I have a lot of friends here.

I like to be in Germany because I get to see some things that I've never seen before.

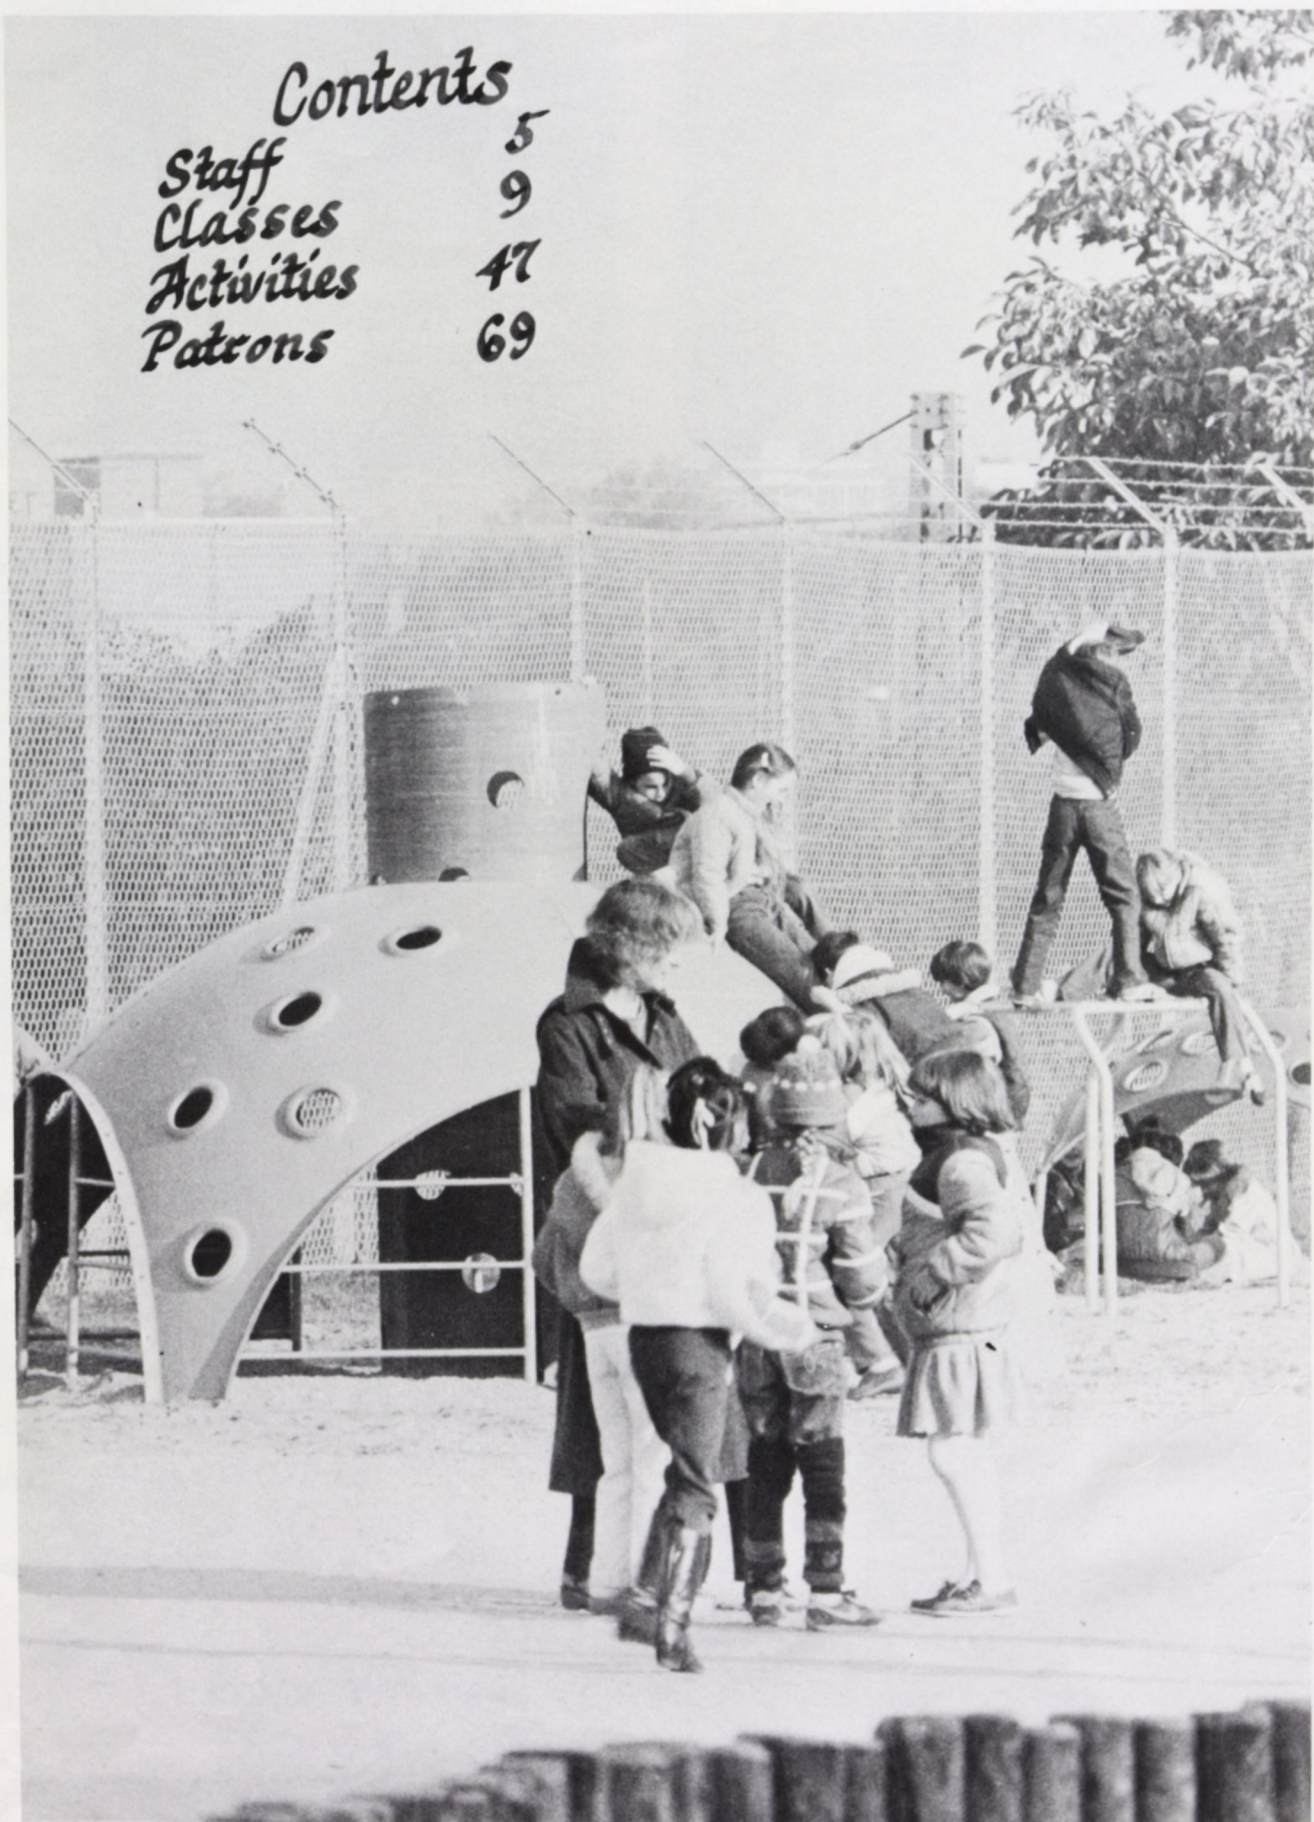

What I like best is the teachers and the people in the school. They help us learn new things like when I go on field trips I learn and have fun at same times.

