The Vilseck Falcons --

A collection of students from all over the world which happens to unite us

The future, every one of us

The students playing on the football field, and the students in the stands to cheer on our team

What makes up Vilseck

Who sing our hearts out at every choir concert

The students that make an impact on the Grafenwoehr / Vilseck community

The students standing on the football field in maroon on graduation day.

A unique group of students unafraid to show the world what we can do

this is our LIFE

Here at Vilseck, a community is formed. This social environment provides students with two keys to success. The first, education, is derived not only from the skilled teachers but the enthusiastic students. The second, social skills, comes from the welcoming friendships

1. Tynniesia Wilson, 10, films Juniors Sheh-Laye and Ryan York, 10, for a skit for their Video Communication class.
2. Drumline member Christian Worrell, 9, challenges fellow drummers Jamar Rowden, 11, and Leilane Mcgee, 10, to a pattern contest at the pep rally.
3. Ken Pinckney, 12, runs the ball down the court with Alex Rodriguez, 12, and Jalen Edwards, 12, at the teacher versus student game at the pep rally.

3.

1. Seniors Kayla Stevens and Kadence Hurd, and Hanna Arnold, 11, make appetizing red velvet cakes and Key Lime pies for a Thanksgiving event.

2. Gianna Spurr, 12, organizes library books, and puts them on the cart to be shelved as Ms. Thornbrugh's Career Practicum student.

3. Freshmen Cheyenne Jones and Ayden Gallup work together to complete an essay for Mr. Nichols' World History class.

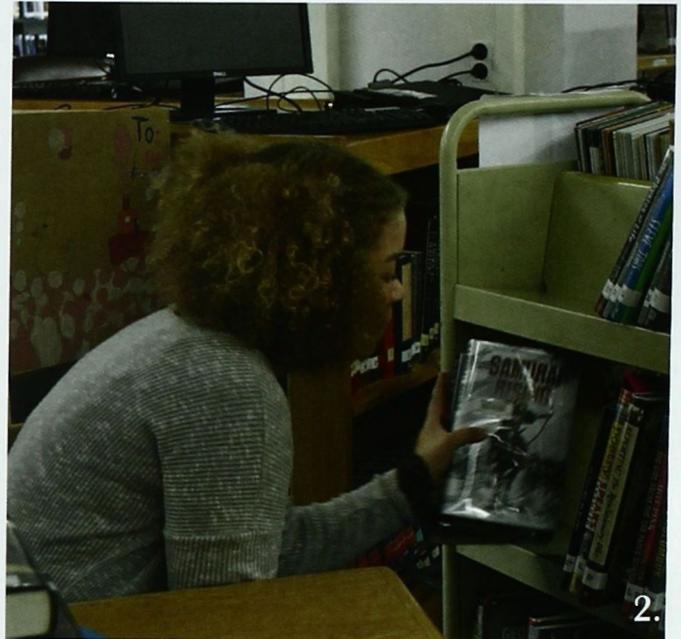

4. Freshmen Gavin Sacco and Fausto Benitez collaborate to finish Mr. Nichols' World History essay.

5. Juniors Adely Huezo and Camille Pereira rehearse the alto part of "The Holly and the Ivy" in preparation for the Winter Concert.

6. Shaniyah Generette, 9, solves geometry problems for a practice assignment in Mr. Torrence's class.

7. Sophomores Aaron Merritt and Emily Ryan, and Frank Song, 9, compete against each other in a geometry game during Mr. Torrence's class.

8. Seniors Zachary Weers and Kenya Pinckney help each other with homework in the library.

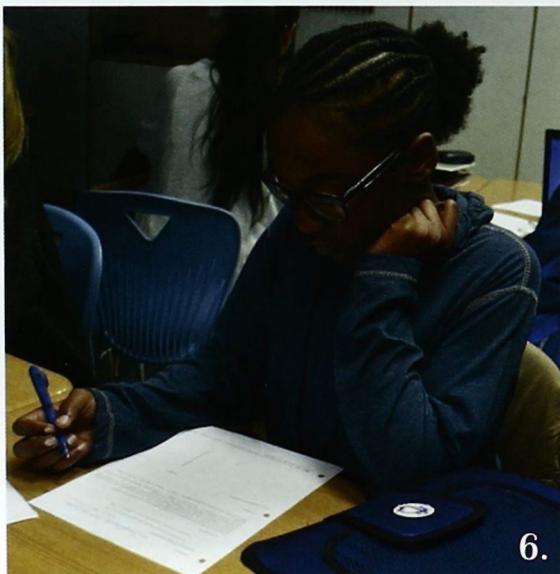

When in high school, there are good memories and sometimes, unfortunately, there are bad memories. Here at VHS we ensure that there will be plentiful good memories to reflect on learning can help develop all those memories. Without academics we would be unable to handle life outside high school. Academics in school prepare you for college; in college you then go on to attain the knowledge for a future career. Classes such as English, math, science, and history are what help us advance into college ready students. With reasons like these, academics plays a major role in a high school student's life.

