Breaking Out Of The Mold

In many ways, BAHS is a typical American high school. We go through the same hassles as all teenagers: worrying about fitting in, the future, school, and parents. There are also the same good times: hanging out with friends, winning the big game, and just enjoying day-to-day life. That's what we have in common with other schools. But there are many differences as well.

The most obvious is our location. We're an ocean away from the States, living in an environment totally foreign to most of the people we grew up with. Another difference is our small size. The approximately 700 students, grades 7-12, make a pretty close knit group. You may not be best buddies with everyone, but chances are there aren't many unfamiliar faces in your class. "People are friendly here. Most are in military families, and understand how hard it is to move every couple years," one Junior explained. There aren't a lot of cliques or snobbiness either, and people are free to be individuals, to stand out. Yet we all have something in common—we're people living in a foreign culture, and that brings us together.

This year's Berliner will go beneath the surface to record the people, places, activities, and things of the school year 1990-91. The students of BAHS are unusual people living in an unusual location. Flip through these pages to see why we're "Out of the Ordinary."

If 1989 was famous as the year the borders opened, 1990 will be known as the year the two Germanys reunited. Living in Berlin has given us the chance to see these historic events first-hand. Nearly all of us have seen the Wall come down and have crossed the former borders of our city. Every time we walk down a street, we see the tiny Trabbies and smell their fumes. All these factors combined have given us an understanding of the deep changes going on in the city and country in which we live.

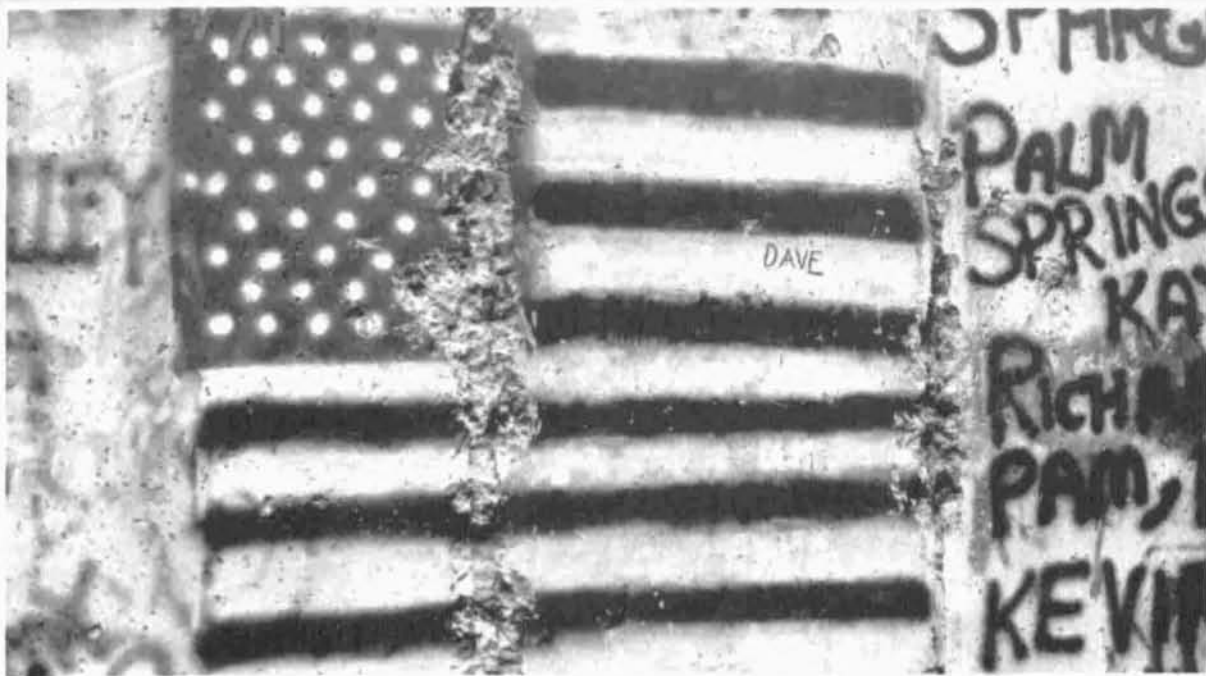

Many of us had the chance to hear former President Reagan speak at Tempelhof, and took part in the reunification ceremonies October 3. With the end of the Cold War, the future of united Germany and the American presence here is very uncertain, and it looks like we may be some of the last classes to graduate from BAHS.

