FLIGHT 1963

GOOSE BAY DEPENDENT'S SCHOOL

GOOSE BAY, LABRADOR

EDICATION

The graduating class of Goose Bay High School considers it an honor to dedicate the '63 edition of Flight to our Superintendent and Principal, Ingemar V. Ahnell.

We have been deeply impressed by Mr. Ahnell's thoughtfulness and high esteem for the entire student body.

His high ideals and his effective manner in directing students toward their desired goals will long be remembered and cherished by all.

FLIGHT STAFF 1963

Editor - DORIS LINNE

Co-Editor - DAVE SWORD

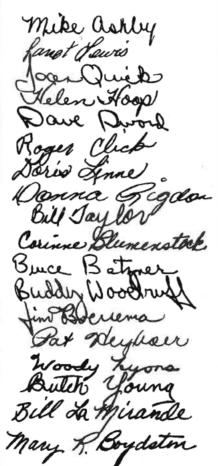

Business Manager - ROGER CLICK

Yearbook Advisor - MRS. BOYDSTON

Varied educational programs, physical relocations, and new environments are only a few of the challenges faced by the students of the families of our military community.

The successful culmination to the many challenges presented to the Graduating Class of 1963 certainly portends well for the future of the individual members of the class, for our society, and for our priceless heritage of freedom.

As the Class of '63 moves ahead toward their many goals, I am confident of their ability to meet the unknown challenges of the future. The best of luck is extended to each of them.

The 1963 school year has been the best in the history of our school. New classrooms, a wonderful staff, and the largest student body of all time have helped to make it profitable for all.

You in the Class of '63 have had many experiences during your high school days that are not available to the average student --including at least one year at "The Goose." May these experiences, as well as your formal education, prove of value to each of you as you move forward in your chosen careers.

W. M. Williams Colonel, USAF Commander, 4082 Cmbt Spt Gp

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

It is with pride and affection that I offer my congratulations to the Senior Class upon their graduation. You have done much individually and as a group to enhance your alma mater both in spirit and active participation. In our society today it is essential that each of us contribute our share towards the goals of the group. You have shown that you are prepared to assume your responsibilities as active citizens in a democratic society.

The extent to which you use the knowledge you have gained in school will depend a great deal upon you as an individual and the effort you apply towards your immediate goal. Try your best in whatever you endeavor and you will always be able to stand with your head up high.

My best wishes to you with the hope that you will look back upon your senior year with memories of happy days.

Mr. Ingemar V. Ahnell

Engewae V. Shell

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

It is an honor, a pleasure, and at the same time a great difficulty to write this annual message. It is difficult to know what would be appropriate for young men and women who are to explore space, cure cancer and heart disease, bring health and human dignity to most of the world and perhaps even balance the budget.

Congratulations are certainly in order for all of you. You have found time to develop physically, morally, socially and academically while remaining for the most part, sane. You have struggled through more stages of development in the past seventeen or eighteen years than you will ever again know in such a brief space of time.

You are then nearly ready to make some decision concerning what you will do with the future. You are certainly at a point where that future extends beyond the Junior-Senior Prom. Whatever your decision about that future, I wish you the opportunity, the courage and the industriousness to assure its complete fulfillment.

Mr. Duane Walker

GUIDANCE MESSAGE

To The Graduating Class of 1963:

"And if this day is not a fulfillment of your needs . . . , then let it be a promise 'til another day."

Time past moves into time present - the climax of your high school career signifies but the beginning of a new era. The knowledge that you have gained here - the experience you have lived - are foundations for time future.

May you have gained some degree of insight into yourselves and those about you; may you have clear, meaningful concepts of value and integrity; may you realize the diginities of life; may you be firmly convinced of the ideals upon which our great democracy is founded; and may you carry love for humanity in your hearts.

This then, will be the continuing proof of education---.

