We the People

of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, provide for the common Defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Article I

Section 1

All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2

The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

Section 3

Senators and Representatives shall, when assembled, constitute the Congress of the United States, and they shall meet at such Place as they may determine, until otherwise provided by Law.

Section 4

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and the Meeting of them in each Year shall begin at noon on the first Monday of January, unless they shall by Law provide for the Day of the Meeting of one or both Houses in some other Day within that Month.

Section 5

Each House shall determine the Rules of its Proceedings, and punish its Members for Misconduct, and with the Concurrence of two thirds expel a Member for Misconduct.

Section 6

Members of both Houses shall receive for their Services a Compensation, which shall be ascertained from Time to Time by each House, and such Compensation shall not be increased or diminished during the Term for which they shall have been elected.

Section 7

All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as to the Form of such Bills.

Section 8

The Congress shall have Power to lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

Section 9

No Tax shall be laid on Imports or Exports, no Preference shall be given to one Port over another, and no Vessel shall be taxed at one Port more than at another.

Section 10

No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance or Confederation with any foreign Power, or engage in War, unless declared by Congress, except in Case of imminent Danger, when it may be necessary to repel an Invasion or to suppress a Rebellion.

Section 11

No State shall be held responsible for any Debt or Contract entered into by its Legislature prior to the 1st of January, 1790.

Section 12

Supreme Court shall be composed of a Chief Justice and five Associates, who shall hold their Offices during good Behaviour, and shall, like the Judges of the supreme Court of the United States, be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

Section 13

The Congress shall have Power to declare the Punishment of Death, and to establish the Rules and Regulations concerning the same.
