The Candid Shots

Hanau Middle School has many unique and interesting people. Not a day would go by where people wouldn't be laughing and learning. Hanau offered many varied activities; such as computer club, S.A.V.E., Care-2, and many more. Many people were involved in these activities.

Many faces of HAMS!

Halloween Dance a Spooky Event.

This year's annual Halloween dance was a monstrous success. The National Junior Honor Society was the proud sponsor of this event. Over 200 students attended this ghoulish event. The Disc Jockey was none other than "Smokey Trash". The students danced the night away to his hand picked music. It was definitely a great party!

Ms. Mc Closkey's wig and a few pounds made Chris Jones an irresistible stranger.

"Get out of my way, I have had a really bad day," Glares this phantom boy.

"Send in the clowns"! Greg Hines shows his best clown smile at the camera.

Three girls in their best Halloween attire, wait for the show to get started.

Jeffrey Nanton and his friend the Kitty, wait for the music to begin.

Jennifer and Tanya Greene are caught by surprise at the Halloween dance.

Joely Santiago and Teresa Snowbarger show off their more colorful side.

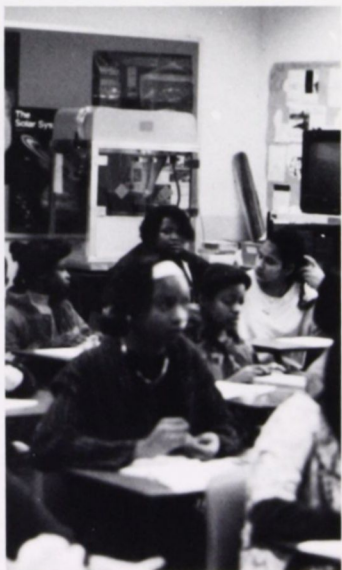

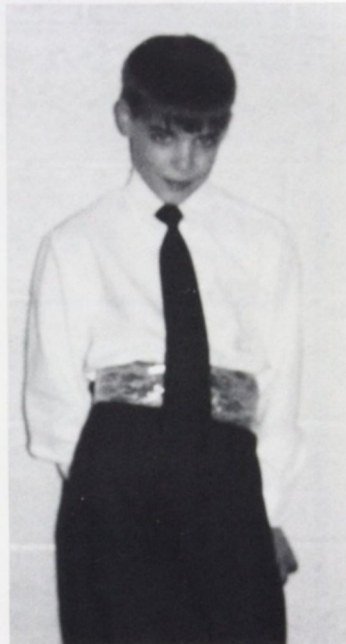

"I'm having a great time," exclaims Mrs. Sims as she watches the students dance.

"We could have danced all night to the music of Smokey Trash.

"Oh mighty one, grant me the power I ask of you!" says Gianluca De Duonni.

92 WWII Volksmarch

On October 2, 1992, Hanau Middle School held it's second annual World War Two Commemorative Volksmarch. Mrs. Bennett and the eighth grade class planned and organized the 12 kilometer Volksmarch through the woods near the school and in Hanau. Mrs. Walters set out before the march and marked the trail for the students to follow.

The school was lucky to have beautiful weather on the day of the march. The students brought their lunches and enjoyed eating in the woods and spending time with their friends. Most of the students participated in this all day event. Many of the students opted to buy a medal representing a soldier from World War II.

After all of the students made it back to school, many of the eighth graders cleaned the trail and left it cleaner then they found it. It was a long tiring day, but most of the students enjoyed their day and look forward to next year's march through the woods.

Mrs. Mc Closkey exclaims to her homeroom, "Walking keeps you healthy, so wear your feet in good health!"

"I can't believe we walked the whole thing," moans Jamal to his friends, while they rest their feet.

This is one butt you can't put out. Jessie Messer is showing her friends the proper way to touch her toes.

"It's been a long walk, but it was well worth it," says Mrs. Lightle as she nears the end of the march.

Dekeyta Jefferson and Latoya Fowler are chillin out at the end of the Volksmarch.

Girl's they're everywhere! They're everywhere!

"Are we having fun yet?" Asks Lewis Holyfield to his friends.

Myra and Brook look back on a long and fun walk, wondering how far it is to the end.

Jaclyn DeRoush and T.J. Vanderbeek take a break after solving the difficult math problems at the Math Counts meet.

T.J., Jaclyn, Leonard, and Glenn furiously work to solve the involved problems before them.

Math Counts '93

The Math counts team shows off their certificates they received for doing so well in the meet.

The whole Math Counts Team: Mrs. Bradford, Glenn Jessup, T.J. Vanderbeek, Jaclyn DeRoush, and Leonard Miller.

More hard work to solve problems.

On Friday Feb. 26, 1993 the Sixth grade participated in a wrestling meet between the P.E. classes.

Brad Carver is telling Kesha Sandford what the game plan is as they prepare to play against the teachers.

The student team eagerly awaits to play against the teachers in the game before Thanksgiving.

HAMS Sports!!

Allen Page and Larry Gulford wait for the signal to begin their match.

