GOOSE HISTORY

November 1955 was the day. The RCAF notified the Base Commander that at the conclusion of the current year they would be unable to offer school facilities to the American National dependents. What was to be done?

Emergency action to provide a school was necessary if we were to offer our dependents an education from the first through the twelfth grade. Immediately the Base Commander with the Air Installations Officer initiated a long range plan by which a semi-permanent school was to be provided with Military Construction facilities. Command approved the plan and provided funds by which the World War II gymnasium that was in the aircraft apron expansion would be relocated and converted into the classrooms now known as building T-675. In addition three buildings in the old hospital group "on the hill" were to be converted into classrooms. This was a big undertaking even for the Corps of Engineers and the Contractor Drake-Merritt because they had to "sandwich in" this work with the other high priority operational facilities. In fact 1956 was one of the years in which the saying became popular on the Goose—that—"if you wanted to watch the Goose on the move, all you had to do was look out the window, and you would see a building going by."

In spite of the heroic work of the Contractor only the 10 classrooms on the hill were ready for opening of school in September 1956. To care for the overflow building T-895, now known as the Chapel Annex in "G" area, was used until the old gymnasium was converted. Fortunately the modifications to provide an additional 9 classrooms were completed to permit opening of school after the Christmas New Year holidays in 1956-57 so we were in "G" area only a short time. That first school year 1956-57 (or fiscal year 1957) was a real "initiation" in the history of Goose Air Base. Mr. Bodiford and his teaching staff of 18 will always remember those pioneer days as they sought to impart wisdom to 108 students. These early growing pains that Mr. Bodiford nurtured proved what a patient man he was.

School year 1957-58 (or fiscal year 1958) was conducted in the same building as FY 57. This was eventful for that year we became accredited by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. Mr. Bodiford and his teaching staff of 24 are to be commended for this significant achievement for the 450 students that attended.

School year 1958-59 (or fiscal year 1959) was again eventful for that was the year we occupied our new semi-permanent school building S-519. Mr. Bodiford assumed the Superintendencies of both Goose Air Base and the Ernest Harmon Air Force Base School; therefore Mr. Kidd and a teaching staff of 26 had the pleasure of teaching 550 dependent children in one of the most modern AF plants.

1959-60 school year started with an enrollment of 660 students, a teaching staff of 35 headed by Mr. Brier, and with overall supervision by Mr. Bodiford. With the introduction of another 100 families, (an estimated 700 students) early in the FY 1960 the school building was severely taxed for the remainder of the year.

The future is bright for the Goose Air Base Dependent School—more families—more students—school expansion—everything Bigger and Better!

DEDICATION

To you, Mr. Brusa, we dedicate this yearbook as a token of our appreciation for the many moments of understanding, guidance, and friendship you have extended to us. Your unselfish sacrifices have made our Senior Year the most memorable of our high school experiences. The sense of humor you displayed in your personal and professional relationship with us shall serve always as an example for us in our endeavors beyond our formal education.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

GREETINGS TO THE CLASS OF 1960:

I should like to express my sincere congratulations to you at this important milestone in your life. You may not think of graduation from High School as a milestone, but it is certainly a very important event. Now you are more or less "on your own" and the decisions you make, for the most part, will be your own. Whether you decide to continue your formal education in an institution of higher learning or whether you decide to let life be your college, the important thing is to study hard and graduate high in your class.

The Class of 1960 is a particularly fine one. Although most of you have been here only two years, the wonderful camaraderie evident in your group has knit you closely together, and you have done some splendid and worthwhile things.

I urge you to begin your new work with vigor and judgment and with high purpose. In every field of endeavor there is a great lack of people who work hard and think hard. If you do your very best in whatever you find to do in life, success and happiness will be yours.

Again, congratulations and farewell.

