coronation and the game. The wave of spirit welled and calmed at the final Homecoming event, the semi-formal dance held Saturday night.

Every year, each residential housing area on post elects a member to the Fort Campbell school board.

The school board meets the last Tuesday of every month, and with the help of four advisors, LTC Crawford, LTC Reilly, CH (Col.) Adams, and LTC Willard, decide on key matters affecting FCHS and the whole Ft. Campbell school system.

SCHOOL BOARD

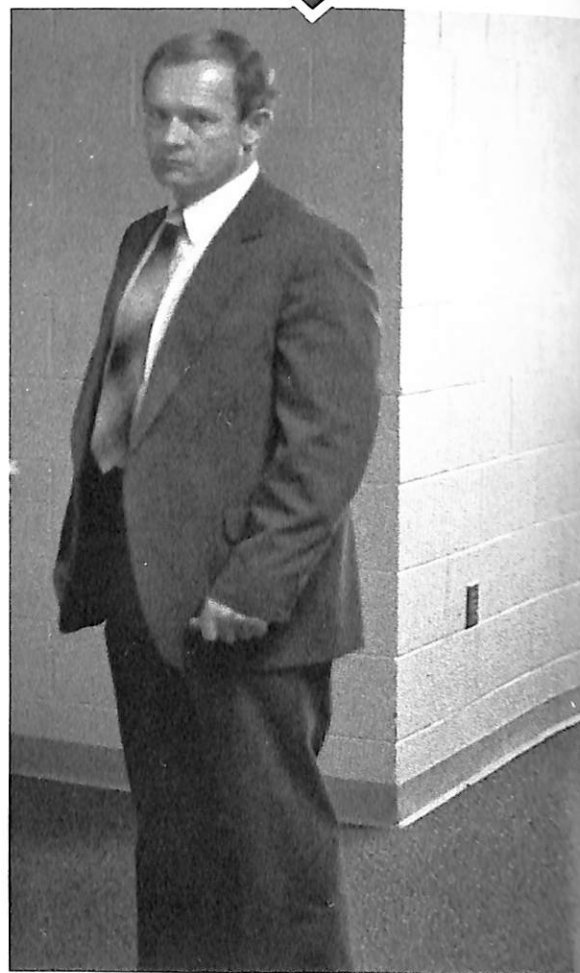

J. Gary Stewart

Mr. J. Gary Stewart has been with Fort Campbell High School since the opening of the new building in 1985-1986. The graduating class of 1989 is the first class to go all the whole four years with Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Stewart is a regular Ft. Campbell supporter. He attends athletic events, social gatherings, and that shows a great confidence and pride in the students and sponsors of the school. Mr. Stewart is the guiding hand at FCHS and it shows! His influence will be felt for a long time to come.

J. Gary Stewart

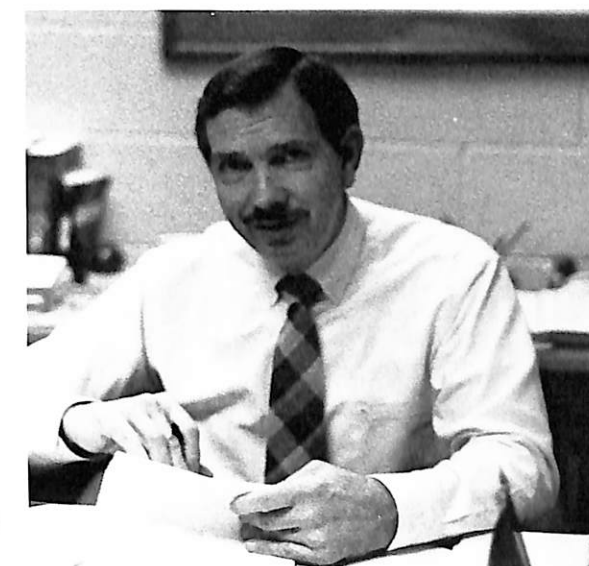

OUR COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

Mr. John T. Therell

Mr. John T. Therell is a very active assistant principal. He is a visible reminder to the student body that the administration is most definitely aware of the happenings at FCHS.

Mr. Therell is always supporting the Falcons at athletic meets and social gatherings. He's a very vital part of the workings of Ft. Campbell High School.

This year's library received a great boom in technology with the augmentation of a new computerized filing system. Now students can use two computers to reference various titles and subjects available in the library. Even the check-out process has been revamped for better management and more efficient use.

Hopefully in the future, more computers can be added for the convenience of both students and teachers alike.

The Fort Campbell guidance staff has two full-time counselors, Mrs. Martha Allensworth and Mr. Stanley Lane, and a new part-time counselor Mrs. Louvenia Peavie.

The Counselors are always a tremendous help to the student body and the graduating seniors in particular. Their individual service is a great asset to FCHS and its students.

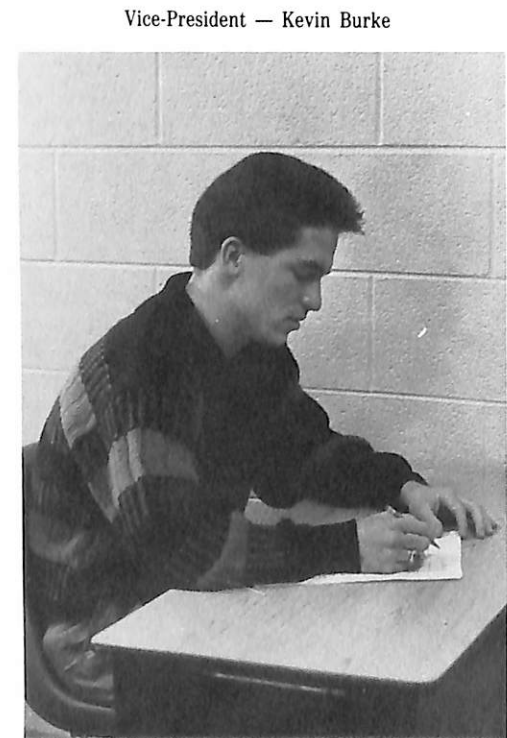

The 1988-89 FCHS Student Council met with tremendous success. From the start, they lined up a number of exciting and important projects.

As the Council's biggest project of the year, Homecoming was most carefully planned. The Student Council detailed every aspect of the momentous event, including the days of Spirit Week, the Falcon Olympics, the Homecoming Parade, the pre-game coronation, and, finally, the dance itself.

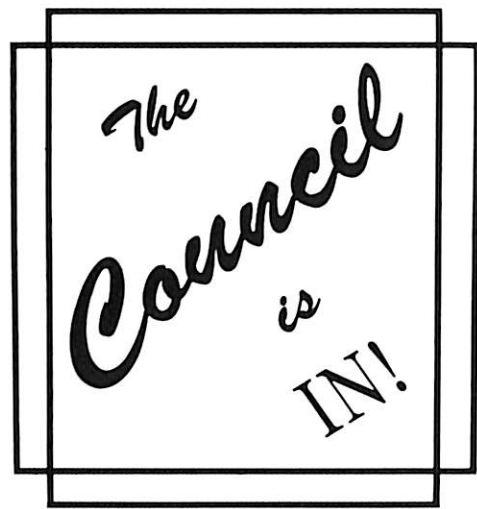

After the incredible success of Homecoming, the council got a brief rest, then jumped right into the Military Mail Call, which, due to the dedication and caring of Fort Campbell High and the Student Council, was of record proportions. Next it was on to the Turkey Bowl, a volleyball tournament between the students and the teachers. Immediately after that, planning began for the Christmas Dance. This dance was an FCHS landmark, due to the ingenuity of the Student Council. That is, the group moved with the times and organized the innovative video dance, something we're sure to see more of in the future.

December was rounded out with the Christmas baskets, which are created from student donations and given to the needy families in the area. Once again, the Student Council managed to arouse a sense of duty to the holiday spirit of Fort Campbell High.

An incredible array of events followed this initial success. The council organized boxes for our deserving faculty during Teacher Appreciation Week. They also sponsored the Shamrocks-Against-Muscular-Dystrophy Drive. Then they concentrated their efforts on Kaleidoscope '89, a show designed to bring the talented students of Fort Campbell into the spotlight. It was also a pre-prom fashion show, to let everyone get a pre-view of this year's "look" for prom.

The year's activities came to a close with the Campus Clean-Up, a service tradition that Student Council offers to FCHS. The final event for the council was the election of new officers for 1989-90. The president, Jennifer Moss, summarized the year by saying, "Truly, the Student Council of 1988-89 can be proud of their accomplishments. In all the activities that the Student Council has organized I feel we have been overwhelmingly successful. The representatives, as well as the officers have been enthusiastic, cooperative, and eager to do their duties. I do not think that the Student Council could have been more successful but I challenge the Student Council of the years to follow to try."

National Honor Society

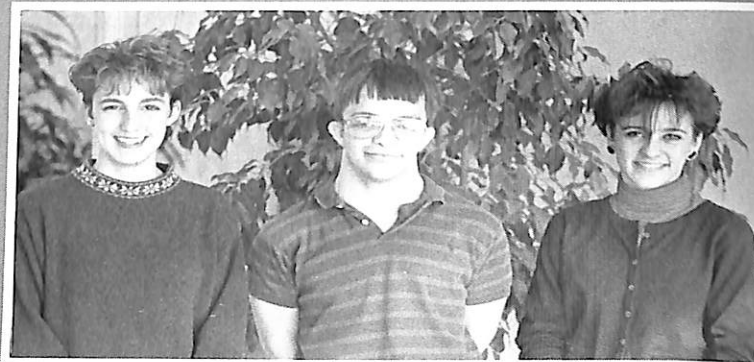

As one of the largest and most selective clubs on the FCHS campus, the National Honor Society offers some of the greatest rewards. Members are recognized for their achievements by college admissions officers as they look toward successful college careers. At graduation, they are distinguished by wearing gold honor cords on their gowns. This outstanding service organization offers above all else a proving ground for future leaders of society.

