As we, the class of 1988, take a great step toward attaining our lifetime goals, it is appropriate to reflect on our progress thus far. With the encouragement of our families, faculty, and friends, we prepare for the challenges which lie ahead. During this last year, we evolved into a solidly united and spirited class, one of the best in the history of Patch American High School. Through Powder Puff, Toga Day, Hall and Spirit Competitions, the '88 Seniors proved that not only quantity, 150 in all, but quality counts — quality that provides a future loaded with opportunity and promise. We stand ready and willing to meet the challenges following graduation. Good luck and see you at our class reunion.

LIFE AFTER SCHOOL

Yes, it's 3:15 and school's finally out. Now what? Unfortunately some kids, not living on Patch, have to get on their buses and catch a ride home — which makes them miss the fun afternoon antics at Patch. Others go to work to make money for the weekend! A whole whopping $2.90 an hour (or for the fortunate ones — maybe a little more). Yet for the lucky unemployed Patchmites, an exciting afternoon at Patch still awaits. For the juvenile delinquents, they get a chance to spend an extra hour or two with Mr. Frese after school. For the rest of us, it is off to the mailroom to check the mail — grab what belongs to you and leave the bills behind. Now for the big decision — Go home and watch the only truly exciting TV station with all the great educational programs or check out the real action? If you are hungry you can always depend on a AFFES hamburger with those great plump tomatoes at the post cafe. Yet, bowling is always another great pastime. You get all psyched up to bowl and by the time you arrive at the luxurious Patch Bowling Center, they are greasing the lanes for league night. Well, if all else fails you can always go shopping at the PX for those rare designer fashions at that great low price. By then it is time to make tracks to the Patch Playhouse to watch those 6-month-old movies with the 6-month-old jokes. After all the fun it's now time to retire to those spacious homes with the great big bedrooms and get ready for the next exciting day in the life of a Panther.

Moral:

If you can party on Patch, — you can party anywhere.

The Class of 88

PATCH SPIKES TO CONFERENCE VICTORY

The 1987 season for the Varsity and Junior Varsity Patch Volleyball teams was a great success. Both teams' season records were 11-2. Not only did the girls' teams take conference but three team members received all conference awards: Kala Heidi, Christine Platt, and Kathy Kimball, and one team member received an honorable mention: Jeanne Tilleli. Congratulations on a great season!

The Patch High tennis team has successfully kept its title and maintained its excellent reputation of eight times undefeated team. Not only did Patch High win the conference title, but we also sent Susan Healy, Chris Femrite, Scott Kircchoff, Kelly Healy, Carrie Kohout, and Jason Knapp to the European Tennis Finals. It's all summed up by Coach Shane Washington, "Well, what can I say? Another awesome year. Undefeated Again!!"

The Girls Cross Country team had a mixed season this year winning four and losing three. During the regular season they beat Baumholder, Bitburg, Hanau, and Nuernburg. They lost to Wuerzburg, Zweibruecken, and FIS. The team placed fourth in the conference. However, in the championship meet they ran a strong meet and brought home the third place trophy. The AA Girls Champion was a Patch runner for the first time in the school's history and this runner was Jennifer Noyes.

in the school's history and this runner was Jennifer Noyes.

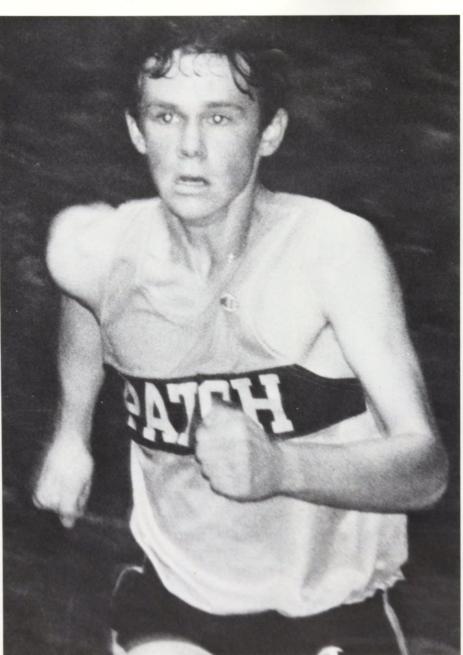

The Boys Cross Country team also had a mixed season winning three and losing four. This placed them fifth in the conference. They beat Baumholder, Hanau, and FIS. They lost to Bitburg, Nuernburg, Wuerzburg, and Zweibruecken. The team placed sixth in the championship meet. Five runners went on to run in the Central European Championships in Munich. They were: Jennifer Noyes, Ann Thrash, Danita Park, Keith Dumbleton, and Glynn Turquand.

