Black History Month

February is the month dedicated to learning, honoring, and celebrate the achievements of black men and women throughout history. The origins of Black History Month can be traced back to a man named Carter G. Woodson (1875-1950). Three years after earning his doctorate in 1915, he traveled to Chicago to participate in a three-week celebration of the 50th anniversary of the end of slavery. Woodson and four others created the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History (ASNLH) on September 9, 1915. In 1926, Woodson promoted the idea of a "Negro History Week," which was to be held during the second week of February. In 1976, the 50th anniversary of the beginning of Negro History Week and the bicentennial of the United States' independence, Black History Week was expanded to Black History Month.

A special thank you to the director, Dr. Jackson!

Every year our seniors make their mark by placing their handprints and a special quote on a wall in our school. They waited patiently for years as they admired the handprints of classes gone by, and now it's their turn.

Congratulations, Lukas!

Our adventures have taken you from Japan to Germany and back, and back again.

From the first time you stepped into the batter's box at T-ball, until you took your final swings for the Raiders, you always gave 100 percent. You became a team leader, both through your actions and your words. We are so proud of the young man that you have grown into.

Now, you're ready to start the next chapter in your adventure, and we can't wait to see what the future has in store for you.

We have no doubt that you will be successful in all of your endeavors. We will be with you every step of the way.

Good luck. Love you lots!

We have complete confidence that you will succeed in whatever vocation you choose. Chart your path - stand tall - step forward - walk the walk. You have the aptitude; you have the work ethic; you have the inner drive to do great things - now go and do them! You have your whole life ahead of you. Dream it and do it!! You are the most annoying, awesome, smarttest, person I know and that is why I love you. I hope we stay in touch. Good luck in college. And I'll always remember when you ask me to do something and I say really I don't want to, then you give me puppy eyes and I can't say no. Love you, Gigi

Nicholas as you stood by the front door on the first day of school this year you said the words I was thinking but didn't want to say out loud. You said "This is the first day of my senior year and my last first day of high school ever." The words stuck out in my head as I began to remember how quickly your school years seemed to have passed by. I remember back to the first time Dad and I took you to school thirteen years ago. I was so excited, but teary eyed, as I watched you go off with your kindergarten teacher and class. Your dad of course had to remind me that you were only beginning kindergarten and wasn't leaving me forever. He's so sentimental. As each year passed though I knew we were getting closer to the time that you would leave us to begin on your adult journey. And now that time has come. As you start the journey we look forward to watching you mature, flourish and enjoy the pleasures of what life has to offer. We could not be more proud of the Man you have become thus far. You make us laugh and smile and you're so smart. Of course Dad and I have come to realize that you do things when and how you want, and you always claim to be right. But that "attitude" will get you far in life. Success has many faces, but, if you always know the answer before the question we know that you will far exceed your expectations. Dad and I wish you the best as you travel down this new road and remember no matter what our home will always be your home. And even though you may not have your key (we know you will lose it) you can always just come on in. Love Mom and Dad xoxoxoxox

As the years have passed you have worked hard on your academics to be successful. You have risen to each school year's challenges and have risen regardless of the hurdles you have had to face. Your father would be so very proud of you.

Love, Mom

Congratulations Jamie! You're officially a graduate and should be so very proud of the beautiful young lady you've become! These next chapters of your life will be an exciting time; you'll be exposed to new ideas and people and will choose the type of woman you want to be. So rock it girl! Head out to Flagler with your head held high and never lose sight of the priceless gift you've been given: a family that loves and supports you unconditionally.

Cheers! -Britt

I first met Jamie on the soccer field and I have to be honest I tried to size her up, but within just a few short practices we had become great friends. The next 2 years were spent laughing watching reality tv, forming our own inside jokes, and developing a great friendship. In 2012 Jamie moved in with my family and I and that is when I really noticed how awesome of a person she truly is. Her dedication to her school work, to God, and to her family and friends is one that I truly admire and one I aspire to have. Jamie really has come a long way from that girl with the goofy braces, she has grown into a strong, beautiful, and determined young women (wow that sounded cheesy). I will never be able to express what she means to me and my family and how proud we are of her.

He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust. Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence. He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his trust shall be thy shield and buckler. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day; nor for the pestilence that walk in darkness; nor for the destructio that wasteth at noontday. A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh tee. Only with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked. Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitations; there shall no evil befall thee neither shall any plague come night thy dwelling. For he gives his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways. They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone. Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under feet. Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him; I will set him on high, because he hath known my name; he shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honor him. With long life I will satisfy him, and show him my salvation.