With Best Wishes,

Miss Mary A. Ashton

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

By James Boersema and John Pilgrim

On the eighth of March, 1988, Mrs. Mary Boydston was suddenly interrupted by a telephone call. This call informed her that her essay, "The Greatest Class of All," had won first prize in a contest. Her prize was a flying saucer of her very own. With an old acquaintance, Miss Shaw, she decided to take a trip across the country.

Just before taking off, Mrs. Boydston and Miss Shaw noticed a very familiar person wandering around the airport. It couldn't be; but it was...Roger Click! After graduating from Dartmouth, Roger rose rapidly to become chief porter at the airport. They were very happy that someone as dependable as Roger was taking care of their baggage.

After arriving in New York, they realized too late that he had really taken care of it. - Half of it was missing. New York was a big city so they decided to spend a few days shopping. On the day they were to leave, they visited an old friend, Mike Fitzpatrick, who was president of a large nation wide organization. One thing had always stuck with Mike, he had always wished to help others. Now he was rapidly achieving his goal serving as president of A.A.

While at Mike's office, they were fortunate enough to meet several others of the class of '63. Marilyn Long had become Mike's private secretary after graduating from college. In Mike's own words, "If she could only type or take shorthand, she would be the best secretary I've ever had."

On the way out of the building they met Barbara Bartol and chatted with her for a while. One thing they noticed about Barbara was that she was always neat. Anything she ever started was sure to be done completely and correctly. Apparently Barb had kept these good habits over the years, because it was noted that the floors were the cleanest they had ever seen.

While driving back to the airport, they were halted at an intersection by a group of Ragmuffin-looking characters led by another high school chum, Janet Lewis. They were protesting the protests against jazz. Fortunately, this group was disbanned by a rather gaunt looking policeman, Buddy Leopold. Buddy was always one to be around in time of need and again he came to the rescue by giving them directions to the airport. After arriving at the docks, they realized another thing about Buddy. He was awfully forgetful. Despite this setback, they were soon on their way to Washington, D.C.

They were met at the airport by the Senator from California, John Pilgrim. They noticed one thing about John which was a carry over from his younger years. He talked a lot and said practically nothing. However, good-hearted John consented to give them a tour of the capitol city.

The first stop was at the office of Dave Rundquist, who was now a diplomat. He had finally fulfilled his life long ambition, to be one of the world's foremost linguists. They always said Dave would go far, and I guess they were right. He was leaving on the next plane for Finland. He was going to teach English to the Finns. Yes, he finally had gone far, 4,876 miles to be exact.

Continuing on the way, they stopped at the White House. Here they met an old friend, Jo Ann Cunningham. Ever since she had gone to Washington in her senior year, she had vowed to return. In 1984 she had, but this time as the First Lady.

But she had not returned all alone. She had brought with her an old friend, Mike Ashby, one of the finest woman doctors in the country. Upon leaving the White House, they decided that they wanted to tour the city at night, so that night they toured our nation's capitol.

Bruce Betzner, a noted football announcer, was forcefully ejected from the night club which they were attending when he started to misbehave. Actually he couldn't be blamed for his actions because he was in the first row watching Donna Rigdon, the number one fashion model of our country. On this particular night she was displaying her newest creations in the world of fashions.

The next day some of Maryland's sights were unveiled when the two ladies visited an auto race. The weather was extremely hot, so before the race they ordered some lemonade. This is how they had the misfortune of meeting George Boyle. After spilling their lemonade in their laps, George, the waiter, proceeded to fall over the railing onto the race track, pulling Mrs. Boydston with him. GOOD OL' CO-ORDINATED GEORGE!

Luckily they managed to get off the track by the time the race started. This turned out to be one of the worst races of the season, mainly because they lost money. Before the race, Miss Shaw had talked to one of the drivers, Rich Koon, who advised her to bet on him. Knowing Rich from high school, they naturally didn't heed his advice and bet against him. He won! Rich really had changed.