Alive And Bustling

It may take newcomers awhile to adjust to Berlin's big city life, but most love it. Berlin is a great city, combining old and new, different cultures, and all types of people. Also, Berlin has gained a new prominence in current events, as the capital of newly united Germany.

There are always things to do here. On a typical Saturday afternoon, you can support your team at a BAHS sporting event, complete with hotdogs, fans and cheerleaders. Or you can go sightseeing to some of the historic sights in Berlin, such as the Reichstag or Kaiser Wilhelm church. If shopping's more your style, the long Ku'Damm with all its shops, from KaDeWe to Benetton, is the place to go. If you want a bit of international flair, eat a Turkish donerkebab, visit the Polish flea market, or go to what's left of the Wall to see masses of Eastern Europeans and tourists from all over. After that long day, you can relax and enjoy yourself in Berlin's active nightlife. From restaurants to nightclubs, there's something for everyone.

Our lives here are a blend of American and German cultures. While sometimes we may miss living in the States, we'll always remember the time we spent in Berlin.

A Medieval Look At Spirit Week

Beginning the ninth of October in the year 1990, hundreds of squires and damsels from the Kingdom of "BAHS" took part in an annual ritual known as "Spirit Week", meant to instill bravery and pride in the protectors of the school crown.

After attiring themselves in different modes of dress and participating in warm-up games among themselves, the subjects gathered together in a pep rally. That night, a sacred ritual of fire was performed, in which a Hahn Hawk was paraded and flung into the flames to demoralize the spirits of the enemy. As the flames died, the warriors and their supporters headed inside to dance and raise morale for the real battles yet to come.

The next day, all the week's preparations came to a head in an annual fest called "Homecoming." The athlete-warriors fought valiant battles against the many invaders. The battles were fierce on many planes; the gridiron, the tennis courts, the gym, and over a harsh three-mile course. But in the end, Berlin's forces came out victorious on all fronts. The beaten adversaries, lead by the Hahn tribe, returned from whence they came, their pride mortally wounded.

That night, the people celebrated their victories in the "Castle of Dreams." Their heads were held high and their hearts were full of pride as the taste of victory lingered. King Ivan Aguigui and Queen Tonia McCrea presided over the festivities and led the entire court in a slow, stately dance befitting their nobility. As the night wore on, the subjects grew weary from the week-long activities and battles, and headed home to dream of castles in the sky and knights in shining armor. 🐾

Students Leave England Full Of Memories

Laughing and learning, these are the first two words that jump into people's heads when they think about this year's England trip. Friendships were formed and history was learned in the week long trip to London, Canterbury, and Stratford.

After a LONG bus ride through Germany and France, the group boarded a large ferry to cross the Channel. Once in England, they stayed in various bed and breakfasts, seeing sights by day and enjoying plays and exploring the towns by night.

Besides seeing famous sights such as the Tower of London, Canterbury Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, and Dover Castle, the group had plenty of free time to shop, talk to the natives, or enjoy a meal in a genuine English pub. Two Shakespearean plays were seen in the Royal Shakespeare Theater in Stratford as well as the musical, "Me and my Girl," in London.

Despite the long hours on the bus and hectic nonstop pace, the trip was a blast and most were sorry to return to school. 🐾

Students and chaperones met at 6:00 in the morning at school to depart on the 10 hour bus trip to Poland. On their way to Warsaw they stopped at Chopin's house. A piano was in every room of the famous Polish pianist and composer's house.

Besides sightseeing and shopping in Warsaw, the group had a chance to Auschwitz, the gloomy extermination camp used in World War II. They also visited the salt mines, with a fantastic chapel carved entirely out of salt, 14 floors below ground.

The students also had a chance to meet and talk with Polish students, as well as visit the oldest university in Europe. The group from BAHS had a chance to experience the culture and history of Poland during their very busy and informative stay.

"Today Is A Great Day In The History Of Berlin."

It is a day of thanks to our Allied friends and partners in Berlin said former West Berlin Mayor Walker Momper on that day in which the two Germanys officially reunited and the Allies gave up their special status.

Many students, expecting another huge party equal to the one on November 9, 1989, were surprised by the relative calm and peacefulness of the reunification celebrations. Entire families came out to stroll under the Brandenburg Gate, gather in front of the Reichstag, or walk freely between the two sections of the city.

