Looking Back

As we glance through these pages, we look back to our middle school years and the good and bad times we've had. We remember the friends we've made and the special times we've shared.

During the year we had many exciting activities. The dances put us into the holiday mood. Spirit week built morale and pride in our school. The trips we took were learning experiences and gave us a fun break during the year. Each of these events helped us to grow and learn about one another.

These pictures all have a special meaning. They take us back to where we were and show us how far we've come. So as you look through this book, keep "Playing Back the Memories." - Betty Hawn

Concerned students

When Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait on August 2, 1990, the world took action. With the United States in the lead, many soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines were deployed to the Persian Gulf. Many other nations also deployed service members to the Gulf after the United Nations Security Council passed a resolution stating that Hussein must withdraw his forces from Kuwait by January 15, 1991.

Many students wanted to do their part. Some wrote letters to boost the morale of their parents, sisters or brothers while others wrote to friends, neighbors, or pen pals they have just received through the "Any Servicemember" address.

When a family is separated, it's tough on everybody. The community youth workers, family support groups, schools, psychologists, and social workers have geared up to help families while their sponsors are deployed to Saudi. GMS students hope that all service members will return home safely.

We've Got Spirit!

Fun activities planned to increase students' pride and enthusiasm for learning

On October 22-26 Giessen Middle School held a Spirit Week. The Student Council sponsored this event in order to give the students at GMS a little bit of fun, and increase pride in our school.

During Spirit Week, we had 5 different dress up days. Monday was Kid Day, which was a day when everyone dressed up as a kid. On Tuesday everyone had to dress up as a twin for Twin Day. Wednesday was Pet Day. Students and teachers brought their stuffed animals to school. Thursday was Mask Day, where students wore their favorite mask, or painted their faces. Friday was Costume Day, which was a very exciting and hilarious day as students dressed in their favorite costumes.

Spirit Week at GMS was a very energizing and exciting week. We really got the spirit!

Halloween dance; smashing success

The Halloween Dance was held in the GMS gym on October 26, only five days before Halloween. The Student Council and the NCO Wives' Club sponsored the dance. Volunteer students turned the school hallway into a "Haunted Entrance" that spooked everyone as they entered.

Many of the students, teachers, and chaperones came in costume. The tasty refreshments were welcomed by most of the dancers. The dance was a great place for everyone to meet their friends plus make new ones. As the students danced, the D. J. mixed the music. When the evening was over, many of the students wanted to stay, dance, and visit. Over all, the dance was a success, especially with the sixth graders, as this was their first middle school dance.

Students visit Health Fair GMS Gets Healthy!

This year for the first time, Giessen Middle School participated in a Health Fair, at Miller Hall Gym, on Oct. 29 and 30. Ms. Spencer's Health and Home Economics classes presented informational displays on health related topics such as Smoking, Cancer, Diabetes, AIDS, nutritious snacks, and balanced meals. Our school nurse, Mrs. Fozard, along with community volunteers, helped to screen our students' vision, teeth, height, weight, and spines for Scoliosis. Mary Ellen Schmidley, Giessen's Fit to Win Coordinator, also helped sponsor the event. She coordinated fitness stations which measured cholesterol, blood pressure, strength, flexibility, and body fat. All GMS students felt that the Health Fair was a huge success.

Victoria Beadles, Kevin Larson, Kenneth Pringle, Scott Davis, Ben Mendes, and Chris Thrasher are a few of the artists who were responsible for Ms. Schulz's 1st place door.

Deck the halls

GMS students participated in the 2nd annual door decorating contest this year. The reason for the contest was to celebrate National Book Week. This year, we had some extra spectacular doors. The designs were to be based on a novel of our choice. The title and author also had to be displayed on the door. After deciding on an idea, students got down to work. Decorating began on November 9, and the final judging was completed on November 21.

Each AA classroom was responsible for their own door. Students spent a lot of time decorating their doors. First, second, and third place doors received prizes of books and snacks.

