ZEITG Spir

IST of the Times

Spirit of the Times. In 2018 and 2019, the students of Stuttgart High School have worked on, and found, the eternal spirit of our school. The school that has been the class of 2019's home for four years. We are the first class to begin as Freshmen and graduate as Seniors. Many more will follow. Yes, we were the first ones, but this shall not be the last. There will be many more generations to come, and make this school their home. These future generations will look back at times before them, and craft their own spirits into these grounds. These are the spirits of these times.

Fun In The

Sunshine, sleeping in, visiting friends and family, traveling around the world, and relaxing by the pool are all summertime activ students at Stuttgart High School look forward to and enjoy. Students and faculty alike are able to revel in the various summertime activities over the two-month break from the school year. Each summer brings new families to the Stuttgart community, and therefore new students to SHS. On the other hand, friends and families leave for the states or other countries to begin a new adventure.

Summer Travel

The Journey is My Home

Staycation

Living in Germany means having to deal with their wild German winters. Summer is the one time a year to go out and enjoy the sun. It's also an excellent time for families to go and travel the world. Many students are nowhere near their extended families and with the summer rolling up, it gives them an opportunity to travel back. Some students do not travel; they prefer to stay in Stuttgart and relax at the pool with friends and family, soaking in all the sunshine they can get. before the dark, and rainy winter sets in.

Summer Sights

Summertime is the best time to do pretty much anything. You got boatloads of activities to go along with a ton of daylight and time to complete them in. Students were released after a half day of school (which is a waste) and traditionally go to the Vaihingen pool. Next thing you know summer is in full blast. Everybody's breakin' out the sandals, shorts, and sunglasses.

Temperatures were reaching a whopping (not so much) 75 degrees! Wearing sunscreen is a necessity during the daytime. The worst thing about the summer is not getting a sunburn so bad that looking at it hurts, but the rain. Because in Germany when it rains, it pours. It can take days to clear up the rain from grassy areas. Once the sun comes back out though, it's right back to becoming a human bacon strip.

Going into July is when it heats up. The rain lessens and the days grow longer, which means more heat. The 4th of July was terrific, celebrating with country star Rodney Atkins. Can't forget the barbeque, because its not the 4th of July without a barbeque. After the concert and the barbeque, they released the fireworks. They were perfect. After that, it was back to the typical summer, heat with little rain. During late July and early August, they rainfalls came back, and they arrived in fashion. It was nice for a little, but then it just got old. Summer ended in late August when school started back up again, and students were going to miss the summer.

(Sunny Days)

When June rolls around, students are excited to get out of school and get into the sun. There's a lot to do during the summer in Europe and the U.S. For example, there's the pool down in Vaihingen, they can travel around, visit family. The list goes on and on, Many students will see their ramily or friends back in the states and sometimes go back for fun. Although, chilling up in Stuttgart under the sun is pretty fun too. You don't need to travel to find fun under the sun.

Uving in Germany, students and their families have many opportunities that most students in the United States do not have. SHS students have the convenience of being entirely surrounded by European culture. Whether one travels to Paris, Rome, Prague or Salzburg, each adventure is a new experience that makes SHS students so unique.

DO IT WITH STYLE

This school year at Stuttgart High School has been one of the most memorable yet when it comes to fashion. As military brats from across the world move to SHS, so do their styles and cultures. Here, you will find anything ranging from preppy to urban. Fashion is a medium through which someone's personality can be reflected. Windbreakers are a necessity in any 2018 wardrobe, in which their 80's aesthetic has made quite the impact on modern fashion and help to transform any look into a casual street style. Jumpsuits, being comfortable yet chic, ease the transition from summer to fall. Stripes have been present in many looks as a bold statement. Skirts have also recently taken spotlight because of their versatility.

SPIRIT SHOMECOMING 2018

Stuttgart High School, students and faculty exhibited their schoolwide pride for Fall Homecoming 2018 Spirit Week from October 9th to October 12th. Students dressed as tacky tourists, frat members, wore their pajamas, and closed out the week by dressing in their class colors. Thanks to everyone who participated, this week will be remembered by all students and faculty for years to come, reminding us of how proud we all are to be SHS Panthers. Spirit week week was captured by our incredible Zeitgeist photographers and many of our own students via social media! Students were more than enthusiastic to pose for Instagram photots and Snapchat selfies alike as they showed their Panther Pride.

THE SPIRIT WEEK Streak down &

Spirit week started on Tuesday, October 9th, with students showing up in shorts, Hawaiian shirts, high socks with sandals, wide-brimmed hats, and sunglasses in an effort to resemble tacky tourists. Some students were even so committed as to have brought digital and Kodak cameras!

Wednesday, October 10th, students dressed up in their comfortable pajamas for our underclassmen PSAT day. This day was very uneventful since 9th and 10th graders were testing almost half of the day. However, it definitely made the day more interesting seeing everyone show up in their Pajamas!

Thursday, October 11th, students wore things that represented colleges and fraternity members. A whole lot of students showed up in button-ups, khaki shorts, team jerseys, snapback hats, and sneakers!

Friday, October 12th, students dressed to show pride for their own classes of 2019, 2020, 2021, and 2022 by dressing in their own class colors; white for Seniors, pink for Juniors, black for Sophomores, and yellow for Freshman. That Friday was a sea of colors, however many may believe that the seniors stood out in their all white and gold crowns since it was their final fall homecoming!

he first pep rally of the 2018-19 school year for Stuttgart High School students was scheduled for Friday, October 12th. Each class had to wear separate colors: yellow for Freshman, black for Sophomores, pink for Juniors, and white for Seniors. All four of the classes assembled on the football field to announce the winners of Homecoming Court and to compete in friendly competitions to see which class had the most school spirit.

After announcing the Homecoming Court, the student council introduced the Senior Powder Puff Boys. They put on a tremendous and somewhat comical show. They began their performance with a cheer and then followed it with a dance, there were even a few stunts thrown into the routine. The day before, on Thursday, October 11th, the junior and senior girls played their powder puff football game. The game was close, with the luniors putting up a fight, but in the end, the seniors came out victorious.

The Student Council finished off the pep rally with the class tug-of-war competition. First up were Juniors and Freshmen; the Juniors just barely pulled through for the win. Next up were the Sophomores and Seniors, easy win for the seniors, right? Not exactly, the crowd went wild when the Sophomores dominated against the seniors. Next, the Sophomores faced off against the Juniors, and yet again the Sophomores pulled through for the victory. They ended up doing one more round: Sophomores against Staff. With the two wins behind them, the Sophomores were expecting to take the crown but were tugged back into reality as the Staff ended the match for them in mere seconds. This was an exciting end to the first pep rally for the 2018-19 school year.

HOMECOMING

The Student Council hosts homecoming every year in order to enthusiastically welcome freshmen to Stuttgart High School. The festivities began at the Night of a Thousand Lights Homecoming Dance, held at the high school cafeteria. The event had around 400 students in attendance with multiple chaperones. The Student Council decides on a different theme each year with this year's theme being "A Night of a Thousand Lights." As the theme suggests, a variety of lights hung on walls and ceilings giving the cafeteria a charming quality that is not seen during a regular school day. The vibrant, colorful lights reflected off the walls of the cafeteria for the annual dance. CJ the DJ provided the music that kept the dance floor packed all night; he played music for all tastes including current top-charts and what students call "oldies". He even played crowd favorites like "Footloose" and "Don't Stop Believing" that had the cafeteria packed nearly wall to wall with students. Group dances like "The Cupid Shuffle," the "Cha-Cha Slide," and the "Wobble." Yearbook photographers had the chance to snap many pictures of students in their formal homecoming attire.

October ushered in the holiday season and with it the annual Stuttgart Cannstatter Volksfest. People roamed around the square of events in traditional German dress and gathered in fest tents with friends and family. The second largest Oktobrerfest in Germany lasted from September 28, 2018, through October 14, 2018. Volksfest has attracted millions of people, including Stuttgart residents and tourists every year since its 1814 debut. A variety of fairground rides including ferris wheels, carousels, water rides, roller coasters, and a favorite among Stuttgart High School students, Disco Fieber, offered plenty of entertainment for adults and children alike. The smell of classic German delicacies permeated the air, while traditional Oktoberfest hearts, called Lebkuchenherzen, hung from candy stands. When asked her opinion on the 2018 Volksfest, Leona Claus '19 replied, "The rides were pretty entertaining" and then added "I had currywurst. It

Pumpkin Festival

Leave it up to Germany to host the biggest pumpkin festival in the world.

The Kürbisausstellung, or as students at Stuttgart High School know it, the Ludwigsburg Pumpkin Festival, lasted from September 2 through November 6, leaving plenty of time for families to enjoy the pumpkin-themed festivities. The festival takes place every year at Ludwigsburg Palace in Ludwigsburg, Germany. This year's pumpkin art theme was "Pumpkin Forest" which included sculptures of animals such as foxes, owls, moose, and rabbits, made from a variety of pumpkins. An enticing assortment of food made from pumpkins and Kürbiskerne (pumpkin seeds) were served while live bands provided music for all to enjoy. Over 450,000 pumpkins from around the world were displayed with short descriptions of each. If you missed it this year, be sure to take part in the tradition pumpkin festival events next September.

The Pride

As the cheerleaders chant, "Our team is WHAT?" The crowd screams "RED HOT!". The roaring of our team's supporters came crashing down on the opposing teams like the waves of the ocean to the shore. The Panther Pit brings adults and children of all ages together with only two-goals: to show SHS school pride and to cheer our teams playing; whether it be football, volleyball, tennis, cross-country, the dance team,

The bleachers at Stuttgart High School are always packed, and the crowd's excitement are at an all-time high. The games leave everyone on the edge of their seats as time drags on. Time seems to slow with every passing minute as the intensity of the games are through the roof, and no one can contain their cheers with every action the team makes.

Supportive parents draped in the school colors drifted by, holding cell phones up to snap a photo of their son or daughter. The cheerleaders did their stretches, practically bouncing with enthusiasm. Abruptly, it seemed the excitement to begin the game had been overwhelmed with tension. Hearts and voices in the bleachers were warm and filled with pride--for the school, the team, and everyone on the field that night. Written by Lauren Schmidt '21

Crashing of cymbals and pounding of drums reverberated from within the Panther Pit as the Stuttgart Legacy Drumline set the tone for only Friday Night Lights football game of 2019. It was a bittersweet event for seniors, who realized that because of a tough Europe-wide football schedule, this game would be the only Friday Night Lights for the year and the last of their high school career. It was a moment filled with pride for the students and teachers, and a fantastic victory for the football team. Stuttgart Cheer Rocks Our World

Throughout the fall season, junior varsity and varsity cheerleaders practice for a minimum of ten hours a week, and still leave time to volunteer at events on the weekends. Head Coach Nicole King and volunteer coaches Susie Newsome and Eric Newsome work day in and day out on perfecting routines for this group of ladies to perform at football games and volunteer events. Additionally, the coaches provide tumbling workout sessions on the weekends. Cheerleading proves to be a physically and mentally demanding sport, as well as time consuming. All of these responsibilities, however, seem so much easier to balance alongside a team of best friends. Although Cheer Europeans are not held until the end of winter season, teamwork and cooperation are still vital to the success of this team. Stuttgart High Panther Cheer has placed second at Euros for the past two years running, and hope with hard work, dedication, and unchallenged teamwork, they will advance to victory again this year. Stuttgart cheerleaders are full of pride and dedication for their school and their team, and are vital to the success and motivation of the Panther football teams.

bleed black, I sweat gold

Returning from a victorious —not to mention impressive— season can be found difficult alone, add to that, rivalries, missing coaches, the loss of key players, and a difficult schedule. These are all adversities Stuttgart was faced with this season in their race for a DODEA-Europe Division I playoff berth and the opportunity to defend its 2017 European championship. Despite doubt, criticism, and distractions, the Panthers were able to fight through tough losses and a plethora of injured players, making it into the playoffs. Every game was to be seen as a new game. Coach Ratcliff's iconic roaring of the team's motto "Hanta Yo" before the team dominates the field reminded every player to "clear the way" in their mind and to forget past mistakes.

