Patch American High School Year Book

Stuttgart — Vaihingen West Germany APO NY 09131 As we come to the end of another year at Patch High School we can all be proud of our students' many accomplishments. Those who leave because of graduation or a family move will look back on their overseas experience as one that had strong influence on their lives. We know that their time at Patch High School will figure positively in that. In the United States there is a rapidly growing movement on the part of those who have attended overseas schools to join together periodically to relive those wonderful moments. The Overseas Brats, as they affectionately call themselves, are meeting for school reunions to see teachers and students from their past. We hope that former Patch students will become a part of this movement and continue to remember the good times that we have all shared. We say thanks to all of those students who have contributed to make this year so successful. For those who are departing we extend best wishes. A special word of thanks and farewell to the Class of 1989. You are special! We will remember you and hope that in years to come you will look back affectionately as you remember your years as a Patch Panther.

Look through a yearbook and what do you see? Class Pictures, candids, friends, and all the things you did. Well there's that and more. A yearbook is a pictorial history book of one year in high school. It shows everything you and your friends did through the year. That's what this yearbook will do too.

From class pictures to the advertisements this yearbook will show you all that you have done. Ten years from now you can look back and remember all the fun and joy you had in school.

PANTHERS ON THE PROWL

We are exactly that! Although we are centrally located in West Germany, the school participates in activities that carry the students to all parts of Europe. The Model United Nations went to the Hague. Frankfurt was the spot for FBLAers, Drama Fest '89, Pascal students and some PRIDE representatives. The wrestling team traveled to Berlin and Heidelberg, The volleyball team went to Zweibrueken. A special group journeyed to Oberwesel for the Creative Connections Workshop. The basketball teams ventured to Munich (Muenchen to us). Mannheim hosted our Cheerleaders at the playoffs. Some German language classes trekked to Prague for a real out-of-the-classroom experience. Mr. Pinschmidt's lucky English students went to London and surrounding areas to look for Shakespeare's and Chaucer's "roots." Ms. Dawson's Concert Band and Harmony Express choral group competed at the International Festivals of Music in Bern. Several students attended a Journalism workshop in Nuremberg. The Rifle and Fancy Drill Team went the distance to Wurzberg. Over Spring Break, some of the student body basked in the sun of the island of Ibiza; others joined their parents on trips to Athens, Istanbul, Vienna, Moscow, Paris, and Rome. The Sitzmarker skiers fanned out in many directions: Portes die Soliel, the Stalion Dolomites, St. Moritz, Kleinarl, and Kleine Scheidegg.

We have prowled around quite a bit and left our tracks. Yet all these places have left an impression on us, too — the kind of impression that you just can't get from reading a textbook. Turn the page to see the Prowling Panthers.

SENIORS ROCK JUNIORS

It was Homecoming Week. The Seniors had been practicing, under the coaching of Tim Bowman and Sean Frazier, for two weeks. When the day finally came — there was no contest. They said it was powder-puff but many could have mistaken it for tackle. Even from the kickoff there was no hope left for the junior girls. After the game, the juniors sulked away in defeat but Seniors revelled in the thrill of victory!!

The Patch High Juniors have had a very good year. From english classes to chemistry, all in all we've been okay. Throughout the year, the class of 1990 has survived the trials and problems that we've had to deal with.

As we look forward into our future, we see many things. Next year, we will be the Seniors, and rule the school.

Prospects for the Juniors at Patch High School are high. We have much ahead: graduation, college, and many other things. We prepare cautiously for the future ahead. But even though we are not certain, we know that the class of 1990 will turn out for the better!

The Unsung Heroes At Patch

What would Patch be without our adult role models? Although we, the student body, may have differences of opinion from time to time, we admit that we need them. They guide us through our rough times, prepare us for the real world and generally try to bring out the best in us. We thank them for all their time, thoughtfulness, and patience. Soon it will be "Panthers on the Prowl" in the far regions of the Earth. But we will always remember them with grateful hearts.

