Teachers in Action

A large, dense collage of black and white photographs. The central focus is a large photo of a man with glasses and a beard, wearing a white lab coat, using a stethoscope. Surrounding this are numerous other photos of teachers and students. Some teachers are smiling at the camera, while others are in action, like a woman writing on a board or a man looking at a book. Students are also featured, some looking at the camera and others engaged in activities. The collage is layered, with some photos overlapping others, creating a sense of a busy, active school environment. The title 'Teachers in Action' is written in a cursive font at the top right.

Math Counts

is a program designed to get 7th graders and 8th graders interested in mathematics. Each team is made up of four extremely math-wise people. From our school Kurtis Donnelly, Fabrice Curtis, Robert Newton, and James Comish. In the Chapter Contest our team won 1st with Robert winning 3rd and James winning 7th in the individual part. They will soon be going to Mainz-Kastell for the state competition.

Good Luck

Odyssey of the Mind

Odyssey of the mind is a program that promotes creative thinking and teamwork. Our school, this year, had four O.M. groups which went to Hohenfels. Two of the four groups won and are now heading out to Landstuhl for the final competition which, if they win, will allow them to go to the states. The two teams that are going are Mrs. Cross's Create and Animate and Mr. Donnelly's Camouflaged Creation group.

Newspaper

“The Royal Times” Hot Off The Press

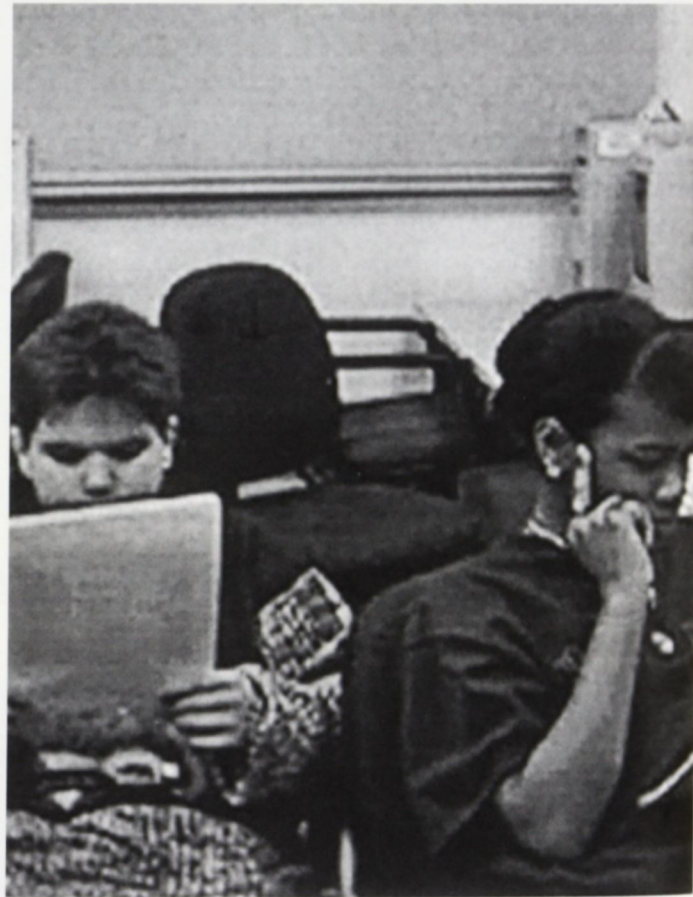

This year's newspaper was a lot better than last years. This year there was a lot more reporters on the staff, which made for a lot more interesting articles. The articles were better, they involved what we thought needed to be said, unless of course Dr. Kroon or Ms. Leach didn't approve. Though they didn't always think it was appropriate, what did get printed was still good to read. The reporters really worked hard to bring you what they thought would interest you. Even though every now and then an article would not get the reaction expected. Luckily they used nick names so no one would know who they are. We hope you can figure out who the mysterious reporters were. Can you figure out who I am?

In U.S. History this year, we learned everything from the routes of European Explorers to battles of the Civil War. One group of 8th graders sampled Indian, Colonial and many other cultural foods. Candles were one of the many projects made by those classes. But by the ring of the bell, future begins.

