A smile speaks every language wherever you may be. A smile can be translated without a dictionary. With no word being said a smile can say a lot. A smile upon a black face, a white one or a brown—makes a stranger feel at home and breaks the barriers down . . . conversation often stumbles but everybody understands the language of a smile.

—Patience Stong

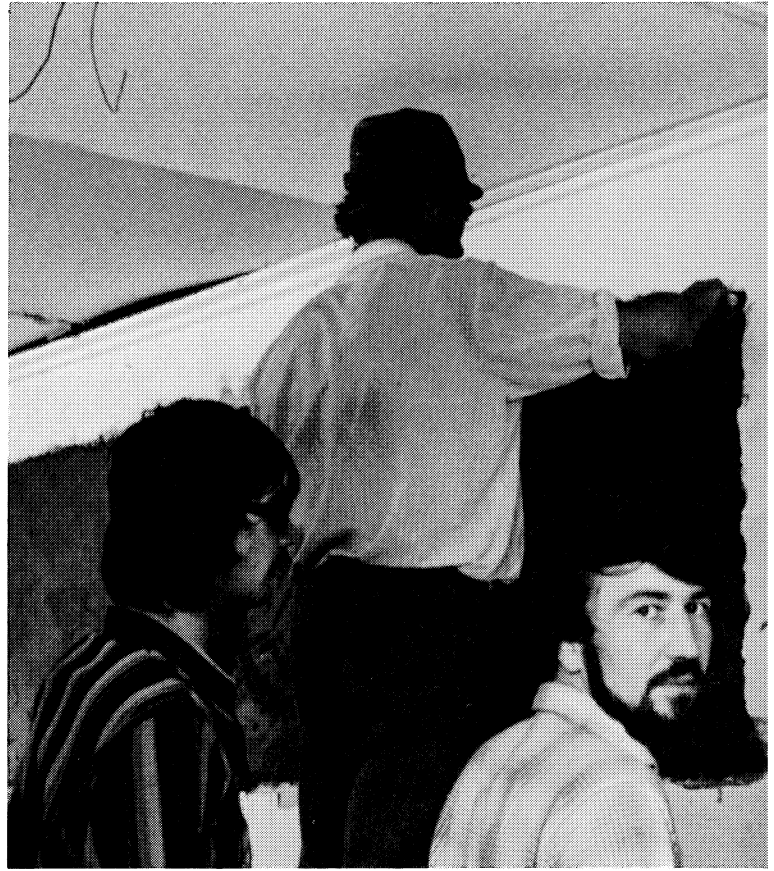

World.
I am Youth
the hope of your day
I'm bewildered and young
in this land
I'm searching
Your parts
for a vision called truth.
Give me your hand.

Zweibrucken Air Base

Gate checks, exercises, rain, messed up schedules, rain, hassles, the snackmobile, rain, classes, friends, rain, senior privileges, games won, rain, tournaments, and sunshine were all a part of ZHS at Zweibrucken AFB.

Standing tall and proud. ZAB wouldn't be the same without the totem pole.

The workmen became as much a part of ZHS as light fixtures.

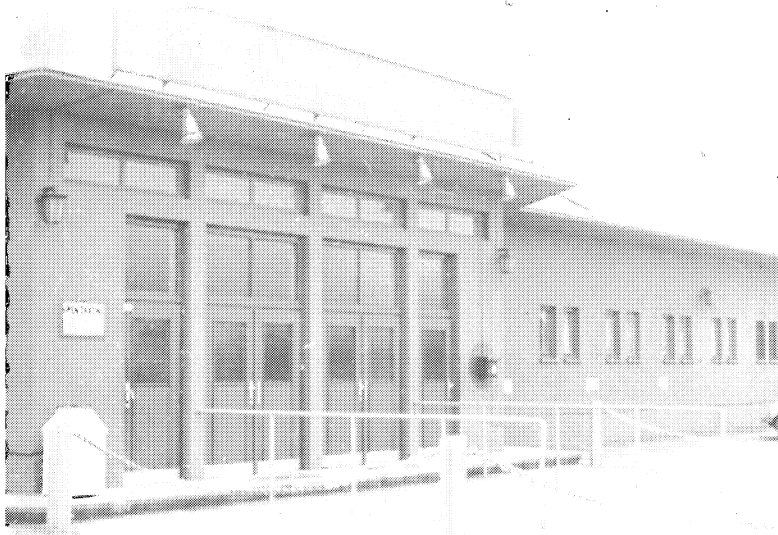

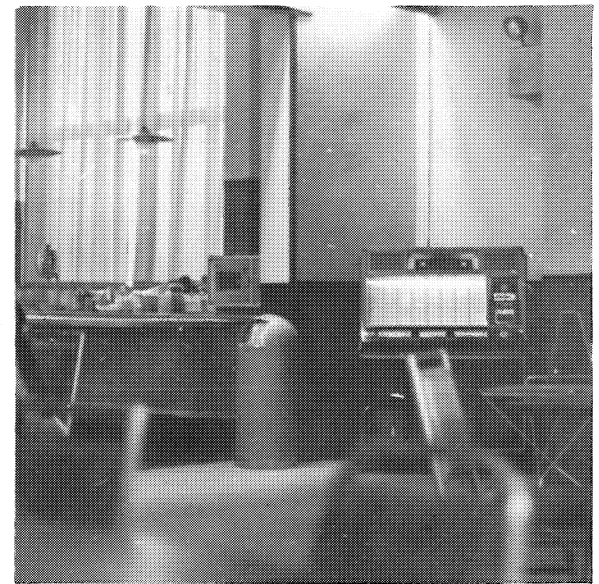

The "Roach Coach" was simply a test of endurance to the digestive tract.

"Hey I wonder which one of these buses is mine?"

Many assemblies were held in the Base Theater. The seniors received snack bar privileges. (RIGHT).

Many seniors also used the snack bar during free hours.

There's nothing so sad as the sadness that comes when we think of the chances we've lost; the big opportunities we have let slide and the small one ignored. We might have done this or that. Idle words, for they haven't the power to bring back one moment from out of the past or recapture one lost hour.

It's useless to think of the chances we've missed—there is only one thing to do. Make the most of each minute. Lost opportunities never come back so it's futile to wish that they could. Keep going and somewhere you'll find if you look—something fine, something great, something good.

Zweibrücken City

The pretzel woman is a familiar sight to shoppers in downtown Zweibrücken.

The Fasanerie (ABOVE) was where many dances and parties could be held.

Pidgeons are frequently seen sitting on fences and in the parks.

It is a German custom to air bedding out of the windows.

Three students visit a disco in downtown Zweibrucken.

Ms. Laura Tucker, ZHS Librarian and Capt. Barbara Martin, nurse at ZHS clinic, head into the forrest on one of the many volksmarches held near Zweibrucken. At the end of the 20 kilometer walk they received a medal.

Many of the German houses and yards are very picturesque.

Pirmasens

Many students of ZHS live in Pirmasens. The Kaserne is slightly larger than ZAB and consists of two housing areas, the work areas, shopping center, clubs and recreation facilities. Many students shop downtown on weekends.

Merkur's is one of the biggest and most frequented store in Pirmasens. It has three floors underneath the ground floor.

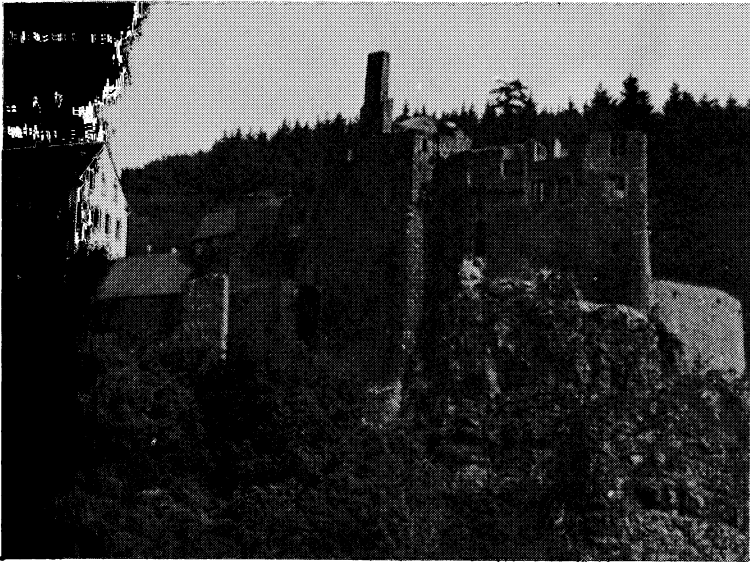

On Saturdays the town square is packed with shopper's cars.

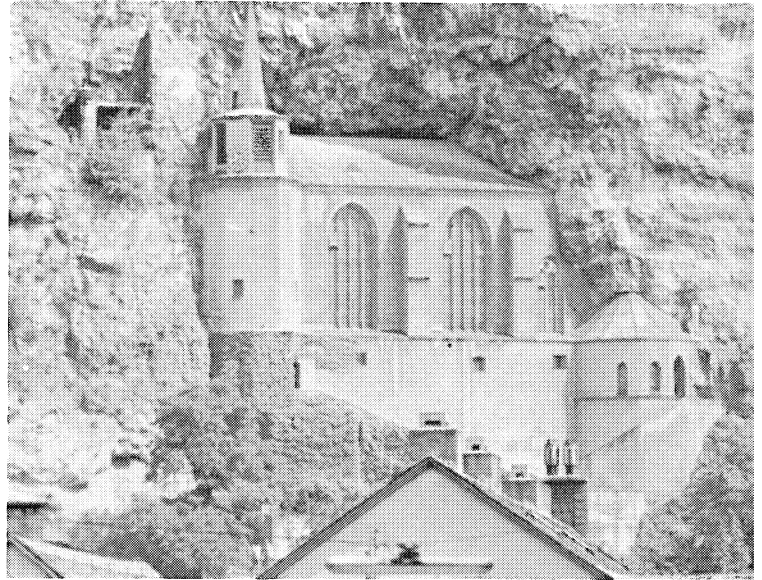

Traffic is many times hazardous to an inexperienced driver or pedestrian.

Germany

Germany is a small country with beautiful landscapes—hills, fields, forests, lakes, and streams. There are countless relics of days gone by—bunkers, tank teeth, castles, ruins, and monuments. The trains and buses enable the people to get around but the streets are also crowded with fast drivers. Some of the customs in Germany are similar to the US but some aren't such as Rosen Montag.

This castle in Trifels is one of the numerous one found throughout Europe.

In Idar Oberstein, a German city known for gems and jewelry, this church is built into a cliff. Visitors must climb up a flight of stairs.

