Mr. Seeley, you've been the best math teacher I've ever had. I miss you. I hope you find your chalk & erasers. Thank you so much. Love, Danielle

Mr. Seeley, you're a great teacher. I hope you have fun next year with those low life 2nd graders. Give 'em hell! Chiss

Mr. Seeley, you have been a good summer. It was fun in 7th grade. Despite all the noise, I had a good time. Love, Andrea

Mr. Seeley, you are a very good math teacher. I'm glad I was in your class. Love, Kelly

Mr. Seeley, I never thought I'd live through it. Love, J. B.

Mr. Seeley, you've been a real good math teacher. Try not to treat your other students like you do me. They may think you're mean. Love, Jenni G.

Mr. Seeley, you're the best math teacher ever. I'll visit you all the time. Love, 7th graders, Dino (straight D student)

THE STORY OF THE COAT OF ARMS OF KAISERSLAUTERN

It was on a day in November, 1497. Fog lay over Kaiserslautern, the forests' fall colors were reflected in the ponds. The city of Emperor Frederick Barbarossa was prepared for the coming winter.

The fisherman stood around the Emperor's lake which was near the castle he had built almost 300 years ago. They tried to draw back the nets to the land to save the mass of fish in the net. They got out one after the other when they suddenly heard a loud cry: "Help!" someone shouted, "Help!". A young fisherman, holding the net in his cramped hands, planted his feet against the ground, but without any success.

Step after step an unseen force pulled him down to the water. "Help!", he shouted again, of despair.

As the others saw that, they dropped their nets and tools and ran up to the young man to help him.

Two, four, seven, nine men were there to pull. Their faces turned red while they tried to get the net out of the water.

Slowly the net came out of the water, "Heaven", they shouted when they saw the head of a pike as big as a horse's head — then a huge body with a large fin on its back could be seen — the beast got longer and longer. Then, in a shortness of breath — the animal jumped, the men ran away and on the shore they saw a pike — bigger than all the other pikes they had caught before.

A couraged man took out his knife and killed the fish. In that moment the sun came through the fog. The body of the dead giant shone silvery when they suddenly saw a golden chain round its neck with unknown letters on it. Very calm and with great respect they measured the pike: it was 19 feet long (5.79m) and 200 kilos heavy. Very proud, they carried the fish through the city and then brought it up to Heidelberg, where their sovereign had his residence.

There, a priest translated the Greek inscription. It said: "I am the fish which was first put in the lake by the hands of the Emperor Frederick in the year 1230."

The sovereign gave the big party for about 300 people and it is said that the fish, although it was 267 years old, tasted very good.

The poor fishermen of Kaiserslautern got nothing of their fish, but as a memory, they were allowed to paint a fish in their coat of arms.

IN MEMORY

CHRISTINE ELIZABETH EATON

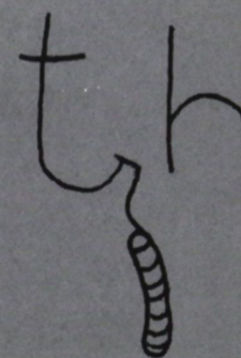

Christine Elizabeth Eaton was born October 17, 1971, at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia, and died November 14, 1985, at Landstuhl Hospital, Germany.

Chris was only a student at KJHS a short time and the 1985-86 Yearbook staff wishes to remember her. Prior to her illness, Chris enjoyed sports — she was an outstanding softball player in her league in Illinois. She also excelled in the academic area; she was a straight A student, in fact, she was taking geometry class in senior high.

Chris was a very special girl. She had experienced a lot of discomfort before moving to Germany, and more pain and loss of hair from chemotherapy after moving to Germany. Although she attended a new school, met new friends, and had had a recent loss of hair, she silently suffered when students made comments about her inch long hair. Chris was glad she had hair THAT long! Some students did not realize that she was fighting for her life and were insensitive to her. Now you know a little of her story. Chris' struggle ended while receiving treatment for the second occurrence of cancer. Christine Elizabeth Eaton is gone but not forgotten.

Though she was with our school only a very short time, she left it a better place. Her brave, uncomplaining fight was a lesson to us all!