Pre Algebra

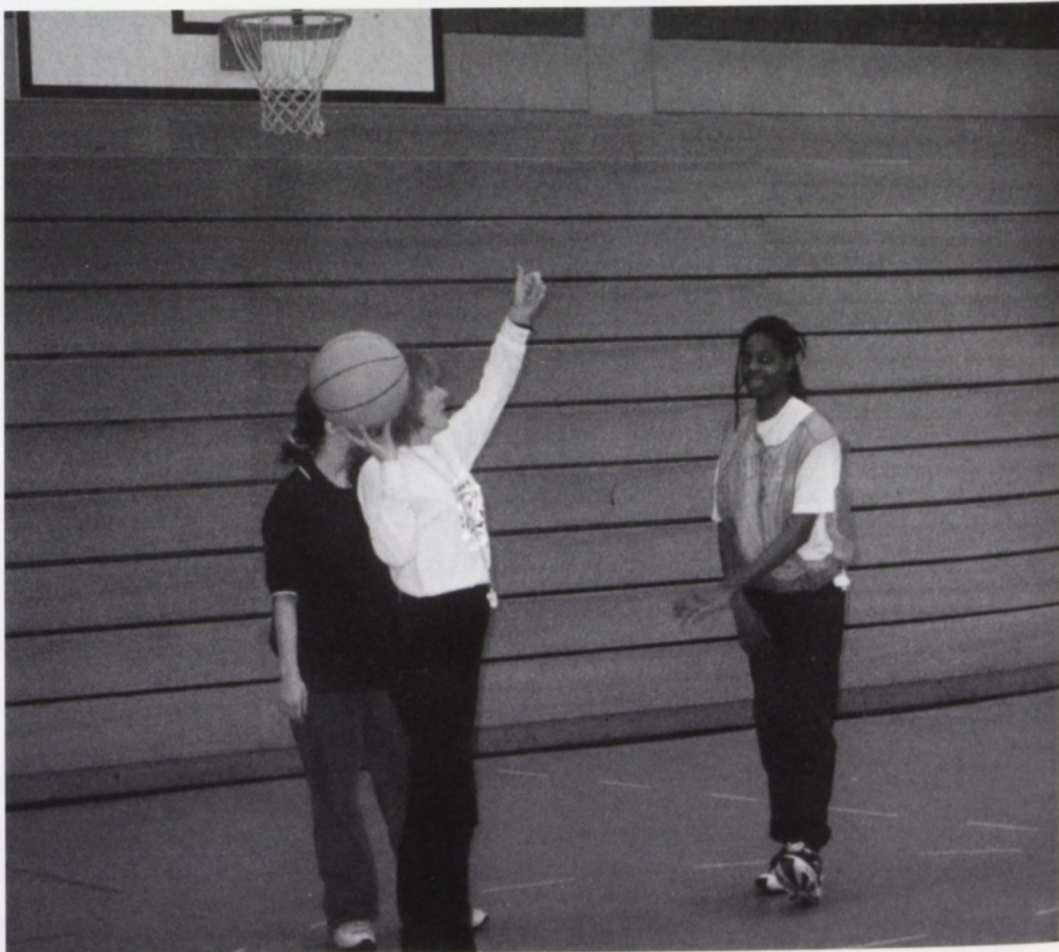

P. E. class is a nine week class. Everyone takes it. The teachers are Ms. Fischer and Mr. Gray. They have an advanced P. E. class also. One thing that most people in that class did not like was running the mile in the winter. Some of the activities they play are crab ball, british bull dog, and a thing called rats (meaning run around the school). But don't let any of these games scare you! It's a fun class.

There's Ms. Fisher with the basketball, showing some students some of her weird basketball games techniques.

WAMS Band

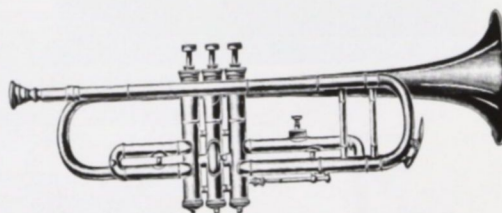

Wurzburg Middle School Band is conducted by Mr. Steenson. He conducts Beginning, Intermediate, and Advance Band. The Intermediate and Advance Band performed a winter concert for the school. The Chorus also sang for us. They were directed by Mrs Kennedy. The best song that the chorus sang was Dancing on the Roof Top and Light the Candles. The best song played by the Advance band was a New World.

There's Mr. Steenson directing the band. Does he look serious or what! Watch that pencil it might go off and hurt somebody.