Dearest little Brother,

I have loved that dopey dimpled face of yours since before you were born. I always think back to that day when mom was folding those blankets and putting them away for you. I was so thrilled to have a chance to get a younger sibling. Of course I hoped you would be a girl, but playing IGJoes with you worked just fine for me. My extremely big little brother, you have grown up to be such an amazing young man. I hate that I missed so much while I was gone at school. I can't wait to see what you will do with the rest of your life. You are capable of so many amazing things. You are so smart, probably the one of the most brilliant people I know. If you don't manage to change or rule the world (which I know you will do) please know that you changed my life the day you were born. And I wouldn't have it any other way. I will always support you and protect you.

I love you.

Alexis,

I remember years ago,
you were so little then.

Sometimes,

I can't help but wish,
that you were small again.

I've cried when you've faced heartaches,
and saw, that as you grew,
nothing broke your Spirit,
instead it strengthened you.

I'm filled with mixed emotions,
as I hold back all the tears
and, with much pride remember,
back so many years.

When I first held you in my arms,
if only I'd have known,
the years would feel like moments,
after you had grown.

You aren't a child,
though in my eyes,
I guess you'll always be,
that baby girl who changed my life,
and means the world to me.

My Dearest Vanessa,

WOW! I cannot believe my little girl is already running off to college.....seems like just yesterday, I was holding you in my arms and realizing that I have never really loved until that moment. You have grown into such a wonderful, smart, talented, strong, kind and loving young woman. I (and your daddy too, looking down on you from heaven) am so very proud of you and I could not ask for a better daughter! You've achieved greatness already in your short 18 years of life just by being the person and honor roll student that you are. But as you move into the next chapter of your life, I want you to remember a few, what I feel to be, significant things that I have tried to teach you over the years:

Stay focused, compassionate and driven. You've always been focused and driven, but keep in mind that compassion ranks up there, as just as important, as being focused and driven.

Compassionate people are magnificent people. Feeling empathy and concern for others motivates us with a desire to help in any way that we can. Be that help whenever you can. Love and kindness is what makes the world go 'round, not money. Next, always have a plan. Without a plan, you tend to stumble. Know what you want, make a plan and then go for it!

Know that it is ok to make mistakes, just make sure you learn from them and then move forward. This also means knowing how to recognize your weaknesses and then striving to turn them around to make them your strengths.

NO MATTER WHAT, ALWAYS stay true to yourself. Remember, you are the only one in control of your own happiness and destiny. Staying true to you will always keep you happy and you'll be able to sleep peacefully at night. Live for yourself, not others. Also, BELIEVE IN YOURSELF! You can do and be anything you set your mind to. You just have to want it bad enough and be willing to put in the work. I totally believe in you and know that you can accomplish almost anything! (I say "almost" because, ok, you and I both know you'll never be the rock star singer I dreamed you would be. LOL) But you know, I will always be your biggest cheerleader in whatever you decide to do!

And last but not least, NEVER EVER judge and NEVER EVER give up! Judging is a big no-no. Respect others for who they are. We all come into and leave this world in the same way. We are all created equal. Giving up is a big no-no too! Two of my favorite quotes to back me up on this:

"It is NEVER TOO LATE to be what you might have begun." - George Eliot

"All our dreams can come true - if we have the courage to pursue them." - Walt Disney

And the last thing I want to leave you with is this: "Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover." - H. Jackson Brown, Jr.

I love you with all of my heart and soul, to the moon and back and of course, the MOSTEST.

As I have watched you grow up over the years and now you get ready to step into real life, I feel compelled to pass on wisdom to you. Alas though I am not wise as some of the best wisdom I have heard and so I will pass on the words of Terry Pratchett to you: "The whole of life is just like watching a film. Only it's as though you always get in ten minutes after the big picture had started and none will tell you the plot, so you have to work it out all yourself from clues." Enjoy the journey and remember to call along the way.

Lots of love from your brother Guido.

Congratulations on your accomplishments, I am very proud of you! wish you all the success as this new chapter in your life Begins. I love you

Jessica,

From the day you were born I knew you would be able to get to this point in life (although I didn't want you to) Being able to say you've finished school and ready for the big world is a massive step in life and I'm sure you will be able to do it with no problems. Just remember that you have us all around you support you through life and that we are here forever. Always keep your chin up and don't let others bring you down, it just proves you're stronger than they are, WELL DONE BUTTHEAD!!