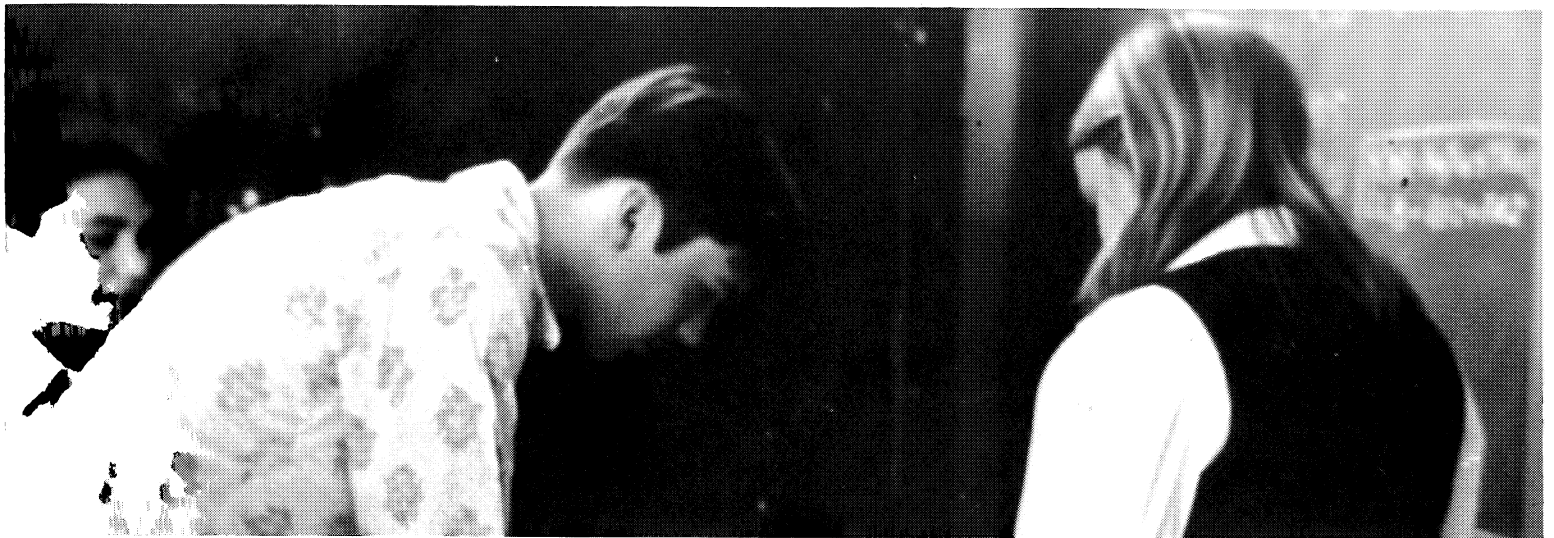

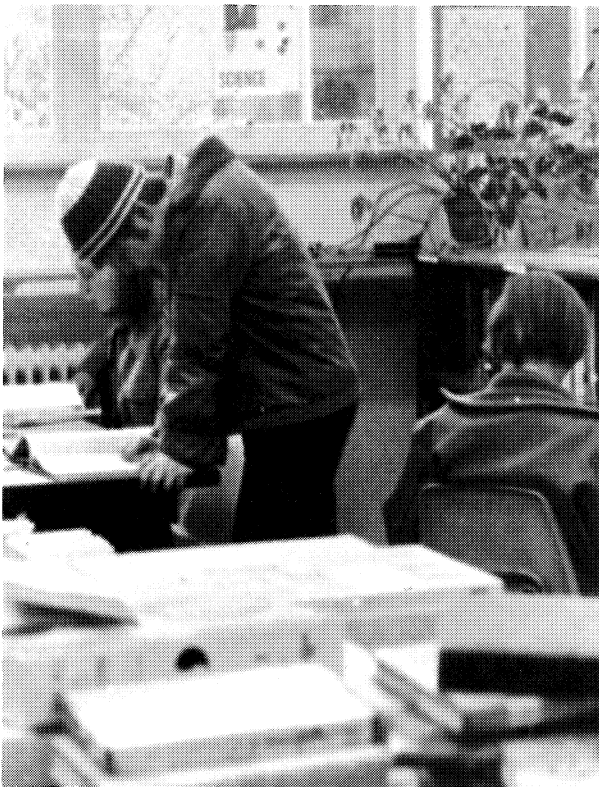

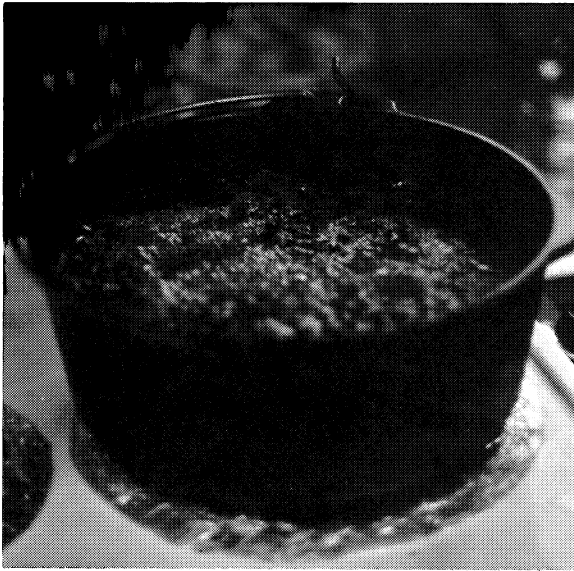

Among the relics of the past are these tank teeth from World War II (ABOVE AND RIGHT). They're a standing reminder of the war but the paint helps to remove some of the harshness.

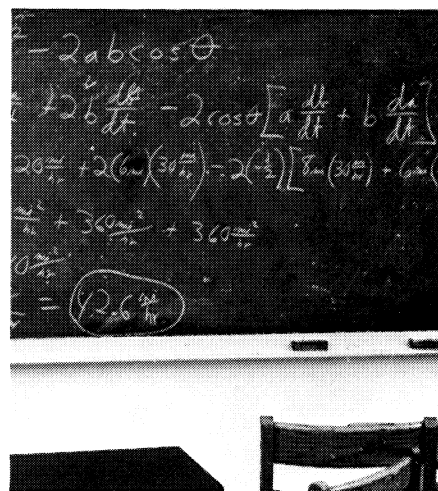

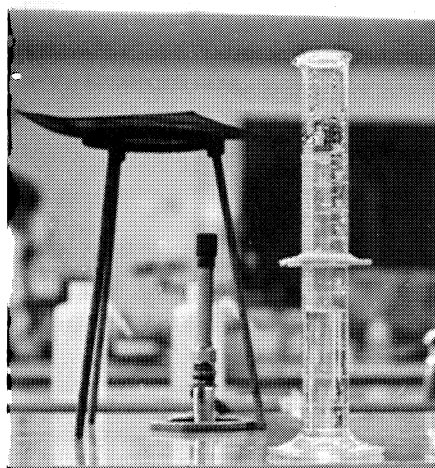

On Saturday mornings market places all over Germany are bubbling over with excited shoppers, noise, fruit and vegetables, dogs and little children

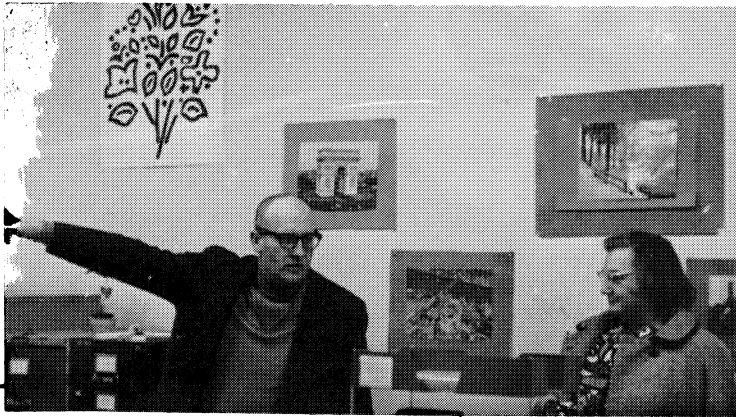

Academics

Administration

On the next few pages you will meet Zweibrucken High School's administration. You'll meet new faces and also some that have been around. What would we do without these people who have acquired wisdom throughout their own life to pass on to us?

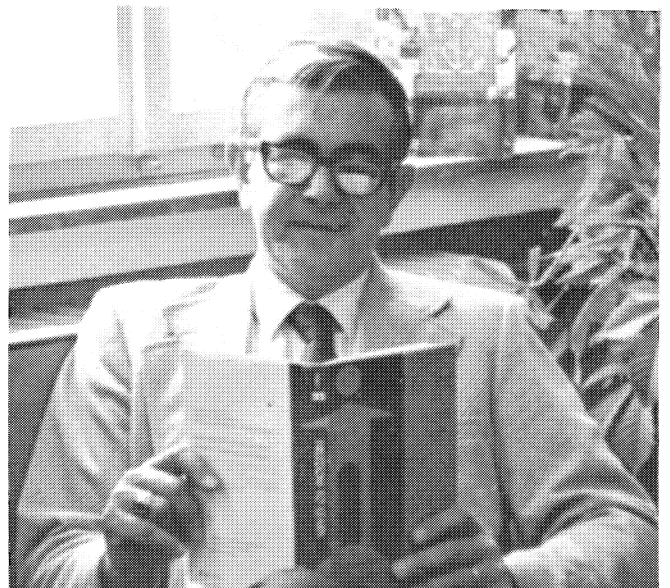

"But, where do I go from here?"

Counselors

The counselors at our school have very important jobs. They help students get credits, grades, applications, and things like that straight. They discuss problems with students and help when they can. They discuss class changes and try to help students make the best and right choices when helping in the class changes. It makes people wonder when they ever get time to do other things!!!

In this picture Mrs. Doris J. Chula counsels a Senior student. She is the 11th & 12th grade advisor and to get the degrees to do this, she went to Hampton Inst., Wesleyan, Conn., De Pauw, Clarkson (BS) and U. of Maryland, Ball State (MA).

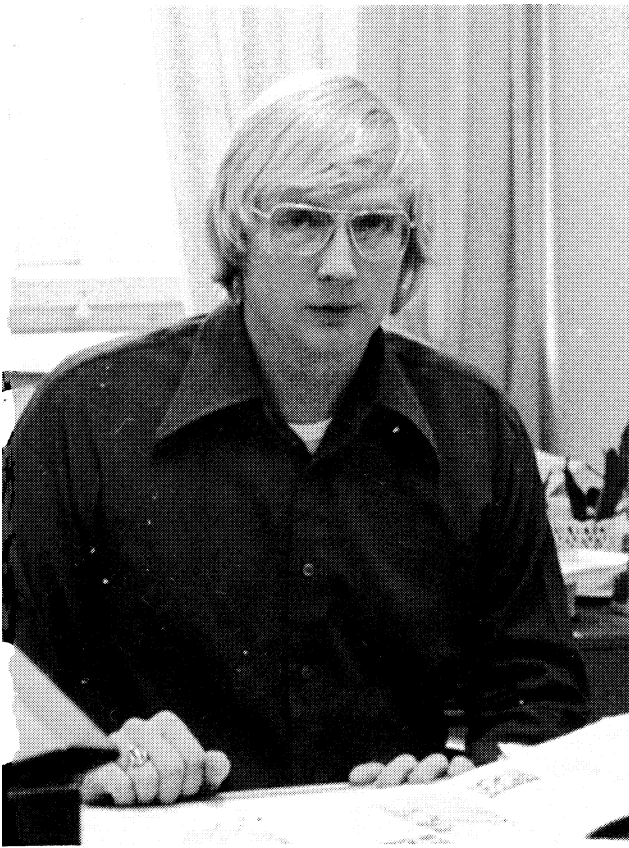

Mrs. Flora Hawkins is also a busy person. She is pictured showing some 9th & 10th graders how to work a movie projector. Mrs. Hawkins got her MA at the California State University at Los Angeles.

Mr. Costa Chris Zahary is a very busy man and here he is shown going to one of the various places he has to go. He earned his degrees to counsel 7th & 8th graders by going to the Amer. U. Ball State (BA;MA).

