Learning the Secrets of School

Taking each day one at a time, students learn many things at Vilseck American Middle High School. Each year brings something new to our school. This year we had a new principal, Mr. Sennett, a couple of new teachers, and as always new students. Each person brings something to Vilseck with them that helps make it a better school and a fantastic place to be.

Walking around VAMHS a person gets a feel for how things are done around here.

F irst thing that you see

are the students getting off the bus. Some of our students travel on the bus for over a hour to get to school, but for most that ends up being additional sleep time or time to work on homework. No matter how the students start their day here at VAMHS on thing is for sure students learn lots everyday whether it is in the class room or the cafeteria.

Holding thetogetherschool, Ms. Crump helps keep the office and the school under control.

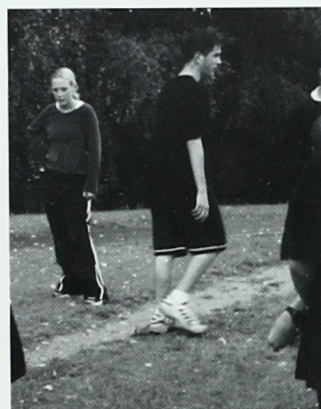

Working on their next project, the science club members use their after school time to learn more about science.

Taking a quick break between calss, some of the junior pause to talk to each other.

Catching their breath, the cross country takes a breather to relax before the next part of practice begins.

Smiling for the camera, Meoldy Hernandez, Sara Pollock, and Kymeshia Morris are learning great things at the leadership conference help by the Executive Board of the Student Council.

Showing their love for each other, siblings, Ruth and Patrica Patin managed to take a class together.

Having Fun During School

Falcons Spend Their Free Time

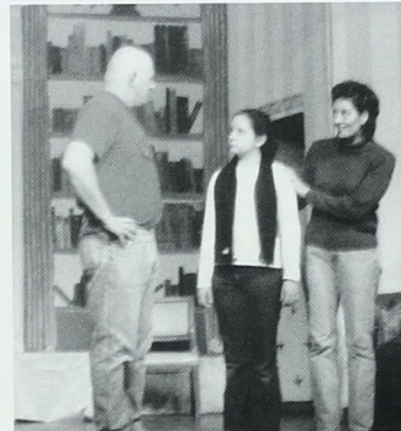

Just Take One More Swing

Preparing to add another dent to the car, the football player swings the bat and crunches the car during the Homecoming Fest.

Trying to raise money, the sophomore class let students put tickets into teacher's can. The teacher with the most tickets had to kiss a pig. The lucky winner was Mr. Andren.

Getting ready for opening night, the Annie cast is hard at work on the scenes.

Working hard, FBLA sponsors sell food at the Homecoming Fest.

Relaxing before the next scene, the cast of Annie passes time by signing each others posters.

Swinging the pillows at each other, Darrell Bille and Jill Reyes try to knock each other over.

Looking shocked, the losers of the Pie in the Eye contest wipe off their faces during the Homecoming Pep Rally

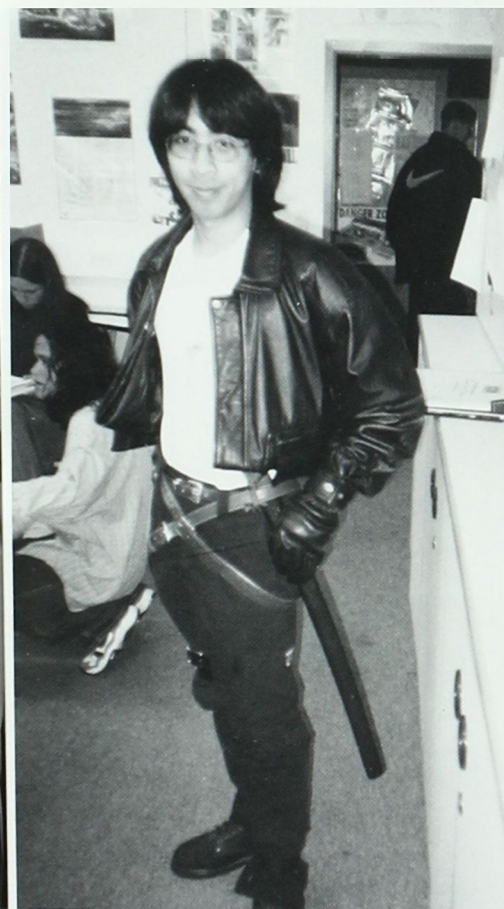

Earning money for the volleyball team, one of the players waits for the next person to take a shot at her.

Cleaning off his face, Mr. Ritter accepts getting a pie in the face to raise money for the journalism class.

Showing off their best sides, these girls show their school spirit during Homecoming Week.

Striking a pose, Sam Digrazzi shows off his costume for spirit week.

Celebrating

A Victorious Homecoming Week

Walking through the hallways throughout the buildings, everyone had to realize that something different was going on this week. It was Homecoming Spirit Week. Throughout the week students dressed in their pajamas, wacky, in school colors, and in costumes to earn spirit points for their respective classes. The sophomores managed to accumulate enough points to beat the seniors and win the spirit baton. At the end of the week there was a pep rally and a fest. Later on, all the sport teams would compete and the high school and the middle school would have their dances.

Giving the big camera big smiles, everyone exchanged beauty tips later in the day.

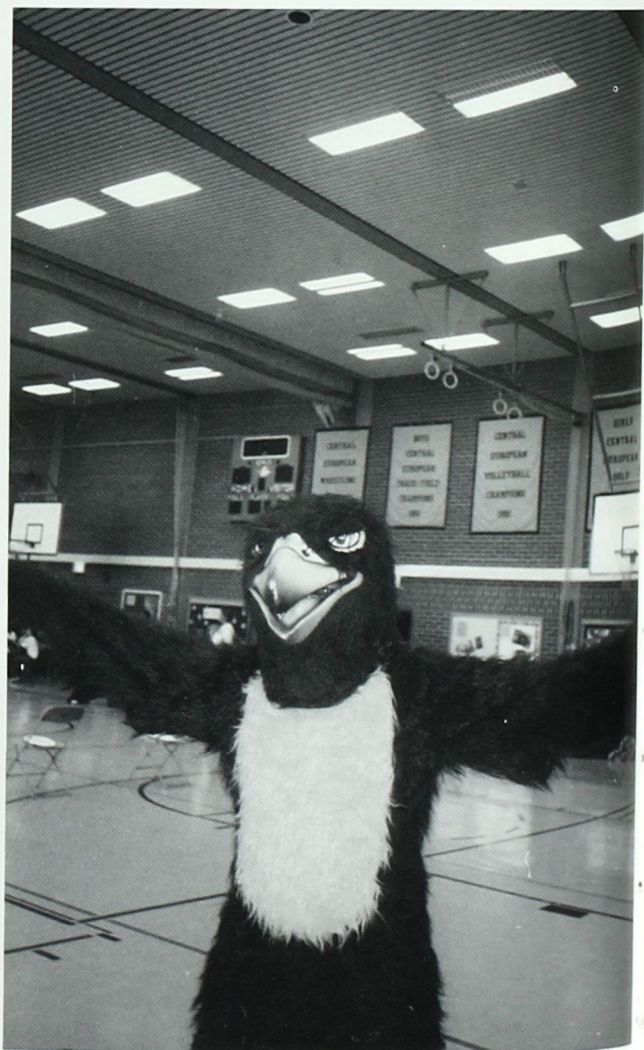

Smiling for the camera, the King and Queen of 2000 Homecoming Court, Tristan Cooper and Jenny Beecroft danced the night away.