AUBREY L. BRIER
Principal

CONGRATULATIONS

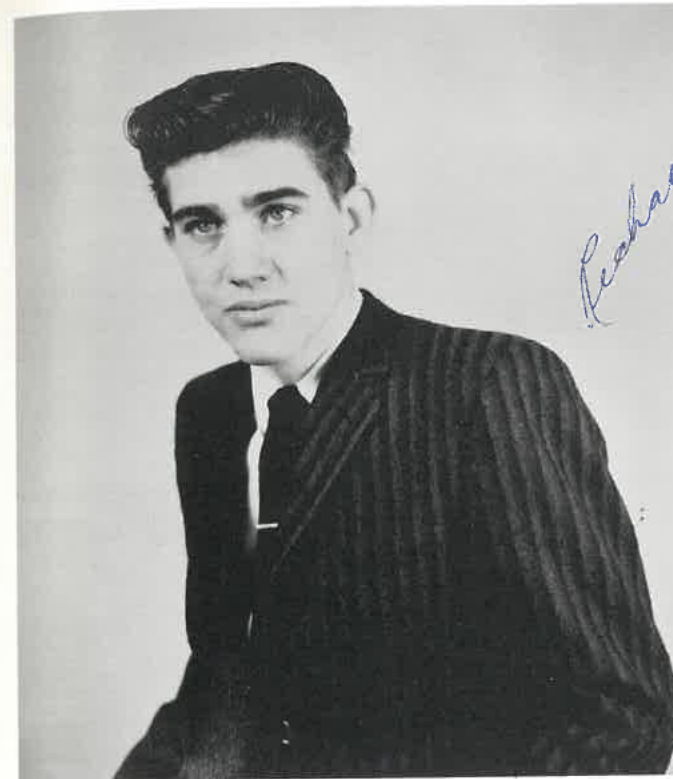

Rich is lots of fun, but he's always ready with a helping hand. He's the kind of guy you can depend on. Richard is a hard worker and sticks up for his friends. Rich likes Olicia, Pall Malls and a good time. "Brownie" dislikes not getting "George."

His ambition is to become an accountant.

Not a care in the world. Friendly and happy-go-lucky. Pat could buy the devil's soul, she could buy or sell anything you could think of. Pat's favorite pastime is making money and bargaining. She's crazy about stateside Pepsis in bottles. She likes J.M.B. and anything that is stateside. Being broke is about the worst thing that could happen to Diesel.

Pat plans to be a Physical Education Teacher.

A very efficient and reliable girl describes Kathy. Kathy is well liked by all and is an avid basketball player. She likes TEXAS, beatniks, "LCL," and people. Kathy dislikes people who dislike TEXAS. She avoids work whenever possible.

She plans to be a research psychiatrist.

I hope you enjoy this yearbook
I had much fun making on it like last year. Sure hope you are having a wonderful time. Yours

What a character! Always smiling. Always up to something (trouble) and ready for a practical joke. Sid likes cars, real parties and sleeping. He dislikes the "Goose."

Sid wants to own several houses and rent them out (to unsuspecting individuals for a handsome profit).

Acts innocent, but! To Cal a big book is a big nuisance. He likes sports cars (Corvettes) and basketball. His favorite pastime is sleeping (during schooltime), and he also tinkers around with motorcycles. Something else he does in his spare time is to throw parties.

Calvin's ambition is to be a doctor.

Barb is a very well-liked girl. She's good in about everything she tries, and can really handle a basketball. Barbara has a likable personality and is really fun to know. Barb likes good rock 'n' roll, hamburgers and Paul Anka. She dislikes showoffs.

Barbara plans to be a nurse.

Dear Miss Schriber
 All of us in the senior class wish you were here. We had a pretty good time this year. The teachers were very good this year just like last year. This year we graduated but we will never forget each other or our teachers.

A quiet and industrious person. She's a hard worker and a friend in hand. Ruth likes tall boys with dark crew-cuts and also Chanel No. 5 perfume. Ruthie has a certain distaste for pink and orange color combinations.