There are two things for certain about Vilseck High School students: They love their school, and they love to party. That is why a week's worth of spirited celebration was the perfect opportunity for the students to come together as a school. Leading up to the Saturday football game against the extremely tough Wiesbaden Warriors were four days of dressing up, decorating, and team building around the school. Students displayed heaps of school spirit in various ways during this exciting week. Senior Vivi Ramirez flaunts her spirit with face paint and a mum, which is a traditional Homecoming flower.

1. Alice Huezo, 10, and Principal Mr. Villareal come together in a hug to show the excitement for Homecoming week.

2. Seniors Michaela Lewis and Giana Spurr pose for a selfie with their dazzling Homecoming crowns.

3. Jakobi Amaker, 9, and Kyera Black, 12, challenge each other to an intense game of chess during for the Homecoming fest.

4. Cameron Downs, 11, in his humongous sumo suit prepares to wrestle his opponent at the Homcoming fest.

5. Seniors Grace Torres and Gina Augusta show off their school spirit while selling Homecoming tickets.

6. Seniors Bella Ortiz and Isabella Brasi embrace each other with the Falcon on the train.

HOME COMING

we are FALL FALCONS

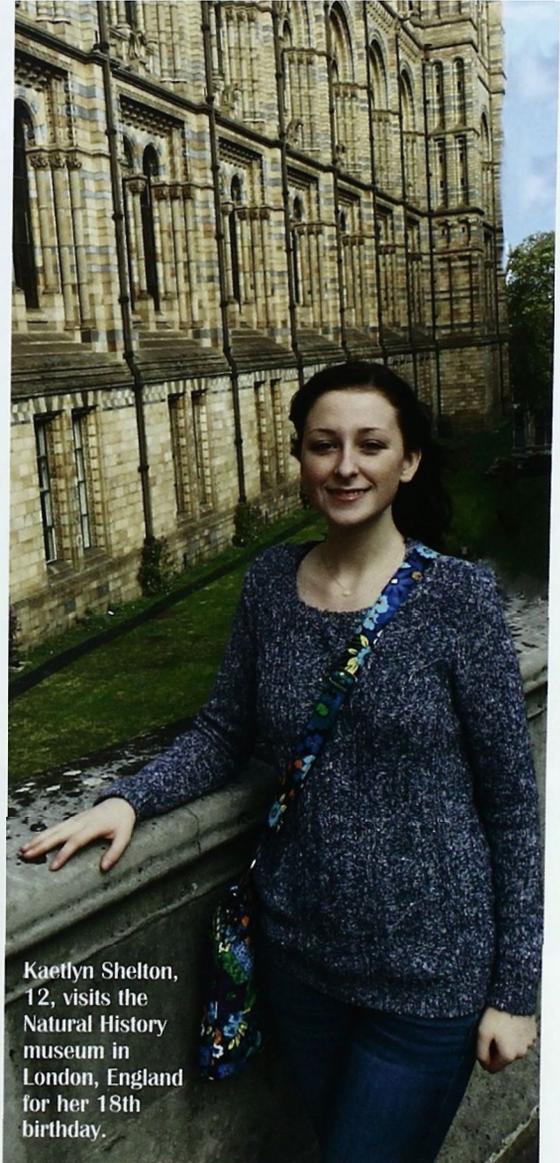

Fall is when the trees turn an autumnal hue, the fallen leaves crunch underfoot, we drink Pumpkin Spice Lattes, and it's finally time to break out all those comfy cozy knit sweaters we've been missing. Saturday football games made glorious with the crisp air and bright warm sun. Pumpkin Patch picking becomes a tradition. Trick or Treating made fun with your best friends tagging along. Carving savory turkey during Thanksgiving while you watch the infamous Macy's Day Parade on T.V. These are the things we love about fall life.

4. Students listen closely in culinary class as Ms. Barnes instructs them how to bake muffins for Homecoming week.
5. Shavonne Cole, 11, Nate McClintock, 12, Justin McClintock, 9, Diego Martinez, 12, look forward to another busy autumn day at school.

6. Isabel Brasi, 12, speaks at the first pep rally of the school year, reminding us of all the game times for sports.
7. Juniors Kayla Silden and Maria Bacon kick up their heels in the first snow of the year.
8. Michelle Brooks, 12, paints the VFW (Veterans of Foreign Wars) train with vibrant red poppies during Homecoming week.

What type of things come to mind when you think of winter? In Germany, winter consists of so many things: visiting Christmas markets, sipping on piping hot Christmas punch, eating super sweet and crunchy candied nuts, skiing at resorts in the Alps, frolicking in the snow, and singing Christmas carols all day long. Some popular places our Falcons visit include Regensburg, Nuremberg, Berlin, and several other German cities. These examples are what come to mind when we think of Winter in Europe.

we are SPRING FALCONS

The warm breeze brushes over your cheeks and the sun shines on your skin for the first time in months. Spring has returned and brings with it a liveliness to the students' day. They are handed more opportunities to step out into Europe and explore their surroundings. Mild weather allows them to exercise more, often in the form of hiking and sports. The sporting events for track and soccer prompt students to run around and associate with many new friends from all around the continent.

we are FOOTBALL

The Vilseck Falcon football team brought pride to our school this year. The team had its ups and downs, but it developed the team into who they were, fighters. The Falcons fought hard and made it to the play-offs. Everyone had fun and everyone learned something. This year they were "eleven men on the field to achieve one goal," remarked Coach Phil Perez. Many of the talented athletes aspire to play college ball. Senior Zavier Scott said, "The key to having a good team is chemistry, and knowing your team." Jim Hall coached a great season, and was enormously proud of the team.

we are SPIRIT

During the fall season the coaches for the cheer team really wanted to focus on conditioning the girls and getting them into pristine shape for the season ahead. They got the ball rolling during a very wet and rainy first game but still managed to keep the crowds spirit up. Each girl on the team bonded with one another and by the end of the season they were all sad to hang their poms up and say goodbye to football cheer. Team captain Bailey Rhodes, 12, says she is most proud of how confident and uplifting the Vilseck team is this year. They really pushed each other to give their best in everything that they do.