Some BAHS students enjoyed observing and taking part in the celebrations. "It was great to see all the fireworks and happy people," said one person who was there. The reunification will have a great effect on American forces in Berlin. We are now guests in the city, as opposed to occupiers. The US military has said it will take out its military when Soviet forces are removed from the eastern part of Germany, which will probably be a couple of years. All this means that as Germany is now one again and is looking forward to a new future, the purpose of our military presence is accomplished and our future here is uncertain.

Football Team Continues BAHS Winning Tradition

The 1990-91 BAHS Football team started out strong this year, going undefeated until the conference championship game. They suffered their first loss in the cold rain at Baumholder for a second place finish in the A-North conference. They advanced to the semi-finals of the Small Schools Tournament, but suffered a defeat at the hands of Fulda. Despite the loss, the team's fast moving offense provided some memorable moments. They finished with an outstanding 7-2 record and reigned undefeated in conference play at home.

Having A Ball Winning It All!

The BAHS Tennis Team lobbed, volleyed, and aced their way through a successful season behind first year coach, Jack Wayne. His leadership skills helped the boys turn out a 5-1 record, losing only to Osterholz by 1 match. The girls brought home the conference championship by going undefeated, despite a few excitingly close matches. The girls and boys team edged their way past Baumholder, both winning 5-4.

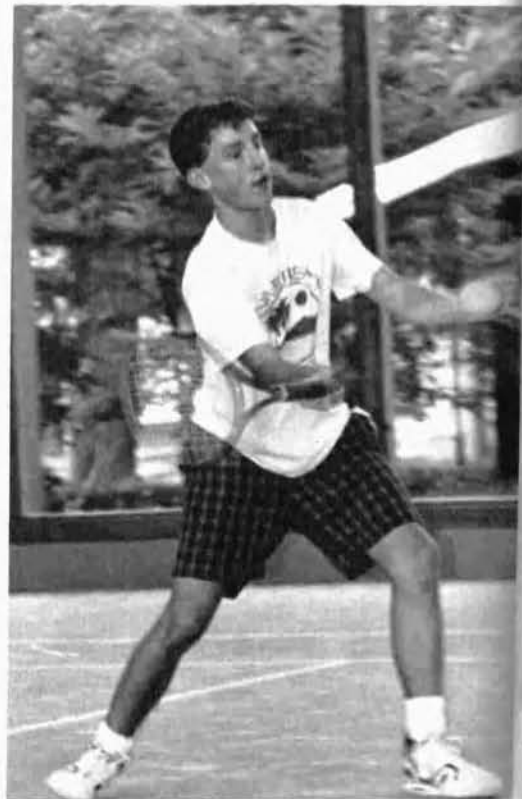

In the 1st match of the regular season the girls tied 3 all after singles competition and then turned up the heat to win all the doubles matches defeating Bad Kreuzach 6-3. Finally at the Europeans, Mat McQueen, Dae Woo Kwoun, Richard Olivarez, Laura Lindner, Mary McQueen, and Emi Nakajima ended up with a total of 26 overall points which was enough to win the 1990 Championship. 🐾

Coach Jenkins set high standards for his team. His goal was to win Central European Championships. The team trained by running 7 miles a day up steep hills, through loose sand, and 5 mile flats.

European Championships. At Europeans the team placed 6th with Donnie taking 2nd place, just 7 seconds behind the winner.

The girls team ran wild in the A North Conference, taking first place with their II-I record. Cynthia Terens was the team's top runner winning all the regular season meets. However, an injury side-lined her for the Regionals. Wendy Nix carried the team at Regionals by placing seventh and qualifying herself for European Championships where she placed 36th.

Girl's Volleyball Pushes Beyond The Ordinary

The Berlin Varsity Volleyball team reached an all-time high in 1990 by capturing the European Championships crown! Hard work and outstanding play characterized the girl's season, according to the coaches.

"The greatest strength of this team was the girl's ability to play well together," Coach Suzanne Cox said. "This team ran together, traveled together, prayed together, played together and found great success together!"

Out Of The Ordinary Leadership

Student Council was up and going even before the school year began, with preparations for Welcome Week. This week is designed to help all students, new as well as returning, ease into the school year and feel welcome. Almost before Welcome Week was over, plans for Homecoming were being made. From dress up days, to the Powder Puff game, to the half time ceremony at the football game. Student Council planned it all in a little over a month.

As Christmas rolled around so did more activities. The annual door Decorating Contest was a great success with Ms Crumb's first hour class winning first place for their rendition of a "Simpson" Christmas. There was also a Cake Walk held during both lunches a few days before break.