-Lisa Sperow

Mr. Claus' students Thedros Poinsette, Quanteia Layton, Lakisha Dowtin, Yanique Young, Sherri Thompson, Daisha Evans, and Alexandria Bujno took 2nd place.

Third place winners were Gilberto Vazquez, Victor Chen, Cesar Dunn, Luis Picanco, Jennifer Gusme, and Danny Agustin in Ms. Foley's AA class.

Valentine's Royalty!

GMS held an election to vote for a Valentine King and Queen for each grade. The winners were determined when each student in AA nominated a girl and boy for a Queen and King the week before the dance. After tallying up the votes, three girl and boy finalists were chosen. Students were able to vote for a nickel a vote at lunch time for their choice. The lucky winners were announced during the dance. They got flowers and danced the first dance together.

-Daisy Fuaga

Eighth grade Valentine's King and Queen were Shemica Johnson and Ramon Garcia.

The seventh grade King and Queen were Candice McCall and Gabiel Marquez.

Sixth grade Valentine's King and Queen were David LaPortez and Mindy Preece.

GMS dancers get struck by Cupid's arrows.

Mr. Olmsted, Ms. Schulz, and Mr. Smith were great chaperones.

GMS students model their Valentine fashions.

The Valentine's Dance was held on Friday, February 8. It was sponsored by Student Council and the NJHS. There were refreshments, a D. J., and many students. D. J. Hunter played great music and everyone had a good time. The dance was held inside the gym which was beautifully decorated by Student Council volunteers.

The king and queen were crowned at the dance. At 8:00 the king, queen, and the members of the royal court were announced. The girls received roses. Following the announcements, the winners danced.

D. J. Hunter's music had GMS students tapping their toes. He even had special lighting that created cool effects. All in all, GMS students had a great time.

Sixth Grade

A new adventure
with friends,
teachers, classes, and lockers

Sixth graders have taken a big step coming to a new school and into a higher grade. This year we've taken on more responsibilities like taking care of lockers and getting to class on time. We have made new friends, met new teachers, and have learned many new things. Our wheel classes were gym, art, music, and German. We changed wheel classes every quarter and had a chance to experience many new things. This year has been a great start to building a successful future. We look forward to becoming seventh graders so that we're no longer the youngest kids in the school.

Seventh Grade

We're the kids in the middle,
and proud of it too

This school year was really fun. It gave all of us a chance to move up from being the youngest kids in the school. Our wheel classes lasted one semester each. We had art, gym, German, and Home Economics. We also had a chance to take band or chorus. We've had some hard times when we forgot to complete homework, had arguments with friends, or had to eat gross lunch food. In the end, we found out that being in the 7th grade was okay. Although we will miss our friends in the summer, we will always be "Playing Back the Memories," as we look forward to returning next year.

Eighth Grade

Leadership has its privileges

As the eighth grade class of 1990 moves on, we look back at all the fun times we've shared. Being the oldest in the school brings many responsibilities, along with this, comes the fun. Remember your fabulous friends. Remember the homework, and the teachers that gave it to you! Remember the detentions. Remember the dances, remember 2:35! We have many great memories as we pass the leadership of GMS on to the seventh graders. We hate to leave, but we look forward to high school!

Student Life

Beginning band plays first notes

The beginning band was sponsored by Mrs. Carol Robinson. There are 19 students in the band. This is a year long class. If a student takes band he or she doesn't have any of the wheel classes. Mrs. Robinson's goals were to develop students' technical skills on their instruments and to develop an appreciation for music. The members can also come after school on Mondays for additional practice. This year the beginning band performed at the winter and spring concerts.

The music gets better and better

The intermediate band for school year 1990-1991 was taught by Mrs. Carol Robinson. The band was made up mostly of 8th graders and a few advanced 7th graders. The band met every day during 6th hour. They gave two concerts, one at Christmas and one in the Spring.