SERVES UP! Benjamin Keeler, 10, begins a exciting game with AFNORTH International School with an exceptional serve.

we are TENNIS

The predominantly rookie team showed promise as they developed their skills under the guidance of Coach John Sabala and Assistant Coach Rob Loe. "Fifty percent of the game is mental; if you think you are going to lose, you will," said Benjamin Keeler, 10. With the senior players present to provide support and experience, the team brought life to the court. The team exhibited exceptional mental toughness as they persevered throughout the season, showing that Vilseck students never give up.

we are VOLLEYBALL

Never underestimate your opponent. The Vilseck Volleyball Team may be mighty small, but they are mighty powerful. Even though their schedule was packed with challenging opponents, that did not hinder them from being victorious. Every team they played were left in awe by Vilseck's teamwork, skills, and spirit. Mohagony Lediju, 12, after being on the team for four years, remarked, "this season has been my best so far. Our team has formed a bond that can never be broken. I love them so much."

we are CROSS COUNTRY

American distance running legend Steve Prefontaine once said that "to give anything less than your best is to waste the gift." The Vilseck Falcons never fall short in that respect. Pushing their personal and professional limits, the runners for this cross country team can go home after a race, win or loss, knowing that they spent every possible ounce of energy on defeating their opponents. Combining physical fortitude with mental aptitude, the members of this team exemplify the positive qualities found in all Vilseck High School students.

we are WRESTLERS

This season the Vilseck wrestling team was on fire; both guys and girls were killing it and winning a lot of their matches! Most guys placed first and second place in their respective weight class, which is outstanding. This season was a long journey through growth, discipline, and a desire to achieve goals. Joseph Baca, 11, summed up the season in one word: INTENSE.

we are CHEER

The winter season for cheerleading was one of the toughest the girls have had in a long time. With multiple injuries along with other changes that had to be made to the varsity routine many times, it is safe to say that this season was very competitive for competition. Though it was a very stressful season, the girls managed to push through and adapt to every obstacle. This season taught each girl how to accept change and develop from it. With the help of three coaches, the girls proved that anyone can adjust to a given situation and mold it into something better.

we are LADY HOOPERS

Lady Falcons rose to the court and took action with new players. These fierce ladies were ready for any challenge that came against them. Even though many players were injured towards the end of the season the lady Falcons never gave up hope. They gave it their all, and in the end realized that it's not the win that counts, but the team work, bonds of friendship, and most of all, the creation of something that will last forever.

we are BALLERS

The Vilseck Falcons boys' basketball team tore up the courts this season with an even and clean 7-7 record. They showed off their determination and strength as they played some of Europe's top basketball teams. Freshman Justin McClintock remarked, "My first year playing on a high school team was so much fun!" However, putting numbers aside, the most impressive thing about the Vilseck Boys Basketball team was their unfaltering ability to work as a team. It's one thing to be athletically talented; it's another to be able to think in unison, with up to four different players.

DASH! Junior Kayla Silden gets four balls and runs to first base during the game against Kaiserlautern High School.

we are SOFTBALL

Leading into the softball season, Vilseck Lady Falcons hit it off with multiple wins against Kiserslautern and Hohentfels High School. These Ladies worked hard and played their best just to prove that "playing like a girl," is different to what people thought. After long hours of dedication and determination, the Lady Falcons proved to everybody that they are one of the best. Relationships were closer and bonds were formed during this wonderful season and it will last forever.

we are BASEBALL

Baseball! America's favorite pastime. This classic American sport is ever-present in Germany, even here at Vilseck High School. This year's team was constructed primarily of new players. The boys had to come together and learn each other's strengths and weaknesses so that they could work together as a team; once they came together, the results were exceptional.

we are TRACK STARS

Track is a sport that tests many parts of a person's physical ability. This will go from speed with the 100 meter dash to strength with discus. These activities require hours of training and practice to perform at your best and the athletes at Vilseck do just that. Their dedication is admirable and can be applied in many other aspects of their lives. These students truly make Vilseck a great place.

we are GIRLS' SOCCER

Soccer. One of the most played sports all over the world! There is no doubt about that, here at Vilseck our girls play it a lot and play it well. This season's team was comprised of many freshman and novice players, but that did not stop them from giving their all and tearing up every field they played on across Europe. Senior Alyssa Manitas noted that this year's team is "the best team that [she has] ever played with."

we are BOYS' SOCCER

Europe's most popular sport, actually, the WORLD's most popular sport: soccer. Though a very fast-paced sport, sometimes unpleasant based on weather, the Vilseck boys played it well. Through snow, sunshine, whatever weather it maybe, the Vilseck boys' soccer team persevered. From small teams to big teams, Vilseck fought relentlessly and passionately against every team across Europe.