Raising the crowds spirits, the Falcon cheerleaders lead the crowd in a chant to encourage the football team.

Giving the camera big smiles, the Prince and Princess of the 2000 Homecoming Court, Pat Hyde and Jill Reyes continue to dance with the rest of the court.

Pausing to show us her Pooh Bear, Sara Pollock had dressed up to help the sophomore class earn spirit points.

Memories

Creating a week and night worth remembering for a lifetime

By the end of homecoming week everyone was starting to get really excited for the upcoming events planned for Friday and Saturday. Friday's class schedule was cut short for a pep rally and homecoming fest. Though at the end of the day everyone was looking forward to Saturday. Saturday, our football team played Hanua. The football team managed to beat Hanua in the last few moments of the game. Later that night the middle school and high school held separate dances. At both dances Homecoming courts were crowned and everyone had a fantastic time.

Dancing with the rest of the court, The Baron and Baroness of 2000 Homecoming Court, Anthony LeVasseur and Melody Hernandez smile at the rest of the students watching them dance.

Coming out for a bow, Annie, Maggie MacFarland accepts the applause graciously.

Pausing during their work, the orphan girls sing about how hard life is for them.

Taking bows, part of the cast, listens to the well deserved applause.

Vocally stating her opinions, Annie sings to the President and the Cabinet.

ANNIE

Filled With Fun and Excitement

Doing a musical is always hard work, but sometimes you can sneak in a little fun too. Annie was work, but you did not hear the cast complaining about it on opening night. Each night brought something a little bit different to the audience as well as the cast.

Each person involved with the play gave 110% and you could tell the moment the lights went down in the house. By the day of the last performance everyone was tired, but sad to be finished. The cast realized that this was a fantastic experience for everyone involved.

Trying to make Miss Hannigan understand, Grace explains again that Mr. Warbucks is going to adopt a child for the holiday season.

Trying to convince the policeman that she really loves Annie, Miss Hannigan gives her a big hug.

Reaching for the Stars

Continuing a Winning Season

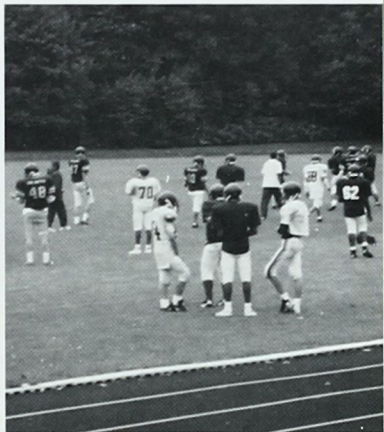

Showing Off Her Falcon Spirit

Stretching to do a toe touch for her audience, Amanda Carmack shows off her amazing talent as a cheerleader.

Sending the ball back over the net, Jackie Lincoln succeeds preventing a point from being scored.

Waiting to practice the next play, the football players take a minute to relax before moving on to the next part of practice.

Running through her routine, Jill Reyes demonstraes some of her outstanding skills as a cheerleader.

Listening to the pep talk, the cross country team prepared mentally for the race ahead.

Warming up, the Falcons do their daily stretches before the big game.

Scoring Points

The football team had an outstanding season. Led by seniors Marcial Cora Cruz, Danny Hamer, DJ Tipp, and Ryan Winterburg, they played extremely hard. They did their best during games and practices. All of their practices paid off during several games that they won, including our homecoming game. Due to their hard work the entire team received varsity letters. This goes to show that practices pays off.

Getting ready for practice, the Vilseck falcon football team stretches out.

Goofing off during practice, James Jenkins, Tim Livingston, and Terry Martin relax with a little horse play.

Listening to the instructions, the football players make sure they understand what they are suppose to do before starting their drills.

Taking a break, Ryan Winterburg walks off the field to grab a quick drink of water.

Taking a knee before playing Patch, the team listens quietly while Coach Connelly gives his motivational speech before the big game.

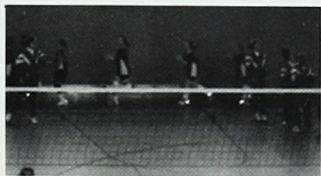

2000 - 2001 Football Team

Practicing before the games, the team bumps the ball back and forth to each other.

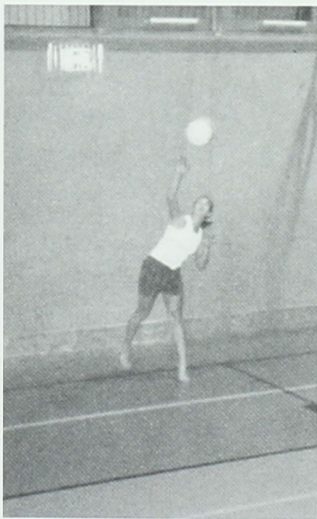

Working Hard

Every season brings something new to the game. Whether it is new players, new coaches, or new challenges, the Vilseck volleyball team took advantage of each opportunity. This season was great for the team. Each person learned more about the sport as well as teaching a teammate something about the game. This fantastic team work and team spirit is what made the players have a great season.

Running onto the court, the volleyball team prepares to start a game.

Serving the ball, the volleyball player gets some practice in with the team the night before the game.

Relaxing on the bus, Sara Pollock sings along with her cellular phone.