Front: Carly Barnes, Angelica Villarreal, and Lee Willett Rear: Amanda Fleckenstein, Amber Patterson, Roberta White, Chasity Davis, Widaly Gonzalez, Jason Shuman, and Johari Fletcher

This year a few members of the intermediate band went to Frankfurt to play in the Honor Band Festival. The festival featured several top band students from DoDDS' schools playing together.

The band also went to the Giessen Elementary School to give the elementary school students a chance to see and hear each of the instruments.

Sweet harmony

This year chorus was taught by Mrs. Carol Robinson. Her goals for the year were to help the students become more aggressive about singing and to improve their vocal talents. There were a total of sixteen 7th grade students in chorus this year. They met every day during 3rd period and after school on Tuesdays. -Kelly Compton, Laura Dominguez, and Karly Kennedy

This year NJHS was sponsored by Mrs. Darinda Ferguson. NJHS had many service projects such as entertainment for the 4-43 Christmas party, the Candy Kisses Drive for the soldiers that went to Saudi Arabia, and the ACS Food Drive. NJHS held some money making projects as well. They sold candy grams at Halloween and Christmas, and Flowers for Friends for your favorite Valentines. They also held elections for the Valentine King and Queen of each grade level which was awarded at the dance. They used their money to help pay for the induction ceremony which was held at the Giessen Chapel on March 7.

Leaders do it!

Student council was sponsored by Mr. Smith. This year Student Council accomplished many things. They sponsored a crazy Spirit Week, a Fasching Fun Fest, Powder Puff Basketball, and exciting dances. They made special birthday cards and organized a small group to sing "Happy Birthday" for students and teachers on their special days. Student Council organized a Secret Santa for the GMS faculty giving away flowers, cards, and gifts. Student Council also sold Giessen Middle School sweatshirts. They made it possible for bussers to come inside before school during bad weather.

Hit that keyboard, have fun! Whiz kids compute

Find the criminal, draw, or type. These are some of the many activities that you can do in the computer club. The sponsor of this club is Mrs. Beau. The club meets every morning and sometimes after school in the computer lab. All grades can join the club. There are many programs for students to choose from. Computer programs range from Carmen San Diego to Operation Frog and from Paintworks to AppleWorks. So come take a seat and play an educational game.

-James Hoelscher

Challenge your mind with games!

The Decision Making and Thinking Games Club met on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday in the library. The students in the club played computer games that required a certain amount of thinking, and strategy games such as chess, checkers, Axis and Allies, and Battleship. The purpose of the club was to have fun, use your brain, and get together with friends. The club's sponsor was the librarian, Ms. Fricchione.

Math Counts scores high

Team scores victories in Heidelberg and Bonn

Math Counts was an after school activity consisting of 7th and 8th graders. The team members were chosen by scoring high on a series of tests. Mrs. Anderson coached the four members and four alternates.

On January 31, 1991, the team went to Heidelberg. Joey Kushner, Bryan Ruckman, Yousef Elmasry, and Betty Hawn were high scores at this event. The team came in 6th out of 11. For the next competition, the team traveled to Bonn on February 22. In Bonn, the team won 7th place for all of Europe. For individual competitions, Joey Kushner took 2nd place and Bryan Ruckman placed 6th. The team will travel to Heidelberg for the European finals on March 22. We wish them luck.

-Betty Hawn & Valerie Thomas

Showing off their trophies after the Bonn competition are: (front) John Siemer, David Carroll, (rear) Joey Kushner, Bryan Ruckman, and Mrs. Anderson.

The team and alternates include: Bryan Ruckman, Chris Morton, Betty Hawn, Cassy Hanson, Joey Kushner, Yousef Elmasry, John Siemer, and David Carroll.

Our Math Counts team concentrates while competing in Heidelberg on January 31.

