Dances, leaf rake-ups and elections have been some of the accomplishments of the Student Council. One of the major changes made under the supervision of the advisors, Mrs. Stearns and Mr. Reithinger, was election of officers. New officers are to be elected each semester. For the first semester this year presidential candidates took turns conducting the meetings.

Because of deadline schedules the final pages of the yearbook are sent to the company in February. Therefore the yearbook's account of school year 1970-1971 is not accurate. You will notice omissions such as the Faculty-Student basketball game, Sweet and Sweetie contest winners, and even the student protest (we put that in just in case there is or was one). The following are a few student activities that started late in the year but you know the old cliché "better late than early"!

Under the supervision of Miss Schuller, the cheerleaders; pom pom squad; and pep clubs generated school spirit at athletic events. Pep rallies complete with skits and cheers; selling of pompoms; and, most important, developing an attitude of good sportsmanship were some of the activities of these groups.

A black and white photograph of several children playing in a snowy environment. In the foreground, a boy is crouching down, looking at something in his hands. To his right, another boy stands looking towards the camera with a slight smile. In the background, another child is visible, and a person in a light-colored coat stands further back near some vertical poles. The ground is covered in snow, and there are some dark, leafless bushes on the left.

Why does this magnificent applied science which saves work and makes life easier bring us so little happiness? The simple answer runs: Because we have not yet learned to make sensible use of it.

THE BOX

kendrew lascelles

Once upon a time in the land of hush-a-bye,
Around about the wonderous days of yore,
They came across a sort of box
Bound up with chains and locked with locks
And labeled 'Kindly do not touch, its war'.

A decree was issued round about-
All with a flourish and a shout
And a gaily coloured mascot Tripping lightly on before-
'Don't fiddle with this deadly box
Or break the chains or pick the locks
And please don't ever mess about with war.'

Well the children understood,
Children happen to be good
And were just as good around the time of yore,
They didn't try to pick the locks
Or break into the deadly box
And never tried to play about with war.

Mommies didn't either,
Sisters, Aunts nor Grannies neither
'Cos they were quiet and sweet and pretty
In those wonderous days of yore,
Well very much the same as now
And not the ones to blame somehow
For opening up that deadly box of war,

But someone did,

Someone battered in the lid
And spilled the insides out across the floor,
A sort of bouncy bumpy ball
Made up of flags and guns and all
The tears and horror and the death
That goes with war.

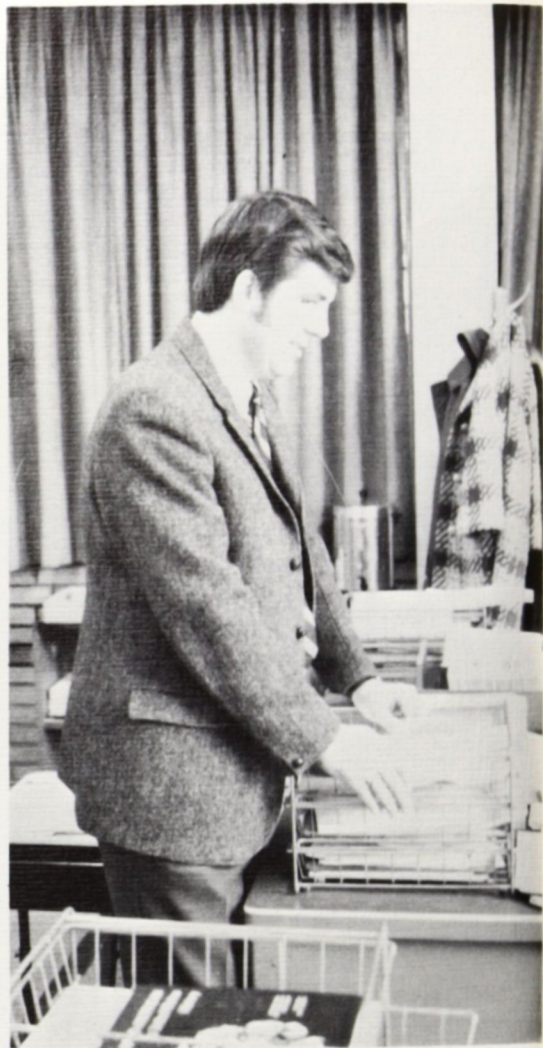

It bounced right out
And went bashing all about
And bumping into everything in store
And what was sad and most unfair
Was that it didn't really seem to care
Much who it bumped, or why,
Or what, or for.