National Honor Society protocol dictates that members have and maintain a 3.5 or higher cumulative grade point average. After meeting all the requirements of application (character, scholarship, leadership, and service), new members are inducted into NHS by the current members of the Society.

Following induction into the organization, members are expected to perform community service projects. This year's projects included Christmas caroling at Blanchfield Army Hospital followed by a spirited social. Members were also available to tutor students after school if needed. The spring service project was an Easter party on the children's ward at BACH.

NHS officers for the 88-89 school year were Kim Haluski, President; Rick Wright, Vice President; Michelle Young, Secretary-Treasurer; and Chuck Bailey, Historian. The faculty sponsor was Martha Allensworth.

MOCK TRIAL

Spring 1989 saw the third Mock Trial season for FCHS. Eight members strong, with only one returning member, a two-season veteran, the team recognized that they had incredible potential to succeed in the season ahead. Mock Trial is a program sponsored by the Kentucky Bar Association, Court of Justice, and Department of Education, which offers students the opportunity to learn about the state judicial process. The team consists of role-players, acting as lawyers and witnesses who build their cases from case materials provided by the sponsoring organizations. Competitions are held in court rooms and rounds are scored by district and circuit judges who look for strong performances, good objections and clever arguments. For the past three seasons the team has been sponsored by John Jennings and coached by Hopkinsville lawyer Ben Wright, who have devoted time and effort to the continuing success of the FCHS program.

FORT CAMPBELL'S TOP 10

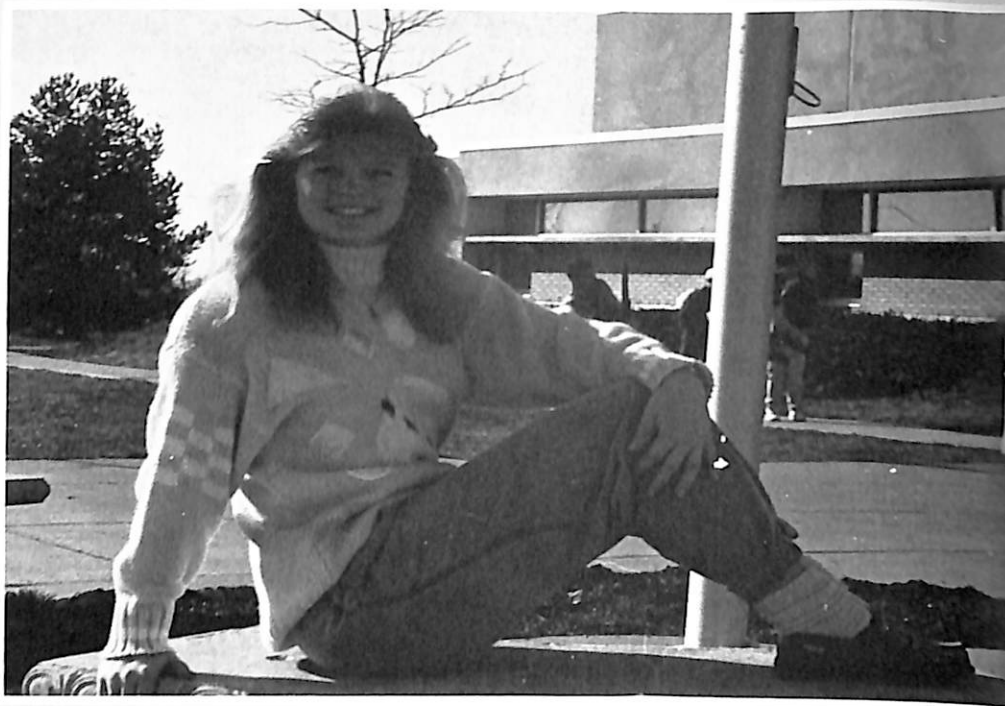

This year's seniors fought hard throughout their high school careers hoping to rank amongst the Top Ten Seniors at Fort Campbell High School. It was a long and hard fight for some, because academics is only a portion of what high school is all about. There's clubs, organizations, sports, and of course, a social life to manage. Sometimes balancing all of these things can cause problems, but these 10 students managed to do it and should be very proud of their efforts. They deserve the highest honors, and this is but a small tribute to the people who might one day make very significant contributions to the world in which we live.

Carrying on the tradition of America's favorite radio show, American Top Forty, we have made up our own charts. It's the Fort Campbell Top 10 Seniors. Now let the countdown begin . . .

"I plan on attending either the University of Dayton in Dayton, Ohio, or the University of Kentucky in Lexington. I plan to major in marketing with a minor in advertising.

My parents have been a major influence throughout my high school career. They have always supported me and pushed me to do my very best."

Christie Graves

Tammy is "Way Out" at #10.

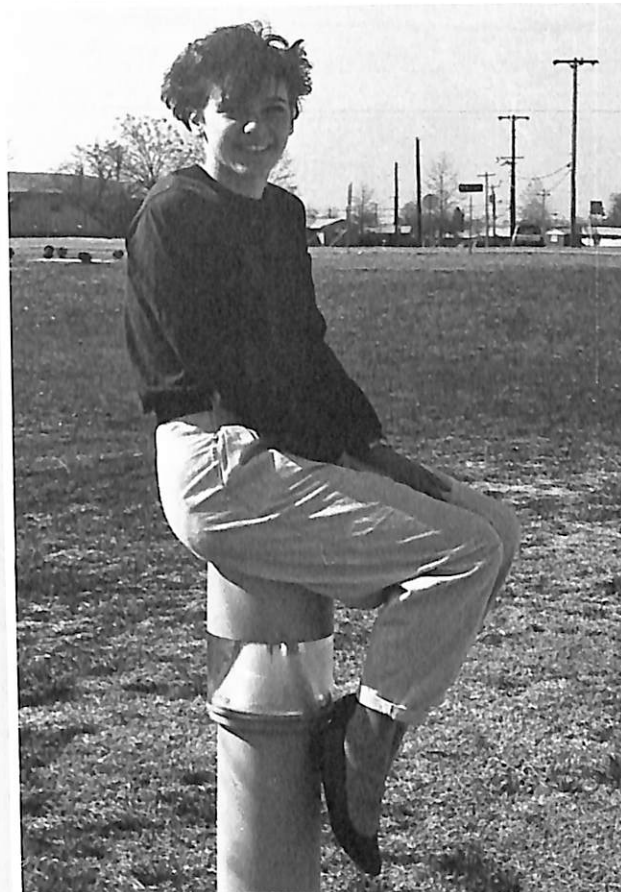

"Ten years from now I really don't know where I will be in life. I'm thinking of majoring in math in college, but I don't quite know what I want to do with that major. I hope to have a good paying job, married with maybe one child, and I want to be located somewhere near the Tennessee area.

I would have to say that I was most dedicated to my academics throughout my high school career. My freshman year I did not realize how important grades were and there were always those times that I just wanted to give up but my dad was always there to make me give it another shot and not to give up on anything. Biology 1 was my most difficult class. I made my only "C" in that class my freshman year. I can't really say that the class was hard, it was just that I was not motivated enough."

Tammy Hargis

Christie managed to "Rocket 2" #9.

Michelle hits the charts "Somewhere Out There" at #8.

Kyle makes "Trouble" at #4.

"Believe me, there have been many difficult subjects; but the most difficult was physics. I realized that I had to believe in myself in order to receive a good grade.

I plan on attending Western Kentucky or Transylvania University and upon completion entering law school.

Through my four years of high school, I was most dedicated to sports. Through sports I gained a competitive spirit and an understanding that hard work and team effort can overcome the most difficult obstacles!"

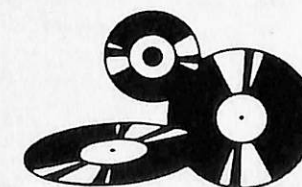

Michelle Young

"My favorite class in high school was 5th hour English. All of my friends were in that class and that made it enjoyable. My favorite subject was math. I found that math came easy to me I never had any problems with it. My favorite teacher in high school was Ms. DePriest. She made my senior year fun by being kind and always having a sense of humor.

My parents gave me the most help throughout my high school years, by just being there for me. I look up to them as my role models because I want to be successful as they are when I enter the real world.

Ten years from now I see myself as a captain in the Air Force, married with 2 children, and stationed somewhere in the United States."

Kyle Penman

"I'd have to say my hardest class was an AP History course I took my junior year. By the end of the course, I had written over forty in-class essays.

My goal is to pursue television communications and someday host a T.V. talk show, like Oprah Winfrey. Either that, or dolphin training would be fun!

I think my mom helped me most by basically not helping me, if that makes any sense. She made it very clear to me that any achievement or failures on my part were the result of either my hard work or lack of work. I don't really have a role model, but if there is one person I really admire, it would be Oprah Winfrey because she had overcome so many setbacks in pursuing her goal."

Amy wants to add that her father has also been a tremendous help and influence upon her.

Amy Ellerson

"One can never be sure what the future will hold, but I would like to see myself married, possibly living in the Nashville area, and securely positioned in a job either in politics or scientific research.

It's hard to select just one subject which I have dedicated myself to because of my Type A personality, but if I could narrow it down to two activities, they would be long-distance running and my involvement in this past presidential election."

Kim Haluski

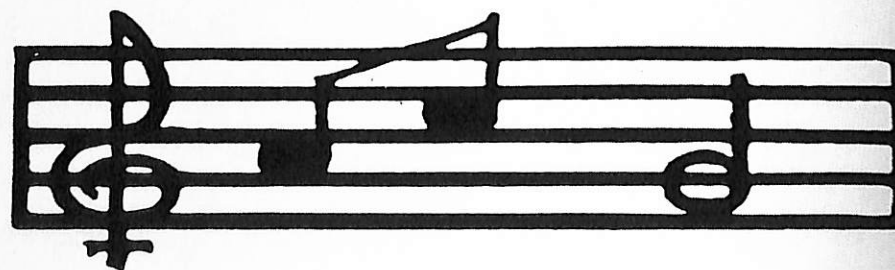

"Out of the Blue" comes Amy at #5, while Kim is spiraling up the charts with "The Twist" at #4.