Yearbook staff meets the challenge

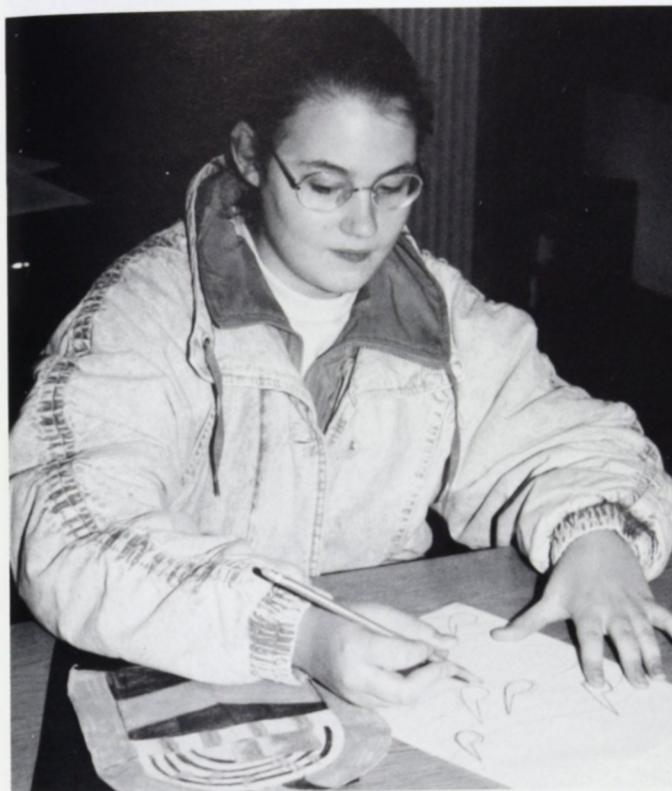

The yearbook staff met on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and sometimes on Saturdays. It was sponsored by the brilliant and lovely, Ms. Huhra. There were 32 students on the yearbook staff.

Working on the yearbook staff has been very rewarding in some ways. We have learned how to draw layouts, use the computer, write stories and captions and sell ads. We also bagged at the PX in order to earn lots of money to help pay for this book.

Sometimes the meetings were stressful; other times they were boring; other times they were quite fun. All in all, we had a great time and produced this wonderful and awesome yearbook you're reading right now!

-Lee Kennedy & Brandy Crawford

Jeanmarie Crawford is busily designing the yearbook cover.

Karly Kennedy and Monica Green work on a story assignment.

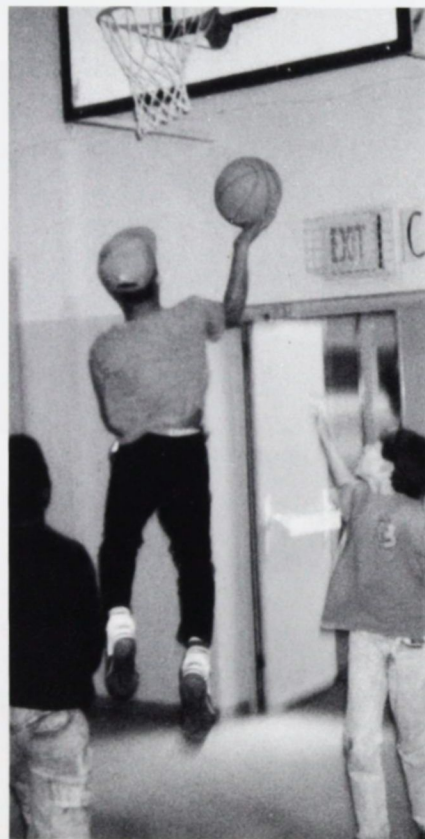

Stephanie Davis, Valerie Thomas, Heidi Wilson, Valerie Burton, Yvonne Kreuger, Shelly Stacks, and Stefani Schaefer choose layouts.

Mike Kupper thinks that "slam dunking" after school sure beats homework.

Shoot the hoop

He goes down the court and passes to a teammate. She catches it and goes for a beautiful lay-up. Two points!