It bumped the children mainly,
And I'll tell you this quite plainly,
It bumps them everyday and more and more
And leaves them dead and burned and dying,
Thousands of them sick and crying,
'Cos when it bumpes its very very sore.

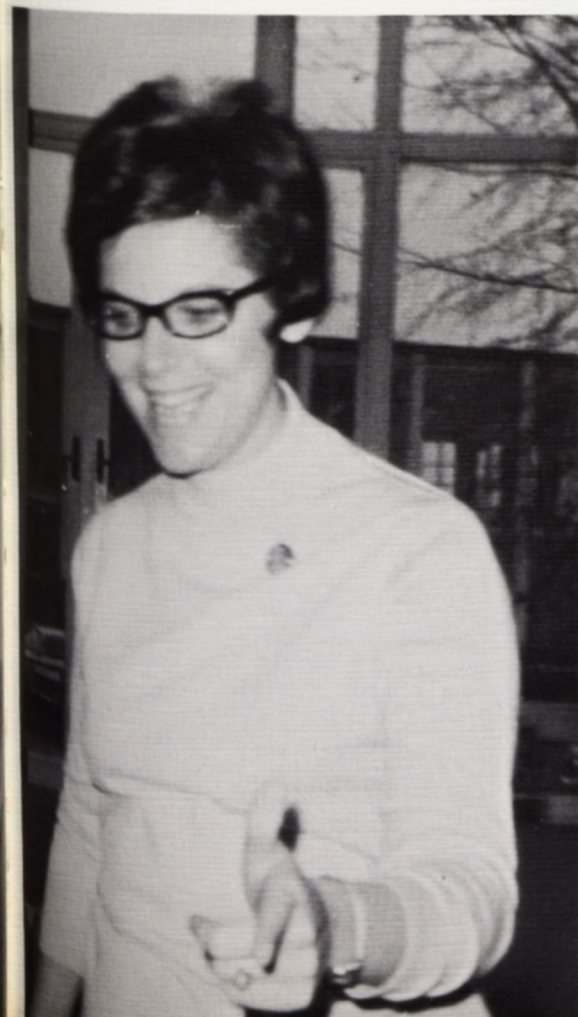

There is a way to stop the ball,
It isn't very hard at all,
All it takes is wisdom
And I'm absolutely sure
We could get it back into the box
And bind the chains and lock the locks
But no one seems to want to save the children anymore.

Well that's the way it all appears
'Cos its been bouncing round, for years and years
In spite of all the wisdom wizzed
Since those wonderous days of yore,
And the time they came across the box
Bound up with chains and locked with locks
And labeled, 'Kindly do not touch, its war.'

faculty administration and other friends

Pictured on these pages are Mr. Herman Search, Superintendent of Hessen District, and Dr. Mason, USDESEA Director. The other two people are well known at Wiesbaden Junior High School-----Mr. Todd, principal, and Mr. Mack, vice-principal.

true education takes place with in self

The administration, faculty and staff are an integral part of our school. Of course without us students they would not have a job. Fortunately, most of the adults at WJHS regard their position as more than a job. For this we thank them. They have given us leadership, laughter and even tears. WJHS has helped us to learn a little more about figures (the numerical kind), the arts, the past, our world, and also about ourselves.

ain't got no learnin'

Grammar, literature, creative writing and even spelling are all possible units in English class. Each of the department members has the freedom to emphasize any particular area of English. Miss Lathim, department chairman, has her window ledges filled with books which are sooner or later read by her classes. Mrs. Morrison takes a break in the faculty lounge while Mrs. Palmer spells out the words for the day.