To say that I'm proud of you is an understatement. Everyone who has had the chance to get to know you, realize how special you are. As you say goodbye to high school, and look forward to college, always remember, life isn't about finding yourself. Life is about creating yourself. I love you very much Emo, Congratulations on your accomplishment. This is the first of many more to come. Words cannot express how proud we are of you. You are closing a chapter of your life only to start another. When I look at you now, tall and strong I don't just see you as a graduating Senior. I see you as the little boy with the big blue eyes with his "tete" in his mouth and another in his hand. I see as the little boy who loved Blue's Clues until you discovered the Red Power Ranger. I remember your first day of Kindergarten when your father and I walked you to class and you had that terrified look on your face or the first time you played football and you scored your first touchdown. I have all these images of you but none beat the one I see now. You have grown into a tender hearted, strong and opinionated young man who is not afraid to speak his mind. You are a true thinker who looks at the big picture and who see's all the possibilities life holds and figures out a way to go after it.

You are one of the best son's a father could ask for. Emo, you were all I talked about the day you were born. I never wanted to leave your side. You have grown to be an outstanding, caring, responsible, and athletic young man. At times, I wish you would never grow up but such is life. I hope you continue whichever journey you choose with great success. Life experiences and time, along with family support will make you a stronger man. Know that I will always love you regardless of the situation and I WILL ALWAYS be here for you! You will always be my Gordo. TE QUIERO MUCHO!

Always remember to honor the Lord, be true to yourself and treat others with respect. Will Smith may have said it best: "Throughout life people will make you mad, disrespect you and treat you bad. Let God deal with the things they do 'cause hate in your heart will consume you too. Always tell the truth, say your prayers, hold doors, pull out chairs and easy on the swears. You're living proof that dreams come true!" We love you with all our hearts, Mom, Dad, Kerra, Steven, Allise & Andres.

It is time for you to start your next chapter in life. Like a book, the previous chapters are never lost...always there for you to look back on for laughter, memories, and guidance.

Chapter One, a chapter usually remembered through pictures, videos and humorous anecdotes that embarrass you at the dinner table. Remember when you... (I'll leave this part out since it will go public J). Chapter Two, a chapter you have memories of but just can't, or don't want, to completely remember them to maintain "plausible deniability". Acting like a "self" hair-stylist at the age of six comes to mind in this chapter. I would love to post that picture here. Chapter Three, a chapter in which you start to identify you. Chapter Four, an unfortunate and untimely chapter that should never be written so early in a book - saying "Good-bye" to mom. Chapter Five, a chapter that is hard to describe but somehow you managed to write it and get through it.

Now, the next chapter, a chapter yet written and with endless possibilities. It is a chapter in which you choose the path. Remember, your past chapters will help you in each and every path you decide to take. I know you will be fine. You are a strong and smart woman. I am proud of you and...

I love you!
Dad (the one who knows everything)

Lexi, words can't describe how proud I am of you. Growing up is not an easy thing to do, but you are domination every aspect of your life. I've always called you my baby sister, but look at you, you are not a baby anymore. you have goals and dreams in your hear and one day you WILL reach them. No matter what the roads looks like now, I have faith that you will become the women of God you are called to be. Though this chapter in your book is being closed you have a whole new chapter in your life to look forward to. I know you've already begun peeking through the hole trying to get a sneak peak of what's ahead of you and I bet what you see is amazing and exciting. Yet scary all at the same time. Just remember that your big sister is right there next to you cheering you on. Always! People talk about their role models and the person they want to be like when they get older, my role model is you. You are who I look up to. You have been pushed down time and time again, yet you don't stay there. You are strong and kind hearted, don't ever lose that baby girl. The road ahead of you is going to be an adventure! so get ready because it is going to blow your mind! I love you so much and I know if mom were here she would be even more proud of you than I am. But she isn't far, she is watching right now with a big smile on her face proclaiming for all to hear "that's my baby!" Continue her love every day and never hesitate to go after that dream! I love you so much sis and I am so proud of you. Celebrate this time! Because it is yours!
Forever by your side.

