Y[OUR] Story

Written by Alaynah Luttrull '18

Zeitgeist

When they ask me what I saw, I will not tell them about the cells magnified by the microscope. I will tell them about castle ruins and smiling faces.

When they ask me what I felt, I will not tell them about the stress over grades. I will tell them about the pain in my stomach as I doubled over laughing.

When they ask me what I hated, I will not tell them about the boring classes and homework. I will tell them about thinking "I can't" when I really could.

When they ask me what I heard, I will not tell them about cruel comments and mocking scoffs. I will tell them about the laughter and inside jokes.

When they ask me what I learned, I will not tell them about all the equations and functions I finally managed to solve. I will tell them that I went skydiving, and even though I could not calculate the trajectory of my fall, I learned that I could fly.

And when they ask me what I did, I will not tell them that I went mundanely from place to place, home to school and back again. I will tell them that I went on an adventure.

The poetry, books, castles, smiles, and laughter. Standing up and becoming who you are, finding strength, telling jokes, and taking flight. Your adventures create your story. This is ours.

Summer vacation means freedom, adventure, precious and priceless memories made - or at least the chance to sleep in late. Summer vacation is also a time for new students to undergo a PCS (Permanent Change of Station) move and join the Stuttgart community. Fresh faces come to Germany, leaving their world behind for a new one, their minds filled with hopes, dreams, and opportunities. The previous home is gone, but the memories remain. Living in Europe is a chance of a lifetime to see amazing places and sights. Italy, France, Prague, wherever your heart desires, are only a few hours away by car or plane. Even staying at home in Stuttgart, there is no shortage of things to keep one occupied. The city offers so much regarding entertainment, and there is always something new to discover, with history at every turn. The summer season brings with it parties and social gatherings among family, while simultaneously solidifying old friendships and creating new ones to last a lifetime. For the youth of today, Stuttgart is the perfect place to spend your teenage years. Germany is indeed a great place to be young. Give in to the culture, beauty, and wonders of Europe and embrace this departure from American life.

Everybody living in Germany knows how dreary German winter weather can be and summer is our chance to finally enjoy the sun. Summer is the number one time of the year for military families to travel all around the world. Due to living in Europe, most students at Stuttgart High School live far away from their extended family and the summer provides an opportunity for some to travel back to the states. For those who do not travel, summer is an incredible time to relax and enjoy the sunshine by the pool with family and friends.

The Summer Story

My feet in the sand
A cool glass of lemonade in my hand
The wind dancing with my hair
While I did not care
Sunglasses blocked the light
That blinded my vision of sight
An amazing feeling
That sent me reeling
The beauty of it all
The thing we call...

[OPEN HOUSE]

" A mini-mile in their shoes... "

On September 7, 2017, Stuttgart High School hosted the annual beginning-of-the-year Open House, allowing parents and family members the opportunity to see the staff in a simluated daily schedule first hand. "It was great to see all of our parents at the open house," said Mrs. Monika Juergens, SHS 9th grade counselor. The Student to Student (S2S) ambassadors guided the parents through schedules and around halls and into classrooms. Teachers allowed parents personal one-on-one time, as well as a brief introduction to the classes in which their children enrolled.

"Open House is great because it's a chance for the parents to understand the rigors and expectations of their student's course load," said, Mrs. Noha Pittman, AP Psychology teacher. "They get to walk a mini-mile in their shoes and experience a little bit of their day. It's great for the teachers because we get to meet the parents and start forming those relationships, the key to student success is teacher and parent support— it takes a village."

Forward Thinking

Representatives from an abundance of universities crowded the halls of Stuttgart High School on Wednesday, October 11, 2017. Their mission? To educate the next generation of scholars and help them find their new home for learning. Between the hours of 1730 and 1930, the corridors of the school buzzed with excitable conversation. Forty students from Ansbach Middle and High School attended in addition to 650 students and parents from the Stuttgart area. School Liaison Officer Mr. Joe Holder, who directed the event, said, "This tied as my favorite community event we do." Although it is only a two-hour event, it attracted several hundred colleges. "The ability to show students all the opportunities they have for their futures is the best part of my job," Holder continued. Mr. Holder reported that College Night went flawlessly. Students have a more precise vision of their futures, and were assisted in selecting and getting admitted to colleges of their choice.

The Reason Behind it All

College Night allows students to sample some of the options after high school. College Night was hosted by School Liaison Officer Mr. Joe Holder. It takes twelve months of planning to get so many different colleges and alumni to attend. Overall, it was a very enlightening experience for our seniors. Written by Tyler Harrell '20.

[FALL 2017]

A feeling of enthusiasm permeated the air as the homecoming dance approached and spirit week began. Students and staff celebrate spirit week annually, during the week of homecoming. On Monday, September 26, 2017, students poured out of school buses and cars fully dressed in their pajamas, prepared for their first day of fall spirit week. Tuesday was designated fest day, and students dressed up in their traditional, German fest attire including lacey Dirndls and leather Lederhosen. The remainder of the week included students and teachers sporting Character Day costumes, Decades Day attire (celebrated as Toga Day amongst seniors), and the week culminated on Friday, September 29, 2017, with a school-wide pep assembly and Class Colors Day. Seniors dressed in white tee shirts and wore shiny, individually decorated gold crowns, juniors were awash in bright pinks, sophomores wore blue, and the freshman made their first official Panther assembly appearance dressed in purple. The sea of colors shone in the bright sunshine of the day as students and teachers marveled at the cheerleaders' incredible performances, and the traditional game of tug of war ensued. Friendship, fun, and excitement dominated the afternoon, giving the pep rally a feeling never to be forgotten.

Each class comes together to show off their school spirit with the deep purple of the freshman, stunning blue of the sophomores, eye-popping pink of the juniors, and the pure white of seniors. The excited atmosphere brought on by the activities and the fun colors for each class brings a sense of unity and camaraderie to the students of Stuttgart High School, even as they compete against each other for the title of "Tug-Of-War Champions."-

HOMECOMING

Anxious and excited laughter, daring outfits, and practiced dance moves— all present the big night of the homecoming dance. Stuttgart High School's 2017 homecoming was nothing short of fantastic and fun.

Each year brings a new homecoming theme decided by SHS Student Council members. With this year's winning theme being "Hawaiian luau", the cafeteria was adorned with leis, tiki concession stands, and tables decorated with glowing hibiscus flowers. Students dressed in a variety of distinct outfit choices, some related to and some different from the theme. When asked about their dress options, surprisingly many students said they had deviated from the theme. "I wore a full white suit. I looked like Conor McGregor," chuckled Benjamin Fielding '19.

Drawn towards loud music and bright lights, the cafeteria buzzed with life all the way until midnight. The cafeteria dance floor was never short of dancers showing their moves. The music was provided by DJ Fletch Beam, who pulled out throwbacks, hit singles, and one or two slow dance tunes.

This year's Volksfest was filled with beautiful lights, friendly faces, and tons of activities to keep yourself occupied, along with good food, which is always a plus. "Prost!"

October began the holiday season, and with it came the Stuttgart annual Volksfest. People gathered in fest tents at 11:00 am on Monday, October 2nd, 2017. The fest was run by the remarkable Stuttgart community which comes together every year to put on this festival. The Cannstatter Volksfest takes place at the Cannstatter Wasen from September 28th to October 10th. With its massive tents, colorful rides, and delicious food, the Stuttgart Volksfest has attracted millions of people a year for over 200 years. Shyann Nelson '20 described her first time at fest as "loud, but extremely fun. You can hang out with friends and family while riding on rides, walking around, or being in a tent."

As night fell, variety of colored lights shone upon men and women in traditional festive dress. The smell of classic German delicacies lingered in the air and the shouts of children on roller coasters were overwhelming. There were a variety of fairground rides such as ferris wheels, roller coasters, water rides, and even a carousel, amusing all fest goers, young and old. The Cannstatter Volksfest is a fantastic place to go to with family and friends for an exciting fall. Don't forget to purchase a traditional Oktoberfest heart on your way out.

The Cannstatter Volksfest has been an enormously popular and enjoyable event amongst millions for two hundred years. This wonderful festival was begun in 1818 by Württemberg's King Wilhelm I and his wife Katharina as a way to revive the economy during the years following the Napoleonic wars. While it started as an agricultural festival, today, Americans and Germans alike are captivated by the colorful rides, the excited atmosphere, and the "fest" tents.

Interesting fest facts:

- -Lasts 17 days
- -330 enterprises involved
- -Electricity usage equates to a town with about 11,000 households
- -22,000 m^3 of water consumed
- -1,500 people working on the Wasen,
- -17,000 directly or indirectly involved

Once through the doors, one enters a world of tantalizing questions, drawn completely into the animated desires of The Woman in the Yellow Dress (Natalie Escher '18) and pulled back by the sage Angus Tuck (Gage Stefanko '18). Savannah Taylor '20 (character Winnie Foster) gives a riveting performance of a young girl searching for a meaningful life. Her adventure is led by the absolutely charming Jesse Tuck (Jacob Keating '21). New lighting technique in the grand theater (mastered by Deryn Gabor) creates the strange illusions that obscure the boundaries between reality and imagination. Feel the anguish of Betsy Foster (Anna Christensen '19), and laugh out loud to the antics of Hugo and Joe (Cody Galloway '21 and Zachary Coffey '18).

Do you want to live? Do you really want to live life to its fullest? See the Carnival, hear the sounds of a true marching band!!!

Run, don't walk to the theater tonight and tomorrow. It's the greatest show on earth."

THE FAN IN THE STAND

A fan, or fanatic, sometimes also termed aficionado or supporter, is a person who is enthusiastically devoted to something or somebody, such as a band, a sports team, a genre, a politician, a book, a movie or an entertainer. They may show their enthusiasm in a variety of ways, such as by promoting the object of their interest, or being members of a fan club. They may also engage in creative activities making posters, shirts or bubbles.

They thought they had it all
They wish they could have balled
With their heart beating blue and red
Their plays filled me with dread
They kicked us when we were down
But guess who won the crown
Their cockiness filled thier stands
But ours was filled with fans
We led undefeated
And they were so heated
We are the definition of humble
And all they did was fumble
All I can say
Is that we are here to stay.

ARE YOU PROUD TO BE A PANTHER?

YES, WE ARE!

The SHS fall cheerleaders cheered the football team on through an undefeated season and a championship title for the 2017-18 school year. The season was a tremendous accomplishment for all 26 fall cheerleaders and the two managers that made up the team. Their goals were met because of the two hours a day, and five days a week they practiced for the first half of the school year. Ms. Nicole King and Ms. Susie Newsome, the cheerleading coaches for the fall season, were new coaches at SHS, and were able to teach their unique cheering styles to the team. The coaches were very supportive and encouraging in order to keep the cheerleaders happy and focused. The cheerleaders had many new additions to the two teams, but this did not stop them from being just as good, if not better, than they were in previous years. When asked what the proudest moments for her this season were, Ms. Nicole King replied, "My most proud moments this season were seeing the teams come together and hit stunts they were working on, and when they were cohesive as a team." The team grew in strength and numbers under the coaching of Ms. Nicole King and Ms. Susie Newsome, making this year one of the best for SHS cheerleading.

OH YEAH?
OH YEAH, BABY!

Even though the fall season came to a close, cheerleading season was not over yet. Cheerleading continues on through the fall and winter seasons. During the winter season, the cheerleaders compete against all of the other D1 cheer teams from across Europe. There is no off season for the cheerleaders— as soon as spring arrives, it's time to start training for the next season.

EUROPEAN CHAMPIONS

The SHS and RHS football teams gathered in Kaiserslautern, Germany on Saturday, November 4, 2017. Coach Billy Ratcliff and the SHS varsity football team loaded off of the bus to warm up for their championship game. Crowds congregated around the Kaiserslautern football field to watch the teams get in their starting positions.. The final score was 26-21, with Stuttgart taking the win. Cheers sounded from the Stuttgart side of the bleachers as well as from the SHS football players. This marked the Panthers first undefeated season in school history.