Early the next morning they were off again. This time they went to Miss Shaw's home town, St. Louis. Upon arriving they took a taxi to a hotel. On the way they stopped to have lunch at a roadside stand. After flunking out of Bates, Doris Linne received a government loan and opened the now famous "Linnes Hot Dog Stand!" After throwtheir lunch away, they decided to see the Olympic games which were being held in St. Louis. This was one attraction they couldn't afford to miss because three of their former students were competing.

The United States had lost the High Jump Championship for eight consecutive years, so their most famous high jumper of yesteryear, Fred Garrison had come out of retirement to try to regain this most coveted of titles. Fred didn't let the American crowd down, he won with a near world record leap of 7' 8 1/4".

The following event was the one hundred yard dash in which another former student was competing. Garey Engle was always one for a slow start and a terrific finish. He started from the Block on the best position but thanks to a terrific finish he came out of this position. He came in second to last because the man in front of him tripped. Of course he was eliminated from the race for tripping but he did give it a trial go.

Next came a fast moving game of basketball. The two ladies wanted to see if Buddy Woodruff would add to his world record and they were not disappointed. Buddy collected his twenty-eight, twenty-nine, and thirty-first fouls of the tournament. He also added two more technical fouls to bring his total to nine. His ability to foul his opponent was as great as it had been in high school.

Unfortunately, the game was interrupted in the third quarter when the heating and lighting failed to function properly. But the best mechanic in St. Louis, Lynne Jeffries was attending the game and immediately started to tinker around. Before long she had finished. It was clear that Lynne was truly talented in electronics.

They didn't have much time to spend in St. Louis but they felt it was their duty to visit an old friend, Bill Taylor. Bill who had graduated from Kansas State College had fulfilled his ambition to be an engineer. However, his train had to be taken away from him because he banged his head into the sides of his padded cell whenever it fell off the tracks. The officials were so concerned that they had even taken away all of Bill's Dr. Seuss Books.

By the time they had left St. Louis they were having so much fun that they decided to swing down to New Orleans and visit the Mardi Gras.

They visited Nancy's costume store first. Nancy's, which was owned and operated by Nancy McDonald, was one of the most expensive costume stores in all of New Orleans; her costumes were hand made and of the best quality. After purchasing costumes they then joined in the merry makings going on all over town.

Jim Boersema, a Texas Wine Taster, turned out to be the hit of the evening. After arriving to the party in good spirits, he played a game of chance and proceeded to lose everything he had including his shirt and a ten gallon hat. This is not what bothered Jim, but when he won a prize for the funniest mask he blew up. He wasn't wearing a mask.

As soon as the Mardi Gras ended in New Orleans, everything settled back into the regularities of life. This was too quiet for Mrs. Boydston and Miss Shaw, who loved to travel and live it up. So, they once more were on their way, this time to Denver where they stopped off to watch the Air Force Academy play against Arizona State in a football game.

The contest was all but decided when the Falcons' quarterback, Bill LaMirande, fumbled the ball and Arizona State ran for a touchdown early in the first quarter. After the game the two ladies talked to Bill for a while and learned the whereabouts of a few other students they had known. Kay Pearce was down in South America with her husband, who was a Colonel fighting with the revolutionary force in Ecuador.

Betty Evans, on the other hand, lived right there in Denver as a teacher. The next day Miss Shaw and Mrs. Boydston went to see Betty. Upon asking her why she decided to be a teacher, her reply was "If you can't lick em', join em'."

Later in the week our two travelers once more grew restless and decided to move on. They went to the airport where they would leave. While waiting for their saucer to be refueled they bought some magazines to read on the trip. Lo and Behold! There was Helen Hoop running the magazine stand. Well, Helen always was interested in books.