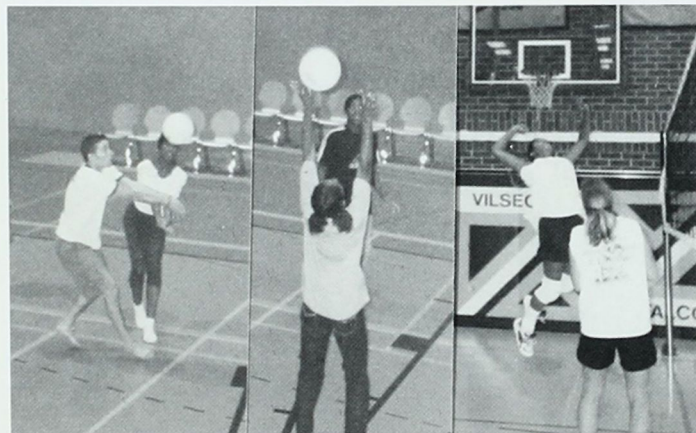

Stretching out before the game, the volleyball team always prepared mentally and physically for each game.

Stretched out in a flying stand, Meolody Hernandez awaits the ball at practice.

Bump, Set, Spike It!
That's the way we like it.

2000 - 2001 Varsity Volleyball Team

While the rest of the team is listening to Mr. Lewandowski, Dominic Padua takes a break during practice.

Across the Net

The tennis team this year was great! They used a lot of their free time to practice. The tennis players enjoyed this year. "thank you Mr. Lewandowski!" Vilseck American Middle High School is proud to say that Chloe-Ahstromer-Jones and Rachel Bew made it to the European Championships. VAMHS hopes that the tennis team will be just as successful and fun in the next school year.

Stretching to return a serve, Dominic Padua slams the ball across the court.

Preparing to serve, Melissa McClenning swings and lobes the ball across the court.

Giving tips to Dominic Padua, Mr. Loe makes several suggestion on how he could improve his game.

Swing her racket towards the ball, Chloe Alhstromer-Jones decesively sends the ball back to her opponent.

2000 - 2001 Tennis Team

Vilseck getting ready to start the 3 1/2 mile race at Ansbach.

Going the Mile

This years Vilseck Cross Country team has done an outstanding job. Do not forget the hard working Coach Richardson, Coach LeVasseur, and Coach Beecroft did to help the team get to the European Finals.

The cross country team heats up this season with David Garcia, Maria Garcia, and Marie Moss going on to the European Championships.

Kendall Buie practice by running 15 laps through the sand. Looking at his face, you can tell they want to stop and take a break, but they know they can't.

Resting after a big race, Tristan Cooper and Jenny Beecroft take a moment to relax.

Ten hard laps of practice running up and down 13 feet of hill. Some the runners are wondering when we are going to stop.

Showing off their Vilseck Pride, Maria Garcia and Brandon Scott display their first place ribbons from the race in Ansbach..

After playing kickball in the rain for two hours, the cross country team was ready to end a "free day" of practice.

2000 - 2001 Cross Country Team

At the Grafenwoehr driving range, the golf team worked hard to perfect their skills.

FORE!

The Vilseck golf team had a great year as a team. Each player worked hard to achieve individual goals and as they were improving the team score went up.

The golf team had a mixture of people who had played before as well as new people. So, the players were able to work together to help each other. Team work and cooperation help the golf team achieve the great successes during the season

Kevin Pollock and Terry Tipp work on the distance of their putts.

Practicing his form, Sven Bickham gets ready to take a swing at the golf ball.

Lining up the golf ball, Jason Robinson prepares to drive the ball down the range.

After listening to coach discuss ways to improve their swing, the team lines up to practice the suggestions.

2000 - 2001 Golf Team

Practicing their cheer, Melissa Bew and Holly Arbolay wondering if they are going to be let down anytime soon.

Raising Voices

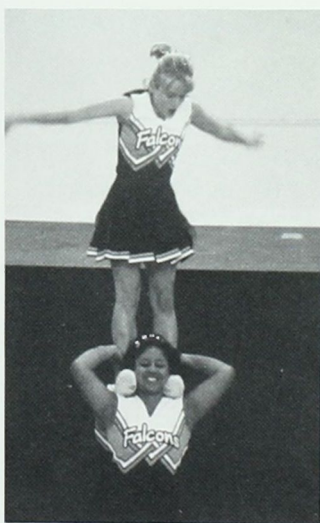

Cheerleading. Not everyone thinks of it as a sport, but ask any of the girls on the squad and they would vehemently disagree. The cheerleaders put long hours and hard work into preparing to perform at games.

The time that the cheerleaders spend together builds strong bonds that last even once the season is over. Cheerleading builds trust, confidence, and most of all friendships that will last a lifetime.

Trying not to fall, Amanda Carmack eventually lands on her feet after Jill Reyes lets her down.

Melody Hernandez cheeses to the camera in a great split.

The varisty cheerleading squad performs their half time cheer.

Look at those toe touches, aren't they great.

The men's basketball team playing hard against Geissen.

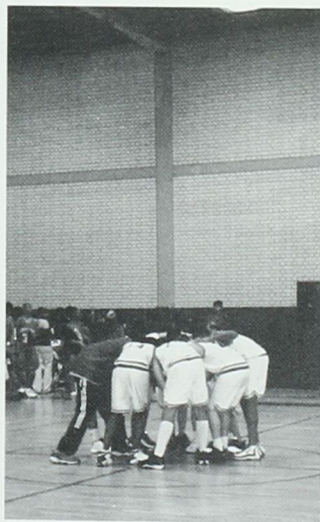

Scoring Goals

Training hard every day will eventually pay off is what the boys' basketball team found out this year. It was an interesting year for the team with a lot of new players, but by working together they were able to make the game work for them. A few losses at the start of the season did not stop these boys from turning it around to win some of the games at the end of the season. No matter what anyone says, this year's team did a fantastic job!

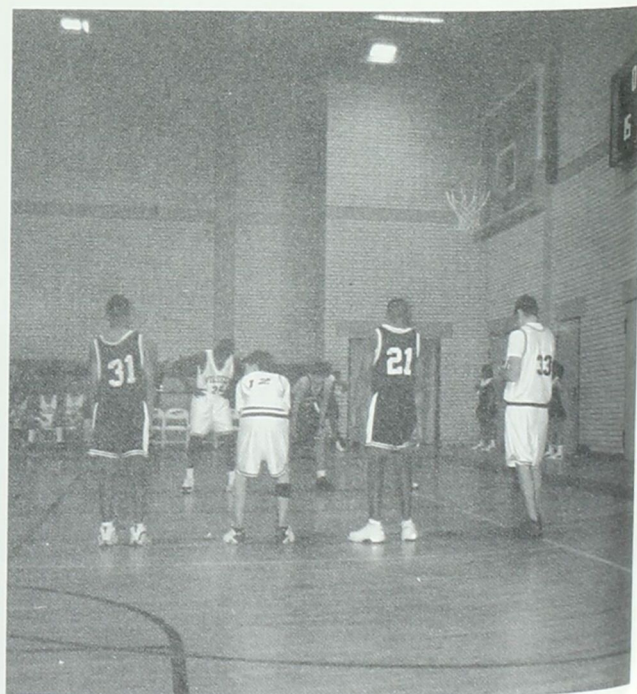

Taking a time out to form some strategy for the next play.