BAND

There is nothing more exciting than hearing the whole band come in on beat one of a powerful song. There is something undeniably cathartic about the combined sound of brass, woodwind, and percussion instruments in a humongous band of musicians. That is what Vilseck High School has provided this year for its audiences.

1. Johnathon Motherwell, 10, plays the trumpet, a valve instrument that provides the band with a kick of energy due to its pitch and piercing sound.

2. Freshmen Mia Chon and Kelsie Cruz combine the sound of the piano and the soprano voice to recreate a baroque duet. There is nothing more iconic than the vocal-piano duo

3. Kevin Rodrliguez - Garcia, 10, reads through a warm up exercise on the French horn, an exquisite instrument comprised of 32 feet of tubing, curled into a circle.

4. Sean Bergosh, 9, and David Rivera, 12, blow out some resonant bass notes on the baritone saxophone.

First row: Christian Worrell, Eva Bender, Violet Bender, Carl Dalebout, Timothy Simmons, Marshall Bender, Kenya Pinckney, Sean Bergosh, Grace Torrence, Matthew Escano. Fourth Row: Kelsie Cruz, Shelby Rozhon, Benita White, Ivy Garza, Bella Martinez.

5. Matthew Escano, 10, rehearses his part on the baritone horn for the Spring Concert, The baritone horn requires an abundance of lung capacity to play.
6. Timothy Simmons, 11, and Christian Worrell, 9, complement the band with percussion on the marimba, an instrument that can be played by up to three people.

we are

ORCHESTRA

Classical stringed instruments require an enormous amount of effort to master. Most instruments have a fret system, or mechanism of separating pitches into predefined notes. The violin, viola, cello, and bases do not. The musician must master the ear as well as the hands, in order to both find a pitch and play a pitch, all while keeping tempo.

1. Devin Gannon, 12, fiddles out a rendition of "Cotton Eyed Joe" on his violin. "Cotton Eye Joe" is an American folk song.

2. Nathan Null, 9, and Jayda Fountain, 10, joke around in between songs, proving that strings people do have a sense of humor.

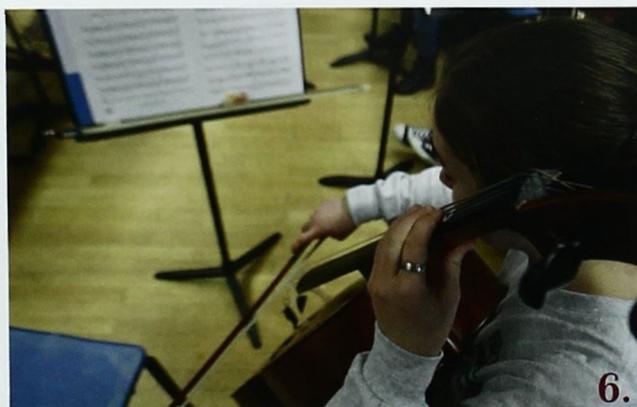

3. Naomi Perez, 10, and Analie Avelino, 9, play the melancholy intro to Ase's "Death."

4. Sierra Delrosa, 12, and Deirdre Ellis, 11, focus intensely on their part in "Sweet Dreams."

First row: Katelynn Butzin, Jonathan White, Ian Vila, Nathan Null, Devin Gannon, Sean Bergosh, Austin Copes, Benjamin Williams, Maria Bacon, Sarah Deloach, Jayda Fountain. CHOIR

Learning to sing is like learning to swim. There are some who jump right into the water, excited at the concept of learning a new skill. There are others who take a bit of time to warm up before wading into the shallow end. Regardless of how fast the approach, it is only by immersing oneself in music, confronting such a foreign experience with courage and persistence, that a student becomes a singer.

1. Erin Walden, 9, leans against a beautiful grand piano as she leads the intro for "Santa Baby."

2. Liam Hartmann, 11, and Shane Rufo, 12, belt their tenor voices across the auditorium, adding depth to the choir sound.

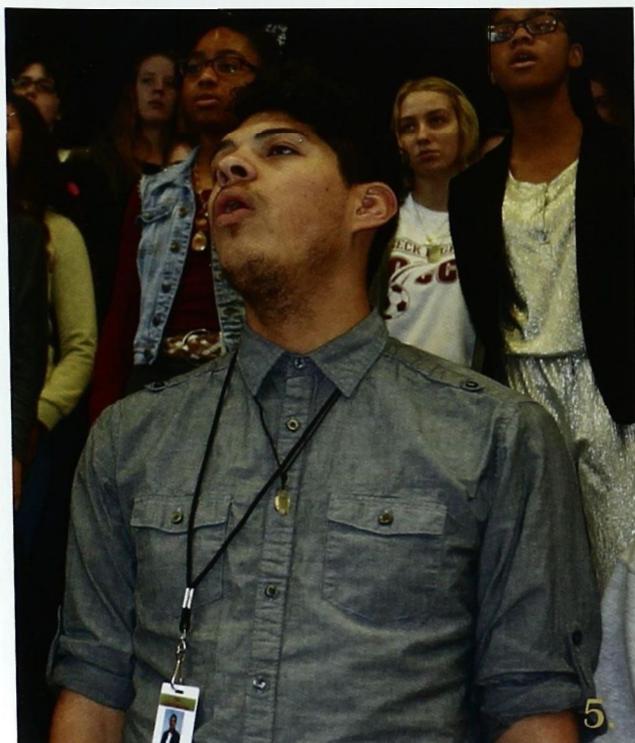

3. Salome Ramirez, 12, and Keilee Daubon, 10, strut their stuff in a dance routine choreographed by one of Vilseck's own, Destini Wellington, 12.

