What will you remember most about Trier Elementary School five years from now?

Amie Anders... the playgrounds, the kids, and the teachers. I will especially miss Minicourses.

Chelsi Porter... all of my friends, Investigations, all the teachers, and Minicourses.

Jimmy McGuinness... playing outside, Investigations, and the Porta Nigra.

Megan Briggs... the teachers, the smallness and all the trips.

Brandon Stirnaman... making posters in art, music, and P.E. and getting to go swimming.

Aurore LeClerc... music, art, the P.T.S.A. Fest, and P.E.

Lorena Seitz... the place where my brother was born, and I was born in Ramstein. I'm going to miss Minicourses and all my friends.

Jessica Roberts... the teachers and how nice they were to me, and Ms. Peters because she helped me find my money.

Michelle McCallister... that our newspaper was called The Trier Times, and all the teachers.

Brent Dekker... Sports Club and P.E. and Mr. Newcome.

Mike Shull... that it has been fun, and that the principal and the teachers were nice.

Rusty Ogg... the contests, the friends. I will miss most of my teachers especially Miss Bush, Mr. Newcome and Miss McHenry.

Brandon Fulton... that P.E. is fun and Science Club is fun, too. I will remember sports Club because it was so fun.

What has impressed you the most about Trier, Germany?

This is a house that was flooded by a well. It had a well in the basement and since the Mosel River flooded, the well overflowed and the whole bottom of the house caved in.

By Tyanne Adams

The Mosel is flooded. Ratio's and Standic Crown Hotel's parking lots are flooded. A lot of houses are flooded too.

By Melanie McCallister

On the way to the castle everybody huffed and puffed, when we got to the top a man yelled at us, and when we got inside a bird tried to eat our cameras. It was fun to see the birds flying around. Falkenhof Hoff was fun.

I saw this castle in Frankfurt while we were driving someone to the airport, and then we saw another one.

By Sarah Anderson

Phantasialand has all kinds of rides like the Walmart ride and cars. The swings go really high and the Walmart goes high too. It has a lot of rides and it rained.