I like the teachers most of all.

Mrs. Harper explains how hearts made by each child will be joined together to make a "loving Christmas tree." Jodie Robinson concentrates as she works on her part of the project.

Experiencing Germany Through Host Nation Classes

Much of the children's learning about Germany takes place outside the classroom, and Frau Lyrakis (below) spends many hours on the telephone making special arrangements for field trips.

Christmas Program Takes Us

Around The World

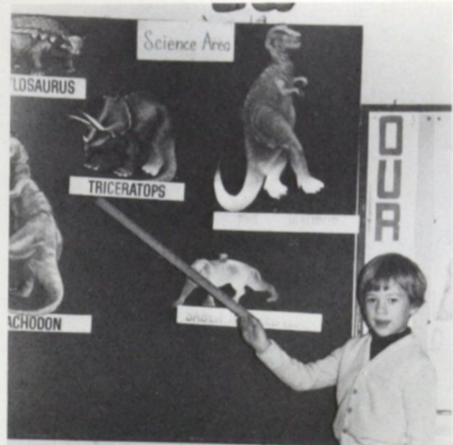

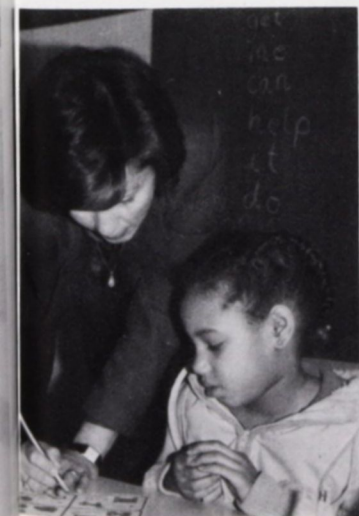

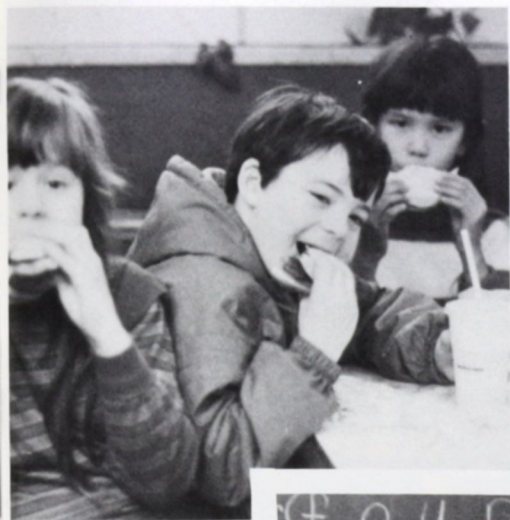

Host Nation Day Brings Germany Into Our School

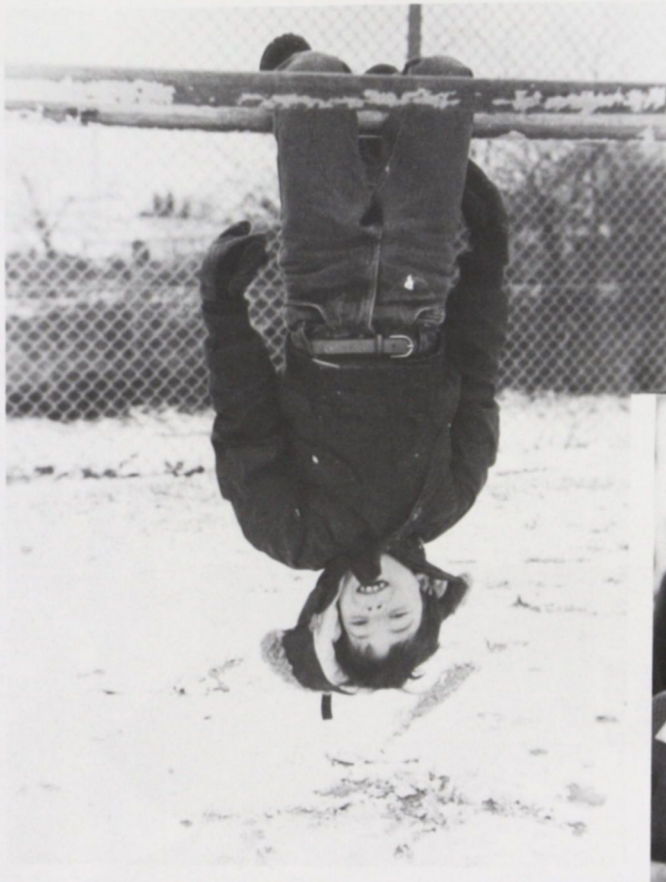

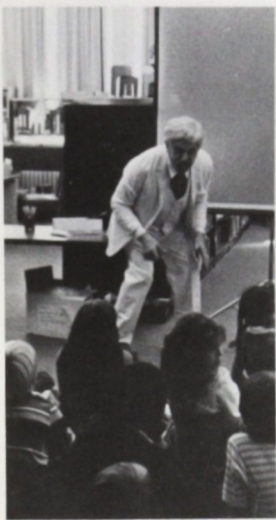

Host Nation Day gave us the chance to explore many aspects of German life. A chimney sweep explained how his job is done. A soccer player demonstrated his agility by walking across the room on his hands. German children entertained us with music, folk dancing, and bell ringing. We explored the "Polizei" automobile and motorcycle. We learned