Home Is Where

The Icons Are

The students at VHS are always connected to their electronics. We wanted to combine the memories made outside of school to the ones we make inside of school. Now the pictures on our phone or camera will not be the only things to remind us of the good times. The 2014-2015 yearbook captures the precious moments and bittersweet events. This year was surely a year to remember, and no matter how confusing it was, we will never forget it. Vilseck High School is full of good times to be recalled, but the most memorable: being a Falcon.

"I see myself as someone who can help students recognize and find their own potential," says Mr. Fred Conrad, the newest guidance counselor at Vilseck. He moved here from the closing Schweinfurt High School, and enjoys the peace and quiet of the rural area. "I am pleased with what I have seen. I am happy with the caliber of students." When he was our age, he also did not know what exactly he wanted as a career. However, this changed in college: "Everyone has that one person they go to in their class. College made me realize I wanted to be a counselor. Sometimes people need a little guidance - a little push here and a pull there."

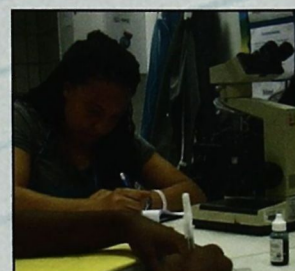

Academics At Vilseck
Teachers and students alike at Vilseck High School strive for the best education possible. Year after year, Vilseck sets revised goals for school improvement, and students work diligently to meet those standards. Leaving high scores as a legacy for the upcoming classes is the outcome of endless nights of studying, over the top amounts of caffeine, and endless motivation to get into the top-choice universities. It all begins at Vilseck, and students carry on their experiences to the future.

Both Varsity and JV train to be the best cheerleaders in Europe.

Yelling, cheering, and stunting is not all that cheerleaders do. They spread school spirit and motivate the players. They give not only the team but the crowd the desire to succeed. Coach Fletcher and the cheerleaders work day in and day out in order to ensure that their moves are exact and the team is in sync. "The specific technicalities are the hardest part about cheer" says Mikayla Majava, 12. The most exciting aspect of cheer is stunting to some like Covyia Winters, 9, and tumbling to others like Gina Auguste, 10.

The JV and Varsity cheerleaders practice their kicks at cheer camp.

The Varsity cheerleaders wow the crowd by doing a herkie in unison.

Clockwise from Top: Gina Auguste, 10, and Taylor Cox, 10, practice their cheer infinity sign at cheer camp. Bianca Walker, 12, Mikayla Majava, 12, Taylor Cox, 10, and Brett Woods, 12, cheer on the Vilseck football team. Lauren Thompson, 9, shows her spectacular back-handspring ability at the pep rally. The Junior Varsity cheerleaders prepare to catch their flier. Alivia Bolden, 11, flies high after the Varsity girls toss her up during a stunt.

i Run Cross Country

Bajah Boyd, 9, Emma Bearden, 12, Cortlin Allen, 9, and Michelle Kellum, 9, practice pacing.

These runners run for fun, full of adrenaline and adventure. Brayden Stillion, captain for the boys' team, says he races because, "It's fun to run insane distances and conquer them." The team was able to come back stronger than ever with new faces in the autumn of 2014. Andrew Loveless says, "The team this year shows promise, and will put up some good competition." This season, six girls and eight boys of Vilseck's cross country team made it to Europeans, and Michelle Sanchez placed third. This bodes well for the next year, and hopefully for many more years to come.

The boys' teams from across Germany line up in preparation for the trek ahead.

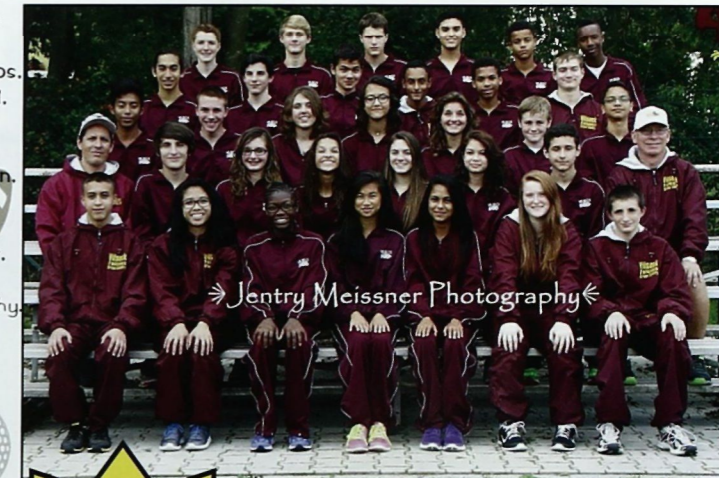

Eduardo Castaneda, 10, leads the boys at the start of the race.

Michelle Kellum, 9, crosses the finish line.

Tackle Football

Gabriel Lewis 12, runs the ball following lead blocker Andrew Pinckney, 11.

"I love my team. We have so much heart. I am glad I was able to spend my last football season as a Falcon with this team. They've inspired me to be a better athlete and a better person," says Tiernan Callaghan-McCann, 12. The Vilseck Falcons "Dirty Birds" share their joy as the football season begins. The Falcons start the year off right with cool foggy mornings, falling autumn leaves, and the insanity of the fans. The team puts their heads together and plays every game like it's their last. As enemies walk onto the field the Falcons try to take them out, one game at a time. Through wins and losses the boys and girl kept their heads held high and their spirits up. They never gave up and never gave in!

Tristen St. Clair, 11, catches the ball for a touchdown.

Richard Rodriguez, 11, catches the ball during a kick return for a 15 yard run.

Marquez Monley, 12, runs the ball for a 12 yard run.

Clockwise from below: Falcons get ready as their opponents, the Patch Panthers, prepare set to run the ball. Chrstian Mitchell, 9, runs around his defenders. The Falcons run onto the field to take on their opponents. Navante Hinds, 9, runs the ball as the defense tries to catch up.

i Fore Golf

Josh Dabney, 9, putts the ball towards the hole at Neckartal Golf Course while a student from patch holds the pin for him so he does not get a penalty for hitting it.

What is golf? "It's a good walk spoiled by a little white ball," Coach Thornbrugh quotes Mark Twain. Golf has only four tournaments: the qualifying tournament, the home tournament, Patch, and Wiesbaden. The qualifying tournament and the home tournament was at the Koenigstein Golf Course, Patch was at Neckartal Golf Course, Wiesbaden was at Rhineblick Golf Course. Unlike team sports where the team gets to go to Europeans, the individual who qualifies gets to go to Europeans. Sadly no one got to go this year, it takes an average of 30 points per game to qualify for Europeans.

Michael Engle, 10, is caught off guard at Patch as he prepares to tee off, his first hit from the tee box.