Rachel, you are a precious Daughter of Christ. From Isaiah 43:2-4 "When you go through deep waters and great trouble, I will be with you. When you go through rivers of difficulty, you will not drown! When you walk through the fire of oppression, you will not be burned up; the flames will not consume you. For I am the Lord, your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior. I gave Egypt, Ethiopia, and Seba as a ransom for your freedom. Others died that you might live. I traded their lives for yours because you are precious to me. You are precious to me. You are honored, and I love you." -Oma

Psalms 32:8 says "I will instruct you and teach you in the way you should go; I will counsel you and watch over you." You have grown to be an intelligent and beautiful young lady. I am very proud of the decisions that you have made, the person you have become and know that your future will be blessed.

Aisha,

It is hard to believe that the little girl that started her journey on this planet on a sunny day in January back in 1996 is graduating High School. Every single step you took has been exciting. Starting from your first baby sounds, to words...prouette on the ice, toe touch, job and so forth. The space on this page is not big enough to mention them all. The space also won't be big enough to list all the new things that you will discover in life. You have always loved an adventure and are not afraid of many things except maybe a haunted house of course. That is how I would like you to look at life, at this new path that is unfolding after you leave High School. Be brave, be bold, be kind, don't be afraid to ask questions, and don't forget to follow your heart. Oh, and don't forget that most of the stuff we are afraid of isn't even real. Life is an adventure.

