Living In Japan

The culture of Japan is one of beauty and elegance. Living in Japan gives us the opportunity to experience this culture firsthand. We see new faces and learn new things each day. There are new sights, sounds, and fragrances to enjoy and love.

The people of Japan are polite and helpful. They are very willing to lend a hand and their friendliness is overwhelming.

Our time spent in Japan will be a moment we will look back on as an interesting and exciting part of our lives. Living here in Japan will influence us for the rest of our lives.

A little girl, in her kimono, celebrates Shichigosan Day by going to the shrine.

As the sun sets, shadows fall over Japan.

SCHOOL STARTED AS USUAL...

BUT WE KNEW SOMETHING WAS GOING ON OVER THERE.

Kinnick students rumble through crowded halls. Long, narrow halls that reminded you daily that you were in an old torpedo factory. Dark hallways had been a part of Kinnick High School for many years.

A couple of years ago something began to happen near old Kinnick High ... fences went up around playground and street area just north of the school. Third floor students could see over the fence and observe the activities within. We knew something was going on over there; the stories were true ... Kinnick High School was going to get a new home, someday.

School started like usual, crowded and dark. There was a large building that looked O.K. on the outside, but was obviously not done inside. The initial date for moving looked impossible.

The entire school was called together for a special assembly by the school administration. We were going to know!

UPPER RIGHT: Students quietly listen during the assembly as Principal Derr outlined the phases of the construction and the Columbus Day Holiday move.

Students noisily streamed into the Benny Decker Theatre during the mid-morning assembly to hear about the "new school".

For days, students quietly listened about unapproved visits to the new school by the bold and daring upperclasspersons who told of the wonders of "new" across the way. Now, Principal Derr was going to tell us about our official moving plans.

The move was to take place on the Columbus Day holiday, which provided a three-day weekend for hired movers. It all sounded great, the only problem was that keys were distributed to teachers three days before the holiday ... and you know what that meant. The move was NOW! GEDOUDDAMYWAY-HEREICOME!

Phase I

The area was identified with a large steel fence. Perhaps ten feet tall with a strand of barbed-wire across the top to make you think that THIS school was more secret and military-like than all others. It nearly worked.

Students and faculty didn't wander around the new campus area so workers could finish their contract on time. From the day identified in the contract, a continual progression of phases took place. Everybody knew what was going on.

Most of Old Kinnick's north side rooms could clearly see into the construction compound. Every phase; from the footings in the soil, to the doors on top of the elevator tower was observed. If you couldn't see the construction, almost everybody in the school could HEAR the big phases happening.

Construction began last year. When we came in this year, many doubted that in a couple of short months that we could move in. The fence was still up, construction trash was all over, and the insides of rooms had wires and pipes exposed. It just didn't look like it was going to be possible. We watched in near disbelief as the opening day came ... and we did move in!

Phase II

Under Construction!

Opening Ceremonies . . .

The Kinnick Marching Band celebrates the opening of the New Kinnick High School under the direction of Ms. Pat Jorgenson

Commander Jackson and Principal Derr make an initial cut in the opening ribbon cutting ceremonies.

The entire student body poses outside the new school for its first "official" portrait.

Homecoming day 1989; clear skies with warm winds blew across Yokosuka Base from Tokyo Bay. November, 4th was a busy day for Nile C. Kinnick High School.

At noon, the official opening ceremonies took place. The Kinnick Marching Band performed as representatives from DoDDS Administration Offices at Yokota, Student Council, Naval Operations, School Administration, and School Alumni Association witnessed the ribbon cutting. DoDDS was represented by Ms. Rubio, Student Council by Ms. Marigold Holmes, Naval Operations by Commander Jackson, School Administration by Principal Derr, and the School Alumni Association by Ms. Mara Traaen.

It only happened once; and it happened during your year!

Acquaintances*

With constant moves half-way across the world, it's hard to keep friendships alive. As soon as you make a friend, it seems they up and move. Making friends is important and you come to cherish every moment with them. New people are welcomed openly as there was a time when all of us stepped off the plane friendless too. When we look back on our years in Yokosuka, it's good times with our friends we'll want to remember and remember now.

At the culmination of the Department of Education's national award banquet, a beaming Principal Derr received an award and a hearty handshake from the Assistant Secretary of Education on behalf of President Bush.

The award recognized Nile C. Kinnick High School as one of the top high schools in the nation; no easy feat. Thousands of high schools were considered, of which, only a fraction were visited. Of that group, only the cream of the crop were invited to Washington D.C. for presentations.

Principal Derr held an assembly to relay the awards and congratulatory comments from Washington.

"These awards are only token signs of the kind of commitment and work that go on here at Kinnick High School. Everyone at Kinnick should feel extremely proud," he told the quiet crowd. "You should never feel bad that you went to Kinnick High School, we're one of the best."

EX'CEL-LENCE, n. the state of possessing good qualities in an unusual or eminent degree; the fact or condition of excelling in anything; superiority.

LITTLE BIG MAN

Nearly twenty years of graduating seniors, thousands of underclass students, and hundreds more teachers, administrators and parents knew it as Kinnick High School. Now, we know it as the Old Kinnick High School building. It's been good to us, but it's time for a change.

Every aspect of the new building has been great. From bathrooms to windows, the new school is hard to beat. Everyone worked hard to make the change, to get into the new facilities and almost everyone is enjoying that environment. Everyone that is, but "Little Big Man".

Probably the single most important ingredient in any operation is the grease for the hub of a wheel. It acts to smooth the operation of the outer parts of the wheel, and yet is found only at the center. Attention to "squeaky complaints" rarely happens; and if the outer rim of the wheel begins to fall apart, the grease is expected to keep things moving smoothly.

This vital, important, and undersung job has been performed wonderfully for the last eighteen years by "Little Big Man"; Koike-san Hajime.

Koike-san's decision to retire wasn't easy for him. He likes his work, the people, and most of all, the students who seem to have an unending list of questions. No different than teachers, administrators and parents who know that Koike-san got things done.

No one will replace Koike-san. Sure, they'll have to hire someone to do the "job", fill the vacancy, but not replace Koike-san. His friendship transcends the physical borders of both schools and nations. Koike-san Hajime has touched us all.

"It Will Be In My Memory Forever"

As a toddler, Koike-san was already a person of distinction. He struck a pose (above) that shows a depth of personality and character that we have come to know, trust and care for.

The Student Council of 1990 decided to act on their beliefs, and held a reception-dinner for Koike-san on March 8th, 1990; just under three weeks from his last working day at Kinnick High School. Planned and conducted by the students, it was an emotional evening for those in attendance.

