IZMIR

Cover Design:

The seal on the cover is that of Sultan Akhmet the Third. (1703-1730) Seals were used by the Ottoman Empire "kings." Each sultan had his unique seal for use as a signature on legal papers. Presently, replicas are sold in shops as gold and silver jewelry.

Sultan Akhmed the Third was a calligrapher and poet; he wrote poems under the pseudonym of Nedjib. He was also interested in musics, and had vast knowledge about it. He had fourteen sons and twenty-three daughters in his lifetime.

He passed away in 1736 at the age of 62, six years after giving up the office to his nephew. (May Allah have mercy on his soul!)

Which mode of transportation is your choice?

The city of Izmir is a combination of the remains of the old Islamic city of Smyrna, that, in the past few decades, has developed into a thriving metropolis. Within the city one can see many interesting sights such as an old mosque. One minute while walking down the street you may almost get run over by a "Big Red," while the next minute see a horse-drawn carriage go down the street. In all, Izmir vividly depicts Turkey's development as a modern country.

The Izmir Breakers

A group known as "The Breaker Brothers" came into fame almost overnight. Soon, these five found themselves "breaking" for Turkish festivals, fashion shows, and just plain entertainment of the community. At every dance these boys distort their bodies to prove themselves as the best breakers. These fabulous five are Mario Thomas, Tom Toney, John Thomas, Emer Brown and Chris Noel.

From Left to Right: Mario, Emer, Dana, Chris, Tom, and John.

Emer: "How do I get out of this one?"

Mario showing his talent.

Look Ma! No feet!

The memories are so clear,
 The thoughts and dreams
 Of yester-year.
 Memories of laughter,
 And memories of fear,
 All those wonderful people
 All those so dear.
 Alas the time has come
 To shed one last tear
 My time is up
 The end is drawn near
 This is the last,
 Our senior year.

"Hey Mr., wanna buy a cat?"

"What a great guy!"

"Memories"

"They used to fit!"

Spirit Week

The winning banner

Which way to the Forum

The 15 through 19 of October was dedicated to spirit this year. On Monday the spirited members of the school showed up in togas. Tuesday was deemed Punk vs. Preppy day. All sorts of odd creatures appeared in Punk attire while others chose to go Prep. Wednesday was theme day. Anyone could come as anybody or anything they wanted. Thursday everyone came to school in red and white for the pep rally. Friday, the day before the Homecoming game, was dress up day. At the end of the week it was decided that the Juniors had had the most participation in the week. The eighth grade won the banner competition, and the sophomores won the hall decoration contest.

Hey boy, try and take this girl out of my arms.

Biffy, Skip, and Muffy

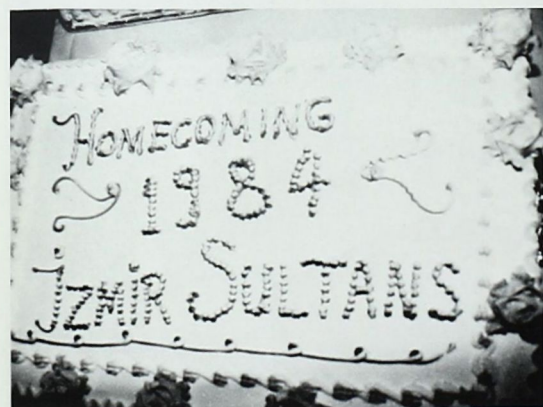

There's always room for more

Time After Time

Michelle is crowned queen

At 9:00 at the Park Restaurant following the Sultan victory of 16 to 6, making the Sultans the only team to win its Homecoming game, Michelle Grice was crowned Homecoming queen. Her court consisted of Becky Calver, Mimi Killian, Ceon Jones, Rose Devereux, Kathy Sandoval and Kelly Killian.

The only way Fritz will win, is if Reagan loses.

Jorg, the camera man. "Smile you're on candid camera!"

Seniors Talk on Presidential Platform

On the first Tuesday following the first Monday of November on every 4th even numbered year a president is elected. This year the senior class held their own presidential election, S.T.O.P.P. (Seniors talk on presidential platform). This election included a brief look at the headquarters, a debate, and a street scene that even included a roving reporter. They also held a mock election urging the Izmir community to vote for the president of their choice. Out of 100 people who voted, 87% voted for Reagan/Bush and 13% voted for Mondale/Ferraro.

What do we do now?

Did you ever hear the one about . . .

In the states Reagan was also winning by a landslide, 525 electoral votes to Mondales 13 votes. Overall the Seniors worked hard to make this a success and it turned out quite well. A special thanks to Mrs. Weil for being there to yell us through.