The Intermediate Band played Colonial March which sounded great. The two bands played together also at Christmas time, it gave them a chance to work together as a team. Next year I'm sure the Beginning Band this year will be ready to move on to bigger and better things.

Here we go , look at the flute, trumpet, saxophone, percussion, and the oboe players. Do they look out of breath or do they always look like that.

Band not as boring as it look. Anyone can learn to play an instrument, it can be alot of fun.

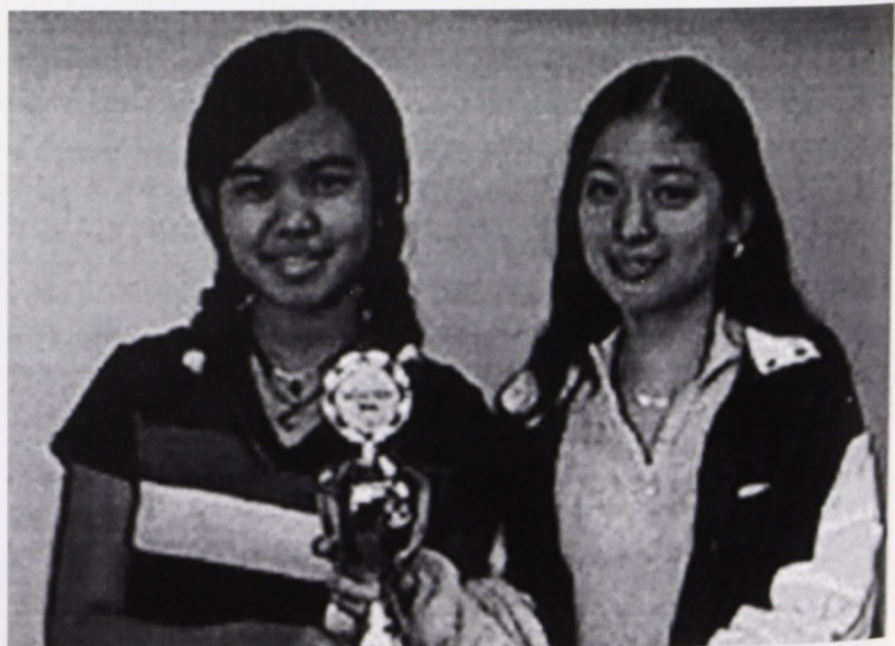

Tech Ed.

Mr. Marsh the Tech. Ed. teacher, teaches students to make chess boards, drafting, and experiment with electronics as seen in the photos above. They also made wooden dragsters that were raced at the end of the semester to see who had the fastest one.

Gold Winners of Middle School Division European Junior Science and Humanities Symposium

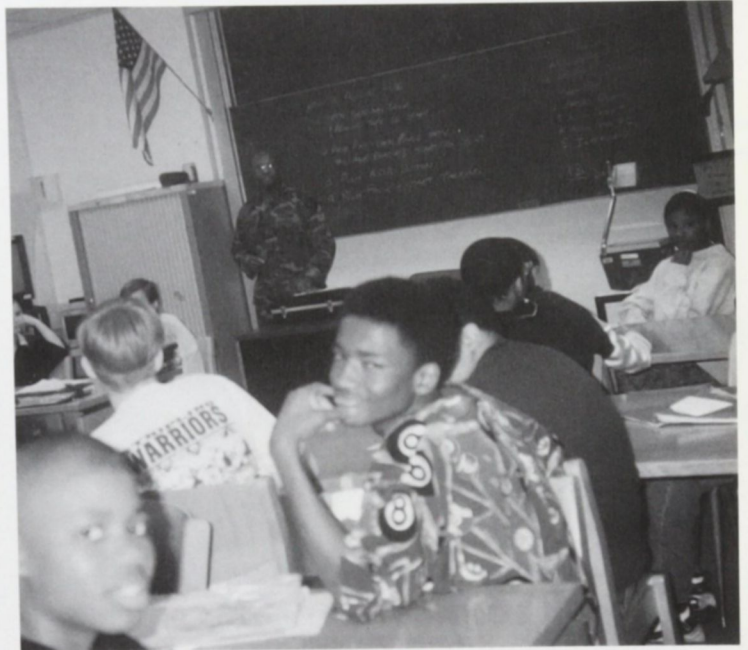

Leslie Orta and Christine Brizandine were the first (ever) to take first place in the Middle School Division of the 1998 European Junior Science and Humanities Symposium held in Munich in March. They walked away with the Gold Trophy for their science research project, "To Burn or not to Burn" which was comparing the fire retardency of American children's sleepware to German children's sleepware. (If you want to know what they found out, just ask them ...truly amazing!)