After a wonderful spaghetti dinner and several pieces by the Kinnick Jazz Ensemble, led by Ms. Pat Jorgenson, presentations by each class were given. Then "Little Big Man" spoke.

"I'm really amazed by how wonderful this evening has been. I was thinking that maybe this would just be a few students talking about school while they were eating potato chips. I will not forget a single moment of this evening. It will be in my memory forever."

No Turning Back

*There's a time in everyone's life when one must face reality,
Know when to stop and face up to a big responsibility.
It's no longer chores to which one is obligated,
It deals more with life, in general,
The time for which I have waited.
But now that it's here waiting just around the corner,
I'm scared to go on my own and cross the one way border.
Once I cross, I know there'll be no turning back.
I have to stand on my own and work for the things I lack.
I'm not ready to grow up for it really is scary,
Facing the real world and taking on the responsibility.
It's the end of being a child but the beginning of adulthood.
I wish I knew what's going to happen and I wish I understood.
Confusion is here, it comes along with the package.
I'm hoping it'll be in order with repairable damage.
For I'm really not ready for what's set out for me, so God please help me out and show me how it should be . . .*

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind . . . To make all your friends feel like there is something in them . . . To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own and to think only of the best, to work only for the best and to expect only the best . . .

The Senior Class of 1990 As viewed by the general public, it was not a class as close as the ones in the past. With racial discrimination and social cliques, the seniors were faced with many difficult problems to overcome. But when worse came to worse, the seniors were able to pull it together. Even with their personal problems, they found that they could work together to produce excellent results. Working as a class, the seniors pulled it all together to win the 1989 Homecoming Spirit Week.

Freshmen Display An Amazing Amount Of Poise

During one of Kinnick's extracurricular activities, some friends got together and took a post-game moment to reflect, and be together. This moment captures the kind of fun and friendship that the Freshmen of Kinnick have.

Not to be put down for not trying, and ready to unfold the next year of Kinnick history as a better one than the last; the Kinnick Freshmen are ready.

Captivated four year olds attend as Marc Ludlow unfolds a tale.

Share a story is one of the activities for the third period students from Ms. Dixie Johnson's Reading Class. The students go to the Yokosuka Pre-school just north of the main school building every Friday to share a story.

The Reading students enjoy this as much as do the three and four-year olds they read to; once they get over their stage fright. The students must not only read the story, but "act" it out through the animated use of their voices. They don't need to be told how hard it is to hold the attention of four-year olds.

Students select a book at least a week before the reading to the pre-schoolers so they'll have time to practice.

Ryan Hanna, a sophomore, says, "I did it last year and I was really scared. But, now it's fun and the kids are always happy to see me.

Jose Philips, new to the program, says, "It's hard to get four-year olds to listen, so I really have to do a good job."

Rosa Hartzheim said that, "... it's fun, the kids are quite friendly, and they like to hear me read. When Sununta and I walk in, the kids all clap. They're really excited to see us."

Other students in the program that have had similar results are Marc Ludlow, Dolores Capuli, Nakoko Sensabaugh, Gemma Baylon and Ampy Wilson.

The continued good will generated from this program should insure it will be around Kinnick for a long time.

One-to-one interactions take place between Dolores Capuli and a "special" girl.

VOICES BEHIND THE ECHOES

It's three o'clock on a Wednesday afternoon ... Where are you? A. At home watching FEN B. At sports practice C. Sitting in the Cafe or D. Cruising the stimulating Yokosuka Base ... ? I can tell you where the voices of the ECHOES are ... situated in front of a word processor tediously typing in article after article for the upcoming issue of the school's newspaper. Despite spent in Mrs. Clark's classroom producing the school's newspaper. Despite stereotyped beliefs, this means more than merely composing an article or two. The newspaper is produced with the help of a dedicated staff and the guidance of a patient advisor. The ECHOES staff had their work cut out for them. Here are a few samples of the top stories of the year:

- VANDALISM WITHIN OUR SCHOOL
- KOIKE-SAN'S DEPARTURE AFTER 17 YEARS
- THE MOVING INTO THE NEW SCHOOL
- THE OPENING OF THE SCHOOL CAFETERIA
- Kinnick sports received the most attention. Feature sports articles were ...

The most popular sections of the paper were the Senior Scramble and the personal ads. Layouts must be the most difficult and time consuming duty of the staff. Towards the end of the year some of the burdens were lifted off their shoulders with the help of the Ventura Publishing System for the computer. This system allows them to view possible layouts on the monitor without the hassle of cutting, pasting, or "white-outting" sections. Now, the staff is opened to more design possibilities and a greater variety of layouts than ever before.

As the year comes to a close, we would like to take this opportunity to thank the 1989-1990 ECHOES staff for a very successful year. We believe the paper was put together in such a way that all students could read and enjoy. "Of the people, by the people, for the people."

-Julie Grasser and Jessica Palko
(just two of the voices behind the ECHOES)

The Move Was More . . .

...than we ever imagined it could have been. Pre-opening visits raised a billion doubts and questions that seemed to make sense in the old school but were somehow lost in this new environment.

“Why with all this space are the lockers smaller?”

“Why are there so many lockers, and not enough rooms to house that many students?”

“How come you can open the windows in the boys and girls bathrooms and look at each other?”

“Why does the rear stairway that’s six feet wide, come to a door that’s only two feet wide?”

“Why aren’t there any paper towel dispensers in any of the bathrooms?”

“How come they didn’t close in the area between the main stairway and the main classroom building? On cold or rainy days, every class tracks in half the planet’s dirt.”

As the move was accomplished, liberties were allowed to some students in the Old Kinnick High. Graffiti appeared that amused few and shocked others. Some real negative things were painted on classroom walls and hallways . . . things that didn’t reflect any real thinking. Sure, we left the old building; it just wasn’t a real good reason to trash it.

In contrast, the new school provided what the old school didn’t have . . . great windows, heat, a light and fresh appearance in classes and hallways, and interchangeable lockers!

For several days, nearly every room looked half lived in. Boxes, desks, chairs, maps, and plants shoved into one corner of a room to make some room for organization. The scene probably seemed from a great height as troops of ants carrying bits to and fro in a noisy pattern. Students moved about in small “work details” that had great missions of importance when asked, but few ever were. This was the . . .

... Time Of Chaos.