Ruthanne's ambition is to become a missionary nurse.

A talkative and lively person! Always on the go. He can argue up a storm on anything you can think of. "J. P." always does his share when called upon. John likes women, radios, and wine in that order. However, people who tamper with his car's spark plug wires seem to disturb him profoundly.

"J. P." plans to be an electronic engineer.

Miss Scriber,
 I hope you enjoy our yearbook. We had many difficulties this year, but came through all right. As you will see the pictures are rather poor. The Juniors and Sophomores were taken by a man from Toronto and we were really disappointed.

Peppy Pixie! Clarice is popular with everyone. She's ready to help anytime she's needed. Always on her toes doing something. Clarice enjoys spaghetti, and likes the color black, and adores her dog "Tino." She doesn't like sarcastic people and Fabian has little appeal to her.

Nursing is Clarice's ambition.

we all miss you, but realize you are probably having a fine time. Thank you for a wonderful junior year.

Mischievous and peppy. Man of many moods and has a way with women. Loves to flirt. He's a jerk. Oh sorry! A soda jerk during the weekends at Teen Town. Gary likes woodworking, women and basketball. Gary's loads of fun and always ready for trouble.

Gary plans to go into the Air Force after he graduates.

Surprises many people — not as shy as she appears. It can never be said that Mei-Ling will be an earlybird. Mei-Ling is a very talented young girl and also very attractive. She's friendly once you get to know her. Mei-Ling likes art and also teaches ballet in her spare time. California and Maverick have her heart. Pesky brothers and TEXAS have a bad affect on her.

Mei-Ling plans to make a career of fashion designing.

A very likable person. He's witty and always good for a practical joke. A truer TEXAN could never be found. Pete collects pillows, likes basketball and parties.

Pete wants to go into the Navy after retiring from school.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

The date 1970, the place Mars. Two friends Beauregard, a Plantationoid and Thidwick, a true Texoid, are talking.

Thidwick: Do you remember the time we visited those Earthlings in a place called Goose Bay, Labrador?

Beauregard: Yes, that was about ten earth-years ago. I wonder what they are doing now? Life on earth has progressed considerably in ten years.

Thidwick: Say, we've got the weekend off, so why not go and see what's happened to them.

Beauregard: Good idea, we can leave in about two hours, as soon as I tell my wife and refuel my rocket.

Thidwick: Okay! I'll meet you at your pad.

Beauregard: Good-bye!

Later at Beauregard's launching pad.

Beauregard: You know, it's a good thing that we are invisible to the earthlings. It's more fun that way. Anyway I don't believe that they are yet adapted to space travel, and our presence would be too much of a shock.

Thidwick: I hope this turns out to be as interesting as it was ten earth years ago.

A half-hour later we find Beauregard and Thidwick hovering over South America in their rocket, tuning in their ultra-sonic televiewer on Mr. Richard Adkins. Much to their surprise they see Richard Adkins accounting for his money. He was recently employed as head accountant at the West Virginia National Bank. Now, Beauregard and Thidwick find Richard enjoying an overly prolonged vacation in Argentina.

As they turn their rocket towards the United States they pick up on their viewer a live broadcast over J. P. Broadcasting Company. "J. P." recently switched from radio to television broadcasting. He is now entering television. On his first big production he presents a live show, featuring the eminent heart-surgeon, Dr. Calvin Howard. Assisting Dr. Howard is Nurse Hujus a friend since school days. Miss Hujus has often doubled as Dr. Howard's private secretary.

During Miss Hujus's vacation, she acts as publicity agent for the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Factory, in an obscure village in Labrador, which belongs to the famous missionary-nurse, in the Congo, Miss Ruth Anne Jandacek.

Beauregard: Remember the real tall boy that used to fix clocks in Goose Bay High School?

Thidwick: Yes, he seemed to be a talented young man at that time. What happened to him?