Stuttgart, You Know!

The Lady Panthers played an impressive season finishing with an 11-1 record. Leading the Stuttgart Panthers Varsity Volleyball Team is Coach Mike Rubino, who has coached two championship teams in recent years. Captains Carly Sharp '19 and Geneva Barriger '19 started the season strong despite the loss of key players from the previous year's championship team. During this rebuilding year, veteran players Meadau Cunningham '18, Bella Brandt '19, Carly Sharp '19, and Geneva Barriger '19 invested time and energy to bring the numerous new players into form and make the team cohesive. Notable new players Amelie Carlisle '18 and Lindsey Sharp '21 provided expert setting skills, maintaining control of the game. They were able to showcase the varsity level hitting ability, completely dominating opposing forces. This strong team finished the season respectively with a 2nd place title at the European Championships in Kaiserslautern. Returning players are optimistic about the upcoming 2018 season and their chance at another championship. Let's not forget about the undefeated Panther Junior Varsity Team, coached by Chris Kelley, and the many players that will advance to varsity level like sophomore Gabi de Andrade '20, who joined the varsity team in the middle of the season and made a huge impact on the team. Mike Rubino and Chris Kelly's combined coaching efforts allowed for the Stuttgart High School volleyball program to build a legacy through dedicated and strong underclassmen that will last for years to come.

"Show me some love" is a quote the tennis team liked to hear from the coach. Reminding them of the good times they had during the season. The 2017 Stuttgart High School Tennis Team had serious goals including a championship season. "The group wanted a competitive team, cuts were key," said head coach Adrienne Smith. "This season was the first time the team had made cuts since 2014," Smith continued, " In the previous season too many players were on the courts affecting the beginners and the experienced." Cutting is hard for most coaches. Despite the difficulty, the painful cuts helped the team goal, to be taken seriously.

"The team was student-driven and parent supported," said Coach Smith. The captains ran every practice with commitment and determination to get better each day. Additionally, the team had assistance from various members of the community including: Ricky Peyton, the Stuttgart Mens' Tennis Association, local tennis instructor Doris Puglisi, Elena Novello, and David Barragan who donated over 90 hours of time. Stuttgart Community Spouses Club (SCSC) and Stuttgart High School Parent Teacher Association made generous donations. In conclusion, Coach Smith stated, "The team really did have a great, memorable season and I know the team enjoyed the experience and friendships they made while playing as a team."

Golf is DODEA-Europe's shortest season and will be the first of the 2018-19 school year to crown champions. For the Panthers, the golf season was an emotional ride with many close matches, but the Stuttgart High School golf team fell short of the first place title. The season was showcased by the championship match in Wiesbaden on October 12-13, 2017. Sydney Smith '18, Frank Whitworth '18, and Mitchell Stoner '18 attended, although they did not seize victory, they were able to capture a total of 29 points for third place and a total of 27 points for fourth place. Mitchell Stoner '18 thought the season was best summarized by Mark Twain's famous quote; "Golf is a good walk spoiled," however Mitchell believes, "it is not a good school day spoiled." With the events of this season behind them, Stuttgart High School is hoping to see a triumphant return from next year's team.

STUTTGARTPIRANHAS

The Stuttgart Piranhas swim team "took a bite out of the competition" this 2017 fall season through the leadership of captains Maddie Koning '18, Kurt Huebschman '18 (full season), Joseph Morrow '19 and William Smith '18 (seasonal). Coaches Andrea Symak, Savannah Bailey, Nick McMaster, Christine Kuilani, and Isaac Naks worked to prepare their swimmers for the Rhineland Division Championships in February 2018 with a rigorous training schedule. The amount of hard work the Piranhas need for their training consists of two hour-long practices starting at 5 AM from September to March. "The Piranhas continue to be one of the most disciplined and dedicated athletes I have witnessed at Stuttgart High School," former SHS principal Danny Robinson describes the Piranhas. As one of the highlights of the season, four swimmers, Kurt Huebschman '18, Kyle Stevenson '21, Alexia Symak '20, and Brooke Bailey '21, finished within the top three of their events in the long distance championship meet in Lignano, Italy. As active members of the Stuttgart High School community, the Piranhas swimmers use the personal relationships they form in the lanes to become better people overall. "Overall swimming is not about winning, it's about becoming a better athlete and person while building relationships with your teammates and competitors," captain Kurt Huebschman '18 stated about his personal experiences with the Piranhas program. With roughly 120 swimmers on the team and 23 in high school, the future looks bright for our Piranhas.

Runners, on your mark!

On the morning of September 16, 2017, the forest just off the Panzer Kaserne military base was alive with the excited chatter of high school students. This was the first meet of the season - a home meet - and the excitement in the air overshadowed the underlying tension of the impending competition. At 11 AM, the girls' team began to prepare for their race, the first of the day. Stuttgart High School has a reputation for having a fierce competitive spirit and an unfailing tendency to give their all when it comes to sports. They are known for having a friendly yet intense rivalry with Ramstein. Every season, the two schools engage in personal competition in an attempt to outperform one another. Even Stuttgart's Coach Phillip Bailey agreed that, when it comes to Ramstein, "there is a reputation to uphold". At the end of the explosive season, Blake Little, coach of Stuttgart's women's team, looks back fondly on their undefeated season, saying "the season was outstanding, and winning Euros was fantastic. I am extremely pleased with the effort of the team for the 2017 season".

THE RACE GOES ON

With many returners and even more newcomers, the Stuttgart High men's cross country team finished off the season with 5 wins. With the instruction of Coach Philip Bailey and the leadership of newly appointed captains Alexander Sprague '18 and Paul Fullwood '19, the team was more than prepared for the 2017 European Championship. Taking 7 boys and an alternate, our boys were more than determined to place this year. But alas, it was not in the cards as they brought back a title of 3rd overall. However, their title did not crush their spirits. With numerous underclassmen on the team, the legacy built this year will continue for years and years to come.

Ein gesegnetes Weihnachte

Winter has arrived and so have Christmas markets across Germany, Switzerland, Austria, and France. Millions of people visit these Christmas markets every December to get into the Christmas spirit before and during Christmas break. The Strasbourg annual Marchés de Noël is one of the largest and oldest markets in the world and has a stunning view of the Strasbourg Minster or cathedral. Being one of the grandest Christmas markets, it contains over 300 chalets spread out over 11 locations. The town's citizens set up this festive market every year that starts on November 24 and lasts until December 24. The market location is spread out around the town of Strasbourg in the picturesque areas of La Petite France and the cathedral center.

Frieden auf Erden

Snow fell in blankets onto booths and cobblestone streets for the very first time this year. The smell of macaroons and vin chaud were carried around the extensive market as people purchased their food and drinks. A massive Christmas tree towered over huts on the central square, wrapped in colorful Christmas lights. Lanterns and ornaments were displayed in booths that made them burst with color.

Fastelovend

Rosenmontag: the largest and most popular Carnival parades take place on the Monday before Ash Wednesday. These parades come mostly from the Rhineland region. People throughout the German-speaking countries will tune in to watch the biggest German Carnival parade of all, which is held in Cologne.

FASCHING

Germany's answer to Mardi Gras has many names depending on the region in which one lives, but it is commonly referred to as Fashing. Fashing is Germany's carnival season and starts on the eleventh of November at precisely eleven minutes past eleven o'clock a.m. and continues on until the stroke of midnight on Shroud Tuesday (the Tuesday before Ash Wednesday). Its traditions are traceable to Medieval times where many countries lived under harsh rule. This time offered the commoners a chance to "live it up" and talk back to their rulers by creating a mock government and delivering humorous and satirical speeches. Carnival season is a time of wild fancy-dress parties and costume balls that are open to the public, as well as having elaborately designed floats and parades.

TRAVEL

Wish You Were Here...

As the winter chill sets in, the students of SHS long to spread their wings and fly to new places. Some search for warmth in Barcelona while others embrace the cold and explore Scotland. Although the sky has turned gray and the trees have gone bare, the magic of traveling is still there. Some students choose to stay home and enjoy the festivities their villages offer them, such as Christmas Markets and ice skating. Other students head back to the United States to visit family and friends while enjoying the holidays. As December comes to an end, the students of Stuttgart High prepare to ring in the New Year. The stillness in the air on New Years Eve abruptly erupts as the clock strikes twelve and fireworks shoot into the night sky, illuminating the bright future ahead.

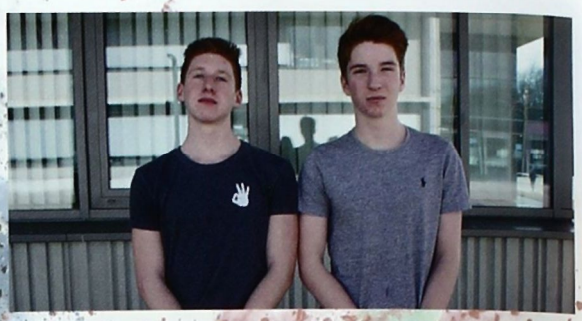
Look-Alikes and Doppelgängers



Everyone at Stuttgart High School is a family; we form a singular unit known as the student body. We are all so close to one another that we even look like each other! Some, you have to look at for a minute or two before you see it, others seem to be doppelgängers. Although our personalities set us apart as individuals, something about every student can be found in another. A smile, a hairstyle, but most often, school spirit and pride. A lot of the time, students choose to wear the same outfit to throw everyone else off and bewilder their teachers. But it is not just the students; often we have some teachers that conform to this phenomenon. This is only one of the multitude of reasons that make SHS a unique place and a school like no other.

It's amazing how people can look exactly alike without having the same parents. But in all reality, it's not as complicated as one might think. That person can have a distant relative that is somehow related to you in a sense. Either way, the thought of having a doppelgänger is a scary thing to think about but is also a fantastic and unique phenomenon.

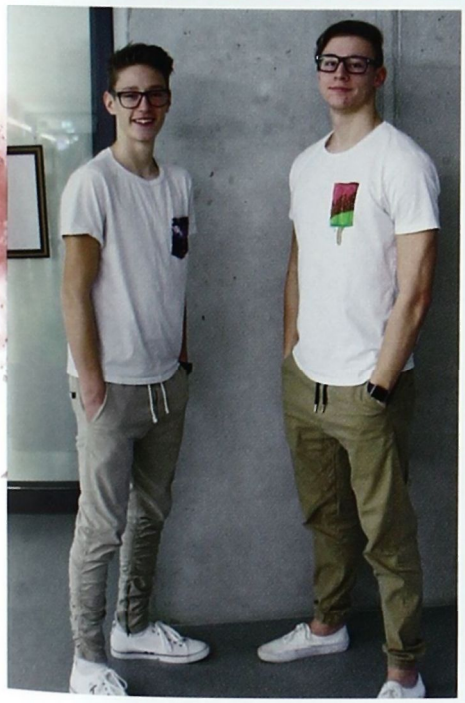
TWIN-ISH



Brother from another mother? Sister from another mister?

Even though the term "twin" is referred to as someone that is related by blood, in some circumstances that is not the case; for instance "doppelgängers". Each of us has a doppelgänger in the world, whether they live down the street from us or halfway across the globe. To some people, it is interesting to have someone that looks like us because they have something in common. To others, they feel like if that person does something wrong, then they are going to be blamed for it. Either way, doppelgängers are everywhere you go, if you think about it. Who knows, you might find your doppelgänger some day.

GET IN! GET IN!