4. Fidelia Lare, 11, smiles after hitting a note relatively high for her vocal range. It is truly rewarding to push one's own boundaries.

First Row: Joseph Morales, Erin Walden, Serena Gilchrist, Soleil Batton, Angel Guzman, James Fountain, Emmanuel Effiong, Maks Cella, Grace Torres, Mackenzie Dillenbeck, Janae Hambrick, Destini Wellington, Crystal Morris. Second Row: Kristiana Labuga, Marcos Rivera, Laila Morris, Ray Mutchock, Ashley-Jane Ramsey, Kaleb Graves, Leah Carpenter, Sebastian Franco, Jace Sutton, Shelby Hartmann. Fourth Row: T.J. Utter, Kaitlyn Murray, Jocelyne Lowery, Alexia Clark, Salome Ramirez, Alice Huezto, Natasha Murray, Maya Fields, Ambria McIntyre, Adely Huezto, Lauren Thompson

5. Nicholas Torres, 12, offers the choir an intoxicating baritone support from beneath the sopranos, acting as the strong foundation for an ornate structure of voices.
6. Kristiana Labuga, 12, accompanies one of what members of the audience called "the most breathtaking high school choir pieces to date."

JROTC

Here in JROTC students are challenged every day and are tested on their skills. Students are expected to be responsible of their daily duties. Between attending weekly inspections and getting homework done for other classes, students are very busy and are treated like adults. In the end, these cadets will leave high school with a sense of responsibility and self worth.

we are MARKSMANSHIP

Vilseck High School has an esteemed JROTC program that is comprised of many cohesive military themed clubs. One that stands out from the crowd, however, is the Marksmanship team. It's cool enough that they get to shoot guns for sport. The fact that they are some of the most skilled Marksmen in Europe is just icing on the cake. They sharpen their skills by practicing every day and demonstrate them against other teams all around Europe. Riflery is a valuable skill; it teaches the shooter how to focus their mind, the entirety of their conscience, on one particular task. The Vilseck High School marksmen take this intense ability to focus with them wherever they go in life. It is evident in their academic achievement and in the smiles of those around them.

we are DRILL

This spring, the Vilseck High school drill team was very hopeful and optimistic going into the season. The coach, SFC Prince Young, said "The toughest opponent they are going to face this season is themselves." He and the rest of the team agreed that it would be the best season the team has ever had. The drill team was full of hard working, motivated, and dedicated cadets. SFC Young said the team was full of "The best Vilseck High School has to offer." The team was very thankful they were able to grow close and become a family by the end, because it helped them work in unison and achieve the goals they set for themselves.

YEARBOOK

This year's Yearbook staff consisted of a small group of individuals. Without a doubt, they were able to create a one of a kind yearbook for the 2016-2017 school year. Many people do not realize how many hours are spent on the weekends and after school to take pictures, place photos in templates, and write captions.

1. Top row: Ms. VanDe, 12, Jon White, 12, Anthony Calkins, 12, Kaetlyn Shelton, 12.
Bottom Row: Alannah Clark, 11, Audree Parker, 12, Alexa Fuentecilla, 10, Kaitlyn Blume, 12, Kayla Silden, 11.

2. Junior Kayla Silden counts ballots to see who was selected as winners of the Sophomore Superlatives.
3. Senior Kaetlyn Shelton inserts senior quotes into the senior section.
4. Alexa Fuentecilla, 10, works on captions for the Spring Student Life page.