In Style . . . '90s

Tunes

STYLES of the new generation of Yo-Hi Devils varied a great deal but the Ins and Outs weren't hard to miss. Perfumes that lingered in the halls were: Obsession (men & women), Eternity, Drakkar, Musk, Chanel, Ralph Lauren, Poison, Colors by Benetton, Krystle, Givenchy, Pierre Cardin, and Electric Youth. Hairdos went from pumped up bangs, flat tops, shaved sides, long, permed, colored, moussed, twisted, and braided. In order to achieve such styles, the products used were made by companies like Loreal Studio Line, Flex, Suave, Clean & Clear, St. Ives, Dep, Pazazz, Final Net, Clairol, and Vidal Sassoon. Clothing also differed according to taste. Vests, cropped jackets, long and mini skirts, baggy pants, loose shirts, turtlenecks, colorful printed tops and bottoms, and stylish tee's were also popular. Accessories were the big thing for most of our girls. Big, long, hooped, heart-shaped, gold, black, red, blue, pink, purple, white, and wild, earth tone colored earrings, bracelets, necklaces, hairclips, pins, ties, and rings filled their stylish clothing.

Milli Vanilli, Cover Girls, Paula Abdul, Bobby Brown, Tom Petty, B52s, Sybil, MC Hammer, Rob Base, Expose, Tone Loc, Richard Marx, Janet Jackson, Aerosmith, Soul II Soul, Bangles, and so on ...

The back to school "SPLASH BASH" turned out to be a fun-filled night at Green Beach Pool. It was organized by the Student Council and supported by the MWR. The activities held were: water volleyball, swimming, eating popcorn, and dancing to the music played by senior, Castor Guzman.

Homecoming Football 1989

Homecoming rolled around and spirits were high among the Yo-Hi student body. The Junior Varsity won their game against Zama and next the Varsity team was to play. This game against Misawa started with our enthusiastic cheerleaders pepping up the crowd.

Mike Derr swiftly evades a tackle by the Misawa defense.

Fourth quarter- the Devils are down by ten points then ...

In the fourth quarter we were losing, but our Devils team did not give up. They went on to beat the Zama Trojans 22 to 18. After the varsity game the following day everyone went home to prepare for the Homecoming Dance and celebrate our football victories of the week.

Those who were not in the action at the time, anxiously gazed intently on the field.

... within minutes Kinnick gets their act together and beats Misawa.

Christmas

On December 2nd 1989, the Senior Class of 1990 sponsored a great Snowball Dance held at the O'Club Admiralty Room which lasted from 7:30-12:00. Christmas was sure to be in our hearts after the dance and with New Years ahead, it was a good way to end the era of the crazy eighties and begin a new generation of the ultimate classes.

The music was provided by Sounds Spectrum which kept all the Yo-hi Devils on the dance floor. With the music blasting and friends to dance with, everyone had a good time.

The Snowball court also had a great part in making this dance successful. Jose Candelario, Keith Kramer, and Robert Fuentes were the Seniors' representative with Jose as King, Tom Mcmillan as Junior Prince, Sean Budd as the Sophomore Prince and Mide Reyes as the Freshman Prince.

Sweethearts '90

"Will You be Mine?"

The KNIGHTS of Yo-Hi

Our annual Sweetheart Dance was really memorable. Thanks to the class of 1993 we had a good time. When they said "Shower Me With Your Love", we didn't know you really meant it.

JOHN SMITH, Where were you born? "Long Island, New York." How old are you? "15 ... I'm 15!!! You wanna see my I.D.?" Who's your female idol? "Well, ... um ... Miss December cuz I was born on that month." Who's your male role model? "Scott Holl." What's the most important thing you've learned at Yo-Hi? "To call Mr. McCullough 'sir'." What do you least like about our school? "The lockers are too small!" What field are you planning on entering after you graduate from high school? "Presidency." What do you think is important in a relationship? "Well, she has to have a good personality, and she has to say the same thing about me. Just kidding." What statement would you like to be remembered for? "!@#% happens!" Is there anything else you'd like to put in Kinnick's history book? "Yeah, it's not what you can do for your school, but what your school can do for you."

SHELLANIE TRINIDAD, Where were you born? "On the lovely island of Honolulu, Hawaii." How old are you? "14 and still counting." Who are your idols/role models? "Liz Claiborne because I'd like to have my own line of clothes and accessories, and Eddie Murphy because we both are dead serious when reaching our goals, but always cracking jokes when hopes are high." What have you learned about Kinnick? "Well, it's fun, spirited and filled with great activities to learn and explore." What do you least like about Kinnick? "The antique buses and the 'mile day'." What career or field would you like to go into? "Business world of fashion designing." What do you think is important in a relationship? "The ability to know and understand each other." How about a statement you'd like to be remembered for? "I'm easy going, but straight forward. I like to prepare myself for the future and learn from the past." What would you like to put in Kinnick's history book? "The class with the most spirit is the class of '93 ... and after we graduate we'll still be to Kinnick, an unforgettable memory."

JEFF BIRCHMIER, Where were you born? "Moscow, Idaho." How old are you? "17." Who are your role models? "Paula Abdul and Al Noga." What's the most important thing you've learned at Kinnick? "Japanese, even though I can't speak it fluently." What do you least like about our school? "It's already falling apart." What's important in a relationship? "Trust." What field or career do you think you'll go into? "I'm not sure yet, but I'll probably go into some kind of business." Is there anything you'd like to put in Kinnick's history book? "I'd like to give special thanks to Koike San for all the hard work he put into the school."

TROY WILLIAMS, where were you born? "An X marks the spot." How old are you? "17." Who are your idols and role models? "Paula Abdul, Kathy Roletter, Joe Montana, and Mr. Schmidt." What's the most important thing you've learned in Kinnick? "Don't Worry about what others think, do what you want and satisfy yourself." What do you least like about our school? "Mr. Schmidt's new room." What do you think is important in a relationship? "Truth, love, respect, openness, Troy Williams and Cheryl Tan." What field are you going to enter? "Law or Art." A statement you'd like to be remembered for: "What the @#%?!?" Is there anything else you'd like to put in our school's history book? "Yeah, a few more pictures of me, 3 inches of Jose Candelario's forehead, Rebecca and Stacy's whiteness, and a few 'skid' marks. Mike Derr ... I love you! ..."

CHRISTIAN PATRICK POLANCO, WHERE WERE YOU BORN? "Manila, Phils." Who are your idols? "Paula Abdul and Michael Jordan." What's the most important thing you've learned in Kinnick? "To survive in Ms. Ivie and Mr. Schmidt's class." What do you least like about our school? "It's small and everyone knows everyone." What's important in a relationship? "Trust and love." What field or career would you like to enter? "Medicine or business." A quote or statement you'd like to be remembered for. "Yokosuka Bay Knights party the best! Let's keep in touch." Anything else? "Yeah, c/o 90 rulz!!!"