get some

Mr. Morrison is caught erasing Miss Thompson's chalkboard again. Miss Macagandy finishes correcting papers while Miss Cunningham confers with a student. The grade book is being studied by Mrs. Stearns and dreaded by her students.

the third r (arithmetic)

The department of mathematics as all the other departments strives for continuity. Mr. Clawson points out the difference between modern and traditional mathematics as Miss Kato is ready pen in hand. Mr. Milford's classes meet in the high school building. Therefore fall, winter and spring Mr. Milford and his students brave the Wiesbaden weather going between buildings. Miss Baker, who has since been married in the United States, and Miss Gellner are both occupying student's desks for the day. Equipped with a meter stick as his magic wand, Mr. Maastries to convince his students that two plus three is one. Miss Boehm, who picked up where Miss Baker left off, uses the overhead projector as an ed biz technique. Department chairman, Mr. Silvia, shows his students how to use a compass to draw a square.

iscs is doing your own thing

Department chairman, Miss Salter, has her ISCS students spellbound with this experiment. ISCS is a lab course. Experiments on work, energy, and force are performed by seventh grade while the eighth grade runs experiments on chemistry. Experimentation is second to communication as Mr. Eargle, who teaches science and mathematics spends time working individually with a student. The results are measured by testing and according to the smiles, Mr. Lehr's class has done well.

fe<sub>2</sub>o<sub>3</sub> where are you . . .

Mr. Reithinger may never find the iron oxide for his eighth grade ISCS classes. By the looks of things Mrs. Dinsmore is not giving any hints as to Fe<sub>2</sub>O<sub>3</sub>'s whereabouts. The other science department members are no help either. Miss Thompson goes on modeling her outfit, Mrs. Scanlon shows off her dimples and Mrs. Phalin continues her unit on reproduction.

do it now

Lying down on the job, the social studies department chairman, Mr. Richards, claims he is not 73 years old as some students think. Mr. Romeo is interrupted during the Battle of Bull Run and Mr. Nielsen is caught leaving early again.

no matter where you go, there you are

Mr. Visgilio is caught playing in the mud after school. Armed with two rolls of flicks, Mr. Anderson, social studies teacher and AV man, faces his sixth period class. Mrs. Kuhn relaxes behind her desk and Mr. Clawson poses at the podium. Meanwhile Mr. Martin (or is it Martian?) gives more notes. The social studies department is responsible for historical and cultural learning or in other words, it is a study of society---yesterday's, today's and tomorrow's.

related arts groove

The related arts are made up of all the courses offered at WJHS that are not considered one of the four academic subjects. These courses are not included in averaging grade points for each marking period. The key to related arts courses is to learn by doing as is the case in typing, industrial arts, home economics, physical education, music, German, and art. In addition there is much knowledge to be gained through formal class room instruction. The related arts courses also give us an opportunity to apply math, science, English and social studies.

do gym teachers really teach gyms

The physical education department not only emphasizes physical activity but hygiene, knowledge of rules in sports, and good sportsmanship as well. Miss Jennings joins her classes in the daily warm up exercises. Although there are no showers, Miss Schuller sits her class down to discuss the importance of proper physical hygiene. Mr. Callahan's class seems to be getting a workout while Mr. Bridgman, department chairman, tries to figure out what to do with four different classes in one gymnasium.