Our Fearless Leaders

The Panthers began the 1988-89 season with the traditional HELLWEEK. The Panthers came out of this week of torture with a positive attitude and the desire to win. After what seemed an eternity of practice, the day of the first game arrived. The Panthers showed their stuff by slaughtering the Munich Mustangs 34-7. With one victory under their belts, the Panthers had to face their long term rivals and sparring partners, the Baumhoulder Bucs. They spanked the Bucs 14-0. Now the Panthers, confident as ever, came up against the Division A conference champions, the Augsburg Apaches. As in the weeks before, the Panthers scalped the Apaches, 14-0. This was Augsburg's first and only defeat for the season. With a 3 and 0 non-conference record, the Panthers looked towards the Mannheim Bisons for win number 4. However, the Panthers were not ready for their first conference opponent. The carnage created by the AA undefeated conference champions became a nightmare that haunted Patch throughout the season. Next came the Nuremberg Eagles. The Panthers played ''tuff.'' The defense held the Eagles to only 8 points. Three Eagle interceptions led to the final score of 29-14. The Panthers bounced back from two defeats to recreate the fall of Troy. They plundered the Zweibruecken Trojans for their fourth straight Homecoming victory. Finally, the Panthers went to face the Bitburg Barons, where they have never won a game. The Panthers pounded the Barons in a hard hitting game 13-8. This game was the climax to the 88 season. However, the two losses prevented the Panthers from attending the Big Schools Football Championship. The Panther Football team ended the 88 season with an impressive 5 and 2 record. This record was the Panther's best record since their 6 and 1 record in 1985.

The Patch High cheerleaders had very good football and basketball seasons this year. The football cheerleaders survived freezing cold temperatures and were rewarded by the team winning the games. At cheerleading camp this year the Patch High School cheerleading squad received the coveted SPIRIT STICK AWARD. In order to receive this award the cheerleading squad must show spirit for all the days of the camp and work together as a squad. The squad also has to perform exceptionally well. The basketball cheerleaders cheered their team to arouse spirit for the outcome of many close games.

A MAGICAL SEASON

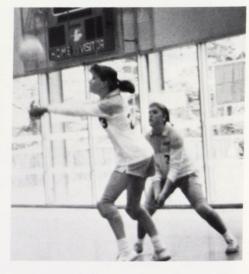

"This year's volleyball team was really special," said coach Carol Heffernan, "It was a truly magical season." The Patch Panther volleyball team was tied for second in the AA Conference. At the AA Tournament they placed third and qualified for the Big Schools Tournament. The team managed to do this with only two returning varsity players.

There were three All-Tournament players: Kala Heide, Jennie Hans and Rose Whitney. Kala and Jennie were named to the All-Conference Team and Rose qualified for honorable mention All-Conference. Our school had more All-Tournament players than any other school.

Coach Heffernan described the qualifications for the volleyball team as being dedicated, able to work well in groups, being able to think on the spot, being quick and able to jump. After one has made the team, the daily practices consist of sprints, jumps, running and stretches; all of which are warm-ups. The rest of the practices consist of drills, skill practices and scrimmages between the Varsity and JV teams when there is time.

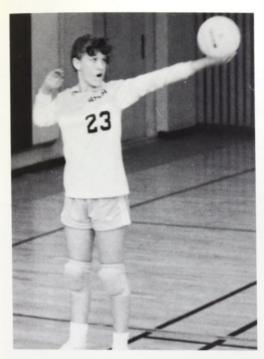

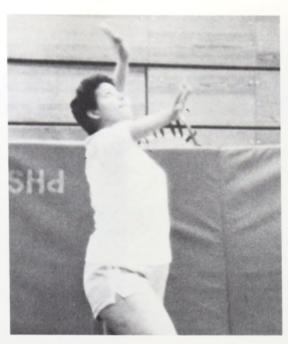

"Don't miss it, Molly!" Molly Seabrook and Nikki Jaehne.

The 1988 Women's Cross Country team had a relatively successful year. Although the individual performance was better than the team performance, we were still able to finish second in several of the races. Throughout the season, the team worked hard in achieving goals at practice as well as races. We also seemed to keep team spirit up by making the trips fun. All in all, we became closer, and that made it easier to be a team. Everyone managed to improve her time by the end of the season. And this was our success.

The Pantherettes have definitely seen a change in their second year of existence. Their "hot" year started on the Fourth of July when they sold popcorn with the cheerleaders. Next, it was on to Ramstein for Drill Team Camp, where the girls learned and perfected five routines in three days. They were then ready to practice for the upcoming basketball season, until Ms. Dawson asked them to dance with the band during Football games. They performed with the band to "The Pink Panther," "Firenza," and assisted by turning the wheel for "The Wheel of Fortune." They also showed their school spirit by adding "pep" to some of the pep rallies; performing routines and sponsoring the unforgettable "Faculty Swimsuit Expo." When basketball season came, they were ready. The performed "Body Rock", "Do You Love Me?", "Spirit Dance," "Wild Thing," "Crush On You," "I Want To Be Your Property," and "Prove Your Love" during the season. They finished their "hot" year at Mannheim, where they competed for the first time against ten other school's drill teams, and they were happy to place fifth, only being beat by three Triple A schools and one Double A school which drill teams have competed in such competitions for years. Be sure to watch for the Pantherettes next year. It's gonna be HOT, HOT, HOT!!!