Anna Kutterer, 12, aligns herself with the hole so she can hit the golf ball in the right direction at Neckartal.

Kenya Pinckney, 10, squats and aims for the hole to putt at Neckartal.

Clockwise from right: Michael Engle, 10, practices his swing at Koenigstein, making golf look stylish. Rene Elysee, 10, tries to spot his golf ball after hitting it down the fairway at Rhineblick. Josh Garin, 12, aligns himself with the golf ball, wielding his driver to drive off with his first swing at Neckartal. Chandler Smith, 11, focuses on his golf as he putts the ball towards the hole for some points at Neckartal. Chandler Smith, 11, tees off at hole 1 at Koenigstein with a spray of dirt in his wake.

"I remember this one time during practice where it started to downpour, there was lightning and thunder. Thankfully, the driving range had a cover. It was quite shocking." - Tyler Wehner, 12.

i Ace Tennis

Oricbiel Oquendo, 10, prepares to return the volley during an intense match.

As the leaves begin to turn to different colors and fall upon the court, the tennis team begins their journey towards Europeans. Serving and volleying, the team practices every day possible. The Falcons work their entire season to improve themselves for the European championships. Kaylaah Capindo, 12, and Anna Carmichael, 12, return to the tournament as one of the leading doubles team again this year and Oricbiel Oquendo, 10, goes to the tournament for the first time. "If there is one word of advice I can give to future players, it is to never get down on yourself during a game," – Anna Carmichael, 12.

Volleyball

The JV players celebrate their win with the victory cheer.

This group of Lady Falcons is full of attitude and is as feisty as ever! Coach Swenty has done a great job with coaching these girls. They come to the court full of energy and ready to kick butt! The Lady Falcons look forward to beating the Ramstein Royals, their biggest opponent at Europeans and taking the first place title. "Our Volleyball team plays at a whole new momentum," Payton Woodworth says in her interview, and finishes with "Volleyball is all about staying on your toes, and digging deep." While playing Volleyball, it's very important to keep your focus and be ready to dig deep. The girls do it with their great Falcon spirit!

Amira Murry, 12, sets herself up to bump the ball back to Kaiserslautern's side.

Captain Amira Murry, 12, and Co-Captain Cassie Bell, 12, pose for a snapshot.

Cassie Bell, 12, applauds the team's win over the Ansbach Cougars in the first home game.

Clockwise from top: Amanda Seay, 10, sets the ball for Mohagony Ladiju, 10, and earns the kill against Kaiserslautern. Payton Woodworth, 11, serves the ball to the opponent's side. i Squad Winter Cheer Varsity cheers on the Vilseck basketball team.

This year's Winter Cheer squad have improved each day. The cheerleaders have been spreading their school spirit all around. When asked what she thought made our team stand out from the rest, Coach Frenzel said "The elite stunting skill they have, whether they have shown it on the floor or not, as well as the higher level tumblers we have on the team are definitely what makes the team stand out." The girls have striven to become stronger and hold their stunts without fail. They agree that the sportsmanship on the team helps them work better together and enjoy the family bond.

i Ball Boys Basketball

Vilseck huddles during the timeout to get pumped.

Vilseck never fails to produce a formidable boys basketball team, and this year the team is more hopeful than ever. Head Coach John Sabala stresses the importance of teamwork, and states that his favorite part of the game is "seeing the team come together and play as a unit." Alexander Thomas, 11, expresses that his favorite part of the game is the fourth quarter. "This is when you see the difference between the teams in who has the endurance to stay in the game longer and execute until the final buzzer." The team expects to surpass last year's third place finish.

i Kick Boys Soccer

Attacking the ball, Christopher Saenz, 11, seeks to win the ball from a Hohenfels opponent.

In the Vilseck Falcons season opener, the boys came out with a 2-1 victory against the Ramstein Royals, former Division I champions. Leaving the players and coaches with an optimistic outlook for the rest of the season, the team strives for more success as they go into the European Tournament in Ramstein. Team captain Pierre Elysee, 12, says "I'm confident in our ability to grab the European championship title from our biggest rivals." Mikhael Ragay, 12, has faith in the team. He, along with the rest of the seniors, is disappointed that it's their last soccer season of their high school career.

Malachi Alston, 10, gets tangled with a Ramstein defender.

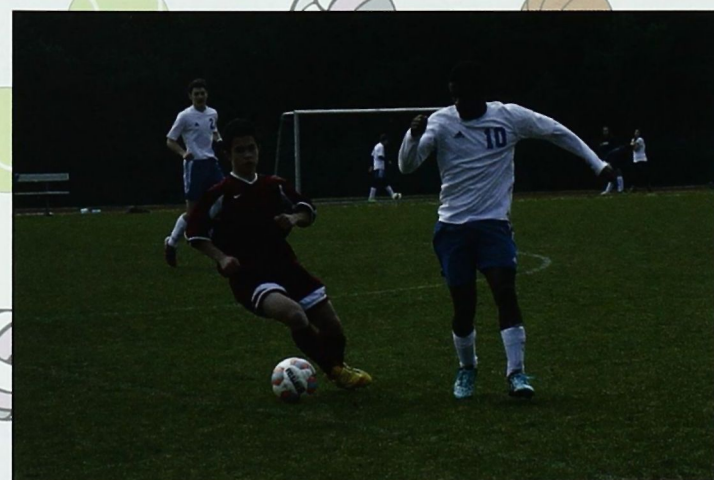

Goalie, Timothy Simmons, 9, dives to save a shot.

Eduardo Castaneda, 10, heads the ball towards his teammate.

Below Clockwise: One-on-one with his opponent, Mikhael Ragay, 12, takes the high ground. Center mid-fielder, Pierre Elysee, 12, looks around as he takes the ball up the field. Out maneuvering his opponent, Ian Fox, 9, attempts to find an open defender to pass the ball. William Rosalino, 12, deflects the ball away from the Ramstein striker. Rosalino is one of the few four year varsity players.

Right: Going up for a header, Gabriel Lewis, 12, looks for an open teammate. The only goal scored in the game was by Pierre Elysee, 12, with the help of his teammates.

At the beginning of all games, players are required to line up to have their equipment checked. At Vilseck, the officials go down the line and check to make sure shin guards and cleats meet NFHS standards. Athletes are also checked to see that they are not wearing jewelry.

i Kick Girls Soccer

Alyssa Manitas, 10, scores a goal as Sarah Hall, 12, Bailey Rhodes, 10, and Taryn Sobey, 11, run beside her and anticipate the goal.