"Wrestle hard, wrestle smart, wrestle in control" is the mantra Coach Norman Matzke strives to instill in the Stuttgart High School Panthers Wrestling Team. This group of approximately 55 students persevered through a grueling week of tryouts to make the team and after the final cuts, a group of 39 students began training to dominate the wrestling mat, just as they have over the past four years. The beginning of the season brought many harsh revelations to new wrestlers. First year wrestler, Connor Boyer '21 (weight class 180) considers the toughest lesson he learned to be "hard work and discipline." Even the returning wrestlers agree that this is the most difficult sport that they have participated in; "the easiest day of wrestling is worse than the hardest day of football," agrees Captain Robert Baumback '18 (weight class 170). While they encountered a few rough moments, as any close-knit team does, The Panthers came through as "...more of a team, more of a family. We were more unified, had less drama. We deserved to win," agreed captains John 'Trip' Carroll '19 (weight class 285) and Benjamin 'Bennie' Fielding '19 (weight class 132). The season blew by very quickly, though any wrestler will say that the longest two minutes of their life is spent on the mat. With three-hour practices, Monday through Friday (including special conditioning sessions many weekends), the SHS Panthers were ready for a fight when they entered the Ramstein High School gym for the sectionals competition on February 10, 2018. The SHS team took first place at the sectionals meet and went on to compete in the European Championship, hoping to break the 'four year curse' and win the title for the fifth year in a row. The Panthers learned that, when it comes to wrestling (and in life), Coach Matzke often reminded the team), one must do something ten thousand times before they can truly do it properly and one must "give 110%...even if you are down, you keep fighting" (Wesley 'Wes' Coglianese '19 (weight class 152)). First year freshman wrestler and Euros title winner, Jack Engelke (weight class 113) agreed that "getting on the mat - it's the only thing that matters."

EUROPEAN CHAMPIONS

Winning the European Championship is the biggest goal of the wrestling season. Eighteen Stuttgart Panthers qualified for the championship and sixteen of them placed, with five winning the championship title for their weight class: Sean Smith '21 (weight class 126), Benjamin 'Bennie' Fielding '19 (weight class 132), Abraham 'Abe' Engelke '19 (weight class 145), Will Green '18 (weight class 195), and John 'Trip' Carroll '19 (weight class 285). Two wrestlers took second place in the finals, including freshman and long time wrestler, McKinley 'Micki' Fielding (weight class 106), who is the first female to make it to the finals in DoDEA. Stuttgart took four third place titles, one fourth place title, three fifth place titles, and one sixth place title.

Back-to-Back CHAMPIONS

Starting off the season right, the Stuttgart Lady Panther Basketball Team coached by Ms. Robin Hess burst onto the court in a flurry of spirit. Like any other team, the basketball ladies put a lot of time and preparation into learning plays and each person's strengths. The season went by quickly for the Lady Panthers in a haze of exhilarating wins and minimal losses. The Stuttgart High School Lady Panthers finished the regular season 14-2, earning themselves a place in the European Championships. A stressful week left the Lady Panthers with the sweetest reward: a victory of 6-0! Concluding a outstanding season, the team ended with a fitting banquet where senior Allyson Taylor '18 was named tournament MVP and junior Adan Maher '19 was voted to the all-tournament team. With many returning players, the Stuttgart Lady Panthers basketball team is looking at a bright future for years to come.

With new coaching staff, Coach Anthony Bassett and Coach Al Elliot, and new players on the roster, the Stuttgart Panthers Men's Basketball team persevered through the season to be seen throughout the division as a force to be reckoned with. Close games were lost by five points or less that should have been won, the team refused to let their heads hang low. The Panthers played harder and smarter to become better through the ups and downs. The Stuttgart Panthers refused to be looked down upon, and ultimately gave fans and rivals something to talk about by defeating last year's Division II Champions, putting an end to the Wiesbaden Warriors undefeated regular season streak. The team gave everything they had until the final buzzer. Stuttgart Panthers Men's Basketball took third place in at Europeans the 2017-18 season.

STUTTGART YOU KNOW

The Stuttgart High School winter cheer season finished with a breathtaking success at Europeans in second place, attesting to their tremendous amount of effort. They practiced three hours after school daily and three or more hours on the weekends, averaging to about 20 hours per week. They managed to make practices fun while building a fantastic bond. Ms. Nicole King and Ms. Susie Newsome, the cheerleading coaches for the winter season, guided and coached the girls to help them get second place in Euros while still having fun. Although the experience was great for the entire team, the practicing was very tiring, and every member needed an exceptional amount of determination in order for them to persevere and place so high in the competition.

Conquering the Lanes

Stuttgart High School's ferocious Piranha swim team is a pool-dwelling force that is continually putting the maximum amount of passion and talent into their sport and the winter season is no exception. The consistent training and devotion are what make up a fantastic team in any sport, and the SHS swim team has all of that and more. They still get up before the sun to tear through the water in preparation for the next meet. The team experiences the most extended season of them all here, starting even before the school year and going right on through to the end of February. 60 talented swimmers were sent off to the Olympic Pool in London for the final EFSL Championship meet. This meet acted as an individual championship and determined who is the very best in Europe in each event.

ACADEMICS

Symbolism of the mask in relation to themselves and the text.

"As we read Lord of the Flies, one of the major themes in the novel is "Civilization vs. Savagery". When Jack and the other boys donned their masks, it was as if the remnants of civilization were stripped from them, and they behaved in a manner that they would never have considered as possible when they lived in modern society. After reading about the masks in the book, we looked at Carl Jung's theory of the shadow self, where he theorized that as humans, we have our personas, or masks, that we present to the world. Our shadow self is both the positive and negative things we hide and suppress in an effort to fit what we think society wants. I brought up the idea of illustrating this through masks to the class because I've been wanting to this for years, and they were very excited and interested in the project. I provided the masks for the class and had students research and look at different personality theories in relation to themselves and to the text. The outside of the mask was to represent the masks that they show the world. The inside of the mask was their shadow self. They then had to write about the experience and the symbolism of the mask in relation to themselves and the text."

On the brisk evening of December 6, 2017, musicians of Stuttgart High School gathered in the crowded school auditorium and stitched the night together with their winter music pieces. The concert began at 1900 and lasted until approximately 2030. The auditorium was packed with eager families waiting to witness the very first concert of the 2017-2018 school year. All the bands at the concert had spent months preparing music arrangements to be played and sung. This year's music department saw an overwhelming increase in prospective band members. The musical groups included the String Ensemble, Concert Band, Symphonic Wind Ensemble, Jazz Band, and for the first time, the SHS Legacy Drum Line

Snowy Melodies at Stuttgart High School

The Legacy Drum Line started off the night strong with a piece composed by Ms. Cassidy Byars. The intense piece, aptly titled "Laser," commanded the attention of the entire audience.. The drum line also performed the traditional Carol of the Bells arrangement, adapted for percussion by Marquis Jackson '18. The powerful sound and mesmerizing motion of the Stuttgart Drum Line's first ever performance was nothing short of spectacular. The explosive debut left the audience silent in awe. Next, the string ensemble took to the stage, performing a splendid rendition of the Nutcracker Medley by Peter Tchaikovsky. The classic Christmas song was played delicately and beautifully by the well-practiced string ensemble, and conducted masterfully by Mr. Alan Landers, SHS Strings and Choir conductor. As the concert drew to a close, students Tristan Brandt '18 and Elise Harmon '18 took to the conductor's stand, presiding over the final two pieces: Echoes of Bartok and the Game of Thrones Main Theme. "We want to give students the chance to take lessons from us and try conducting a band themselves," said Mr. Landers. The program was facilitated by Mr. Andrew Held, Stuttgart High School band director. Overall, the Winter Concert served as an excellent showcase for many of Stuttgart High School's musicians, a potent reminder of the raw talent that characterizes the school.

Messiah is an oratorio composed by George Frideric Handel in 1741. It was performed by four different choirs, all directed by Mr. Alan Landers on Saturday, December 9, 2017 at St. Leonhardskirche in downtown Stuttgart. Messiah consists of 53 songs that tell the story of the birth, life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. The concert consisted of 45 of these songs. Messiah was written with both English and German lyrics. This concert used the English text. The choirs involved were: Stuttgart High School Advanced Chorus, Stuttgart High School Show Choir, Stuttgart German American Community Chorus, and Pfäffingen Gospel Chorus.

Four professional German soloists (a soprano, alto, tenor, and bass) were hired to sing the songs written with soloists parts. In addition, a professional orchestra supplied the accompaniment for the singers. The orchestra leader, the first violin player (known as the "concertmaster"), was Albert Boesen, former violin player for the world famous Berlin Philharmonic (Berliner Philharmonikern).

ART

The AP Studio Art class is home to some of the most talented art students in the school, who have made a name for themselves by producing breathtaking works of art. Their talent has been put on display all throughout the halls of SHS, allowing students admire their efforts. There is no doubt that their work will inspire years of AP art students.

PE & PAN Academics

What is PAN?

In the most basic sense, it is Physical Activity and Nutrition class and teaches students about physical activity and nutrition. However, the true essence of the course is rooted in finding alternative ways for students to stay healthy and active. Approximately 60% of class time is spent dressing out and doing alternative activities such as ice skating (a class favorite). The other 40% is nutrition-based, during which students learn to read food labels, plan their meals, and journal about their healthy eating progress. Teachers Mr. Blake Little and Mrs. Kim Lassetter also teach students about juicing and other non-traditional health techniques. Lassetter and Little aim to expose students to as many alternative forms of exercise as possible because it is an integral part of life and, "without fitness and health, you have nothing" (Mr. Little).

The Fiery Flames of Culinary Arts.

Walking into the Culinary Arts classroom, I was assaulted by the waves of gripping smells and vibrant energy. Teacher and head chef, Ms. Charleen Huebner, briskly strode around the kitchen observing each junior chef's work, giving helpful tips. "In the beginning of the year it's mostly lectures in the classroom," remarked Aidan Keenan '19, "but as the year continues we spend most of our time in the kitchen handling food and making things from scratch." As a two semester course, Culinary Arts not only teaches the fundamentals of cooking but also works its way into the historic areas of the art. "I've cooked before in my house but this is the first time I've learned the basics of things like pasta making and where is originated from," commented Johnnya Best '19 as she folded ravioli into a delectable looking tomato sauce. Students being able to take a moment out of their busy day to cook makes taking Culinary Arts a special class to be a part of. This can be seen by anyone that stops by the kitchen for a moment to witness the dedication and hardwork that each student put into their dish. Garrett Humble '19 summarized the class as "organized chaos that's really fun!"

"I love to hear people with accents because I know that they have taken a huge step," says Spanish teacher Ms. Linda Santiago. "They have taken a chance. They have been brave." The foreign languages that Stuttgart High School offers enable students to communicate in Europe. Living in Europe gives students the opportunity to use languages learned in school regularly. This type of immersive experience is unique to DoDDS students. The SHS World Language program offers Spanish, French, and German (both introductory and AP level). Students take virtual school Japanese, Chinese Latin, and more advanced French classes. Knowing a foreign language provides a better cultural understanding of surrounding European countries, primarily Spanish, French, and German which are convenient when asking for directions, ordering food, and understanding the nuances of the culture.

The Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (JROTC) mission is "To motivate young people to become better citizens." The battalion is led by a student chain of command that embodies the qualities of JROTC values. Cadets also learn about the core beliefs of the U.S. military and the discipline that it takes to be a soldier. JROTC teaches students in a classroom environment how to be a strong leader, work as a team, and take personal responsibility for their actions. However, the skills that JROTC students are taught go beyond the classroom. The vision is that these cadets take what they have learned into their community, making them a better citizen.

Stuttgart High School's JROTC Battalion is currently the most extensive Army program within Europe. SHS cadets have the unique opportunity take part in various military ceremonies because of their location in Stuttgart. Our cadets have the mindset to serve and be actively involved in their community. They demonstrate this by bagging at the commissary multiple times throughout the year, handing out poppies for the Annual VFW Buddy Poppy Drive, and numerous volunteer events held throughout the Stuttgart Community. Towards the end of the year, the battalion holds their annual JROTC Military Ball, Change of Command, and final promotion ceremony.

No other program at SHS assists students to become as organized and prepared for college like the AVID program. AVID students are given the essential knowledge they need to become better high school students... and future college students. They are taught specific, optimized forms of note-taking, and various other organizational strategies. AVID students prepare for college by participating in group tutoring and learning goal setting, college test preparation, research skills, and scholarship information that could be extremely useful for college-set students. The program is run by Ms. Dickmeyer and her trusty team of tutors: MaryAnn Tingey, Christine Hogan, Joanne Bass, Elizabeth Lee, and Morgan Jenninson. The AVID program has produced many well-prepared high school students that have succeeded in college, and hopes to provide many more in the years to come.

