Here beside the blue Atlantic
Bides the blue and gold
Riding high with white clouds racing
This our Falcon bold.
On a tiny speck of beauty
Amid the sea and foam
Stands our lovely Alma Mater
Halls of learning. Home.
Ride the sky oh dauntless Falcon
Carry home our soul.
Riding high with white clouds racing
This our Falcon bold.

He clasps the crag with crooked hands;
Close to the sun in lonely lands,
Ring'd with the azure world, he stands.

PRELUDE . . .

On October 23, 1971, the island of Terceira was the scene of the first of many visits. The Honorable Spiro T. Agnew, Vice-President of the United States, stopped here on the return leg of his visit to Greece and Iran. Soon this island became a beehive of activity in preparation for the visits of three Heads of State.

On December 12, 1971, Prime Minister Dr. Marcelo Caetano of Portugal, President Georges Pompidou of France, and President Richard M. Nixon of the United States, came to the Azores for an historic round of talks.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT TO THE STUDENTS OF LAJES FIELD DEPENDENTS SCHOOL

The students of the Lajes Field Dependents School know something about diplomacy from first-hand experience. For you have served as unofficial ambassadors of good will from America to the Azores.

In December of 1971, you and your families participated in another kind of diplomacy as you helped to set the stage for my visits with the President of France.