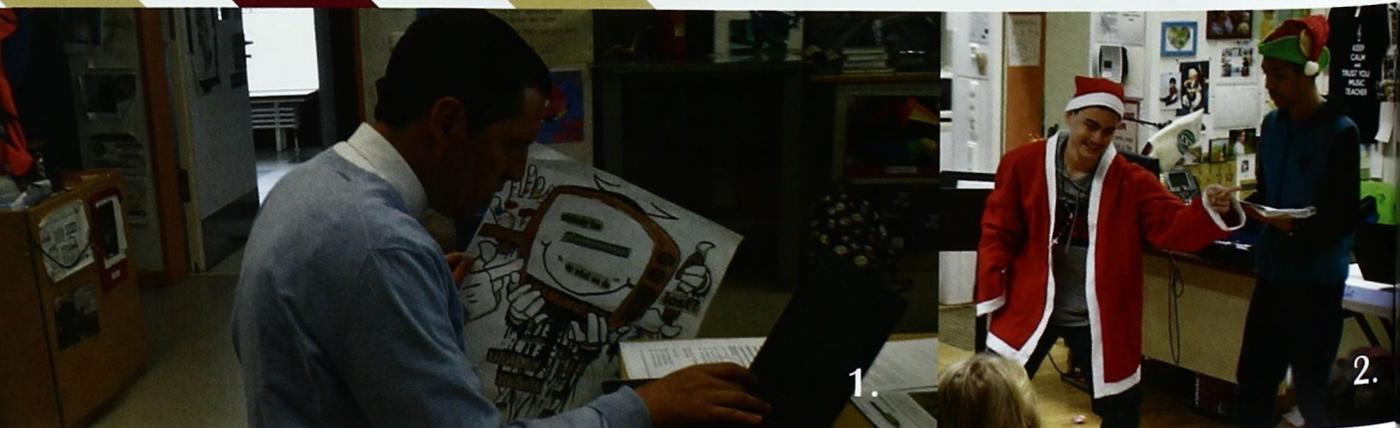

Seniors Kaitlyn Blume and Anthony Catkins work together at the fall workshop to design the football spread.

5. Alannah Clark, 11, examine colors and lines as she edits the layout and design for the various division pages in the 2017 yearbook.

6. Seniors Jonathan White and Audree Parker share ideas for the yearbook during the fall workshop with plant rep Meghan Jolliffe.

FLUTES!! Violet Bender, 10; Mia Chon, 9; and Kelsie Cruz, 10, start the morning with a bit of practice on the flute. They patiently work out a trill in a passage before rehearsal.

we are the Falcons of VILSECK

The people are what make Vilseck High School special: the students, the teachers, the administration, the staff, the folks who serve lunch to us every day. We all are the Falcons' Nest.

1. Mr. Anglim carefully analyzes a student's artwork for a grade. Hopefully they followed their principles of design
2. David Rivera, 12, and (???)?, pose as Santa Claus and one of his elves in an original musical short for the winter exam in choir.
3. Mr.Loe expressively conveys the tone he desires for the next run through of concert music
4. Madeleine Johnson, David Parks, Denis Frost, Miwako Fastnacht and Waltraud Dicks make up our cafeteria crew.

Marc Villareal Principal

Although Principal Marc Villareal did not know that he wanted to be an educator, he did have a strong influence from his family. It was not until he went to college that he knew he wanted to be in the education field. He has been an educator for twenty years, and has taught for fourteen of them. The other five years he was an Assistant Principal at Schweinfurt Middle and High School. This is Mr. Villareal's first year being a principal, and although it comes with many challenges, he loves every minute of it.

Shawn Rodman Vice principal

Vice Principal Shawn Rodman has been in the education field for twenty-seven years. Originally, he thought about working in the field of Criminal Justice, but after being a teacher aid in a self contained criminal correction center, he knew that teaching was his calling. He loved the idea of having an impact on these students' lives and helping them change for the better. He worked for the program for ten years before moving to to public education. He has now been the Vice Principal for two years.

FALCON FACULTY

this is what we do...

On a daily basis, the Vilseck High School faculty and staff keep all systems running smoothly. From smiles in the office to supporting the volleyball team's philanthropy, we do it all because "we are the champions."

1. Ms. Smithson helps out students Maria Bacon, 11, and Danajja Pitts, 11, with their chemistry class work.
2. Mr. Patton and Ms. Hernandez keep the front office happy. We were sad to see Ms. Hernandez leave.
3. Mr. Wall discusses and teaches some world history during 7th period.
4. Mr. Conrad, Ms. Cira Watson, Ms. Evans, Ms. Schaefer, Mr. Wall, Mr. Gehring, and Ms. Conners wear pink in support of Breast Cancer Awareness.

I hope you live a life you are proud of, and if you find that you are not, I hope you find the strength to start all over again." Curious Case of Benjamin Button. Never forget that we will always be right here rooting for you. As this chapter in Germany closes, a new one is about to start at Bishop's University in Canada - we can't wait to read the pages! We love you so much!

Love, Mom, Dad, Camden, and Mia

Kenya and Mondo Pinckney

You've graduated! We thank God for allowing us to celebrate this wonderful milestone in your life. You both have grown into respectful and mature young men whom we are proud of. Every obstacle you've faced in life has prepared you for this moment. We love you, are here for you, and welcome in the next exciting chapter of your life. May God order your footsteps in the path that most pleases him. Remember to always treat people with kindness and respect, and it will be returned unto you.

Love Dad & Mom

Destini Wellington

Dearest Destini a.k.a Baby D,
You are truly amazing and we absolutely adore you.
We're so proud of everything you've overcome, all that you've accomplished and your desire to succeed in everything that you do. Continue to stay focused and keep striving to reach your goals. We're looking forward to watching you evolve during this next chapter in your life.
We love you forever and a day,
Mum and Dad