The year is rounded out by Teacher Take Over Day and Spring Fever Week. This is just a sampling of the work Student Council does to help make the school's atmosphere a cheery one.

Their challenging week-long trip to the Hague was their main activity. This conference had over 2,000 students from all over the world and was a chance to debate and make friends with many new people.

The club, which is made up mostly of people in Speech Class, debated current events from other country's points of view, proposed solutions to world problems, and gained valuable public speaking skill.

Model United Nations gave the group an inside look at how the UN works and politics around the world.

An Active NHS

"This year, we're trying to disprove the concept that only geeks are in the National Honor Society," said Mrs. Knapp, the club's sponsor. People in this club not only have good grades, but are student leaders and are in many school activities as well.

Their main project this year was starting a student lottery: Dollars for Scholars. The lottery's purpose is to give immediate rewards for those who get good grades, as well as inspire others to do better.

NHS also sponsored the hugely successful Sadie Hawkins Dance. The dance featured a jail, marriage booth, and even a cameo appearance of a live student band. The dance, along with other fundraisers held throughout the year and donations from organizations around the community provided money for the "Dollars for Scholars" program.

Directed by Gary Kelb, the musicians in Concert Band meet every day in second hour to make "wonderful music." A performance at the Arndt Gymnasium, along with various other German musicians, started off the year for Concert Band. Heralding in the holiday season, a brass group performed at the Officer's Wife's Club, and on December 18, the band entertained the community with their outstanding Christmas concert. Following the concert, the students began preparing for the Symposium of Performing Arts (SOPA) and the DoDDS Honor Band. In addition to all of their indoor performances, they also performed at home football games, rallying the crowds and raising spirit. They also accompanied the football team to their game in Baumholder.

Mr. Kelb's dancing wildly on the podium and all the "oops" and occasional goof-ups relieved the Concert Band of the stress from other classes, as well as giving them the chance to make great music.

Students like Intermediate Band for a variety of reasons. Says Chris Clayton, "I like to play the saxophone 'cause girls like guys who play sax." Robert Frank likes band because, "It's pretty educational. He teaches us about melodies and stuff." Melanie Marsh likes the movies they watch when Mr. Kelb is gone. And Rusty Barnett enjoys band because it's helping him with his future as a professional trumpet player. Haydee Fernandez enjoys the way Mr. Kelb acts and sings at the podium while he directs the band.

The Intermediate Band is a prep class for Concert Band. There is a strong emphasis on reading difficult rhythms, expanding the students' range of playing, testing the musical fundamentals, and exposing the students to more challenging music.

In The Concert Choir

Voices Ring Loud And Clear

Concert choir rehearses and performs a variety of choral pieces ranging from classical to pop and Broadway tunes. The diversity provides a good educational background for the singers, and pleasing programs for the audience. Choreography has also become an important part of their ensembles. The President was Wendy Nix, Mitsy Houser was Vice President, Chris Baez was Secretary/Treasurer, and Sondra Bryant was Librarian.

The choir supported the Berlin community by performing for the American Women's Club and Field Station during Christmas time, working with a German choir, and performing at the Kempinski Hotel on the KuDamm.

Sixteen members were selected to perform at SOPA, and seven participated in the Honors Choir in Bad Kissingen.

FBLA-A Road To Success

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) is an organization designed to develop competent, aggressive business leadership, create more interest in the understanding of American business enterprise, and to encourage members in the development of individual projects which contribute to the improvement of home, business, and the community.

To meet these goals, the FBLA chapter has done various service and community projects. This year's FBLA has had an ongoing Breakfast Club that brings in a steady income. Here, the club sells items such as ham and cheese sandwiches, juices, fruits, yogurt, and granola bars.

Other projects they have been involved in are book drives for Operation Desert Shield, volunteering numerous hours after school at ACS, school beautification, and paper recycling.

Earlier in the year, the FBLA chapter participated in the annual Fall Leadership Conference in Kaiserslautern, as well as the Spring Conference in Frankfurt.

