THE CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC 2020

CORONA/IRUS Pandemic causes school closures, global shutdowns and economic anxiety as the world faces COVID-19 outbreak C/S/S

When a new coronavirus emerged In late 2019, no one knew it would become a global crisis in a matter of months. COVID-19 spread across the world, causing school closures, business shutdowns and economic anxiety.

China and Italy, who were the first two countries with masslve cases and deaths, enacted dramatic lockdowns to reduce the spread. In the US, health care workers struggled with long hours, supply shortages and growing numbers of patients. Schools extended spring breaks and then transitioned to remote learning.

As consumers were asked to stay home and businesses temporarily closed, millions of Americans lost their jobs. Cities and states enacted shelter-In-place plans and asked people to practice social distancing.

TAKE A KNEE

Secondary schools, colleges and professional sports halt events and seasons

The sports world went dark in March as the danger of infection became increasingly clear. The domino effect began when the NBA suspended operations after a Utah Jazz player tested positive for COVID-19. The NCAA swiftly followed suit, canceling the men's and women's basketball tournaments and all upcoming spring sports. The MLB and NHL also postponed their seasons. Middle and high school sports seasons ended when schools were unable to return to in-person classes. And the ultimate sporting event, the Olymples, was postponed untll 2021.

Businesses close their doors, shoppers empty shelves

Empty shelves, like this meat section at a Texas H-E-B grocery store, were common during the coronavirus outbreak. Americans loaded up on tollet paper, paper towels, meat, canned goods and bread as they prepared to stay home during the pandemic.

As COVID-19 cases rapidly Increased in the United States, local and state officials initiated shutdowns and shelter-in-place plans. Non-essential businesses like gyms, rec centers, libraries and nail salons closed their doors, as part of the prevention measures.

To combat the virus, citizens were encouraged to regularly wash their hands and disinfect frequently touched surfaces like phones, doors and faucets. Store employees also wiped down carts to keep customers safe and healthy.

What effect does Corona virus have on us?
"Basically we will have nowhere to go. No field trips, no games, no sports meets, nothing." - Mr. Baker (Above left)

How can we stay away from it? "Washing our hands, practicing social distancing, and washing our hands a lot more often." Mrs. Rogers (School Nurse)

Many of the students here at HMHS have all been effected by COVID-19 school shut down and we all had to start doing online classes. Many students had trips during spring break that were canceled due to the Coronavirus.

HMHS Conquers Boredom

Along with many other schools, HMHS students are being sent home due to the Corona virus outbreak. Many students are stuck in their homes all day with very little to do! Here are some ways that Hohenfels students are conquering boredom ... other than doing school work.

"During quarantine I like to keep myself busy by doing some of my favorite things like painting, and baking. My favorite thing to bake is brownies with Reese's Pieces in them. I also started reading a lot recently" - Karlie Perez
"To conquer boredom I usually tallk to my friends since I can't see them everyday. I also play video games" - Isabelle Rice

No PC. No Wires. No Limits.

 We love Virtual Reality, but we hate dragging a computer with us everywhere we want to play. Oculus Quest solves that problem with the first all-in-one gaming system built for VR. Now you can play almost anywhere with just the headset and controllers, standing or sitting in spaces big or small.
Break Free From The Chains That Bind You

Sonos has been a popular home audio system despite lacking one feature: portability. They've solved this problem with the Sonos Move, a durable, batterypowered smart speaker that isn't tethered to a plug-in.

Head-Warming Headphones

Maybe you're the kind of person who can't keep track of those tiny little Apple AirPods. Or maybe you're very cold-natured. If it's both, consider the warm, soft, knitted solution of a Bluetooth beanie. But definitely never wear one in class, because that would be distracting and disrespectful.

What, Was the Name "Joy-Sticker" Taken, Guys?

The Q8 Game Controller Joystick is $$ 4$ well spent if you're a mobile gamer. Slap this sticky transparent disc on your screen and achieve high-precision thumb dexterity. It can be easily affixed to smartphones and tablets relieving finger pressure and letting you frag for hours on end.

Time To Get Up

The compact yet powerful DJI Mavic Mini brings the possibilities of aerial creation to more people than ever before. Its affordable price and lightweight design, combined with a 12MP camera and intelligent flight modes make it the perfect starter drone for anyone looking to get up in the air.

Get Some New Workout Buds

Totally wireless Powerbeats Pro earphones are built for athletes. With zero wires to hold you back, the adjustable, secure-fit earhooks are customizable for extended comfort and stability. Sweat and water resistance lets you train harder and take your workouts to the next level.