The Falcons started off their season with intensity and a goal set in mind. Through the hail, snow, wind, and rain the girl's soccer team pushed through to get as much experience and time on the field. "The season is going to be great, and I really look forward to the girls getting better each game leading up to Europeans," said Coach Anglim. The team hopes to triumph this season, and approach the European tournament as a contender. Coach Anglim said, "Even though the team doesn't like to and won't admit it, what motivates them is running."

Caitlyn Norris, 10, runs toward the ball as defender looks behind.

Sarah Hall, 12, prepares to get her ankle wrapped on the sideline during a game.

i Fit Track and Field

Autumn Cole, 12, flies to beat an Ansbach racer.

For some, track is just another spring sport; but for the students on the track team, it's the highlight of the school year. One of the most varied sports at Vilseck, track has ten different running events alone, along with high jump, long jump, shotput, discus, triple jump, hundred-meter hurdles and three hundred-meter hurdles. Autumn Cole, a hurdling senior, says of her teammates: "Although the team is smaller this year, I have faith that we will do well and become contenders in Europeans this year." Despite stormy conditions, the Vilseck track team trains five days a week to take home the gold.

Jacoby Hull-Town, 11, sprints to take third in the 100 meter dash.

The Vilseck High School band is directed by Mr. Robert Loe. Mr. Loe works with the band to help them learn the art of their instruments. Students in band have the opportunity each year to audition for the multiple music seminars during the year. Alex Cavoli, 11, said this about the Jazz and Honors Band seminars. "I enjoyed being able to work with a variety of experience professionals and other students with a passion for music". The band students of VHS work hard to show that they always comes out on the right note.

Every year the music programs at Vilseck High School produce beautiful musical sounds from both instruments and vocals. The strings group, however, is one of the more challenging categories. Every performance requires perfect synchronization and harmonization. With the help of conductor, Mr. Robert Loe, the strings group creates beautiful music. "I could not have been blessed with a better group of students" said Mr. Loe. His hard work, and his students' dedication to their craft allow our halls to be enchanted with the beautiful sounds of our outstanding strings ensemble.

Mikayla "Mikki" Maiava is a senior at Vilseck High School. In her four years here she has become an active student in the choir program. Mikki has been a part of the Creative Connections Show Choir, All Europe Jazz Ensemble, and the DoDDs Europe Honors Choir. For her, music is a release from stress and makes her a stronger student. She greatly enjoys these week long programs because they are "a way to bring students together that you never thought you would meet and be friends with because they are so different but also the same." In her future she hopes to attend college to study musical theater and continue to make music.

As people walk through the halls of Vilseck High School they can hear murmurs of lyrics or the melodies of songs as students walk by. This is the work of Mr. Robert Loe, the choir conductor here at Vilseck High School. Each year the singing Falcons perform two concerts and a series of community events including Vilseck's Tree Lighting Ceremony in December and the seniors' Baccalaureate Ceremony. "Being a part of the choir is so rewarding. I have loved singing the variety to songs chosen by Mr. Loe and learning about music itself" said Gretchen Roeder, 12. The choir program allows students to learn about past and present music and find themselves within it. #WeMakeTheMusic

Senior Cadet Bobby Ogborn of the 18th JROTC Falcon Battalion, strives to influence and improve academic success in the student body. "The JROTC program is fascinating due to its complete difference compared to any other class you would have in high school," he says. Being equipped with the right materials for the future has shown this cadet the importance of being involved and staying focused. As a member of the drill team Bobby and his teammates put their motto into action. "Blood, cuts, and tears! Drill Team".

For those Vilseck students going into the military or just looking to learn leadership skills, JROTC is the place to be. The Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps gives students a taste of life in the military, complete with weekly physical training, uniforms, and ranks. "JROTC helps make better students and citizens, and prepares them for a real work environment," says Tiernan Callaghan-McCann, 12, the Battalion Commander of Vilseck High. Regardless of whether you go into the military or not, JROTC is a great class where you can have lots of fun.

Clockwise from top left: Freshmen Michael Ciacelli and Bajah Boyd stand at attention at the head of their columns during their Battalion Formation. MAJ. (Ret) Sabala addresses the Dining In alongside SFC (Ret) Young to his left and SFC. (Ret) Pollock on his right. Clockwise from the top: Dante Weatherholt, 11, Charles Johnson, 10, Eugene Brown, 9, Ladana Greenwood, 9, and Ethan Holicky, 10, present the colors at a basketball game, while Christian Zink, 9, assists. SFC (Ret) Pollock holds the limbo stick as William Rosalino, 12, and Courtney Beilhart, 11, go under. Sgt Pollock talks to the cadets about Battalion Formation. Tiernan Callaghan-McCann, 12, talks to Alivia Bolden, 11, about fellow cadets' actions. Kaylee Luginbuhl, 11, serves herself a drink from the grog bowl while Lauryn Argallon-Garcia, 12, Robert Ogborn, 12, and Bryan Gutierrez, 11, wait in line for their turn to get a drink.

Senior CDT Tiernan Callaghan-McCann, the battalion commander of the 18th JROTC Falcon Battalion succeeds in setting a strong example for the new freshman cadets and the returning cadets of 2014-2015. "JROTC is a program that is proud to help shape and mold today's high school students into the future leaders of the United States," Tiernan says with high praise for his cadets and for the JROTC program. JROTC is a class of high magnitude skills. You learn quickly and use your skills in your daily life.

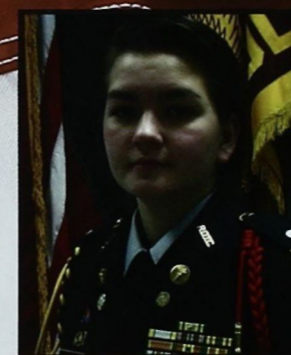

Clockwise from top. Sabrina Caylor, 12, pulls Jesus Caylor, 11, on a skateboard down the MPR. Kohilani Taylor, 12, sings and plays the accordion. This season has been fun for the marksmanship team. The Sporter Captain Ke'alii Taylor, 12, mentioned their goal was to improve each shooter's skills and have fun. "We have been improving our scores through the season," he said. Precision captain Taylor Tucker, 12, stated that this season went pretty well, seeing as how they placed second in the conference. Some of the team members even placed in the national competition in Ohio.

Our new drill instructor who is also new to Vilseck High School Sergeant First Class (Ret) Prince Young had noted that he wants the team to have a spirit of competition, but he does not want the team to be afraid of even trying. He wants to insure that they stick together as a team no matter if they win, lose, or draw. He wants them to know this is not just a team, but that it is a family. SFC Young wants the team to have pride in themselves and in the school. He wants them to just to have fun with it and enjoy their experience as a Vilseck High School JROTC drill member.