Drama Pride

The Stuttgart International Thespian Society, also known as the Drama Club, has been in operation since the school's earliest days. The Drama Club is run by sponsors Mrs. Brandi Johansen and Dr. Francis Gabor, in addition to ITS President Anna Christiansen '18. This year, the club performed Tuck Everlasting, competed in the April Drama Fest, and led the arts and extracurricular programs in participation. Drama is singular in that the only resource needed to succeed is a pure effort, enabling anyone to excel. Mrs. Johansen remarked on a student who was previously shy and introverted, before becoming a remarkable foil to themselves when on stage, transforming into a clear, projected individual nearly recognizable from the person they once were. The ITS is not only a club and a class, but an opportunity— one where you can work hard, have fun, meet a lot of cool and exciting people, and receive accolades.

Christiansen described the club as follows, "the Drama Club offers opportunities, and it doesn't matter if you're super experienced or [it is] your first time on stage. It's for anybody who wants to have fun and work hard." Along with the fun nature of the club and class, one can take away many benefits from active participation. Skills such as public speaking can aid one in their future careers. Another facet of drama is that it covers many aspects of life. The theatre touches on love, revenge, fear, anger, happiness, laughter, death, and many other things one will face in their life! The Stuttgart International Thespian Society has grand plans for next year, and they cannot wait for new members to join the class and club. Written by Geoffery Morris '19

SOCIAL STUDIES & MATH
Academics

Love it or hate it, mathematics is a crucial part of everyday life, and Stuttgart High School's math department does an exemplary job of educating its students and allowing them to acquire essential life skills that we use without even thinking. "Math is used in everyday life to one extent or the other," says math teacher, Mr. Phillip Carson, "For example converting kilometers to miles, balancing a checkbook, and preparing taxes." SHS offers Algebra I to AP Calculus BC, which teaches students to think logically, as well as evaluate problems. The lessons learned in math can be applied to a variety of real-world situations that will help students throughout their lives. With these skills, students will lead a more prosperous life in both academics and the business world.

It has been a challenging year with the changes in standards, curriculum, instructional shift, and graduation requirements," says Ms. Mary Gruver, head of the math department, " however, as always, the math teachers at have exceeded all expectations! We have met all these challenges head-on and are working collaboratively to move SHS into a bright and successful future." Written by Conall Bencze '18

When asked which subject students enjoy the most, rarely will the word "mathematics" leave a students mouth. The most common answer is Social Studies or Language Arts. The reasoning for this lies in the content that students find adaptable to their learning style. Stuttgart High, has a wide variety of social studies classes. This includes college history courses, commonly known as Advanced Placement (AP) courses. Perhaps it's the exuberant learning atmosphere that holds the students in a historic trance. " My favorite era of American history is Reconstruction because every moment of history is filled with action and it's cool to see the destruction but then rebuilding of a nation," explained Weston Martin '18. Coming from an AP+ U.S. History student, this excitement can be baffling for some that view history as boring and mundane. Although, as I took a visit into each history class, they each had a similarity: the excitement that they translated into their teaching. "Mr. Ratcliff not only teaches, but he also makes it a personal experience that shows that he truly cares about his students and about history," claimed Geneva Barriger '19. History can not only be an adventure, but also an exciting lesson for each student and teacher that enjoys diving headfirst into the past.

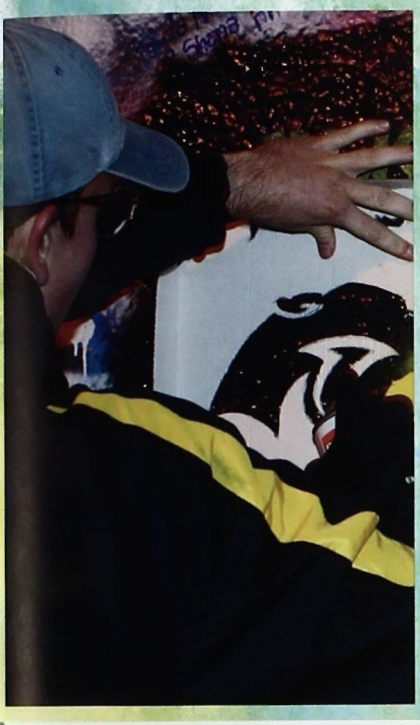
MODEL United Nations



"CLAPPING IS IN ORDER"

The students of Stuttgart High School are given a bite-size experience of life in the United Nations and can decide if the field of diplomacy is the right one for them when they sign up for Model United Nations, often abbreviated as Model UN or, more commonly, MUN. The mission of MUN is to engage students and allow them to gain a more refined understanding of current world issues and events, as well as the importance of diplomacy, international relations, and the inner workings of the United Nations itself. In addition, it also teaches students a myriad of skills including researching, public speaking, and debating to name a few. SHS MUN is coached by Mr. Kurt Hickey.

LITERATURE Academics

Allyson Taylor '18 and Kevin DeBrine '18 cast Beowulf characters.

The appreciation of literature is a beautiful and life-enriching activity that expands the imagination and allows us to gain a love for language and the worlds it can create. The language arts program offered by SHS has a multitude of courses that augment students' ability to analyze literature, as well as their critical reading, writing, and thinking skills that they will utilize in college and the rest of their lives. Students are exposed to such literary classics as Hamlet, Beowulf, and To Kill A Mockingbird in addition to so many other works. The department has a diverse curriculum, exploring the deeper and more cerebral themes of the books they read. "As we read Lord of the Flies, one of the major themes in the novel is 'Civilization vs. Savagery.' After reading about the masks in the book, we looked at Carl Jung's theory of the shadow self, where he theorized that as humans, we have personas or masks, that we present to the world." The department does more than merely teach literature and read books; they can sometimes teach us about ourselves as Andrea Skiles explained perfectly. For those with a higher passion for the written word, Stuttgart High offers AP Literature, an extraordinary class taught by the devoted and intelligent Ms. Claire Dickmeyer. Her course gives a more in-depth and analytical experience to literature. A notable example of this being her class dressing up in period-appropriate clothing and reciting old English for their reading of Beowulf. "I think that the importance of language arts is to become effective communicators, through reading, writing, listening, and speaking. Our language arts students take the written word and bring it to life through discussion and analysis," comments Lindsey Bagnaschi, head of the SHS Language Arts department. "It is critical for our students to be confident, organized writers; thoughtful, questioning readers; logical, analytical thinkers; careful and thorough researchers; and eloquent, engaging communicators."

CHEMISTRY Academics

Is there anything more exciting than mixing chemicals and making them blow up? No, is the answer. Stuttgart High has the most exciting, hands-on, and real-world lessons that anyone would be lucky to have enrolled. Although it has a reputation for being a tedious and one might say boring course, rest assured it is not the case when one is under the instruction of Mr. Phillip Bailey. Ms. Winnie Zekel and Mr. Eugene Macadagum, our school-wide-renowned chemistry teachers. Additionally, the physics department bustles with excited students with a curious "how does it work "itch that needs to be scratched. Students need to know how the world works and physics provides answers. They learn momentum through the use of mousetrap-powered cars. They study about structural integrity by making balsa wood bridges that are weighted down until they collapse to determine where it broke and how much force was exerted. Dozens of captivating lessons are delivered under the direction of Mr. Matthew Burkman, Stuttgart High School's physics teacher.

Children cheered at the top of their lungs as the pumpkins tumbled through the air. Will it break into a million mushy pieces or survive the fall of 90 feet? The annual Stuttgart Pumpkin Drop took place on Tuesday, October 31, 2017, under the direction of Mr. Matthew Burkman, a Stuttgart High School physics teacher, and his physics students. Students gathered in front of Stuttgart High School and Elementary School to watch the boxes, adorned with a variety of decorations, plummet to the ground. The Stuttgart Pumpkin Drop is a tradition for all of the schools in the Stuttgart area and has been celebrated for over twenty years. Burkman described the pumpkin drop as fun and the product of hard work. "The physics kids worked hard to make this happen." Songs and chants were performed by children and students as a box was hoisted into the air and presented for all to see. A crane dropped the pumpkins from a height of 70 to 90 feet as approximately 800 students peered toward the sky. Abby Wallace (SES fourth grade) said, "the pumpkin drop is different this year because the pumpkin is falling with the box instead of falling into a box. We used materials like a pillow taped to the side, a towel, two math textbooks, and plastic bags (to cushion the pumpkin)." Each class decorated their box and competed to see who had the most well-protected pumpkin.

HUMAN Anatomy

In addition to her riveting biology classes, Mrs. Stephanie Payne teaches Human Anatomy and Physiology courses to many students. Covering comparative anatomy, clinical situations, and the way the human body works, Human Anatomy and Physiology is a class that has given many students guidance in the scientific field. It has helped students recognize a love for the human body and choose to pursue careers as doctors, physical therapists, and other anatomy filled careers. Mrs. Payne is a passionate teacher, though it is not just because she loves biology and anatomy, "it's watching students take initiative in their learning that really drives me. It's guiding and mentoring students towards their ambitions and helping them along the way by giving them opportunities around them to help with their success." Anatomy and Physiology incorporates many hands on experiences to aid students in connecting all the information they learn in the class. One of the students' favorite parts of the year is the end-of-year dissection labs. Students get to learn about all the parts of the eye by taking one apart, after which most students keep the eye's lens. Dissecting a fetal pig allows students to put all the things they learned over the year together as they explore the inner workings of the body's systems. Mrs. Payne's hope "is that students will engage in lifelong learning, no matter where life takes them and what roads they travel and that students would follow their passions and gifts/talents and learn that's it's ok to fail because failure creates tenacity."

Taught by passionate teachers Mrs. Stephanie Payne, Ms. Melody Green, and Mr. George Roos, AP and regular Biology is a popular and fun subject to take at Stuttgart High School. Students are able to learn about themselves and the world around them through challenging, yet exciting hands-on projects and assignments. For instance, Ms. Green's Bug Project where students get to catch, study, and identify various bugs, and Mrs. Payne's yearly field trip to the Luxembourg University, where students have the opportunity to use advanced technology while doing experiments at the university's lab. Ms. Green hopes her students take away from her class and biology in general, she gave this very inspirational response "my main goal is that my students have fun while learning something new about themselves and the world around them. I hope they gain a new appreciation for the life surrounding them and are able to take some of the things they learned in biology with them through life."

CAREER Practicum

"TRY ON" A CAREER YOU MIGHT PURSUE IN THE FUTURE

Potential careers are decided early in life and change as we gain more experience and exposure to the outside world. Students usually have an understanding of what they want to do with their lives and where their educational endeavors will take them. Stuttgart High offers the Career Technical Education (CTE) program, under the direction of Ms. Winifred (Winni) Zekel which allows students to spend time with professionals and get a grasp of the field from which they want to make their living. "Through my CTE experience, I have been afforded the opportunity to observe and assist on numerous surgeries and spend quality time with doctors, nurses, and patients," states Erin Rhodehamel '18. "I have even been able to "scrub in" on procedures and assist the surgeon by retracting and suctioning blood. This experience has shown me what it truly means to be a surgeon and provided me with real hands-on experience in the field of medicine." Through the assistance of Ms. Zekel, students are guided in the process of selecting a potential occupation and are awarded the opportunity to gain field experience and get hands-on with their desired job.

The Career and Technical Education candidates were nominated by their Chief State School Officers based on their accomplishments in career and technical education fields. The U.S. Presidential Scholars Program was established in 1964 by Executive Order of the President to recognize some of our nation's most distinguished graduating seniors for their accomplishments in many areas: academic success, leadership, and service to school and community. It was expanded in 1979 to recognize students demonstrating exceptional scholarship and talent in the visual, creative, and performing arts. Callum was also named a 2018 U.S. Presidential Scholar.

