Dr. Matthys celebrating Frozen Food Month at the Hanau Commissary

Working at Hanau High School has been a rewarding challenge. The challenge of facility renovation in the days of a tight budget is constant. The challenge to maintain quality programs and a wide choice of curricular offerings in the face of declining student enrollment and a reduction in staffing required creative planning and flexibility on the part of the faculty.

The rewards from these challenges come from seeing the improvements to the facility take place and, most importantly, seeing students avail themselves of the opportunities provided here in the school and doing well.

I enjoyed my six years in Hanau and have profited greatly from my interactions with the students and faculty of Hanau High School.

Editors' Opening Address

This year's book was fun and exciting from its conception to its completion. The yearbook was based on student requests as to what they wanted in this year's book. The yearbook began the week school started when the staff was assembled and students were asked what they wanted in the yearbook. One fact was for sure, it had to be hardcover and it had to have a lot of pages. We developed the yearbook around these requests and hope everyone will enjoy the book.

We, the editors, would like to extend a personal thank you to our sponsor Mrs. Allen. Mrs. Allen made the yearbook possible by donating a large portion of her time in allowing us to create this yearbook. Not only did she organize a good staff, but she explained the basics of designing a yearbook. We would also like to thank our staff members, though few, who helped make this yearbook a unique one. We appreciate your time and support. Thank You.

perfect daughter, but I sure tried to be your lil' sweetheart. Love you. To Tony Washington, MY baby and best friend and life long pal, I just want to thank you for helping me with everything, and I mean everything from my parents to grades. You have never let me down when I needed you the most. This may sound funny but your not just my boyfriend; I can say we could even go shopping together. I leave you all the love in my heart and I hope that we continue to go forward with our plans. I love you much. XOXO. To Regan Hill, I know all year I haven't seen you but we kept in touch. You're still the dependable person I've always known to think to hook me up from the states. You have also helped me plan ahead for the future. I also wont forget our shopping sprees and late partying. To Big Wash, thanks for being my pal at school, there wasn't very many people who could keep secrets. I loved to watch you play football. Love ya and good luck on your goals. I won't forget you when I am famous!!! The BabenHausen crew: Josh, Tiff, Erin, Jamie, Joe, Laron, Courtney, Mike, Antoine, and Will, well if there is anyone in B-town that I forgot I will miss you too, BOWLING ALLEY and THEATER. I will miss you TO Hanau Peoples, Tootie, Nasheena, Melissa, Shanta, Brian (singin self), Tamaray, Chantel, The souja's too: Travis, Mark, Russell, Rozonia, Red James gonna miss you good luck next year. Bye- bye Hanau!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