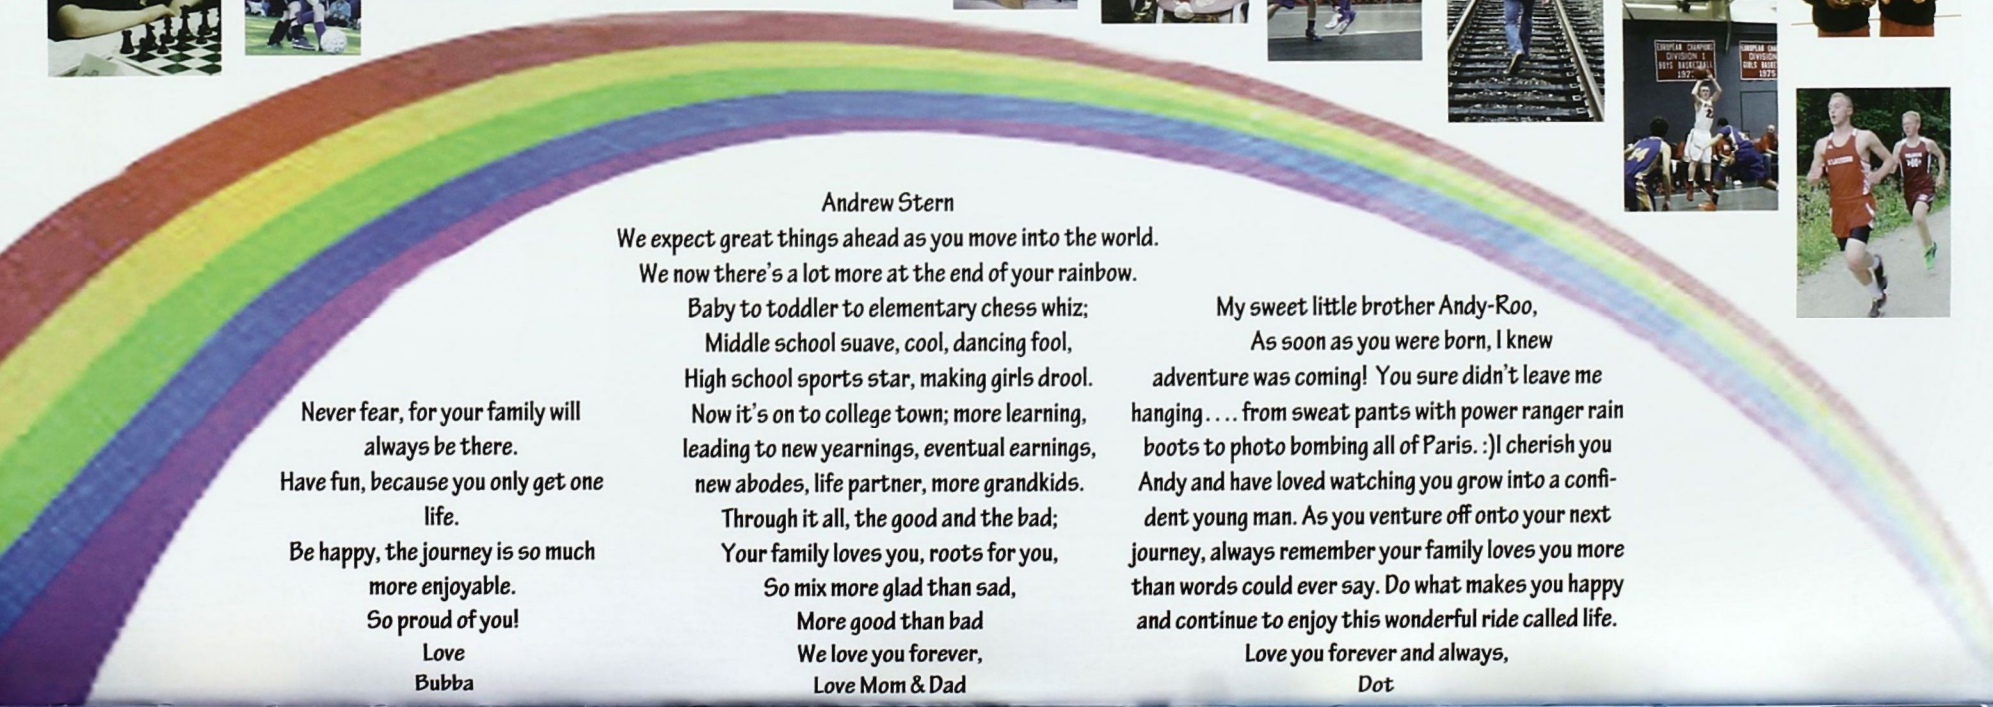

I am so proud of you! You have grown into a beautiful and smart young woman that has shown that she can achieve anything she sets her mind to. Congratulations and a high-five to successfully reaching and mastering another milestone.

We love you very much and will always be there for you.

Wir haben dich lieb! Von hier bis zum Mond und wieder zurueck.....

 Your family loves you, roots for you,
 So mix more glad than sad,
 More good than bad

Hugs, Congratulations! We are so very proud of you! To send Ba you off into the world will not be easy for us, but we are certain you will master your future perfectly! You performed on stage as a ballerina and pianist in Seoul, Korea; Fayetteville, N.C. and at the Schwetzingen Schloss in Heidelberg, Germany on the same stage where Mozart played. You climbed The Great Wall of China, snorkeled and went scuba diving in Saipan and the Canary Islands with your dad; rode elephants in Thailand and a camel in Tunis. You snow boarded in Asia and Europe with your mom, dad and brother Daniel, hiked the summit of the Zugspitze with your best friend Halle, and swam and snorkeled with dolphins, sea turtles, and many colorful fish with your brother in Hawaii. There is nothing in life you can't achieve once you have set your mind to do it. We are certain you will excel in all your future endeavors and achieve success no matter what environment you find yourself in. You are a bright, competent, beautiful, and inspiring young woman. You have filled our lives with so many happy and proud moments. We look forward to seeing many more of these moments as you transition from high school to college. Again, we are so very proud of you and we love you so much, Mom, Dad, Daniel, Grandma, Pop Pop and Oma

One performer in the center is holding a long, thin object, possibly a prop or a musical instrument. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows. The background is a brick wall, and the floor appears to be a dark, polished surface. The overall atmosphere is moody and theatrical.

It seems like just yesterday, you were crawling around the house looking for something to get into. We are so proud of you; it has been a privilege watching you grow up to be a handsome and intelligent young man...at the same time, it will be bittersweet seeing you walk across the stage to receive your diploma. It will be even harder dropping you off at college to start a new chapter in your life. Remember in life when things get a little tough, you can always pick up a phone and call your parents. Thank you Lorenzo for staying in there when times got hard and not giving up, for always being respectful, remember I always tell you that RESPECT will take you a long way. There is a big world waiting on you to jump in and claim your part. For with GOD all things are possible. We love you very much and will always have your back.

Tatiana M. Gonzalez came into our lives 18 years ago. She was a premature and a small 5 pound baby but she was strong and healthy. She was always wonderful, peaceful, and sweet. We cannot believe she is graduating high school this year. Tatiana is a selfless, sweet, caring, smart, loving woman who loves God. We know she will be successful in everything she does. There are no words to express how proud we are of her accomplishments, we know there are many more to come. Tatiana, we pray that you never forget who you are, your Christian values, and the unconditional love of God. We know that you are going to be successful in life and a blessing to many. These verses represent Tatiana's love for her family and others: "Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. 1 Cor. 13:4-7.