A team huddle, GO FALCONS!

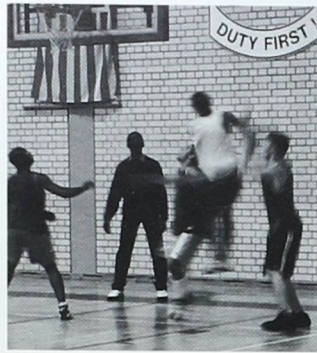

Can he make the shot? The falcons hope he missed this one.

Watching carefully, the players make sure the ball goes in before the move out of the defensive positions.

Attempting to block the shot, Sheldon Douglas jumps up into the path of the ball.

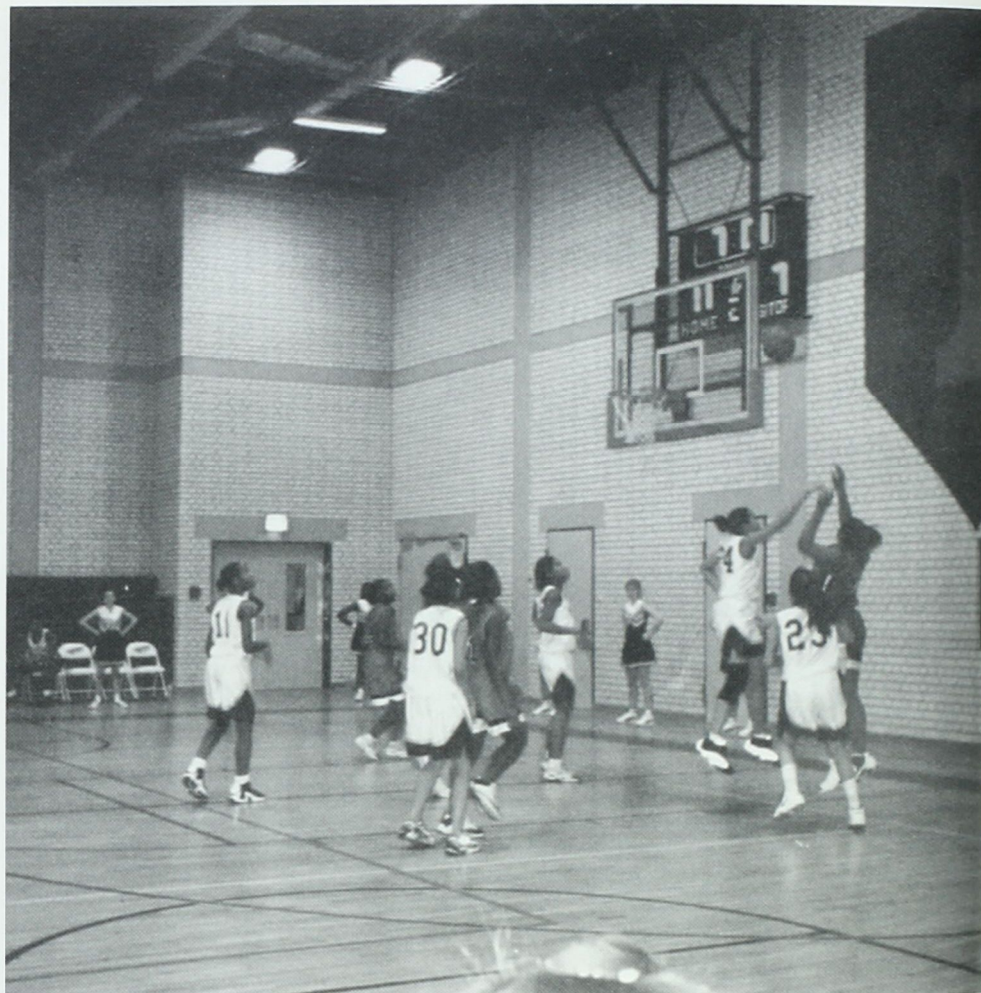

Getting ready to make the rebound, the players are prepared to take the ball and try again if it does not go into the basket.

The 2000 Vilseck Falcon Basketball Team

Lady Falcons

Cached by Mr. Veto, Mr. Connolly, and Miss Paige Hall, the lady falcons dominated the basketball courts! The eleven players plus one manager had a lot of fun shooting hopes and having a ball. The team played hard and did great this season against every team on their schedule. Every player walked away knowing that they did the best job that they could have done during each game. Go Vilseck!

Vilseck takes a shot.

Shelia Rodriguez passes the ball to Tamera Marshall.

The crowd cheers on the Lady Falcons as they come on the court.

Number 25 shots and makes a free throw shot.

Pat Hyde shots and... scores! Hey, is he a lady falcon?

The crowd joins the cheerleaders down on the court, cheering on the team every step of the way.