"My biggest help has been Coach Lange, he has been so great to me. As a freshman and a sophomore he encouraged me to rise to his educational challenges throughout my high school career. He offered me guidance and advice when I needed it, and allowed me to be a friend to him in return.

My hardest class was either advanced math or physics, just because I don't really like all the math formulas. I have a hard time making myself do the work.

My college plans are as follows: first four years at USAFA or Rhodes College in Memphis. Masters and Doctorate someday at a good social research college. I'd like to work for the government — State Department or the CIA."

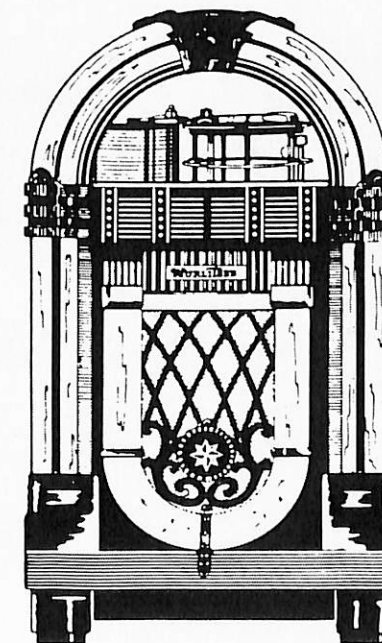

Elizabeth Stark

All Libby "Wants to do is Dance" at the #6 position.

Katie rocks the charts at #3 with "The Right Stuff."

"In ten years I plan to be working as a German Interpreter for the United States Government. I'd like to be living in or around New York. Hopefully I'll be married by then . . . but I don't know about kids. Ten years is a long time.

My favorite class was gymnastics with Coach Patterson. I enjoyed it so much because Coach let us have a lot of fun and work at our own rate. Of all my teachers I think Coach P. was the most understanding . . . he helped me through these four years so I guess that makes me prejudiced to his class.

I dedicated my four years of high school to the Fort Campbell Cheerleading squad. Once I started, it became the biggest thing in my extracurricular life. Through cheering, I have made strong and lasting friendships at FCHS and other surrounding schools. I wouldn't give up the experience for ANYTHING!"

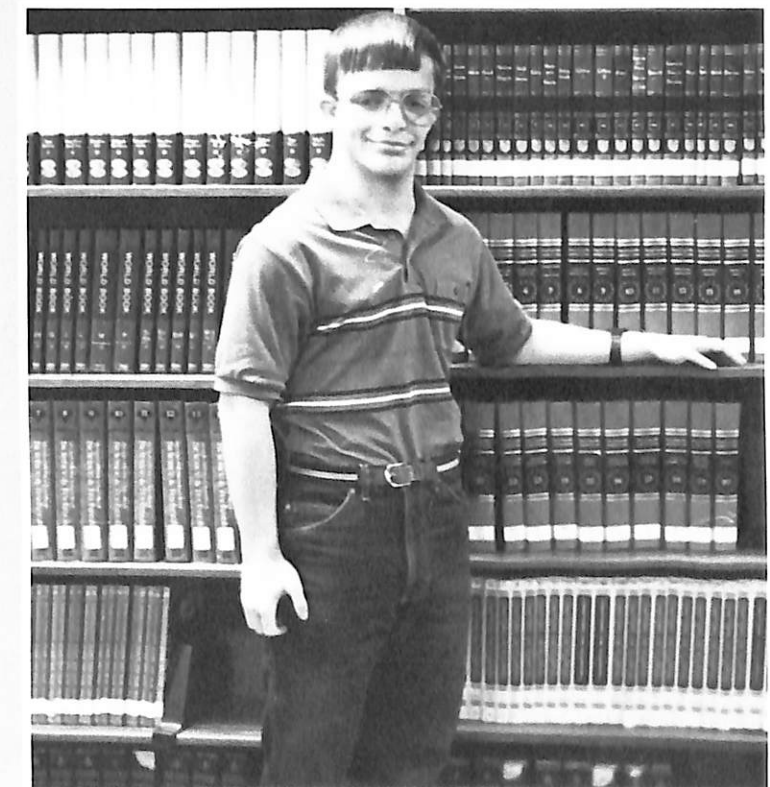

Katie Schlicht

"I plan to major in computer engineering. I will attend either Purdue University in Indiana, Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo, CA or the University of Missouri at Rolla, MO.

My most difficult class has been A.P. English, due to the amount of time required to complete the numerous essay assignments. I have found that the only solution to this "time problem" is to stay up late.

I am being considered for a $1,000 Freshman Engineering Scholarship at Purdue and a $3,000 Fee Waiver Scholarship at the University of Missouri-Rolla."

Rick Wright

Rick comes in at #2 with "Didn't I Almost Have It All?"

"I really want to attend Emory University in Atlanta, GA next year. With approximately 10,000 students enrolled, it's just the right size for me, and it's located next to a fairly large city, which is another plus. I'll plan to be a biology major, and Emory has an excellent reputation for its premedical program.

This year it has been difficult to keep up my grades and to be as active and social as I've wanted to be. I've been in several organizations and I've taken a full course-load with some pretty challenging courses, but I volunteered for all of that. I enjoy being busy and I work best under pressure, so it's all just forced me to learn to manage my time. It hasn't been easy at all, but I guess I've learned a lot that will help me in college, and it has most definitely been a fun year!"

Anne Fisher

Anne asks, "Who's Bad?" and knows she is at #1.

Seniors

To the members of the class of '89, I address my hope for your success in future years. You have been a unique class. In the past year we have developed the various facets of our personalities. This in itself predicts the further growth which will evolve in the years to come. We have laid a firm foundation for our expansion.

The achievements of our last high school year speak well for us. In the areas of academics, sports, and extra curricular activities we have excelled. For the accomplishments of the past, I salute you.

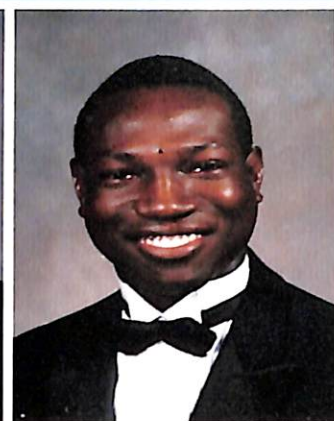

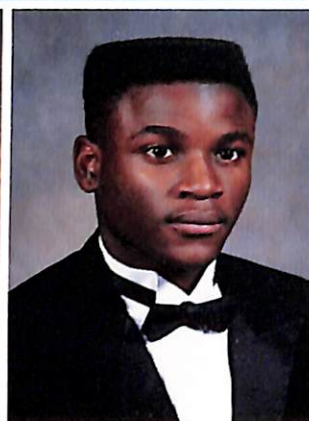

Even as a salutation has been given, let there also be a need for congratulations in the following span of years. I encourage you to continue developing these abilities which you have begun. Keep your body fit through sports; keep your mind fit through intellectual exercise. There is no need to admonish you to continue enjoying the relationships of society. In all this endure, be strong, and strive, and I shall have no fears for your success.

Let success hold the candle. May you see happiness walking the path of life beside you. My friends, I wish you luck.

SENIOR PRIORITIES

FIRST QUARTER

1. Sending for college application.
2. Doing homework every night and raising G.P.A.
3. Homecoming game and dance.
4. Attempting to get enough sleep.
5. Thinking of the perfect senior prank for which to be remembered.

SECOND QUARTER

1. Filling out applications and sending them off.
2. Studying to keep up the grades.
3. Worrying if you will get asked to the prom.

THIRD QUARTER

1. Spending time with friends and not worrying about school anymore.
2. SENIOR SKIP DAY
3. Camping out by the mailbox as you anticipate the acceptance letter.

FOURTH QUARTER

1. Getting yourself asked to the prom.
2. Deciding which college to attend. (some of us don't have a choice)
3. Arriving late to every class.
4. Studying!?
5. GRADUATION

C OLLEGE?

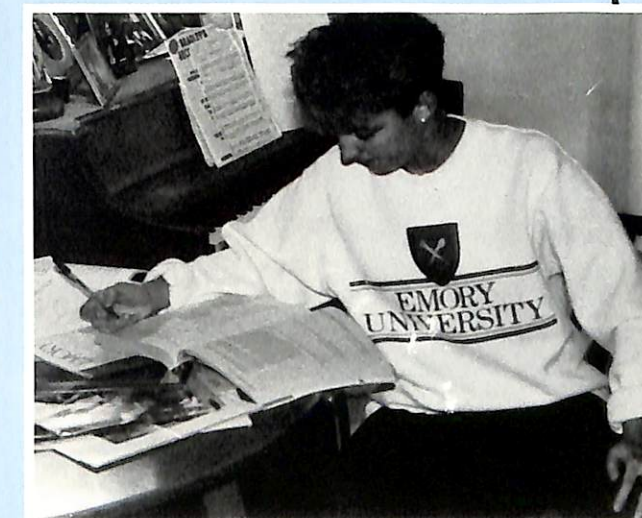

It loomed ominously for over three quarters of our senior year ... That seven letter word ... College!

First seniors had to choose colleges to apply to. UK, WKU, VANDY, UT, AUBURN — the list was endless. Making that decision in itself was a feat to be proud of.

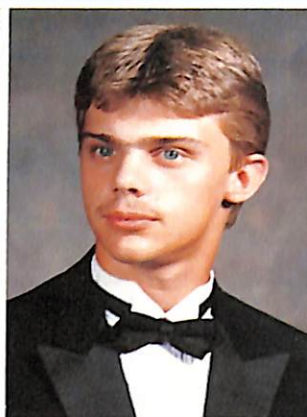

Applying to those schools was endless. Essays, family background, activities of your entire high school career. (Who can remember what we did when we were freshmen?) Deadlines, Deadlines!