This year's Panthers football team certainly played true to that statement. From tragic losses in Lakenheath to key players forced to sit out important games, every play had the complete effort from all 11 players on the field. Despite forgetting small mistakes in the game, it is definite that this past season was remarkable and is one the players will never forget.

The Panthers' excellent sportsmanship and support of one another was the envy of all Europe. Practicing for eight weeks, every afternoon, competing in six matches, repeated over four years built a team dynamic that was super strong, and our bond became like that of a family. For all of the seniors, this season was our favorite. The European championship team was historical; everyone competing from Stuttgart was a first-timer (Violet Williams '22. Amar Tahirovic '22, Olivia Schmitz '19, Casey Stophel '19, Isamar Oliveras '19. Charles Griffin '19, and Colin Roedl '21). Watching Amar win for boys singles was a great way to end the season because the support we built up created fiery momentum, and it all culminated at match point. Captains Casey Stophel '19, Olivia Schmitz '19, and Charles Griffin '19 did not know what to expect with a team almost entirely comprised of freshmen. They impressively proved to be up to the task of competing in a high school sport and learned how to commit to the court to make the team succeed for at least the next three years. Coach Smith stated she is "very proud of the team and cannot wait to see them grow."

European Championships

This year, the golf competition was fierce, but Noah Carges '20 was able to secure a spot at the 2018 European Golf Championships. The road was long, but he fought hard for two days, and his work paid off in earning him 6th place in the championships. Noah Carges also competed in European Championships alongside two others. Coach Bowman had some profound words to say about Noah's performance during the season. "I couldn't be happier for Noah. He did nothing but work hard, and execute in the finals. He was a dream to coach. His 6th place is a fitting conclusion to his junior year." Noah is very excited to play in the golf season for the next year and hopefully secure another spot in the European Championships.

SETTING THE PAR

The first match of the season was a great start! The team took third place overall, and for an almost entirely new team everyone worked hard and gave it their all. Coach Bowman could not have been happier for his team's commitment to the sport, and their success within their first game. The second match at Ramstein was a great week for our Stuttgart Golf team concluding the game with great scores all around and while not only securing third place, but also cementing team memories that lasted throughout the season. For their third match, the team traveled to Wiesbaden for their last competition before the European Championships, from the lessons learned from Coach Bowman and in-game experiences the team was able to lock down

Through the exceptional leadership of Joseph Morrow '19, Jasmine Kauffeld '19, Nicole Ansley '19, Corwin Turner '19, Conrad Varhola '20, and Jillian Ribota '20, the Piranhas were able to blow out the competition this 2018 Fall Season. The team is run by Head Coach Jenna Turner and Assistant Head Coach Mariska Field. To prepare for the Rheinland Division Championships in February 2019, the Piranhas practice for two hours before school every day of the week from September to March. Coach Turner believes that swimming "is the best part of [her] day," and the incredible dynamic of "veterans and newbies" has created a strong and powerful force in the water. The highlights of the year for the swim team was Kiersten Koning '21 and Kyle Stevenson '21, with each of them showing their incredible speed and skill in the water. Both of them placed in 1st place in the Long Distance Championships in Brugge.

What does it mean to swim? It means waking up at four o'clock every morning to practice before school starts. It means giving up the weekend for long car rides and longer swim meets in various countries around Europe. It means suffering through the pain of the sport. So why swim? To build lasting bonds with those who share the same crazy drive. To gain a sense of pride and to belong to something bigger than any one person. Also, of course, to WIN!

GOING DISTANCE

The Stuttgart Women's Cross Country exerted their dominance throughout all of DoDEA Europe this fall season from race to race. With their many returners and some new faces, Stuttgart was almost guaranteed a phenomenal season... and our Lady Panthers did not disappoint! The expertise of sophomore runner McKinley Fielding '21, as well as the leadership of captains Tatiana Smith '19, Alycia Smith '19, Mara Bartel '19, and Erin Taylor '20, aided the Panthers in their path to victory. On top of this, the sheer determination and hard work put in by all of these brave and fierce ladies propelled the team through an undefeated season. Their dedication and perseverance did not go unrecognized as our proud Lady Panthers received many accolades including a runner in the top five (McKinley Fielding '21 placed third overall!). Tatiana Smith '19 and McKinley Fielding '21 were awarded the elite title of First Team All-European, and Alycia Smith '19 and Maci Hanes '20 were namedthe Second Team All-European. Overall, this dominant season has set the tone for all future Lady Panther Cross Country teams and has set the stage for a reigning dynasty that is not slowing down anytime soon.

Men's Cross Country had a great season in which there were many obstacles. Always finishing in the top 3 and taking home a couple of first place prizes. Captains Jackson Barriger '21 and Jack Raddatz '20 had seasons to remember as they set new personal records (17:52 and 17:39 respectively). Senior captain Ryan Morrow '19 ran varsity most of the season but just missed out on Europeans this year. Landon McMinimy '22 ran under 18 minutes in every race this season, with his fastest time being 17:01 in Baumholder during Europeans. Tyler Wilson '20 and Brice Brown '21 had great seasons by the books, both racing under 18 minutes at Euros and setting personal records. Zachary Pond '21 and Ben Fielding '19 both had good seasons. Zachary set a new PR at 18:40 in Wiesbaden and Ben barely missed out on setting a new PR. The Men's team placed second at Euros, finishing off strong.

In Stuttgart, the mountains are not far away, and the students take advantage of the slopes every chance that they can get "Sitzmarkers," is the name of the communal ski and snowboard club which offers weekend ski trips to Stuttgart Students from seventh to twelfth grade three times a year. They offer high school students the chance to have fun, make friends, and the freedom to appreciate the beauty of the alluring snow-capped cliffs. These overnight trips give the students the chance to improve their ski and snowboard skills, learn how the European approach to the classic sport is different to that of the American form, and how different cultures (German, Austrian, and Italian) ski and snowboard.

Written by Michael Self '20

The age-old question remains: two planks and poles or one board? Skiing or snowboarding? Skiing is an old sport, but snowboarding has recently gained a reputation. The majority of mountain goers are skiers, but the snowboarders

are gradually threatening the numbers. Skiing is easy to learn but harder to master, and snowboarding is harder to learn but easier to master. Skiing is more natural to go off-terrain, but in an outsider's opinion, snowboarding looks like the "cooler" sport. Snowboarding is by far the much more comfortable sport; the comfortable boots, more accessible to walk, and the board is easier to carry. Skiing is the quicker sport; more comfortable to put on the skis, more effortless to get on and off lifts, and is less physically taxing. However, as the poll depicts, the students at Stuttgart High School believe that skiing is better than snowboarding.

Twinkling lights are strung across a seamless array of booths containing traditional Christmas delicacies, colorful toys, and sparkling ornaments. Blankets of snow pile around the market, giving each person an excuse to buy a warm cup of hot chocolate, Glühwein, or Kinderpunsch. It is the time of year for trips to a variety of Christmas markets across Europe and the UK. The entire Stuttgart community anticipates the Christmas time of year in Germany for its many Weihnachtsmarkts and other traditional Christmas celebrations. The Stuttgart Weihnachtsmarkt is considered one of the most beautiful with over 300 stalls to stroll around. Close by is the Esslingen Weihnachtsmarkt whose unique medieval theme makes it one of the most original and historical Christmas markets in Germany, Artists fascinate their audiences with various acts of juggling, medieval-themed music, archery, and even many dangerous acts dealing with knives and fire. December simply would not be the same in Stuttgart without its many Christmas markets both near and a few hours away. There is not a better way to spend the holiday season than to go to multiple family-oriented Christmas markets and take part in an ongoing European winter tradition.

Winter Wonderland

With bells chiming and a newfound sense of merriment in the crisp air, Stuttgart finds itself enveloped in a winter wonderland. Bright white snow adorns the once-green landscape, confirming what everyone had been hoping for since the first day of school: Christmas time! Students and faculty alike look forward to spending time with their loved ones and crossing a few more items off of the old bucket list.

As students fall victim to illustrious wanderlust, they want nothing more than to test out their wings and fly into one adventure after the next during this winter season. Some opt to embrace the cold winter as they explore the snowcapped mountains of the Austrian Alps while others want to enjoy the warm rays of the sun by hiking to beautiful lakes in California. On the other hand, some decide to embark on a "staycation" and enjoy the pleasures Germany has to offer such as warm cups of glühwein at one of the many Christmas markets residing in seemingly every village or the historical castles on the mysterious fog-filled mountains.

Christmas slowly creeps up with its twinkling light displays on the sides of houses and the constant playing of Mariah Carey's "All I Want For Christmas Is You" in every store you go to, surprising everyone when it is finally arrives and leaves before anyone can appreciate it. After the taking down of the Christmas trees and stashing of ugly sweaters, New Years Eve quickly grabs our attention. Before we know it, the clock strikes midnight and the once tranquil night sky bursts into a kaleidoscope of colors, lighting up a path to a prosperous future.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

Stuttgart High School's very own Look-Alikes and Doppelgängers

The word doppelgänger is German for double walker as in a ghost or shadow of someone else. In modern society, a doppelgänger is someone who looks almost exactly like another person even though they are not related. Even though some may perceive doppelgängers to be a bad omen foreboding mischief and bad luck, imagine what it would be like to encounter your very own doppelgänger. To happen on your look-alike would, in fact, be an extremely rare experience, but envision meeting him or her at school. Although these Stuttgart High School students and teachers may not look exactly alike, there are definitely similarities causing students and teachers to look twice in order to tell them apart.