Insights ... The Way I See It ...

MICHAEL DERR, where were you born? "Okinawa, Japan." How old are you? "17." Who are your idols? "Paula Abdul and John Elway." What's the most important thing you've learned in Kinnick? "To work hard and never give up because it pays off at the end." What qualities do you look for in a relationship? "Patience and understanding each other." What field are you going to enter after leaving Kinnick? "Medicine." Quotes and Statements to be remembered for: "Yo dude, what's that noise? It's Skid Row and Linda on 'L' street. I'll miss Kinnick. and All you underclassmen, if Doon picks on you, tell me and I'll get 'Bubba' when I come back for vacation. Class of '90 RULZ."

MICHELLE DOCUSIN, where were you born? "Manila, Phils." How old are you? "15." Who are your role models? "M.D.M. and Davy Cagle." What's the most important thing you've learned from Kinnick? "To not trust just anybody." What do you think is important in a relationship? "Trust, honesty, and understanding." What field are you planning on entering? "Psychology." Quotes and statements to be remembered. "Party till you drop. Thanks to all my frenz. I love y'all."

TANA VOLLENDORF, where were you born? "Tucson, Arizona." How old are you? "18." Who are your role models? "Ms. McDowell, my 10th grade English teacher, she was like my 2nd mom and Harrison Ford, he gets out of everything and he's good lookin'." What's the most important thing you've learned in Kinnick? "The importance of being myself." What do you least like about our school? "The lack of unity." What's the most important thing in a relationship? "FRIENDSHIP! love and honesty." What career are you going to pursue? "Broadcast journalism, or advertising." Statement or quote you want to be remembered for. "Live life as YOU. Don't pretend to be what you aren't. There comes a time when all good things come to an end and thankfully, the bad things do, too. Bye Kinnick."

MARZ MIRADOR, where were you born? "I'm not sure." How old are you? "I'm 18 and I hate it." Who are your role models? "Don't really have one because I figured everyone else has their flaws and taking after anyone else would really lead our generation to deteriorate." What's the most important thing you've learned in Kinnick? "Well, everyone's different so I've had to learn to like 'em." What do you think is important in a relationship? "I think honesty, friendship and a mutual understanding is important." What career are you going to pursue? "Military ... I don't really know." Statements and quotes to be remembered for: "Life's an adventure ... experience broadens the mind ... I don't look for trouble, it tends to find me wherever I go. I can't help it."

LUIA DIJAMCO, where were you born? "Pampangga, Philippines." How old are you? "18." Who are your idols? "Janet Jackson and Tom Cruise. What's the most important thing you've learned at Kinnick? "To think independently." What do you think is important in a relationship? "Sharing, understanding, caring, and trust." What field or career are you going to pursue? "Dentistry or Photography, I'm not sure yet." Is there anything you'd like to put in Kinnick's history book? "Yeah, I'M History."

Quarterback Mike Derr hands off to tailback Tom McMillan with fullback "The Doctor" Donn Rodriguez blocking the way.

The 89-90 varsity football team is known as the most improved team in the league with a 9-3 record. Compared to last year's team (3 wins-5 losses), the new Devils have a very strong starting lineup. The Devils utilize a very strong running attack that moves the ball up and down the field quite effectively. Considerably smaller than their opponents, the Devils have been unable to mount a significant passing attack against their adversaries. Senior quarterback Mike Derr went again and again to his running backs, junior tailback Tom McMillan and Donn Rodriguez for moving the ball. Effective line organization opened large highways for the ball carriers to launch through, providing Kinnick with some of their best yardage gains and eventual victories.

Getting the team together for their first winning season in several was no easy feat. Head Coach Jim Ferinden had to weed out the weak and undesirable players, contend with injuries and still produce a cohesive team. Offensive Coach/Principal, Bruce Derr and JV Head Coach Greg Mead provided much needed support and strategy for this winning way.

In every respect, this year's team has coalesced into a tight unit that will carry over into the coming years as a truly "together" team.

Starting out new, this year's varsity cheerleaders are better than ever. This year with new cheers, new uniforms, and new attitudes, they've provided much of the needed support and spirit at all of the home and away football games.

This football season, the YO-HI cheerleaders had four returnees from last year, with three moving up from J.V. and one newcomer, they've combined their knowledge and skill to form an impressive squad, making the '89-'90 cheerleaders the best Kinnick has ever seen. It's been a great season so far, so we'll be seeing them again during basketball season. GO YO-HI!

Hard work and dedication are only words that cannot describe fully how much the J.V. cheerleaders have chanted and cheered their way in support of the J.V. football team this season. The Kinnick spirit soared high with their loud voices and remained distant upon the memories of victory and defeat. Our Junior Varsity cheer squad was always there to remind us of that. This year's Kinnick tennis team had a great season. Their fearless leader was Craig Hurt, whose coaching led them to many victories. Their most recognizable win was when the boy's team beat Yokota High School, their long time rival. The best match of the year was when Chris Foltz won against ASIJ's number two player. The varsity team went to the Far East Tournament in the Philippines November 28-30. They did extremely well and Jennifer Holcombe, named the most outstanding player, grabbed the number three spot in the girl's division. The coup that happened while they were there added excitement. "The team had a very successful year and Mr. Hurt added alot of fun to all of our away matches. I am anxious to see how well our team will do next year" commented the team's manager, Jessica Palko.

This season was one of victories for the cross country team members. All of the members ran hard and strong to beat opposing teams. The team traveled all over the Kanto Plains to compete.

One of the members of the Yo-Hi cross country team, Lynn Alexander, was the number one runner in all of the Kanto Plains. Lynn just missed beating the course record at Tama Hills by 10 seconds. She has proved to be a valuable part of the Yo-Hi cross country team.

Mr. Alan Fisk-Williams did a wonderful job training and working with the team. He helped make the Yo-Hi team hard to beat.

The Yo-Hi Varsity Volleyball had a great season winning more games than last year. With the great coaching of Coach Boore and many suicides, the Varsity team could go nowhere but up. Each member was assigned an individual position on the team; practices were held seven days a week, and players even lifted weights to stay in shape, after practice. With hard working girls like that-what else would be expected besides a victory over our rivals, the Yokota Panthers. Of course, the season would not have been completed without injuries, the game against the faculty and the tournament.