Founded in 2016, this club has prevailed through constant leadership change and technical difficulties, and is made possible by the enduring club members. With a history of numerous successful projects, the Red Cross Club has defined itself as a rising star in the school and community. In coordination with the official American Red Cross located on Panzer Barracks, the club was able to form a partnership with S2S to coordinate Muffin Mondays to provide funds for their projects: "Vaccinate A Village". The Student-to-Student Ambassadors Club, sponsored by Ms. Monika Juergens, helps integrate new students into the school and actively volunteers throughout the community. The Student-to-Student Ambassadors Club is known for hosting the high school's New Student Orientations as of last year. This year, to welcome new students into the school, the S2S Ambassadors hosted a "cookie social" where new students got to enjoy home baked cookies made by the ambassadors themselves and socialize with their fellow new students. Needless to say, the "cookie social" was a success and according to S2S ambassador Justice Vogler '19 it "was a great way to connect with the new students here at Stuttgart High School!"

Many friendships have blossomed from the S2S Ambassadors Club, and they are always looking for and welcoming in new members.

The HeartBeat

The roar you hear at football games during halftime, the sound that makes your feet want to move Meet Marquis Jackson (SHS'18), a young man whose passion for drums led to the Stuttgart Legacy Drumline. It was quite interesting how a young adult who had no interest in drumline his freshman year now has started his own drumline right here in our Panther community. In 2016, he tried to start the drumline, but finding a sponsor seemed to be impossible. To help him him out Mr. Held, SHS assistant band director, found Mr. Clarence Everett Jr. to help out with the program. In 2016 there were not many students who showed interest in joining the drumline, so what kept Jackson motivated was, the need to make a difference in the way that the Stuttgart community views the music department. Finally, as the 2017-2018 school year began people slowly started joining until they ended up with more people than equipment. "This is something that needed to be done a long time ago and I'm happy to be part of starting something beautiful," Garrett Humble(SHS'19) Jr. Section Leader. Lives by "Patience, Determination, Teamwork, Commitment", and he hopes to see his legacy continue to grow next year. SHS has a new heartbeat, the Stuttgart Legacy Drumline(SLD).

Living Each Moment Through Dance

New seasons are a challenge for all student athletes. As a new season opened in the Fall of 2017, the SHS Dance Team found that they were no exception. An overwhelming number of students auditioned for the 2017-2018 dance season, from returning members to those who had never danced a day in their life. "It's tough going from dancing in front of a mirror to dancing in front of bleachers full of people," remarked Emma Kandigan '19. As is the case for any team, the practices were full of uncertainty and tension in the beginning. Sliding feet-first into a new environment where dancing was the main objective was stressful for many of the new members. Practice continued into the winter, and peaked in the spring. Eventually, the cloud of nerves no longer hung over the team. The dance team formed a bond, held together by their love of dancing and self-expression.

"We have a love-hate relationship"
- Coach Camika Jones

Their initial performance for the first home game for the SHS basketball team on January 26, 2018 left both students and parents equally impressed "The dance team has definitely changed from last year's dance team," commented Ahmir Johnson '20. Last year's team was met with excitement at the potential they showed. This year's team has shown the product of a year of hard work and practice. Coaches NiNi and Camika have made dance practices more enjoyable and accessible. "We try to make it so that practice is mandatory, but we understand that you guys have classes and homework," Coach Camika explained in a team bonding exercise. Through Coach NiNi, rhythm has flowed into the souls of each individual dancer, taking into account the opinions that each member of the team may present. The team has gone from knowing only one choreography last year to already having perfected four choreos two of which were made by students A'Sanni Wizzart '20, Shaneé Rodney '18, and Olivia Johnson '19. Diversity in the team's dances have made audiences even more excited for future performances.

SHS "Educators Rising" joined seventeen other Department of Defense Schools in Garmisch at the Edelweiss Lodge to compete in contests that included making a chapter scrapbook, producing a name tag, writing a children's story and conducting a lesson plan. Out of eight categories Stuttgart High placed in six competitions. SHS Educators Rising, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Amanda Burkman, supported a team of eight members, seven more than last year! In addition to dominating the competition, students also had fun participating in diverse team building activities like eating bugs, rock climbing, and sledding. Mrs. Burkman coached the team with master teacher expertise and humility. Alexandra Mcgrady '18 placed in second in logo design and scrapbooking; Felicity Heins '20 took first place for lesson planning, Angela Julock '19 took second place for PSA, Josephine Saikali '19 and Adrianna Morales '19 second place for a story book. Additionally Mcgrady and Heins made third place in the ethical dilemma competition.

Yearbook & Journalism Club

ZEITGEIST: SPIRIT OF THE TIMES

Stuttgart High School has an extensive yearbook staff. With over 67 students making up a powerful workforce, the Zeitgeist Yearbook staff photographs every school (and many host country) events, while the small but mighty journalism team writes outstanding articles featuring SHS students and faculty. There are five journalists under the direction of Alaynah "Lulu" Luttrull '18, while the yearbook staff looks to its editors Mason Hester '18, Josephine "Jojo" Salkali '19, and James "Jimi" McDermott '18. The entirety of the organization that is the Zeitgeist staff is spearheaded by the eternally energetic and kind Ms. Shana Blankenship, or Ms. B, as her students lovingly call her. "Yearbook is organized chaos," says Ms. B, and she is absolutely right. The flurry of bodies going in and out of room 26 on a daily basis may be astonishing, as students grab a "Press Pass," an ID worn to indicate their role as a "yearbooker," and track down students and teachers for photos and interviews. The Zeitgeist staff's hard work pays off when, on June 1, the Yearbook Distribution and Autograph Party takes place and all their efforts are unveiled to the school. Looking back, no one would argue that it was completely worth it.

AMERICAN SIGN LANGUAGE Club

COMMUNICATION FOR THE NATION

The Stuttgart High School Sign Language Club meets every Friday during lunch in Mr. George Roos's room to practice their signing abilities with a group of people who enjoy signing as well. The American Sign Language Club president, Clare Walls '18, leads this devoted group of students in simultaneously employing hand gestures, movement of the fingers, arms or body, and facial expressions to convey meanings and interpretations. The club has existed for three years and has grown to almost thirty students. Mr. Roos and his wife, Mrs. Janet Roos, have been supporting and sponsoring ASL Club from the beginning. Clare Walls began ASL club her sophomore year to share a language that has helped her express herself throughout her life. When asked why she started the club, Clare replied, "I wanted to start a club in order to teach sign language and teach [others] about the deaf community in order to spread knowledge about the subject. The current members focus on learning how to communicate with a person who uses ASL as their main form of communication and the culture that goes with it. Some people who come just want to know ASL, others come and are shocked to learn about the differences in deaf people's lives and the struggles they face. We hope that our enthusiasm and encouragement for learning this new language motivates others in our community to push past the boundaries of differences they experience."

Mrs. Stephanie Payne, the AP Biology and Human Anatomy teacher at Stuttgart High School, runs a Biology Club made up of students who are interested in gaining a deeper understanding of the living world. This club acts as a study group for the students and works to expand, encourage, and promote a love of science in the young adults it reaches. Biology Club acts as an aid to guide students who wish to pursue a career in the biological field. The club hopes to help students realize career goals, gain personal insight, and experience an environment permitting development of intellectual growth.

Breakfast Success

The NHS held a successful breakfast for the teachers to show their appreciation during Teacher Appreciation week in November.. Pancakes complete with butter, syrup, and any other imaginable topping, to the satisfaction of the faculty.

Tutoring Works!

One thing the NHS is known for is its adept ability to help the school and its students. The best example of this is their tutoring program, that has assisted in the growth of any struggling SHS students. Here, students can help other students with any material they might not understand, creating a wonderful feeling of community.

STUTTGART beat

Imagine looking back into a trendless history? This would not be possible as there would be no visible progress. The modern world is a melting pot in which thousands of trends and popular forms of media can coexist at any given moment, and the people decide what catches on and what does not. The songs that are played, the TV shows that are watched, and everything in between is all decided by us. The following pages are a retrospective of what the students of Stuttgart High think were the most memorable trends and media of the year. "Trends are an opportunity to do something new not just from an individual standpoint," says Kira Gordian, SHS senior, "but on a macro level, they allow us to shift cultural currents and ultimately depict an underlying intuition." ADMINISTRATION
Our PrinciPALS

This year's focus has really been on College and Career Ready Standards, a focus on literacy across all curriculum areas, changes in math instruction, close reading and CUPS! My goodness, students have been on the receiving end of a great deal in terms of shifts in our educational focus. So, I'm greatly hoping that for those of you heading into the larger public arena, your educational experience gave you the knowledge and skills you need to be that full participant in society. As you glance through the pages, I also want you to know that I really enjoyed watching you all during the course of the year. Whether in the classroom, on the sports field, strumming ukuleles or hanging in the hallways, what a wonderful group of students. Let's keep these strong traditions of a good focus on academics balanced against the fun we have alive and well at Stuttgart High School.

-Principal, Mr. David Carlisle

It has always been my thought that education is one of the few things in this world that should strive to help all people be better versions of themselves. It requires compassion, dedication, and energy to help others succeed on whatever path they choose. I am fortunate to have known compassionate and dedicated educators and am even more fortunate to have been able to see students rise beyond expectations no matter how adverse their individual circumstances. I am lucky that I have the opportunity to continue my journey in education, to help educators grow and learn, and watch to how our students excel through that support here at Stuttgart High School.

"Having lots of siblings is like having built-in best friends."
Kim Kardashian

...THICKER THAN WATER

Of the many relationships that we come to find ourselves a part of throughout our lives, none of those connections match the power and intensity of the sibling dynamic. There are struggles and joys in the sibling relationship, and sometimes one outweighs the other, but the conflict always resolves itself. "My brother and I can joke around and have fun, but when we need to be serious with each other, we can be," says Jameya Preer '18, "He's got my back, and I've got his, he's helped me stay positive through the process of moving so many times. He keeps me organized, and his leadership skills often make it feel like he's my older brother rather than younger. His dry humor always cheers me up, and whenever we fall out, we always reconnect as if nothing happened." There are many people we need to be grateful for in our lives, and our siblings deserve that respect an admiration that we always feel for them, even when we do not outright express those feelings. In a world in which young adults have been shipped around the world to new and unknown destinations, the sibling relationship is sometimes the only constant. No one sticks by your side quite like a sibling. They are there for you through thick and thin, through the good times and the bad. They never leave your life; you have the memories and the good times always. Blood is thicker than water, as they say.

Vivienne and Riley Johnson

"Sibling relationships are complicated. All family relationships are. Look at Hamlet." Maurice Saatchi

"When you're a military kid, just about nothing in your life is constant. Every few years, you're uprooted from everything you've grown to know and care about and thrust into a dramatically unfamiliar environment. The value of siblings in the military community is their constancy. All this time, through every stressful move, I've had at least one familiar face by my side that knows my struggle and has persisted through it."