EUROCHAMPS XI6

DoDEA-Europe sports history, earning their sixth consecutive championship in 2019, Lead by their strong senior captains, Bennie Fielding '19 and Trip Carroli '19, our Panthers edged out Ramstein after some hard-fought matches with seven finalists and five champions: Bennie Fielding '19 (138), Sean Smith '21 (145), Wesley Coglianese '19 (182), Connor Boyer '21 (195), and Trip Carroll '19 (285). This year was especially significant for senior wrestler Bennie Fielding as he finished out his senior year with his fourth European title in four different weight classes and an undefeated DoDEA career since his freshman year. Fielding's accomplishments have made DoDEA-Europe history as he is one of the few, if not the only wrestler to pull off what he has. Even though Bennie has closed out his DoDEA career, his sister, sophomore McKinley Fielding '21 has broken records with her success as a female wrestler in 2018. Stuttgart was able to bring not one but two female wrestlers who qualified for the European Tournament through hard work and dedication: McKinley Fielding '21 and Heather Ansley '20. Trip Carroll '19 completed his senior year with a third consecutive heavyweight European title, Sean Smith '21 finished off his sophomore season with his second European title despite suffering from a meniscus tear early in the season, and Wesley Coglianese '19 and Connor Boyer '21 earned their first European championship in the 182 and 195 pound brackets respectively. This year, the Stuttgart Wrestling Team is graduating eight seniors: Ryan Morrow (132), Bennie Fielding (138), Cruz Sowders (152), Greg Sanchez (160), Joe Kirkham (170), Wesley Coglianese (182), Trip Carroll (285), and Melanie Green (manager). To say that Stuttgart will not miss the overwhelming presence of their seniors and sophomore Sean Smith '21 is an understatement; however, with new athletes moving in each year and the prosperous middle school training program of Stuttgart Sabercat Wrestling, Stuttgart has a good foundation for the 2019-2020 season next year

THREE TIME Women's Basketball

The past two seasons have proven that the Stuttgart High School Lady Panthers are powerhouses on the court. They secured their third European Championship victory in three years. Women's basketball this season went to the European Championships with a 12-1 record, an improvement on last year's record. They were the leading seed for Division 1. The Panthers coached by Ms. Robin Hess were dominant, resilient, and committed to the program. Coach Hess drilled the girls to be the best that they can be in preparation for the European Championship. Going into the European Championships, the Lady Panthers were confident in their skills and combined expertise, and were able to show all of Europe who the Stuttgart Panthers are! New coaches, new players, and a new system had to be implemented before the Panthers could reach 3rd Place in the European Championship Tournament. The boys went in the final tournament with a record of 8-5, which secured them 5th Place in the Division 1 Standings.

This resulted in their bracket in the competition to be quite difficult. However, they were able to escape their opening bracket-play and emerge to the Semifinals against third seed Kaiserslautern. After a hard-fought game, the Panthers lost by just 8 points. In the battle for third, our Panthers had to face the ever-challenging Wiesbaden Warriors, where Stuttgart beat the Warriors by 7 points — ending in an overall successful season.

PA-PAN-PANTHER! POWERS

This season, the Varsity team traveled to Kaiserslautern High school with the basketball teams, providing extra panther pride. At the end of the season, the team journeyed to Wiesbaden, Germany for Europeans for the 2019 DoDEA Winter Cheer Championships, as well as to support our basketball teams. They cheer two games a day for the first three days along with up to 6-hour practices cleaning up their award-winning routine at the Cheerleading European Championships. Varsity cheerleaders Emma Lane '20 and Mackenzie Cooper's '19 hard work and dedication paid off as Emma was able to win all tournament, and Mackenzie was named MVP cheerleader.

SIX TIME CHAMPIONS

The Stuttgart JROTC Air Rifle Team has won six consecutive European Championships maintaining the Panther dynasty, with four hundred plus hours each season spent practicing and polishing rifle skills. The success of the Stuttgart Panther Rifle Team is due to the patience, faith, and coaching of SFC Raul Pinon. His coaching methods, as well as the obedience and discipline of his athletes, have led to their winning streak. Freshman Maria Tortorelli spearheaded the team this year aiding in winning Europeans. According to Stars and Stripes "Tortorelli joined the team in September, after Coach Raul Pinon, also a Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps instructor, pointed out that she had the qualities the team needed; patience and discipline." The team advanced varsity shooters to competition at the Annual All-Services Air Rifle Competition at Anniston Alabama.

A rich history surrounds the team, which consists of skilled marksmen, that compete against other schools in sanctioned matches. Rifle's military heritage dates back to 1450 BC in Egypt where the bow and arrow were used in battle from medium to long range to fend off foes invading Egypt fortresses and kingdoms. Fast forward a millennium to 200 BC China where the bow and arrow replaced the crossbow which was used in Chinese warfare. Then in 1904, the Daisy Air Rifle was used. Later in 1955 during the Vietnam War riflemen were important in the success and survival of many men fighting for their country. Rifle Teams throughout history are critical components in military warfare and have saved many people. Written by Kewuth Andoh "21 and Brenden Kunz '19

Student Artists

What is art? Art is the expression and application of human creative skill and imagination. No school is more artistic or creative than Stuttgart High School, and we have very talented artists that are able to showcase our skills and understanding of the arts. Taught by Dr. Michael Mosby, this class allows students to be themselves and to find their own creative and individual style. The art department offers a variety of courses including Painting, Photography, Drawing, Studio Art, and AP Drawing, 2D and Painting. The AP Drawing course is designed for students that have strong backgrounds in drawing from observation and are strong drawers in a variety of media. The AP program is fast-paced. Students have to produce a minimum of 24 quality pieces in 27 weeks. Students will learn to look at and talk about artwork via critiques using the AP rubric. Students assemble a portfolio of actual works and also a digital portfolio. Both are submitted to College Board and can be used to help gain acceptance to art school. Over 90% of AP Drawing portfolios from Stuttgart High School earn 3's or higher! Written by Michael Self '20

Humanities

In addition to her engaging Language Arts classes, Ms. Dawn MacFarland teaches Humanities, the study of human culture. Over seventy students in Humanities classes study art across different cultures and time periods through multiple hands-on activities.
Students participating in this class complete a creative story writing unit during National Novel Writing Month. They also have the opportunity to make their own fashion designs using recyclable materials and create cave paintings. Ms. Dawn MacFarland expresses that she has a love for teaching humanities because "students get a small sampling of many different types of art; seeing students find at least one artistic genre they enjoy is exhilarating!"
Students with a strong sense of creativity and a will to learn about culture and the many different art forms can achieve their fine arts credit through a Humanities course. Written by Sara Kitchin '20

If you think PAN is just another PE class that you need to take, take a second guess. In this course, students learn how to do a variety of things that include both physical education and nutritional facts.

Blake Little guide his students through different activities like skiing, biking, curling, yoga, and even making smoothies. Not only that, but they learn how to execute these activities properly and on occasion some tricks. Another bonus to joining PAN is the opportunity to learn about sports and their rules and then actually get to do them. Even if it is frigid outside you can still go cross country skiing or ice skating. And if it the opportunity arises to go outside in the warm embrace of the sunshine and clear sky, you can go and play outside while still getting a tan.

SPORTS MED & Physical

Athletes are always getting injured in sports, whether it be a concussion or an ACL tear. Sports medicine helps students learn about these injuries in all ways. Blake Little teaches his students how the injuries happen most commonly and how to care for them. Not only that, but he also shows them about the human body, so they will be able to find where the injury is. Students get hands-on lessons as they can treat the injuries by "wrapping and casting" up the injured student. Another class that is vital to improving the overall health of students is Conditioning. This class gives students the opportunity to increase one's overall health by lifting weights or "pumping iron". Mike Rubino teaches his students different aspects of weightlifting and equipment management. Students in this class learn how to properly use gym equipment so one does not harm themselves while exercising.

LANGUAGES

Stuttgart High School's language department excels in the teachings of French, German, and Spanish, at both introductory and AP levels. Through the knowledge of language, teachers hope to inspire their students to connect with more individuals worldwde. One of SHS's German teachers, Frau Leah Mackenzie, says that learning a new language "sets you apart from the crowd. In applications such as for college or a job, it can catch an evaluator's attention. It can help you feel at ease rather than alone in situations where that language is spoken. Particularly for DODDS students who generally have less fear of travelling abroad than their peers in the states, it's one less barrier to the big wide world that awaits you, opening all kinds of career opportunities."

Each year, DoDEA Student Researchers are selected to showcase their year-long research projects in front of other peer researchers, mentors and former DoDEA graduate Ph.D. research judges. The growing SHS research program is under the direction of Mr. Daniel Coapstick. Four of Stuttgart High's brightest researchers, each with a unique project, competed this past week at the Junior Science & Humanities Symposium (JSHS) in Wiesbaden, Germany. They are Maddie Haggard '19 who researched potential significant drift in Supreme Court Justice Ideology, Allia Woodward '19 who compiled data on E-coli and microorganisms which produce biofuels, and Niel Wetlesen '19 who returned for his second year after being chosen for Nationals last year. (Neil was able to test more thoroughly the process of plastic decomposition after a wax worm consumption.) JSHS First Place Regional Winner Robert Miller '19 showcased his hard work in classifying a 200 million year old Plesiosaurid specimen at the Natural History Museum in Stuttgart. He placed first in oral presentations at the 2019 JSHS Europe Regional event. Robert will be among five DoDEA students invited to go to Nationals Albuquerque, New Mexico to showcase their year-long independent research. The Mission of Junior Reserves Officer Training Corps (JROTC) is "To motivate young people to become better citizens." JROTC classrooms are led by a cadet battalion, who make and manage the day to day class plans. JROTC teaches cadets, in a classroom environment, leadership skills, successful teamwork, and to take responsibility for their actions. These life lessons are not limited to the classroom as cadets will use them for the rest of their lives. Cadets are taught the basic army values, such as personal courage, respect, honor, etc., and are instilled with the sense of responsibility and dedication needed to be a better citizen and, if they choose, a United States soldier. Cadets have consistently gone above and beyond while inspiring pride. Cadet Battalion Commander, Alycia Smith '19, remarked that she is "incredibly proud of each one of the cadets in the Battalion. They have continuously shown great dedication and improvement throughout the course of the year. We have set goals for the Battalion, and seen them achieved one-by-one. I am honored to be the Cadet Battalion Commander for the 2018/19 school year, and I am grateful to have worked with such an amazing command and staff." Stuttgart High School's JROTC Battalion is currently the largest Army JROTC program in Europe, with 170 cadets. Stuttgart cadets take part in a multitude of unique military events, such as the annual JROTC military ball. The cadets also give back to the community in the form of volunteer work, such as the Annual VFW Buddy Poppy Drive, and they assist within community whenever it requests help.

Responsibilities of a Gadet

As JROTC is a cadet lead class, many cadets are provided with a variety of tasks to perform. These tasks are assigned depending on the role the cadet fills. For example, all cadets are assigned flag raising duty, however only cadets in leadership positions create the lesson plans, take inventory, and much more. Cadets also have to prepare and maintain uniforms for the routine inspections, which ensure that cadets are wearing their uniform properly and proudly. Cadets also learn a valuable life lesson and leadership styles, which can be seen on the left as LTC Norman K. Matzke teaches a class. Also, JROTC cadets are expected to maintain high grades in all courses, not just their own.

Advancement Via Individual Determination

AVID is a class that gives students expertise and guidance to better prepare themselves for their future in college. The program is under the direction of Ms. Claire Dickmeyer. Her dedication to mentoring points to her love of teaching and she states, "The day I stop caring about my students is the day I need to walk out of the school." With determination and organization, any student who wants to be the best they can be, this is the class for them. AVID gives the needed survival skills for higher education by helping to teach how to study, read content, take notes, and manage time; everything needed to help guide yourself through college. Approximately 95% of AVID high school graduates enroll in college with more than 63% enrolled in four-year colleges. AVID graduates persist in college at an 85% rate. Most of the students would not be where they are now without AVID, and it's a class like no other — teaching through not only Ms. Dickmeyer but the tutors who give their time and dedication to helping students achieve the best version of themselves — alming high for the best of the best always, achieving and galning opportunities, AVID.