Work Study

Work Study is available for students who wish to learn things that might be of use to them later on in life. For one or two hours a day, these students did anything from grading papers to typing, filing, managing offices, and running errands. A full year of work study counted as 1 credit towards your requirements. Cooperative Work Study gives students the opportunity before they finish high school to "try out" a career field and see if they really fit. Through this program you can explore one or more career possibilities before you make your final choice. This could make your choice better - your life happier.

ROTC

Pictured here is MSgt. Billy E. Carter, USAF (ret.) in his uniform that he wears on Wednesdays, along with the ROTC cadets. He was commissioned by the Air Force to teach and is the assistant Aerospace Education Instructor.

Lt. Col. Ralph Lindsay, USAF (ret.) is shown here teaching one of his classes. He got his BS at the U. of Kansas and has been to Military Air Navigation School and Air Force Squadron School. Col. Lindsay is the Aerospace Education Instructor and is concerned with the academic section of ROTC.

Mr. Willard C. Nelson is the Work Study Advisor and he was also coach for the Girls Varsity Basketball team. He earned his BS and MA at St. Cloud State College and the University of Minnesota.

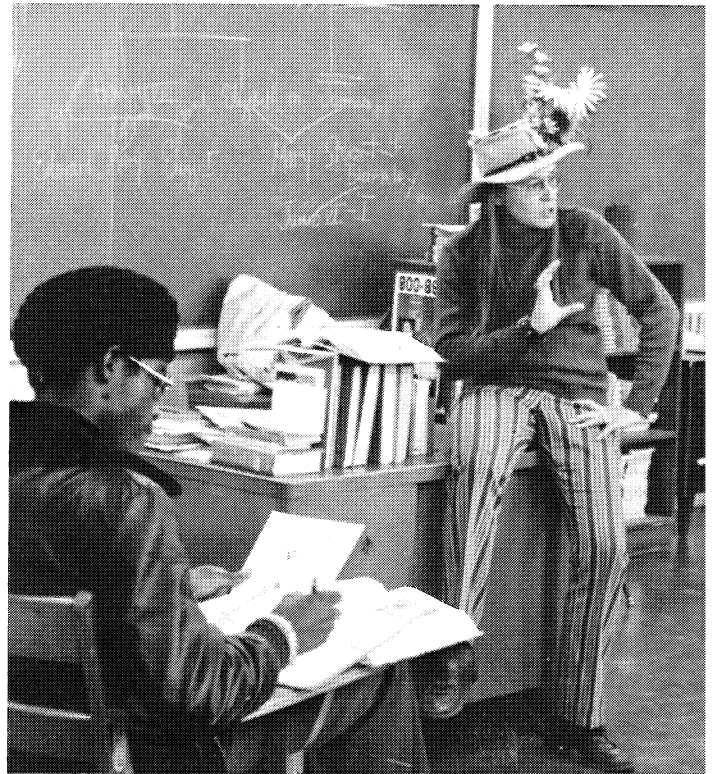

English

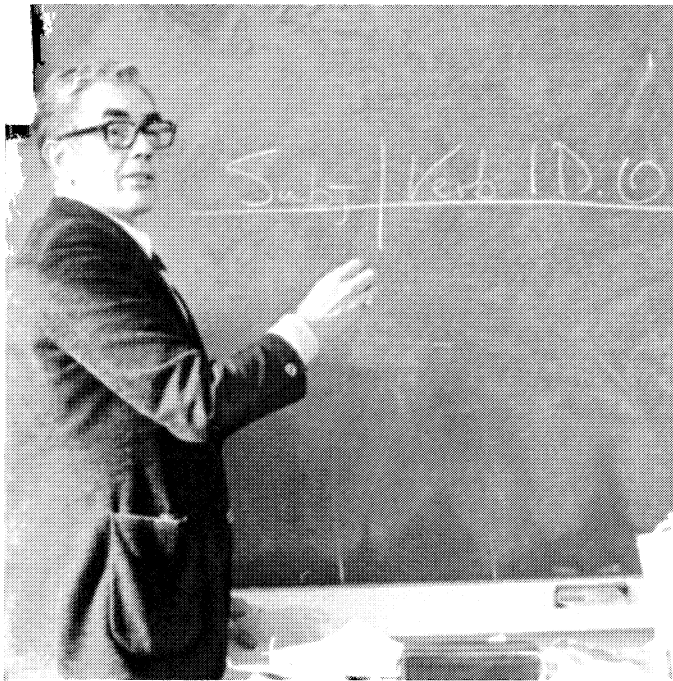

The English classes offered this year varied greatly. From the readings of Shakespeare and Science Fiction to the writings of Journalism, students absorbed the tactics and qualities of good English. They learned the skills of communication - a key word in today's world.

Forensics class involved students in the art of such things as dramatics, unprompted speaking, and interpretations.

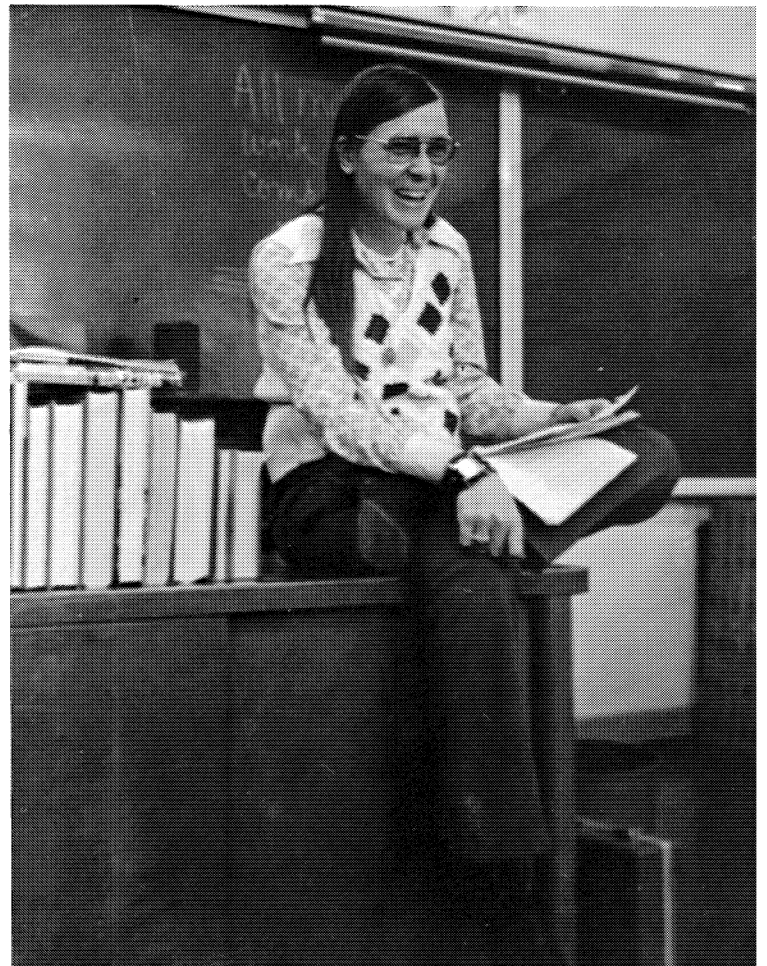

The world of communications was based on technical writing such as directions for model airplanes.

Benidix Joan (Ms) She is a teacher that can communicate with students at Zweibrücken. Her personality and techniques combine to make her classes more interesting. After receiving a BA at University of Miami, she taught in Florida.

Pierce R. Lee (Mr.) He is head of the English department. He also teaches many Composition classes and Reading and Writing about Sports. He earned his BA at Wichita State University, Wichita. He has taught in such places as Turkey and Bermuda.

Ford Alma R. (Mrs.) She teaches Sr. High and Junior High English, Speech, and a class in Forensics. She attended Fairmont State College for an AB in Ed., West Virginia. She earned her Masters plus 30 at University of Maryland.

Berry Cora Sue (Miss) She teaches Jr. and Sr. high English classes along with The World of Communications. She also teaches Journalism and Yearbook, which takes a great deal of time and energy. She earned her BA at Texas Woman's University.

Webster Jane (Mrs.) She teaches Jr. High English classes and some other subjects. This is Mrs. Webster's second year at Sunny Zweibrucken High School. She attended Longwood College to obtain her BS.

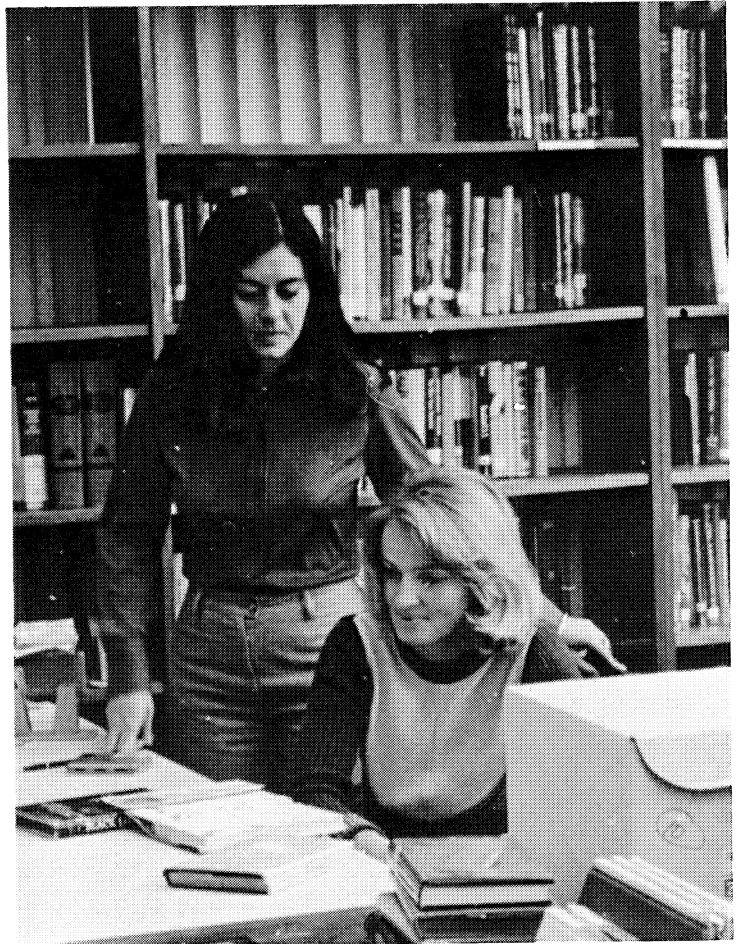

Turman Peggy (Miss) She teaches Jr. High English Classes. She also teaches some college night courses. She is a hard working person. She earned her BA in French and English at Houston Baptist College.

Librarians

The library here at Zweibrücken, as at most places is an important part of the school. We all wouldn't want to think what it would be like without the library nor the librarians; Mrs. Laura Tucker and Monika Schwab.

The library is always neat and organized. It is an ideal place for studying and research. The library has all the materials that are necessary for all most every subject. We have a nice library and we all appreciate it.

Tucker Laura (Miss) is the librarian here at Zweibrücken. She works hard and obviously she does a good job. She earned her BA MLS, University of Texas and East New Mexico University.

Schwab Monika an assistant librarian here at Zweibrücken. She is German and attended German Colleges.

