Mrs. Edwards

Jennifer Lynn Carlson

I was born on [redacted] 1991, in [redacted] Louisiana. The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was the Leaning Tower. Why? Because it was leaning.

The person I most admire is my dad because he influenced me to join the Air Force.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why? Social Studies because, even though I like history, it is super hard and every S.S. day we have to think about it.

My dream career would be a vet. Why would you like to spend your life working at this job? Because I love animals.

Dunlap Hall

I was born on [redacted] 1992, in Massachusetts. The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was YS and SAS. Why? I had never seen something like it.

The person I most admire is Dad and Mom because they are very funny and nice.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why? Social Studies because it is not very interesting.

My dream career would be basketball player. Why would you like to spend your life working at this job? I am good at it.

Bruno Moniz

I was born on [redacted] 1990, in Portugal. The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was I was getting a puppy because I like dogs.

The person I most admire is Babe Ruth because he is a very good baseball player.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why? Math because I am not good at it.

My dream career would be being a baseball player. Why would you like to spend your life working at this job? Because I like baseball and it is fun.

Paulo Moniz

I was born on [REDACTED] 1992, in Portugal. The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was my dad. Why? Because it was 60 days before I saw him.

The person I most admire is my dad because he was the only person that took care of me.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why? Social Studies because it's really hard.

My dream career would be Air Force. Why would you like to spend your life working at this job?

Because my dad is in the Air Force.

Tamara "Elizabeth" Patterson

I was born on [REDACTED] 1991, in [REDACTED], Colorado (Colorado Springs). The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was the pizza. Why? Because it was invented here.

The person I most admire is my mom because she sets a good example.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why? Reading, because it is boring to me.

My dream career would be an athlete. Why would you like to spend your life working at this job? I love sports and especially running.

Chelsea R. Tutko

I was born on [REDACTED] 1991, in [REDACTED], Germany. The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was the school. Why? It was small compared to my old school in Iceland.

The person I most admire is my baby brother Zac because he makes me laugh and is very funny.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why? Science, because Science is really not one of my strong subjects.

My dream career would be a teacher. Why would you like to spend the rest of your life working at this job? I like to help kids learn new things.

Oliver Tyce

I was born on [REDACTED] 1991, in [REDACTED], Rhode Island. The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was the number of ice cream flavors. Why? We don't have as many in Rhode Island.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why?

None. I like all subjects.

My dream career would be a snow cat driver.

Why would you like to spend your life working at this job? Because driving a snow cat up and down mountains would be fun.

Jacob Vogel

I was born on [REDACTED] 1992. The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was Italian food.

The person I most admire is my dad. Why? He is good at sports and other things.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why? Italian, because I don't like Italian words.

My dream career would be jet pilot. Why would you like to spend your life working at this job?

Because I would be able to be a pilot and it would be fun.

Clay Young

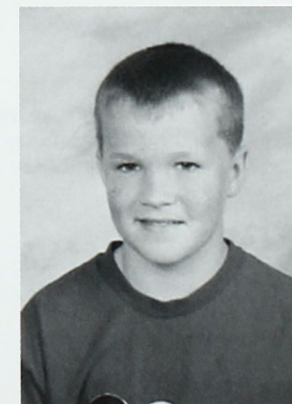

I was born on [REDACTED] 1992, in [REDACTED], North Dakota.

The thing that surprised me most when I came to Italy was how small the base was compared to where I used to live in Florida.

The person I most admire is Tony Hank, because he is very talented in skateboarding.

If you could leave out one subject that you study in school what would it be and why? I would leave out Italian because it is such a hard language to learn.

My dream career would be? I would love to be an artist. Why would you like to spend your life working at this job? Because I like to draw and paint more than anything.