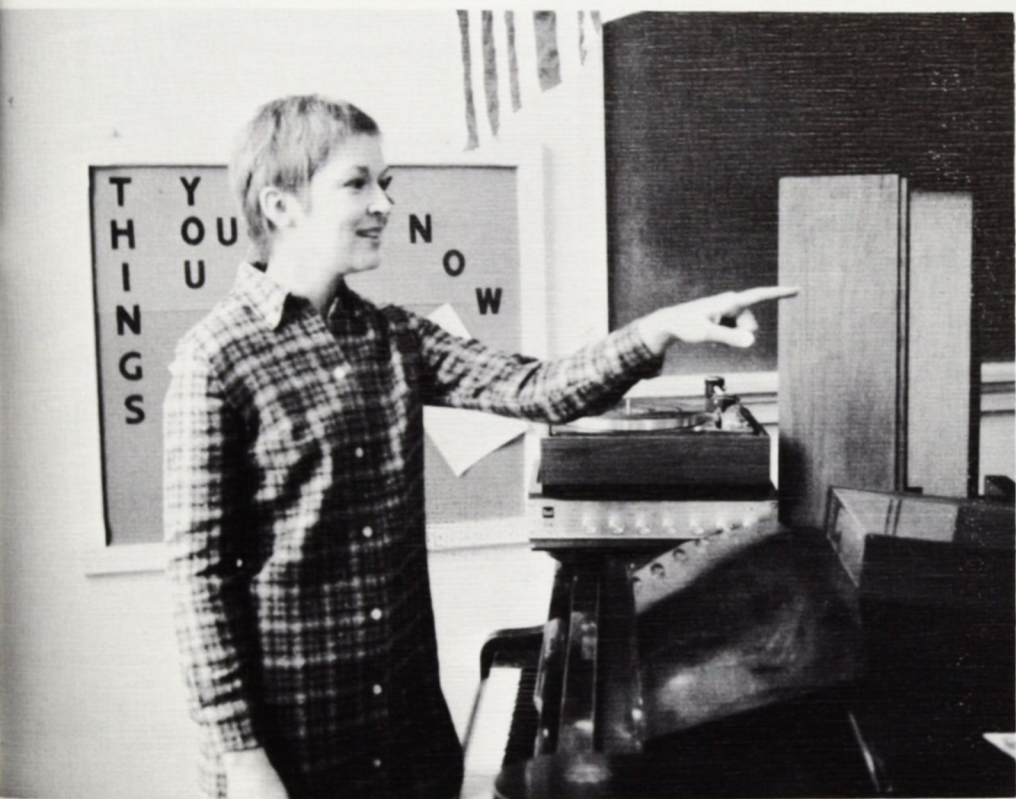

use your hands and head

Lettering projects for Miss Hiatt, hearing Mrs. Robertson's reminder that the noise should be from the key boards of the typewriters not from the mouths of students and creations in wood for Mr. Reeves are all part of the elective courses in art, typing, and industrial art.