Mr. Hrushka reviewing one of the first books hot off the press

Nicholas Broccoli, Tysean Hendrix, Michael Close, Kade Keener, Maddisen Daly, Callie Hood
Mishaun Stephen, Rachel Barfeild, Keisha McClendon, Alexis Rios, Katherine Schiele
Claire Brooks, Summer Gomez, Vanessa Hranilovic, Sara Clark, Christine Ladra

From the yearbook sponsor:

As a coach gives out MVP awards for excellence I do the same in recognizing yearbook students who go above and beyond all the others. This book is possible because of the dedication of our main editor, Callie. I must also include our co-editors Alexis and Christine who worked as a team to accomplish the various tasks needed to make our deadline. I'm very proud to have worked with them and seeing so many lifelong skills being developed.

What will they be doing in ten years? Probably telling people what to do.

Mr. Hrushka

Letters from the Editors

This has been a crazy wild amazing year and here we are at the end. I thought that senior year would never get here, and then I thought it would never end, and now I'm about to graduate and it's all gone by so fast. Take note, underclassmen: the older you get the faster time goes, so enjoy (or at least tolerate) high school while you can.

This book came together at the last minute with the help of several extraordinary people, not the least of which were my two assistant editors Christine Ladra and Lexi Rios. You guys showed me that I didn't really have to do it all my self, and the yearbook wouldn't have happened without you two. Shout-out to Kathryn Schiele for being the best secretary a girl could ask for, and to Sara Clark for pulling through in those last few weeks and getting a lot done; you guys were both a big help.

Next, a thanks to all the teachers and students who sent me pictures in those last frantic days of April, especially Mrs. Berdecio, Mrs. Hipes, Mr. Putnam, Mr. Robinson, and Mrs. Walker and Mr. Knight; thanks to Culbreth for letting me skip my CP periods that last week, I'll make it up somehow. Thanks so much to Mr. Hrushka, for letting me take charge on day one (because we all knew that Michael Close as editor wouldn't end well), and teaching me everything I know about Photoshop (literally). Thanks to those of you in yearbook who stayed late and came in on Sundays those last two weekends, you know who you are and you are awesome. I know that most of us (myself included) didn't take the class seriously until after Christmas, but it came together in the end and that's all that really matters, right?

Thank you all for a great year, and putting up with me especially in those last few weeks when I know it was hectic. Thanks to my friends and family for being there when all I could talk about was yearbook and incomplete pages and missing photos and putting up with me staying late and going in early to try to get this thing done.

And to the class of 2014-- we're almost done!

Callie Hood

Dear Kaiserslautern,

Being a student of Kaiserslautern High School has given me so many memories to cherish and friends to hold on to, therefore I wanted to try my hardest to help convey and share the many great moments of KHS in a yearbook for everyone! It is only my first year on the yearbook staff, but I know that everyone worked their hardest to help this issue become the best it could be, so thank you! It has been a long and crazy quest to finalize and print this book. Lucky for us that we have such amazing people in our class. In specific, I would like to thank our head editor, Callie Hood, for leading the production of this book all the way from our simple ideas into the student's hands. If it weren't for Callie's amazing leadership and organization skills, this yearbook would have probably fallen apart. Another thank you I owe is to Alexis Rios who worked very hard until the very end and Kathryn Schiele who helped make the class period much more bearable. The biggest thank you I owe is to our very own Mr. Hrushka! Your patience, hard work, and teaching is what made this yearbook possible for all of us. So now that yearbook and the 2014 senior year is coming to a close, I leave the job of immortalizing the memories of KHS behind in the trusting hands of our teachers, staff, and fellow classmates. Good luck out there everybody!

Thanks for the great year!

Christine Ladra

To the students of KHS,

2014 has been a fast year, it feels like just yesterday we were chanting "I Believe That We Will Win" at our first football win in two years. With everything that goes on at this school, it's hard to remember that it all eventually comes to an end; but the memories will stay with us for a life time. The halls of KHS are filled with newly made and old friendships, drama and fights, and the goofy moments of Spirit Week; but we wouldn't have it any other way. These are the moments that we'll remember when thinking back and laugh about the little things we would get so mad over. And even though this has been one stressfull year for the yearbook staff, it's the end of the year and the book is finally finished and something we are proud of. I have had so much fun taking photos and capturing all these moments, so Thank You KHS for an amazing four years. Most importantly, Thank You to Callie H., Christine L., Sara C., Kathryn S., and Mr. Hrushka for all the work you put in for this yearbook!

To the class of 2014, as you close this book, you will also be closing a big part of your life but also opening up a new exciting part. So Congratulations and Good Luck in your life!

~ Raiders, We Did It!