Drama Club experienced a hectic yet fun-filled year, primarily working on the musical production of "Oliver", by Charles Dickens. Miss Riggins, as Director, oversaw the production with a cast from both the high school and the community. Despite the pressures and long hours of rehearsal, everyone enjoyed the time and work put into making "Oliver" turn out. The community did an excellent job helping direct the play and working with Fagin's gang and the orphans, who were students from the elementary school. The props were excellent: set in 19th century England, with an outline of a city skyline and a midnight-blue glowing sky in

JROTC Prepares

Cadets For Future

While living in Berlin, we have all come face to face with a different culture, far different in most ways from our own. There is yet another culture which is different than that of the States, whose means and ways set them apart from the ordinary. This is the society of the Armed Forces. The students at BAHS have an opportunity to experience not only the German culture, but through the Army Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps they also experience the Military Culture.

Aside from learning the quirks and a little of the jargon, cadets also have their leadership abilities developed which is valuable whether they enter a service or not. Cadets are exposed to several different subjects according to their level of leadership, anything from First Aid and Map Reading to Career Opportunities and a Technology Awareness program. Cadets also have a chance to climb in rank as they progress in military knowledge and ability. AJROTC motivates people to overcome the obstacles and tasks given to them throughout life. AJROTC is more than a paramilitary organization, it's an organization meant to show young people how to become leaders and better citizens of the United States.

No Problem Is Difficult Math Club Finds The Solutions

An aircraft which cruises at 350 MPH in still air is to fly from Honolulu to San Francisco, a distance of 2400 miles, on a day when a 50 MPH tailwind is expected to accompany it all the way to San Francisco. Find the time in its flight from Honolulu, accurate to within one minute, that would be called its "point of no return" i. e., the time in flight when it requires as much time to return to Honolulu as it does to continue on to its destination of San Francisco.

If you solved this problem or simply considered giving it a try, Math Club could be an interesting group to join. Members have a chance to use their skills outside of class, providing peer tutoring for other BAHS students, pursuing independent study projects, and preparing for future goals in college and employment.

The goal of this year's group is to become affiliated with Mu Alpha Theta (the National Math Honor Society) next year. They have also given the BAHS students something to think about during National Engineering Week, February 17-23, with a problem solving contest.

Math projects include problems like taking a flat sheet of material and finding the dimensions for a box that contains a maximum volume, or finding the area under any curve by approximation with the use of a computer.

Sponsor, Mr. Lawrence, and president, Tracy Neumann, go over the club's agenda for the rest of the group (next photo) to discuss during their weekly Monday night meeting.

Dare To Be B.A.D.

Some teenagers seem to have the attitude that the only way to have fun is through alcohol and drugs. A group of committed students at our school are working to dispel that notion. Berlin Against Drugs (B.A.D.) educates others about the dangers of drugs and preventing the use of them. This year they have also started a peer counseling program, to further discourage drug use among students.

The club's officers are: President, Stacy Neumann, Vice president, Kim Nix; Treasurer, Nicole Clayton; and Historian, Coraly Ramos. Every year, B.A.D. sponsors a dance and other fund raisers to raise money to send people to the large PRIDE conference in the states. At this conference they gain new ideas and learn ways to sponsor a drug-free lifestyle.