All the hard work and loss of sleep paid off when in April most seniors received those acceptance letters from the colleges of their choice. Several clever and experienced seniors knew from the size of the envelope whether they had been accepted or rejected. A fat envelope meant acceptance whereas a thin one most likely meant rejection. The practice of hanging out by the mailbox waiting for Mr. Postman was started about this time.

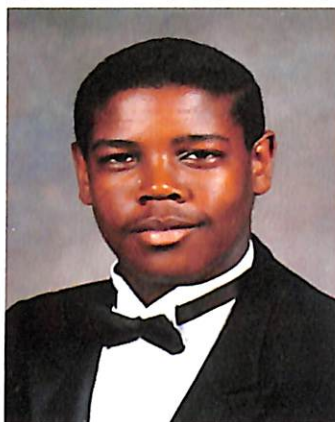

Most seniors were accepted to one or more colleges they applied to, and by the end of the third quarter, decisions were made and sealed.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN '88

Every four years, the United States goes through a long, arduous process of electing our nation's leader. Serious campaigning begins at least a year before voters go to the polls. Caucuses, primaries, conventions, platforms, whistlestops, and fund raisers — all are intense, exhilarating, exhausting, but necessary for the American political process to work.

While most students at Fort Campbell weren't old enough to register to vote, more than a casual interest was displayed by our students. Mr. Jennings' Political Science class staged a mock election at FCHS. Voter registration, campaign speeches, and political rhetoric absorbed energy and came alive as students learned and became involved. George Bush and Dan Quayle were overwhelmingly elected in the straw poll.

As we, the graduating class of 1989, leave the halls of FCHS, we can look back upon a year of growth and proclaim; these were the BEST OF TIMES!

This growth encompassed two phases of education — social and academic.

Our social education was obtained through participation in extracurricular activities. Three of the Student Council officers were seniors. We boasted a National Merit Semi-Finalist; seniors were officers in almost every club; and we have the reputation of the best senior class in the history of FCHS.

Our academic growth has shown itself in our grades and scores on college boards. The large number of seniors planning to attend college is proof of their desire for knowledge. The class of 1989 is on the threshold of adulthood. The world is a challenge, and to be part of it is our goal. We not only see that challenge, we welcome it!

The Race To The FINAL FOUR

The class elections of 1988 were some of the most dramatic and competitive yet at FCHS. The halls were filled with bright signs and clever clichés as the candidates all fought to be the chosen ones. Throughout the week the competition escalated to a fierce level. It all came to a head on election day, when at last the time came for speeches. All of the juniors rallied for their candidates as they attempted to win votes and influence their peers. Then it was off to the polls. The final outcome? President — Kevin Burke, Vice President — Jessica Reneger, Secretary — Syndie Boyett, Treasurer — Kim Moorman.

JUNIOR SPIRIT RAGES!

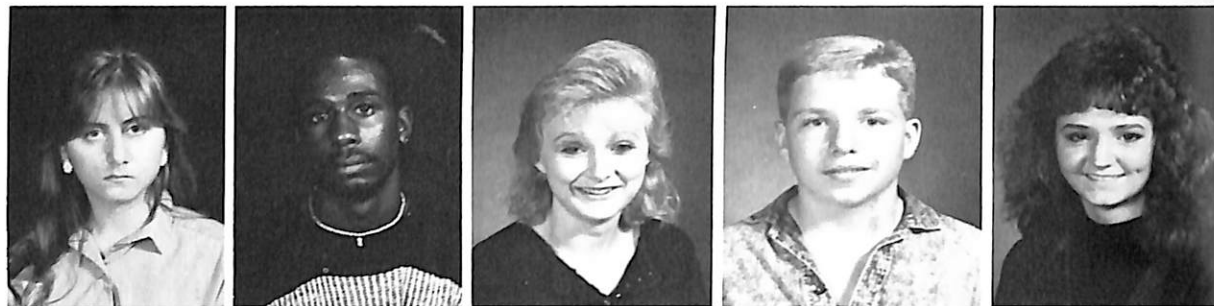

It has been said that nothing brings out the spirit of a school like Homecoming. Well this was most certainly true of Fort Campbell High's Homecoming '88 and the awesome junior class! In all the activities — from dress-up days and spirit link sales, into the Falcon Olympics and the bonfire, during the pep rally, parade, games, and half-time activities, and through the last song of the Homecoming dance — the class of 1990 dared to be different, strove to excel, and showed off their overwhelming enthusiasm like no other class! They topped the list in the on-going spirit link competition, proving their love for their school and their class.

CLASS RINGS

There comes a special time in the lives of most juniors when they are presented with the opportunity to purchase an all-encompassing symbol of their high school years, a class ring. This is not only a privilege, but also an awesome responsibility, because there are many weighty decisions to be made. What style of ring, what color of stone, type of metal, side decorations, and shape of stone are but a few of the questions posed to prospective buyers. And because the ring must symbolize your deepest interest in high school, these are not decisions to be made lightly. Finally, orders are in and then they must wait patiently to view their treasures. At last the rings arrive; only then begins the seemingly endless process of turning rings, (don't touch the stone!) once for each number in the year of their graduation. It's our juniors' duty to have ninety friends turn their treasures!

The HEAT Is ON . . .

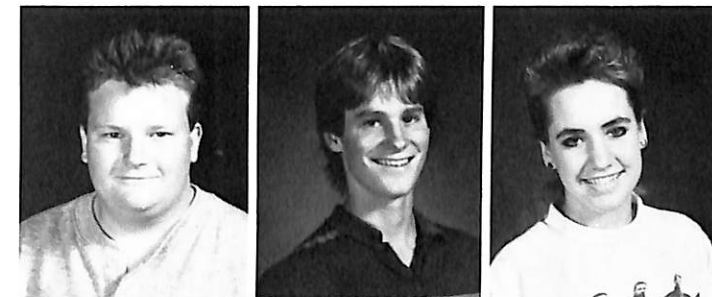

For our college-bound juniors! This is the year they must begin to prepare for their educational futures, make college choices, career plans, and more! The responsibilities are immense — from doing well in school, to taking college entrance exams, to investigating college and scholarship possibilities. Not to fear though; Fort Campbell High has provided its upper-classmen with guidance counselors, information and programs to pull them through this trying time. Best of luck, class of 1990!

OUR SCHOOL

Often the most over-looked features of our lives are the most obvious. A prime example of this concept is the frequently ignored beauty of Fort Campbell High School. Our four year old school has many ingenuities of design and decor intended to catch all eyes, almost all of which are taken for granted. Glass dominates the face and foyer of FCHS, bringing a little sparkle to the entrance. The accomplishments of past and present students are displayed proudly throughout the halls in mirror-lined trophy cases. Composite pictures of all graduating classes since 1963 line the hallways. For a finishing touch of beauty, plants abound everywhere, adding a little life to even an empty FCHS.

Throughout the school year, the sophomore class displayed their version spirit to the upmost, if it wasn't during spirit week, then they certainly showed it at the pep assemblies.

They may not have had the longest spirit chain during spirit week, but that didn't hold them back when it came to opening their big mouths for the spirit yells. The sophomores' float may not have been the biggest or most elaborate, but they still entered the parade with their decorated car.

This goes to show that sophomore spirit still shone even through rough times.

FT. CAMPBELL'S NUMBER ONE FAN

George Petoskey is a continual FHCS supporter at home events. George is always seen, sitting in the bleachers — rain or shine, cheering for the Falcons in football, not to mention basketball, baseball, and softball.

When asked why he is such an avid FHCS fan, George said, "I have looked at all the other schools around, and I like Ft. Campbell best. It is where my loyalty lies."

George, who's been here almost as long as Coach Patterson, is certainly the Falcons' #1 fan!

My Loyalty Lies."

LICENSED TO DRIVE

Probably the most anxiously awaited and coveted class on the FCHS curriculum is Driver's Ed, and sophomores scramble to sign up for it.

The first dreary weeks are spent taking notes and reading textbooks, but when their driving permits come in — sophomores TAKE OFF!

Riding with inexperienced drivers is always interesting, and when the instructor, Coach Morgan, gives advice like, "Juice It!", it doesn't help. Whether it's going to get strawberry shakes at Arby's, or doughnuts at Winn Dixie, Driver's Ed. is not an adventure to be missed.

GETTING INTO THE SWING OF THINGS

You're finally a sophomore. It's time to take classes that count. It's time to spend more time in the spotlight and less on the bench. It's time to become more involved at FCHS.