The trip to Los Angeles was very uncomfortable because of the stewardess on their saucer. Carol Reit had started from the bottom and worked her way up. She was now just about as high as she could go serving as an airline hostess. Thus far the trip across the country had been all right. However, when the saucer hit an air current over Nevada which shook it violently Carol screamed and bailed out. For the rest of the way west Mrs. Boydston and Miss Shaw had to tend to themselves.

Upon arriving in Los Angeles they started to send their baggage through customs. There they ran into trouble. Joan Quick, the lady at the counter insisted upon going through every little piece of baggage. Yes, Joan always did a thorough job when she undertook something. After many embarrassing moments they were released and they went on their way.

While taking a cab to their next hotel they found out that their driver was none other than Dave Sword. He explained that he really wasn't a cab driver but he was actually in the secret service following in his father's footsteps.

Upon arriving at their hotel they found a hugh dust cloud around the front of the building. Near the dust cloud ran a group of children chanting joyously. "Dan, Dan, the sweeping man, If he can't clean em', no one can." It was Dan Gasiorowski the most famous street cleaner on the entire west coast.

Later that night while watching T.V. Mrs. Boydston and Miss Shaw spied another of the old class of '63. Joelle Oltman had tried to get into the movies for years but finally gave up and settled for television. Yes, she was on T.V. every Saturday night at ten-thirty. Joelle was the women's wrestling champion of the world.

After staying in Los Angeles for about two weeks Mrs. Boydston decided that it was such a nice place she would stay. So, she went out and sold her saucer and both Miss Shaw and she are living in Los Angeles working as; believe it or not "teachers."

SENIOR CLASS WILL

- I, Mike Ashby, being of somewhat sound mind and body, do will to Bruce a big jar of pickles from my brother in Philly. To my brother, in the event of my sudden demise, I give the sweaters and shirts Jr. gave me. To Darlene Ward best luck and success in the coming year. To next years Physics class a teacher as nice to them as ours was to me.
- I, Barbara Bartol, do hereby will to Marlene Kaplan my extensive knowledge of mathematics, which she needs. To Larry Moore my knack of ping pong in hopes of beating me someday. To Linda Colley and Nancy Edmondson my many colored socks to divide up between them. To my brother my private room in the basement. To Mike Fitzpatrick my love of purple which I hope he will indulge in with pleasure.
- I, Bruce Betzner, do hereby will to Tom Miller a muzzle to keep the flies out of his mouth. To Jerry Angly my weight lifting set. To Jay Klein my ability to hit the basket. To Larry Oien to be the only fat American. To Donna Rowden, I leave myself.
- I, Jim Boersema, hereby leave my English ability to Mrs. Mangle; my DIPS button to Reba Butcher; and lasting ability to procure records to Ken Mangle, John Harmon, Rich Fitzpatrick, Randy Pons, Eric Wiswell, Ted Barnett, and Bill Bayne knowing that they will put it to good use.
- I. George Boyle, do hereby will to Don Boyle and Bill Bayne the back seat of my car; they know how to use it. To Woody Lyons my seat in Trig class. Good Luck! To Larry Moore all the money he's won from me playing hearts. To Bill Boersema a set of signals so we can win at hearts with Carl and Larry. To Carl Latham my ability to get splits in bowling.
- I, Roger Click, will to Donna Rowden my bookkeeping abilities, to Joan Quick my speed in typing, to Mrs. Dickson I leave all her used hall passes, to Miss Shaw I leave my hot temper. To Mr. Magee I leave a copy of the Bookkeeping Text Book I intend to write when I flunk out of college accounting.
- I, Jo Anne Cunningham, being of sound mind and body do hereby will to Bill Taylor a big red rose for his brother's grave; To my sister Connie I will all my good times in high school; To Darlene Ward I will all my cheat chaets from English in the hopes that she can pass something; To "Daddy" just a little bit of patience; and to Miss Shaw a plane ticket to St. Louis.
- I, Garey Engle, will somebody something but I don't know what I got to will.
- I, Betty Evans, being of sound mind and body do happily leave my trig book to Barb Bartol; and Mr. Ahnell's polaroid camera to Mr. Ahnell.
- I, Mike Fitzpatrick, barely existing do hereby bequeath as a graduating Senior of 1963 the following: to the underclass "Fellas" namely Tom Miller, Jerry Angly, and Dan Burbank, I leave all the good times they would have missed this year without us; to Linda Colley goes my ability to throw tantrums; to Barbara Hale I leave that drag race to Pine Tree we never had but which