The 2015 drill team have a lot of spirit behind them. They are willing to get in there and accomplish their mission or goal. John Kawczynski, 12, Robert Ogborn, 12, and Michael Smith, 11, all talked about how their main goal for the year is to defeat Patch High School and take first in sections of the competition. They are motivated to get first place. Michael Smith, 11, said that to be able to pass on what he knows about drill and watch them learn and grow is definitely a big motivation to him. All three members' advice for the team is to stick together as a team, work out their difference before coming to practices and hard work and discipline.

Clockwise from Top Left: Vinnie Beltran, 12, is giving his platoon the command to order arms. Jordan Kaintz, 10, is showing the let I cadets how to properly hold a rifle and how to position their hands on it. Brayden Stillion, 12, is teaching all cadets how to spin a rifle without them hurting their hands. Shawn Sanders, 11, Dante Weatherholt, 11, and Ana Padillaaparcio, 10, are standing at the position of right shoulder arms. Robert Ogborn, 12, has a perfectly formed squad and is preparing them for the squad exhibition competition coming up this following weekend. Again Vinnie Beltran, 12, put the platoon at attention with the lines formed evenly and straight.

Victoria Banister, 10, is giving the cadets the dress right dress command to give them the spacing they need.

Alyssa Taylor is a junior at Vilseck High School. This year she attended Creative Connections, a week long workshop in November, and was the only VHS student in the drama seminar. Alyssa has been a part of the drama club since her freshman year, and is currently the Vice President. She works hard to help the club run smoothly. "I enjoy being a part of the drama club family. This club has helped me to grow as an actress and be more comfortable on stage. I have a home at VHS and have friends who I will have for the rest of my life," she remarked.

This year's Drama Club provided Vilseck High School with a great amount of talent and dedication. The officers this year included: Gretchen Roeder - President, Alyssa Taylor - Vice President, Sydney Thornbrugh - Secretary, Abrianna Little - Historian, and Cecilia Fodor - Technical Director. This fall, Mr. Bobby Benn took over as sponsor, helping the club grow as performers and learn the importance of leadership, responsibility, and teamwork. Under his direction, the club put on Vilseck High School's Annual Talent Show in December. In the spring, Drama Club will perform the play "Crazytown" under the direction of Mr. Bob King. Any student is welcome to be a part of the club and the productions. The VHS Drama Club is always open for new members and invites everyone to come and see what they are all about.

Counterclockwise from top left: Alexis Yeager, II, practices her part of "Crazytown", Gretchen Roeder, I2, and Damian Wooldridge, IO, rehearse their scene on-stage during practice. Kelsey-Jo Thibodeau, I2, Sydney Thornbrugh, II, and Alexis Munson, II, perform a small skit for the talent show. Claudia Maynard, II, Elizabeth Zabrickie, II, Alexis Munson, II, and Sydney Thornbrugh, II, put on a skit between acts in the Talent Show. Cecilia Fodor, I2, and Sabrina Taylor, I2, practice their parts for the show during rehearsal. Alyssa Taylor, II, and Claudia Maynard, II, laugh together at their lines in the comedy. Kyera Black, IO, and Alexis Yeager, II, rehearse their lines in the hallway. Mikayla Maiava, I2, and Barrington Ricketts, I2, perform a duet together. Nolan Tucker, I2, performs a beautiful piece on his violin. Alexander Cavoli, II, plays on his electric guitar.

Future Educators Association is dedicated to students who plan to make a career in teaching. Every year at the conference the FEA members elect the students that will become the Executive Board that plans the next year's conference. This year, Vilseck High School held three of the six positions on the board. Sydney Thornbrugh, 11, was the Executive Board Secretary, Caleb Miller, 12, was the Executive Board Historian, and Tiernan Callaghan-McCann, 12, was the Executive Board Officer-at-Large. As Executive Board members, it is their responsibility to plan and organize the events that take place at the annual conference.

As the students begin their year, the Future Educators Association begins recruiting. Sending returnees left and right, Ms. Connors and Ms. Thornbrugh are looking for students who are not only eager to learn about teaching but have the work ethic it takes to win. What many people don't know about Vilseck's FEA is how competitive they are at the European Conference. During the last week of January, 16 FEA chapters from Bahrain, Belgium, England, Germany, Italy, Spain, and Turkey assembled at Edelweiss Lodge and Resort in Garmisch, Germany to develop skills necessary for classroom teaching as well as present their competition pieces. This year, Vilseck won first place in six out of the eight competitions at the conference.

Clockwise from top: Seniors Stephanie Wayne, Anna Carmichael, William Rosalino, Caleb Miller, and Tiernan Callaghan-McCann put up FEA's "Guess That Teacher!" game for National Education Week. Taylor Tucker, 12, and Rylee Tucker, 9, get ready for team building at the week-long FEA European Conference in Garmisch, Germany. Seniors William Rosalino and Kaylaah Capindo take notes in class at the conference in January. Vilseck's FEA gets together to discuss their views on the Ethical Dilemma, one competition at the conference. Kaylee Luginbuhl, 11, Anna Carmichael, 12, and Rylee Tucker, 9, learn about teamwork and communication. Mireille Ritter, 9, works on decorating ornaments at the annual lock-in. Tiernan Callaghan-McCann, 12, and Sydney Thornbrugh, 11, introduce guest speakers at the evening session on the second day of the conference.

#Honored

Counterclockwise from right: Madeline Olden, 12, Anna Carmichael, 12, and Kurt Hall, 12, lead a meeting. Alyssa Taylor, Karl Finlay and Tristan Kroeger, 11, pay attention at a meeting. Alex Cavoli, 11, Michael Smith, 11, and Patrick Ramirez, 11, sell food after school.

Several concentrated students are gathered in the classroom – they're bustling around, some filling out papers. They are all seated before passing time is even over. This is the Vilseck chapter of National Honor Society. "These students are the top percentile of the school," says Ms. Jane Varalli, glancing over to the officers as they commence the meeting. "They maintain GPAs of 3.5 or higher." The board of officers sit in front of their peers, leading the discussion. "We're in pursuit of true merit," Patrick Ramirez, 11, comments. Their perseverance in aiding the community is obvious as they discuss what to do next.

#Free2Be

It's Tuesday afternoon, and a dozen teenagers chatter in Mr. Robert King's room. Brett Woods, 12, president of the gay-straight alliance leads the discussion: they are brainstorming activities that raise spirit and promote group connections. "I was thinking we could do a tea party in March," Brett suggests, and the students decide on the date. Their goal is to create a supportive environment for everyone. The club was established in 2012 and has expanded ever since – the club even has faculty allies who provide a confidential and safe environment for students.

#MakeSomeArt

Art Club provides students of any experience level the opportunity for creativity after school once a week during the winter season. "It's good to spend time with others who have similar interests," Shamica Bell-Reid, a senior and a returning member, comments. "Upperclassmen use it for portfolio development, and underclassmen who don't fit in art classes use it as an opportunity for exploration of the arts. It provides non-athletic students with an opportunity to occupy themselves over the winter, which in Germany can be very dark and cold," Mr. Anglim jokes.