Social Studies

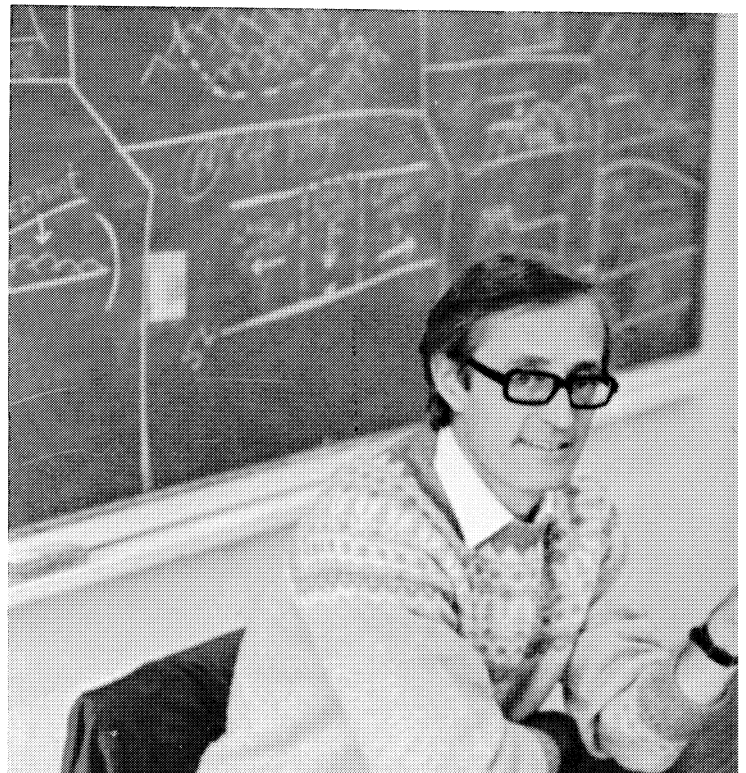

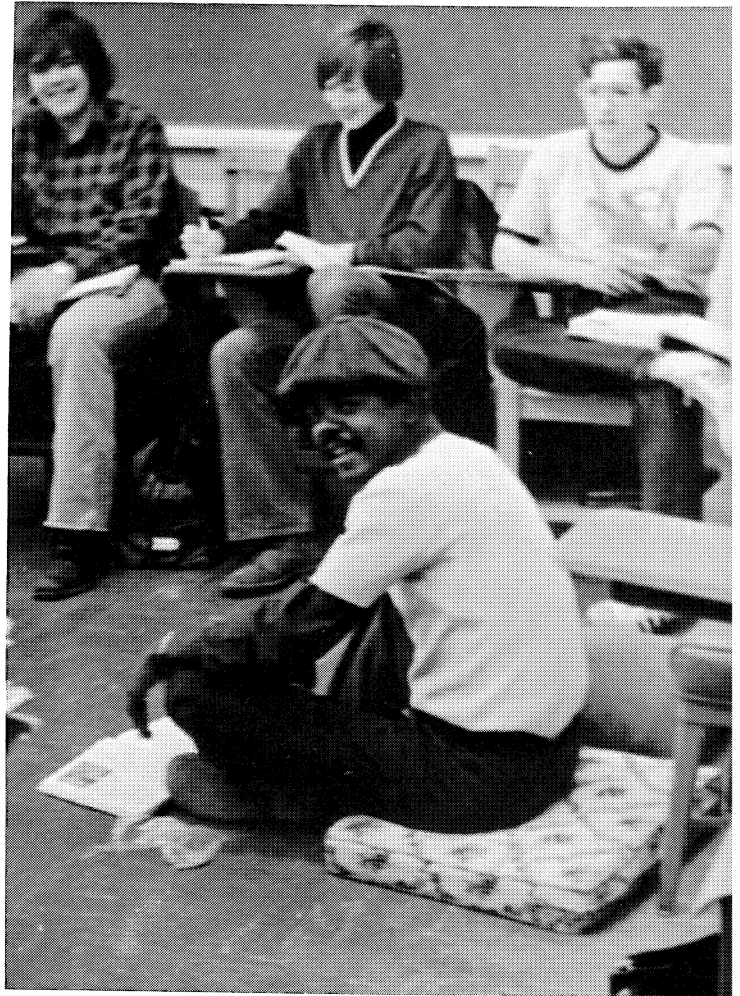

Awareness was the theme around which the social studies department revolved. Seniors were introduced to the constitution and civil rights in government, and human behavior and social conduct in senior social studies. Juniors concentrated on the history of the United States. Other courses were offered in an effort to cater to the individual interest of the student body.

Mrs. Mildred Magee holds one of several interesting rap sessions with her second hour class. She received her B.S. at Alcorn A & M.

Mr. Newell E. Cooper is shown entertaining his fourth hour Government class. He received his B.A. at Neward State. He has also attended Delaware State.

Albert Edward Kitchner gives a wave of hello in one of his social studies classes. He received his B.A. from Union College of Kentucky. Mr. Kitchner has also attended Western Kentucky State University and State Teachers College at Salem.

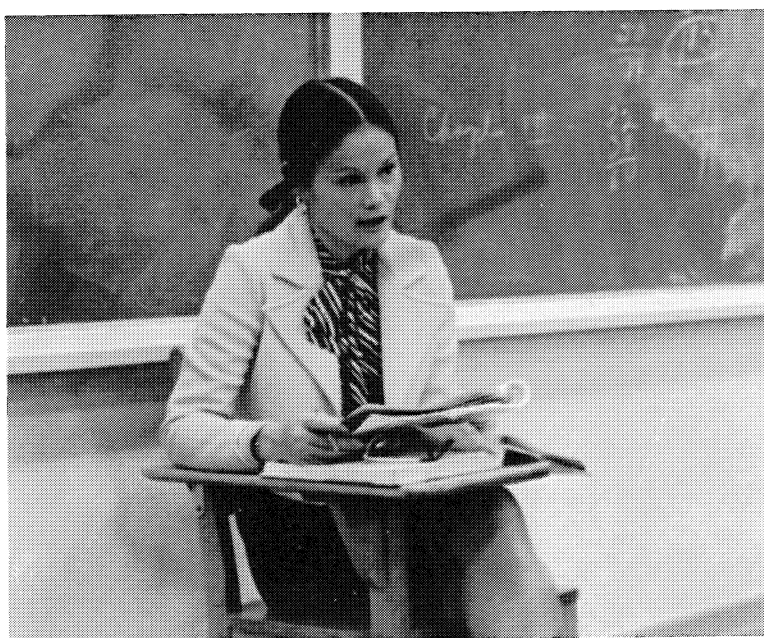

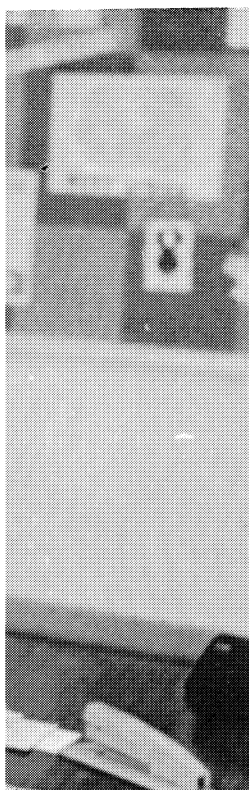

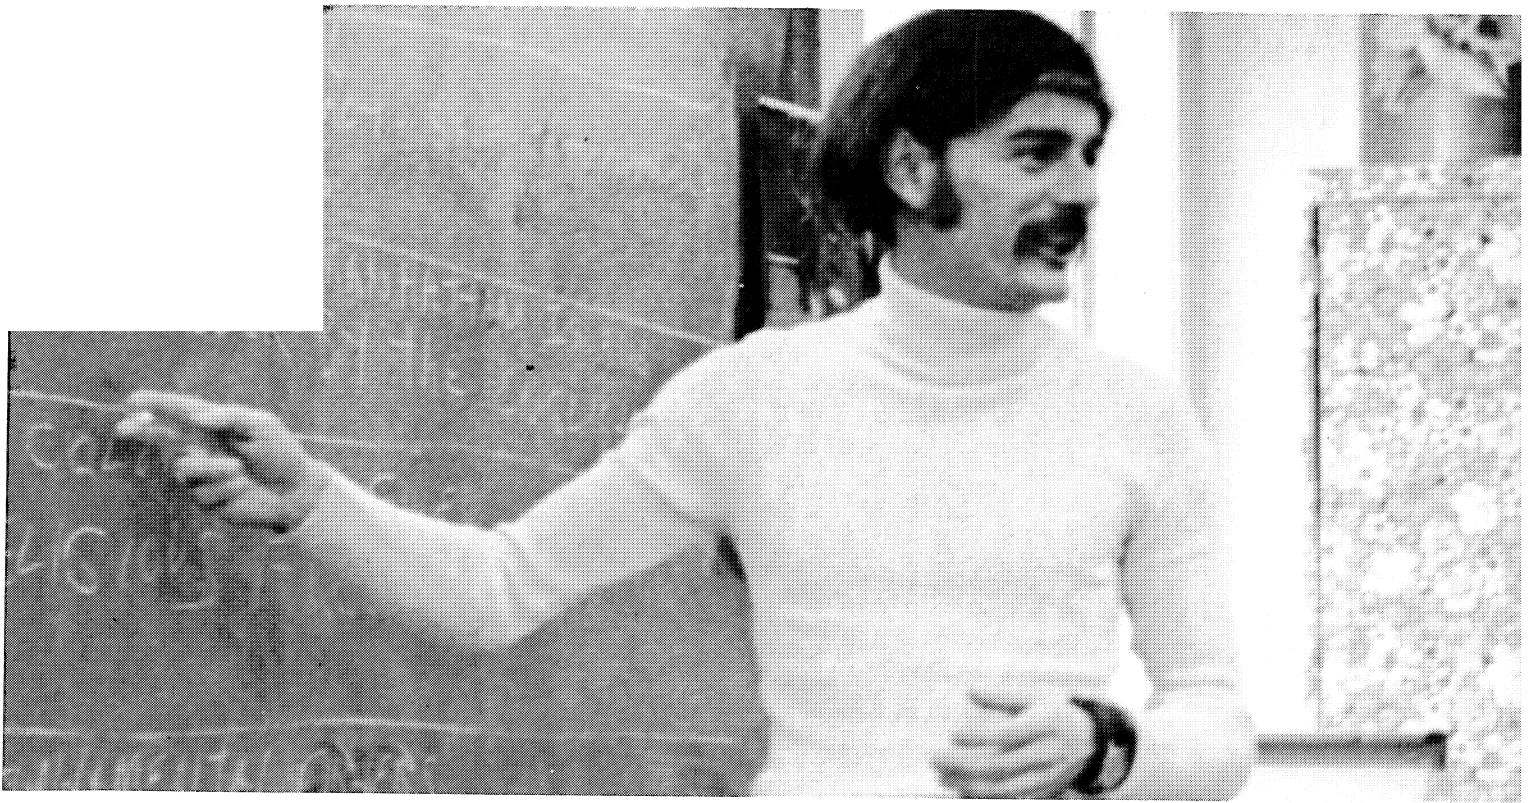

Miss Carolyn Scholten is shown here with the books piled high.

She received her BA at Hope College MI and her MA at University of MI.

Mrs. Samantha Norman (SAM) is shown teaching one of her Social Studies Classes, just one of the many useful things she does around the school. She received her B.S. in Education at Texas State University.

Martin O'Mally as he teaches about Manhattan Island. He received his B.S. at Worcester State College and his M.A. at Northeastern University.