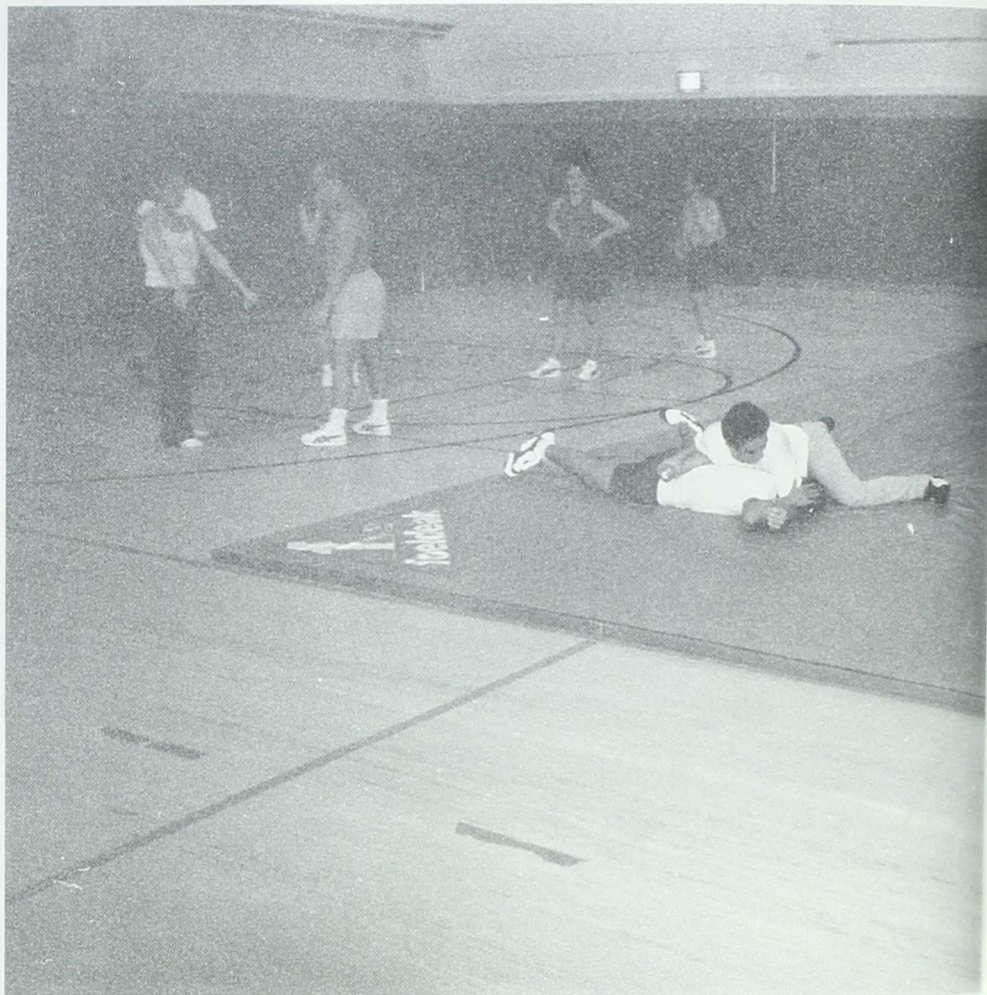

The coaches, players, and cheerleaders line up for the presentation of the colors.

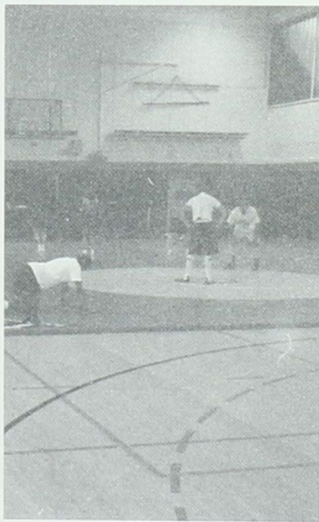

Two wrestlers perfecting their skills.

Final Move

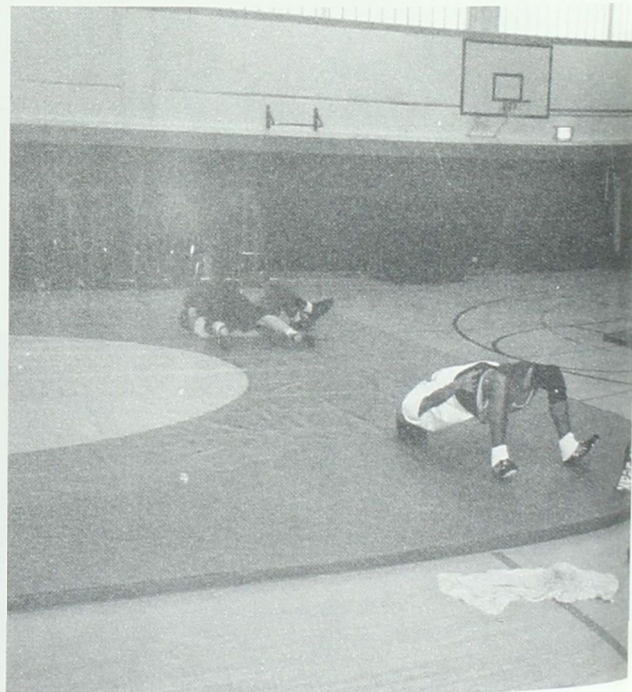

Working hard everyday at practice, the wrestlers learned new moves and techniques for beating their opponent. It takes a certain amount of skill and talent to win each match. These students took the time to learn what they needed to know to win each match, whether it was learning to be quick or how to look for openings. Each member of the wrestling team learned something new this season to help them be a better wrestler.