I surely would have won; appropriately I leave Pamm Flook my ability to party; naturally Nancy Brewington receives my ability in scrounging brownie points; and last but most important to Karen Colley I leave myself with love.

- I, Fred Garrison, being of questionable mind and weak body will to Dickie Birkenbuel all my extra height so that he may have even greater basketball ability next year; To Buddy Leopold I leave my great brain so that he may use it to his advantage during his second Senior year at Goose Bay High; To any future Senior boy I leave Connie Pepple in hopes that he may appreciate her more than I did; And to the "Fellas" who are not graduating this year I leave my ability to be the only sober one in the crowd.
- I, Dan Gasiorowski, being of weak mind and feeble body do in the presence of Mrs. Boydston, draw up and affix my signature to this will. To Micky Toliver I leave my ability to cheat in Chemistry and not get caught; to Miss Rengle I leave my gold test tube by which she can blow herself up; to Miss Shaw I leave my sense of humor and brilliant ability to bear criticism.
- I, Helen Hoop, having a feeble mind and body will my ability to forget things to anyone who wants it. I will to Meta Adams all my chemistry papers that she'll be sure to flunk. I will all my friends to anyone that wants enemies.
- I, Charlie Hornbake, will my photographic skill to the next poor yearbook photographer; my place as DIPS president to the guy crazy enough to call himself a DIPS; and my rotation day smile to Meta Adams.
- I, Lynne Jeffries, with all my abilities will to the halls of G.B.H. all my favorite sayings. To Pamm Flook I leave my empty champaign and beer bottles, "You can always dream, Pamm." To Tom C. and Randy G. I leave my black angora sweater, which they seem to get some enjoyment out of. Last but not least, I leave to all my senior friends a long and prolonged trip to the best place in the world CALIFORNIA.
- I, Richard Koon, will to Danny Burbank one ballot so that he may vote for his choice of presidential candidate; to Paul Auchter I leave one Ford so that he may enjoy the better things in life; to Ricky Burbank I leave one Newfoundland drivers license in the hopes that he may get to drive their car someday.
- I, Bill LaMirande, will to Tom Miller my drivers license so that he may start paying back all the rides he owes me; to Jerry Angly I leave my quick temper and may he use it as wisely as I tried; to Dan Burbank I leave the ability to stay young for another ten years; to Denny Miller I leave the ability to get even with Tom someday.
- I, Buddy Leopold, being of very unsound and screwy mind do hereby bequeath to my fellow loonies the following: to dear Miss Shaw I leave the ability to live in any other town but St. Louis; to Fred Garrison one pound of fertilizer to put in his shoes so that he may grow as tall as me; to Sgt. Marshall my booze collection; to Don Boyle and Dickie Birkenbuel my ability to back up what I say; to Mr. Cleiland the ability to tell and understand jokes; to my sister the ability to have a car that runs; to dear Molly the telephone that she was looking for last year; to any Junior who wants it my locker near the leaky roof; to any future Democracy student my ability to make like the noon whistle.
- I, Janet Lewis, being of sound mind and body, do hereby will and bequeath the following: to Miss Rengel, I will my unrequited love for Chemistry. To Miss Ashton, my last Senior year, and to John F. Kennedy, I leave Goose Bay, Labrador.