Places to Chill!!

Whaz sup peoples!!! Remember in school how sometimes it got a little boring, then remember our places to chill? If not well here are a few pictures to remind you. We thought it might be fun to reminiceon what we used to do when we chilled in some of these spots. We've tried our best to bring back good memories of our last year in the previous grade. As you look at these pictures we hope they remind you of old boyfriends or girlfriends. Hopefully these pictures won't bring back bad memories. So all we have left to say is enjoy the present but every now- and- then the past can be fun too.

Above: Outside is what they prefure. A group of friends think the grass is a comfortable place to chill.

Below: Chillin' after school is what Lauren likes to do. Havin' fun?

Left: Who says teachers don't like to chill in the hallways?!? Mrs. Griffith and Mrs. Chambers do.

Student Council

Student Council is sponsored by Mrs. Buzby. The Officers of student council are as follows: President is Hilary Kemptner; Vice-President is Lashonte Thomas; Secretary is Jacquelyn Basquill; Treasury is Heidi Berquist; and Parliamentarian is Jasmon McAllen. Student Council was involved in the following activities: various bake sales; the Snow Ball dance, that was for only the 7th and 8th graders; the door decorating contest over the Christmas Holidays; tutoring the 5th grade students; visits to the Army Hospital in Wuerzburg; Candy Grams for Valentines Day, which was a big hit; and finally drafting a constitution for student council.

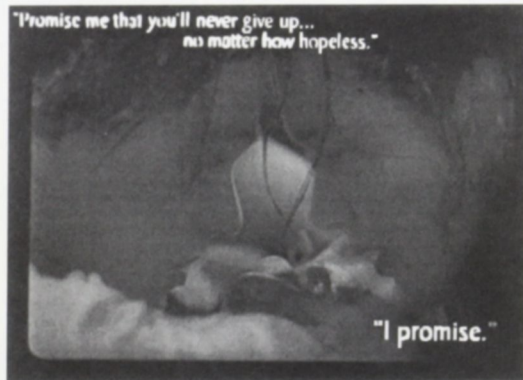

With Heartfelt Thanks To Mrs Susan Skirvin

We, the yearbook staff, would like to thank Mrs. Susan Skirvin for all her time, effort, and dedication towards the production of this yearbook. Without her, this publication would not have been possible. Her prior knowledge of working with Jostens Yearbook Company gave our yearbook a unique and professional image. Her understanding, patience, and perseverance in working with the yearbook staff is greatly appreciated and will be remembered by all who worked with her. We, the staff, know that this yearbook is the best because of her dedication and guidance.

Fieldtrips

Above: One of the fieldtrips that the first quarter Humanities Class went to was the Residenz.

The Knauf Museum in Iphofen was something else! This wall painting explains what I mean. It's not your average wall painting.

The fieldtrip to Hinterbrand was exciting and full of adventure. These guys look like they could stay for another week.

At the Knauf Museum we also saw Hiecglyphics, they were great.

Fieldtrips

Above: The trip to Hinderbrand was one of a kind trip. We conquered the mountains, along with our own fears. We came back a stronger person, everyone should tried it.

Here's a group of kids hiking at Hinderbrand.

As we look back on the year, there were many occasions for having fun, chillin' out, straight conversation, and time for reflection. Now that we are through and must move on, we sense the sadness of leaving a place that felt like home. We also, are joyed with the thought that now we are older and wiser and ready for the next big step in our life. So, with old friends leaving and new friends coming, we hope to enjoy the move forward as we have enjoyed the time past.

Looking Back

Looking back on all our days passed, memories. We think of time and time gone by and all its mysteries. The sadness, the surprises, the jokes we had, won't last another school filled day, but it doesn't make me sad. I know I must go forward, but I can't help to look back. I think of my friends at home, and the school family I lack. The hair we had, the sports we played are the distant past. But all the friendships I have made, I sure that they will last. A chance to look back in only a book full of dreams, we're not sure what all the pictures mean. Your familiar laugh won't ring a bell, because only you can giggle. I can't lean on your shoulder, on my desperate time of struggle. Your signature will disappear from my picture covered three-ring, and I might forget your old phone number, or your crazy insane smile. But I could never forget looking back, of the wild times that we had. So I'll keep on smiling, I'll put one foot forward, and I'll think of you every time I laugh, or crack a grin. Because you mean more to me you've been the best friend.