Seventh Grade girls play volleyball in the gym for P.E. This is a fun way to stay in shape.

Mr. Whitaker is wheeled off the court after he and one of the students collide.

The reaction of the crowd is mixed as the tension increases.

Mr. Lynch dodges Eugene Bombers heading toward the teacher's goal.

Lanny waits expectantly for his teammates to pass him the ball so he can score.

SCORE: Teachers 48, Students 42!

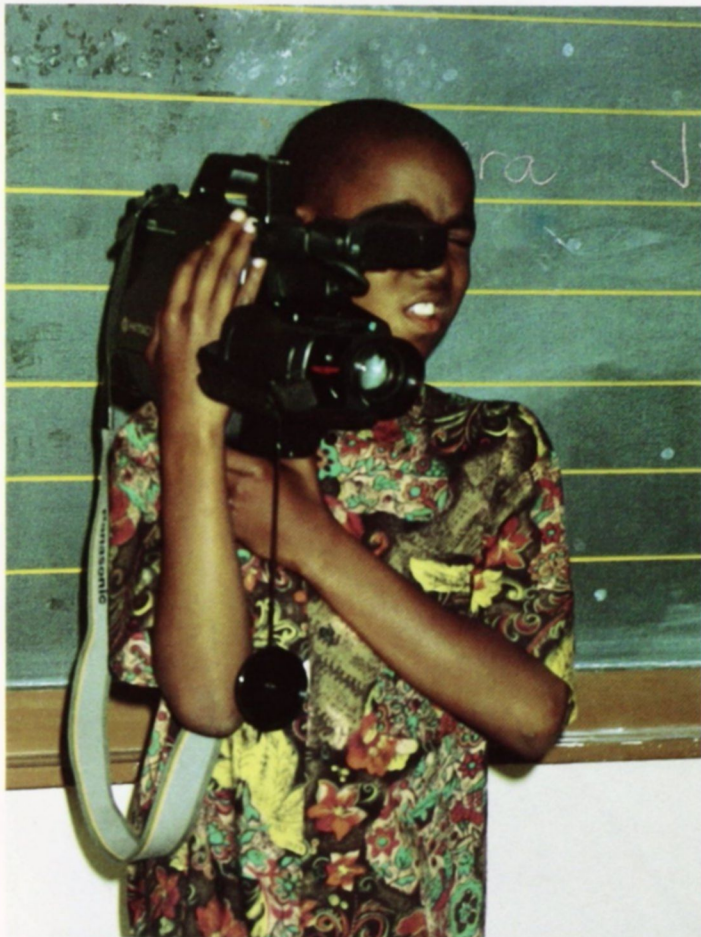

Teachers Victorious Over Students!

This year's first annual faculty/student basketball game was not a shutout. The teachers managed to show that they still had what it takes to play basketball on November 25, 1992. The game was very close with a lot of raw talent on the court. Kesha Sanford was the only girl who went out for the student team. She and her teammates came close to beating the teachers. The final score was Teachers 48/Students 42.

HAMS students enjoying life!!

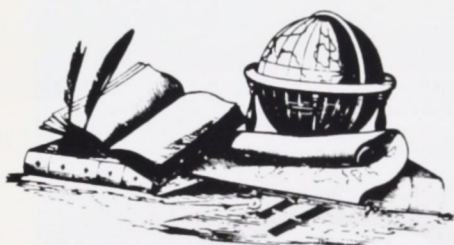

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y! That's the teacher's battle cry.

"To win or not to win, that is the question," says Mr. Evans to his teammates.

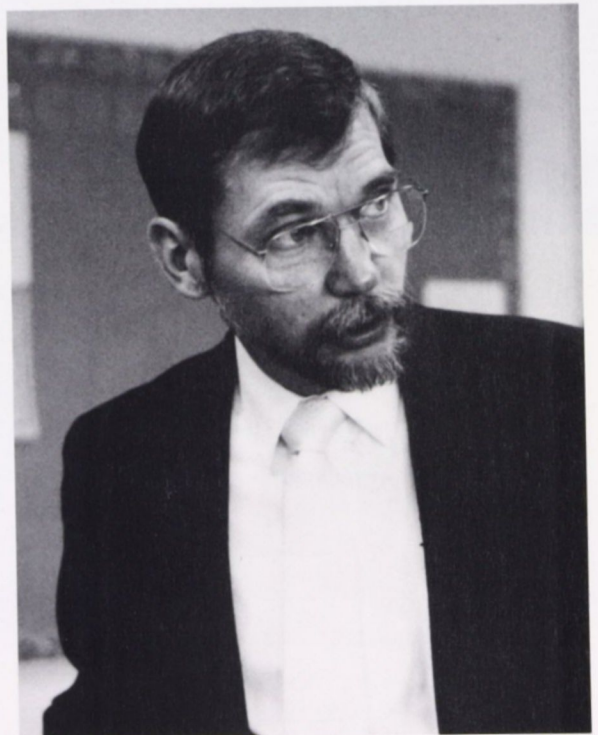

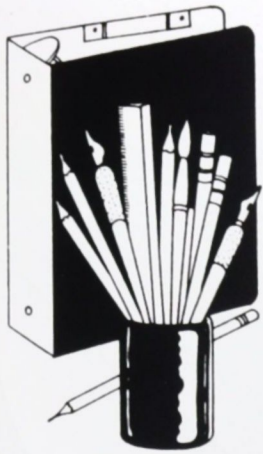

The on the spot reporter records all of the action of the exciting game.