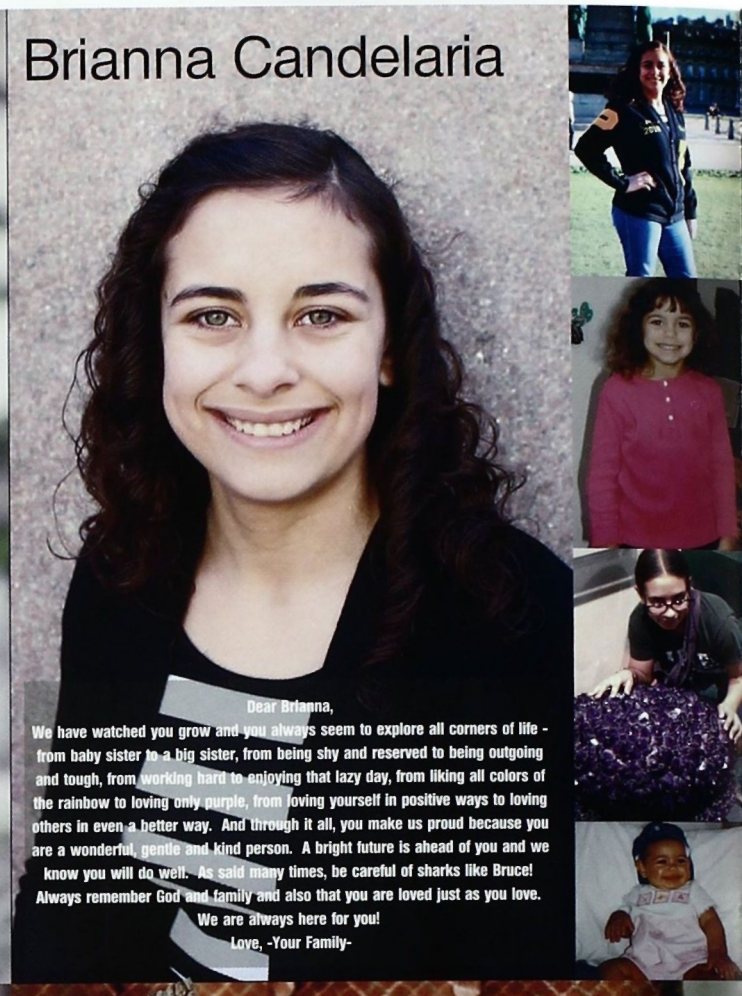
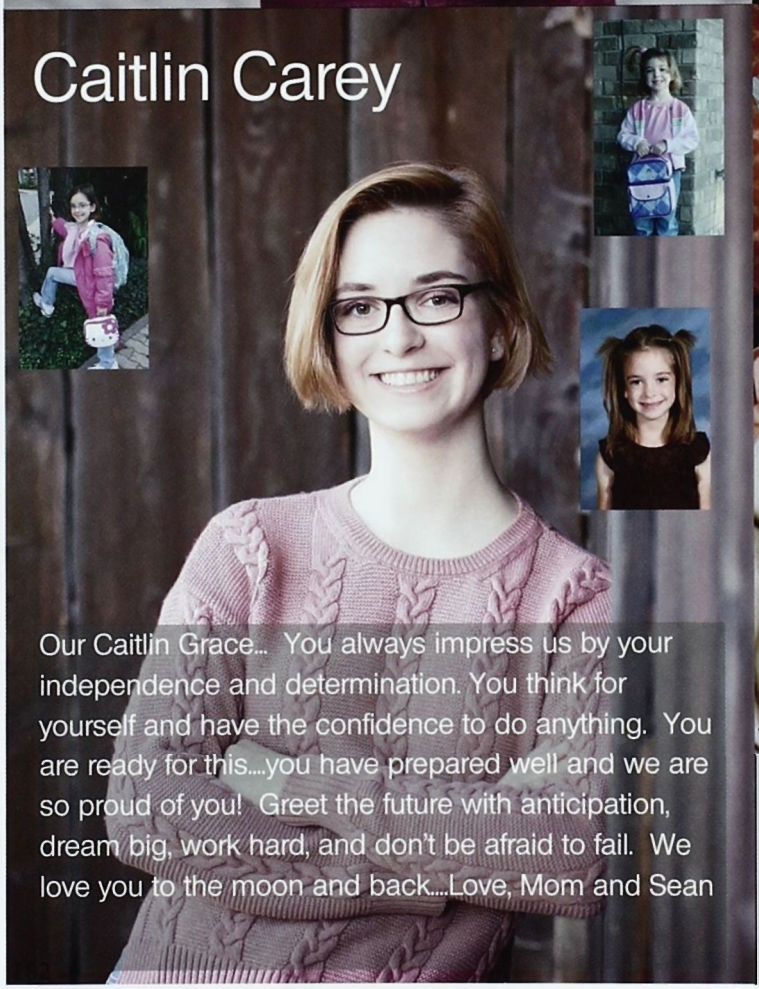
Tristan, Congratulations!
From our baby in North Carolina to our little boy in Bavaria to our adolescent in Florida and now our young man in Baden Württemberg, you've come a long way. The closing of this chapter in your life only opens another one, the adventures of life beyond high school. We are very proud of your academic, athletic, and artistic accomplishments. Just remember, learning never stops, and if you do what you enjoy, success will follow.
We love you very much! Mom and Dad

Our dearest Hannah,
We are so proud of you! Your accomplishments outshine anything we've wished for you. We have no doubt you have a stunningly bright future ahead. Keep focusing on your dreams and you will amaze the world!
Love,
Dad, Mom and Julia
Hannah Cahill



Brianna Candelaria
Dear Brianna,
We have watched you grow and you always seem to explore all corners of life - from baby sister to a big sister, from being shy and reserved to being outgoing and tough, from working hard to enjoying that lazy day, from liking all colors of the rainbow to loving only purple, from loving yourself in positive ways to loving others in even a better way. And through it all, you make us proud because you are a wonderful, gentle and kind person. A bright future is ahead of you and we know you will do well. As said many times, be careful of sharks like Bruce! Always remember God and family and also that you are loved just as you love.
We are always here for you!
Love, -Your Family-



Caitlin Carey
Our Caitlin Grace... You always impress us by your independence and determination. You think for yourself and have the confidence to do anything. You are ready for this....you have prepared well and we are so proud of you! Greet the future with anticipation, dream big, work hard, and don't be afraid to fail. We love you to the moon and back....Love, Mom and Sean

Aidan Dehan
Aidan - You make us proud every day. You are a great student and a gifted athlete, but most importantly, you are a good person. Follow your interests, be kind, trust your instincts, and make good choices, Sweetie.
Much Love,
Mom, Dad and Gwyn

Bekah,

We are so proud of the woman you've become. Your strength, beauty, intelligence and humor are second to none. As you move into this new chapter and all it holds, remember you can do all things through Christ who strengthens you. This is just the beginning of the beginning. Always remember: "Because it's there."

Love,

Brianna Davis

Brianna,
From the day we knew
we were having you,
you have brought us so much joy!
You have always had a sweet
and kind spirit with a heart of gold.
You are genuine, and what you see is who you are.
You are devoted to your friends and family,
and you have a serving heart.
I know that the Lord has great plans for you
and you will go far and succeed in life.
You have said for many years
that nursing is what you want to do, and this is definitely a career that you will thrive in.
Remember to trust in the Lord and follow

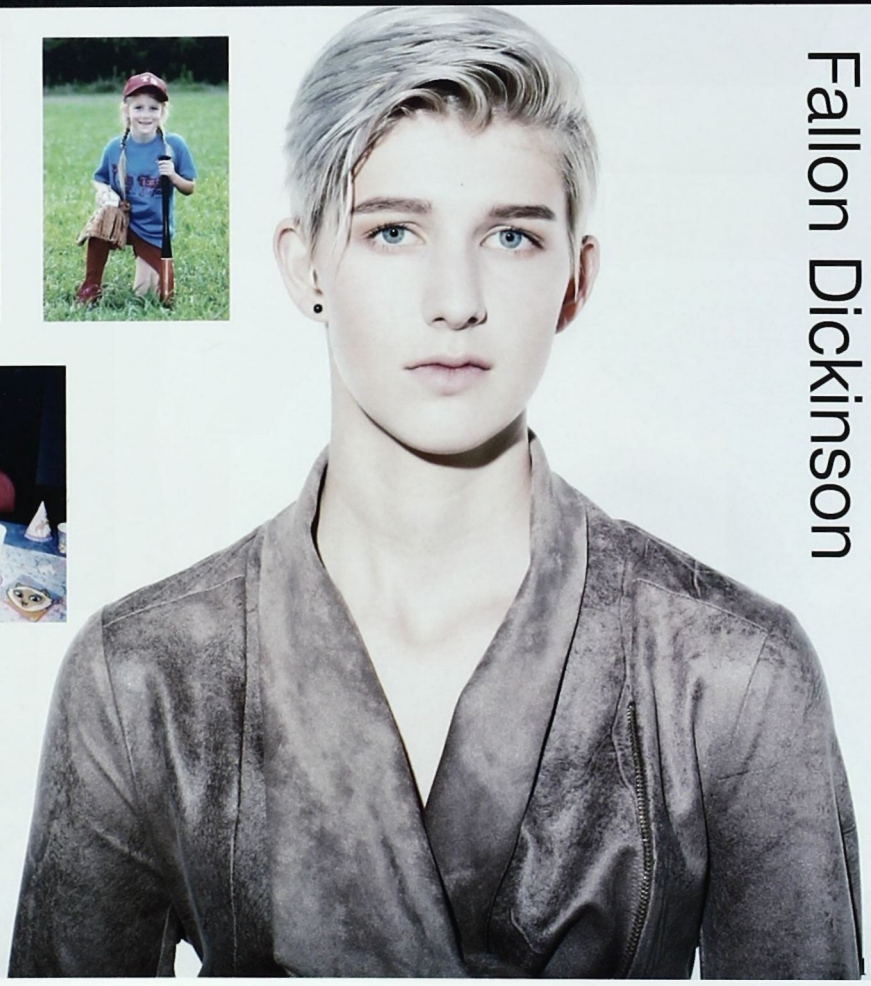
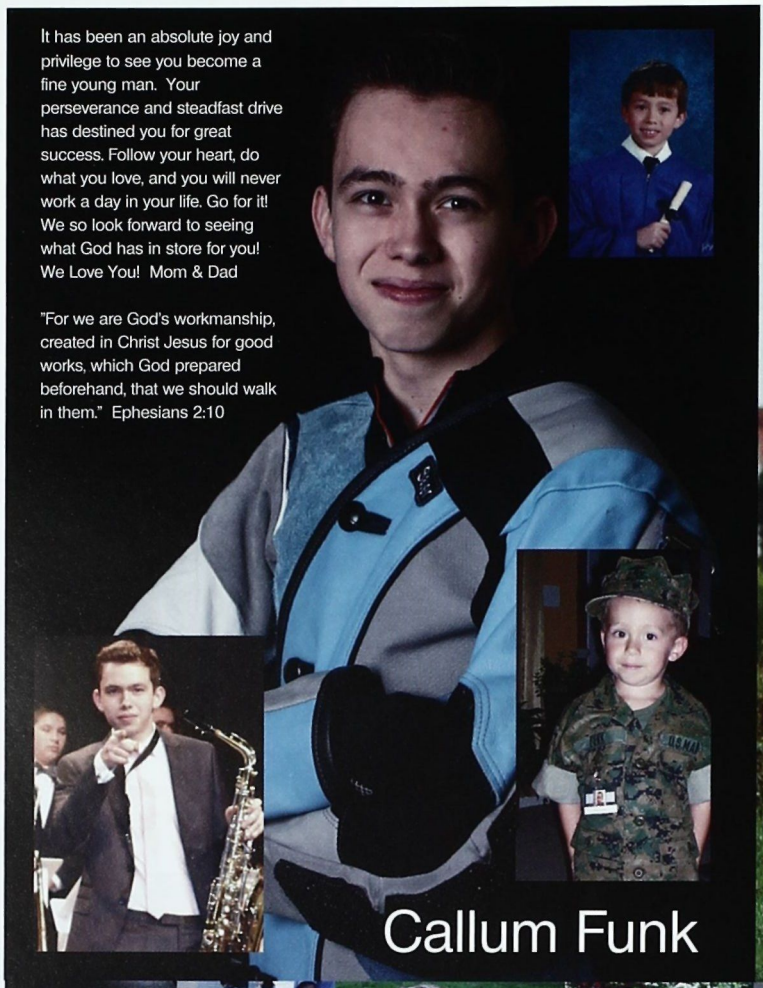
To our amazing daughters, Fallon and Eileen! You girls are beautiful inside and out! God truly blessed us with such intelligent and talented daughters. Both of you are kind, understanding, generous, and forgiving. You two never cease to amaze us with your accomplishments and how you view the world. Stay you, and stay true to yourselves. You both are wise beyond your years, and we learn from you everyday. Lookout world, these two are destined for greatness! We love you both to the moon and back!