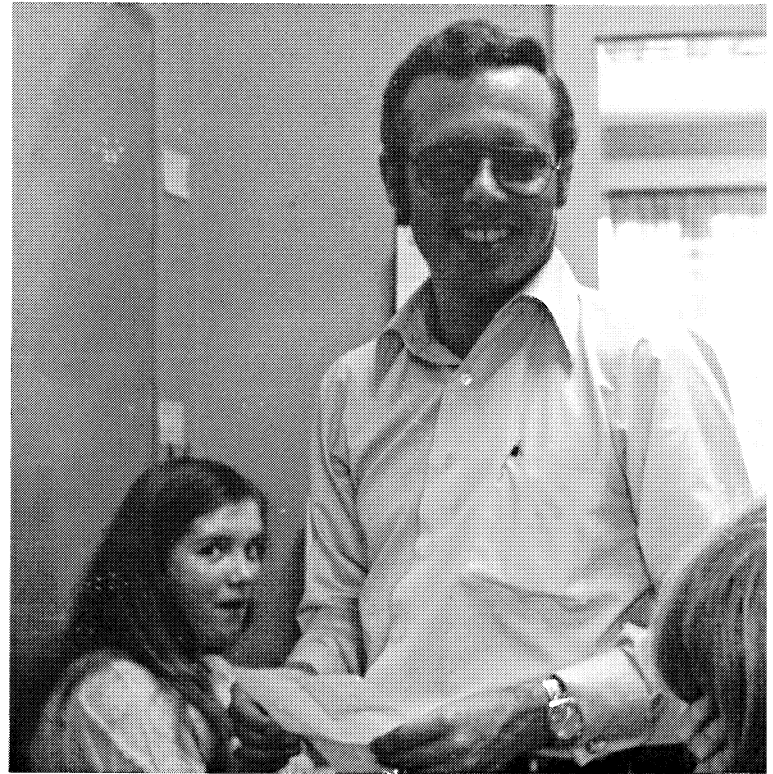

Is all this really Necessary?

Band and Choir make music

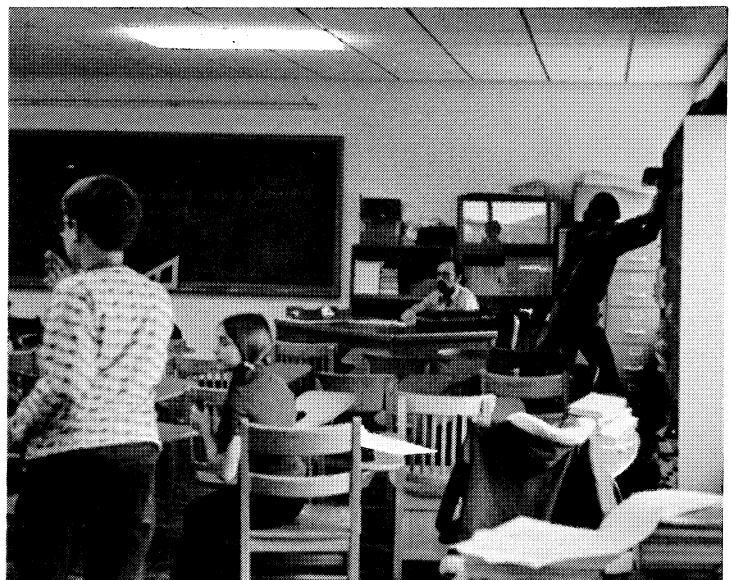

Jr. High Band are the future musicians of the world.

Haskel I. Lentz "That was funny!" He attended and received his BA from northwestern State College

ZHS consists of Junior High as well as Senior High Students. So, the music department combined the two groups to form the music section of the school. Working hard, they prepared for various presentations including assemblies at Christmas and Easter. They also provided the music for Baccalaureate and Commencement ceremonies.

Where is everyone?

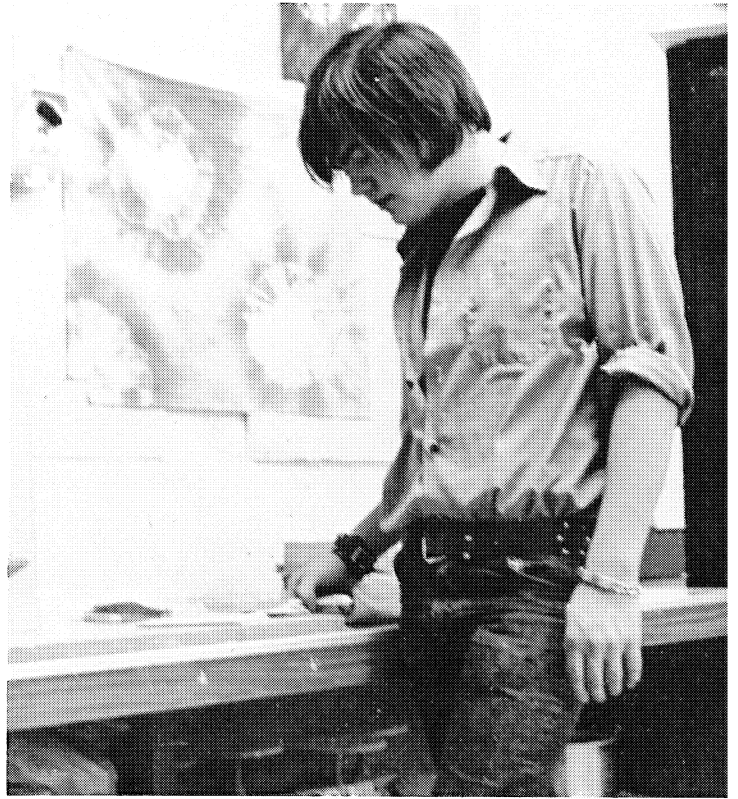

Hey Martha, slow down you're going to fast!

Art Department

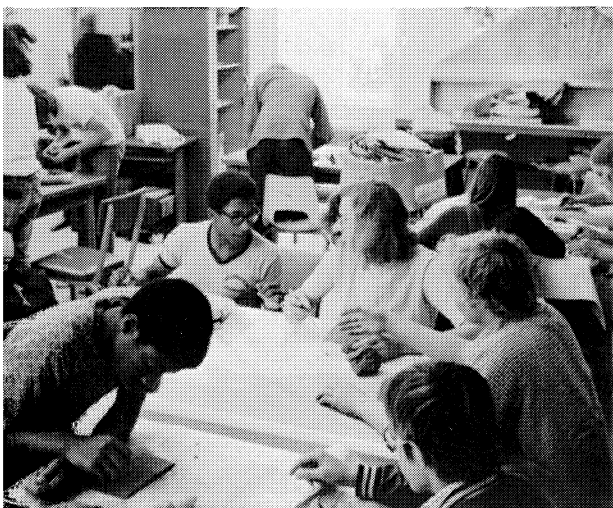

Hey, you artists, sculptures and painters-come to the art room! This year's art classes were bustling with activity. Even though the wheel was broken, ceramic class created some beautiful hand-built pots. Art lettering was designed to explore hand lettering techniques including italic, bookhand and Roman lettering hands. Art general classes were involved in drawing, painting, and paper mache.

Carole Yesconis-Art Department BS Friends University, Kansas State Teacher's College Art is the signature of a civilization and the reflections of man's hopes, dreams, and desires.

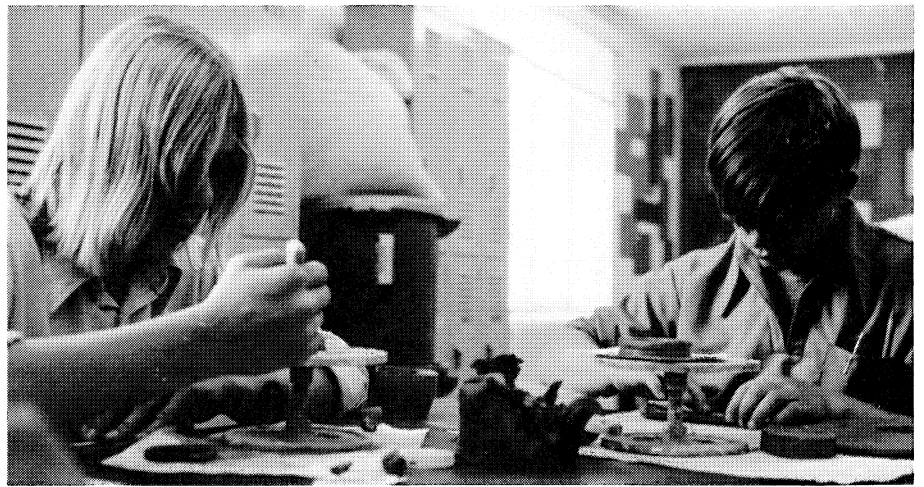

Mike Foley wonders of his art project will ever look like it is suppose to.

Kris Johnson received her degree in art at the Abilene Christian College. Miss Johnson was also the Freshman Class Sponsor.

Miss Johnson loves to play with everyone's art projects.

Hey Gang, what seems to be so interesting?

Home Economics

The Home Economics department this year had many courses to offer for the home-maker-to-be. Miss Scott was our only home ec. teacher and she did a very fine job. Students became familiar with clothing construction, grooming, and family relationships in fundamental home-ec classes. For the "modern young man," who may or may not get married, bachelor living was designed to teach them management of home affairs, clothing construction, sewing, cooking and how to do their own laundry!

And for those young students headed for the alter, Adultliving and child care was a handy course. Even if you weren't "marriage bound" this course was based on the roads of mature high school students approaching adulthood, including family planning, growth and development of children, and the row of the young adult in society.