In the seven meets Jennifer Noyes ran in this year, she placed first in four, second in two, and third in one. In the AA Championships, not only did she place first, but she also set a new course record (21:22).

All the fun and excitement started at tryouts on Nov. 17 for Patch High's first Pantherette drill team. Out of 26 girls, 14 made it. Then the strenuous practicing started. When the time came to get on the court and strut their stuff to songs such as "Bad," "What Does It Take To Win Your Love For Me!," and "I Promise You," they did more than that. They gave themselves and the audience a feeling that can't be described. After the performance, the girls realized that they had succeeded as a team, and for the first time, saw themselves as the first, the only, the Pantherettes.

With only two games left in the regular season, the girls varsity basketball team has already clinched the "AA" Conference Champion with a record of 12-0. The team is going for a perfect 14-0 record in the last weekend of the season when they take on the Wurzburg Wolves. They will be traveling to Mannheim to practice in the Big Schools Basketball Tournament.

The girls J.V. teams record stands 8-4, with two games to play. Both the J.V. and Varsity girls have relied on teamwork throughout the season to earn their wins.

FIRST ROW: Marcia Hazelwood, Priscilla Hill, Michael Maione, Mrs. Avery (sponsor), Jessica Cahill, Jennifer Bazan SECOND ROW: Angela Boatright, Naime So, Arianne Stevens.

The Junior High Brain Bowl is a competition for teams of talented Seventh and Eighth grade students. Four student teams prepared for two weeks by challenging each other to practice games. Each team was composed of four primary members plus alternates. The alternates were eligible to enter no earlier than the middle of the game, or in the play-off round. Each game contained three rounds of 15 questions each.

The results of the February school-level competition were very close. The Eighth Grade managed to achieve a close one-point victory over the Seventh Grade. After the local competition, a team comprised equally of Seventh and Eighth grade students was chosen to compete in a Stuttgart area competition in late March followed by a regional competition in Wurtzburg. Our team was sponsored by Mrs. Avery and Mr. Ridge.

The National Honor Society (NHS) has traditionally been a group whose members have had to maintain a 3.5 weighted Grade Point Average, and have qualities of leadership, service, and personal character.

The faculty members vote for eligible candidates showing these qualities. The members of NHS provide service for the community, and help to act as role models for the student body.

The Model United Nations (MUN) is an organization based on the real live United Nations. It takes part in many of the activities that a real United Nations group must do.

This year Patch was assigned the country of Brazil. After many hours or research and energy put into learning the facts about their country, Patch was ready to go to the Hague. With the help of their advisor, Mr. Lappen, a few students were selected to go to the Hague for a week. As if it were for real, countries tried to pass resolutions toward world peace. All delegates, from Freshmen to Seniors, contributed to the decisions made by their country. It was a fun trip, and a very interesting learning experience for all the members involved.

The Triad Art Class is composed of gifted and talented students. These students are interviewed by the teacher and must show examples of their work before being admitted to the class. The students are highly self-motivated, and have many future plans for a career in Art.

During the year the students have the opportunity to design posters, brochures, flyers and medals which are used throughout the community. They also help in setting up exhibits, and in preparing work for our local and regional publications: Patchwork and Sketches.

The class also has guest speakers and usually visits an art museum once during the year.

ROTC has instilled a sense of pride in every cadet. The instructors, Mr. Goldman and CSM Braffith give every cadet the opportunity to learn and enhance basic military skills such as rifle marksmanship, first aid, oral communications, drill, ceremonies, etc. Cadets keep busy with classes and field trips to round out their pre-military education.

The ROTC grill has become a school tradition. The earnings finalize a fabulous military ball, rifle and drill team activities, and a very charitable and humanitarian program. ROTC provides every enrollee with the perfect balance of "fun and learning."

In September 1987, the FBLA members of Patch High promised to fulfill their duties and promises given to them by their organization, which is the largest chapter in DoDDS-Europe. This year the FBLA members attended the Fall Leadership Conference in Mannheim; hosted their traditional Back-to-School Dance; helped Ms. Begandy host a Mini Career Day; took a field trip to Fisher Technics; went on an ice-skating trip; had their annual Christmas luncheon with speaker Ms. Kathleen Houghton from the State Department, who spoke on careers in the services; are planning to go to a Spring Conference in Frankfurt to participate in business competition skills; and also donated money to the "Just Say No" program. FBLA has had a great year and would like to extend their gratitude to all who have helped to make it happen.

In November 1987, after 8 years Patch has formed its first Jr. FBLA. There are over 40 members and it is also the largest Jr. FBLA Chapter in DoDDS-Europe. The officers were installed at the Fall Leadership Conference in Mannheim, where they promised to fulfill their duties and promises as officers, while the members took the FBLA Oath of Membership and promised to uphold the aims and responsibilities of FBLA.