Model United Nations

Model United Nations is an activity where students assume the roles of countries and organizations represented in the United Nations in specific committees and debate issues concerning the world. MUN encourages discussion and sharing of views between students of different schools and ethnicities. The primary goal of the SHS program is to promote awareness of international relations and issues in young people, to inspire global mindedness and an understanding of world problems, and how to combat them while providing an atmosphere where students can progress in their communication skills and onen-mindedness. The participants have an enormous amount of work to do to prepare for the Model United Nation conference in Prague. Students have to learn the specific vocabulary, choose a nation to research, find and use credible sources, write multiple different papers based on the topic of their committee, and represent their country by becoming its delegate. Once at the conference, students create and debate resolutions that will be discussed with delegates from other schools. representing nations around the world. Each nation's delegate must pay close attention to the statements given to successfully draft resolutions to help each nation get what is needed for the more significant benefit. At the end of the conference, students are given the opportunity to speak at the General Assembly, where the resolutions that passed in individual committees are presented to all of the nations to vote on. The conference brings students together from across the globe to solve real world issues and gives them an opportunity to enjoy the beautiful city of Prague. VIDEO COMMUNICATIONS & DIGITAL DESIGN ACADEMICS

Graphic arts and computer science, along with many other media and video labs, come together to create a powerful team of artists, publicists, and other media specialists to bring entertaining and insightful pieces to our Panther Nation. SHS extends to students a considerable amount of graphic art, video production classes, along with computer programming and computer-aided design (CAD). CAD classes have and still do assist the Fine Arts Department in their performances, with no greater example than this year's performance of Footloose the Musical where they helped in publicity and even set pieces for the show. The Footloose designs were the first to be approved by Rodgers and Hammerstein, one of the largest play companies in the United States who own the rights to most Broadway musicals. One notable among the notables is the new Panther Television channel hosted by our very own Geoffrey Morris '20 leading the seven-person news team in producing a new show every seminar, keeping Panther Nation informed about the week's events from clubs, sports, the school, the community, and the world. The news team has broken ground on great potential and fosters big plans, including plans for a game show and weekly interviews of notable students and staff. Everyone at Panther Television is incredibly proud of their first and unfortunately last season as a class.

LITERATURE Academics

It is through literature that life is understood and value is added through recollections of the past and fantasies for the future. Stuttgart High School's language arts department offers students a way to broaden their knowledge of classic literature and inspire them to pursue writing. The numerous literature and language arts classes offered at SHS provide a wide selection for students to choose from. These classes range from standard Literature and Honors Literature courses to AP Literature and AP Language Arts courses taught by Ms. Lindsey Bagnaschi, Ms. Amanda Burkman, Ms. Claire Dickmeyer, Ms. Frances Gabor, Ms. Brandi Johansen, Ms. Dawn MacFarland, Ms. Andrea Skiles, Ms. Karen Romeo, and Ms. Stormy Lucas. Students analyze classics such as To Kill a Mockingbird, The Canterbury Tales, Macbeth, and Beowulf to understand better classic styles of writing which also serve as an inspiration for aspiring writers.

In addition, students improve their public speaking skills through the presentation of projects and recitation of lines in front of their peers. The effective combination of reading, writing, listening, and speaking taught by the SHS language arts department encourages students to pursue a career in literature or writing while also bolstering the confidence of students in public speaking.

From the Periodic Table of Elements to the mixing of chemicals to create numerous reactions, the Stuttgart High School Chemistry program provides students with creative ways to earn their critical chemistry or physics credits. Through hands-on experiments, students are enabled to delve deeper into the chemical world and obtain knowledge about subjects such as atoms and molecules. Mr. Philip Bailey, Ms. Winifred Zekel and Mr. Eugene Macadagum bring the investigation of chemical properties and reactions to light disregarding the stereotype: chemistry is boring. Although a chemistry course with any teacher is bound to be full of complicated subject matter, SHS chemistry teachers incorporate many methods to help students learn both what is required and extra information to aid a student's future scientific endeavors.

PHYSICS Academics

Physics

The branch of science that deals with matter and energy and their interactions are known as physics. From mechanics to magnetism, the Stuttgart High School physics department teaches students the required skills to have and physics skills that apply to everyday life. Students participate in activities such as the Pumpkin Drop to help them apply what they have learned in class. Mr. Matthew Burkman prepares his physics classes with labs and various other activities consisting of active participation. The acquired skills aid science-driven students in their career path and help them to succeed in a university or college. Although it is a requirement to take either physics or chemistry to graduate high school, many students take physics voluntarily as it is both an enjoyable and educational class.

Students learn about topics ranging from cells to the physical makeup of an organism through labs and dissections. These difficult yet exciting first-hand experiences with microscopes and other tools allow for more in-depth expertise of given biological topics. Whether participating in a more thorough biology course, AP Biology, or standard Biology, students obtain a new understanding of life from a scientific point of view.

In addition to teaching her biology classes and club, Ms. Stephanie Payne also advises the Human Anatomy and Physiology course with an abundance of students. Human Anatomy and Physiology covers comparative anatomy, clinical situations, and the functioning of the human body as this class lead students in the scientific and medical fields. Many students have found their love for the human body via human anatomy and pronounced jobs as doctors, physical therapists, and other anatomy related careers. Ms. Payne is a wonderful teacher who is full of love for her students and for the courses she teaches. Anatomy and Physiology gives students many hands-on training opportunities to help them understand all the information they learned during the class in a much greater depth. One of the most prized events is the dissection labs at the end of the year, such as the sheep brain.. Students learn all about the eye as they take it apart, and many take it home with them. When they dissect the fetal pig, they get a chance to use all the things they learned that year at once as they analyze the internal organ systems and how they work.

NEVER TOO EARLY TO THINK ABOUT THE FUTURE

It is often difficult to figure out what one wants to do after high school graduation!. Career Practicum is designed to help students learn about potential careers that Panthers may want to pursue after graduation. This class gives the students a chance to experience and understand how specific career paths take place. Career Practicum main goals are to provide the students with actual employment to improve themselves and to boost their self-esteem through opportunities to showcase their skills and aptitudes in real settings of work. There are four programs for the students to indulge themselves in: Business and Computer Technology, Communication Technology, Health and Human Services, and Pre-Engineering and Scientific Technology. All of these strands of Career Practicum allow for our Panthers to take on a career path that may interest them in the future.

Students spend part of their time in a classroom where they learn the basics of working and maintaining a job. They then get the opportunity to experience their chosen career where they are trained and mentored throughout the entire year while they help local companies by providing some extra hands. Most students work at the elementary schools, but a select few work at the Vet Clinic, the Stuttgart Citizen, the Optometry Clinic, the ACS, and even AFN!

Mrs. Winifred "Winnie" Zekel is in charge of this amazing program. She has been teaching for over four decades, a DoDEA teacher for 41 years, and she clearly brings her expertise and experience to better aid the program. She says that the program is "student-oriented" and Career Practicum is "designed to show students the real world and prepare them for it." Written by Michael Self '20

Make a DIFFERENCE This year, the American Red Cross Youth Club raised money for the Landstuhl Fisher House alongside the National Honor Society.

In March for Red Cross Month, the club visited the Fisher House and volunteered at the Landstuhl hospital, along with holding several supply drives for a new American Red Cross Office opening in Romania. The club hosted the Holiday Cards for Heroes this December where students showed their support for the military through making holiday cards for deployed soldiers. The club hosted Vaccinate a Village this past spring, where money was raised for the Red Cross's Vaccinate a Village campaign. In the campaign, every dollar buys an MMR vaccine for someone in need, and the club held weekly bake sales to raise funds and sponsored a Super Smash Bros Video Game Tournament for the project. A team within the club also worked on the International Humanitarian Law Youth Action Campaign, which aims to educate youth and spread awareness on International Humanitarian Law with an emphasis on Health Care in Danger. Their successful year culminated with the Pen in a Box project where they collected school supplies, packed them and donated them to children in need. The Red Cross Youth Club is a great way to volunteer and give back to the community. All our members have the biggest hearts and find so much joy in volunteering their time and talents. The board is so amazed at all that the club has been able to accomplish this year and will accomplish in future years thanks to its amazing members. Written by Aidan Wright '19 and Keona Kaneshiro '19

Student-to-Student Ambassadors is a sizable club hosted by Ms. Monika Juergens. S2S assists new students helping them integrate into the school and community. During the opening days before school, S2S manages the new student orientation. This orientation includes over 75 SHS clubs and sports groups. fun icebreakers, a Brat Burn Bar-B-que run by Mr. Blake Little and Mr. Mike Rubino. The event culminates with a tour of the school. S2S hosts a parent night which gives new parents the opportunity to run through their child's schedule and meet their teachers. S2S will host the eighth-grade night for incoming first-year students. Ambassadors escorting new arrivals attend to where to eat lunch and help out the new kid(s). S2S provides a welcome packet and a checklist to make sure ambassadors have adequately prepared the new student. The list includes such items as getting a locker, meeting teachers, and securing login information to join the SHS email system. The S2S goal is a 100% acceptance of new students as they transition in and out of their schools. S2S is based on 5 core values: leadership, academics, service, finding the way, and relationships. Each value builds the S2S program on a local school campus to assist the transitioning students to learn more about the culture and community of their new home. As sponsor Monika Juergens puts it, "transition is our mission!"

Stuttgart Legacy Drumline (SLD) is rolling loud and proud into their second year. The leader of this formation is student Keona Kaneshiro '19, her enthusiasm for drums pilots SLD through many performances for the Panthers and Panther community. Graduate Marquis Jackson put into effect his dream of a drumline in 2018 and it has become an integral part of the the school community.

Written by Bo Caldwell '19

Thanks to Marquis Jackson, SHS students and the Panther community now enjoy the loud music of the Stuttgart Legacy Drumline during halftime performances at Panther games. Lead drummer Keona Kaneshiro '19 and the entire drumline are now happy to carry out Jackson's legacy.

STUTTGART LEGACY DRUMLINE

From the roar of the drums, the beat of the drummers, and the spirit of the school; the Stuttgart Legacy Drumline inspires the Panther crowd, both home and away. The ever-growing student organization has gained popularity and respect throughout the entire school. Now in its third year as an organization, the Half-Time entertainment presented by a select crew of talented and dedicated drummers has left the students receiving goosebumps. The SLD performed at all home Football games and they were even able to fundraise to make a trip to Ramstein this year. The dedicated drummers practice hard almost everyday to ensure that their performances inspire the crowds and the student athletes. The legacy of the Stuttgart Drumline will carry on into the future and inspire classes to

For others looking in, Educators Rising seems basic, a club for future teachers. The members know this is far from the truth, it is a club for every walk of life to explore their passion for education. When you first walk in, you are greeted with a huge smile from Mrs. Amanda Burkman and enticed by the sense of pride and competition that the club holds near to them. Educators Rising is no longer just a club, it is an inviting environment to discuss what it is truly like to be an educator, but for some, it is a home and sense of pride for them. Stuttgart High has been blessed to have a fantastic club, with an even more accomplished sponsor inside their school.