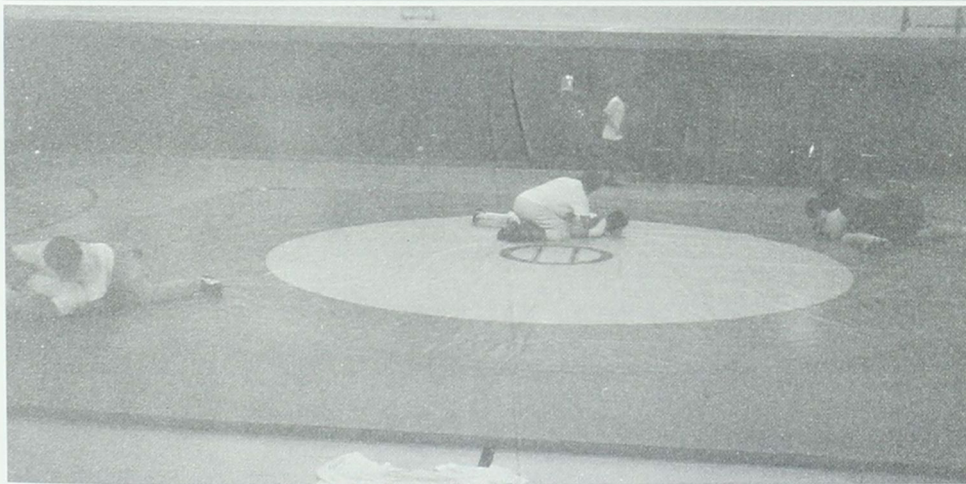

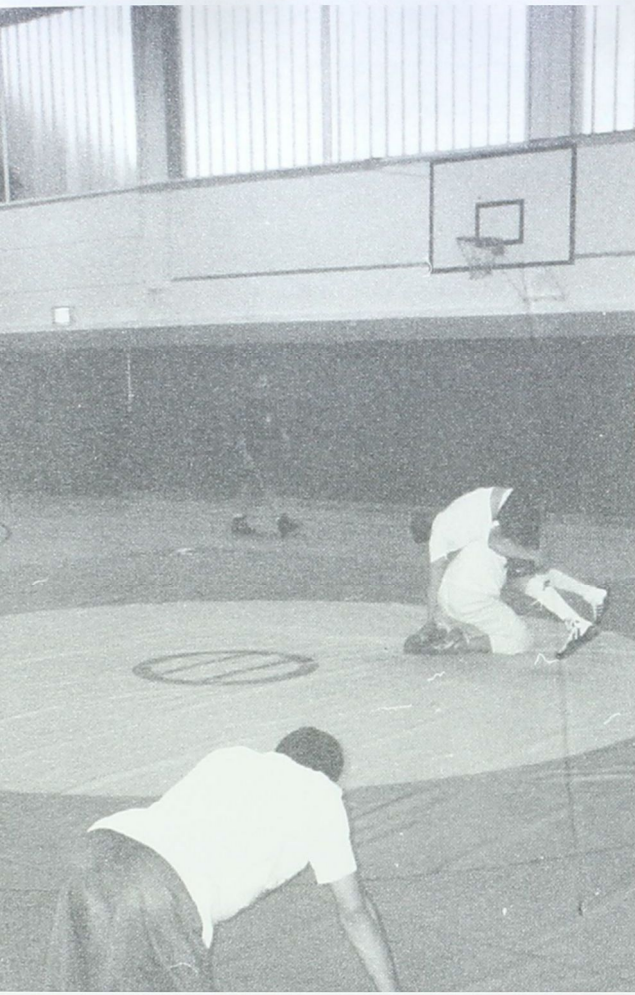

All on the mat for wrestling tips from Coach Garcia.

Wrestlers must do many things to keep in shape.

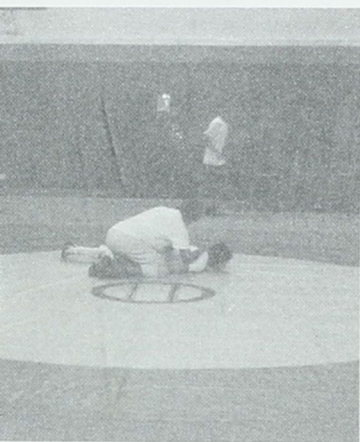

You have to be up to anything in this sport.

Racheal Bew dazed and confused while Jasmin Hill pushes through the crowded sophomore hall.

"This is the right answer!" "HMM, no I think your wrong!" Jordan Lucht and Nick Amabile on a few of their questions.

Finishing up their work, these sophomores manage to get the assignment done on time.

Hannah Roach couldn't hide from the camera this time! HA! HA!

Finally getting it right, the chemistry students work to find a right answer.

Lookingback
At the Junior Class

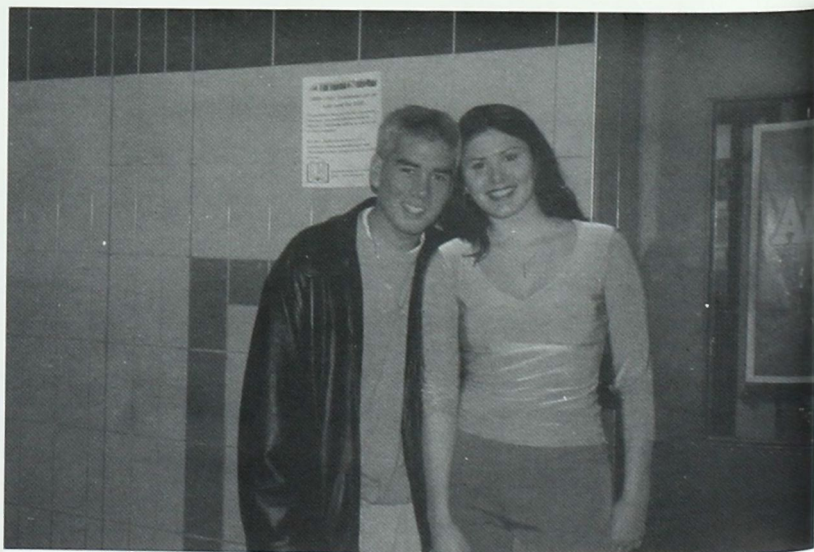

School and Friends

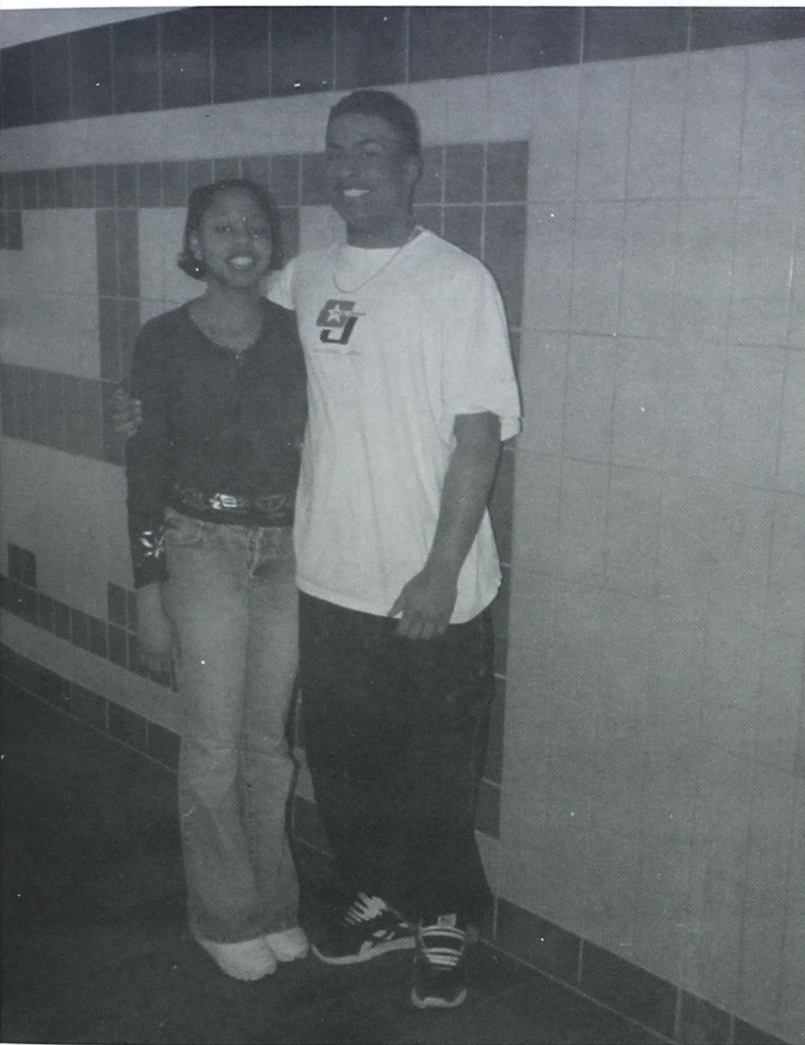

Working together on chemistry, Jill Reyes, Amanda Carmack, and DJ Johnson finish up the last of their work.

Jon Lucht and Sonia Ramos were voted most likely to succeed after high school!

Mr. and Mrs. VHS! Patrick Hyde and Angie Rivera

Kerra Thompson and Marcel Walker brighten up the hallways with their smiles.