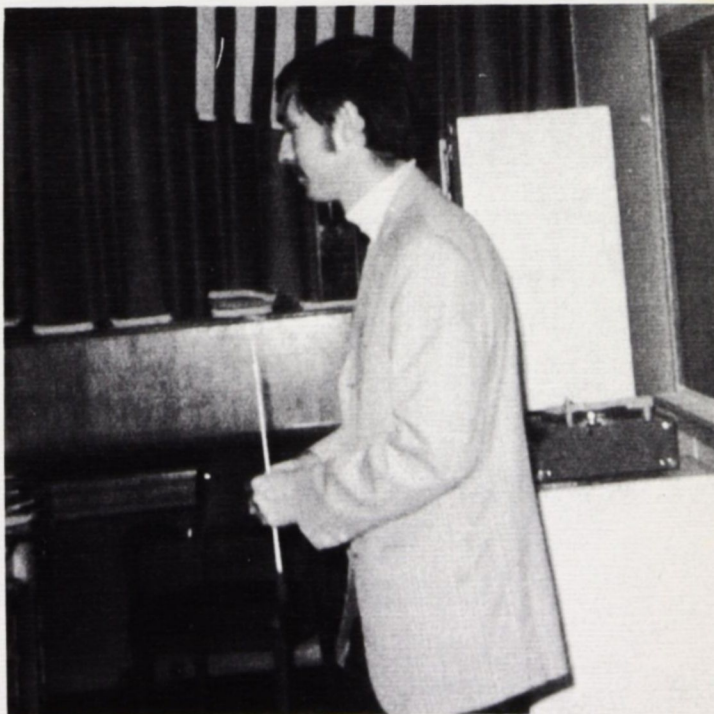

... to create

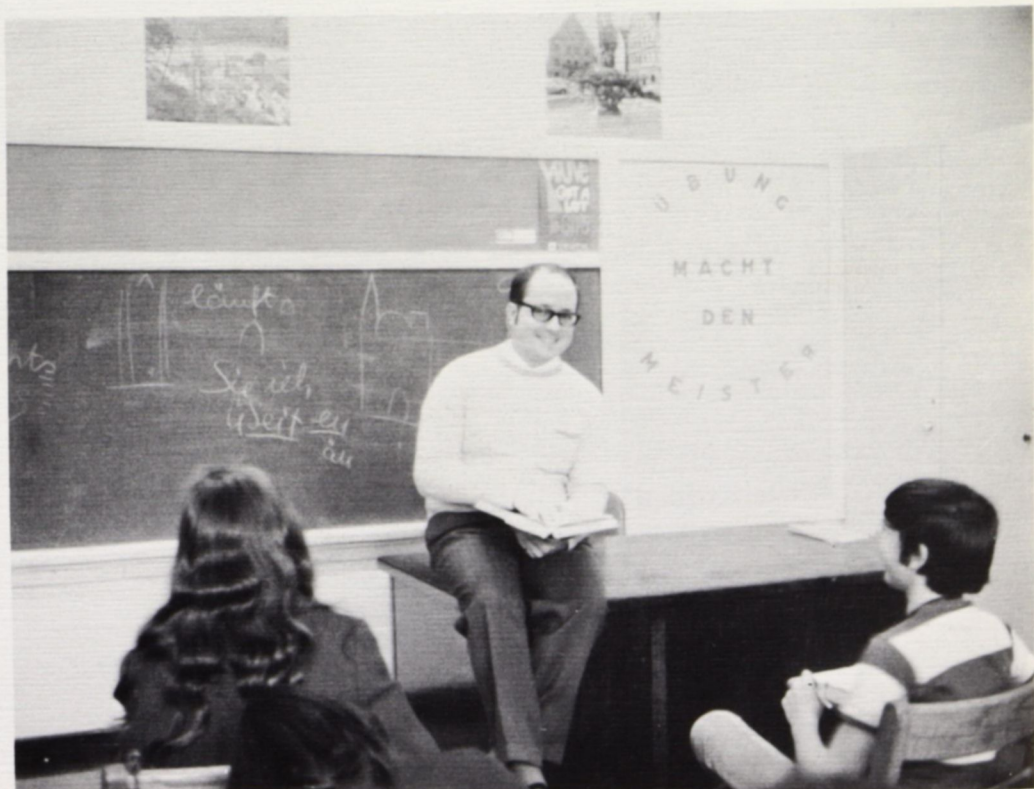

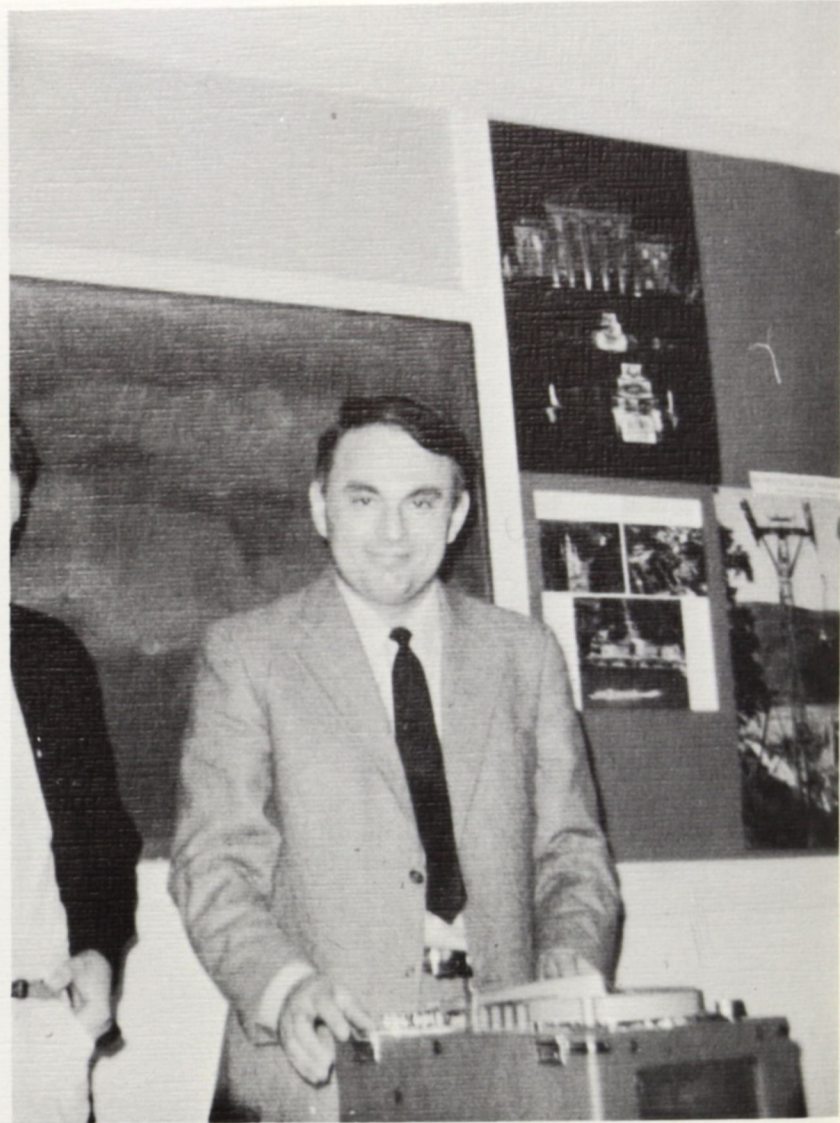

Learning by participation is emphasized in the music department as Mrs. Ownby points out. Mr. Tucker meets the band armed with his baton which can easily be mistaken for a cue stick. Participation is also the approach used in Miss Klein's home economics classes. The course offers experience in food preparation, techniques in sewing, discussions on family living and even tips on how to do dishes and talk at the same time.

wie geht

The German department is headed by Herr Ziemer who calmly watches the antics of one of his classes. The department's goals are to familiarize the students with the language, customs, and legends of our host country. Herr Zowodnick employs the aid of a record player with his classes. The department also uses tape recorders and films. But in the struggle for correct word order, spelling, and pronunciation, there is humor, too. Herr Chaffin shares a laugh with his students.

Miss Masters, instructor of special education, supervises the twins as they pretend to read their linguistics textbook. Special education classes meet in the cafeteria building and have a wide range of topics that Miss Masters is responsible for teaching.

The school nurse, Mrs. Vause, begins to take Mr. Eargle's blood pressure after hearing reports that he gets "hot under the collar". Mrs. Vause is visited all day by students who have colds, injuries, and tests they want to get out of. She has a never ending supply of cough drops, aspirin and advice.