In my final year of ecstasy as a high school student, I Anna K. B. Gleisberg have come to learn that knowledge never stops flowing as long as the world continues to turn. Because of my dear family and friends, my world will always continue on. Mom, thank you for everything you have done these past sixteen years. Your support and guidance has helped me find my own path in life. I will always be there for you, through thick and thin. Katrina, I leave you the attic (my room) just try not to drive mom crazy all the time!!! Dad, you opened my eyes to the world and my mind to all the different dreams and realities possible. This is the greatest gift you have ever given me for it has allowed me to view the world in another perspective. Tony Rosenkranz, I leave you all of mom's arguments and short temper to put up with—please take good care of her. Justine McCauley, you are like a sister to me. I wish you the best of luck in the future, and hope that you find your own happiness, wherever it may lie. I'll never forget Augsburg and the good times we had together. Maj. Dan Parker, I looked up to you as my father. With you, I have learned to look deep into a person's eyes, unveiling what true worth lies within their hearts. I now understand the true meaning of dedication, devotion, and especially loyalty. Your motivation and belief in me, pushed me to always succeed and be the best I could be. Together, we have conquered mountain tops, drill championships, PT tests, and a loss that could never be replaced (July 31, 1997—Crowborough, England). I will always love all of you, and keep a special place in my heart. Andrew Parkinson, you are all that I owe to life. For, all my love I give to thee, in hopes that it would set you free. Every day, every night, I think as to what could be. Only to know I did not see. See what has become, something so destructive as done. All drowning in a sea of pain, thinking of your righteous name. This I ponder day by day, weep and cry and mourn away. These tears are shed for God's great quest! This I'll challenge till the day I rest! For I swear on your good name, your grave for me to blame! There I sat and thought of the kindness in your heart, and saw the flicker of light dying away. For there you lay in the cold, a stiff corpse with a heart of gold. Your cheeks flush and skin pale. Oh, how it does make me wail. Tears me both inside and out, for my loss is one without... This burden that burns within feel like a never-ending sin. As if I've been to Hell and back, I must say I cannot compact. Not with God nor Lucifer, I stand alone before you, forever. To make a soul confession: I love you with an endless passion. I still ponder this everyday, as a thought of betrayal enters my mind. For I wonder, how is it that you did sleep, in such a cold grave so deep? A feeling of betrayal entered my heart, from the nights before till the day we had part. I carry this burden so very heavy, that there be no pity left for me to bury. A dagger stabs me as I endure more. This blackness fills me to the core. Shame on me and those that trust, my punishment for failure is only but just. How did you live a life so cruel? I now think I was such a fool. A fool not to see the love at light, understanding only the dark at night. My blindness prevailed, this I protest. Now, I only damn those who stand in the way of our conquest. Andrew, I will love you forever; you have taught me the greatest lesson in life. I shall never forget. To all my other cadets, I leave you a simple mission: Provide leadership and mentoring to your team members, promoting cohesion, competence, and confidence as I tried to accomplish within each one of you. As for the class of 1999 and everyone else that may follow, pursue your dreams, never loose hope, and when you find HAPPYNES have a heck of a lot of fun!!!

TRACK

This year's track team seems to be pretty large. With the help of Ms. Arbor, they have the possibility of being the top in Europe.

Track brings out the best in all athletes. For some runners, it takes a strong mental attitude. For others, track stresses physical stamina. Track has many events: 100m, 200m, 400m, 1500m, and 3000m runs; field events; and relays.

Brain Bowl

Nerds? No. A nerd does not necessarily have intelligence and these studious personalities definitely have that quality. The Brain Bowl Team at right is Junior Carlos Renjifo-Mundo, Sophomore Joel King, Junior Alternate Jason Adrian, Senior Jill Mistak, Senior Alternate Ermis Zayas, and Sponsor Mrs. Van Der Heyden. After competing for a position on the team, the newly formed team spent many a lunch period familiarizing themselves with superlative geographic features, math theorems, elements of syntax, dates, people, and events. All this preparation was for the spring academic games where Hanau competed with other DoDDS schools in Europe to see who has what it takes.

Going to The Hague International Model United Nations is just a taste of being a part of one of the most important organizations of our time and world. After a semester of preparation in United Nations procedures, current events, and global policies, (not to mention endless bagging dates), twelve students from Hanau High traveled by train to the international city of The Hague, Holland to represent the delegation of The Republic of Panama. Discussing world politics in committee meetings, delegation meetings, regional meetings, ad-hoc meetings, General Assembly meetings, and special meetings took up the majority of each delegate's day. The evenings were spent in appreciation of Dutch culture! The delegation from the Republic of Panama wishes to express its deep enjoyment of THIMUN. Point of personal privilege!

The StuCo Bunch

It's the story of a lovely Chantel who moved here along with Tonya. So she found some friends she could count on, the VP's Gina. It's the story of Charlene and David who have been at this school for three years. They were the officers working together, All at Hanau High. So they held a bunch of big ole meetings and with the help of the seminar reps, they put together homecoming and that's the way we run the StuCo. The StuCo, The StuCo, that's the way we run the StuCo.