HISTORY OF KAISERSLAUTERN JUNIOR HIGH

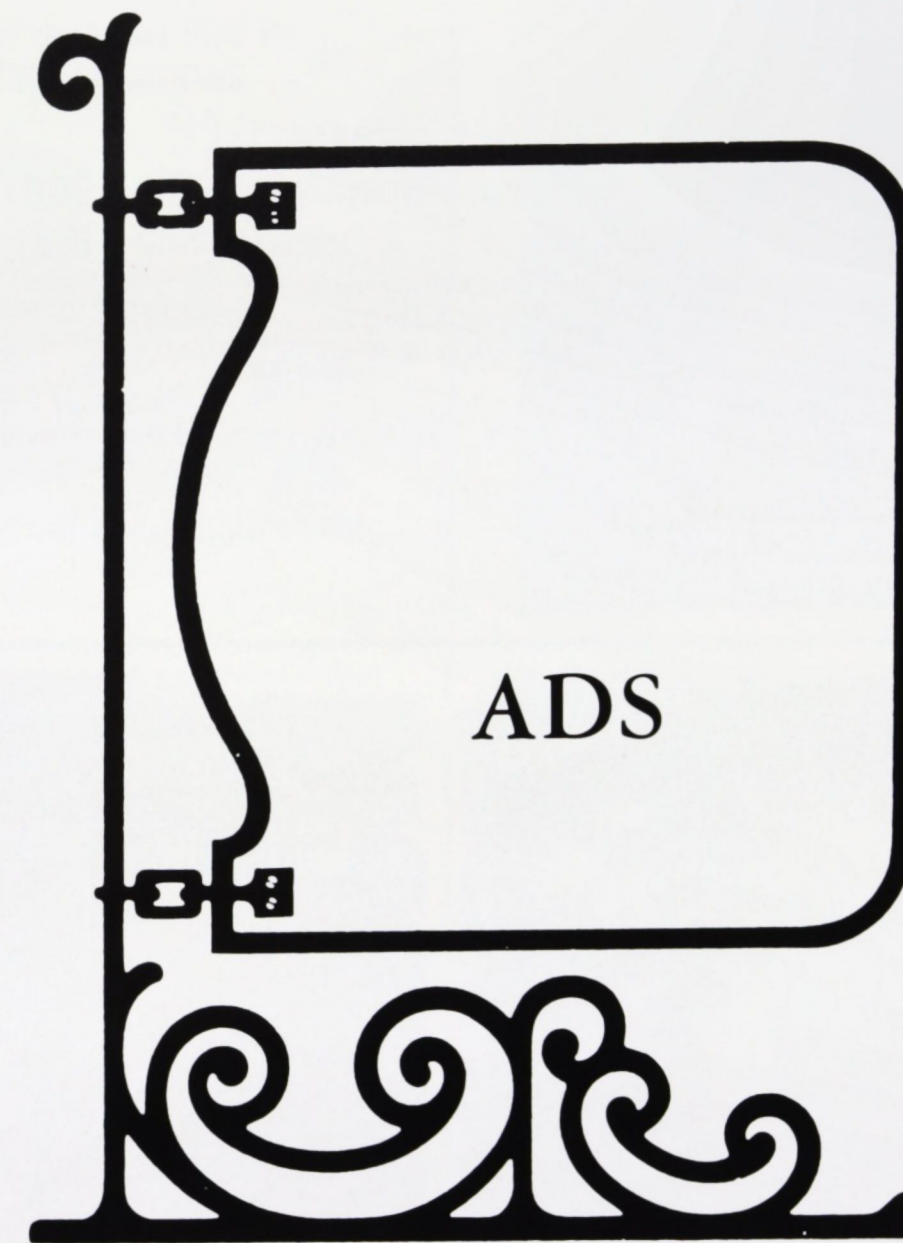

IN 1950, A HIGH SCHOOL WAS ESTABLISHED IN KAISERSLAUTERN. THIS SCHOOL WAS FOR ALL STUDENTS FROM 7th TO 12th GRADE. IN OCTOBER, 1968, THE 7th AND 8th GRADES FORMED AN INDEPENDENT JUNIOR HIGH WITH MR. JOHN BILLINGTON AS PRINCIPAL, A POSITION HE STILL HOLDS. AT FIRST THERE WERE ONLY ABOUT 350 STUDENTS, BUT DURING THE EARLY '70's THE STUDENT ENROLLMENT ROSE TO 650. AT THE PRESENT TIME THERE ARE APPROXIMATELY 500 STUDENTS IN KJHS.

THE SCHOOL MASCOT (THE INVADER) AND SCHOOL COLORS (BLACK AND GOLD) WERE CHOSEN IN THE EARLY '70's BY A CONTEST SPONSORED BY THE STUDENT COUNCIL. AT THAT TIME THE JUNIOR HIGH DID NOT WANT TO BE DIRECTLY ASSOCIATED WITH THE HIGH SCHOOL, BUT THE TITLE "INVADERS" WAS CHOSEN BECAUSE IT RHYMED WITH "RAIDERS". THE COLORS WERE CHOSEN BY MAJORITY VOTE OF THE STUDENT BODY.

BEFORE THE SCHOOL WAS BUILT, SCHOOL GROUNDS WERE JUST GOVERNMENT PROPERTY — BUT IT HAS BEEN SAID THAT IN 1958, THE PARKING LOT BEHIND BUILDING 2000A WAS A BASKETBALL COURT.