Some thought it would turn like previous years, another 0-15 season. However, this year the Varsity Basketball team took that assumption head on. They won twice against CAJ, and once against St. Mary's. Aside from a couple of close victories, due to the common cold and injuries the boy's Varsity Basketball team gave every school they played a real workout. Offenses, defenses, and court presses were used and used against the other schools giving the team an extra advantage and making the opponent's team worry more about what YO-HI's plays were than concentrating on their own.

MANAGERS: HEIDI HESS, MEGAN HESS

This year the J.V. Basketball team continued the winning tradition of last year with a 12-3 record, doing better than last years team. Coach Mead's philosophy of the "3-pointer" excited the on-lookers as well as the score did. Along with that came what appeared to be just running around, which in turn was a very successful play since it a very valuable part in obtaining many victories, during the regular season they defeated every team with the exception of the Yokota Panthers. A valiant effort was given each time, just coming short of victory. All was not lost however, this year they took a gratifying 2nd in the basketball tournament, coming back from a 26 point deficit against St. Mary's Titans. This string of victories doesn't end here, with many of the players returning next year this winning tradition should keep the victories rolling in with more all tournament players such as Shawn Budd and Mark Tomazewski.

Basketball Cheerleaders

The loud roar of the crowds in the bleachers of the basketball courts were accompanied by the bursts of chants and cheers. From the cheerleaders to the basketball players to the crowds, spirit shone through one-hundred percent. But even the most dedicated of groups have their share of problems, and the varsity and junior varsity cheer squads were no exception. Plagued with injuries, illness and change of members both squads experiences little if not alot of big frustrations. However, with the help of their sponsors, Ms. Bussey and Ms. Miller, both squads managed to pull together and stick the season through.

Coach Zediker gives Mike Derr a few pointers in between rounds, while Maryann cools him down.

This year's Kinnick Wrestling Team was composed of strong, quick, and experienced team members. At this year's Kanto Plain Tournament, 10 out of 12 members won their weight classes. Two of our Kinnick Devils placed first and a sizable amount of guys placed third and fourth. Under the guidance of Coach Zediker, Asst. Coach Rogers, and Asst. Coach Guizar, the talented team had a strong, successful, and satisfying year.

It'll all be over soon.

Leonard Lacbain uses a single leg take down.

Mike Derr and Chris Gunderson jog around to get their blood flowing.

It's 3 P.M. and the gym gradually fills up with Red Devil wrestlers. Captain Mike Derr starts off practice by leading the team into stretches. After stretching, the team goes on to their daily run. Then the wrestlers pair up so they can practice their moves. Finally, they wrestle each other as hard as they possibly can as if it was a real match. This grueling routine goes on for four months as they continually have meets against other schools' teams . . . Managers also play an important role in our team. They're the ones to clean, wipe, wrap, and tape up everything along with getting water and setting up the mats. This year's group of managers really helped out. They were Oneida Kimbrow, Mary Ann Yeakley, and Aki Scott.

In addition, they added the first Girls Invitational Tournament Championships for a perfect ending. The tournament was a four team, one day, round robin between hosting Kinnick, Zama, Seisen, and the Canadian Academy from Kobe.

"It was great to see so many things that we worked on during the season come together in the final game. The result was a total team effort. Last year we had 14 girls, this year 22 and I hope it will increase again next year. Congratulations!"

What goes with peanuts, popcorn, and cracker-jacks? BASEBALL!!! The Kinnick Baseball team began tryouts the first week in March. Ken Goff lead this team of boys to a very demanding, yet fun, season. Determination and perseverance dominated this year's team. We will be losing many good players this year because their high school career has come to an end. Everyone is very anxious to see next year's team try an follow in the footsteps of the great group of guys we had this year playing for Kinnick.

Well, maybe there was some value to that, but we can rest assured that they definitely did learn how to improve the school.

Every year students elect other students to represent the student body, and well, basically those elected students run and control the functions and activities of the student body. Of course, these activities include assemblies, student sponsored parties, Homecoming, and Yo-Hi Day. Without the elected, the school would be rather blan. And without Ms. Ivie it'd be worse than blan. She is the fire beneath the students to get them to get the job done.

J.J. Curtis can't decide which instrument is his.

The wonderful music of the Nile C. Kinnick Band has entertained us at assemblies and games throughout the year. Their music has kept us in tune with the songs we've sung. The roaring trumpets, pounding drums, and the background melody of the flutes has added to the excitement of the games and assemblies.

They've played all kinds of music from classics to songs we all enjoy today. Under the direction of Pat Jorgenson, the band has kept our feet tapping and our hips swaying. The band has played during the Homecoming halftime show, Winter Concert, and numerous pep rallies. The band performances have been a great part of our fun.

The band plays at the opening of our new school building.

Sing pretty girl! Or can you?

They began as only eight-seven girls, ONE boy. With the minute ensemble, the Show Choir held their heads high and made the first semester one of their best. This year's singing legacy did their best to fill the big shoes, or should I say big notes, of last year.

In the beginning, there was eight. Then came seven more to make a whopping fifteen. Marc got lonely so he lobbied for support from his fellow devils. And they responded joyously! They say things grow in the spring, and they sure do! The Show Choir bloomed with the flowers singing hits off of Broadway, including "Memory" from the smasher Cats. Last year's shoes were filled.!

Boys to girls: Marc Manuel, Ron Sapp, Mike Morton, Joel Ballestrazze, Paul Lanham, Carrie Suzuki, Marti Clark, Yuca Garnto, Jaymii Liehr, Tina Finely, Tana Vollendorf, Kathy Roletter, Marigold Holmes, Christine Tolson, Donna Pugay

Finally working seriously!

Wishing you a "merry little Christmas!"

Debate Is

Cooperation

Practices Daily

Tough But Humorous At Times

Mary Belanus Constantly Correcting Mr. Starrine's Use Of Grammar

There once was a team from ol' Kinnick
Who won all their rounds with a gimmick
They glared and they stared
Til the other teams flared.
Then went home on the busy and mimicked.

The first was a lass named BRANDI
We all thought she was really nice and dandy
Her hair she did love
She made the rest of us look like scrub
And her beauty (in debate) she was handy.

The next was a gal called MARY
A saint's mind Mary did carry
She use to be so shy
But that problem did die
And now she's become a pain to Gary.

After, came a chica name JAYNE
Whom we truly considered "The Pain"
She's short and she's cute
And definitely not mute
But, still she looks quite insane.

Next came our homegirl name KAREN
With nice clothes she's always wearin'
Complaints she did state
And then join debate
And now she goes off when she's flarin'.