let's talk about it

Listening is the biggest part of our counselors' jobs. Even if they are responsible for class scheduling, standardized testing, and listening to students, they both find time to smile. Mrs. Keith, seventh grade counselor, checks the class schedule and then goes through the files to properly place the student. The eighth grade counselor, Mrs. Momberg, reads the stack of reports and papers that have accumulated on her desk.

one, two, three . . .

The duties of the secretaries are many. Mrs. Howard, busy typing, and Miss Trattner, who is on the telephone, are in the main office. Miss Homann is tidying up room 77, Mr. Mack's office.

unlock your mind — read

The library is a student service run by the librarian, Miss Levington. Here can be found research materials, novels, short stories and magazines. Helping Miss Levington, Frau Bruehl carries a letter from the library to the main office.

One of the regular substitutes is Mrs. Romeo. Right now she looks as if she is on the defense as she substitutes in the physical education department.

work it on out

Keeping our halls and walls clean, making repairs, and managing school supplies is all part of a day's work for these people. Getting a sink back in working order are Herr Kiel and Herr Michel. Frau Hänssgen is washing the graffiti off the bathroom walls. Smilingly, Herr Schmetzko guards the glue, envelopes and paper.

You have just seen our view of your year.
The next pages are for you to complete----- but of course, you have no deadline.