Math

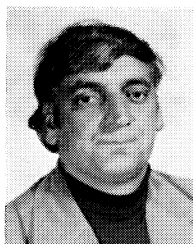

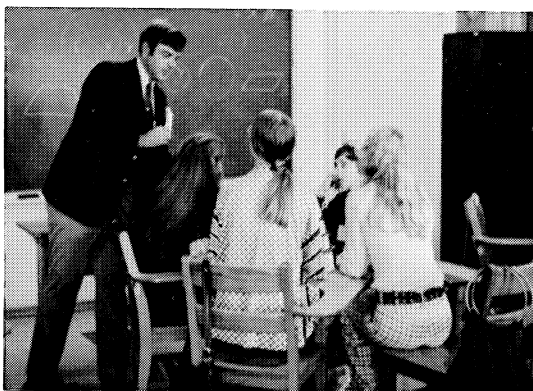

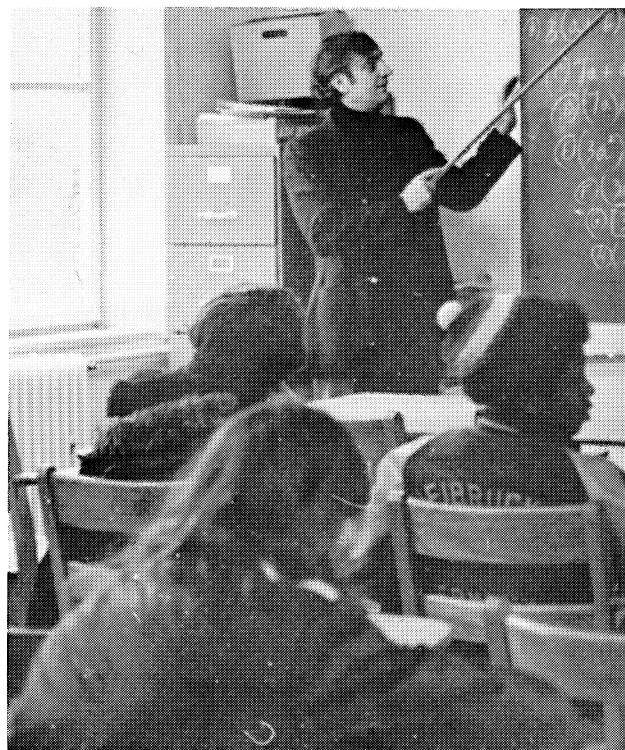

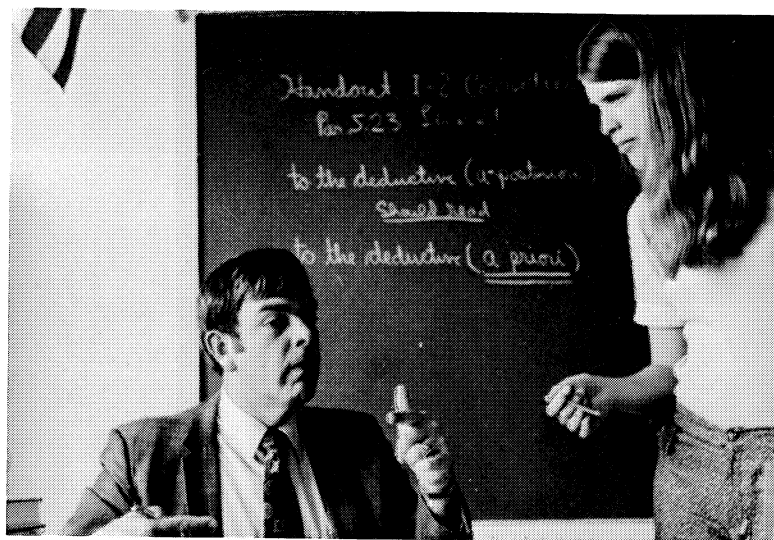

Numbers, numbers, numbers! The mathrooms are overflowing in numbers. While the geometry students battled with their proofs, algebra students had quadratic equations. The math department got together this year and decided on a new type of course which has 4 separate areas. There was Lab Math, of math games, curve stitchings and making mobiles, taught by Mr. Richey. Ms. Cobert had Basic Operations in Math while Mr. Sullivan taught Pre-Algebra. Mr. Kroseman, head of the math department, taught Computer Math.

Duane Kroseman, head of Math Department, expresses his feelings on a math problem. He received his B.S. at the U. of Wisconsin, and also has gone to Case Western Reserve U.

Richard D. Richey. "Parallel lines intersect . . . no, cross over . . . no meet, or never meet to form adjacent . . . no!!!!" Mr. Richey received his BA, MA at Ball State U., Butler U., and Purdue U.

John Arena, teaching (or trying to) his young 9th grade mathematicians. He went to Salem State College, Lynn, Massachusetts.

"I know you all have come up with this conclusion, but mine is better!"

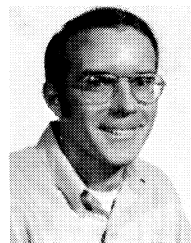

Mrs. Spellmyra Cobert and her math students, who are VERY busy doing their math problems. Mrs. Cobert received her BS at the University of Alabama A & M.

"Do you understand ANYTHING of what I just explained during the last 30 minutes?" Melba Shrock received her BS at Milligan College, Tennessee.

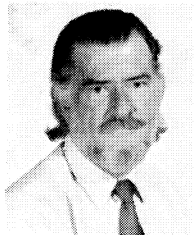

"Hey, what's wrong with my paper-it looks alright to me!!!" Edward C. Sullivan received his BA, MAT at Brown University, Harrard College.

"Goll, I hope this experiment works! Norman D. Chula received his BS, MS from Michigan College Stanford U., East Michigan University, North Michigan University, and Depaw University.

"Now, if I were you, I would do it this way" Robert N. Crowly, attained his BS at East Carolina, and his MA at the University of North Carolina.

Science

Scientists-to-be busied themselves this year with many different things in the Science Department. While the IPS classes were introduced into Science with small experiments and the background of Science. The Biology classes worked with biological concepts. The chemistry classes were intended for the students bound for college. Topics covered atomic theory, nature of matter and chemical periodicity.

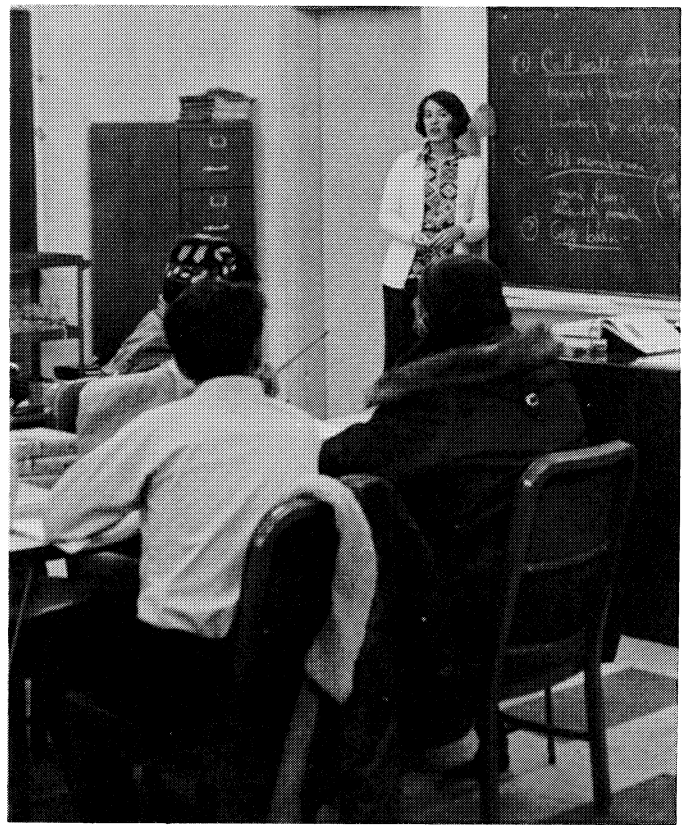

Mrs. Barbara C. Rowen cheerfully helps her Biology students. Mrs. Rowen received her BS at Virginia Tech.

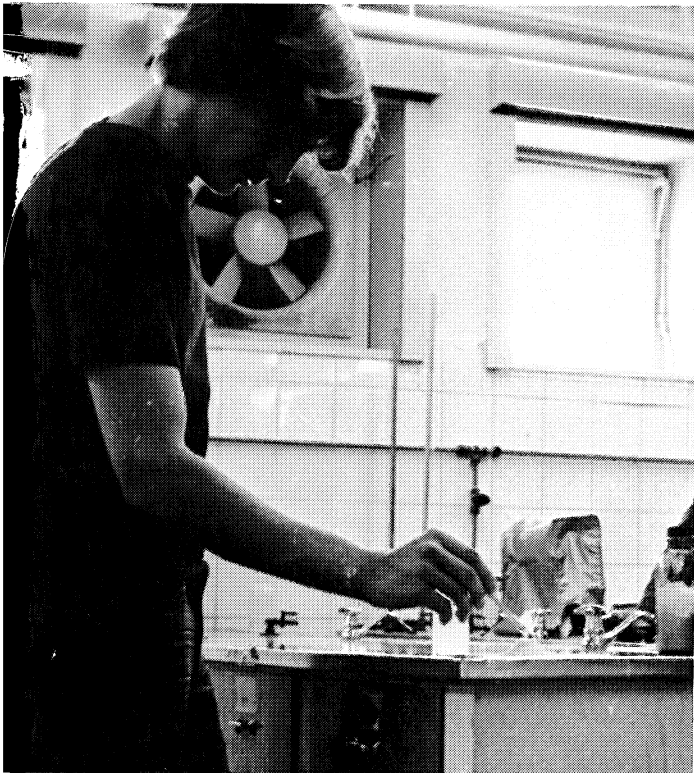

"Hey, I got a frog growing in mine . . . what's that funny lookin' thing you got?"

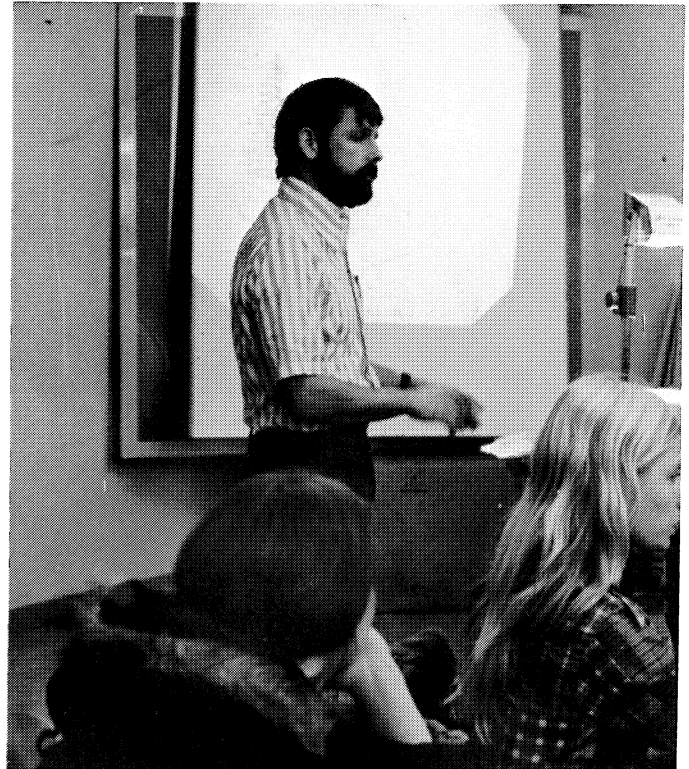

Come on, I want to look at it too!

Betty Miller has been the substitute teacher for this Biology class since the beginning of the school year. Seems like she's going to be the teacher the rest of the year!

Watch this-I shall transform sand into gold!!!

YOU think this is boring-I have to say the same thing 6 times a day!!!

Foreign Language

Why do so many students take a foreign language? It is not needed for many colleges nowadays. Knowledge of foreign language is not going to get your foot in the door as a correspondent, business traveler or private secretary. So why so much interest in foreign languages?

The main reason is simply to get something out of it. Since we're in foreign countries, it's much easier to ask directions, order food, or go shopping when you know a little of the language, whether it be Spanish, German, or French.

To many students, a foreign language helps them to develop a deeper understanding of the cultures and people around where they live. It helps them feel "at home" with anyone.

Foreign language-the key word in communication today-has something for everyone.

Mr. McManus teaches both French and Spanish classes. He received his BA at Emory University, Turkey.

Miss Brandt received her BS at Southwest Texas State Teachers College and teaches German.

Miss Sherry Brasher also teaches German and received her BA at the University of Wyoming, Murray State College in Kentucky.

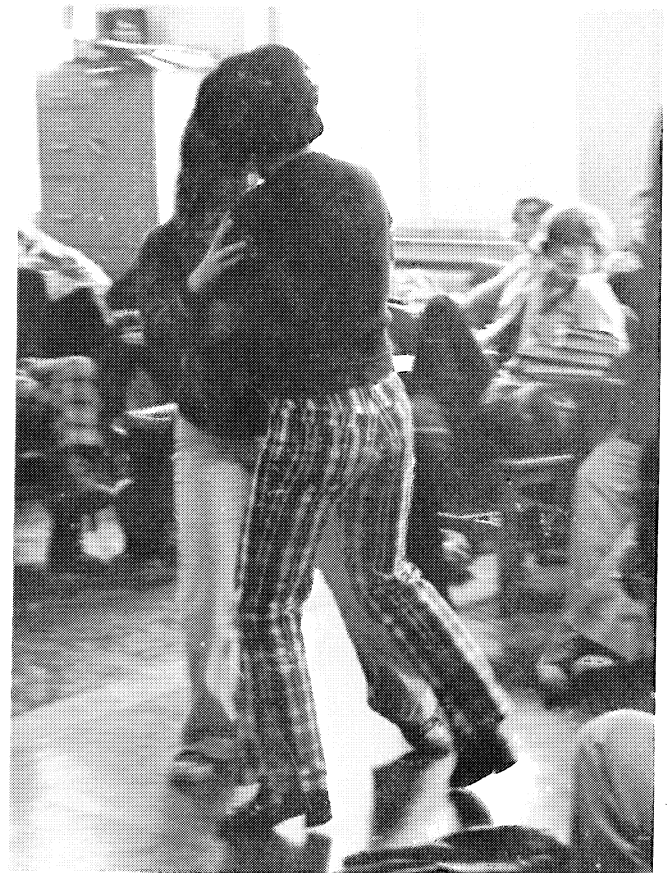

Learning the different family customs is both fun and interesting.