Every January the club gets to take their amazing members to a week-long competition where they provide students with friends, knowledge, and educational material that they would never have been presented with if it was not for this club. Stuttgart High was the second largest school to attend and placed in almost every competition they brought. Throughout the week you go to multiple stations presented by different teachers in DODEA and learn about their teaching styles and education. Not only are you given these fantastic educational opportunities, but you gain friends from all over DODEA ending the week stedding with your new friends at a lodge.

The promotion of the Spanish language and a continuity of interest in Spanish studies and culture are goals for the dedicated students in Stuttgart High School's Spanish Honor Society. Led by devoted Spanish teacher, Ms. Linda Santiago, students actively participate in fundraisers for charity organizations while also promoting Hispanic appreciation and awareness events such as the Hispanic Heritage Month event held in October. Twenty-one students are currently participating in the Spanish Honor Society with ten new inductees. The Spanish Honor Society board members aid in leading this ardent group in their events and further knowledge of the Spanish language: President Michaela-Katherine Taylor '19, Vice President Hana Olhaye '19, Secretary Mackenzie Cooper '19, Treasurer Jack Buckley '19, and Representative Vivienne Johnson '20. Ms. Santiago expresses her enthusiasm that "this year has had a membership increase of over fifty percent and has had their first ever school-wide event be a surprising success!"

German Honor Society

Stuttgart High School's German Honor Society, Delta Epsilon Phi, promotes the outstanding achievements of students who are learning German. Sponsored by dedicated teacher Ms. Ulrike Chalkley, students study the German language and the surrounding culture in Stuttgart. Twenty inductees were accepted into the German Honor Society on February seventh with President Anja Meier '20 conducting the ceremony. This continuously growing number of students always welcomes new students interested in the German language, literature, culture, and civilization. Students are inducted each year allowing German-speakers to join this close-knit group of devoted intellectuals.

In essence, biology is the study of life or living matter in all of its forms and phenomena. Ms. Stephanie Payne runs and sponsors the Biology Club allowing students who are interested in or are planning to pursue biology to put their knowledge to the test. Students can perform various experiments to create a deeper understanding of the biological world. This is also a perfect opportunity to get one-on-one help in Biology from Ms. Payne and other members of the club. From the observation of cells and bacteria to studying the insides of organisms, Biology Club provides opportunities for students to simultaneously learn about the living world, meet new people, and have fun.

An estimated 60 members participated in the Biology Club this year out of Ms. Payne's 120 students. This group of enthusiastic students is given the opportunity to attend field trips including the Landstuhl Medical Center, Luxembourg University, Forensic Science Week, and Kessler Orthopedic Surgeries. When asked how she would describe this year's Biology Club so far, Ms. Payne responded that "it's going very well." She welcomes new students and states that the Stuttgart High School science department is "always looking for new and creative ways to help [their] students get involved in the science fields by offering an array of not only courses at our school but getting them involved in research with the different universities and hospitals in the area."

Mathletes unite! The Mu Alpha Theta Honor Society, sponsored by Mr. Daniel Coapstick, is a revived organization that established itself this year. Led by Othniel Wetlesen '19, after being apart of a chapter his eighth-grade year, he put in the work to make the Society reach over 40 members. The goal of the Society is to spread their love of math to others through many events such as PIE (π) Day, a Battle Royale against the teachers, and dressing up as "Math Heros" to help the Elementary Schoolers get excited about math and all of its endless possibilities. The re-established Honor Society is looking forward to more opportunities to help the students, community, and faculty staff in the upcoming years.

Calling all aspiring poets, or simply those looking for a creative outlet, Poet's corner allows for poetic and imaginative growth!

Stuttgart High School's Poet's Corner club welcomes aspiring poets and all who want to channel their creativity into the art of Poetry. A close-knit group of students discuss and share their poetry with others who are willing to peer-edit and give constructive criticism in order to nurture each member into better poets! Poetry enthusiasts of any kind are encouraged to join as a wide range of poetry is encouraged throughout the club with the reading and sharing of professional poetry as well as the student's very own. Ms. Claire Dickmeyer is the generous sponsor of Poet's Corner in addition to teaching AVID (Advancement Via Individual Determination) and AP Literature. Below is just some of the brilliant work written by the students of the Poet's Corner Club.

Death of the Noble King

As dawn breaks, after the tragic loss of our king, I come to the realization of what the warrior of our Lord should be. A warrior flights not for his king, but For God. For God is the king of all kings.

Now that our great lord, slayer of Grendel and The Dam, a friend, a comrade, has lost his life in battle To that of the fowl, fire-vomiting beast; a creature Of greed and in the shadow of God's light.

I now feel the enlightenment of this sad event.
Enlightenment of which a warrior needs to uphold.
A shield bearer should not flee from any fight
That would condemn the fate of his king's life.

Such a deed brings great shame on him and his kin.

For he who walks the path of God and shuns the Sins put In place by the Devil, shall be rewarded in death as well as in
For his Holy-Ship shall show his ever extended love to thee.

For he, the warrior, is the sword of thy king, and A king without sword is no different than a dead man. As well as a sword is useless without a king. However, A sword can be repurposed for another king's use and love.

For that is the nature of a Kingdom's arrangement.

God will love thee as long as the path of light is traveled.

For that is the life of which we live. For the glory after death

And remembrance by his beloved and thy God.

The Week of Torment
Days go on Sun and Moon
My mind still races over and over
Sweaty palms and teary eyes
Oh why did I wait so long
My blood-pumper beats faster now
I am not sure how to feel anymore

My walking-limbs shake from terror My brain goes number from overthinking How could I let it go this far again in spite of the voices within me I ignore my cemented feet and go for it My friends shadow cast as we enter

The days are long and head-splitting Why does life feel so deathly I can not manage life anymore The big star in the sky blinds me However can I continue to go on It is time to face my fate

Step by step we go to the end Salty-water falling from my head Oh thy played oneselves once again My food-chamber gurgels in rebellion My lunch nor feelings no longer in check Oh dear tests how I dread my guts

Art Club is an organized group of student artists that come together every week to help inspire each other and bring out Stuttgart High School's creative side. Their goal is to make all students feel welcome in their own creative space and to help people use their imagination. "I think that our club is a great place to meet other people with interest in the fine arts" (Written by Kenzie Huebschman '22). Aspiring artists experiment with new materials and learn more about art with the help of other students in the club. Members of the club participate in group projects and fundraisers as well as displaying their own artistic forms of creativity during free time. Although it has been hard to get the club started this year, the art club plans to be more engaged starting second semester. The art club sponsor, Dr. Michael Mosby, brings an evident light to the atmosphere while also providing motivation and inspiration for the young artists.

This year, the HCCSC sponsored their seventh stone, one memorializing the Rothschild family on Königstraße in the city of Stuttgart. The HCCSC also completes Stolpersteine Cleaning Projects at least once a year. The HCCSC assists in the Stolpersteine Project and makes sure that no families affected in the Holocaust are forgotten. We remember what happened and support the Stolpersteine Project's mission for remembrance as well as doing our part in funding new Stolpersteine Stones every year.

Supervised by Mrs. Linda Santiago and led by Mika Taylor '19, the Peer Mentor Program is designed to help rising sixth grade students successfully transition to middle school. Every year a select group of high schoolers are chosen via application to give lessons, host activities, and form connections with the students, in order to make them feel more comfortable about their move, by incorporating "O&A" sessions, group discussions, and an open medium for expressing concerns. This is the program's second year and it has proven very successful.

ADMINISTRATION

DAWN OF A NEW DAY Principals Moss-Beaman, Renninger, and Ramaglia form the administrative team for Stuttgart High 2018-2019 (right).

REMEMBERING PANTHER NATION

I will remember that although being new is never easy, Panther Nation is incredibly welcoming. The first day I walked into Stuttgart High School, a student said: "You look lost, can I help you find someone."

That same spirit seems to exist everywhere. I try to extend that kindness to every new student to Stuttgart High School because from that first moment; I knew that Panther Nation is a family.

I will remember that Stuttgart High School is a fun place to be. Each day as I walk through the hallways and classrooms, I see your smiles – willingly working hard, but doing it with a sense of excitement. The boring classes that I grew up with are nowhere to be found at Stuttgart High School. That is not just a result of good teaching; it is also a shared belief that we achieve more when we are enjoying the struggle.

I will remember your spirit. Orientation, homecoming, championships, pep rallies, spirit days, Kindness Week – your enthusiasm for your school and each other is second to none. That first Friday night football game was so amazing – the spirit of Panther Nation was tangible. Of course, it starts with the growth mindset and hard work of the fantastic teachers and staff members. They genuinely want to provide you with the best high school experience possible. But it is you, the students, who breathe life into these events and make them into memories that will last a lifetime. Lastly, I will remember your dedication. I have worked in seven schools over my 25 years of secondary education. I have rarely if ever seen the kind of dedication you exhibit. You have shown your commitment on the sports field, in your studies and toward your community. Your incredible dedication demonstrates your commitment to your goals and your school.

It has been a fantastic year and one that I will likely never forget. Thank you Panther Nation for all of the memories. It has been the greatest of honors being your principal this year.

SENIOR

we entered Stuttgart High School as Freshmen, it was a lifeless, dusty building, filled with unopened moving boxes. The view outside the windows was framed in a chain-linked barbed wire fence and a grey cloudy sky. We were stunned at the bleakness that surrounded us, and viour years later, we are amazed by the life and spirit that our memories that now echo in the halls. The grey concrete is filled with posters, and pictures and the change continues with the next generation. Written by Melanie Green '19

The first class; all four years.

Nostalgia Bittersweet

Adversity Aspiration

Nostalgia: a wistful or excessively sentimental yearning for a return to or of some past period. Many seniors, including myself, find themselves reminiscing about simpler times, whether that be last quarter or freshman year. Why is it that as we inch towards the finish line of high school, we look behind us and not forward?

Adversity: a state of continued difficulty. In the midst of senior year, one can be overwhelmed by the reality of pending adulthood. The final lap of our high school career is a representation of challenges, whether it manifests itself in the form of nerve-wracking college decisions, the long-debated case of senioritis, and imminent life changes that lie ahead after graduation. Trust me; we'll look back on this and realize we underestimate ourselves too much.

Bittersweet: pleasant but including or marked by elements of regret. For many, this year marks our last time getting bruises from the tumultuous Disco Fiber, biting into döner kebabs, and getting drawn on in shades of red, green and blue during Fasching. We'll mull over whether or not we took advantage of our time in the heart of Europe, and hope that in a later life we will find ourselves back here again creating new memories.

Aspiration: a strong desire to achieve something high or great. D1 athletes. Archeologists. Actors. Researchers. Musicians. Leaders. These identifiers only scratch the surface of the class of 2019's impact on the world. We are not destined for greatness; greatness is destined for us. Whenever and wherever you decide to flip through these pages, I urge you to remember that we inhibited the ambition and drive to sprint headstrong past that finish line and make it our new beginning.

Congratulations our son! This is the first of many steps in the journey of your life. We are all very proud of you and what you have accomplished. We know you have a very bright future ahead. Whatever you decide to do, you will have our utmost support. Try to do whatever makes you happy and do not shy away from any challenges. Remember we will always be here for you.