After elections of officers and senators for 1988-1989, there was no stopping the Student Senate. Everyone had fresh new ideas for activities and fundraisers. In addition to regular activities, the Student Senate coordinated the PHS Activities Calendar. We learned the ins and outs of sponsoring dances, selling candy grams, and Spirit hallways. We also rewrote our constitution. With the help of all 19 senators and the guidance of Ms. Richard, we learned to cooperate with one another and to arrive at successful outcomes. Thanks to all the classes, clubs, and the student body for making our jobs easier!

The BEGINNING BAND is open to any student who wishes to learn to play a musical instrument. No previous musical training is necessary for the student, just the desire to learn and to join the ranks of the "Patch Panther Bands!" Instruction on Flute, Oboe, Clarinet, Bassoon, Alto Saxophone, Tenor Saxophone, Baritone Saxophone, Trumpet, French Horn, Trombone, Baritone, Tuba, and Percussion are offered to the student and the reward for hard work and practice is often a place with the Spring Tour Band! This year five students who started playing their instruments in September joined the Concert Band in the Bern Performances in March!

The Cadet Band and the Beginning Band join together during the winter and spring concerts and present the opening portion of the performance. Patch's Concert

Reading music and playing the flute are just two of Vici's consecutively performed talents.

As the Drum Major keeps the beat, the Band stays in step with their own music.

When Stacy Hensley informs the Band, "They went thata way," they all look in awe.

After tooting her way to the top, Jennifer Carrell plays the ''Dynasty Theme'' solo.

While striking the beat with a popular jazz, Sean Mirus and James Budd exhibit excellent fingering.

Marching Band

While waiting for their turn to waken up the auditorium with their deafening blows, the percussion section sits patiently and amuse themselves.

Being a Drum Major (or Majorette) is not an easy job. One must be able to stand up in front of a large group of peers and take control. One must know how to mark time and, most importantly, be able to cut the group off during the football season when the ball is in play. It takes a very talented team to handle these responsibilities, and Eric Bachmann and Stacy Hensley handled the chore well.

The Concert/Marching Band is the advanced instrumental performance group at Patch High School. It is made up of instrumentalists with three or more years of playing experience. The Concert/Marching Band marches at the football games in the fall (even with Cheerleaders, Pantherettes, and football players in their uniforms!) and in parades, presents special concerts in the winter and spring, and plays for the graduation exercises of Patch High School. The highlight of the year is the Spring Tour. In previous years, the Band has traveled to Walwa, Yugoslavia, Ireland, England, and Holland. The tour for the 88/89 school year was to Bern, Switzerland. The Band entered the international "Festival of Music" competition and returned to Patch High School with a trophy as a reward for the long, hard rehearsals. Leadership clinics, sightseeing tours, gab sessions with other performers, special dinners, and an award banquet/dinner dance made the trip extra special for all of the members and they look forward to an exciting year in 89/90.

Ms. Marcia Dawson is Patch High's Chorus and Band director. She has organized many activities for the music department and without her help, some of the students would not have received such experiences as "Creative Connections," Honor Band and Honor Chorus, and the Spring tour to Bern, Switzerland. I want to thank her for making this year a special one for all the musical activities she has brought. (KG)

Last summer, five members of Patch High School's FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) attended the FBLA National Leadership Conference in Cincinnati, Ohio. Susan Healy, Chris Hubert, Sean Polster, Kelly Ryan, Jonathon Walters, and their advisor Mr. Robert DeLonge, were all chosen to represnt DoDDs Germany in the National Conference which was held from June 24 to June 30. Not only did they meet some of the 4,000 people from all over the United States and other American territories, but they also learned a great deal about business. Aside from the several dances, parties, and tours of Cincinnati, the students attended workshops, helped campaign for the national offices, heard several guest speakers, and competed in several business categories.

The Conference was unforgettable because valuable friendships were made and everyone had the opportunity to see "The Best In Business."