Love,

Mom and Dad



Fallon Dickinson



It has been an absolute joy and privilege to see you become a fine young man. Your perseverance and steadfast drive has destined you for great success. Follow your heart, do what you love, and you will never work a day in your life. Go for it! We so look forward to seeing what God has in store for you! We Love You! Mom & Dad

Hannah Goldberg

Hannah,
Today and always, please know that we see the many unique talents and gifts you have to share. We see your brilliance and your hard-earned wisdom. We see your innocence, your courage and compassion, and the difference you make in this world. Remember, your future does not lay in front of you, it lies deep inside of you. Find your fire, because nothing worth doing comes easy. Find joy in the choices you make and always remember you are braver than you believe, stronger than you seem, smarter than you think and loved more than you'll ever know. We are so very proud of you!

So, in the words of Henry David Thoreau..."Go confidently in the direction of your dreams and live the life you've imagined."

Watching you grow has been one of the great privileges of our lives. As you end one chapter of your story and begin another, may you embark with the spirit of the child who said "I can climb up here." May you claim your future with all that you claim all things, Mason. May the roots that have grown you offer the strength to weather life's storms. May you find peace in both the rain and the sunshine. May you find joy in all of your endeavors. May you always know that you step forward carrying our pride, our support, and our love.

Kiera,

It seems like just yesterday that you were learning to walk and talk, and now you are getting ready to go to college! How time flies! We have been so blessed by you, and we know that you will be a blessing to others as you start your next adventure!
We are so proud of your accomplishments and the young woman that you have become!

We love you infinity times infinity, always and forever!!

Riley Johnson,
Life is like rodeo:
There are no practice rides.
There is always some bull &
a clown in the ring.
Hold on tight kiddo, and don't be afraid to fall.
You have a stadium of forever-fans.

Sarah Johnson

Sarah,
We are so proud of all you have accomplished these past four years. You have matured into such a wonderful young lady and we are very excited about what the future holds for you. We wish for you every happiness. The sky is the limit, and we know you will do great things! Love and support always from your family -- Mom and Dad, Grandma and Grandpa Howe, Grandma Ruth, Rachel, Rebekah, Jacob and Joseph

Alexandra Konstroffer

Our beloved Alexandra, we are so proud of the persevering and hard worker that you have become. We are amazed at your ability to achieve greatness in trying new things and goal setting, no matter how difficult the task. We lift our hats off to you, the future is yours. May God watch over you and bless each step you take on your path. We love you.

Ryan Ledbetter

Dear Ryan,
You have become an exceptional young man and we are so proud of you! Continue to set your expectations high and do not compromise - you will not fail. We look forward to seeing what the future holds for you.
-Ti vogliamo bene, mamma, papá e Grace

Traugott Lucero

"I'll love you forever,
I'll like you for always,
As long as I'm living my baby you'll be". Robert Munsch, Love You Forever

Every year you grow older, I grow prouder of such an awesome son.
You are the miracle of my life--my greatest gift.
My precious gem, I love you immensely.
Mama

Camryn Jones & Shaneé, Rodney

Camryn,
You are living proof that time truly does fly. We are extremely proud of you and all that you have accomplished. Remember this is not the end; it is only the beginning. Never forget who you are, where you've come from, and what you're capable of. Life is for the taking, so go get it.

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Natalie

Shaneé,
Although you've only been a part of our lives for a short time, we can't imagine life without you. You have truly earned your spot as our original bonus child. You are beautiful inside and out. Remember to be you fearlessly!

Love,
Mom and Dad Number 2 plus Natalie

Jordan,

We are so proud of you. You have worked so hard to get where you are. We wish that we could tell you that hard times are over; but we can't. They will come. We can tell you this though: there is nothing that you cannot overcome. We understand how difficult times have been, and have seen you rise again and again to accomplish whatever you wanted. We know that's the girl that you are now. Life is a collection of moments, good and bad. Treasure the good moments that you have, stay strong, and remember that we love you no matter what. You are at the start of a wonderful path...

Mom, Taylor, Eden, and Dad

Jordan Lenhart

Alaynah Luttrull

You have a spirit that will never cease to search for adventure.
A heart that will never stop loving big.
A soul that will dance in every rainstorm and twirl in every pretty dress.
You not only cheer on the underdog but you get in the ring and fight for him.
You inspire us all the see beauty in the everyday and continually remind us to count the happies.
As you write the next chapter in the story of your life we wish you starlit nights for dreaming and the most colorful ink to keep it fun.
We are your greatest fans and we are so blessed to call you "ours".
Congratulations precious girl.

Ryan Martin

Ryan,
You've already accomplished so much in life, and you have much to look forward to! We are so proud of the man you've become, how hard you work everyday, how everything you set out to do seems so effortless, and how you care so deeply for the happiness of the people around you. It really has been a privilege to be your parents and watch you turn into an awesome human being. We know God has big plans in store for you, and we can't wait to see what's next.
Love Mom, Dad, Evan, and Aiden

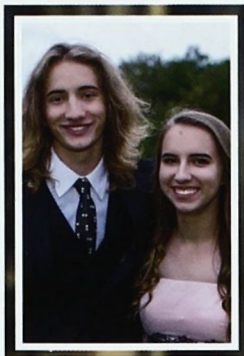
Weston,
You are an amazing young man with so much drive, compassion, and purpose. We are so proud of all you've accomplished, including piano, guitar, ukulele, sports, scouts, rifle, drill, JROTC, and graduating at 16 years old! We know you'll do great in whatever you apply yourself to. You're ready for the next chapter in your life, and it's been awesome getting to experience our lives and travel all over the world with you. Thanks for always making us laugh and keeping us on our toes! God is working on something great for you, and we are excited to see you grow and mature into the man you're meant to be.
Love Mom, Dad, Evan, and Aiden

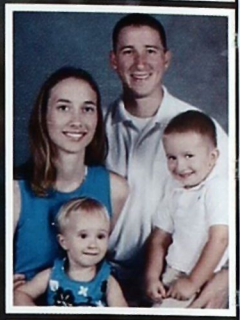
Weston Martin

George Colin Murphy

Colin,
Since you were very young, your curiosity and wit has been such a wonderful part of our family. It's hard to believe that you will soon be on your own and making us proud in your college studies. We hope that you continue to seek out and accomplish all things that you love to do. Although we will miss seeing your happy smile and hearing your sense of humor, we are proud of the goals you are about to set out to achieve. We love you very much and will always be here to cheer you on. -Mom and Dad

Carter Mitchell





Carter,

Raising you has proven to be one of our best adventures and greatest joys. Be bold, be courageous, but most of all, be kind. Your heart and integrity are what set you apart from others.

All our love, Dad, Mom and Erin

Kaitlyn Nemeth

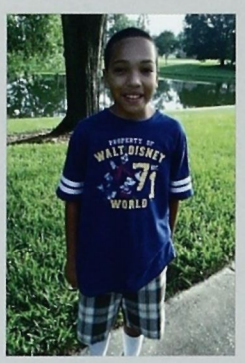
There are very few things that your mom and I truly love in the universe; it's definitely not a car or a certain piece of art; it is you, your sister and your brother.

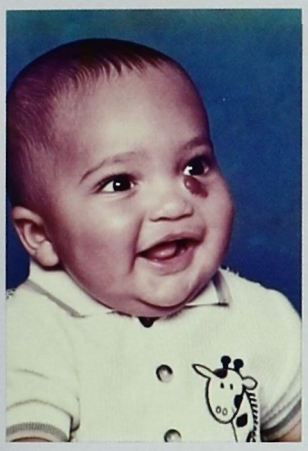
A bird knows when it is time to fly and it does this masterfully; so fly and start your own adventure, this is your life and no one owns it but you.

"All the gods, all the heavens, all the worlds, are within us."
Joseph Campbell.

We love you, Kaiti-Kaitlyn!

Derek Norris





Derek,
Senior Year is over, we can't believe it's true!
You have worked SO hard, and we couldn't be prouder of you!
Derek our firstborn, we know we made some parenting mistakes,
We are excited to watch your future unfold,
all your success, you have what it takes!
Hard working, dedicated, honest and smart,
Embrace your future with a smile and pride in your heart!
Your dreams, your future, keep telling yourself you can,
Your family will always be here to cheer you on, we're your biggest fans!

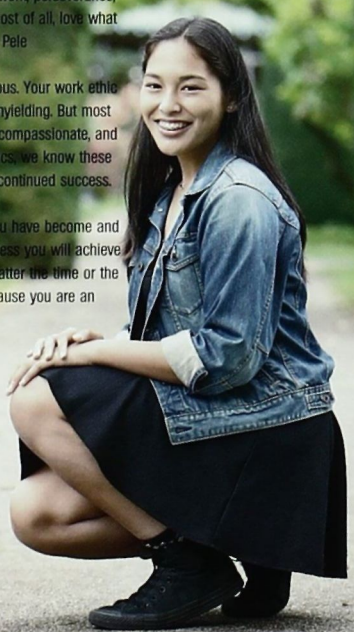
Congratulations on your graduation young man we love you so much!!!
Love,
Dad, Mom, Jackson and Lincoln

Camille Pereira

Success is no accident. It is hard work, perseverance, learning, studying, sacrifice, and most of all, love what you are doing or learning to do. – Pele

Cami, you are resilient and ambitious. Your work ethic is relentless; your determination unyielding. But most importantly, you are kind-hearted, compassionate, and genuine. On top of all the academics, we know these are the things that will drive your continued success.

We are so proud of the woman you have become and we are eager to behold the greatness you will achieve and the lives you will touch. No matter the time or the place, be true to who you are because you are an incredible person.



Jacob,
"We are so unbelievably proud of you and your accomplishments. You came into this world making all kinds of ruckus and to this day you continue to bring so much joy and laughter to this thing called life. Your compassion and giving heart is what makes you so special! Keep doing you....we believe in you! Without a doubt, you will make a difference in this world. We are truly blessed to be your proud parents! WE LOVE YOU WITH ALL OUR MIGHT!
Love,

Emberleigh Rivera

Emberleigh,
Behind you, all of your memories. Before you, all of your dreams. Around you all who love you. Within you, all you need. We are so proud of who you have become and what you have accomplished. We love you and will always be here for you so walk confidently in the direction of your aspirations.
Mama and Dada

Erin Rhodehamel

We know your future endeavours will far exceed any of our expectations. You have always been curious, determined and accepting of challenge. Your success is a given. Yet, more importantly, we hope your future holds happiness and a true love for what fills your days. You mean the world to us! Congratulations,
Dad, Mom, Sean and Loki

Hannah Rhoden

Hannah, you are an amazing beautiful person inside and out and you have the ability to go as far in life as you chose. You are a role model to all those that know you. Go everywhere and see everything, change all you can for the better. Life is your road to walk now so set a fine pace. Some words that have helped me through life I now pass on to you. Only death is certain, everything else YOU can change. The word "no" provides an opportunity to excel. NOTHING comes before family. You are from the greatest COUNTRY on earth. You will meet GOD one day, be prepared to answer for your choices. Help those you can. SACRIFICE for those you love. Stand up for others. LOVE with all your being. NEVER be late, sell out, cheat or quit, and always HONOR your word. Remember your raising and HOME is always here.

Shaneé Rodney

To our darline Shaneé,
The day you were born I knew how lucky we were to be your parents, you've always been determined and continue to be to this day. As we look back through the years and see how much of an exceptional young woman you have become, we are very proud Today you accomplished one of your many milestones, as you go forward continue being yourself, keep defining the odds and never give up on your dreams. There will be obstacles along the way but that's normal just keep pushing through."Be fearless to what sets your soul on fire" Remember you are smart Intelligent and Beautiful so as you continue to your destination please enjoy the journey because your journey will always decides how you get to your Destination. we love you and will always be your Person!!!!
Love,

Y(OUR) STORY

The production of a yearbook that stands the test of time is an arduous endeavor and requires copious amounts of love, dedication, efficiency, and a sense of "stick-to-it-ness" that not many possess. Under the loving and ever-patient guidance and direction of Ms. Shana Blankenship, who has also poured her heart and time into the 67 students creating the book, the yearbook and journalism classes have collaborated to provide the students of Stuttgart High School another installment in a long line of high-quality and stunning books.