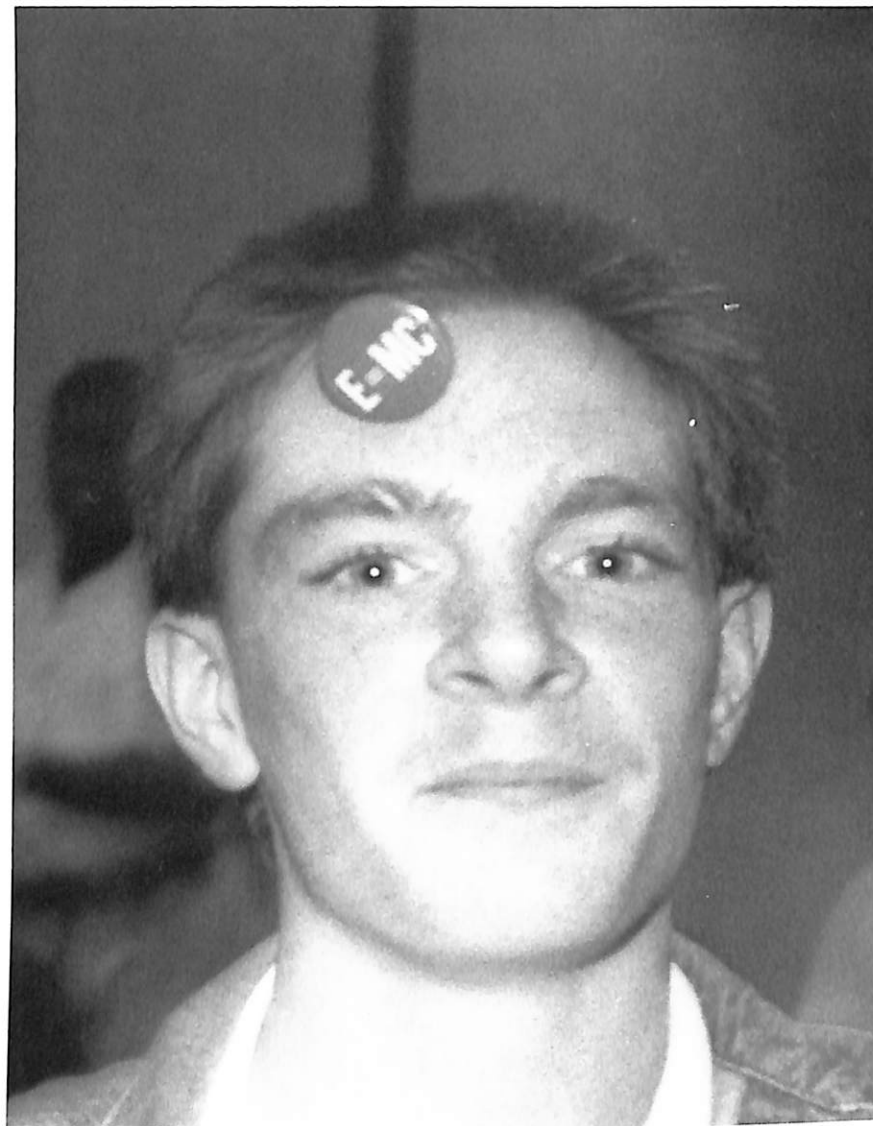

Sophomores are finally on a first name basis with upper classmen and with the added help of older girlfriends and boyfriends or older brothers and sisters, they start learning the finer points of "hanging out". Sophomores, with the help of their upperclass mentors, learn the real meaning of the word "PARTY!"

Sophomores finally have status at FCHS, and while juniors and seniors still rule the school, sophomores are certainly getting into the swing of things.

Britt cheers his class on to victory.

Talking about having a head for science.

BREAKING TRADITIONS

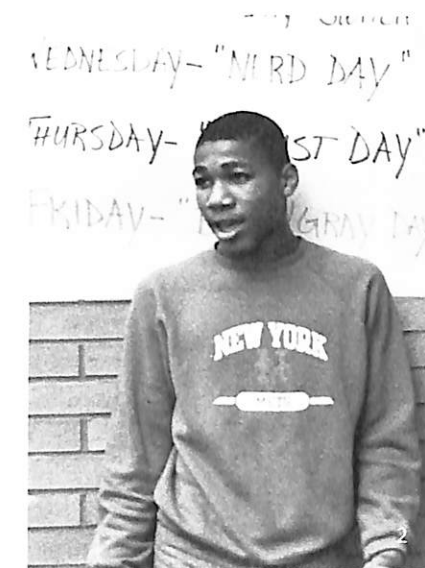

Throughout Homecoming week, freshman spirit came through. The spirit-week garb of this traditionally non-spirited class was highly visible although they were not as successful at the Falcon Olympics, where they failed to boost their spirit-week score. Friday the class of '92 made plenty of noise as they came in third in the spirit link contest and first in the Homecoming parade. Freshman also contributed three beauties, Amy Schlag, Pam Morrison, and princess Tiffineia Reid, to the ceremonies.

And The Winner Is . . .

The class of '92 saw some of the toughest election competition of any freshman class in years. With six candidates for president alone, the halls were covered with freshman posters during election week. One of the more noticable posters belonged to Sean Burke. Covering a wall near the art hall, it stretched nearly six feet long. Elections were not restricted to posters and buttons, however. Speeches were delivered to the class on the day of elections. The officers for the class of 1992 were Sean Burke, president, Patricia Guzman, vice-president, and Twyla Brantly, secretary.

OUTSTANDING!

To find the leaders in any class, one of the best places to look is on the athletic field. All successful athletes demonstrate admirable qualities, and when you find a leader among athletes, you find someone worth keeping an eye on. One such leader is freshman Chad Corley. Last year Chad started as an eighth grader at halfback for the freshman football team. This year he has returned to his starting position, and an additional leadership role. "The other players really take their cue from Chad," said freshman football coach Greg Gillis.

While Chad may not be especially fast, he is a dedicated, aggressive player. His hard hits are known to keep a drive alive. "The players look up to Chad. He can inspire confidence in the team, really make them believe they can dominate. When Chad practices hard, the rest of the team follows suit," said Gillis. "Of course, when he goofs off, you can't do anything with them."

Another place you can find outstanding freshman athletes is on the cross country squad. Regan Jones, Becky Kolenbrander, and Kristi Peterson are all freshmen who ran on the varsity women's squad. "These girls demonstrate the two qualities of distance runners — commitment and courage," said Coach Lee Lange. Although it is not unusual for freshmen to run varsity, especially for the women's squad, Lange said, "most girls wouldn't think of running cross country."

"It is a lot of work," said Regan, a feeling shared by all the girls.

Nick Skrodski and Eric Roby both played in varsity soccer games last season and returned to starting positions at the beginning of this season.

"I've played just about everywhere," said Nick, referring to the many starting positions he had throughout the season. Eric is looking forward to next season "Just so I can get better."

THE AFTER-GAME PLACE

It is ten o'clock, the football game is over, and you have another hour before you have to be home. Where do you go? Once, the answer to that was 'Gatti's. Now everyone heads across the street to Burger King. What do you do? You cram enough tables together for all your friends, send someone for drinks and fries, and socialize. This means flirt with the cute guy from Biology, make plans for tomorrow, rehash the game and start an occasional food fight. The management usually takes this really well, except the food fights, and pretty much everyone is glad that FCHS students aren't out on 41-A.

Ahead Of The Game.

When high school athletics are thought of, freshman seldom come to mind, let alone the eighth graders. Yet the middle schools contribute several star athletes to FCHS sports.

"When you find an eighth grade athlete, that's exactly what it is — a find," said cross country coach Lee Lange. "They know no fear, they're just out for the sport."

Coach Greg Gillis noted that eighth graders can be especially important at FCHS. "We're up against teams with seventh grader feeder programs." This means that the experience a returning athlete brings can really make a difference. Nicole Browns, from South Middle School started women's varsity cross country this season and came in the top twenty at the state meet.

Josh McKilip and Steve Smith from North Middle School both started on the freshman football team. Steve started as offensive end and defensive half back. Josh played full back and was noted by his coach for being most aggressive and making the hardest hits.

Artistic Athletes

When Mrs. Depriest, FCHS art teacher, was asked to name students who showed outstanding artistic talent, she came up with five names: Robert Ruzicka, Mike Walker, David Sanabria, Fred Graves, and Mike Pfab. She noted that every one of these artists are also athletes. "Have you ever noticed how sometimes good students, athletes, and artists have characteristics in common?" These artist/athletes know how to set goals and stick to them; they show discipline. These are the traits that transfer into the art room.

1988 Marching Falcons

The band Consisted of 56 playing members. Loretta Carmicheal was/is acting Field Commander. During band camp students attended rehearsal sessions at the high school for two weeks prior to school. Sessions lasted six hours per day. During this time the students learned the basics of marching and the particulars of playing and marching the show for this season. The band attended all the football games and marched all home game half-times. The only times the band failed to march was against Russelville, due to rain and Heath.

The band marched in the Veterans's Day Parade in Clarksville and the Christmas Parade in Hopkinsville.

SING WITH DIGNITY

These students represented FCHS at the All-State competition.

The Fort Campbell Choir engaged in many different activities this year. In the spring, they put on a concert that consisted of dancing and singing. The concert was opened to not only the students and faculty, but also the parents. During the school year, they were invited to sing at numerous places, such as, the recreation centers on post, some of the local middle schools, and also at PTO meetings.

A few members of the choir wanted to broaden their singing abilities on a higher level by competing. Tracy Moore made the All State and Mid State Choir. Jerry Costa made Mid State and first alternate for All State Choir. Dee Dee Kremenak, Lesley Case, Amy Tice, and Jennifer Wolverson all made the Mid State Womens Chorale.

“JUST SAY NO!”

The “Just Say No” Club under the sponsorship of Mrs. Sartoro, helped students say no to alcohol and drugs. They worked this year on various projects helping to keep teens safe from such abuse. Perhaps the most important project was influencing our Falcons to attend Project Prom. With the help of the FCHS students, the goals of Just Say No were met.

I SURVIVED PROJECT PROM!

PROJECT PROM 88

On May 7, 1988, more than three hundred students were treated to the biggest party ever to invade the halls of Fort Campbell High School. Project Prom was a drug and alcohol free, all night, after prom extravaganza sponsored by the parents and teachers of the PTO steering committee.

From 12:30-6:30 a.m., students danced to the sounds of disc jockey NERO; quelled their hunger with hamburgers, pizza, and ice cream; tried their luck at the blackjack gaming tables; and participated in various class olympic activities in the FCHS “Sweat Box”. Double feature movies and “Electric Dream Machine” arcade games were provided for those with a more quiet nature. To escape the frenzied activity of the evening, a few tired students slipped into the solitude of the “Crash Pad”.

Mr. Jennings sparked some serious bidding in an auction that offered luggage, college items, and lots of personalized sports memorabilia.

James VanAllen was the lucky winner of a 1983 red Nissan Sentra donated by the Clarksville New Car Dealers Association. Tom Reid received two round trip tickets to Washington, D.C. courtesy of US Air.

Tired but happy revellers left in the first rays of early morning light. Still glowing from the night's festivities, many could be heard making plans to attend Project Prom next year. The early dawn greeting of all who attended became ... I SURVIVED PROJECT PROM!

Mr. Jennings inspired some spirited bidding on Coach Lange's lab coat.