Looking Forward

To Looking Back

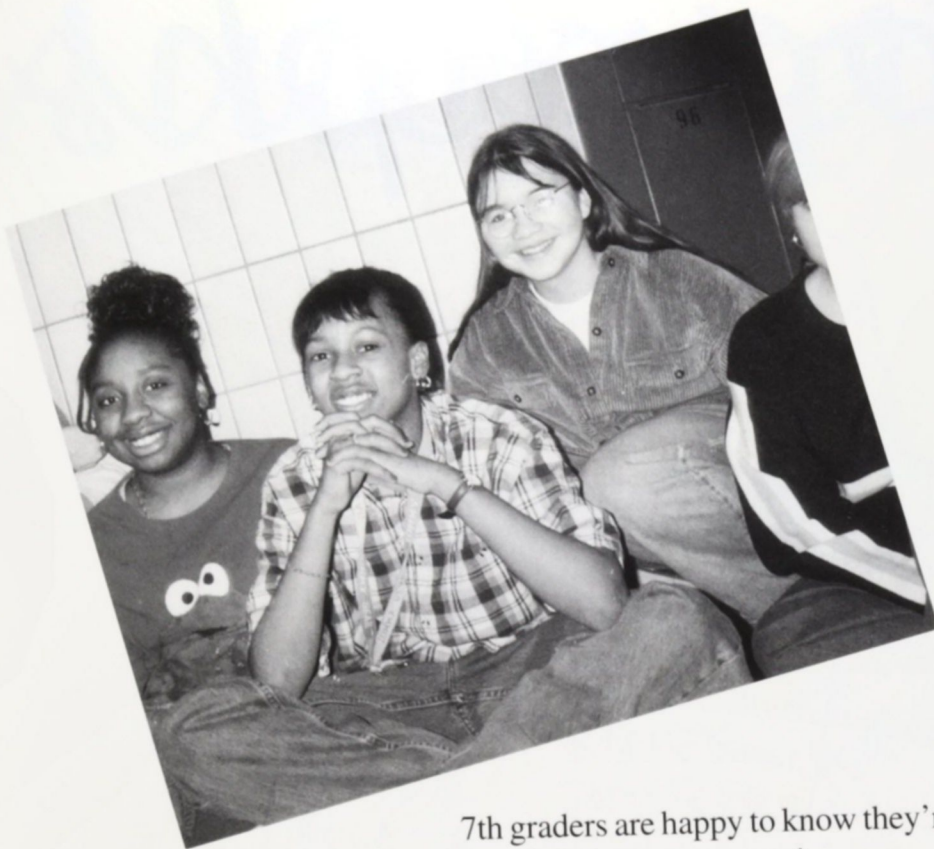

Smilin' 5th graders havin' fun in the hall. Soon to be 6th graders.