This year the Jr. FBLA members have helped the Sr. High with dances, and the selling of ice cream and candy; met monthly as part of the Stuggart Council with other FBLA chapters; offered a contest for the Elementary School to save stamps, where the class who collected the most would be given a party in the Business Lab. The stamps that were saved would then be sent to Bethel, a home for the mentally retarded. The "children" there would then clean the stamps and sell them to stamp collectors, so the money could be used to support projects for the school. This was a service project which the Jr. High took over from the Sr. High. They have also organized an Easter hunt for Day Care Center, and in May, a Volksmarch where the money raised was to be sent to the March of Dimes.

Jr. FBLA had a great year, and want to thank all who have helped to make it one.

The Panther Press is the beacon of truth and information for Patch High School as seen through the eyes of students. Under the guidance of Ms. Louise Begandy, the newspaper is written, edited, and compiled by students. Over the six-year existence of the newspaper, the Panther Press has gradually evolved from a ten page newsletter to a school magazine filled with articles on sports, music, events, satire, and editorials.

The Drama Club has been resurrected after a year of absence! The most commonly asked question is, "What do you do in the Drama Club?" Well, at meetings we usually discuss plays we are interested in performing, we do improvisations, and miming, unless we have a specific workshop planned. We take field trips to plays and auditions being held in the area. So far this year, we have performed only one play, a Christmas play for the elementary school. We are currently working on a spring play and repertories for the Drama Fest.

The yearbook class has existed since 1980 when Patch American High School first opened. It is composed of dedicated students, and teaches responsibility and cooperation. The yearbook staff would like to thank the administration, faculty, staff and students who have helped our book become one of the best Patch has ever seen.

Our sponsor likes bright shiny faces in Yearbook class.

Oh, no, it's sixth hour again, already

Yearbook work is never ending

Nobody bothers me while I'm working

That's alright, but this would look so much nicer

Dear Students, Faculty, and Adminstration,

I am very proud to present the 1987-1988 school yearbook. This book is the product of many hours of dedication and hard work. We have reached our main goal — to preserve this year in the pages of our annual. We hope this book is a true reflection of the school year and will provide vivid memories in the future.

We all started this school year with high hopes and expectations of new friends, new faces, and a new world to explore. As a school and community we have experienced together all of the things that make a school year great. Through the dedication of individuals as well as groups we have upheld the reputation of excellence that Patch is known for. Being a student at Patch American High School instills a sense of pride in everyone who has ever attended classes or participated in any activities surrounding our school. Ours is a special environment; living in Germany we must learn to cooperate and take advantage of every possibility. This yearbook was designed to remind you how Patch exceeded our expectations and became a special and unique place to each of us.

Throughout the year there have been people who contributed their time and effort to our cause. First, and foremost — my staff, who put up with my demands and deadlines. Thank you for your patience and eagerness. To my yearbook sponsor, Mr. Pinschmidt, who pushed me through "Double Vision" and has taught me much more than how to produce a successful yearbook. For Mr. Brokaw, a man with great tolerance, who treated me as an adult and has my deepest respect. To Janice McCain and Mabel Ruth for their sense of humor and to Carol Quinlan for her extra effort, encouragement and wisdom. And to all of you who made my first year at Patch a memorable one.

Sincerely, Chodacki

Special thanks go to the following students for creating this yearbook: Laura Chodacki, the Editor, who handled a tough job beautifully; all the yearbook staff, including several who went far beyond the call of duty to meet deadlines, take photographs, etc. — Whitney Canon, Karmen Graves, Michelle Reckman, and Janice Williams; Dwayne Piper, one of last year's best staff members, who came to the rescue with some timely photography this year. It should also be noted that last year's splendid faculty caricature was drawn by Patrick Jacobs, whose name was inadvertently omitted from his artwork.

Adults contributed too. Our sincere thanks to Taylor Publishing Co. Rep Aimee Johnson, Ltc. Varosy, and all our advertisers, especially the PTSA. Dr. Brokaw, Mr. Young, and Mr. Frese were extremely supportive, as was the office staff. All faculty members deserve medals for putting up with the numerous disruptions which are part of the messy business of making a yearbook. John Swesen graciously tolerated more than anyone, as we rumbled the darkroom door or sought his help with various projects.

My greatest thanks go to my wife, son, and daughter who were so helpful and understanding through two most challenging years.

Why, Miss Bracken, exactly WHAT are you up to??

(. . . among other things)

Why it's called "Patch."

The Yearbook Activity heartily thanks the Patch PT-SA for their generous funding of this page and four pages of color! Their continuing contributions to so many of our school programs — including scholarships, awards, MUN, FBLA, Panther Press, NHS — are truly appreciated by everyone at PAHS.