CELEBRATE EXCELLENCE

Key Club is the largest service organization in the world. It is different than other high school clubs because it is sponsored by a local Kiwanis Club.

It's aim is the development of leadership, initiative, and good citizenship in young men and women. The FCHS Key Club worked hard this year to achieve the goals set for them.

The club has had several successful service projects and fund-raisers which help donate to the Ronald McDonald House, a scholarship fund, and the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Every spring and summer, Key Clubbers attend District and International Conventions. They vote for the International officers and learn what the next year's Major Theme and Emphasis Program will be. This year it was “Celebrate Excellence.”

This year's officers were: Meggin Garrett, Lt. Governor on the Board of the Kentucky-Tennessee District; Kelsie Hill, President; Stephanie Dyess, Vice President; and Jenni Young, Secretary/Treasurer.

Under the leadership of Major Embry and CSM Hatcher, the corps of cadets in the FCHS JROTC program have developed skills which will help them as they pursue their life goals — in or out of the military. The programs cadets participate in include rifle team, drill team, and Rangers. These allow cadets the opportunity to develop their skills and receive special distinction for their dedication. Color guard, another special team, was an active part of the opening ceremonies for FCHS sporting events. Overall, the program was ranked highly in the State of Kentucky for the 1987-88 year. The cadets expect to retain that distinction for the 1988-89 school year.

For the past three years, the FCHS Speech Team has been competing throughout Kentucky to test their dramatic skills. What exactly do they do? The team practices after school and attends competitions on the weekends much like the FCHS athletic teams do. They perform either dramatically or humorously in front of five judges and the other competitors. They have to repeat the same piece at least three times that day and throughout the year. It can be very demanding but the experience is rewarding. This year's members include: Kym Adams, Gary Kolenbrander, Samantha Swim, Shari Weiler, Becky Pena, Roger McDonald, Amy Ellerson, Tony Collins, and Jessica Reneger.

A new organization was added to the Fort Campbell collection in 1988. A French Club stemmed from the Foreign Language Club of the previous year, and it came on the scene with a vengeance. There were a number of enthusiastic members to support the officers, consisting of President, Kim Haluski; Vice-President, Anne Fisher; Secretary, Cybelle Cayere; and Treasurer, Tracy Brown. Excellent member participation resulted in many successful activities, including fund-raisers, social events, excursions, as well as charitable acts. The club was developed with the purpose of enhancing the "French experience" for FCHS students, particularly in conjunction with French culture. The French Club sponsor is Meryl Crowe.

The FCHS newspaper underwent a change this year. The 1988-89 New Era staff had only two returning staff members, not to mention a new advisor, Mrs. Theresa Adams.

Editor-in-chief Tammy Hargis and feature editor Gary Kolenbrander spent their summer polishing their journalistic skills at the Ball State University Journalism Workshop for highschool students in Muncie, Indiana. This extra bit of experience was apparent throughout the year.

FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIAN ATHLETES

"I think we have a great group this year. The members are participating a lot and they are realizing that Christians can have fun too." — Kim Haluski

The purpose of FCA is to present a Christian testimony not only to coaches and athletes, but to the entire student body as well. FCA met every Wednesday night from 6:30 to 8:00 for games, lessons, singing, and to hear guest speakers. The group went Christmas caroling at the hospital and held its annual lock-in on March 10. The huddle was led by Kim Haluski, Pres.; Anne Fisher, V.P.; Stephanie Moore, Sec./Treas.; Burt Collins, Chairperson; and sponsor Coach Marshall Patterson.

"WHEN is the deadline?" was just one of the memorable phrases from this year's publications class. From picking a book theme (Jerry's favorite is still "Nothing But a Good Time"), to making final layouts, to getting someone to fit and type final copy ("David, watcha doin'?) one thing was constant — deadline was the buzz word. The class was a lot more work than most of the incoming staffers expected. But everyone was determined to make a book they could be proud of (Tif: "I'm telling you — basketball is gonna be great this year!"). So to everyone who sees the pictures, who reads the copy, who shares the memories, thanks for taking our book home — we hope the memories of 1988-89 are here for you too.

FALCONS PLAYOFF BOUND . . . AGAIN

Falcon's Get It Together

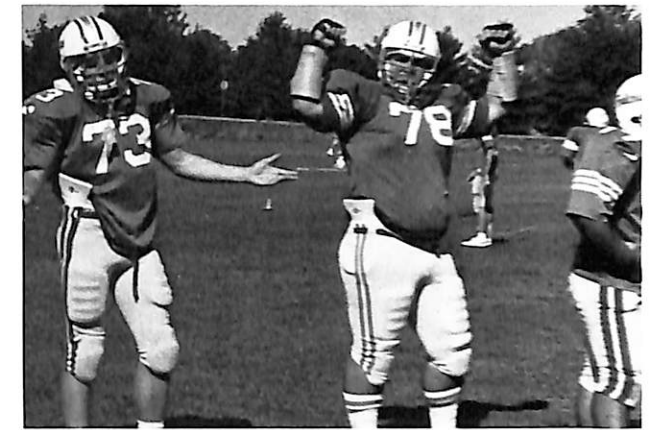

The season opened for the Falcons on Aug. 26 with a tough game against the Hopkinsville Tigers. Three fumbles inside the Tigers 10 yard line stopped the Falcons from scoring a much needed touchdown to win the game. On the up side, sophomore Donald Wilkerson rushed for 194 yards.

With the help of Steve "Robocop" Lowe, Ed Caloufa, and senior quarterback David Loftin's 18 yard touchdown pass to junior end Ron Weatherly, the Falcons came from behind to beat the Todd Co. Rebels 28-20. A Sept. 9 upset by the Trigg Co. Wildcats left Fort Campbell with a 1-2 season.

Winning successive games against the Russellville Panthers, Heath Pirates, and our homecoming against the Caldwell Co. Tigers gave Fort Campbell a 4-2 season before going into crucial ball games.

In the first confrontation, the Fort Knox Eagles took the Army Bowl by capitalizing on several Falcon fumbles. The final score was 13-42.

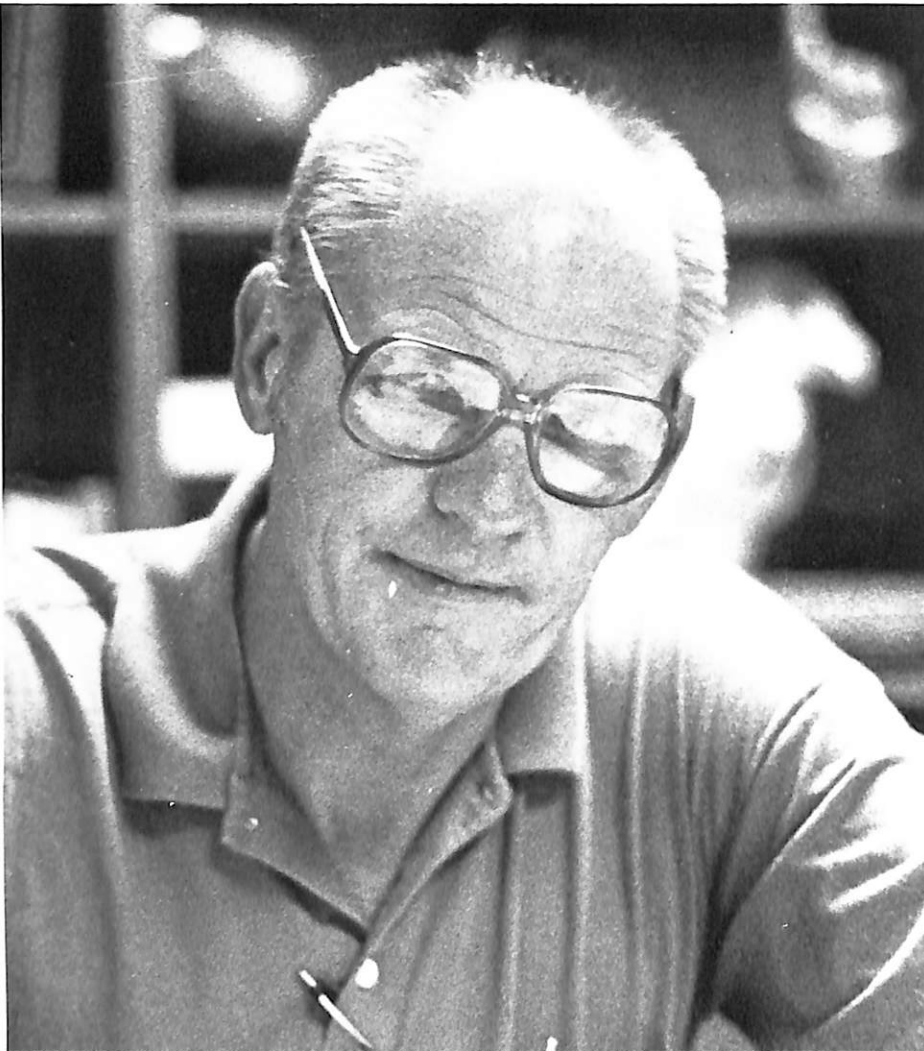

It got tough when the Falcons lost a district game to Mayfield, 7-42, but when the going gets tough, the tough get going. The Falcons got tough by beating the Northeast Eagles 17-13 and stomping the Reidland Greyhounds.

The freshman football squad started the season with a rough loss to Northeast. But, they bounced back with a 26-0 route over Christian Co. The freshman dropped there next two games to Dickson County and Hoptown leaving them at a mark of 1-3. The baby Falcons were down 14-0 at halftime but pulled out a 34-20 victory over the Madisonville Moroons. The Freshmen fell to the Rebels 22-12. The Freshman Falcons rallied at the end of the season to defeat Northwest and Charlotte. The Baby Falcons ended the season with a 4-4 mark.

Wrestling offers athletes a lot in the areas of challenge and enjoyment. Wrestling, the epitome of a contact sport, pushes athletes to their physical and competitive limits.