Hours And Days Of Work Make An "Out Of The Ordinary" Book

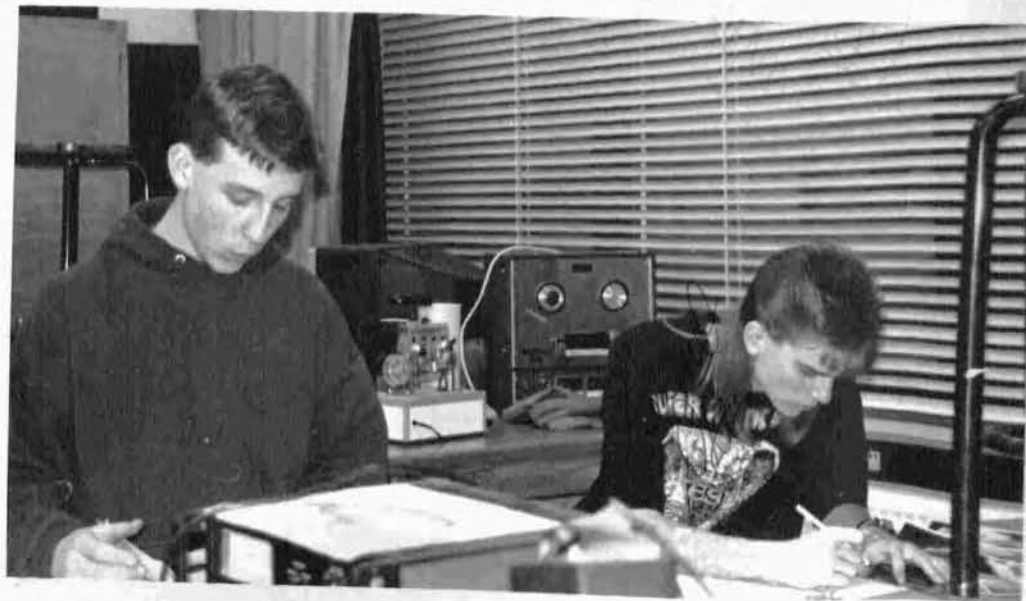

What has about two dozen feet, lots of stress, and a love of listening to music while working? Answer: The yearbook staff. This year, under the guidance of new sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Roach, this hardworking bunch spent days and months taking pictures, making layouts, writing copy, and running sales campaigns. Almost any day after school in the Autotech room, one could find the stereo blaring, piles of pictures and papers, and the staff hard at work, slightly frazzled.

Editor Kathleen Hildenbrand said, "This year we tried to do something different. We picked the theme 'Out of the Ordinary' to give us room to experiment and have fun with the book." Other members of the staff include copy editor Bethany Knapp, Photo Editor Russell Ottley, Layout Editor Nicole Hall, Sales Managers Matt and Mary McQueen, Soo Kyung Chung, Erin Stieler, Manuel Colon, Bora Kim, Sean Jones, and Archie Best.

Environmentally concerned teens Watch Our Earth

The Massive oil spills, unbiodegradeable substances such as plastic, and non-recyclable goods all plague our world. Our delicate ecosystem is being damaged, perhaps permanently, and a group at BAHS has joined to attempt to do something about it. Their goal is to educate people and prevent the destruction of our environment. They hope to better the environment for everyone's children and grandchildren.

Earthwatch is a new club, sponsored by Mrs. Sherman. This year was used basically to get organized and generate ideas for the club, but watch for them in the future. The Earth could depend on it.

Opinions About BAHS

What Do You Like About BAHS?

We get a break between classes ... time to catch our breath or talk to a friend.

Girls. Because they are better looking.

We get a chance to change classes every hour. It would be very boring sitting in one classroom for seven hours.

We don't have problems with gangs, drugs, and weapons. My cousin in Texas goes to a school where guards are on duty roaming the halls 24 hours a day.

Junior High Congress Runs The Show.

Junior High is not only a new experience academically, but socially as well. Now there are sports events to attend, dances, and other organized activities. The group in charge of organizing these events is the Junior High Congress. The President is Katie Beto, Vice President is Silka Miller, Secretary is Andrea Hackney, and Treasurer Beck Trent. Some of the representatives and active participants are Shannon Branlund, Beth Moffett, Colin Waldrop, Janine Amorin, and Chrissy Cuttil.

During Christmas Time, they planned service projects for the community. They organized a group to wrap food and clothing packages for Operation Santa Claus, to help those less fortunate in our community. They were also "elves" to go with Santa to bring presents to little children and make their Christmases a little brighter.

One of the major social events of the year was the Junior High Halloween Dance, also organized by the Junior High Congress. A lot of work from many people went into decorating the cafeteria, buying the refreshments, and obtaining chaperones but it paid off in the end. The dance, which was heavily attended, had a lottery for prizes such as plastic ants and Jolly Ranchers. There was also a costume contest with the categories of scariest, funniest, and most original costume. This was an evening of fun and fright just for the Junior High.

Junior High Congress is sponsored by Mrs. Talbot and Mr. Osbourne, and plans activities to make those transitional years between elementary school and high school more fun and rewarding.

Beginning Band

Inspiring Budding Musicians

From those first few painful notes at the beginning of the year, to their first concert at Christmas, members of the BAHS beginning band have taken on the challenge of playing a new instrument. Most of these students come into the classroom with little or no understanding of music, and finish the year having two or three concerts under their belts.

Beginning band is the first step for potential musicians. Here they learn the basics of music theory and how to handle and care for their instruments. The students spend a lot of their time learning rhythms by clapping them out. Next year, most students will move on to Intermediate Band, before continuing on to Concert Band.

"The beginning is just incredible — all of the students on different instruments, and the instructor trying to get them to all hold them and play them at the same time. It's really crazy, but somehow, it always works," said Gary Kelb, bandleader.

Ms Chilton Shares her stamp collection with the TAG group.