Jack Buckley

Dear Jack,

We can't believe senior year is over, it seems like yesterday when you were playing with Legos. You have worked very hard to meet your goals and face many difficult challenges. We are very proud of your accomplishments, but more importantly, we are proud of the exceptional young man you have become. Your values, work ethic, and faith will take you far, we know you will accomplish great things. We are very excited for the future that lies ahead of you. May all of your dreams come true!

The most difficult part of a journey is the very first step. The second most difficult part is the very first step after you falter and be assured, you will falter. The important thing to remember is that you can begin again with... you guessed it... a single step! Start! Start where you are and with what you have. Life is a journey made up of single steps. Take chances. Make mistakes. Embrace the randomness and fear not the detours for they may lead you in an even better direction, one you hadn't even considered. After all, the only lost chance is the one not taken.

Congratulations son, on graduating from high school and a job well done. It has been the greatest joy of our lives to be your parents and we love you more than our next breath.

Melanie Green

Sweet Melanie Jane,

We are so glad you did not stay three years old forever.

You have shown that there is nothing you can't do once you set your course.

Remember to balance your hard work and achievement with time to enjoy many of life's wonders.

We love you a bushel and a peck and a hug around the neck!

Love, Mom, Dad, Henry, and Boudin

Makaila Grimes

We are so proud of you Makaila! For everything you have accomplished, for the young woman you have become and for the joy you have given us over the years. We have no doubt you will continue to reach for the stars as you begin the next chapter of your life. This is just the beginning! We love you very much.

Love, Mom, Dad and Nathaniel

Makenzie Harrison

Congratulations Makenzie on your accomplishments, we are very proud parents. As you go through life let nothing be anxious; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. remember success comes through sacrifice anything worth having is worth working for.

Love,

Dad, Mom, and Myles

Maddie Haggard

From starting school in Mannheim, Germany to graduating in Stuttgart, we have enjoyed watching you grow every step of the way!

We are so proud of the beautiful, intelligent young lady you have become and we look forward to what your future holds.

Mariel Isakson

Mariel.

You are not just our daughter, but one of the kindest and most compassionate people we know. And more than any other accomplishment or accolade, we are MOST proud of who you are and the beautiful, amazing person you are becoming. Continue to draw close to God and let Him guide and shape you into a better version of yourself each and every day and you will never go wrong in this path of life that lies before you. Congratulations on this wonderful accomplishment. We love you Always and Forever!!

I feel like I need to be pinched, is this really happening? Are you graduating from H.S.? Sweet heart I am so proud of the women you have become. I have always called you my triple threat brains, beauty and athlete and you have definitely proven me right. Sitting here I think back on the my most vivid memories of you -When I first saw your big beautiful eyes. The moment you spit your nook out. Fighting while brushing your hair. Searching the continent for bear bear, literally and I would search a million more time to make you smile. The stories you would imagine and tell me. Your quotes - "you ate this much" "Git out of my daddy's truck right now" "Right Now?". I'm kind of mad at you for growing up so fast, who am I going to cook for when your gone? Seriously though, Im truly the lucky one! The amount of joy you bring to this world is beyond words. You will always be my best friend. I will miss your hair, smile and style. I won't to say make me proud, too late you already made me the most proud mommybear

> Love you more, Mrs. Mominque

Lilly Lakich

Lilly,

Congratulations!!! We are all so very proud of you and can't wait to see where the next step of your journey takes you. Continue to always work your hardest and don't ever sell yourself short. You are on your way to doing great things!

Love, Dad, Mom, and Abigail

Maria Cristina Liechti

Moving across four countries and three languages was not easy, yet you excelled and kept strongest in confidence and compassion. We are so proud of you. Never change a thing. Always remember it's not enough things to show, but about the adventures and stories earned along the way.

We love you. Mom, Dad, Brian, and Bones

Isabella Leone

We've watched you grow up into a loving and kind person. We know all the challenges you had to work through to get to this day but you made it.

Congratulations on reaching one of your many life goals!! We are very proud of you, keep growing and keep adding goodness and beauty to this world!

Remember: there's no limit to what you can do when you believe in yourself! Keep developing those art skills and never stop dreaming. This is who you are, Isabella, "Ti Vogliamo Bene."

Daniel Long

ALWAYS remember you are BRAVER than you think, STRONGER than you seem and LOVED MORE than you could ever imagine!!! We are so proud of you! Love Mom and Dad

Congratulations Tyler!

We can't even begin to express how very proud we are of you and the young man you have become! You truly are a fearless, loyal, loving and kind soul and you always have been. Always remember that you are strong and able to achieve anything you want for your future because YOU ARE WHO YOU CHOOSE TO BE! We love you and can't wait to see what the journey ahead has in store for you!

God Bless You,

Mom, Dad, Tristan and Mariah

The day that I've been dreading is here... you're graduating!
Although it will be hard for me to send you off into this cold, cold world, I know you will be doing amazing things to make this world a better place. So go BIG or go HOME and show them what you got! Love you, Boo!

Seiya Murphy

Seiya, the Japanese meaning of your name, is "destined for greatness." We believe that to be true, and hope you do too. You've overcome a lot in life, to become a handsome and capable young man with limitless potential for good. We are very proud of you! We hope you remember that all good things flow from God through Jesus Christ (Romans 8:32), and He loves you, as do we. We look forward to what lies ahead for you as you strive for that greatness.

Dearest Isa.

We are ALL so proud of you! You are, as aptly named by your grandfather, the Most Exalted Majesty, Princess of the Morning Sun, the Bright Smile and Queen of the Courts, and so much more! We hope you always remember to treat others as you would like to be treated, work hard, and most of all believe in yourself. So much excitement lies ahead for you, and if you ever need us, we are here.

Grace Reilein

Congratulations Grace!

We are so proud of you! It wasn't always easy, 8 moves and 7 schools, but you always made the best of it. You truly are a child of the world.

Soon you will be off on your next adventure and we can't wait to see you shine.

Love you so much! Mom. Dad and Sarah

Congratulations on your high school graduation!

We are so proud of the young lady you have become. Since you were born, your strength and fearlessness proceeded you. Perfect and beautiful, your surprising maturity and remarkable stubbornness guarded a heart of gold. An Important chapter of your life is nearing completion. Hard work and persistence have taken you far and will continue to carry you further still. No matter where you go, or how successful you become, never lose faith in yourself or God, and always sorough who you are and where you come from.

for you, and remain close to you, supporting and loving you

We love you so very much Sweetheart, Mamita, Daddito, & Roberta

To our Jack of Spades: You are the missing superlative: Best dressed. May you also be most likely to succed!

Jonathan Thomas

You have helped me make it through the tough times and supported me through the good, you're the best big brother and best friend. I know you will succeed so make your mark in the world and have fun in college! For God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind 2

Timothy 1:7- Love Jaylee

I know that your struggles have been hard for you, but they didn't take you out. They have built a stronger and greater character in you! You are a fighter and an overcomer, don't ever forget this. I'm so proud of the young man that you have become, I know that you are going to do great things, stay grounded and true to yourself. There is NO storms that you can't weather with Christ in your life. I love you. Do not conform to the pattern of this world Romans 12:2-Love Grandma

Stay encouraged and always know your worth and shoot for the stars. I know there were times you didn't understand my choices and decisions but I thank God the last choice I made for you and your sister was a true blessing for you both. I love you very much and I pray nothing but God's blessings for you. I am truly proud of you. Trust in the LORD with all your heart Proverbs 3:5-Love Your Mother

Your life has had many transitions from your personal life to your school life but you stayed the course. I love you and I'm so proud of you and the young man you've become. I look forward to seeing all that God has in store for you. I'm blessed to call you my son. I love you. Remember keep God First and never compromise, you're a true reflection of coal that has been through pressure and come out...You're a diamond! God has something great in your future. Isaiah 43:19-Love Your Mom

Wesley Coglianese

We sometimes wish you were still small. Not yet so big and strong and tall.

You filled our days with pure delight, from early morn to late at night

It seemed to us that there was a perfect plan as we watched you successfully grow from a boy to a man

We are proud of all the exceptional things you have done and we are so grateful to call you son.

Wesley,

We are exceptionally proud of you. You are an incredible, vibrant, resourceful, and courageous young man. Our pride is not a selfish pride, but is instead a pride of observation. As parents, we have tried to show and guide you, but ultimately you will decide your own path; one that is right for you. We loved watching from the stands as you performed on the baseball diamond and wrestling mat. At graduation, we will again be in the audience while you will be stepping-literally and figuratively-into the next chapter of your life. And we can't wait to sit in the stands again and watch you excel at college. We are so excited to see what YOU have in store for the world. To the Moon and Never Back, Always!

Love; Mom and Dad Semper Fidelis

Zoie Williams

You did it! Graduating high school is definitely an accomplishment. We love you so much, and are very proud of you, Although this chapter has come to an end, it's really just the beginning of your story, With your strong will and good heart, the opportunities will be limitless! We look forward to continue watching you grow as a person, and can't wait to see what the future has in store for you. -Love Mom, Dad, and Codie

Aliia Woodworth

Aliia,

We are so proud of all that you have accomplished. You have grown and matured so much over these years. You are beautiful, amazing and talented in so many ways. You are our joy. Now begins the next exciting chapter in your life. Do your best, follow your dreams and never forget your heritage. We will miss you, but the memories of our good times together give us comfort. Keep your great sense of humor, curiosity and integrity as you make your way through life. Always remember we are there for you. We love you dochka. Love,

Jackson...

As you take the next step beyond high school, congratulations on all that you have accomplished so far -- in academics, in sports, and as a leader. We are so proud of the man you have become. And we are even more excited to see the amazing things yet to come for you.

Always be The Man in the Arena. Lead when it is easier to follow.

Payton Godlewski From the moment you were born, you captured our hearts. You have continued to charm with your constant smiles, cheerful personality, giggles, and smiling eyes. You bless all those around you with the kindness of your heart and your giving, loving spirit. We are so very proud of the young lady you have become. Your intellect, charm, charisma and huge heart are what make you so special and your work ethic, drive and dedication are what will take you far in this world. We have no doubt that you will succeed in whatever you choose to do in the future. Whatever you set your sights on, you are able to achieve. You mean the world to us and have brought us a lifetime of sunshine, brightening a room when you enter. You have filled our lives with drama. beginning with your little "shows" that you put

Roberto Belizaire

Son, Congratulations on your 1st major accomplishment. Graduating High School is a big accomplishment. You have beat more odds then you may even know. Now this is your time, your time to show the world what amazing young man you are! Since birth you have been the greatest son a mother can ask for. I am so very proud of you. You have the strength to conquer any obstacle that crosses your path whether aiming at a cheerio during potty training, completing ROTC, AP courses, football, band, piano, you name it you can do whatever YOU put your mind to. As I have always said at times life won't be easy and you WILL have to work 2X harder then most, but just continue to push thru. Remember your why...your WHY is YOU! You want to succeed for YOU...many will doubt and not believe in you but know that I ALWAYS have your back and I believe there is NOTHING that you can't do. You have made me more proud then I think you will ever know. God has been good to you/us son keep him 1st! You come from royalty know that ALWAYS and reclaim or take what is rightfully yours. Work hard, never give up and you will be okay. Remember either you will work for them or they'll work for you. The easiest thing for a person to do is quit NEVER quit....give it your all and let God do the rest. The Sky is the limit. We love you Berto!