Amanda Carmack and Emmitt Alsop show their school spirit outside of school.

Alex Allen and Jackie Lincoln are most likely to strut their stuff on a Clavin Klein catwalk.

The friendliest people in the 11th grade, Heather Hernandez and Patrick Hyde are fun to be around.

Almost finished with the last days of high school

Seniors Have Fun

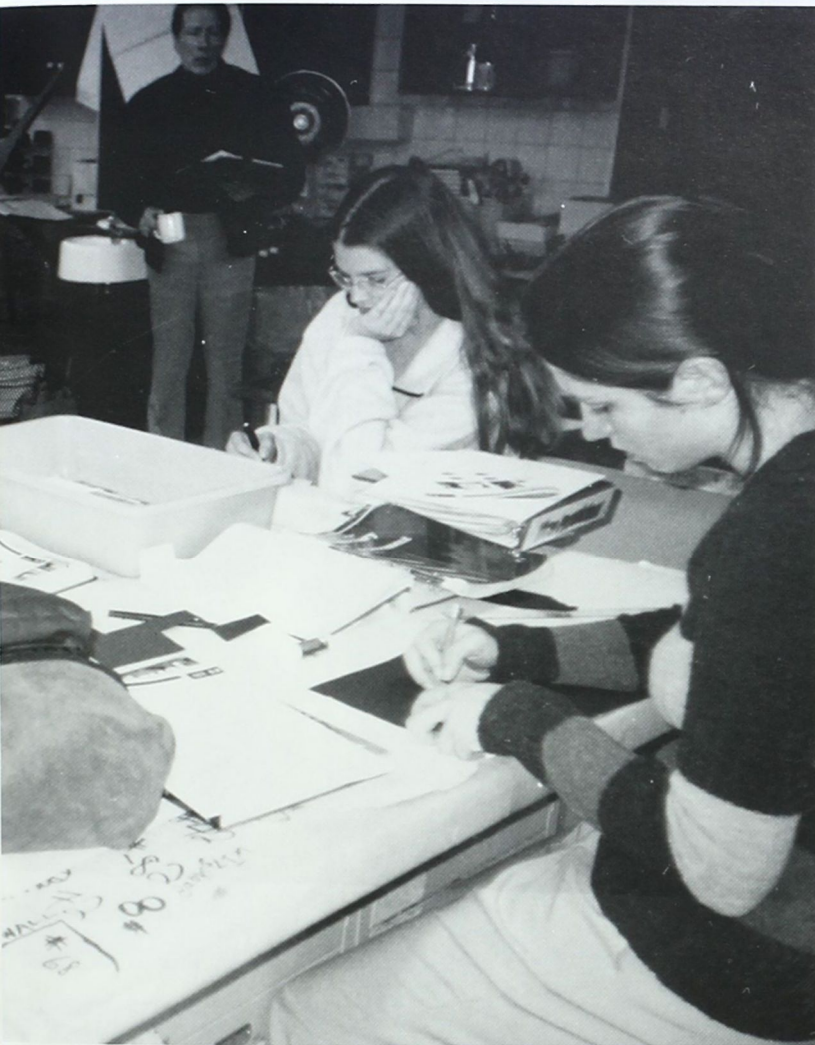

Katrina Huffman and Jennifer Hyde at their lockers before class.

Jenny Beecroft working diligently in physics class

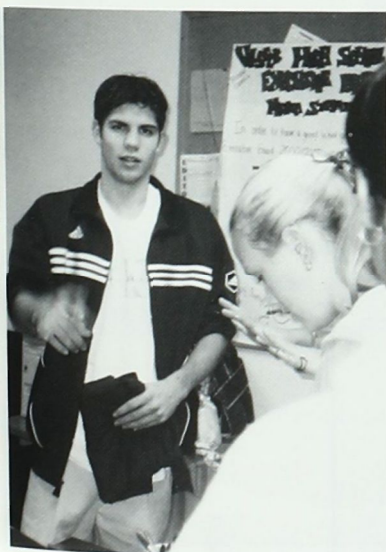

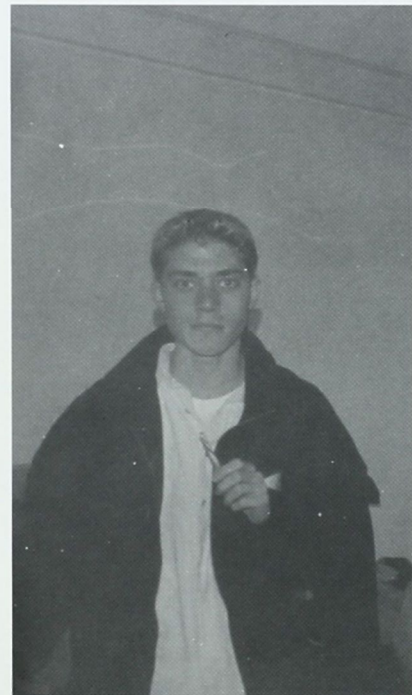

Dominic Padua working on a canvas painting for art class.

Rachel Beck and Mareile Livingston are trying hard to listen to Mr. Hopkins and work at the same time.

Tristan Cooper improving our school during his period in the Student Council.

Finishing up class work, DJ Tipp and Matt Long put a few more touches on their work.

Taking Time Out

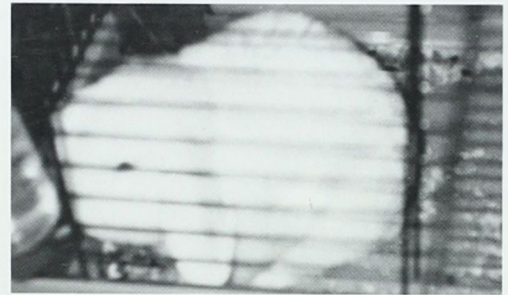

Of A Busy Schedule

Working quietly on their next move. The chess club practices every week to hone their skills at the such a challenging game.

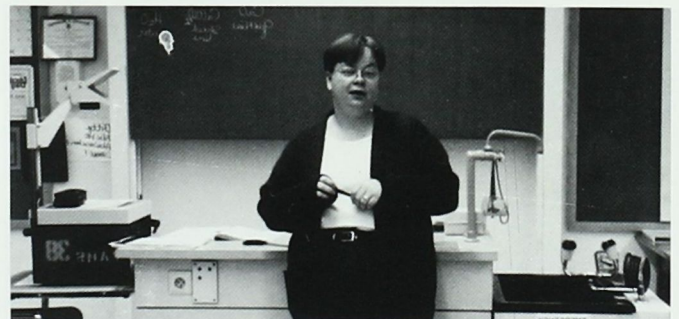

Learning About Science

Discovering New Ideas!
Creating Awesome Experiments!
Working For Fun!