There's One Wheel for Everyone

Future Motion adds the Onewheel Pint to their product line. This insanely fun allterrain electric board is priced under $$ 1,000$ and has enough range to get you to school and back, even if you embark on a couple of side-quests. And if you need more than a pint of awesome, the Onewheel+ XR will give you more range and more speed for about $$ 800$ more dollars.

Assuming you've updated to all of the latest versions of Apple products, Mophie's 3 -in-1 Wireless Charging Pad is perfect to keep your everyday-carry accessories charged. Dedicated spots for your AirPods and Apple Watch mean your cutting-edge tech devices can all get juiced up at the same time.

When Brother Meets Sister, Courage Meets Perseverance

Hang is on a mission from Vietnam to Texas to find her brother in Tahnhha Lai's "Butterfly Yellow." But Hang wasn't prepared for Linh to have no recollection of their family or life in Vietnam. Can Hang find a way for the two to reconnect?

When Abdi's family is kidnapped, he's forced to do the unthinkable: become a child soldier with the ruthless jihadi group Al Shabaab. Natalie C. Anderson delivers a tale of sacrifice and hope with "Let's Go Swimming on Doomsday."

Karthia is Nothing Like it Used to be
In this enthralling, heartrending sequel to "Reign of the Fallen," Odessa faces the fight of her life in Sarah Glenn Marsh's "Song of the Dead." The Dead rule the night and dragons roam the streets, and the boundaries between the Dead and the living are challenged in a way more gruesome than ever before.

A Somali Refugee Confronts His Painful Past

Some Dreams Chase You Back
As Kane and his friends are dragged into unimaginable worlds that materialize out of nowhere, Kane realizes that nothing in his life is an accident. Ryan La Sala's wildly imaginative debut "Reverie" explores what happens when the secret worlds that people hide within themselves come to light.

Looking back at the past 18 years, we are beyond proud at just how far you have come. You've grown from a free spirited little girl who was obsessed with One Direction to the driven and motivated young woman that you are today! Even through the challenges you've faced, you persevered and succeeded without hesitation. For that and more, yow are truly an inspiration to each of us. Thank you for being an amazing daughter, sweet sister, and the best cousin anyone could ask for. We are all rooting for you as you take on the world, we love you and wish you the best; we cannot wait to see where this new path takes you!-Dad, Mom, Amy, James, Amanda and the rest of the fam.

You were always so excited when I brought you back presents from training rotations in other countries! I thought you would have liked the authentic Hungarian mustard.

Morgan, I just wanted to share some of the fond memories I have of you growing up. I have truly enjoyed being your dad and I am very proud of you. I know you will do great things in college and life. Your mom, brother, and I will miss having you around all of the time and being annoying, but it is time for you to move on to bigger and better things. Just remember we are always there for you.
I love you. Love Always, Dad

Just another great memory of you, your brother, and I at the train museum in Nuremburg! <---

The first time you were allowed to bake on your own could be the reason you were not asked to help cook very often!

I think Greece was the best vacation we took with you, we had a great time! Oh, you didn't go with us so we cropped you in! We wanted you to feel $\therefore 0^{\text {like you were on our Greek vacation. }}$

Our trip to the Netherlands was another great photo opportunity to capture you in your natural habitat.

Jared

It's hard to beat a person who never gives up. -Babe Ruth

Jared,
We are more than proud of you. Continue to work diligently, set goals, and stay focused, in order to be successful. In your life after college graduation, never stop learning. Remember to continue to choose your friends wisely and put God first in everything you do. Jared, here is a Bible verse to help guide you through life: I can do all things through Christ which strengthens me.

Philippians 4:13
Love, MiMi and PaPa Hearne Uncle Brandan, Auntie Nessa, River and Alexander

Dear Jared,

Congratulations!!! We are so proud of what you have accomplished. You have reached a major rite of passage in your life: high school graduation!!! You deserve this celebration, as it is the culmination of many years of hard work - of conscious and unconscious decisions. Yet remember: this is just the beginning; you have merely arrived at the first. Many more rites of passage are ahead of you: college graduation, your first full-time job that you earned on your own merits, marriage, children, and retirement. With each celebration will come new and increasingly complex challenges. Reject the temptation to settle. Settling for the accomplishments of "NOW" which yell louder will only limit the accomplishments and celebrations of "LATER" which always lasts longer. In fact, settling for "NOW" runs the risk of
"LATER" never being able to take place. Settling for the accomplishments of "NOW" means giving up on the celebrations of "LATER". Ignore the volume of "NOW" and focus upon "LATER" and you will never regret it. "LATER" will always last longer. Why? Because it will always give you something else to focus on and achieve. Love, AI Hearne II, PhD, Megan, Oscar & Stephen