Oh and let's not forget ARLYNE
Lazy, like the rest of the team
She'd always procrastinate
With her plans in debate
And the finals to her was a dream.

Last, but not least there's ROANNE
Who's so new that she doesn't have a plan
It's not a problem anyway
Cause she's at practice every day
And soon she'll be head of the clan.

Hey, wait, the coach's name is GARY
Now this one, his look is scary
Though he can be quite cruel
He's short and he's cool
In fact in a short while, he'll marry.

But our team ain't complete
For without them we'd be beat
Thanks to ALLEN and JANET
The best in the planet
We couldn't of given the other teams such heat.

Now you see, that's our team's story
Combined we're short, loud, and corny
A trophy we desire
A hit man we'll hire
Just for the sake of the glory

Resolved That . . .

The Nile C. Kinnick High School Debate team should implement a comprehensive teamwide policy to acquire the First Place Trophy next year.

On behalf of the Debate Team, I would like to thank Mr. Starrine for all the patience he has given us this year. No, we didn't bring back a trophy - we don't need one for all the experience and fun will always be a trophy in itself.

This year the Drama Club went through many changes. A comedy called "Too Many Doctors" was performed at St. Maur International School in contrast to the dramatic performances in the past. They also had a new drama coach, Mrs. Swanson. Along with the festival at St. Maur's, there was the Far East Speech and Drama Competition in March. Nine students were selected to go and compete in the one-act and other individual categories. A superb helper this year was Mr. Schmidt who contributed hours and hours for our success. Thank you for everything, Mr. Schmidt!

It's the only International organization that honors students in dance, speech, visual arts, writing, music and drama. Members earn stars and honor bars by points earned in the amount of activity they do. New members are inducted every year. The Thespians are the high honored performing artists.

The Chevrolet Garden
The wind is blowing Marigold's hair and Fred leans out to see New Orleans.

Kinnick had an extra theatre group this year. It was directed, organized, and thought of by Mr. Schmidt. Mike Morton, Joel Ballestrazze, Tana Vollendorf, Jessica Palko, Anastasia van Allen, Karen Abrenica and Katisha Patterson performed Masks first semester. The script consisted of anonymous senior writings about some of their pressures, the fear of not letting their real selves out and expressing what they'd like to tell people but never had the strength. Second semester Black and White Theatre performed The Chevrolet Garden by Winston Weathers. This was a multiple reading as Masks was yet professionally written. It was a comedy, yet with a hidden meaning. "If you don't have the eyes of a poet, you aren't ever going to see anything at all" was a line that Mark Manuel said in the performance which sums up the basic theme. The cast consisted of Mark Manuel, Anastasia van Allen, Marigold Holmes and Fred Klien. The Sandbox was written by Sam Shepard and performed by Brandi Worthington, Marigold Holmes, Sean Hall, Keith Kramer and Emiko Knowlton. Grandma (Brandi) pretends to be dead to please her daughter, but the death comes and doesn't want to go.

Some of the curious members of the staff laugh as they go through the "Personals" file on the computer.

Sitting in fifth period, a person comes to the door and asks how many newspapers your class needs. Anxiously you await for this month's issue of THE ECHOES to be passed out. What's on the front page? Did your personal ad get printed correctly? You only get to see the final copy of the paper. What you don't see is all the weeks of work that goes into each issue. Many nights are spent after school wordprocessing, "white-outing" lines, and pasting layouts together. All year, Mrs. Clark has faithfully offered her services to the Kinnick newspaper, THE ECHOES.

"Since joining the newspaper, Mrs. Clark has been there every step of the way (from working on the computer to printing up articles), She has been there even on weekends to put time into the newspaper. If it was not for her, we on the staff, would all be lost and the paper would not exist."

This year, although a little smaller than last year, the Japanese Club kept up the tradition of holding bake sales, potlucks, and gram sales. With the money raised from these activities they've been supporting and donating money to the orphanage in Hakone. This orphanage had been receiving donations from the Japanese Club for a number of years and will most likely continue this tradition for years to come.

Mr. McClain going over a layout with Tana.

Chris picking away at another sheet of copy.

Open up and say AHH!

Working to bring you a better book.

Cracking jokes to lessen the stress factor.

Say cheese and smile pretty.

I can relax! My job is done.

It'll fit! It just has to!

The yearbook staff has worked all hours to bring every student a 1990 yearbook. Whether it's working on weekends or over holidays, the yearbook staff and other dedicated students willingly spent a lot of their personal time "coalescing" to produce a yearbook that would be worth more than anything in the years to come.

"Coalesce" is a word that brought our small, yet confident staff to strive to come up with a hip yearbook . . .

Seniors

* To all my friends, thanks for being sweet and kind to me and thanks for being my friend from the beginning to the end, and to the teachers who helped me succeed in my senior year. Thank you all very much; and all of you, I'll remember for the rest of my life - LUISA DIJAMCO

* Special Thanks to Mom and Dad for their love and support over the years. I love you. To Kristine, Kim, Mert, Jenny, Jason, John, Mike, Keith, Patrick, José, Kevin, Jeff, Troy and Cheryl - Thanks for all the Crazy Times! Let's Party! To Donn & Henry, I leave my Schmidt notes!! To Tina Morrison, let's show them that touchdown one more time!! Take Care! To René and Leonard, good luck to you two! Love and Laughs, BRENDA

* I'd like to thank the following people who've helped make my senior year memorable: to all my friends, you're the best - K.I.T.; to Ms. J and Mr. Schmidt, thanks for all the help and support; and last of all to Mom, Dad, and Yoko - you're the best family anyone could ever have. I MADE IT! EMIKO KNOWLTON

* -To all of my friends, thanks for all the memories through my years in high school. All of you have been great to me. I'll never forget all of you and those memorable times. You all are very special to me, so take care always. -To Ms. Jorgenson, thanks for everything! Flute always rules!! - To Mom and Dad, thanks for all the support you both have given me through my years in high school. I love you both!!! - To my brother, Vernon, I'm glad you're my brother! Love always, Luzville, LUZVILLE GASCON

* Senior Will. I Jeff Birchmier would like to thank the following people for their support and help: My Mom and Dad, my friends, my teachers, and most of all Ann. Without your help, I wouldn't have made it through my high school years. I would now like to leave the following things ... To Patrick Polanco, a car to always drive in. To Kenji Shealy, the ability to stay awake when driving a car. To John Quiogue, I leave my height. To Mario Serrano, the ability to graduate from high school. To Tom McMillan I leave all the weird sounds which we heard in the weight room. To Mike Derr, I leave my Lothar Shirt. To Joe Harrol I leave my hair to cover the two shaved sides of your head. JEFF BIRCHMIER