about German crafts. Other activities (not shown) were German fairy tales, cooking waffles and "Kartoffel puffer", and talking with German firemen and soldiers.

I saw a wonderful sight. Away down on the level, under the black mass of the Castle, the town lay, stretched along the river, its intricate cobweb of streets jewelled with twinkling lights. It was as if all the diamonds in the world had been spread out there.

One thinks Heidelberg by day - with its surroundings - is the last possibility of the beautiful; but when he sees Heidelberg by night, a fallen Milky Way, he requires time to consider upon the verdict.

Children Are Always Welcome At The Mark Twain Village Protestant Chapel!

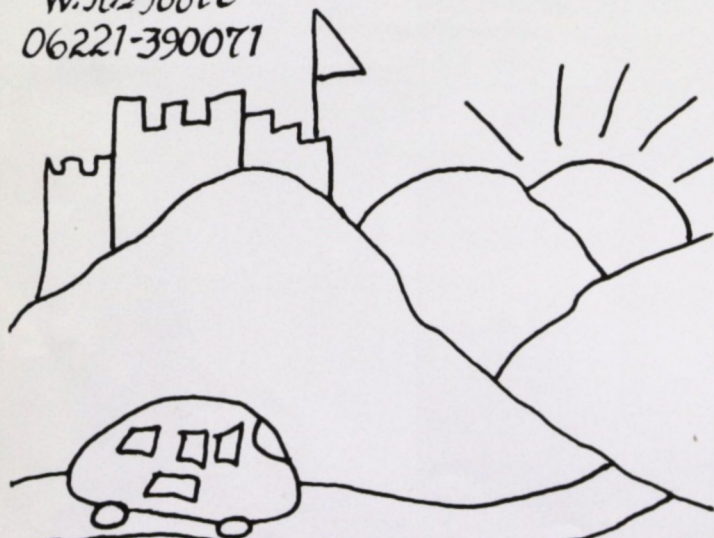

"They brought children for him to touch, and the disciples scolded them for it. But when Jesus saw this he was indignant, and said to them, 'Let the children come to me, do not try to stop them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these. I tell you, whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a child will never enter it.'"