Maybe you thought TAG was more work! Wrong! It is different. TAG students have enjoyed many different activities this year. They had guest speakers, went on field studies, participated in programs, and constructed projects. They learned how to "Bridge the Gap" between theory and practical application by building bridges for National Engineering Week. Can you imagine gum-drop, Q-tip, tongue depressor, and marshmallow bridges? Can you imagine going to class with Heracles and Theseus? How about Medusa? Can you imagine a class where questions are answered with questions and the answer is not important? As the students learned, TAG was always fun and everyone could enjoy themselves.

Join The After School Club

Every Wednesday, after school, the students in the Junior High got together for the sake of a good time. Christmas shopping, ice skating, and bowling were some of the activities for the 1990-91 school year. Mr. Osborne and Ms Bishline were the advisers and like Pied Pipers led their group to an hour or two of escape from school or whatever bugs a student in Junior High. ASKlub is probably an organization any of us at BAHS could appreciate.

Jr High Choir Sings Out For BAHHS

Jr High Choir activities include daily lessons on how to produce good choral sound, identifying notes and rhythms, and on learning to sing the various parts. Time is spent listening to recordings of choirs and historical choral pieces on the Music Department's new stereo system. This helps to give the students the opportunity to hear and learn to appreciate good music.

These dedicated students work hard to train their voices in hopes of making Concert Choir. It takes a good set of lungs to be in choir, because after an hour of continuous singing, the students leave the class quite out of breath.

Do You Use Spray, Stick, Or Roll-On?

Ed Campbell: roll-on

Jennifer Sequoyah: spray

Ivan Aguigui: spray stick

top: J.T. Titilii and Damara Stephensen are two well-dressed Seniors far right: Usually the most capable and experienced players, Seniors are an important part of all sport teams.

Quotes

Ivan Aguigui- In the cold days of winter, never put a booger on your shirt because it'll freeze up and you might scratch yourself.

Jeromy Ainley- (TGIF) Thank God It's Friday.

Michael Anderson- The road to success is always under construction.

Larry Bentz- Each day our future grows; by people we meet, the paths we follow. We may not always make the right choices, but we're OK as long as we believe in our decisions. To Ryan and Chris, Best Buddies forever. To my harem, mom and dad, I love you forever.

Jean Pierre Blanchet- Put off today what you won't do tomorrow.

Sondra Bryant- There's no time like the present.

Nicoletta Buck- Imagine ... a brotherhood of man. -John Lennon

Edward Campbell- You can put a bullet in my head but you can't kill the word I've said. -ST "Quieres chingaso, conmigo, Tu lo Tienes por Vida y Por Muerta, Holmes."

Sean Cherry- If you can't be with the one you love, love the one you're with.

Sungwoo Chung- Don't worry, be happy, life is worth living so don't give up.

Keith Colon- Girl, I bet I can make you sweat.

Manuel Colon- ICE ICE BABY -Vanilla Ice

Elizabeth Combs- Do your job, man.

Cari Comte- Life is no easy ride, that's what we've been told, sometimes a rainbow is better than a pot of gold, you've got to stick it out, whether you're wrong or right, and you can't give in without a fight; you've got to cry tough out on the streets to make your dreams happen. -Poison

Robert-Dean- Where is Pizza Hut!!!

Jennifer DiGuilio- Huh! What? What did he say?

Tracy Ebron- If you truly believe in a dream, and put forth a true effort, it can and will become a reality.

Chris Elmore- He who laughs last, didn't really understand the joke.

Stacie Evans- Don't hate me because I'm beautiful. -In Living Color I'm the magnificent, with sensational style. -Special Ed.

Jamie Favati- As we begin to move on, remember all the great times of our past in Berlin ... the future is in our hands now, and as much as we may not want to leave — it is our turn to become the teachers of tomorrow. To my friends, I don't know what I would have done without you. Larry, I'll miss you dearly. Niki, thanks for being the best friend I could ask for. I love you both! Mom, Dad, and Ric, I love you with all my heart.

Niki Gallant- What love is there which is purchased with more or less of pain, a truly noble mind has no resentments. -Margaret Ogleshorpe

William Guidice- Hang loose, take it easy, life is too short to waste it.

Elizabeth Goss- If I know I'm going crazy, I must not be insane.

Daniel Hall- Make your life long and useful- like a roll of toilet paper. A secret is best kept by three people, if two are dead.

Kathleen Hildenbrand- Do not conform any longer to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Romans 12:2.