Once again Patch FBLA became the largest in Dodds*Europe with over 130 members. The year's activities included hosting the Fall Leadership Conference; the traditional Back-to-School Dance: the Haunted House; touring Fisher Technik; hearing speakers on careers in public relations and on being a secretary; and of course, the daily sales of hot dogs and ice cream sandwiches. One of the many highlights of the year included hosting a Christmas Party for the Special Ed students from Stuttgart High School. What satisfaction we derived seeing the joy on the faces of these students that day. At present the students are actively planning for the Spring Conference in Frankfurt, where over 250 FLBAers will be in attendance participating in business competition skills, enabling the 1st place winners to attend the National Leadership Conference in Orlando. FBLA has had another awesome year and would like to extend their gratitude to the members, the parents, the teachers at Patch, the Administration and all who have helped to make it happen.

What is PRIDE?

PRIDE stands for PARENT'S RESOURCE INSTITUTE for DRUG EDUCATION, but we are a group of students pulling together to help create alternates to abusing drugs and alcohol. This was PRIDE's first year in action. It was started by five students who attended the PRIDE conference in Atlanta, Georgia. This group of students, along with many others, saw, and still sees, the need to help in the fight against drugs. We hope to help educate teachers, parents, community members, and, most of all, young people on what can happen when one abuses drugs and alcohol. We want young people to know they are just fine the way they are and to know that drugs only add to the problems young people face everyday. We want them to know to "Just Say No" and feel good about themselves. We want to help each other to make our future worth looking forward to by fighting in the war against drugs. The PRIDE members ask that you join us in the fight to protect our generation, and those to come, from substance abuse.

Sincerely, Rose M. Whitney President of PRIDE

STUDENT LIFE

Students' lives are a little different here than in the States. For one, the cars are much different; they have gone from Fords and Dodges to Mercedes and Maseratis. In the States almost all of the high school students drive to school, but not over here! Many of you have to ride a bus for an hour and a half just to get to an eight hour school day. There just isn't any justice is there?!

Germany has had a major influence on students' lives. For one thing, you have to be careful and aware as to what is going on around you. You have to carry your I.D. around and you have to think OPSEC.

How many hours of detention did you acquire this year? How many were from being in the halls without a pass, PDA, Red and Blue (tag), tardies, skipping and passing notes (Jon!)? How many of you were actually on 60 minutes? How many of you listen to the Administration? I thought so!

James "Masarati" Murati

All the comforts of home are needed by Art Hapner at school and his locker is a perfect place to stash them. (Murati)

DUMPSITES

On the first day of school you get your locker. It may be yours or someone else's; or it could be that two people are assigned to the SAME locker. Whatever the case may be, you find your locker.

Senior lockers amaze me; the Administration puts the senior lockers in the most undesirable place in front of the main office. Why's that you ask? Well, I'm not sure but I think they want to keep track of the seniors. They can't trust them. And there's another thing about senior lockers, they're never near any of the senior classes; alright maybe one or two, but still!

I love the morning announcement about putting a lock on your locker. Don't people know that there are thieves in this school that get their kicks stealing things out of lockers! Or are people that naive!?

I'll watch people go around all the lockers and try to open them. It's funny because they'll be really sly about it. Thieves aren't stupid; they know that 7th and 8th graders, as well as some 9th graders will fix their locks so you only have to turn it one number and it will open.

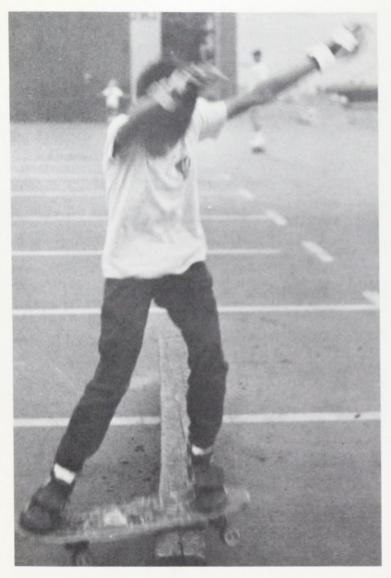

Have you ever had your lock out? Well I think I have a solution: the school provides the students with a combination lock. That way if the administration needs (or wants) to get inside a locker because of . . . whatever their reasons are . . . they don't have to cut it and you won't be out of five dollars.

MUNCHTIME

9 out of 10 students in a recent survey say that lunch time is their favorite hour. When asked, "Where do you go for lunch?" they replied with several different answers from the school cafeteria to McDonald's.

Not everyone eats lunch. Lunch time is a good time to work on that homework due next hour that you didn't do last night. It's also a good time to start that term paper assigned three months ago that's due next hour, read a newspaper to keep up on those current events, (or find a health article, again due next hour!).