The after school basketball club met on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays. The coaches, Mr. Beau, Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. Mills, taught students basic basketball skills and strategy. Boys and girls from all grade levels participated in this sport. Student athletes were able to work on improving their skills through either team play or individual practice. So come on down and shoot some hoops.

Home Making

Future Homemakers of America, more widely known as FHA, is an after-school activity. Mrs. Spencer, who is the leader of the pack, is a lean, mean, Home Makin' Machine.

FHA held a cake decorating class, a sewing class, a First Aid class, and a baby-sitting class this year. FHA is for students who've had experience with Home Economics classes. Mrs. Spencer's goals were to develop character, interpersonal communication, practical knowledge, and vocational preparation.

-Betty Hawn

"If I only could learn how to thread the machine, I could learn to sew," says Litresha Shipman.

The teachers and 7th graders cool down after the tough and exciting championship game.

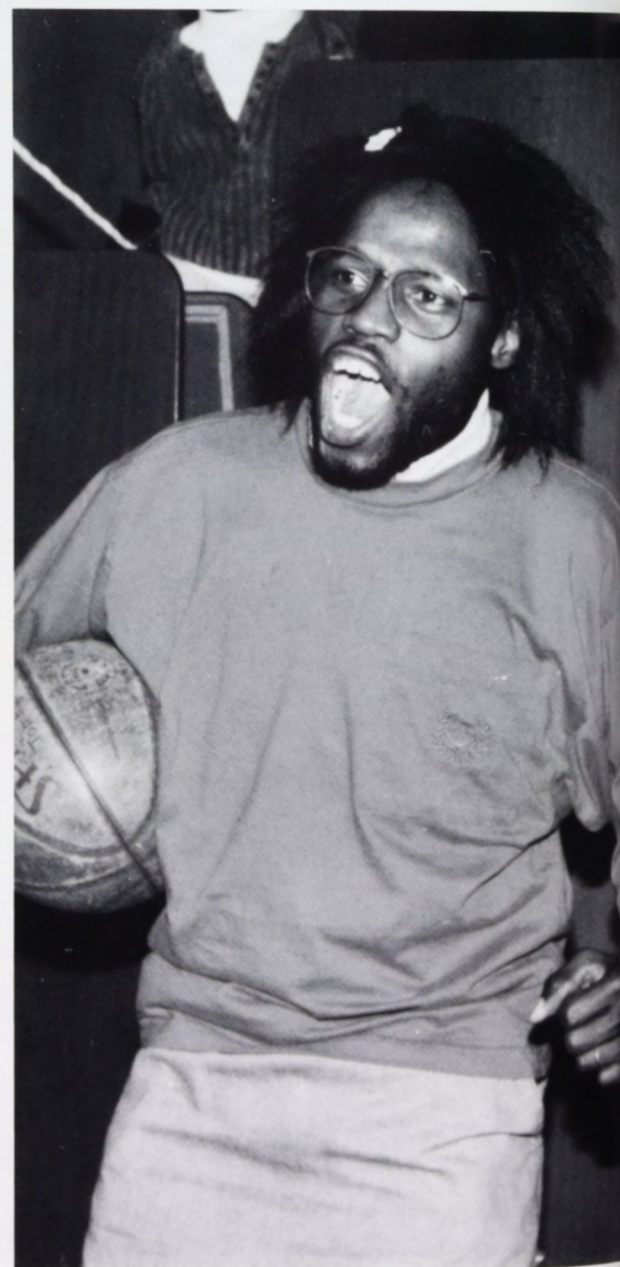

The Powder Puff was an after school activity that took place on March 5 and 7. This fun activity was sponsored by Student Council. Two girls from each AA were chosen to participate on the basketball team, while one boy was chosen as a cheerleader. On Tuesday, the 8th grade girls played against the female teachers, while the 6th graders challenged the 7th graders. The teachers won 34-8, as did the 7th graders 34-12. On Thursday, the teachers and the 7th grade girls played for the championship. The teachers won 38-18. The cheerleaders, being male, made this fun event even more exciting and silly. The 8th grade cheerleading squad won first place for their spirit.