2000 - 2001 Science Club. "We have fun. that is our task. That is our cause."

Meet Mikey. The only bunny in the school who has free reign of Mrs. Willhoite's room, obviously when he is not caged up.

Sylvia Seefeldt and her fellow "scientists" hard at work on a project.

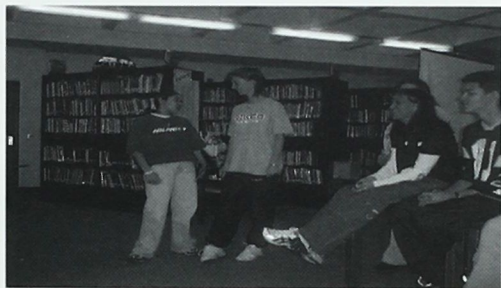

The "lady scientist" herself Mrs. Willhoite.

Creating Awareness

Working on educating the community.

Committed to teaching through skits.

S.P.O.T.T. - Solving Problems of Teens Today.

S.P.O.T.T. practicing their skit "Gone Tomorrow".

John on a "date" with Elane.

S.P.O.T.T. presenting the skit "Gone Tomorrow".

The Chess Club

Building New Skills
Concentrating on the Objective
Pushing for the Win

Cedrick Seefeldt proves to be an easy opponent for the great Ms. Hasson who is yawning with little enthusiasm.

President Cedrick Seefeldt, Vice President David Howells, and Secretary/Treasurer William Crowder are the great chess champs.

Thorton Willis feels confident in all his moves on the chess board. The team this year is said to be as good as ever and highly motivated to win.

Jonathan Edwards and Jordon Lucht practice whole heartedly every Wednesday. There are several tournaments throughout the year.

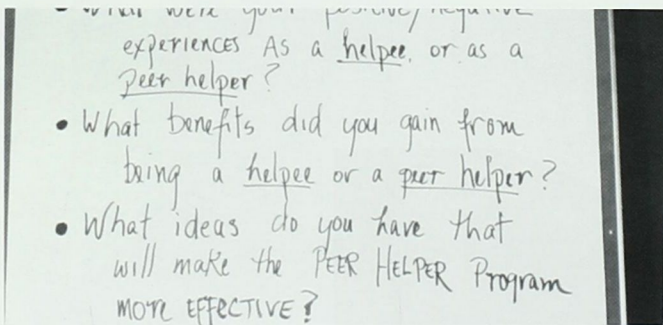

Helping Peers

Offering support to everyone
Listening to friends and giving advice
Working together to make a difference

Quietly listening to the speaker, Angie Rivera and Kerry Thompson think about ways to help fellow students.

Posing for a group picture, the peer helpers are all smiles.

Looking at a typical meeting outline, you can get a feel for the purpose of Peer Helpers.

Listening to Ms. Clancy talk, the peer helpers get advice with how to deal with different situations.

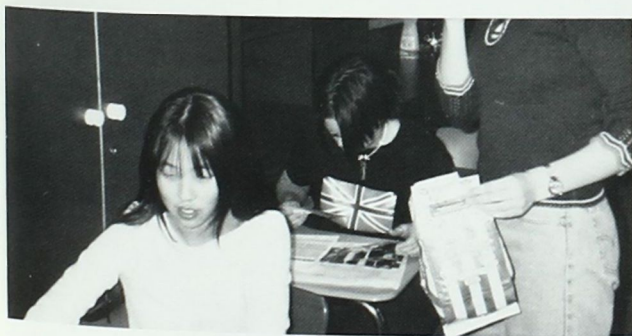

Creating a Book

Capturing each moment.
Working to create something fantastic.
Telling a story about VAMHS.

Mrs. Anderson smiles as she busily works on a yearbook page.

"What is the best caption that fits this picture?" Chloe-Alhstromer-Jones and Heather Hernandez use a team effort to get work done.

Caught by surprise, Jamira Jenkins looks at the camera for moment before going back to listening to her peers.

The JROTC Rifle Team

Practice for the Perfect Score
Trying Harder Each Time
Making the Bull's Eye

In the prone position, these guys are ready to take on the world.

Whitney Kitchens (manager), Cesar Arroyo, Gary Pierde, Steve Holloway, Patrick Engeman, Graig Lumives, William Crowder, and Wally Gaffnewy make up the successful rifle team.

William Crowder loads his rifle in the prone position.

The rifle team boys stand with gun in hand to see how they did.

Leading the School

The Model United States Senate
and
The National Junior Honor Society

Working together on the computer, the Model United States Senate (MUSS) team helps each other out.

Tristan Cooper, Sarah Starr, Jenny Beecroft, Catherine Chong, and Nick Amabile are the future delegators and senators of America.

The National Junior Honor Society Executive Board

Leaders with Class

Learning new skills
Working with their peers
Gaining confidence

President Sarah Starr explaining to class representative Marie Moss how the Nickel Wars will work.

Sophomore Student Council: President Sarah Starr, Vice President Jasmin Hill, Secretary Oliver Matuskey, Treasurer Nicole Engeman, and Class Representatives Racheal Bew and Marie Moss.

Racheal Bew, class representative, putting in the final word.

Everyone but the treasurer, Nicole, debating on class issues.

Leaders of the Next Century

Gaining valuable skills.
Sharing knowledge with each other
Future Business Leaders of America

Nicole Engeman doing her part for FBLA.

Ms. Smith helping FBLA earn some money.

Dominic Padua working on his artistic skills.

Throughout the school, students learn new things every day whether they wanted to learn or not.

Vilseck Falcons

Whether you learned something in math class or in the hallway from one of your friends, each day students are taught. They are taught things before school, during school, and in after school activities. That is what makes each day great here at VAMHS. It is our friends, peers, and teachers who are there to show us what each day holds. So, take what you have learned this year and share it with someone else.

Walking through the MPR after school, a wrestler gets ready for an afternoon of tough practice.

Hanging out before biology class, these students are talking about last night's assignment.

Leading the band students, Mr. Loe brought something exciting and new to band everyday.

Friends forever, Ryan Winterburg, Patrick Engeman, and Marcial Cora Cruz relax at the end of the day.

The day is finally over and the busses are getting ready to take the students home.

Smiling for the camera. Jaime Narramore and Catherine Chong stop watching the basketball game long enough to pose for the picture.

Oh The Places You'll Go
- Dr. Suess

Out there things can happen and frequently do
to people as brainy
and footsy as you.

And when things start to happen,
don't worry. Don't stew.
Just go right along,
You'll start happening too.