During his lunch hour, Brian Peck is cramming for a test next hour. (Murati)

Catch the wave! Ben has (with a little extra!) (Murati)

AT PATCH

An unusual place for lunch but who cares as long as they (David Hayes and Scott Griffen) get something to eat. (Murati)

Seniors need excitement too! Tina Fang has her hands into it while Meg Crandall, Donna Mirus, Kala Heide, and Carla Chun get a kick out of it. (Murati)

What do high school students eat? Anything that doesn't move! "Anything that's not good for you," answers one of the students. Anything from candy to cokes (the kind you drink!).

Lunch time is also a time to get out and have some fun. Sometimes (all the time at Patch) you have to get into trouble to have some fun. Start a food fight in the school cafeteria; play in the mud and spread it all around; make mud pies and sell them to the 6th graders. We have to find something to do!

SLEEPING

In Class Teachers' points of view

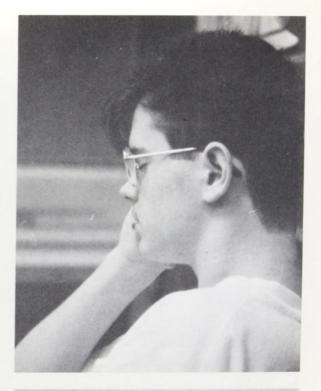

I'm sure most students have, at one time or another, fallen asleep in class. Students know why they fall asleep in class. Now, take a look at the teacher's side on sleeping in class. Most of the teachers feel that falling asleep during class is an insult. Some teachers take it personally; they feel that they are not doing their jobs right.

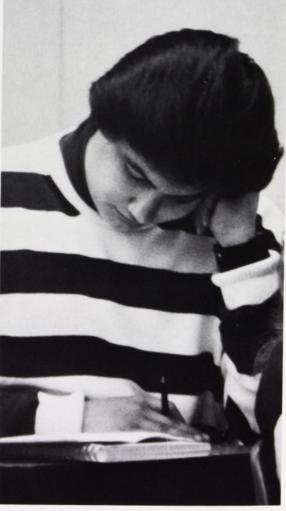

What do you do to a student that falls asleep during class? That's the question I asked the teachers, and her are some of their answers (I won't reveal which teachers do what; you'll just have to suffer!).

- 1) Send them (the students) to the nurse.
- 2) Leave the slumbering student in the room all alone with the blinds down, lights off, the clock turned back (or ahead), and the door shut.
 - 3) Slap a ruler on the students desk.
 - 4) Mist the sleeper with water.
- 5) As in number 2 plus the use of the intercom to talk to the student.
- 6) Ask the student questions the rest of the period.
 - 7) Deduct points from their grade.

The moral of the story is: don't get caught sleeping in class.

Your first reaction to "We're PCSing to Germany!" was very mixed, some of you probably don't remember. But, anyways, you soon found out that there were a lot of changes in lifestyle, and of course the language barrier was difficult (and for some it still is). Some of you love Germany and some don't. Most would agree that if the Mark rate was better, you would enjoy it more.

MAY YOU HAVE

Enough happiness to keep you sweet,
Enough trials to keep you strong,
Enough sorrow to keep you happy;
Enough failure to keep you humble,
Enough success to keep you eager,
Enough friends to give you comfort,
Enough wealth to meet your needs;
Enough enthusiasm to look forward to,
Enough faith to banish depression,
Enough determination to make each day better than yesterday.

CONGRATULATIONS, MATT! You finally made it!!! Through the years, you attended schools in Florida, Tennessee, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Jersey, Germany. You worked as a corn detassler, a Great Adventure ticket clerk, made hamburgers at McDonalds, worked as a theatre attendant, a Burger King burger maker, and AAFES employee making The World's Greatest Pizzas, a EUCOM postal employee, and last but not least, a computer operator at the Wallace Barracks DPI. During your school years, you left friends behind and made new ones. You entered schools not knowing anyone and quickly made new friends, something very hard to do. You brought so many new friends home over the years that there was often a new face at the dinner table. You adjusted to new teachers and new schools and were the only one of the family to successfully complete algebra. We are very sure that you will continue to adapt throughout your life and will be a success in data processing or anything you do. Maybe next year you'll even be able to afford a new 928 s4 for you and Ken to cruise around in, if you can part with your 944 which you love so much. We love you and are sooo proud of you, son. YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY BABE!

It seems such a long time ago, we watched you skipping off to kindergarten. Now you are finished with the first part of your education, ready to assume the role of a young adult. We wish you every success for the future.