Team members are busy learning take down techniques and the necessity of always being one up on your opponent. Coach Parrent, assisted by Coach Voorhees instruct their wrestlers in the finer points of the banana splits, the guantlet, and the cradle.

This year's Falcons have improved a lot since last year's season. With the loss of three of their key players, one would think that they would have to rebuild the team. But with the help and rebounding skills of newcomer Kelly Kellman and the leadership of seniors Randy Jett and Bryan Strope, they have become a team to be proud of.

Although the season started slowly with alternating wins and losses, the Falcons played with dilligence and excellent teamwork; the losses, even though upsetting, could be seen as wins. Returnee Davie Wright said, "We are playing more like a team and not just five individual players." This has been proved by the improvement in their stats. Not only has their teamwork improved, but many of their skills have refined as well.

Leading the Falcons is Randy Jett with 22 pts. per game. James Washington and Lamar Wright follow respectively with an average of 18.3 and 15.5 pts. The Falcons are led by Coach Mickey Fisher and Assistant Coach Chuck Burgett. They have nutured the new players into the mature and experienced players that they have become.

They showed a lot of heart and intensity on the floor, which showed that they are definitely not the "give-up" squad here at Fort Campbell.

Kreger gets position.

Looks like another assist for Kelsie.

BETTER THAN EVER . . .

From the beginning of the season the Lady Falcons were pushed to their limits trying to letter the team and their record.

The team set some goals at the start of the season. One goal was to beat last year's record of 19-8 overall and the district title. Another goal was to win 20 or more games during the 1988-1989 season.

Luckily, the team's starting line-up was compiled of senior returning starters Kelsie Hill, Tiffin Kreger, Gretchen Holt, and Tammy Toutges. With these players carrying the ball, the team looked better than good. Sophomore Christie Taylor and senior Michelle Young filled in as fifth and sixth starters, respectively.

Hill averaged at least four assists, as well as six points per game, and is known as one of the leading assisters in the county. Toutges, Holt, and Kreger lead the county in rebounding, also scoring 20 points, 16 points, and 11 points, respectively. Taylor and Toutges led the county in scoring.

The Lady Falcons strongly believe in team effort and would like to thank Mike Chwalibog, Jimmy VanAllen, and Jim Willey. These exceptional players practiced with the Lady Falcons, helped in handling their skills, and supported the team 110%

The Lady Falcons have turned their three years of playing together to their advantage and turned a 1987 record of 4-17 to a 1988 mid-season record of 17-4. The team is busy surpassing every goal and meeting every challenge.

FRESHMEN COMING TOGETHER . . .

The freshman Lady Falcons basketball team did more than people realize. The freshman team, most of them first year players, also played J.V. basketball due to lack of interest.

When the team wasn't busy giving 110% and hustling, trying, and learning, the freshman were busy supporting the varsity team — cheering them on during their winning season.

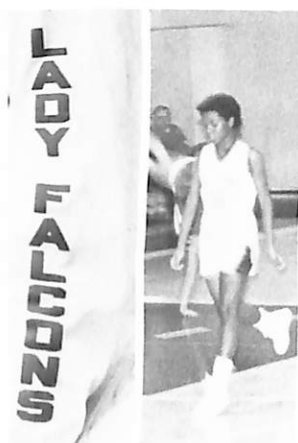

This year, the freshman Lady Falcons finished the 1988-1989 season a 4-9 record.

SOCCER

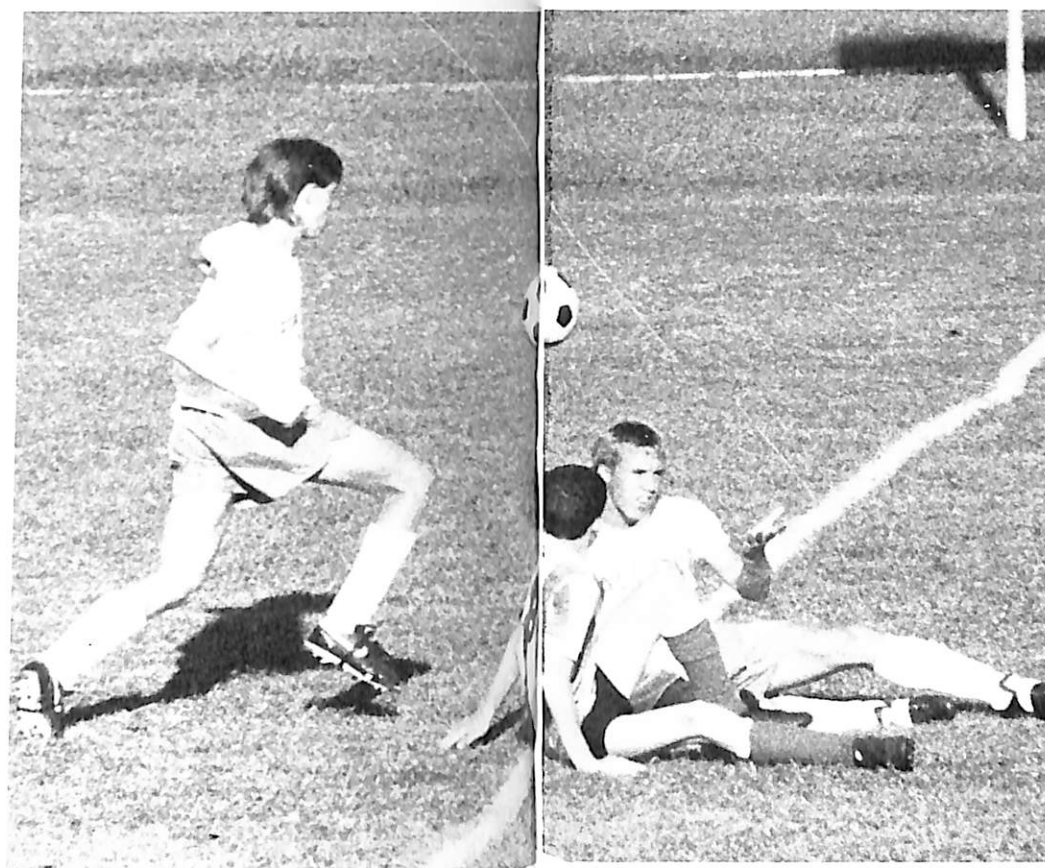

For the second straight season the Falcons were one step away from making their first trip to the State Tournament. Marshall County ended their dreams on October 29 by defeating them in the Regional Championship game 6-4 in overtime. The Falcons finished their season with a stellar 17-5-1 record, including wins over traditional powers Murray and Henderson County. The Falcons demonstrated what teamwork was all about as five starters finished the season with more than ten goals apiece. They were led by Giorgio Hiatt who scored 24 goals while Davey Wright and Gene Rossner Chipped in with 17 each. Hiatt along with Kyle Penman, Tom Reid, and Mike Pfab were recognized for their outstanding season when they were named to the All-District team.

Team superlatives were elected at the end of the season. Captains were Penman and Reid. The Falcon Award of Excellence went to Penman, Reid and Hiatt, and Reid received the 100% award. Most improved was Tony Menjvar and the Junior Varsity Most Valuable Player was Keith Corley.

Falcons Have . . .

THE GREATEST SHOW ON TURF!

Cross-Country 1988 was definitely a season to remember. It was a season of learning, not only for individuals, but for both teams as wholes.

The guys' team, built mostly on returning runners, was perhaps the greatest male team in Fort Campbell history. Their season was marked by seldom wavering dedication and many male squad firsts. At first glance, the womens' squad was not as successful. However, this team, with four first year runners in the top seven, left their mark on region.

The season began with a week-long rigorous day camp, where pre-season conditioning ended and the business of running began. Cross Country coach Lee Lange lectured the runners twice a day and the teams set their season goals. The first major meet was the Fort Campbell Invitational, where both varsity squads took first place and the junior varsity girls took second. The Falcons were off to a great start.

The fourth meet of the season was the Tennessee Classic, which was often referred to as "magical" later in the season. The men ran their best race of the season with their first five finishing in the top 10 — 1st, 2nd, 5th, 6th, and 9th. The women had an excellent race, with their tightest pack of the season. Both teams won first place, taking the first FCHS male team trophy from the Tennessee Classic.

After the Classic both teams went through a period of transition, especially the womens' squad, which changed its sixth and seventh runners several times.

Lexington Catholic, which is held on the state course, was attended by the best AA schools from Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky. The over-night trip wasn't enjoyed until after the race results were in, something which seemed to take forever. When they were posted, they were great! The women finished fourth, defeating all other Kentucky schools. The mens' squad finished first, and set another FCHS precedent with the first male Lexington Catholic title.

The week after Lexington Catholic was Daviess County Invitational, one of the toughest meet to prepare for. The team left the school at six in the morning, each squad preparing for their nemesis. For the men the challenge was the "Raging Red Line" of Daviess County and for the women it was the girls of Warren East. After the race the guys were certain of defeat — two of the top five finished lower than expected. However, both squads were successful and the "Raging Red Line" was broken for the first time in Coach Lange's 12-year career.

The Western Kentucky Conference wound down the regular season for the Falcons in a great way. The meet was special for the ladies because they were able to recapture the "magic" of the Tennessee Classic and take first place with a pack. The mens' squad captured first place despite running without two of their top five.

Regions were held October 29. The men took first and the women took second. Six days later the team left for state.

The day of the State Meet finally came on November 5. Gusty winds and adverse weather conditions neither deterred the runners nor dampened their spirit of determination; both squads were anxious and excited about the day's run.