Clockwise from left: Shamica Bell-Reid, 12, Nicole Ogborn, 10, Angelica Scroggs, 10, and Shana Wright, 10, work on the high school evolution poster. Stephanie Wayne, 12, and Sonia Nasci, 11, work on mask interpretations. Madison Kruse, 11, and Brittany Leger, 11, converse while sketching a poster for the hallway.

#S2S

Taking twists and turns along the hallway, Alessandra Wise leads a new student to their next class before the rush. As they go along, Alex explains how the school operates. This is a great leadership opportunity because the program is run by students. Sponsor Ms. Lisa Leveque comments "S2S is a student-run program to help new students feel at home when they come to Vilseck High School. They are connected with an individual, a S2S student, who mentors and helps them transition into their new school."

#StudentCouncil

Clockwise from Right: Isaac Hornel, IO, and Elana Montanez, IO, work on hallway decorations. Patrick Ramirez, II, takes role before starting the monthly meeting. Anna Carmichael, I2, explains her ideas. The senior class officers Jonathan Ortiz, Sydney Brunson, Madeline Olden, and Anna Carmichael discuss the details for the dance.

Student Council works hard all year to ensure that their individual classes run smoothly and raise enough money for events that they sponsor. Vilseck High School's Student Council holds many fundraisers to fund events such as Homecoming, Prom, and Graduation. They run booths at Homecoming Fest, manage the food cart at lunch, and also sell holiday grams. Student Council also participates in the yearly Christmas hallway decorating in which each class is assigned a hallway to decorate.

On March 20-21, the Vilseck High School Robotics Club competed in the European Regional First Tech Challenge (FTC) in Paderborn, Germany. The Vilseck Robotics club performed well and placed second place overall in the alliance competition, as well as, won an award for the engineering notebook which they presented to the FTC judges. Our students enjoyed the event and look forward to participating in next year's FTC competition.

#ModelSenate

Mr. Ritter and thirteen others traveled to Wiesbaden to attend the 2015 MUSS (Model US Senate) Conference where students are given the opportunity to write and propose bills and debate them formally. The students were able to get out and experience new things. "MUSS was one of the most enjoyable weeks I have ever had. I was able to expand my learning and broaden my horizons," says senior Tiernan Callaghan-McCann.

Clockwise from top: Dylan Finlay, II, introduces a bill to fellow MUSS students. Patrick Ramirez, II, Alexander Cavoli, II, and Dylan Finlay, II, meet up during their break to discuss earlier events. #Journalism

After a several year hiatus, Vilseck High School's newspaper was back in business. Mr. Bobby Benn took the group of budding journalists to new heights, teaching lead, copy, headline, and cutline writing, photography and layout. The new staff published several issues of "The Falcon," including the long anticipated April issue. Each issue features a teacher interview, a movie review and other stories. In addition, students learned about journalism history and landmark journalism issues.

TyBrea Hopkins, 12, was this year's Editor-in-chief. She patiently answered everyone's questions, made over a dozen templates, and spent countless amounts of her time just to make this year's edition of the yearbook, her last high school yearbook, the best it could possibly be. "It takes a lot of my time, but I know in the end it'll all be worth it" TyBrea Hopkins, 12. "Every editor in chief after TyBrea has a high standard to meet," said Payton Woodworth, 11. "TyBrea puts a lot of work into the yearbook to ensure it comes out great. She's the real backbone of the class" said Laura Padgett, 12. "She has a lot of hair" added Matthew Horton, 11. "She's simply the best!" concluded Ms. VanDe.

Yearbook is more than taking a few pictures and writing captions. It is about capturing the perfect moments and saving memories. The yearbook gets better as time goes on, so it is no wonder Ms. Mary VanDeventer, the yearbook sponsor, has just finished being a part of her 19th yearbook. When asked what makes her come back year after year she replies, "I like it; I love seeing the final project". The yearbook staff also loves seeing the outcome. They love ensuring that everyone is represented and has something to remind them of "that one time".

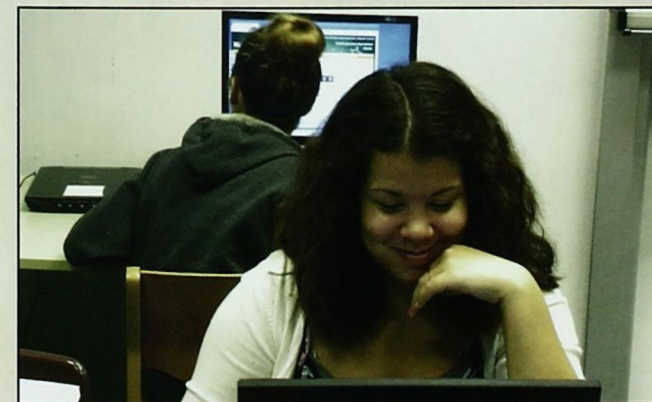

Clockwise from top left: Jessica Provence, 12, is hard at work making her page come together. Cecilia Fodor, 12, works tirelessly to make her page shine and sparkle. Senior Anna Carmichael gives Kaylaah Capindo, 12, advice about the page she is working on. Shamica Bell-Reid, 12, works hard to meet the deadline of her page. Tyler Wehner, 12, puts on the finishing touches before getting his page approved by the editors and Ms. VanDe. Gretchen Roeder, 12, shows the rest of the falcons that there is a time to have fun and be silly in yearbook. Matthew Horton, 11, teaches himself where to find all of the neat little gadgets and settings of a camera. Alyssa Lewis, 11, focuses as she tries to get the page perfect. Janin Powers, 12, and Alexander "Bill" Thomas, 11, come together to work out the details of their page.

Great love, Mommy & Daddy

Madeline Olden

Gabriela Fuentes

Gabby,
we are very proud of you, and I can't believe you are a senior! Congrats Love Bug!
Continue on your education journey and strive for success! Always put God first and everything will fall into place.

Love always,

Mom, Wiley, and Joey

Dear Madeline,
We have loved you completely since the moment of your conception. Your presence in our lives and the world has been our greatest gift.
We know that you will face the many opportunities ahead and continue to make the world a better place with your contributions.

Love, Mom and Dad

ANDREW LOVELESS

17 YEARS, 10 PHOTOS, 100 WORDS!
You're right Ms. VANDE is tough! The ARMY LIFE OFFERED YOU CHALLENGES, ALONG WITH CULTURAL DIVERSITY, WHICH YOU ADJUSTED AND ADAPTED TO.