- I. Doris Linne, being of frail body and no mind will all my atheist boy-friends to Pamm Flook, I also will to the Editor of next years yearbook more patience than I have.
- I, Marilyn Long, will my shorthand ability to Mr. Magee and all the candy and gum wrappers that I left in his class.
- I, Nancy McDonald, being of questionable mind after a year of Geometry, do make this my last will and testament. To W. B. I leave a comb so that she can look her age. To Bill Morgan, sincere thanks for his multitudinous help in Geometry. To Darlene Ward, A set of PE clothes since she never seems to have any.
- I, Joelle Oltman, not being of sound mind and body, will to Toni my fantastic ability in Geometry; to Marsha I leave my chair in democracy beside Daye; and to the seventh graders in my PE class I leave a padded cell.
- I, Kay Pearce, being of reasonably sound mind do will to Carol McCarthy all of my American History notebooks for her use during the next year. I will my durable snow boots to anyone that wants a second pair.
- I, John Pilgrim, being of sound mind and body leave the following to Miss Shaw: Permission to remove and save all the gum I have deposited under my desk this year; and the four erasers I removed from her room earlier this year. To Barbara, I leave my DIPS button and hope she wears it in remembrance of me. My final request is to will the Goose to anyone who wants it.
- I, Joan Quick, being of partially sound mind and body do hereby make my last will and testament. To Linda B. I leave my best wishes and luck in hopes that she gets the Senior of her choice. To Mr. Voelz I will my ability to give Guzzie, Connie, and Lynne the answers in General Math, but of course, I get caught, too. As President of FHA I leave my best wishes to next years President in hopes that she will be able to control the members as I have not been able to do. To Mr. Magee I leave a pain-killer pill to kill all the pains that the pills in the Senior Class gave him.
- I, Carol Reit, being of reasonable mind hereby will my good grades to Ruth Reit for she needs them. My bowling skill to Mike Ashby, and my PE shorts to Miss Findling. Bookkeeping practice set that was handed in three weeks too late to Mr. Magee, my newspaper clippings to Miss Shaw.
- I, Donna Rigdon, being of sane mind and able body do will to Ricky Burbank my ability to dance and flirt. I also will to Corinne Bluemenstock and Pamm Flook my ability to play crazy eights and drink. To Barb Bartol I will my beautiful red robe that she loves so much.
- I, David Rundquist, being of sound mind and body do will to Dan Bond, a prospective physics student, my cleaning rag and sponge for lab cleaning, -er, I mean, extracurricular lab activities.
- I, Dave Sword, being of sound body and lucky enouth to have a mind at all, will the following: to Dennis, all the junk in my locker in the hopes that he keeps it in the family. He can have the snow shovel, too, but he won't use it. To Bill Taylor, all the memories of the days when we, too, were "fellas"; more Dr. Suess; and a sponge for his car. To Jim and John I love myself-you can have each other. To Marsha Sue, lastly, but far from the least, all my unworldly possessions, including my teddy bear.

- I, Bill Taylor, leave the following: to Miss Shaw, my Dr. Suess book. To Miss Higgins, my DIPS button. To Barbara Hale, my ability to get mad. To Bruce, 25¢ so he can buy a hamburger during 6th period. To Jim Boersema, my basketball ability, not that he needs it. To Mike A. and Jo Anne C., a handkerchief to use when they cry about my brother. To Marlene, I leave, last but not least, my beloved cast.
- I, Buddy Woodruff, leave the following: My ability to get technical fouls to Jay Klein. My ability to rebound to Dicky Birkenbuel. I leave my high Chemistry average to all the future Chemistry students. My six point average to Larry Oien. I leave my great hook to Butch Young in hopes that his bowling average will improve. I leave my ability to sneak Senior Scholastics to all new democracy students, and I leave all my years in Newfoundland to Jay Klein.

CLASS GIFTATORY - 1963

by Dave Sword and Doris Linne

"We the school spirits of Goose High School, on this occasion of the passing of the year 1962-1963, wish to bring forward to the class of 1963 a few small tokens of remembrance of their experiences this year.