Beauregard: Well, the papers say, "There's an up-and-coming young man, Sidney Hallin, who has been investing all his money in all but forgotten places in this great metropolis.

Thidwick: Yea! These later turned out to be gold mines of housing developments. He's done pretty well for himself.

Tonight Miss Mei-Ling Reynolds is to make her debut in the famous Monte Carlo Ballet. The orchestra begins the prelude, the curtain rises, the stage is set, the court dancers make their appearance. Miss Mei-Ling Reynolds' cue is given. But alas! Where is she? Late again?

Thidwick: Ha! Ha! That's just like her. If she is ever on time it would be a miracle.

Beauregard: Man, like let's make the scene!

In another section of the country:

Beauregard: Hey, look at Pete Werner. He's president of the Pillow Talk, Inc., of Fort Worth, Texas. Looks like he's starting another campaign to increase sales of his famous pillows.

Thidwick: You know I heard that Pete has the world's most famous collection of pillows. His favorite slogan is, "Where's my pillow."

Beauregard: Hey, Thid! Look at that Gary. He's testing Pete's pillows again. On top of being a playboy, he's the world's top public relations man. Gary seems to be going places in the world.

Thidwick: Beau, remember Pat Delzell? Well, I just read that she married Jesse Mung, the grocery-store king. "Mrs. Mung recently made her millions when she wrote, "How to Make Money off Poor High School Students."

Beauregard: I must read her book. Maybe I can learn how to make some more money outside of the Plantanoid. It isn't doing as well as a few years ago.

Thidwick: Weren't there two other girls in the SENIOR CLASS OF 1960?

Beauregard: Yes, there were. Clarice and Kathy. Let's see what's on the televiewer. Flash! Papers all over America have been featuring the new Dr. Dunahoo and her friend Dr. Polatty. (There's something different about them though, they are all dressed in black).

These two unusual doctors have made great strides in the field of Psychology. Their somber dress and morbid ideas have changed the sociological trends of the world, Dunahooism and Polattyism. They feel that everyone should have a persecution complex, or man, like they can't know what livin' is.

Thidwick: Well, Beau, that's about all. Let's make it back to your Plantanoid.
Beauregard: Yea, those humans have done pretty well for themselves.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We the Senior Class of 1960, being of sound mind and body do hereby establish our last will and testament.

I, Richard Adkins, will my talented tongue to Olicia Napier in hopes that she will use it in the right way. To Miss Miller I will my good English.

I, Pat Delzell, will my old used flash bulbs to Rolf (Jigger) Ertresvaag in return for the many times I blinded him. I will my "M" complex to Mitzi (Chicken) Bodiford in hopes that she will be able to use it in her Senior Year.

I, Kathy Dunahoo, will to Dianne Andrews "George." To Sid Hallin (my friend) I will "L. C. L.", my favorite book. To Mike Briggs I will a cigarette to smoke Outside of school.

I, Barbara Hujus, will to Betty Terry my ability not to do Chemistry problems hoping it will do more for her Chemistry grade than it did for mine.

I, Calvin Howard, of Texas, will to Sandy Martin my life size replica of the Alamo. (Location—San Antonio, Texas.)

I, Sid Hallin, will to Jim Kinion my height. To Miss Miller my typing skill.

I, Ruth Jandacek, will my citizenship of Happy Valley to anyone who is wise enough to take it.