The skilled photographers and gifted writers that have produced this astounding work have invested themselves into a collection of words and visuals that give us an accurate and elegant summation of the year. In addition to the yearbook, these journalists and photographers used their amazing talents to update the school Facebook page and the SHS Magazine, Controvocotive. In truth, a yearbook is much more than it appears. It is not an assortment of some two hundred-odd pages of writing and pictures bound in an eye-catching cover. It contains an entire year's worth of memories that one can look back fondly upon for years to come. All of the faces, names, events, and experiences are captured forever between 251 pages. Behind every picture is a story and behind every word is a thousand more that provide such depth to this breathtaking creation. The students' ideas ran wild in Ms. Blankenship's classroom as we planned out and worked on this year's book, and the only limitations we had were our imagination, creativity, and hard work. Zeitgeist '18 is unlike any book this school has ever put out. Three classes and the largest staff the yearbook has seen at Stuttgart High assisted in the production, along with 29 Dell computers, a Samsung tablet, 47 cell phones, and 28 cameras. Stuttgart High is a source of excellence and talent that will continue to put out one-of-a-kind books that enamor readers and satisfy students, as long as students are willing to put in the love and effort needed to create Zeitgeist.

COLOPHON 2018

2018 yearbook theme, "Y(our) Story," was chosen by a competitive selection process involving over 67 students that wanted the theme to follow a storytelling narrative.

Zeitgeist, our traditional yearbook name, was adopted by the 2016 staff, after leaving Patch High and the Andenken yearbook behind. Students embraced the German translation of Zeitgeist as the "spirit of the times." The 2018 cover artists Mason Hester '19, Mitchell Stoner '19, and Tristan Brandt '19 vetted eight collective cover designs from yearbook staffers and sent them to United States based cover design artist, Stephen Williams, for consultation and the final cover rendition.

The third edition of the Zeitgeist yearbook was printed by Balfour Publishing, located at 1550 W. Mockingbird Lane, Dallas, TX 75235. Our ever supportive and inspirational Balfour European Publishing consultant Ms. Karen Burbach-Barker, located at Shipston-on-Stour, CV36 4RD, England, helped us work through any problems we encountered. Lead editors Mason Hester '18, Josephine "Jojo" Salkail '19, Justice Vogler '19, Melanie Green '19, and James "Jimi" McDermott '18 and the SHS small but mighty journalism core of writers, under the direction of Alaynah "Lulu" Luttrull '18, assisted 67 staff members in making this wonderful book possible. Special thanks to to Hannah Denson '18 who completed ten pages, the class record. The Zeitgeist staff completed the main book in eight months. The twenty-eight page Spring '18 Supplement was completed and published in May, just in time for the grand Zeitgeist Yearbook Distribution and Autograph Party, hosted in June. Yearbook Club ran after school, allowing additional staff to participate. Senior, underclassmen, and staff portraits were taken by Rotary International, based in London, England.

The 208 page book was designed using Balfour Studio online portal, 29 Dell computers, one Samsung tablet, 47 cell-phones, Facebook, and 24-35mm Canon EOS SL Rebel cameras. The book features 9' by 12' large format edition used to showcase extraordinary photography and excellent writing. 100% high gloss paper and matte endsheets were used. The color scheme was based on color splashes of deep, dark reds and greens, rich blacks migrating to soft pastels, based on the content of the pages. The font families were the Olympia fonts, including Medium, Condensed, and Bold. The Drinia font was used as an accent. 525 books were produced and sold for $95.00 each during early-bird sales;the price rose to $110 during the final sales round. Sincere thanks are extended to Ms. Karen Burbach-Barker for her unfailing assistance and support principal Mr. David Carlisle for his unfailing support of the SHS Yearbook/Journalism Program. Thanks to the many patient teachers that allowed numerous interruptions to the instructional day for our real-world learning to procure photos and information. Thanks to the unfailing support of the 2018-19 Zeitgeist Staff. You have exceeded all expectations in this, the year of "Y(our) Story."

TWO DEFEATS CAUSE ISIS TO RETREAT

With the aid of US forces, two ISIS-run cities fall in Iraq and Syria, changing the region's momentum. A US-led coalition in Iraq pushes ISIS out of the major northern city of Mosul after a brutal nine-month campaign. And in Syria, a US-backed Syrian force defeats ISIS in Raqqa. Until then, Mosul and Raqqa were the twin symbols of ISIS's caliphate, its base of operations and a lure for recruits.

POPULAR MUSIC

BEBE BREAKS BARRIERS

As a songwriter, producer and featured artist, Bebe Rexha has worked with a diverse roster of artists, including Pete Wentz, G-Eazy, Martin Garrix and David Guetta. And in 2017 she releases her full-length debut, All Your Fault, showcasing her range of styles and blurring the lines between hip-hop, pop and country with inspired collaborations and crossovers.

CALVIN'S CREW ROLLS DEEP

Funk Wav Bounces Vol. 1, the fifth studio album from Scottish producer Calvin Harris, features appearances from Travis Scott, Kehlani, Future, Katy Perry, Big Sean, John Legend, Khalid, ScHoolboy Q, D.R.A.M., Nicki Minaj, Lil Yachty, Jessie Reyez, and Snoop Dogg.

BRING THE THUNDER

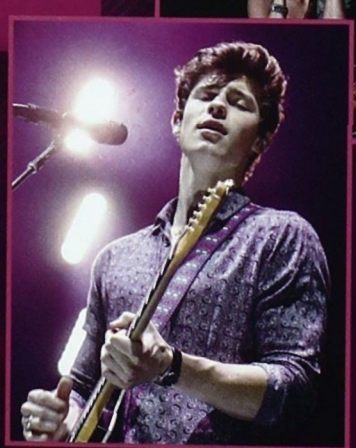
Evolve, the third studio album from Imagine Dragons, is nominated for the best pop vocal album Grammy award, and their hit single "Thunder" is nominated in the best pop duo/group performance category.

HALSEY HITS HOT 100

The second studio album from Halsey, Hopeless Fountain Kingdom, is propelled by the radio-friendly singles "Now or Never" and "Bad at Love." The latter becomes her first top 5 entry on the Billboard Hot 100 and drives Hopeless Fountain Kingdom to become her first album to top the US Billboard 200 as a lead artist.

DIVIDE AND CONQUER

Ed Sheeran is named Spotify's most streamed artist of 2017 with 6.3 billion streams. Divide is Spotify's biggest album of the year, streaming 3.1 billion times, and the song "Shape of You" nets 1.4 billion listens. But success isn't measured in streams alone – Divide wins the best pop vocal album Grammy and "Shape of You" wins best pop solo performance.



NOTHING HOLDING HIM BACK

Shawn Mendes reaches the top 10 in the U.S. and hits No. 1 on the Mainstream Top 40 chart with "There's Nothing Holdin' Me Back." Mendes becomes the first artist under 20 to have three No. 1 songs on Billboard's adult pop songs chart.

GREAT BIG STARS

Little Big Town take the Grammy stage and crush their performance of the Taylor Swift-penned hit "Better Man," showing why their Grammy win for best country duo/group performance is well-deserved.

FROM BOY BAND TO SLOW HANDS

After the break-up of One Direction, Niall Horan's first solo album, Flicker, debuts at number one in Ireland and the United States. Hit singles "This Town" and "Slow Hands" reach the top 20 in several countries.

SCORE ONE FOR THE OUTLAWS

Kentucky rule-breaker Chris Stapleton's From a Room: Volume 1 wins the Grammy for best country album, while "Either Way" and "Broken Halos" win for best country solo performance and best country song, respectively.

FROM HAVANA TO EAST ATLANTA

With the smooth flow, the laid-back melody and the piano-driven beat, you can't help but sing and sway to Cuban-American artist Camila Cabello's hit single "Havana."

SWIFTAGRAM WITH TAYMOJIS

Taylor Swift announces the launch of The Swift Life, a social media app that provides a creative place for a community of fans to better connect with other Swifties, get exclusive media, play games, collect animated Taymojis and use SwiftSends to possibly get noticed by Taylor herself!

SOMETIMES YOU CRAVE A LITTLE CULTURE

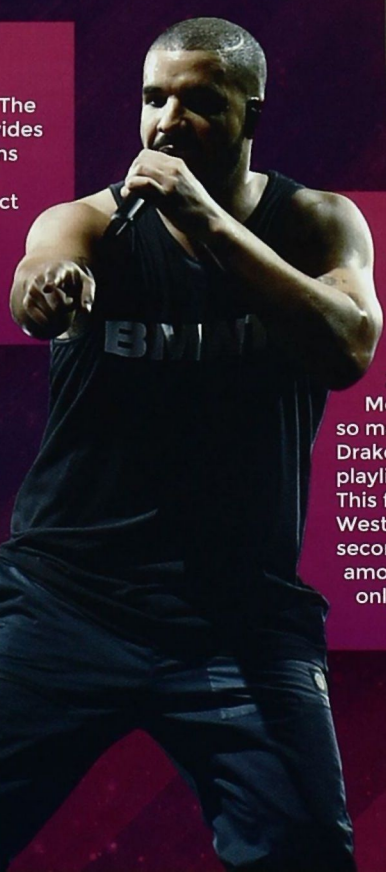
When you mash up a classical orchestra with electro-pop music you get the unique sound of Clean Bandit, the British string trio climbing the U.S. charts with their singles "Disconnect" and "I Miss You."

TIME TO GET YOUNGER

Miley Cyrus releases her sixth studio album, Younger Now, just in time for us to head back to school humming the easy-breezy melody from the title track and the top ten single "Malibu."

A GRAN VICTORIA FOR SPANISH LANGUAGE MUSIC

The infectious Latin jam "Despacito" - from Luis Fonsi and Daddy Yankee featuring Justin Bieber - is so massively influential that the video not only hits 20 million YouTube views in 24 hours, but spikes interest in Puerto Rico tourism by 45%. The duo performs the song to a standing ovation at the 60th Annual Grammy Awards, where "Despacito" is nominated in three categories.



HE HAS SO MANY GREAT FEATURES

Drake scores his seventh consecutive No. 1 on the Billboard 200 albums chart with More Life, which features so many collaborators that Drake himself refers to it as a playlist instead of an album. This feat ties him with Kanye West and Eminem for the second-most No. 1 albums among hip-hop acts, trailing only Jay-Z.

- Uncharted: The Lost Legacy

MIX LIKE THE MASTERS

The Pioneer DDJ-SB2 Serato DJ Controller features the Serato Flip function with dedicated buttons for recording and calling up sequences of hot cue operations such as repeating, skipping and gettin' this party thumpin'!

THE END OF THE HOME BUTTON

Apple has always intended to create an iPhone that is entirely screen. One so immersive the device itself disappears into the experience. And so intelligent it responds to a tap, your voice, and even a glance. And 10 years after the first button-encumbered iPhone is released, Apple brings us the iPhone X, with Face ID.

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARDS

You use your feet for a lot: standing, walking, running, probably some kicking. (Dude, be nice.) So why use your overworked feet to propel your skateboard? The electric Halo Board can scoot you along at 22 MPH for 12 miles using two 1500 watt in-hub motors for just under $1,000.

GO OR STAY, PLAY YOUR WAY

Nintendo hits us with the Switch, a home console designed to transform into a portable system in a snap, so wherever you go, Switch can go with you.

EVERYTHING LOOKS BETTER IN ONE X 4K.

If you are serious about your video games, then the only system you're looking at is the Xbox One X. With more processing power than any other console and 4K gaming, even the intentionally chunky Minecraft can't help but look spectacular.

MY INSTAGRAM GONNA BLOW UP NOW THAT I GOT MY GLO UP

Taking selfies is an art form, and the best selfographers know that lighting is crucial. That's why we love the Glo Up Selfie Case. It features two sets of LED lights to help you take perfect selfies and group photos in any lighting!