* I Partick Polanco, leave the memories and future partys to the knights. We Rule! To all the linemen, I leave my techniques in blocking. You guz will beat Yokota! To Donn, I leave my banana show ... have fun dude. To Mike D., hey, what's that noise uhoouo? To that special girl, hey, I will always remember you. I leave Tom M. with my benching power 300. To Troy W. I leave a house to sleep in, hey, can I sleep over tonight? Okay, to all the lower classmen, if Donn bothers you, tell me and I'll come over and get him. To José, I leave my long hair, you need it in some places on your body. To Kevin, I leave all the fighting, hey I don't want to fight, so! POW! To my brother, I leave my brain power and wit so you can survive highschool. To all the Juniors, I leave Mr. Schmidt and Ms. Ivie. To John Q. I leave all the food in the frig so you can grow big and strong and tall. To my parents I leave all my unfinished business so you can finish it. To Kenji, I leave some skills on picking up descent looking chicks. To Jeff, I leave a strong shoulder when you need it. To Richard R., I leave Gloria In Negishi. To Leonard L. I leave all my fish in my refrigerator. To Joel B. I leave some pants to wear in the winter. To all seniors and friends, I leave the memories we had together. To Keith K., I leave my buff body and big muscles. PATRICK POLANCO

* I remember filling in my first chapter of memories in Kinnick - I was a Freshmen then. Three years have passed, and now I'm writing my last words before I end my story of high school life. I've come through such a long way, and I never knew time could be so endless and yet so limited. As a whole, I honestly feel like these past four years have been an on-going struggle of trying to be somebody. I've learned so much about growing up ... and if I do say - there seemed to be more pain than happiness inbetween the lines. I'd like more than anything to just leave everything behind ... but I know the memories that were made will always be a part of me. KAREN ABRENICA

* I Joel Ballestrazze would like to thank the following people for their support and help ... My Dad, the Vollendorfs', Coach Goff, Mr. Schmidt, and most of all, Tana. Without your support I would never have made it. I'd like to leave the following things: To Keith Kramer, my Ms. Oka shoes. To Tom McMillan, my lip for future workouts. To Patrick Polanco, my book on 101 ways to get out of the house. To Dr. Donn, by batting ability. To John Q., my twinkie collection. To Tana, all my love and happiness. I hope you have the best in the future! I love you! JOEL BALLESTRATZZE

* To all my friends, thank you for all these memorable moments we've shared together. To my Dad, Mom and Mikie, thank you for all the love and support you have given me through all my years of schooling. We finally made it. Class of 90! Love-n-care. TINA NADINE CRAWFORD

* All that I've done and all that I'll be is because of and dedicated to you: God, my loving parents who do everything for me, my bubba, Medina, Mrs. Dean, all my friends, and my most bestest friend in the whole wide world, Tami. I love you all. Thanks for being you. ANAS-TASIA Van ALLEN

* I won't forget ... the old school ... dusty floors and dimly lit hallways that echoed. ... tiny barred windows to see the world thru ... the new school ... smells of cardboard and new carpet ... chalkboards set up too high for me to reach ... big wide windows to stare out of. But most of all ... the people. AURORA MOYA

* I thank all my friends and teachers who have made my senior year memorable. I wish the senior class to have a great future! A special thanks to my family. I would of never made it without them. NAOMI SPILER

* I, Kenji Shealey of sound mind and body, bequeath the following. For my best friend, Mike Derr; thank you so very much for all your help throughout the years. I wish I could pay you back, but all I could do is be your friend. And an open invitation where ever I am. I leave John Quiogue my little black book and a ticket to Misawa. To Troy Williams I leave my room without my TV, Stereo, and good luck with my parents and a free ticket to Negishi. To Donn Rodrigues I leave my fast metabolism and a new Benneton Clock. To José Candelario my ability to wake up in the morning and to talk clearly and my driver's license. To Patrick Polanco I leave my thin eyebrows. To Kevin Jackson I leave some water balloons. I leave Richard R. the ability to come out at night on weekends to see Gloria. To the rest of my friends, good luck in the future. One more thing for you-know-who: some words to remember ...

Last Words

"love is something special, so don't try to get slick on another person because it isn't worth it." KENJI SHEALEY

* I Roland, after graduation, give: Joel, a portion of my hair so he can cover his big ears. Motoki, all my master guitar techniques. Jeff B., my muscles. Frank, it's your turn to be senpai, parties. Hiro, many girlfriends. Doug, Maryann's love. Mike J.; tons of food in the mornings. Cassie, all my love and lots more. To whoever I left out, my apologies, but I'm a busy man. Forgive me, and good luck. ROLAND PERKINS

* I would like to thank the people who have made my high school years at Kinnick so special. Mom and Dad; thank you for all of the love and support you have given me through the years. I love you. Dominique, the time has come for me to leave and make it on my own. I'll miss you very much; take care little sister. My home boys, the Knights, I have to say goodbye now. Thanks for the memories, I'll miss you guys. Monique, my angel, thank you for being so special. We can't always be together, but nothing can tear us apart. KEVIN JACKSON

* The Girlz, just remember our good times together. Thanks for having been a part of my senior year - I hate to leave you like this, but one day you'll be right where I am! "Carpe Diem, Seniors" Love, MARZ MIRADOR

* I want to thank my family and friends for everything. Thanks Mert, Kim, Wendy, ... all my friends. Without you guys I couldn't make it. Most of all my sweetheart, David Ross in California. Remember, "make the most of yourself for that is all there is to you." JENNI EMPERADOR

* Umm ... Lacisa, Judy, Kathy thanx for being my friends for my senior year. I also thank Ms. Ivie and Mr. Schmidt if I did graduate. And I thank my brother for being nice to me this past year. I love Isao and my familia. (If I still have it). MARIA HAVENS

* I want to thank everyone for all of the memories of my high school years. I especially want to thank Judy, Lacisa, Maria, and Marie who "kinda got stuck with me." I enjoyed growing up here with everyone, and I know that I will miss this place so much. I wish everyone happiness forever, and I hope to see all of you again. Love, KATHY PRIEBE

* To the entire senior class: "though many people had walked this path before, the way we walked was different; special in its' own way - this was "our time". It was, "... a time of innocence, a time of confidences ... it was our time - precious time indeed." Good Luck to all! KATHY ROLETTER