“We are continually faced by great opportunities brilliantly disguised as insolvable problems.”

Student Council Plans for Dance.

The Student Council sponsored by Ms. Bryan is planning a dance for the end of the school year. They have been raising money for this dance by selling popcorn, having bake sales, and planned spirit days throughout the year.

The Yearbook Club '92-93

Some of the more faithful of the yearbook staff. This group came and worked on a Saturday to try and meet some of the deadlines.

Charissa DeWulf rests her tired body on Jessie Messer with the hopes that she will manage to quiet Jesse up.

The '92-93 yearbook staff started out with a young inexperienced staff. They managed to in the end create and produce the yearbook. Mrs. Glodowske and her staff spent many hours dedicated to this production. What started out as a club of 30 plus members ended as only a handful of students at the end. Meghan Acker felt the hard work was worth it as they produced the yearbook.

Leila, Meki, Emina, Mersiha, Erwin, and Amir ... all Muslims and due to the war in Bosnia have ended up in Hanau, living with their families, in Hessen-Homburg Caserne. Their lives have turned upside down; they have lost their homes, seen horrible things done to their neighbors and are still in a state of shock about what has happened to them. Trying to understand why this has happened and worrying about the friends and family left behind, plus what will happen in the future are their major concerns. Our CARE² group has gotten to know and be good friends with them. We have collected items to help them in their lives and shared a part of ours. This is why we care.

N.J.H.S. Honors HAMS!

Many new members inducted to N.J.H.S. during the candlelight ceremony.

Aleem, Jamonte, and Carina are presented with savings bonds and African artifacts after winning the Black American Contest. N.J.H.S. presented them with one of the savings bonds.

The new members along with the old recite the N.J.H.S. creed as they are sworn in as new members.

These two girls are smiling into the camera as they plan new fund raisers.

N.J.H.S. which stands for National Junior High Society is a group dedicated to the preservation of high standards. On February 17, 1993 28 new seventh and eighth graders were inducted into the society. The society has planned many fund raisers and sponsored many activities as well. N.J.H.S. also planned the first dance of the year which was a howling success. Each year the society will plan a community project. This year the society helped present breakfast to the student body on the days of the CTBS tests.

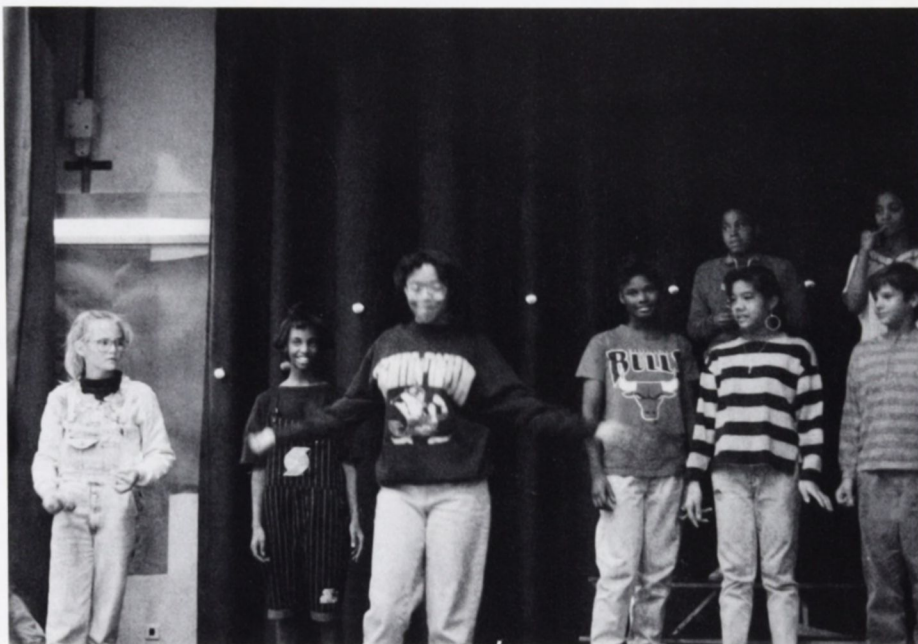

Sam and Carina stare at their candles as they reflect on the ceremony.

S.A.V.E. Helps Out!

Mrs. Sims relaxes for a moment and smiles at the success of the Ball.

Rehearsing is hard work, but this musical group was wonderful at the Ball.

S.A.V.E. also donated the money for a savings bond for contest.

Jaclyn DeRoush is proud to be a part of Students against Violence in Education.

Happy to be friends in S.A.V.E.

Mrs. Sims and a very small part of S.A.V.E. explores Germany's History.