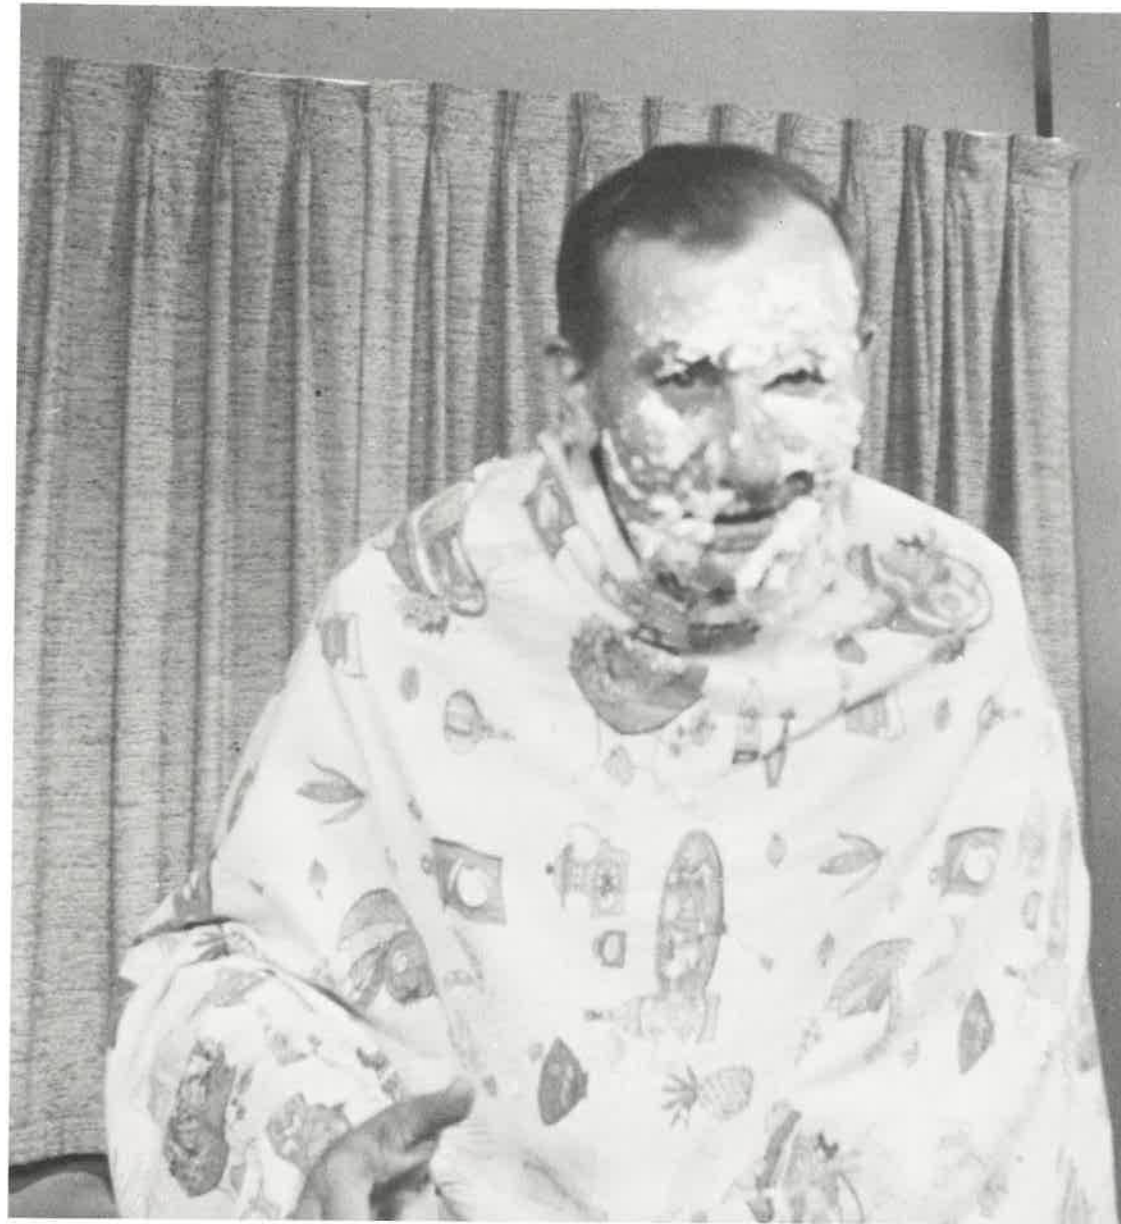

When I met with President Pompidou—and with our host, Prime Minister Caetano of Portugal—I served as the representative of all the American people, working on their behalf to strengthen our communication with other countries. This work is something which you do every day, for you too are serving now as representatives of the United States, and you too have the opportunity to advance the cause of better international communication.

For many of your Portuguese neighbors, you are America. What they think of the United States will depend, in large measure, on what they think of you. Our good relations with the people of the Azores owe much to you and your predecessors at the Lajes Dependents School. And the future of those relations will depend to a significant degree on you and your successors.

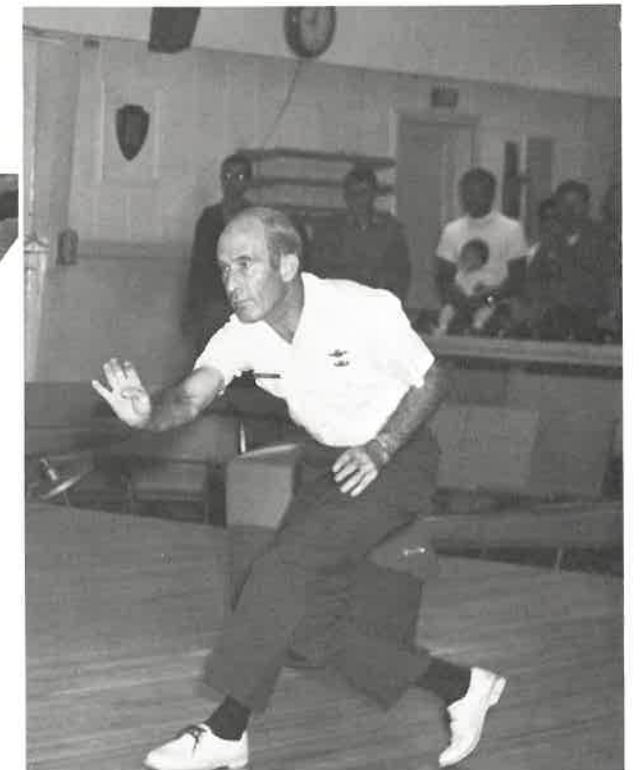

Better communication will not eliminate all the differences between peoples. But it will help men to understand their differences more clearly so that they can talk about them rather than fight about them. For all you are doing to contribute to better communication between peoples, you have my sincere thanks. And to all of you my warmest good wishes for a bright and happy future.

The 1971-72 Falcon Staff has endeavored to prepare for each of us a record of a most eventful year at Lajes. With the events that have occurred this year, many last minute changes have been incorporated into the year-book, and the Falcon staff is to be congratulated for their fine efforts.

I am sure the history recorded on these pages will bring pleasant memories to us in the future. Especially memorable will be the visits of President Richard M. Nixon, President Georges Pompidou, Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew, and Prime Minister Marcelo Caetano of Portugal.

To the graduating class of 72, I congratulate you on being in the Azores during such an eventful year and wish you every success in your future endeavors.

SPORT—SPIRIT— SUCCESS!

The End Is

The Beginning.

The Junior-Senior Prom, 1971

Etienne De Grellet

I expect to pass through this world but once;
any good thing therefore that I can do,
or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature,
let me do it now;
let me not defer or neglect it,
for I shall not pass this way again.

DEDICATION

Now is a time of meditation; a time to reflect upon the events of the past and a time to contemplate the events of the future. You have been charged with the re-organizing of our world. Accept this challenge and carry it out in a fashion befitting your character. Good luck to the Graduating Class of 1972. May you be successful in all that you do.