* I Rachael Mercado, being sound mind and body, do hereby give, devise, and bequeath the following: Mom and Dad - my love forever and always. Greg - my love and my patience, one more year left ... you can do it. Sam - all the love inside of my heart and the will to stay together. Steve P. - a carton of cigs, so you won't bum off of everyone else. Celeste - I leave you a door knob, and the colors red and yellow. You know why! Elisa M. - I leave you friendship for a lifetime, and Mike; just because he needs you. Ms. Miller - I leave my smile, and my memories; because I'll never forget you. Ms. Walker - I leave you happiness always and my ears, because I was the only one ever paying attention to you! seniors - all the good time in the world. We did it!!! RACHAEL MERCADO

* I Michael A. Morton, being of sound mind, do hereby give the following: Lisa Roberts - my basketball shoes; so that you will play better. Kristen Spears - my basketball jersey to remember the practice sessions and games. Robert Morton - all my school notes through-out the years, and other things that you've taken from me already ... like pens. Take care when I leave, and good luck. Shawn Budd - my driver's license, so you can drive me to the gym. Roosevelt Beckett - a dictionary, so you will learn to pronounce my name correctly. Cassie Secrease - money for more junk food for next years basketball trips. Linda Fujio - a book of all my stupid jokes, oh no! Amy Johnson - the memory of your 17th b-day party and the great times we had. Ms. Boore - my referee whistle. Coach Goff - my baseball jersey. Juniors/Seniors now - Best of luck this next year!! Kinnick - the Senior Class memories and a beating by us on YO-HI day!! CO/90 RULES! MICHAEL A. MORTON

* I would like to thank all the people involved for helping me with my achievement of graduation and putting up with my antics throughout my 4 years of high school. To my parents, I would like to thank them for their love and support, couldn't have made it without you. Myla, thanks for the hues after the football games. I hope you achieve prosperity and wealth. To the Knights- thanks for everything. Our memories will live on. Yo, Yo, I'm good to go solo! JOSÉ CANDELARIO

* I thank each and everyone of the people at Kinnick for their contribution to who I now am. I especially thank those who befriended me and those who did not, my teachers, and especially my family, God, and Joel. It's now time to say goodbye: to Laura Minor I leave all of my wonderful "pool stories"; to Mr. Schmidt I leave the awe-inspiring excitement and "sparkle" of First Period and of course, the "carpe dudums" to boggle his mind; and to Joel I leave all my friendship, hopes, and dreams- I love you! Seniors, Class of 1990, take care. TANA VOLLENDORF

* To Oneida Kimbrow: I leave my basketball abilities and my innocent ways- the ultimate posse'. To John Quiogue: I wish the best in life and always have the big "C"onfidence. Joel Ballestrazze: I leave a big monster throughout his life- the Ogler. José Candelario: Rainman, take care and don't drink too many cokes. Bindy Toledo: Live life to its fullest, and I leave you my height. Brenda Manglona: You @#$%! take care and keep fronting it- Ogler. Celeste Harford: Sexual Chocolate, thanx for all the mikans in accounting. Roosevelt Beckett: Fudgie Bear, take care and good luck in football and basketball. Joe Bruns: Stop teasing all the girls! settle down. What the heck! Troy Williams: osananajumi, take care and always remember GENOCIDE! To the Senior Class: We finally made it! Let's all have a blast and party hard. TINA MORRISON

* We finally made it class of 90! To my closest friends, thanks for always being there and making all those memories. To Mom, Dad, and Jeannie; thanks for the support and care and for keeping sane when I know I didn't. To the Juniors; good luck and to my graduating class, take care always! Love, CHERRY LINAO

* How do you spell relief? G-R-A-D-U-A-T-I-O-N! To MaryJane; I leave my Spanish book. May you become fluent. To Liz; I leave my basketball skill and injuries. To Mark; I leave my tennis skill, my alto part, and my bicuspid. To Mike Morton, I leave an apple. To the Japanese; I leave my hair. To Kinnick; I just leave. Finally! States, here I come! Voices For Yes . . .

Y.E.S. was the Yokohama Exotic Showcase; an exciting, vibrant and squeaky clean collection of exhibits that brought the biggest and bestest companies in Japan together to razzle and dazzle the throngs of Japanese and foreign visitors who crowded the 200 acre site for the full six month duration.

On it's last day, thousands from all over the Tokyo area were invited to partake in the grand finale ceremonies. Of those thousands were Mr. Don Kinghorn and the Kinnick Choral Group.

Heisei

This is the first complete school year since 1923 that has been under a different Japanese Emperor. In January, 1989, Emperor Showa died. Commonly referred to as "Hirohito" by westerners, Emperor Showa reigned for sixty-four years.

Showa's son's reign will be known as the Heisei Era until his death. All government forms and official documents have the year of the current emperor's reign. This school year we are in year 2. The Heisei symbol was painted by Ms. Tanaka, Kinnick culture teacher.

Heisei Becomes 247th Era Name

Japan's first Imperial era name, Taika, was issued in 645 based on the Chinese custom that had started about 800 years earlier when the earlier Han dynasty issued its first Imperial name, Jianyuan.

Since the Taika era, 247 era names have been issued, including those issued during the Nanboku-cho era, when the Imperial lineage was divided into northern and southern dynasties.

On average, the era name has changed once every five years, partly because the name could be changed during an emperor's reign. In the past, natural disasters or wars have sparked changes in the era name. However, no name has been used twice.

Since the Meiji era, the name has usually been decided by top ministers and the Privy Council, based upon recommendations from scholars. Most recommendations come from the ancient Chinese history text, the Shiji.

The new era name, Heisei, is the first to be issued under the new Constitution and the Imperial Era Name Law (Gengoho).

A total of 71 Chinese characters have been used for the 247 era names. With the exception of five four-character names, all era names have used only two Chinese characters.

"Sei" in Heisei, which means "to achieve," became the 72nd Chinese character to be used in era names. "Hei," which means "peace," has been used 11 times.

The Shiji, written by Sima Qian, has been the source of 12 era names and the Shu Jing, one of the Chinese Five Classics, has been the source of 35 era names.

Prior to the Meiji era, the name changes were announced the first year following the previous emperor's death.

Kinnick Today . . .

. . . students settle into the new school and it's business as usual.

This year brought to many people a light of hope. Communist governments broke down all over Eastern Europe after the crumbling of the Berlin Wall. Japan followed the example with the crumbling of the walls of Kinnick. From the old sprang forth the new. But old or new, the spirit of Kinnick will never die. It will persevere through the new decade, if only in the hearts of the students.