A NEW JOURNEY IS BEGINNING. AS YOU DECIDE WHAT'S NEXT, HERE'S A FEW THINGS TO REMEMBER

- 1) ALWAYS GIVE THANKS TO GOD.
- 2) REMEMBER THE COACHES, TEACHERS, FAMILY, AND FRIENDS THAT HAVE BEEN BY YOUR SIDE.
- 3) LEARN TO COOK. THE LADIES LOVE IT.
- 4) KEEP YOUR ROOM CLEAN. IT MAKES MOM HAPPY.
- 5) EVERY DAY MATTERS.
- 6) FAILURE CAN BE THE BEST TEACHER
- 7) WE'RE PROUD AND ALWAYS HERE FOR YOU.

Kaylaah Capindo

When we look at you we will always see our baby girl. Through all the moves, school to school, leaving friends behind and making new ones, you were our big girl who always made the best of it. We will always cherish the memories we created together. One day when you are off on your own you will read this again and know that mom and dad love you always and forever. We are proud of all your accomplishments. We love you, KC Mom and Dad.

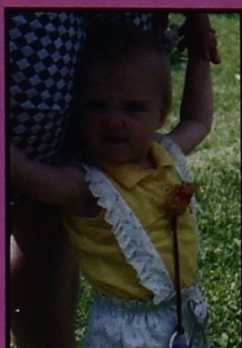

Autumn Cole

Autumn,

We are very proud of the young lady you have become. We hope you do your best in college and in your adventure in life. We love you very much.

Dad, Mom, and Dakota

Taylor Tucker

To our dearest Taylor,

We are so proud of the woman you have become. Your life is just starting. Take every chance you can to travel. Always be the one to say "I have been there." Remember to work hard.

We love you,

Dad, Mom, and Rylee

Mikayla,

It will be wonderful to watch and to participate as you continue to prepare and fulfill God's calling on your life. You have grown into a strong, courageous, beautiful young lady. If you push yourself in life, like you do on stage, you are going to accomplish great things.

Love,

Mom, Dad, Ryan & Mason

Mikayla Maiava

Anna Carmichael

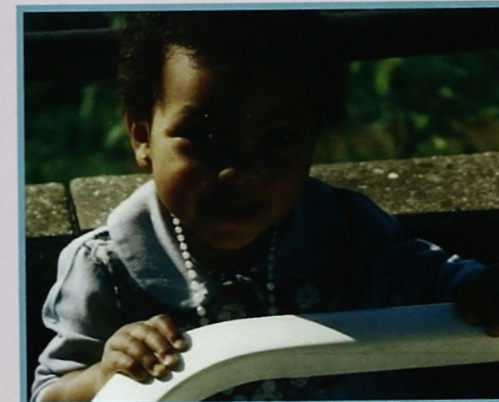

My dearest Anna Ruth,

You have touched my heart and my life in a way that has forever changed me. I am so proud of who you are and what you have already accomplished.... but there is so much more to come! I know you will find happiness and success because of your values, your self-knowledge, and your incredible talents that you have been blessed with. I will miss seeing your sweet face every day but I look forward to watching the next chapter of your life unfold before us. Remember that I am always here to help you, to understand you, to support you, to encourage you, and to love you. Thank you for all the happiness you have brought to my life.

I love you,
Mom

Amira A. Murry

We can't begin to tell you
Just how loved you are
We can't believe how time has flown
And how you've come so far

There are no doubts within our minds
That you'll indeed succeed
Your future holds so much in store
But 'that smile' is all you need

No matter where life leads you
No matter what you do
We'll always be your biggest fans
And we'll be here for you.

With lots of love always,

Mama,
Daddy,
Samila,
Chi-Kobe

Kurt Hall

Long before you were born we imagined, and hoped, and prayed, that you would resemble the young man that you so obviously have become. We could not possibly be more proud of you and all of your accomplishments, academically and on the baseball field; but what makes us most proud is your honesty, integrity and desire to serve your country and your family. You are the best son, grandson and big brother anyone could ever ask for. Wherever life takes you, know that you'll never leave our hearts.

Mom, Dad and Shyanne

Wesley Manner

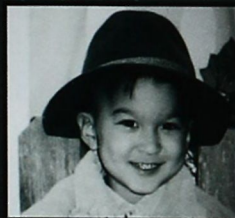

We are so proud of you and your accomplishments! As you look to your future, remember to be true to yourself. The rest will follow.

We love you! Mom & Dad

I hope your dreams take you to the corners of your smiles, to the highest of your hopes, to the windows of your opportunities, and to the most special places your heart has ever known. -Author Unknown

KE'ALII HYLINN LA'AKEA KANIAUPIO TAYLOR

DEAR KE'ALII,

CONGRATULATIONS ON A JOB WELL DONE. DREAMS COME TRUE WHEN YOU BELIEVE THEY CAN HAPPEN TO YOU. AS A LEADER,

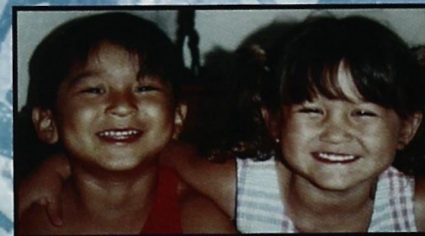

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIGHT FOR LOVE AND WHAT YOU BELIEVE IN. LEADERSHIP HAS ALWAYS BEEN YOUR STRENGTH. SOUGHTLY YOU WALK AND MAKE THINGS HAPPEN. OUR WORDS FOR YOU: GO, LOVE, A CHAMP. PRAY HARD, WORK HARD, AND TAKE THE ROAD THAT IS LONG AND HARD. IT IS WORTH THE TIME. WE ARE VERY PROUD OF YOU, SON. WE LOVE YOU.

Aloha and love,

Mom and Dad

Kohilani Sharon Kaniaupio Taylor

Dear Kohilani,

CONGRATULATIONS ON THE END OF A CHAPTER AND ON A NEW BEGINNING. FROM THE MOMENT YOU WERE BORN, WE KNEW YOU WOULD BE A LEADER. HARD FIRST YOU HAVE ENLIGHTENED PEOPLE WITH YOUR HEART. OUR WORDS FOR YOU: PRAY HARD, WORK HARD, BELIEVE IN PEOPLE, AND TAKE THE ROAD LESS TRAVELLED. FOR IT IS LONG AND HARD, BUT WORTH THE TIME, PLUS THERE ARE MORE THINGS TO SEE. WE LOVE YOU AND ARE VERY PROUD OF YOU, OUR DAUGHTER.