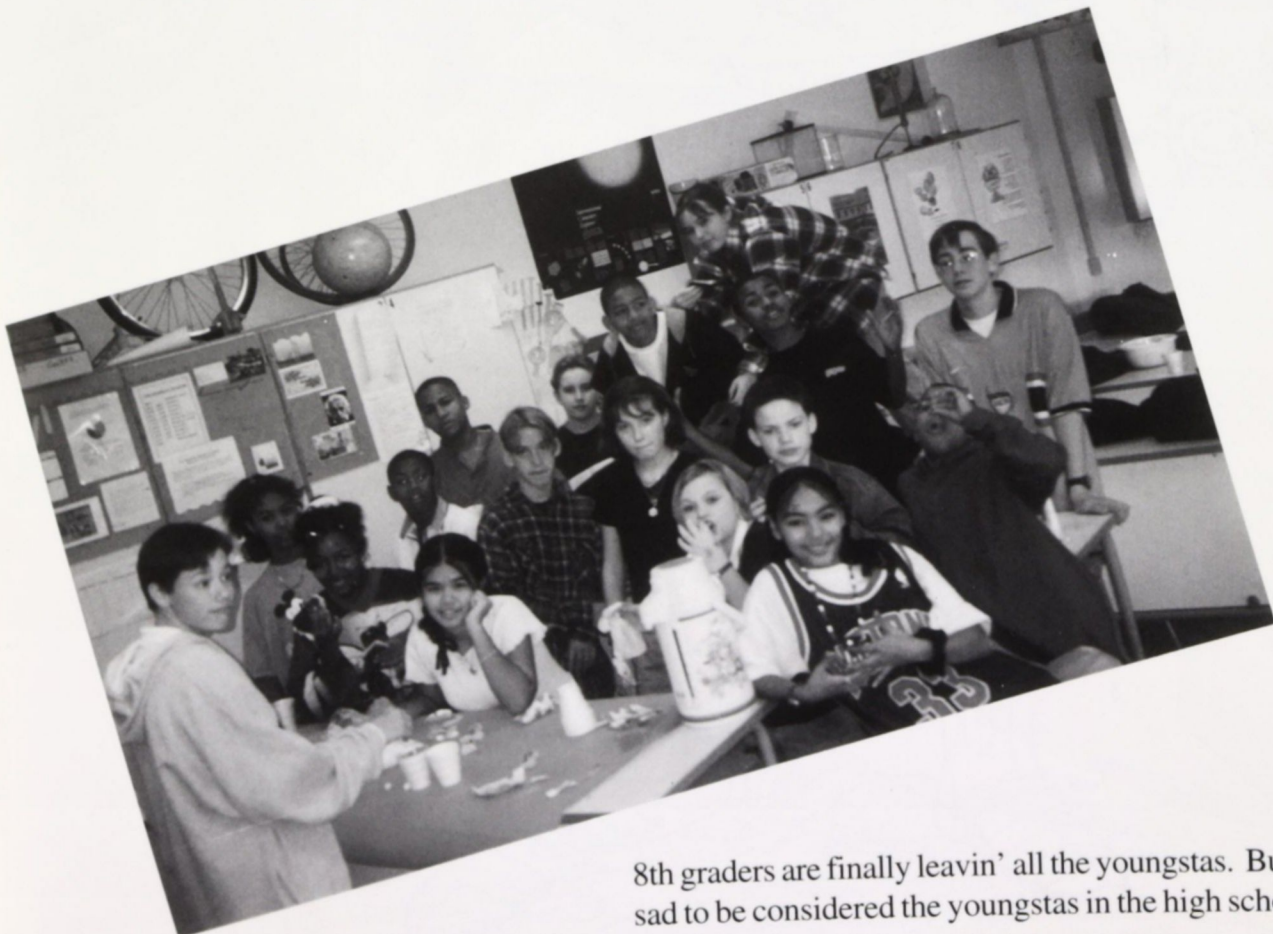

Hay! Aren't you supposed to be in class! 6th graders enjoyni' their last year before they're 7th graders.

A Final Word

This school year was different for all of us, some say it was fun and fast, others say it was boring a slow. Most of us know that we will have a lot of memories, both good and bad, that will stay with us for a very long time.