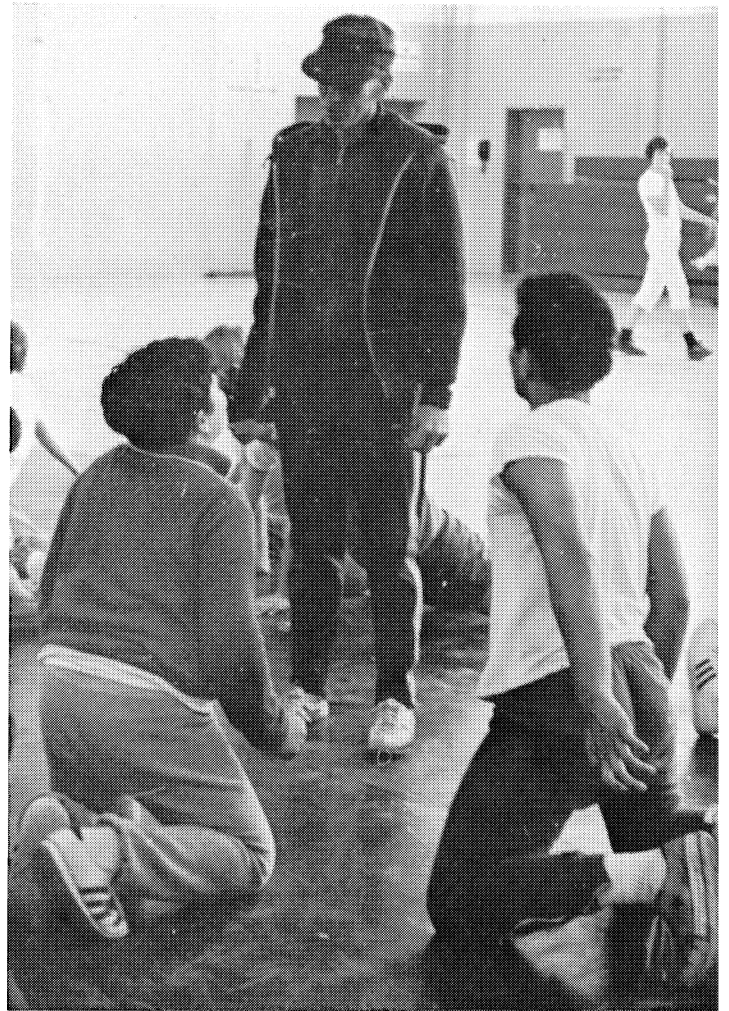

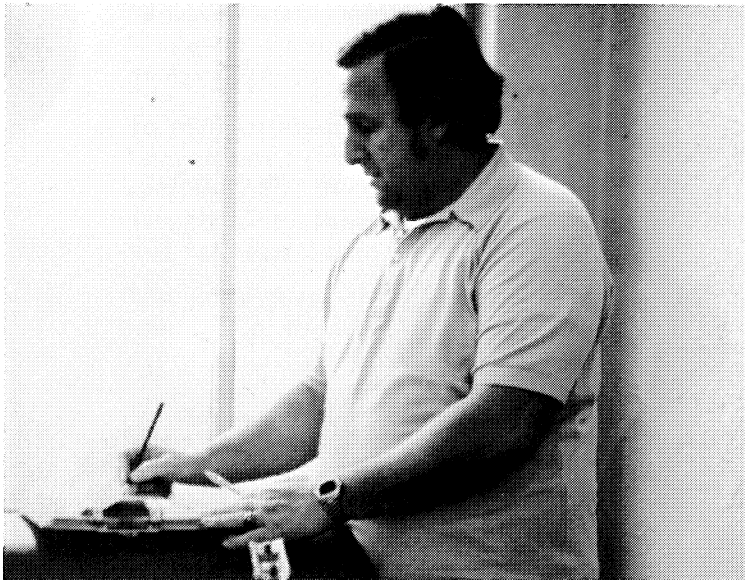

Miss Brasher is teaching her students the German Polka!

It's all Greek to me!

Girls

How the girls of the PE class will cherish their memories! The long walks through the wind, rain, and snow - slipping on the ice all the way down to the gym. Remember the boring exercises you always tried to lie your way out of. Remember the thousands of laps around the track. Remember the basketball, volleyball, and murder ball games as well as the gymnastics that caused you to look like the hunchback of Notre Dame. And last but not least, don't forget the locker room, the smelly bodies, the piles of clothes, the gossip, the lost nylons, the screaming and yelling whenever the German painters stuck their heads in the window. You want it all back, right girls!!

Education

Boys

This years P.E. classes were once again kept in order by the hard working coaches. Coach Clarke has been around for a while and is all to familiar with the task of carrying out the everyday procedures. In contrast with Coach Clarke's 4 year record, Coach Young is just ending his third year at ZHS.

For us people who took the class, P.E. had many things to offer. For instance, in the cool autumn months we went through football and soccer. Then when sunny Zwei turned its usual self on us, it was back to the gym for a course through basketball and wrestling. As spring rolled along and it began to warm up, softball filled our days.

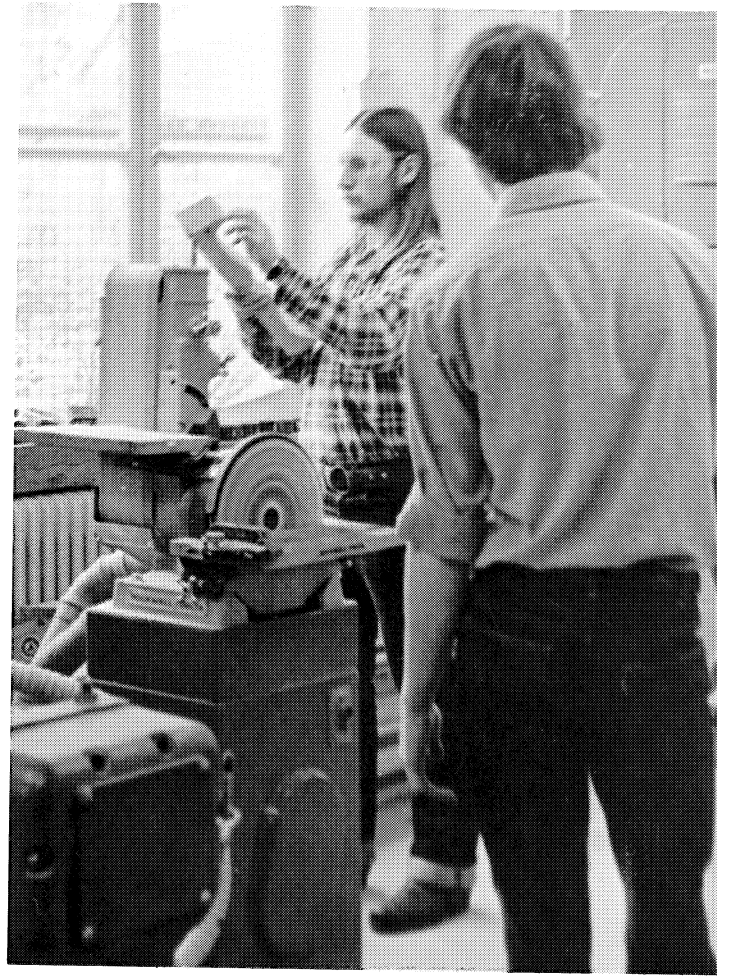

Shop

Shop offered an outlet for those students who liked to use their hands. They were given the opportunity to utilize such machines as the electrical sander and saw. Students who participated also learned the principals involved in building a house.

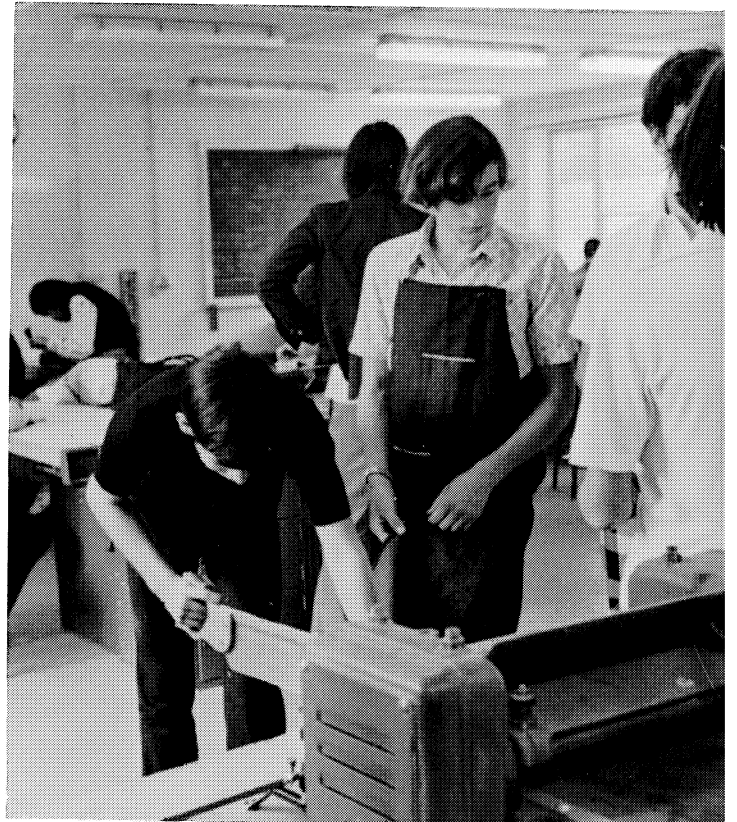

Dale Garret received his B.S. in Industrial Arts at California State College. His Hobbies include golf, scuba diving, photography and motorcycling.

Students hammer away at a shop project.

Perry Wynn works with an electric sander.

Hans Fisher waits to use the electric saw.

Electronics

Roy Dudley experiments with the A-100.