Mitsy Houser- Luke 6:31 Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Jason Hovey- Don't give up and follow your heart.

Kevin Inman- People who think they know everything are annoying to those of us who do.

Michael James- No lady is ugly, some are just better looking than others.

Sarah Jochem- Ich bin gestressed! If you feed someone else's dog, not only will you not have a dog, but you won't have any food either.

Gregory Johnson- My motto: What is death to one who has not lived?

Apple Kaewnongdaeng- Knowledge is the power! Reach for tomorrow!

Andrew Keese- Perfect practice makes perfect.

What Is This Used For?

We showed them "electronic fingers", a long coil with little metal graspers sticking out of it.

Mike Fowler- censored remark

Sarah Jochem- I don't know, but get it away!

Rick Bustillos- he demonstrated.

Derek Marston- High school seemed like such a blur, I didn't have must interest in sports or school elections and in class I dreamed all day of a Rock and Roll weekend. No humpty chicks!

Tonia McCrea- Until you prove your love to thee You will not lay your hands on me.

Danelle McMurray- Gonna break these chains around me, gonna learn to fly again, may be hard, may be hard, but I'll do it, when I'm back on my feet again. -

Michael Bolton. I love you Jim! Forever and ever Amen. Thanks to all of my friends. Love ya'll.

Jerry Mike- Just Do It.

Dorian Mosley- If you do not like me for who I am and what I am made of, then you, my friend, do not need to be in my face.

Kenneth Newkirk- Who is the greatest man alive? Do your job, man!

Wendy Nix- Man does not live by words alone, despite the fact that someone he has to eat them.

Russell Ottley- DO YOUR JOB. Thanks, Mr. Blum, this covers most obstacles in life.

Celina Phiher- I'm hungry.

Maha Qazi- Success is measured not by the position one has obtained in life, but by the obstacles he has overcome while trying to succeed.

Michael Rafferty- Function, not fashion.

Sascha Richardson- It ain't over till the fat lady sings!

Aaron Roach- Never do today what will be forgotten tomorrow.

Cristina Schmidt- The year's at spring,
And the day's at the morn; morning's at seven; the snail's on the thorn: God's in his heaven-All's right with the world!
Jennifer Sequoyah- Psycho's insane; they say I lost my brain, But I g-g-gave it away, If my mind's gone bad; don't go off feeling sad, cause I ch-ch-chose it that way. -Suicidal Tendencies

Renu Sharma- Victory has a hundred fathers, but defeat is an orphan.

Tony Simms- Read my lips, no new taxes.

Chris Smith- It happens, it happens, life goes on. Enjoy it one day at a time and get the most out of a day as you can, because when it happens it's gone and it's only a memory. Enjoy your high school years because once it's done, you're done. Enjoy and party on! God Bless All!

Bruce Sora- I'm nothing without your touch my love, I'm nothing without your kiss. 2 spend each day in your arms my flower, is a man's idea of bliss. 2 not hear your voice each day is 2 die 7 times by God's wrath. If I were anything other than human, I'd be the water in your bath. Until then my love, ciao." -Prince

Byron Sprague- Life, it seems, will fade away; drifting further every day.
Getting lost within myself. Nothing matters, no one else. I have lost the will to live. Simply nothing more to give.
There is nothing more for me. Need the one to set me free.

Damara Stephensen- "Oh the places you'll go" -Dr. Seuss

Kenneth Trzaska- Knowledge and wisdom are the two most important elements in one's life — knowledge from the past and wisdom for the FUTURE.

Lynn Waller- Spare! Good! Gr-r-r-r-eat!

Steven Wood- The waste of mind is the waste of life.

Four Seniors said an early good-bye to the world of the books, classes, and teachers that make up Berlin American High School in the Graduation Ceremony held after first semester. The graduates received their diplomas from Mr. Steinman, and were congratulated by the faculty and students present at the ceremony in the library.

They gave varying reasons for wanting to graduate early, most planned on leaving for the States. The rest of the Senior class misses them, and was reminded of their own impending graduation.

Freshman Class Of '94

None of us quite know what's in store. No one knows to what they'll amount, this is the year our grades really count. The stress and strain of class to class, wondering whether or not you'll pass.

The year drags on at a snail's pace, when all of us wish it really would race. Even though we have fun at games, cheering, all of us are glad when the end is nearing. On the last day we'll all yell and cheer but then we'll realize we have to do it, next year.