Kaitlyn Blume

Dear Kaitlyn,

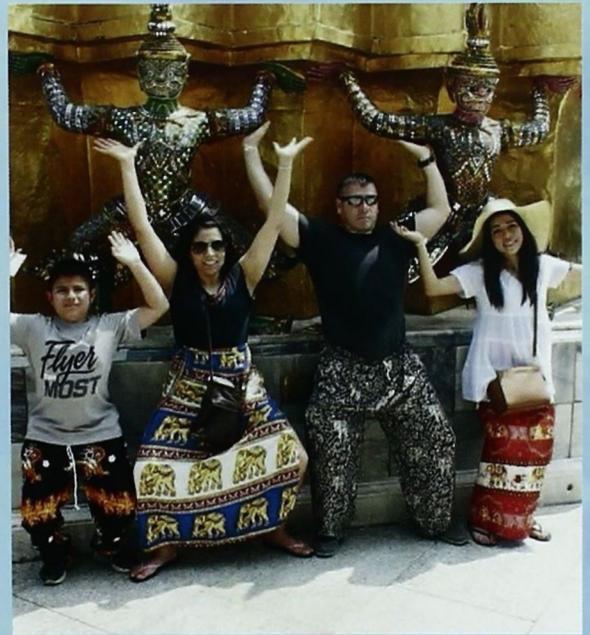

We are so proud of you and of the young women you have become. You continue to amaze us in all you have accomplished throughout the years. Watching you grow up has been a joy and it is sad for us knowing your time home with us is coming to an end. We are eager for you to begin your own adventure in life, knowing you will be successful in what you set your heart on. Let your compass guide you in what you know is right, being true to yourself.

Love you to the moon and back!

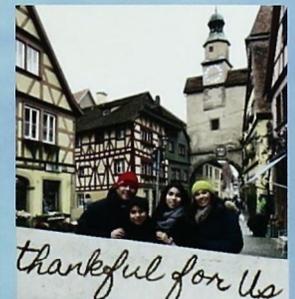

Mom and Dad

Bella Ortiz

To our beautiful, smart, and artistic daughter, We are proud of all your accomplishments and praise God for giving you the opportunity to see the world during our Army life. We are excited for your next chapter in your life and hope that you persevere in all your endeavors. We love you very much and thank God every day for having you in our lives. Te Queremos Pochonga. (We love you.) From Mom, Dad, Alex and Jiggae.

Serena Gilchrist

Serena, my Sunshine, you are one of a kind! I am so very proud of you!! Always stay true to yourself; never sacrificing your uniqueness to conform to the crowd. It's what sets you apart. Embrace life's adventures, make goals so big people laugh, then accomplish them! You have greatness within and the ability to become anyone and do anything. I have no doubt there are amazing things in store for you. Remember, the bigger the dream...the bigger the dream come true!!

I love you, Mom

We are so proud of you Audree!!

Love you BIG

Nana, Pops, Auntie, Justin, Natalie, & Gracie

Gina Auguste

How can it be that the years have flown by so fast? When did our baby become this phenomenal and exceptional young lady? You have developed an amazing moral compass. You know how to treat all people with kindness; you know how to have boundaries but still have fun with your friends. You know to stay grounded and be humble. Maybe it's because as a baby you ate a page out of the family bible. No parent could have ever wished for or created a better child. We are immensely proud of you and all that you have accomplished at just the dawn of your life.

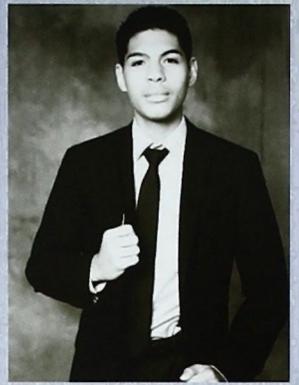

Grace & Nicki Torres

Life can get hectic along the way, while on your journey always stay Positive and strong.

There is no way to do it wrong.
Remember you're one of a kind,
both in your own "Beautiful" way.
Although it's time to move on,
you've left many memories behind.
Time is on your side, and life is full of options.

May God always use his "angels" to leave you clues to help you "Blossom"
into the beautiful that is you.
You are both loved dearly.
Remember if you can see the invisible, you can do the impossible.

Lastly,
Proverbs 3:5 says, "Trust in the LORD with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding."

Eric Merritt

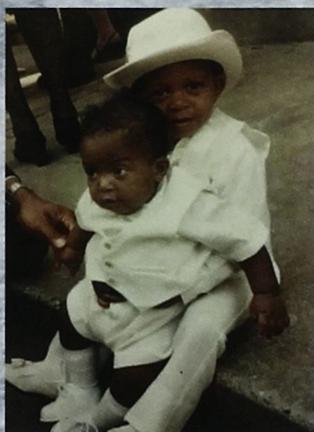

Eric,

We are so blessed to see how you have developed into the young man you are today. "Continue to trust in God with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding."

Proverbs 3:5-6 In all your ways acknowledge him and he will direct your path. Stay humble, respectful, kind, truthful, and loving. Dream and continue to dream; the art is in you and all your dreams will come true. "Blessings are upon the head of the richest." Proverbs 10:6

Love you more and more.

Mom, Dad, Aaron and Buddy.

Sarah Ford

Eighteen years...from precious little girl to beautiful young lady...and now you are graduating. As you leave high school and move to the next chapter in your life, there are things I hope you remember. Remember that God has a plan for you. Remember that life will sometimes be tough, but you are tougher. Remember that you are smart and wonderful and kind. Remember that your family loves you. Remember to be the person you were created to be. Thank you, Sarah, for giving us such wonderful memories. Cannot wait to see where life takes you.