Aloha and love always,

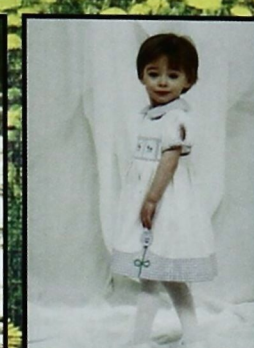

Mom and Dad

Gretchen Roeder

Gretchen,

From the very beginning you've made our lives a joy. Each day brings something new -- memories that we will always cherish. We know that God has blessed our lives and we are confident that God will continue to watch over and bless you wherever you may go. Most of all we want the Thank You for being who you are -- you've brought joy, laughter and music into our lives. For these and so much more, we are Thankful to God for giving us a gift called Gretchen.

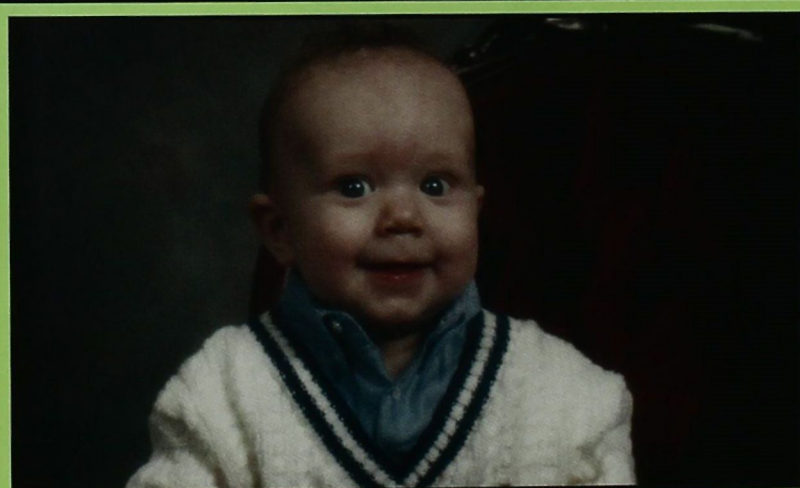

Sarah Hall

Sarah,

We blinked and you grew up. We wouldn't change a thing and we'd be so happy to do it all over again if given the chance. Time for you to fly now. Take your mustard seeds everywhere you go and remember --we love you more!

Mom, Dad & Shelby

Dear Devon,

From the time you were little you had a thoughtful and mature nature, and we've watched you develop into a great young man. Every challenge that you've faced has helped to prepare you for a brilliant future. Congratulations Dev!

"5" forever,

Mom, Dad, Nate, Parker, and Asher

Caleb Miller

Caleb,

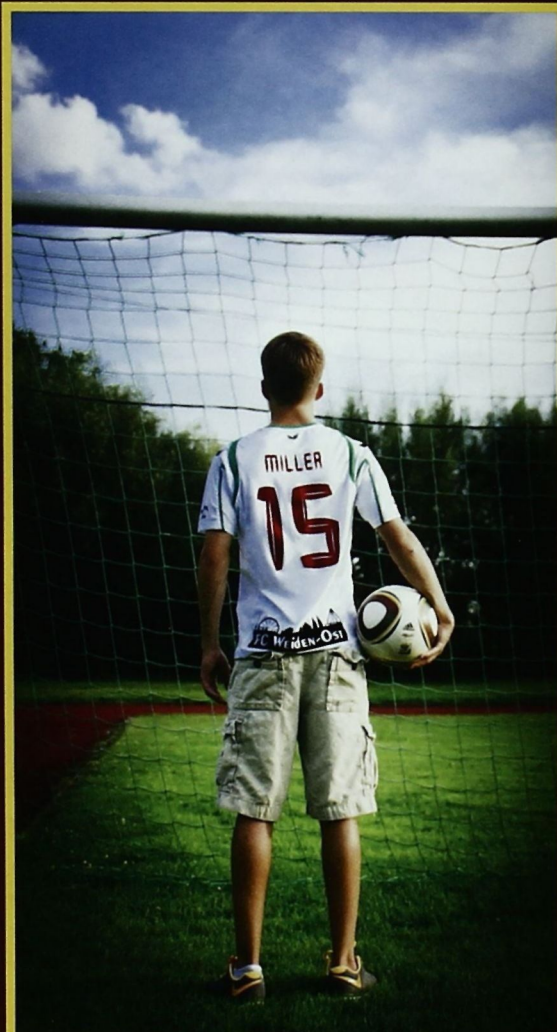

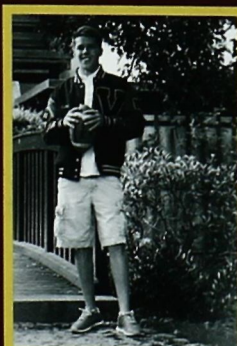

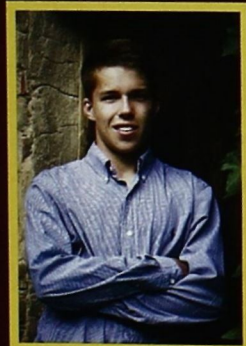

The year 2015 came way too fast, it is now time to go out and conquer your dreams. We will miss watching you play soccer, baseball, and kicking on the football team. You have made us very proud over the last 18 years; we love you always and forever.

GABRIEL LEWIS

Our Son Gabe,

The quiet young shy little boy since his young days and that smile is his true signature. His demeanor is like no other and his generosity and sharing with others is unmatched. The competitive spirit, commitment and dedication to academics & sports, life has truly made him the young man his parents are so proud of since his early childhood. We know that the journey ahead will be challenging for Gabe, however we also know first-hand that our "Son" is well prepared for the next chapter in his life with God's blessings.

Love,
Dad & Mom

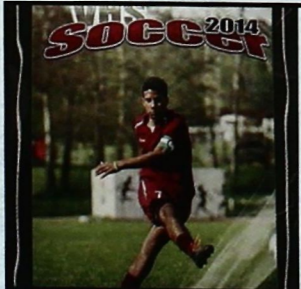

PIERRE ELYSEE

QUERIDO PIERRE,

WE ARE VERY PROUD OF YOUR ACADEMIC AND ATHLETIC ACCOMPLISHMENTS!
REMEMBER,
"TRUST GOD FROM THE BOTTOM OF YOUR HEART.
... IN EVERYTHING YOU DO, EVERYWHERE YOU GO:
HE'S THE ONE WHO WILL KEEP YOU ON TRACK
... HONOR GOD WITH EVERYTHING YOU OWN;
GIVE HIM THE FIRST AND THE BEST."
(PROV. 3:5-12 THE MESSAGE)
CONGRATULATIONS, PG!!!
WE WISH YOU ALL THE BLESSINGS TODAY AND ALWAYS.

LOVE,
DAD, MOM, GABE AND RENE

"A successful man is one who can lay a firm foundation with the bricks others have thrown at him."