Alex Massie

Alex,

You continue to astonish us with your impressive intelligence, strong determination and enviable work ethic. Hopefully you are as proud of yourself as we are of you. We have watched in amazement as you have grown into the person you are today, and we look forward with great anticipation to see the person you will become. We love you!

"Being apart of Yearbook helped me understand how a business works and how to perform under stress effectively and efficiently."

Joel Steinbach '19

Zeitgeist: Spirit of the Times was established in 2016 with the opening of Stuttgart High School. The tedious and strenuous production of the Yearbook is a business. Students assume a $50,000 running budget. two yearbook classes, and the Zeitgeist Yearbook Club all comprising 65 active members to create 236 pages in the Zeitgelst Yearbook. The Zeitgeist production is one of the largest in DoDEA and is the only school in Europe that publishes a larger 9" by 12" format book including a "Spring Supplement" and a "World Happenings" section. Under the direction of Ms. Shana Blankenship, our Yearbook teacher, mentor, and supervisor, an environment is created that allows students to take control, have freedom, and thrive under pressure to make an unsurpassed yearbook one that will stand the test of time.

On the surface, a yearbook is merely a book that a student staff produces to record, highlight, and depict the past year. However, it is much more than that, the production of a high caliber book takes hundreds of hours, thousands of pictures, pages of writing, complex layouts and a staff of dedicated students. It is not a random assortment of images, text, and colors. The Zeitgeist team devotes their skills and intelligence to organize the abundance of pages to make the astonishing creation depict a year that will reflect accurately on the life and times at Stuttgart High. The students that make up the staff are incredibly hard-working, conscientious, and extremely resourceful. They use yearbook and journalism as a creative outlet that often balances heavy academic loads.

"It was great opportunity to create something that would last for years and when I get old I can look back and see what I did to help preserve other people's memories."

Brenden Kunz '19

Chief editors, editors, writers, photographers, page designers, graphic artists, and project managers form a team that must coordinate layers of production efforts to produce a single layout. The production staff uses photography, computers, and programs to help them complete hundreds of edits required for the production of just a single page. Stuttgart High School's most dedicated designers, artistic photographers, and skillful writers make the book what it is. From August to March students are committed to making the most memorable, beautiful, and nostalgic book that the people in the album will be able to look back on remember how good Stuttgart High School was. In addition to creating a book from scratch; the staff produces a quarterly student magazine (The Panther Pulse), maintains the Facebook page, and constructs Panther Podcasts.

Writing by Michael Self '20

"The 2019 Zeitgeist and Panther Pulse team will be remembered for their work ethic, cooperation and ability to create unique, yet traditional designs."

COLOPHON 2019

2019 yearbook theme, "Panther Nation" was chosen by a competitive selection process involving over 55 students that wanted the theme to reflect SHS traditions and school spirit. The dimensional letter adorning the jacket on the cover was an innovative first-time cover design for SHS and Balfour publishing.

Zeitgeist, our yearbook name, was adopted by the 2016 staff, after leaving Patch High and the Andenken yearbook behind. Students embraced the German translation of Zeitgeist as the "spirit of the times." The 2019 cover artists Justice Vogler '19, Geneva Barriger '19, Seiya Murphy '19, Josephine Saikali '19, and Mara Bartel '19 designed a dimensional letter jacket and took the tremendous creative risk to produce a unique cover. Notable is the spirit of cooperation that involved the opinions of so many staff.

The fourth edition of the Zeitgeist yearbook was printed by Balfour Publishing, located at 1550 W. Mockingbird Lane, Dallas, TX 75235. Our ever supportive and inspirational Balfour European Publishing consultant Ms. Karen Burbach-Barker, located at Shipston-on-Stour, CV36 4RD, England, helped us work through all issues. Lead editors Justice Vogler '19, Josephine Salkali '19, and Geneva Barriger '19, the SHS small but mighty Journalism core of writers, under the direction of Sara Kitchin '20, assisted 55 staff members in making this extraordinary book possible. The Zeitgeist staff completed the main book in eight months. The twenty-eight page Spring '19 Supplement was completed and published in May, Just in time for the grand Zeitgeist Yearbook Distribution and Autograph Party, hosted in June. Yearbook Club ran after school, allowing additional staff to participate. Senior, underclassmen, and staff portraits were taken by Rotary International, based in London, England.

The 208-page book was designed using Balfour Studioworks, 29 Dell computers, two Microsoft Surfaces, one Samsung tablet, 49 cell-phones, Facebook, and 24-35mm Canon EOS SL Rebel cameras. The book features 9' by 12' large format edition used to showcase extraordinary photography and excellent writing. 100% high gloss book paper and matte end sheets with a transparent letter jacket overlay. The color scheme was based on color splashes of dark blacks, and traditional gold tones, with an occasional accent color, matching the photography. The font families were Olympia, including Medium, Condensed, and Bold. The Drina font was used as an accent. Five hundred twenty-five books were produced and sold for $95.00 each during early-bird sales; the price rose to $130.00 during the final sales round. Sincere thanks extend to Balfour's Ms. Karen Burbach-Barker for her unfailing assistance and support and to our principals Mr. Rick Renninger. Ms. Tessa Moss-Beaman, and Dr. Heather Ramagliaf or their unwavering support of the SHS Yearbook/Journalism program. Special thanks to Ms. like Matzke, SHS registrar for data and informational analysis. Thanks to the many patient teachers and support that allowed numerous interruptions to the instructional day to accommodate our real-world learning to procure photos and information. Thanks to parents for purchasing a book and funding the program.

Thanks to the unfailing support of the 2018-19 Zeitgeist Staff. You have exceeded all expectations in this, the year of "Panther Nation."

ZEITGEIST SPRING SUPPLEMENT

Shana Blankenship Zeitgeist Advisor

The 2019 Spring Supplement captures the life and times of Stuttgart High School from March through early May. Our United States based publisher Balfour, must receive content for the main book by early March in order to publish and return the books for distribution in late May, just in time for graduation and some students' Permanent Change of Station (PCS). Unfortunately, due to these publishing constraints, we cannot include the final sporting events, like European Championships in the Yearbook Luckily, the Supplement exists to capture these events. Additionally, this is the first time Prom will be covered in the Supplement. The 28-page Supplement is under the direction of Chief Editor Marion Davison '19.

HIT! RUN! SCORE!

Throughout the 2019 baseball season, the Stuttgart Panthers has had their eyes on the prize and prioritized their goals, to better suit their team. Their first goal was to incorporate new members of the team and experiment with the outcomes. By doing so, the baseball team brought forth a diverse amount of talent and expertise to the field. The other goals for this team included the long rivalry, between Ramstein and our Panthers, their hope is to defeat the longtime rivals Ramstein Royals.

Cheers and chants sound from the dugout encouraging the batter to knock the ball out of the park as she steps up to the plate... The Lady Panthers softball team's success throughout the 2019 spring season stemmed from an undeniable team effort on and off of the field. Softball captains. Rachel Johnson '20, Lauren Scherra '20, and Isabel Craige '20, led the team toward success both in practice and during games. Another consecutive year of new coaches brought Head Coach Brandy Mosby and Assistant Coach Elizabeth Stiens along with their effective methods of instruction and constant motivation. Monday lunch sales and bake sales raised sufficient funds while also providing opportunities for team bonding. Whether conditioning during Ten Minute Tuesdays or practicing the Star Drill to improve fielding skills, the Lady Panthers put in a maximum amount of effort contributing to their many wins this season.

They can't stop What they can't catch

The 2019 Spring Track Season kicked off with months of preparation and conditioning to continue our accomplished Stuttgart High School history of Panther Track and Field. This year's team consists of close to 80 team members, headed by five incredible coaches. The female group of runners is split up into Long Distance, Sprinters, Long Jumpers, and Throwers coached by Coach E, Coach Matthew Snoeyink, Coach Jocelyn Harrison, Coach Phillip Bailey, and Coach Olga Sims; With the outstanding team captains Olivia Johnson '19, Karen Kosinski '20, Sophie Wilson '19, and Tatiana Smith '19.

Within the track and field sport there are seventeen events that range from jumps and throws to running events, all team members must be adequately trained to perform and excel in to make Stuttgart High School proud. At the beginning of the season, 82 people tried out for the track team, however only 50 runners made the cut and showed the potential to become better runners and represent Stuttgart High exceptionally.

Coach Snoeyink who coaches sprinters, says his motivation for coaching one of our most esteemed spring sports is that he believes, "It is a sport where practice and hard work can directly transfer into improved performances!"

Women's track coach, Ms. Olga Sims, facilitates the plethora of details and logistics that are needed to organize SHS's largest sports organizations. Sims stated, "What drives me to coach is seeing the growth in athletes from day one until the end of the season, seeing how they mature and persevere in face of adversity and tough competition."

Kicking It Up A Notch

After reaching the finals for only the second time in Stuttgart/Patch High School history, the Panthers continued prove their dominance on the field with a 10-0 win over Baumholder to begin the 2019 season. Despite losing eleven of the eighteen varsity players, our Panthers were able to rebuild a strong team with the help of returning players Abe Engelke '19 (Varsity Captain), Drew Arel '19, Kevin Irby '19, William Bermudez '19, Michael Self '20, Jonathan Keathly '20 and DJ Segalla '21. With this returning core and some new faces, the 2019 Panthers came out as strong as ever. After only defeating the Ansbach Cougars 1-0 the previous year, the Panthers once again proved themselves with a first half 7-0 mercy rule against the reigning D3 runner ups. The next day, the Panthers faced off against their Ramstein rivals and lost a hard fought game 2-1. Using this tough result to spur their play, Stuttgart, suffering injuries and suspension, endured a grueling trip down to Aviano and claimed a 2-0 win over the Saints in the hot Italian weather. The pre-tournament season has given the Panthers a chance to experiment and try new formations, players, and tactics in order to prepare themselves for the upcoming tournament. With hopes to do better than last year's second place, the Panthers are on the prowl Written by Michael Self '20

Heading To The Top!

The key to success for any soccer team is to have chemistry with one another. From picking someone up when they fall to motivating each other to do better, the Panther ladies' forged strong bonds that led them to victories. The Panther ladies condition, win, and lose as a team. Through the guidance of head Coach Mr. Bill Ratcliff and coaches Mr. Nathan Garrett, Mr. Erin Timmons, Mr. Matt Burkman, and Mr. Mike Kenfield, they experienced many laughs, and both good days and bad. Professional soccer player Alex Morgan stated, "[We try to] really get to know and establish relationships with teammates because they are [our] new family, and they will be the ones there for [us] when anything goes wrong". The endless running and working, along with the longest bus rides in the world all build character and a championship-winning team. The Panther Ladies hope to win their second European Championship in two years. with 14 upperclassmen. The Stuttgart Ladies hope to go undefeated in their pre-tournament season, claiming the top Division I seed. With victories over Baumholder, Ramstein, Aviano, Black Forest Academy, and K-Town, the ladies are poised to win Euros.