To MIKE ASHBY we give a box of communicable disease so that she will be able to be near her "Medics" any time she wishes.

To BARBARA BARTOL we give a purple cheerleader's letter to go with all her other purple possessions, and a bottle with four shots missing.

To BRUCE BETZNER we give a girdle (size 44) to tame his beer belly.

To JIM BOERSEMAN we give 100 "I Like John" pins, a second place ribbon for Most Beautiful, and a pair of shoes that don't turn out.

To GEORGE BOYLE we give a can of sugar on the condition that he starts driving a little more carefully.

To ROGER CLICK we give a plastic smile to be worn whenever he is around people, and a greedy-bag for all his money.

To JOANNE CUNNINGHAM we give some heavy duty make-up to cover her embarrassed looks.

To GAREY ENGLE we give a new pair of track shoes, and a "long-timer's" ribbon.

To BETTY EVANS we give a box of Kleenex and a medical journal.

To MIKE FITZPATRICK we give a chipped gavel, and a new calendar - with no circles.

To FRED GARRISON we give some added height, and some new sheets for all the mattresses in his basement.

To DAN GASIOROWSKI we give a piece of tape (for temporary silence), and a train ticket back to Oregon.

To HELEN HOOP we give some library file cards, and a book to read at slumber parties.

To LYNNE JEFFRIES we give a "panic-button," and a Certificate of Bravery for riding in Marylin's car.

To RICHARD KOON we give a can of cup grease, and a year's subscription to Playboy.

To BILL LAMIRANDE we give the pack of cigarettes Miss Shaw took from him in Democracy, and a free lunch at the Happy Valley A&W.

To BUDDY LEOPOLD we give a box to carry with him so his friends can see him eye-to-eye, and new seat covers for his car (?).

To JANET LEWIS we give a new set of bongo's, a black sweater, and hearty congratulations.

To DORIS LINNE we give all the left over yearbook material, a snag-proof blouse, and a new "Do-Bee" button.

To MARILYN LONG we give a bottle of pink champagne, and five yards of string to tie her to a bean pole.

To NANCY McDONALD we give a medal for staying with Roger for so long, and a football so that she won't have to go into the woods to play.

To JOELLE OLTMAN we give an ice pack for those mornings after the night before, and a hot water bottle for those nights.

To KAY PEARCE we give a Quiet badge in appreciation for her serene attitude, and a bell so that she can make more noise.

To JOHN PILGRIM we give 100 "I Like Jim" pins, and a ream of papers on which he can write his greatest speeches.

To JOAN QUICK we give a new pair of tennis shoes, and an automatic buttonpusher, good on typewriters and cash registers.

To CAROL REIT we give a Do-It-Yourself manual to use in later life.

To DONNA RIGDON we give a new deck of cards, a new bottle, and the will to resist.

To DAVE SWORD we give some patience to refreshen his after this year, larger garters for his hockey socks, and a sleeping bag for those nights in the woods.

To BILL TAYLOR we give a fresh rose for his chest, an alarm that rings at 5 after 12:00, and a flask for his "medicine."

To BUDDY WOODRUFF we give a Newfoundland Squatter's Certificate, and a revised edition of basketball rules.

"With these few small momenta of endearment, it is our hope that all the Seniors in the Class of '63 leave the Goose and go into their future lives with the fond memories of this past year. Before they go we just want to say, "Thanks to you, it has been a real ball!"

SENIOR FOOTBALL CHAMPS

This page is dedicated to the boys of the Senior Class, who challenged and defeated their worthy opponents, the rest of the school, in a game of flag football at the start of the school term. We, the FLIGHT sports staff, wish to congratulate this fine group of young men.

SCORE:

Stop that puck, fellas.