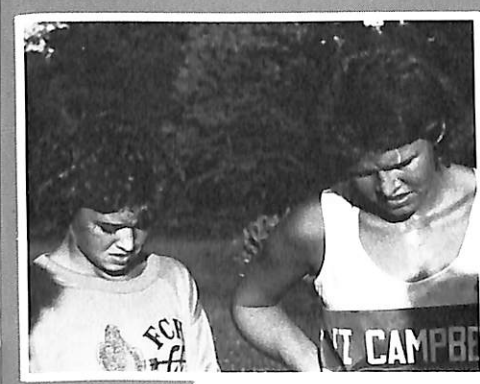

The girls ran first, and despite their abundant talent and terrific performance, their lack of experience kept them from taking state. They finished the season in a truly impressive fourth place. The mens' squad ran the last race of the day, and the best of the season! The hard training and dedicated team work paid off with a beautiful race. Their consistency and perseverance enabled them to pull away at the end of the run. Following the new individual State Champion, Jef Scott, the Falcons took places 2, 9, 14, 21, 27, and 52. With the awesome score of 47, they took the highest honor in cross-country running, the 1988 Men's Class AA State Championship.

State
champs

Enthusiasm ran rampant through the 1988 Varsity squad — they constantly supported the team throughout the season.

The cheerleaders attended Middle Tennessee State University where they brushed up on their cheerleading techniques and, at the same time, learned new ones. The squad worked hard all summer long, but it eventually paid off for them when they walked away with top honors. Their routine, consisting of expressive pyramids and surprising moves, danced its way into the finals. Katie made it to the jump finals where she devastated the crowd with her power jump. Both Meggin and Angie entered the dance-off. They rocked the crowd with their spectacular moves and left them in a wild state. Meggin made it to the semi-finals, and Angie won it all and was named, "Dance Champ."

The squad did a superb job in holding up their cheerleading duties which included: making locker decorations, goody bags, and run-thrus for the football team.

The cheerleaders are certainly one of the well-rounded organizations that represent Ft. Campbell High School.

The Freshmen Cheerleaders approached the school year with a peppy attitude.

The squad was made up of Janell Mora — Captain, Lisa Quinlan, Kim Forsberg, Leigh Young, Sasha Hobbs, and Kelly Hyche. Ms. Jones was their sponsor for the fall. She had never been a sponsor before, but she did her best and supported the girls whenever they need her.

The cheerleaders year was rather short, but they did a great job when it came down to supporting their team.

BASKETBALL

The Varsity Basketball Cheerleading Squad was most definitely titled the crowd pleasers of 89. They came up with suitable material that put the fans into pandemonium. This was the first year in a long time that school spirit was at its highest.

Ms. Page and Ms. Jones were the sponsors of the squad. They put in long hours with the group — if it wasn't at practice, then at all the games.

This year's captains were Angela Copeland and Katie Schlicht. They composed many of the dances that the squad performed and made up the cheers and incorporations.

The squad overall was outstanding and tried their best to promote school spirit.

WRESTLING MAT MAIDS

The 88-89 Falcon Mat Maids really showed their school spirit by supporting their wrestling team throughout the year.

Sponsors Mrs. Everett and Mrs. Brown encouraged the girls to get more involved with the team and they willingly obliged by doing things such as: sending the wrestler's parents invitations to the matches, buying balloons that say "good luck", giving a short summary of each wrestler's season on the morning announcements, and having the first ever "Wrestling Pep Rally."

The squad included: Meggin Garrett (captain), Tammy Hargin (co-captain), Jenni Young, Joanna Steinhurst, Stephanie Taylor, Ladonna Alexander, Donna Bleniss, Kim Glast, Gloria Zavala, Shelley Martinez, Themla Shumate, Allyson Schlag, and Jeanne Gregg. Alternates were: Anna Osbourne and Sara Schornick. Big Blue: Dawn McCaskill. Congratulations to the Mat Maids for a job well done. They really "took it to the limit!"

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

The 1986-87 baseball team ended the season in semi-state after breezing easily through District and Regional championships. They lost in the first round of semi-state with a score of 4-2. The next year appeared to be full of golden opportunities. After a very successful year, the Falcons had all of their starters except two returning. The regular season flew by ending with the Falcons in the district games. They then easily won both games and received the championship trophy against Hopkinsville in the finals. From there it was on to Regionals. The feeling was all too familiar for the Falcons, being mostly returning players, and they knew exactly what was expected of them. The Falcons rolled over their first opponent, Crittenden County, with an easy 17-2 victory. The following game proved to be a little more difficult for the Falcons who faced a tough Madisonville team. The score was tied 5-5 going into the bottom of the sixth inning. Madisonville went up to 7-5 with a 2 run home run over the right-field fence. But the Falcons weren't quite ready for defeat. They rallied in the top of the seventh inning for four runs and weren't about to give up that lead; Scott Kurtz came to the mound and shut out the lights on the next three Madisonville batters. It was on to the Regional Championship for the Falcons, against the always-tough Henderson Colonels. The game was tied until the top of the eighth inning when Henderson hit a grand slam. The Falcons mustered up one run in the bottom of the eighth, but it wasn't enough. The Falcons ended the season with a 20-6 record, making them the first Falcon baseball team to win twenty games in one season. Coach Morgan stated, "This team has to go down as being the best athletes I've ever coached, to come back from being the first team in Falcon baseball history to win the Regionals and then be the first team to ever win 20 games." Congratulations, Falcons!

ANOTHER YEAR OF

. . . Falcon Success. The season went by full of new records and first place finishes. The Lady Falcons gave their sweat and tears towards a winning season. After regionals, with nine qualifiers events for sections, the ladies were on the road to state. The next week at the sectional meet, held in Owensboro, the Lady Falcons brought home another victory. The dream of a state championship was alive, and on May 28, the eight qualifiers: Dewanna Bandy, Michelle Caro, Sonova Farrow, Stephanie Gatewood, Kelsie Hill, Kim Haluski, Yolanda Parker, and Lila Vaughn go their dream. They were the 1988 State Champions.

Duplessis, S. Amos, H. Putnam, T. Woodward, L. Vanderwege.

MAKING TRACKS

The Fort Campbell Men's track team certainly made some tracks for the next year's track team to follow. The team had a lot of new talent added, which was a definite plus for them. They hurled their way out of Regionals by placing second. There were eight points that separated them from the first place team. From there, they went to Sectionals, which was held in Owensboro, Ky. They took second place again, but only Terry Moss, Earl Sturdivant, and James Scott qualified for state.

Soar For A First

For the first time in Ft. Campbell softball history the Lady Falcons moved on to the Regional Tournament. With strong determination and that FCHS fighting spirit, the Lady Falcons defeated the Hopkinsville Lady Tigers with a 3-1 victory. The Falcons took the title of District Runner-ups after an 8-1 loss to the Regional Champion, Christian County.

Thanks to the coaching and expertise of Coach Jackson and Coach Waller, the softball team was able to overcome their 8-11 seasonal record and improve with every game. It's nice to see progress in FCHS softball because when it all comes together, the Lady Falcons can make it to the top.

THE TENNIS TEAM'S

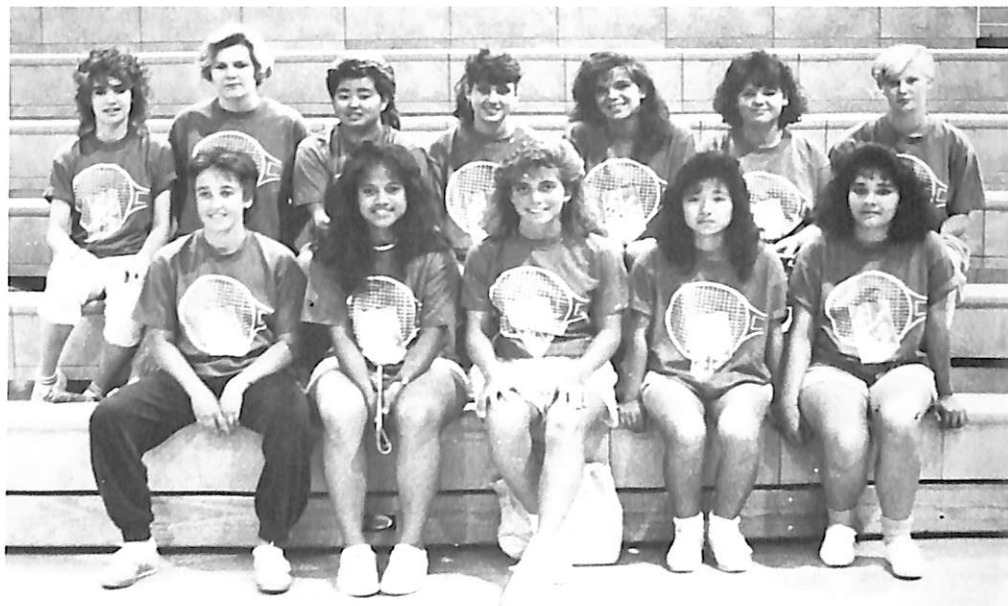

COURT RECORD

In the past few years, the Fort Campbell High School tennis team has usually had a small turn-out of interested students, but the 1988 season was an exception.

The girls' team had a very successful year with a record of six wins and three losses. The team consisted of two returning members and eleven new members.

The guys' team also shared in a successful season for they won nine matches and only lost three.

Both teams, coached by Marsha Zenker, showed a tremendous amount of desire and improvement throughout the season.

Row 1: Isabella Vonttomyer, Virginia Yandall, Michelle Morotta, Tia York, Jeanne Gregg.

THE AFTERSCHOOL COURSE: GOLF

The 87-88 golf team had a tough year. They played hard and well. All of the work payed off with an outstanding record of 11 wins and 1 loss. The top five members of the team were Jonathan Harris, David Loftin, Ken Quinlin, Robert Reid, and Tom Reid. Finishing off the team: Richard Case, Robby Clark, Vern Daley, Greg Gibson, John Marshall, Steve Ostberg, and James Perry. The golf team had an outstanding year, something we all can be proud of.

Your class ring A GREAT FEELING

Pride is the catalyst for human achievement...the mover of minds, of muscles and most of all hearts. Your class ring is more than a mere piece of jewelry. A class ring shows Pride.

Your class ring identifies you with your school and your class for all to see. It carries with it much sentimental value and will help you preserve special memories forever.