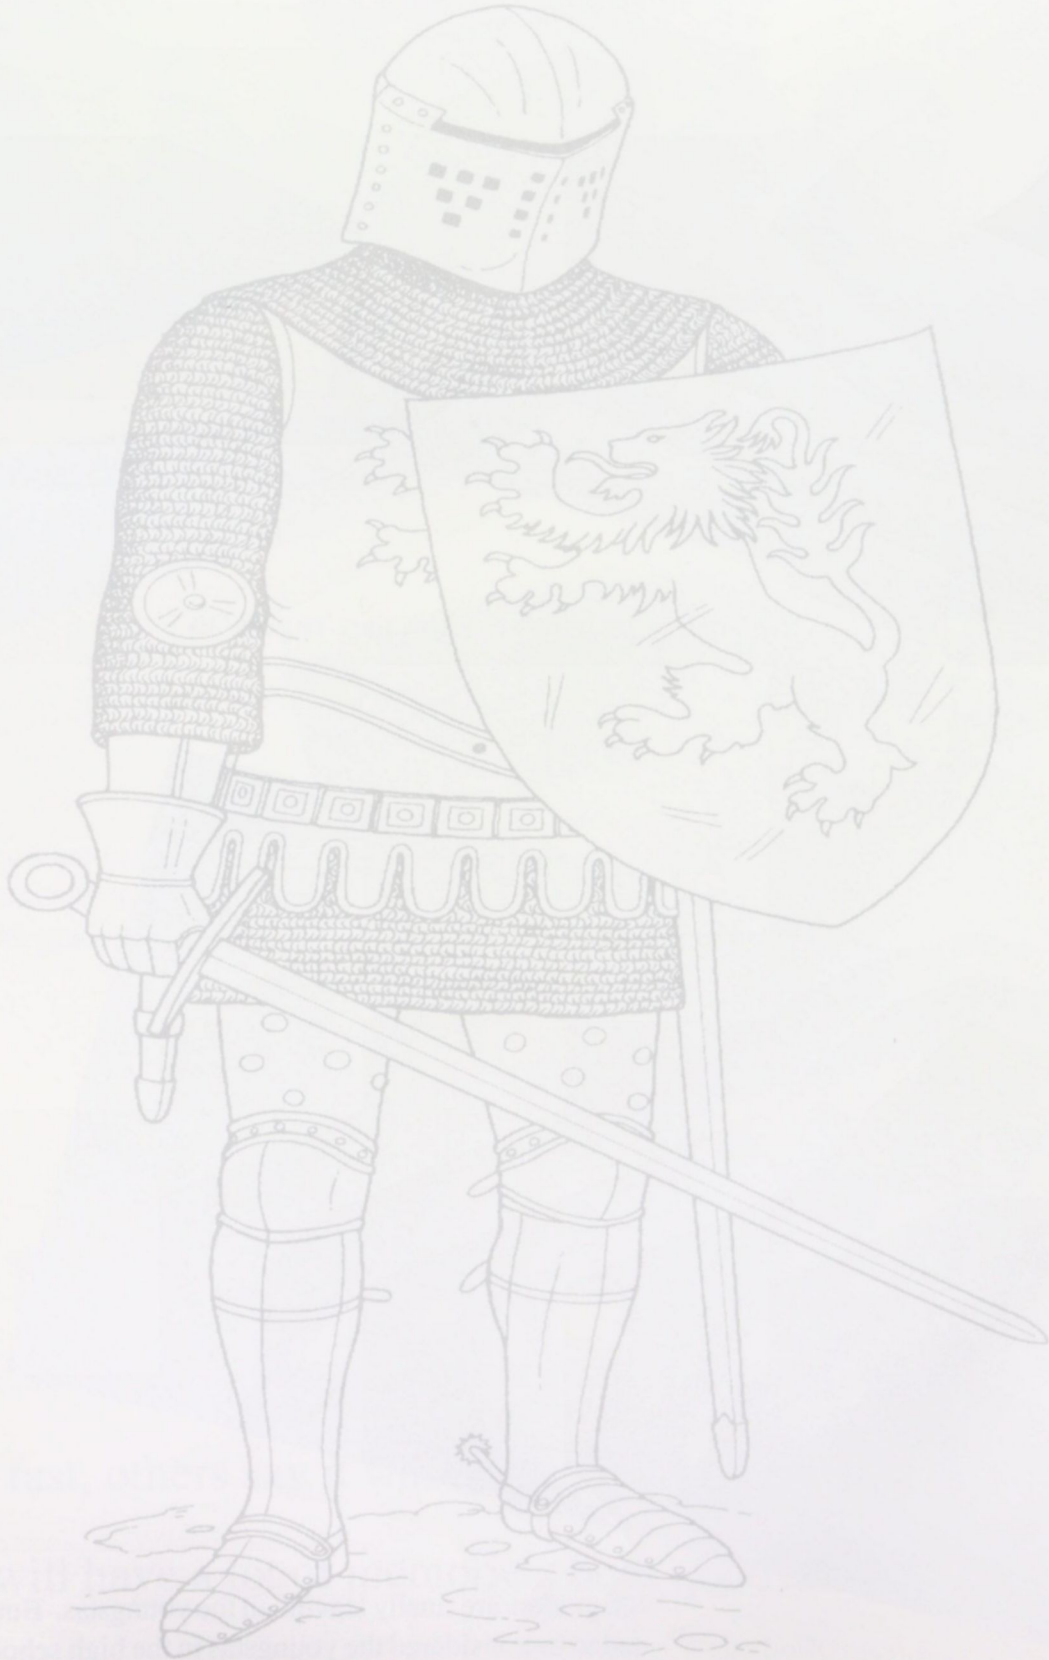

7th graders are happy to know they're goin' to be the seniors pretty soon!

8th graders are finally leavin' all the youngstas. But are sad to be considered the youngstas in the high school