David Brinkley

Chandler,
We are so proud of you and of all that you have accomplished. You have persevered through so many obstacles and challenges. We know that great things lie ahead for you, as you pursue your goals and dreams in college. Have fun, work hard, and always take advantage of opportunities that come your way.

We love you,
Dad, Mom, Chris, Connor & Tebo

Tyler Wehner

Tyler,
It's been a long road travelled but you've persevered and come out on top. You've blessed the lives of those around you. You've been to places, seen and experienced things that not everyone does in a lifetime. We know that you'll do amazing things in your life, and as one of your daycare teachers once said, "I know some day we're gonna see Tyler Wehner's name in big lights!" As you spread your wings and move on to the next phase of your life, remember that you will always be loved by those who matter the most to you.

We Love You,
Mom and Jessica

Nolan Lloyd Tucker

This page is dedicated to our son/grandson Nolan, from his parents, Dolores and Lloyd Tucker. One day while on a walk with his grandfather, he fell. I bent down and brushed the gravel from his hands and kissed them. He said: "Pa Pa, I love you." These were the last words he said for months. When he entered preschool, he had to have special classes for delayed speech. After several months he started talking and now we can't get him to stop. His behavior from birth all the way through high school was exemplary. He has never ceased to make us proud. He has never been a disappointment. He is what makes our lives worth living here on this earth. God has a special calling on this younger's life and we pray that He will reveal that calling in due time.

Tiernan Callaghan-McCann

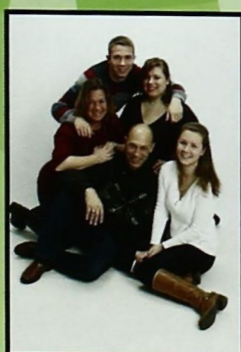

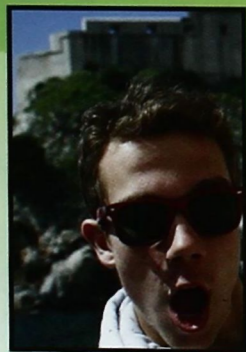

Tiernan Callaghan-McCann

Congratulations to a sweet young boy who has surpassed so many expectations, through good times and bad, you've grown to be such an amazing man. You are so diverse, kind, thoughtful, respectful, athletic, talented, intelligent and incredibly funny!

It has truly been a joy to see the varying facets of life's challenges mold you and to see how you've learned from each of them thus far. All at once, you inspire and entertain so many, and we wouldn't be half the people we've become without you.

You have so much ahead of you and your limits are boundless. You are loved beyond measure and the pride we have in you is felt with depths we never knew. So for the man who gave us every reason under the sun to smile, laugh, and enjoy every minute of your life to date, Congratulations. We love you, Tiernan!

-Love Madre, Padre, Kaity, and Twin

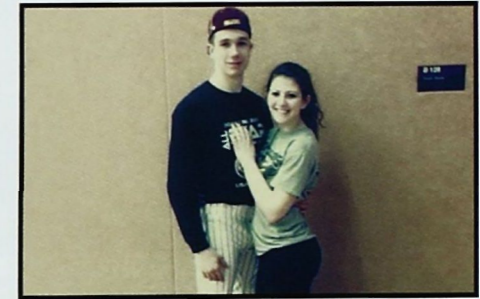

Tiernan,

We have enjoyed having you as part of our family this school year, and although you may have graduated from high school, your journey has just begun. Now the real work starts! That means that you, and only you, are responsible for your own success. Study hard, for there's no substitute for hard work. Carefully guard your good reputation, live a healthy lifestyle, and always make time for family and loved ones. You have what it takes to be successful! We know you'll do great things!

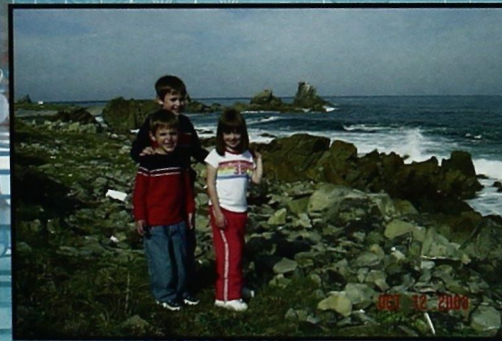

Love,
Coach and Mrs. Patty

Emma Finlay

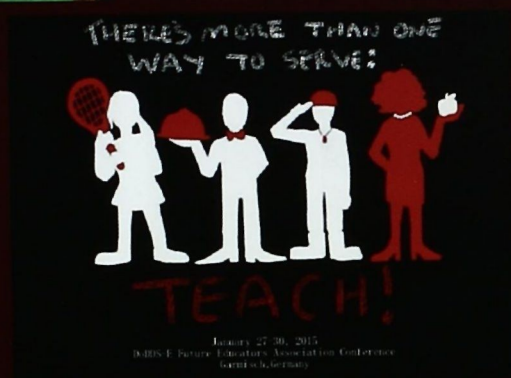

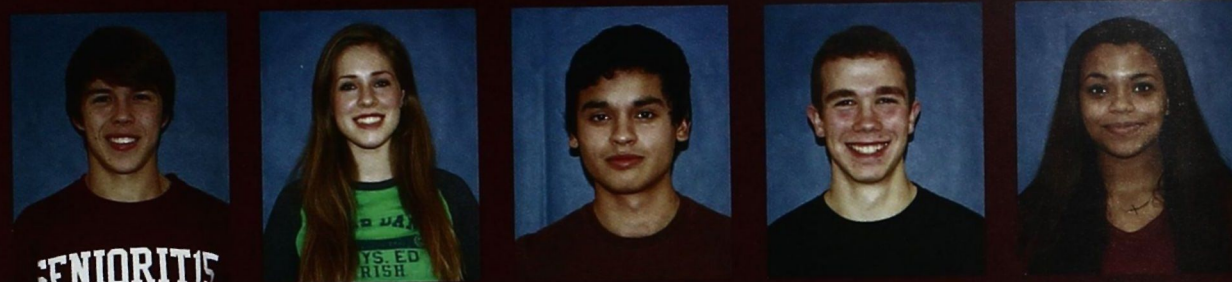

Emma,
You are such an inspiration. You have always embraced who you are, but not let it limit you. Whether it is getting a gold medal at the Special Olympics, making the Honor Roll, entering the Talent Show, or trying out for cheerleading, you've shown us what determination and perseverance really are. You are a special girl with an amazing future ahead of you.

Love,

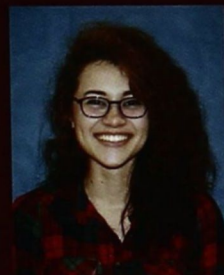

Mom Dad, Ethan, and Dylan