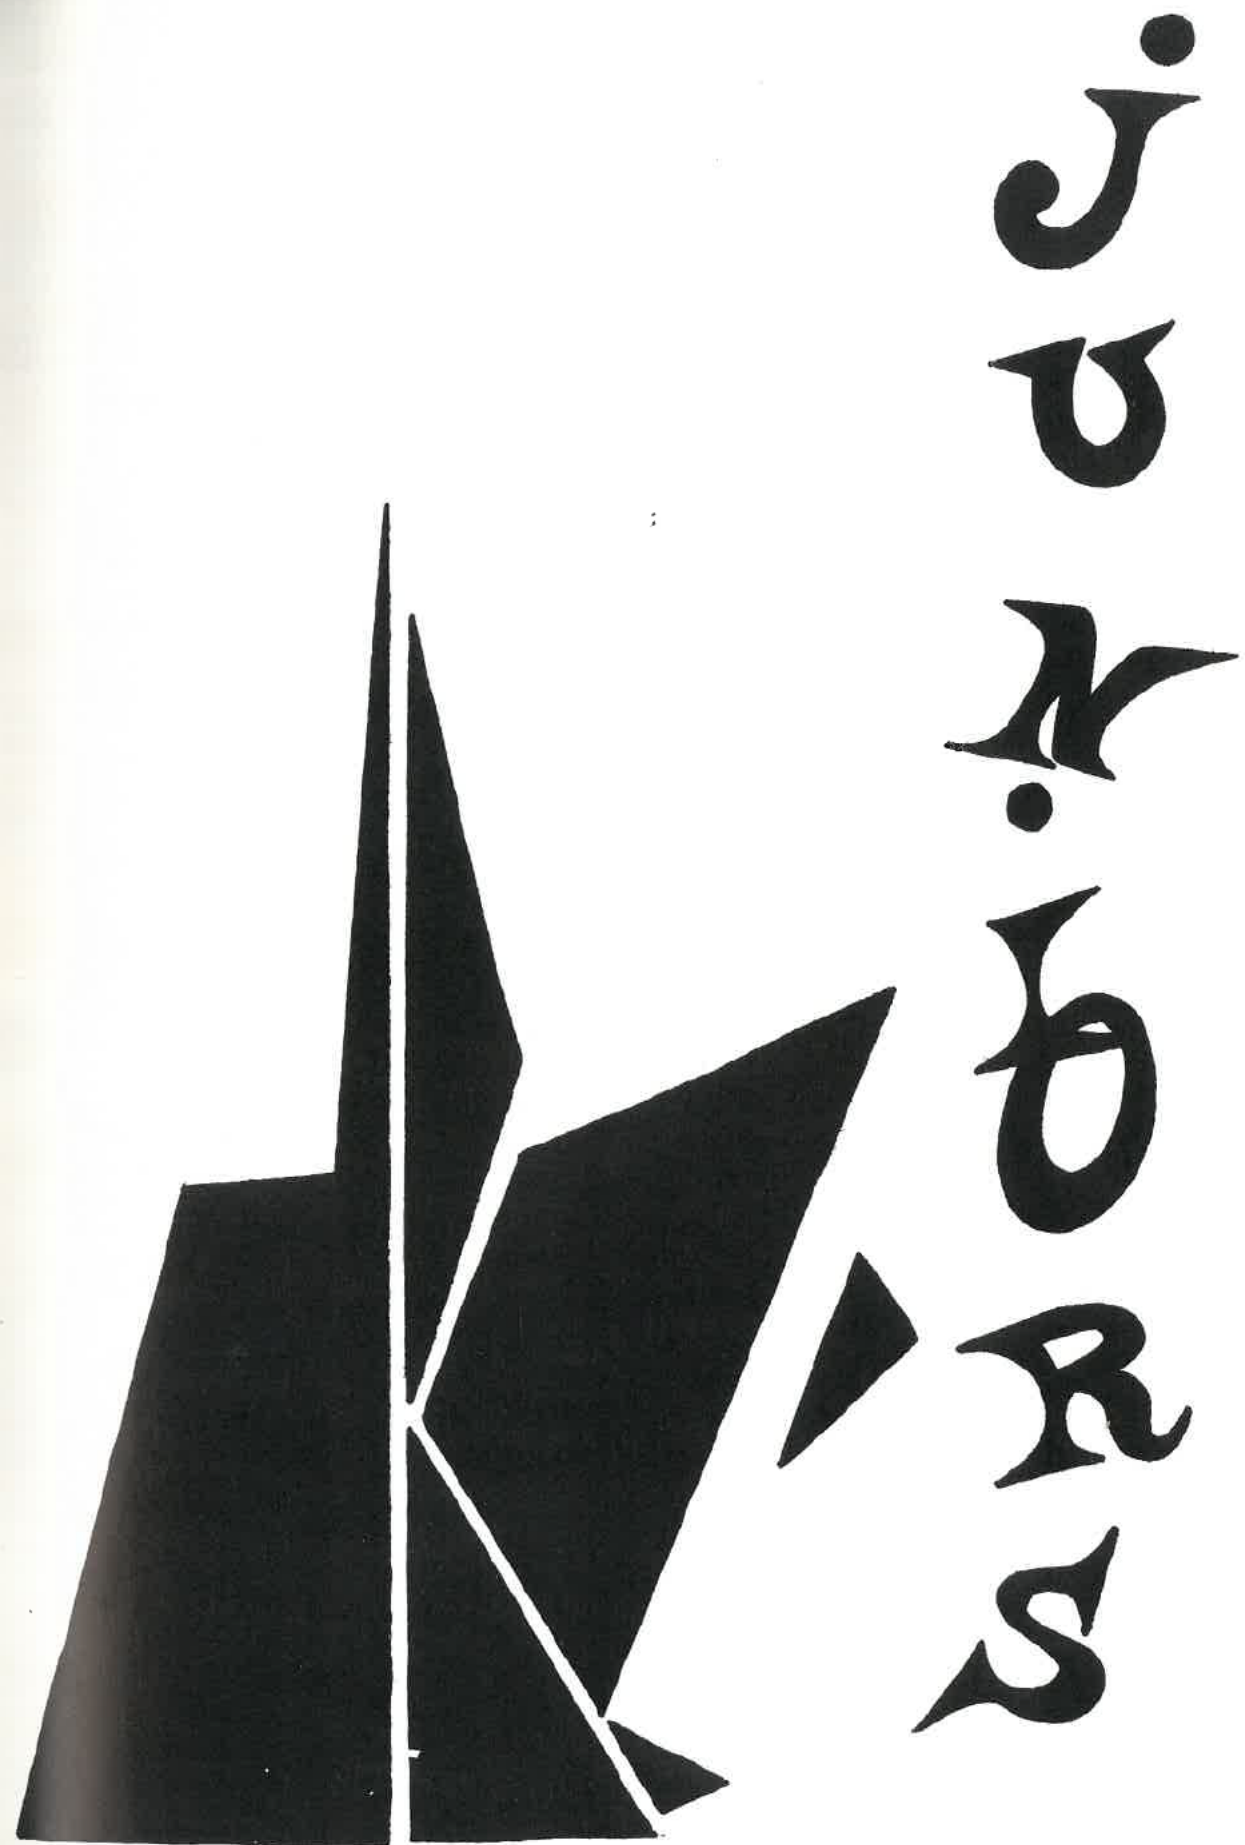

I, John Pirino, will my ability to argue in Mr. Gemski's class to anyone foolish enough to take it. My cherished place on the basketball team bench to Randy Brandon. My grades in Trig to Mike Gaffney.

I, Clarice Polatty, will my persecution complex to the Saint. To Diana Davison I will my peppy-pixie ways.

I, Mei-Ling Reynolds, will myself to the male population of Stanford University with the hope that they will appreciate it. I also will California to those stubborn Texans, so that they will realize what they have been missing.

I, Gary Tooke, will my ability to love any girl at any time, anywhere to Mike Gaffney in hopes that he will find as many girls as I did. My ability to play basketball to Carlos Merwin in hopes that someday he might learn to play.

I, Pete Werner, will my Shakespeare book to Sandy Martin, and my pillow to Mr. Brusa.