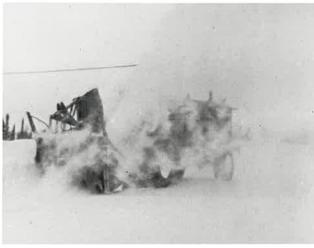

Who has the puck now?

"ON THE RINK"

Shoveling made easier with the aid of the Snow Removal's blowers.

Snow, Snow, and a whole lot more of the glorious white snow.

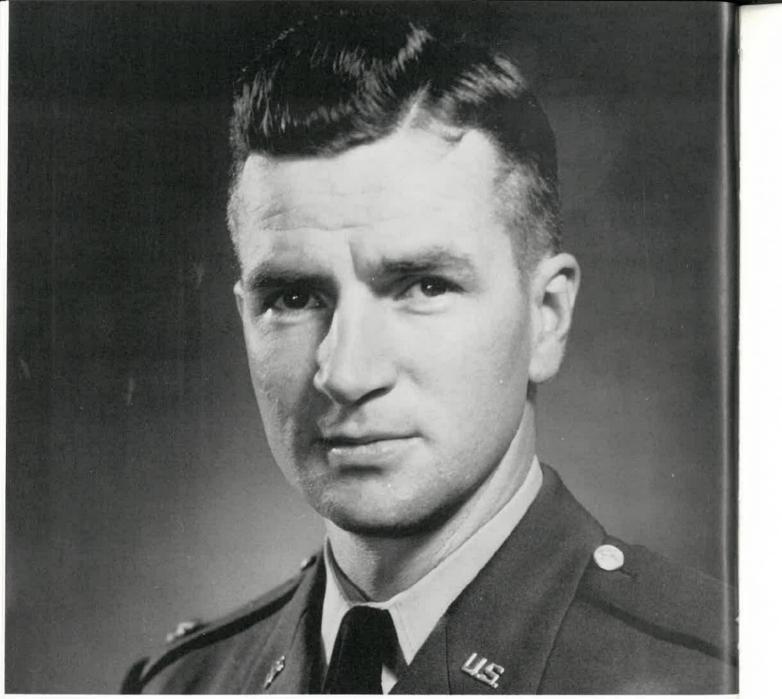

Everything isn't that easy! Everyone chips in and does their share of work in order to ready the ice rink.

Nearing the end before it's final pass.

With the blowing finished the next step is to flood the rink with water.

LT. COL. HI FULLER

Lt. Col. Hi Fuller, college hockey player, and now amateur hockey coach, contributed far more than his share in organizing our hockey team this year.

Lt. Col. Fuller started with a vacant lot adjacent to the school and transformed it into a first-class outdoor hockey rink. When he, with the help of volunteers, completed our rink, and sprayed on the final layers of good ice, he then continued as coach of our school team. He led them to a most prosperous and competitive season. It is our prediction, that due to Lt. Col. Fuller, hockey will become a major part of the Goose Bay High School sports program.

So thank you, Lt. Col. Fuller, for putting your time and efforts into our hockey team.

SOCCER

JOB'S DAUGHTERS BETHEL NO. 1

The 1623rd Support Squadron (MATS) congratulates the Class of '63. We wish you every success in your future endeavors. The road ahead of you is long and promising. You have worked hard to get where you are now. Keep it up! The Military Air Transport Service which this unit is a part has also had a long and difficult road to travel. We take pride in being a part of MATS and in serving you as a vital link in the supply line between the States and Goose Bay. Our achievement like yours has been work and even sacrifice on the part of many of us, who, like yourselves were enjoying the benefits of high school life not so long ago.

Soon you will go on to the life in a routine, work-a-day world which will also present many challenges. We hope that we as members of the Air Force have set an example which will serve to guide you on your way and that in doing so, perhaps your achievements will be made greater.

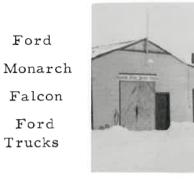

Congratulations to the Class of '63