Mama, Daddy, Allie

Isabella Brasi

To our sweet Isa:

Words cannot express how proud we are to have you as our daughter. God surely blessed us the day you were born. We have watched you grow into a radiant, beautiful young woman ready to take on the world, and we are so excited to watch you spread your wings and fly. As you move on to start your own journey in life always remember to never forget where you came from, trust in the Lord with all your heart and continue to wait on Him. In all your ways acknowledge Him, and He will make your paths straight. Congratulations, future Gator! We love you with all our hearts!

Steven Renick

Steve,
May all your wishes and dreams come true; you are already living your dreams despite the many stones laid in your path at an early age. Always break through the obstacles, live an honest life, continue to persevere and fight in justice-for ALL, and stay a Lion. With your motivation, dedication, and determination, you can accomplish anything you want. You WILL be successful. Stay healthy, and no matter how old you grow, or where you go, we will always be a team.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Kyera Black

Kyera,

Your talent for communicating what others aren't able to see through your art opens up minds and hearts. Now we are on to our next great adventure in Okinawa! I am so thankful that I get to share you with the world now! You are so incredibly loved.
Mom

Angelica Rosas

Our dear child, you have surpassed all our expectations. Adonai bless you in your future endeavors. May success always enter your path. We love you deeply and wish you the best in life. You have truly made us proud. No matter where you go in life, be humble and have faith.

Logan Chaney

Logan, you have grown up so fast. As you graduate we wish you the courage to face your fears, strength to be mentally tough, compassion for those around you, and hope that encourages you daily. Always trust and believe in yourself. Love you always and forever, Mom and Dad

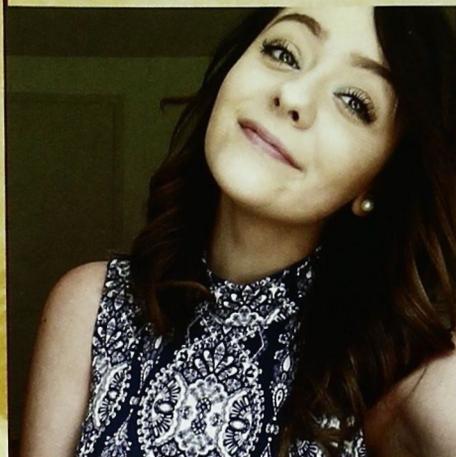

Shelby Hartmann

Dear Daughter,

If we could give you one thing in life we would give you the ability to see yourself through our eyes. Only then would you realize how special you are to us.

Jeremiah 29:11-13 "For I know the plans I have for you," declares the LORD, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future. Then you will call upon me and come and pray to me, and I will listen to you. You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart."

Nathaniel McClintock

We are so proud of you and your accomplishments! We could not be any happier or prouder of you as you begin the next chapter in your life. We know you will go far and be able to accomplish anything you desire. We loved every minute of watching you grow from the day you were born, to the wonderful young man you have become today. We know there are great things in store for you in the future. Continue to follow your dreams, HAVE FUN, and know your family will always love and support you! Just don't forget to come home every so often to visit!!!!
Love Mom, Dad, and Justin

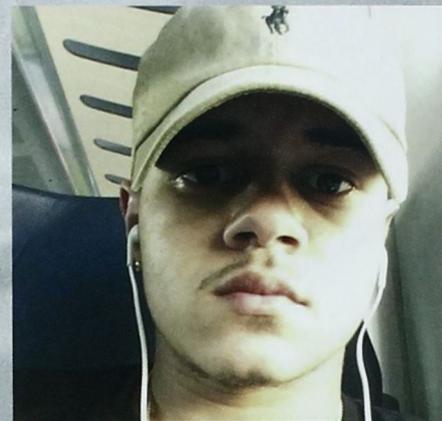

Julian Williams

May your dreams stay big,
your worries stay small,
and may you never need to carry more than you can hold.
Never stop learning
Love, Mom

Julian, I want to tell you how proud I am of the man you've become. May God continue to guide and bless you.
Dad.

Michaela Lewis

My dear Michaela,
We love and are so proud of you. You have grown into such a beautiful and smart young lady. I know you will continue to make your mother and I proud. We are so excited to see you go into the world to do great things. Our dear Michaela, never forget that you will forever be our little baby. We love you so much.
Love,
Mom and Dad

Vilseck High School
Home of the Falcons

Dear Fellow Falcons,

Seniors, we were the Vilseck Falcons. We were the students winning Spirit Week. We were the students the underclassmen strived to be. We are the future. We all will take different paths, some might join the army, others will go to college to start their career, a few will take a year off.

But no matter what path we decide to take, the one thing that will always unite us is that we were and still are The Vilseck Falcons. We were the students going to school in Germany, traveling all over Europe for sports and other clubs. We were the students staying up late at night working on college applications, scholarships, and homework. Whatever path you may take, work hard and never give up. Put some Falcon Pride and fight into whatever you may pursue in life. You got this, go show the world what we Vilseck Falcons are capable of.

Underclassmen, continue to work hard, because soon it will be your time to shine. For now you still are a Vilseck Falcon, so put that spirit into everything you pursue.

Love, Kaitlyn Blume
