Dedicated to

Mrs. Roberson

A school yearbook is always a most interesting thing. The stars of the publication are the students themselves, it is by them and for them. Friends will be remembered and memories relived with each re-reading.

Perhaps one of the more important but unplanned for benefits of such a yearbook is that as time passes it serves as a reference point. We can look back to see where we have been as compared with the present. This should help us to find a direction for our future lives. We hope that your lives, as dependents of Americans stationed in France with the United States military services, have been enriched by having lived here and as a result will become better American citizens.

My best personal regards and that of the teaching staff go with you as this school year closes.

AU REVOIR! BONNE CHANCE!

OUR FIER

I, Anita Ard, will my Algebra to anyone who would rather have Mr. Bosi.

I, Kathy Bagni, will my complete misunderstanding of school work to any seventh grader who wants a good excuse to loaf through his eighth grade year.

I, Betty Bradley, will my three brothers to any able-bodied person.

I, Ruth Brannigan, will to the seventh grade my pictures of all the movie stars.

I, Caroline Carletta, will my great talent in art to Marvin so he has something to do in the halls.

I, Debbie Davis, will my long hair to Miss Cerva. (won't that look peculiar?)

I, Charlene Desantel, will to Mary A. my pug nose.

I, Joyce Espelund, will my shaggy hair to any seventh grader who wants to work in the dark.

I, Evelyn Fitzke, will my little brother to anyone who wants him.

I, Jan Franke, will my purse to Irene, so she too can carry everything but the kitchen sink.

I, Maxine Greene, will my ability in Math to ?.

I, Minette Hughes, will my tennis shoes to anyone who will take them.

I, Pat Hurley, will anything to anyone who is willing to take it.

I, Sherrill Lambert, will Mary A. so he will have some one to yell at.

I, Linda Leady, will my hair to Donna M. so she will have some hair on her head.

I, Gisela McLean, will my ability in German to Alain so he can attract German girls, too.

I, Peggy Prestridge, will my thinness to Beverly so she won't be seen.

I, Linda Walker, will everything to everybody 'cause I don't want it.

I, Carol Walsh, will my talented teasing comb and crazy hair styling ability to Gloria N.

I, Ruth Whitcomb, will my brains to anyone who wants to know how to be stupid.

I, Sally Woodcock, will my science tests to Billie Jean so I won't have to take them.

I, Judy Yell, will my blond hair to Lonnie so he will have more of it.

I, Linda Caton, will my hair to anyone who is bald.

I, Mark Bigelow, will my brown leather jacket to anyone who can fill out more of it.

I, Henry Bruneau, will not leave anything until next year, myself.

I, Bruce Johnson, will my know-it-all attitude to Mellie so she can teach all subjects next year.

I, Garry Buchanan, will my politeness to Eric.

I, Jerry Buchanan, will my ability to be attentive in class to Dale.

I, Robert Knipp, will my southern accent to Alain so he can attract southern belles, too.

ST WILLS

I, Louis Logothetis, will my ability in Science to Lou N.
I, Jack Lukawsky, will my watch to Mr. Roberson so he can tell time next year.

I, Jim MacIntosh, will my wide awake asleep look to anyone who thinks he can use it properly.

I, Thomas Meagher, will my charm and personality to the entire seventh grade. It will just about go around.

I, Frank Nelson, will all my worldly possessions to the United States of Russia.

I, Richard Palmeiri, will my persistently moving mouth to anyone who wants to be Mr. Roberson's pet peeve.

I, Peter Schroeder, will my sense of humor to Fred F. 'cause he'll need it.

I, Jim Stone, will leave.

I, George Wells, will my cutting down Mr. Roberson to Eric, so he too will be "kuallit."