Drill team is a Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps team which focuses on precision marching and refining their armed drill skill. The 2019 Drill team is lead by Cadet Captain Lillian Putnam '20 and Cadet First Lieutenant Jonathan Casillas' 19 who use their expertise to lead their teammates into a successful season. Drill season starts in the spring, and the cadets immediately begin to learn their complex routines. The cadets start mastering the basics, such as the fifteen count arm, and gradually build up for harder routines, like the precision marching they are known throughout DoDEA Europe for. The team currently has twenty-five cadets in exhibition, which stands for the whole team, thirteen cadets in precision platoon, similar to a varsity team, and seven cadets in varsity squad, which is formed from the best cadets from the precision platoon. The team competes in three meets this year, starting with Vilseck, then Wiesbaden, and finally the home turf of Stuttgart where they hope to win their tenth consecutive European championship. The team is currently coached by LTC (Ret.) Norman K. Matzke and Assistant Coach Lauren Bassichis. Coach Matzke has been coaching the drill team for over nine years, earning him the respect of all of his cadets. He drives the team to be the best they can with his coaching style shining through their team quote, "We are what we repeatedly do, therefore excellence is not an act but a habit" - Aristotle. Special thanks should be given to Phaedra Putnam, for acting as the Drill Team Mom and for dedicating her time to support the cadets.

Raider Team is a Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps team that focuses on physical training and cadet challenges. This year's team is currently lead by Cadet 2nd Lieutenant Amelia Rieper '21. The team is fourteen members strong and meets threes days a week to train and practice their skills. The cadets train for knot tying, land navigation, cadet challenges, and first aid training, as well as performing physical training. These skills do not go unused, and the cadets frequently test them out on the various activities they do. The team tests out their land navigation on the regular hikes they take all across Europe, and practice these skills in anticipation for next year's competitions. The Stuttgart Raider Team currently accounts for one of the three teams which can be found in Europe. While the team currently does not compete against other teams, one goal for next year for the team is to compete against the Hohenfelds and Vilseck Raider Teams. Special thanks to the team coach, Ms. Tracy Rieper, for taking charge and coaching the team this year after MSG Anthony Bassett (Ret.) left mid-year.

JROTO BALL

"Cadets Do It Better"

- LTC (Ret.) Philip Carson

"We dedicate this evening to all the brave men and women of our armed forces serving in remote and dangerous locations around the world. Our country stands firmly behind you proud and deeply appreciative for your many sacrifices. May God bless each of you during your difficult service abroad. A grateful nation awaits your safe return home."

- JROTC 2019 Ball Dedication

The Thirty-Eighth Annual Military JROTC Ball was a fantastic and elegant dance and dinner hosted by and for the Panther Battalion. Cadets in their dress uniforms and beautiful dresses ate and danced the night away in celebration of yet another remarkable year in their illustrious history. The night opened with a presentation of the colors as well as the customary toasts, the crowning of JROTC Ball Queen C/CPT Lillian Putnam '20 (First Runner-Up C/1SG A'Sanni Wizzart '20 and Second Runner-Up C/1SG Zahria Caine '19), and speeches by various honorable guests, with the headlining LTC (Ret.) Philip Carson stealing the show with his anecdotes from his time in service.

EAGLE SCOUT AT PANTHER NATION COMPLETES ALL 137 MERIT BADGES

On behalf of the Stuttgart High School community, congratulations are in order for Gavin Kisby '20, who has just completed all 137 merit badges currently offered by the Boy Scouts of America. Gavin received his Eagle Scout 2 years ago.

It is estimated that less than 20 scouts finish completing all merit badges every year, and the rank of Eagle is very valuable since only 10 of the 80 male senators were eagle scouts,... See More

It's 8:00, and the bell rings for class. The hallways fill with the sound of locker doors slamming shut, feet hitting the stairs, and students chattering to one another. They head to their classrooms, backpacks slung over shoulders, and textbooks in hand. A day at Stuttgart High School is just about to begin, as a few students sit behind a screen and attempt to tell the stories of the staff and student body.

The goal of the SHS Facebook Page was to capture what it was like to be a student here. Rather than dedicating every post to updates on food sales or other advertisements, we wanted to showcase the life and times of the faculty and students. From band concerts and sports games — events that are staples of every American high school — to the more unique aspects of Stuttgart's culture, like Fasching and Yolksfest, we strove to provide our audience with the full experience. Additionally, Facebook Live premiered this year with six student letter of intent signings, tying families together across the ocean. Lilly Lakich '19 signed for DI Soccer at Florida Guif Coast University, Geneva Barriger '19 signed for NCAA Dill yolleyball at Methodist University, Wesley Coglianese '19 signed for NCAA Dill baseball at Southwestern University, Tatiana Smith '19 signed for IAIA DI XC and Track for Benedictine College, and Ben Fleiding '19 and Trip Carroll '19 both signed for NCAA Dill wrestling at Belmont Abbey College.

One of the most unique aspects of this page comes from its writers and editors. Alexis Davis '21, Sierra Douglas '19, and Lauren Schmidt '21 have all been writing and editing posts for the page. However, both Alexis and Sierra PCS'd about halfway through the year. Luckily, because Facebook is entirely digital, both writers were able to keep up with their work after moving. The three editors handled the workflow smoothly throughout the entire year, making sure that even though there were less people physically writing for this page, the content stayed just as captivating and compelling.

Panther Podcast

Scarlett Meads '20, launched a brand-new project this year. The Stuttgart Panther Podcast is a unique new way to connect all of the students and faculty of Panther Nation, with interviews from Ms. Dawn MacFarland, Europe District East Teacher of the Year, and Mr. Rick Renninger, principal of Stuttgart High School. Scarlett, the senior correspondent for podcast media in journalism said, "The SHS teacher/staff podcast presentations will help us to fully understand our teachers and staff and appreciate what motivates them to serve at Panther Nation."

Spring Break Fun

Frühlings-Pause, or Spring Pause is better known as Spring Break. After three quarters of long, grueling, taxing schoolwork; Spring Break was right around the comer. Living in Europe provides students the opportunity to explore and experience the places and cultures around the world. With students traveling to places such as Crete, Budapest, Malta, Mallorca, Tokyo, Rome, and Paris; Panthers were able to take a week to unwind, relax, and prepare themselves for the final stretch of the 2018-2019 School Year. As students returned from the far corners of the World with tans, souvenirs, and smiles on their faces this gave the students a much deserved early taste of the Summer-lifestyle. Zip-lining in Zimbabwe, touring in Tanzania, attractions in Amsterdam, hiking in Hungry, skiing in Sweden, biking in Berlin; all are possible adventures that created long-lasting memories for the students of Stuttgart High School. Memories that would last a lifetime. This 2019 Spring Break will go down in history as one of the greatest because of the small "Panther reunions," the exquisite destinations, the unforgettable experiences, and the overall amazing time had in the beautiful European weather. Once Spring Break passes, the students look forward to the last two months left of school, awaiting the Summer Break.

FRÜHLINGSFEST

Fest,

The most anticipated and awaited time of the year is by far the annual FRUHLINGSFEST.

Students have waited all winter for the infamous ferris wheel, rides like

Disco Fleber, chocolate strawberries, bratwurst, and great memories to be made whilst attending the carnival in downtown Stuttgart. The neon lights, amazing atmosphere, and feeling of bliss as the sun sets and the night begins. To get into the Fest sprit, students come dressed in the traditional German attire. Dirndls and Lederhosen have been popular clothing items since the 11th century. The tradition of attending Spring Fest has been ongoing of the students of Stuttgart high School for many years, and will continue to be a cherished occasion in years to come.

Stuttgart High School's very own Field Day was made possible by the joint effort of NHS and the JROTC program. Additionally, it could not have been done without the help of Ms. Stephanie Payne and Assistant Principal Dr. Heather Ramaglia. The group created a well-organized day of fun and relaxation to celebrate the end of PARCC testing. This two-week testing event was a stressful time for Stuttgart High School and Field Day was exactly what was needed to relieve students of the pressure of testing. There were numerous activities, including board games, bouncy castles, kickball, 3 V 3 basketball, and much more! The day started with the "reveal" of the 2018-2019 Yearbook Cover, which was designed by five members of the yearbook staff. A long day in the sun was enjoyed by hundreds of students, as they picnicked and engaged in friendly competition. According to Principal Rick Renninger, "I don't know if I have ever seen an entire school have that much fun in such a positive way."

This March, Stuttgart students went bravely into the wilderness alongside
Mr. Blake Little and Mrs. Lisa Ansley. This week long trip provided a select number of students the chance of a lifetime to climb mountains, forge rivers, and bond over dangerous and exciting adventures through the German Alps. Everyone had individual struggles, whether it was mental or physical, but each student was able to shine in their own way to ensure the success of the expedition. The gang was also given time for introspection through activities focusing on their emotions, preconceived notions, and latent and manifest motivations.

ROARING

Prom, usually the last event of a senior's high school curriculum, has turned into a rite of passage of sorts. A teenager transforming into an adult, ready to take on the world with what they have learned the last four years. This major event is about hanging out with the people you have related with during your time in high school, one more time before your life starts. Prom is a tradition, necessity, and a rightful experience, every high school student should experience. If one were to look at life as a book, prom is the last page of the introduction.

Wrttten by Jared Carmen '19

"Prom is a magical night, and it's a lot of fun to see everyone at their best, all dressed up. Prom is a rite of passage for our students and it is especially important for us living overseas to give our students as much of the typical American high school experience as possible."

Prom took place this year on April 27th, 2019 at the Sindelfingen Stadthalle. The year's theme was Roaring 20's and was meant to resemble the beginning of the 1920s, also known as the Jazz Age. Staples of this era included flappers, jazz music, and an overall spirit of rapid movement and change. The night was long, but went nonstop from 19:00 to 23:00, and was filled with plenty of refreshments, music, dancing, and photos to keep the students entertained. Coach Bill "Rat" Ratcliff made a special musical appearance when he took center stage and performed both an Elvis and a Billy Idol song as the crowd went wild.

Marlon Davison '19 Supplement Editor

Principal Rick Renninger says, "The PCS (Permanent Change of Station) giveth, and the PCS taketh away." Such was the case for senior Marlon Davison, editor of the Zeitgeist Spring Supplement. He and his twin sister Alaya Davison had the burden of "PCS-ing" in November from Korea. Traveling halfway around the world to relocate midway thru your senior year takes a tremendous amount of resilience and strength. Both Marlon and Alaya adjusted with grace, courage and a whole lot of grit. Marlon's "can-do," positive attitude brought an element of inspiration to a deadline-weary Publications staff mid-year. He took charge of incomplete pages and volunteered to be Editor-in-Chief of the 2019 Spring Supplement, all at a time when the long term staff had grown tired of the endless deadlines. His untimely PCS "giveth" him into our ranks, and with his dynamic presence came a sense of renewal. He motivated staff to create a stunning Supplement Marlon plans to attend Penn State University next year.

The hardest part of moving was leaving my friends. These were the people I was going to graduate with and to go off to college with. They were my family, my home. How do I deal with It? Well, it's tough. I get super nostalgic, and I think I hear or see them in a crowd and then it hits me. At the end of the day I know I'll see them again and it wasn't goodbye, but I'll see you later. That's how I deal with it."