Saddam

Saddam Hussein is the leader of Iraq,
This man is full of talk.

He said he was beating us,
But now he's retreating to us.

He said he was winning it,
But now we're finishing it.

He thinks we're cracked,
Israel got attacked.

The Iraqis are surrendering,
And now the war is ending.

Saddam Hussein is the leader of Iraq,
This man is full of talk.

-Mike Megorden

Jeanmarie Crawford

In Tel Aviv
People are running for safety.
But they can't leave Tel Aviv-
Because if they do,
There's no safety.
They are running all around.
They are diving to the ground.
They are disgusted
by the sound,
They are bombing Israel.

People carry masks
Everywhere they go.
Just waiting for Saddam
to unleash his deadly task.
To let the poison
chemicals flow.
Saddam's a sick man
Facing up to America, like he really can
Bush, a calm and undisturbed man
Will bring some hope to Israel.

Finally Free

Free, finally free.
Preserved and liberated
By our Army.

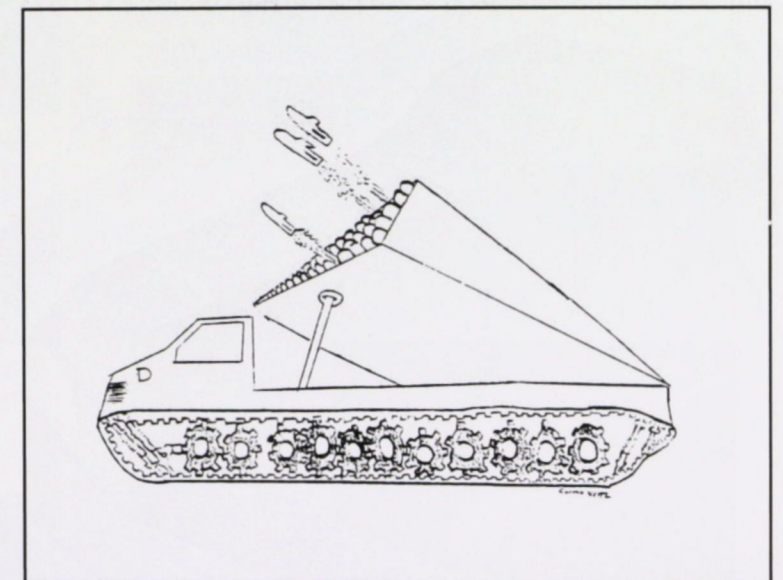

Kuwaiti flags
as far as you can see.
The people all celebrated
Because of our Army.

War

No words can describe what it is.
No phrase can describe the pain.
The cries of a million hearts
that slowly drift away.
They call their lives a casualty,
like it means nothing at all,
but, if they could open their eyes, they'd see that life is more precious than anything.
Yes, war doesn't solve a single thing, and costly lives are lost away.

GMS would like to thank all the soldiers who have been deployed to the Middle East during Operation Desert Storm. We are also very grateful to the soldiers who have remained behind. You have faithfully protected our school and housing areas. We thank you all!

As yearbook editor, I would like to especially thank our staff. We worked hard and put in extra efforts to make this the best yearbook ever. As we worked together with our friends, we remembered the fun times, teachers, and classes. We hope that when you look through our yearbook, you'll "Play Back The Memories".

Special thanks to Ms. Thorson and Mrs. Markvart for their support.
Vielen Dank to Fran Frazier who never complained when I asked for assistance.

Thanks to Dorothy Cochran who faithfully typed thousands of bulletin announcements.

Kent Robertson, without your great photos, this book wouldn't have been possible.

Karen Burbach, from Walsworth Publishing, we really appreciated your ready, willing and able attitude...even on a weekend!

Thanks to Barb Scharf for her artistic consultations.

And finally, lots of hugs to a fantastic, hardworking staff who always kept us laughing—even at those long Saturday sessions. I'm so proud of the great job you've done!
