

The background of the entire image is a close-up photograph of water. Numerous small, clear bubbles are rising from the bottom, creating a textured, effervescent effect. Scattered throughout the water are various smooth, rounded stones in shades of grey, brown, and tan. The lighting is bright, highlighting the wet surfaces of the rocks and the individual bubbles.

Museum Village

We took a wonderful trip to Museum Village. It is a village that models a community from the 1800's. We made candles and used an old fashion printing press. We even had a tour of a house from the 1700's!

Our Little Family

Our class pets are Diggerella and Oreo. They were born in December of 2005. Every few months, the family grows. Diggerella and Oreo are proud parents of several litters.

Every year students can take band and learn to play an instrument. Shown here are the four bands, which mostly consist of students that have the same ability level on their instruments. Students in band had so much fun playing their instruments. Mrs. Reifenberg was such a great and fun conductor. The bands perform concerts for the student body and parents which are enjoyed by all. Sure it's a lot about the players, but what happens behind the scenes? Managers and coaches work hard to keep the team in order.

The team likes to chill out and talk to their friends before practice and during breaks. It helps them cool down and relax.

VETERAN'S DAY ASSEMBLY

As you may know, Veteran's Day is a holiday that is very important to our country. To recognize these great men and women that served our country in the time of greatest need, students and teachers at the middle school put together an assembly. Local veterans were invited and came to the Veteran's Day Assembly, which included great performances from swing and tap dancing to singing the National Anthem and God Bless America. The veterans loved the assembly and the talent shown by students. After enjoying the performance, the veterans went upstairs to eat treats and talk to the students that put on the show. A special thanks to Mrs. Coffey for putting the assembly together and for the veterans that served our country.