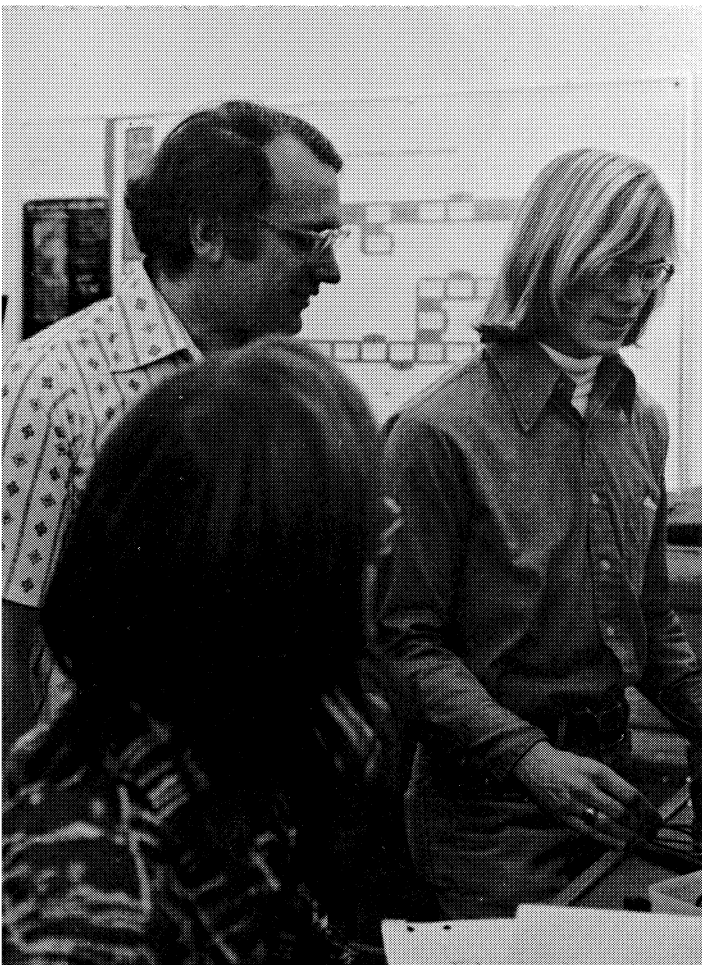

Wiring, "hooking up", and learning why electricity works as it does was discussed in these classes. The students were at an advantage this year because of the new electronic lab equipment which was purchased.

Lawrence Heintzman received his B.S. and his M.S. at Illinois State University.

Mike Bevil keypunches his program for Data Processing.

Mr. Heintzman explains to his students the principal involved in electronics.

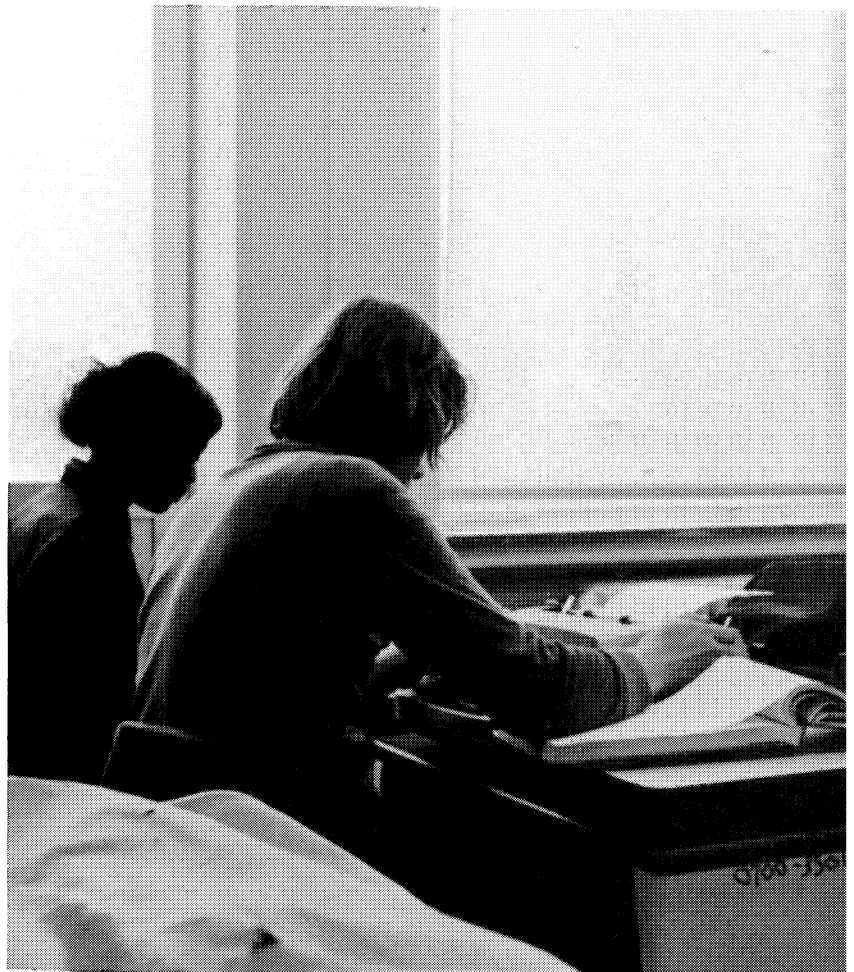

Business Education

In the business area, Zweibrucken High School offers such popular classes as typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping. A lot of students are taking one or more of these classes because it will probably help them in the future after they have graduated.

Miss Malberg can't stand grading papers with eraser marks on it. Lillianna Malberg graduated from Ft. Lewis College and Western State College in Colorado.

Mr. Shrock dictates a letter to his typing class. Albert Shrock graduated from Colorado State College in Greeley and Morrison.

Nurse

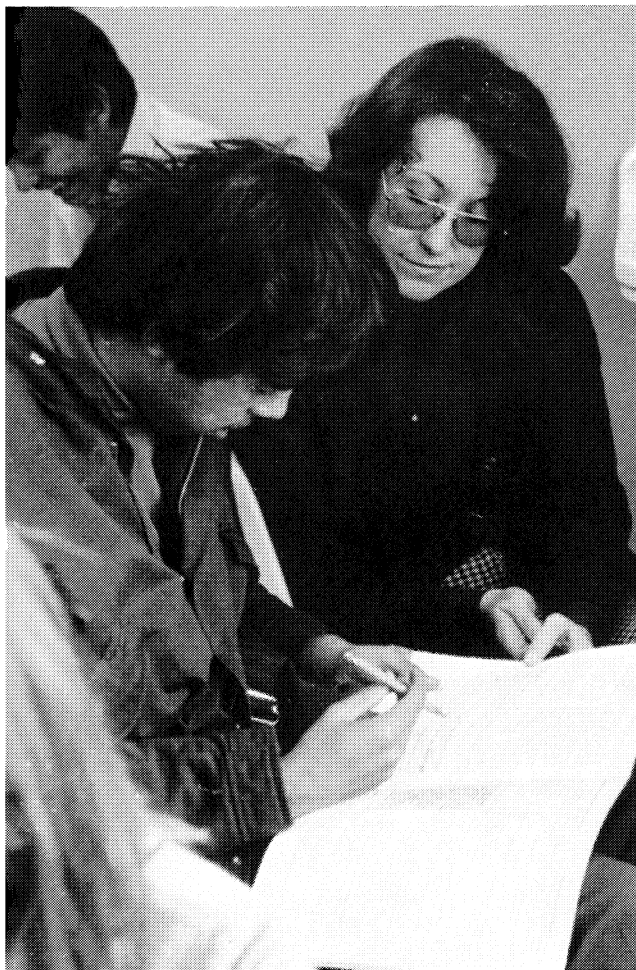

Our school nurse this year was Janet Harrison. She received her Bachelor of Science in nursing at the University of Oklahoma and her master of Science in Education at the University of Southern Colorado. Being a nurse involves more than most people realize. The nurse must plan and coordinate a health program for the high school and nursery school. She must train students for emergency cases during school when she may not be there to assist the student. She is also responsible for the health needs of students, or anything that may infect them while learning.

Mrs. Harrison was caught by surprise while aiding a student.

Special Education

The Special Education courses aid the students that are slow in academic courses. These students learn and progress at their own speed. They are able to choose their own electives such as typing, P.E., and home economics.

Mrs. Crosby talks to Danny Garden about his English while he listens to her. Cawanua Crosby is the assistant teacher in special education.

Miss Sevick explains the written problems to a student. Janet H. Sevick graduated from Beloit College and Illinois State University in Chicago.

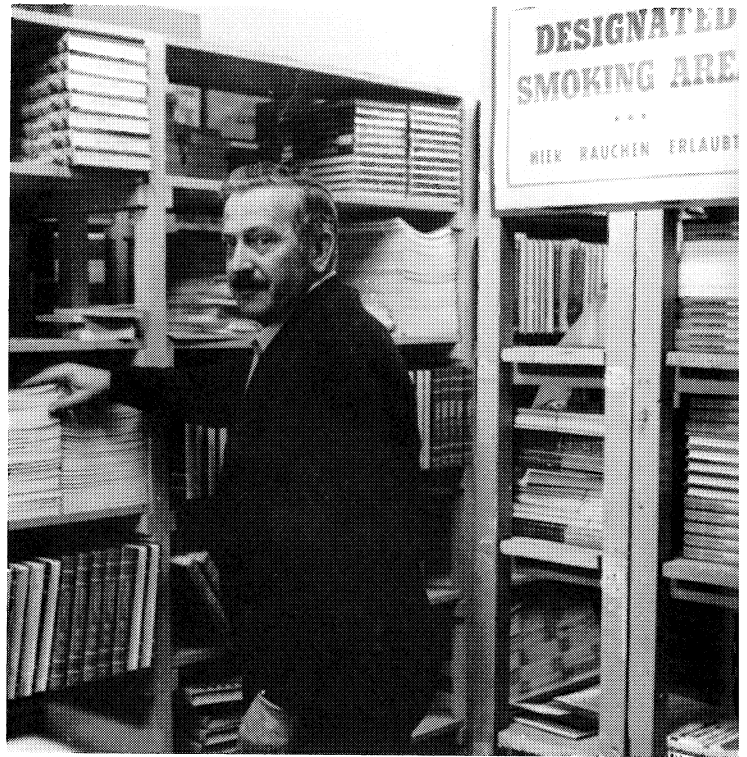

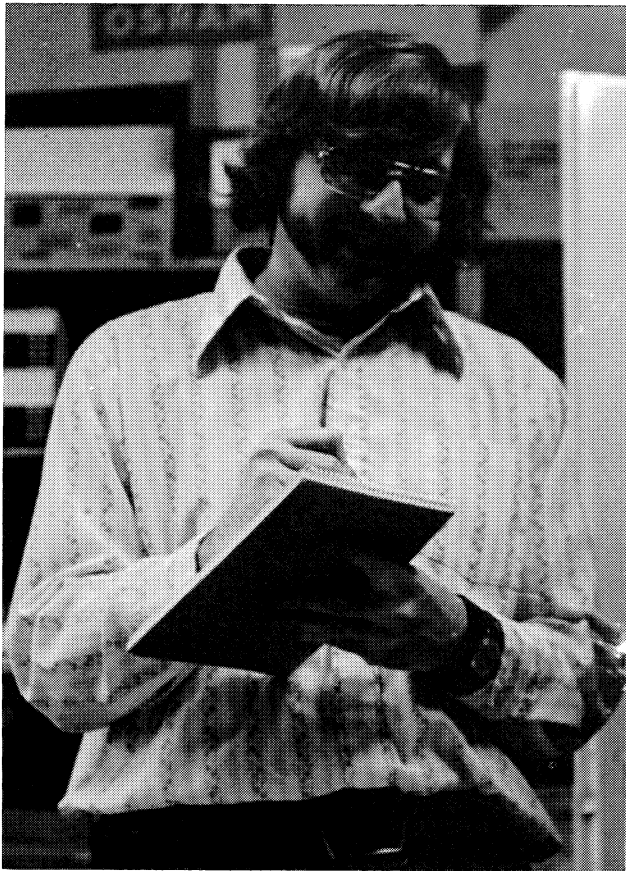

Supply

This year the supply manager was Lynn Weddle. Mr. Weddle took charge of the distribution of the supplies for the entire school and the elementary schools. Not only does he distribute books and supplies, he also keeps the records of stocks up to date.

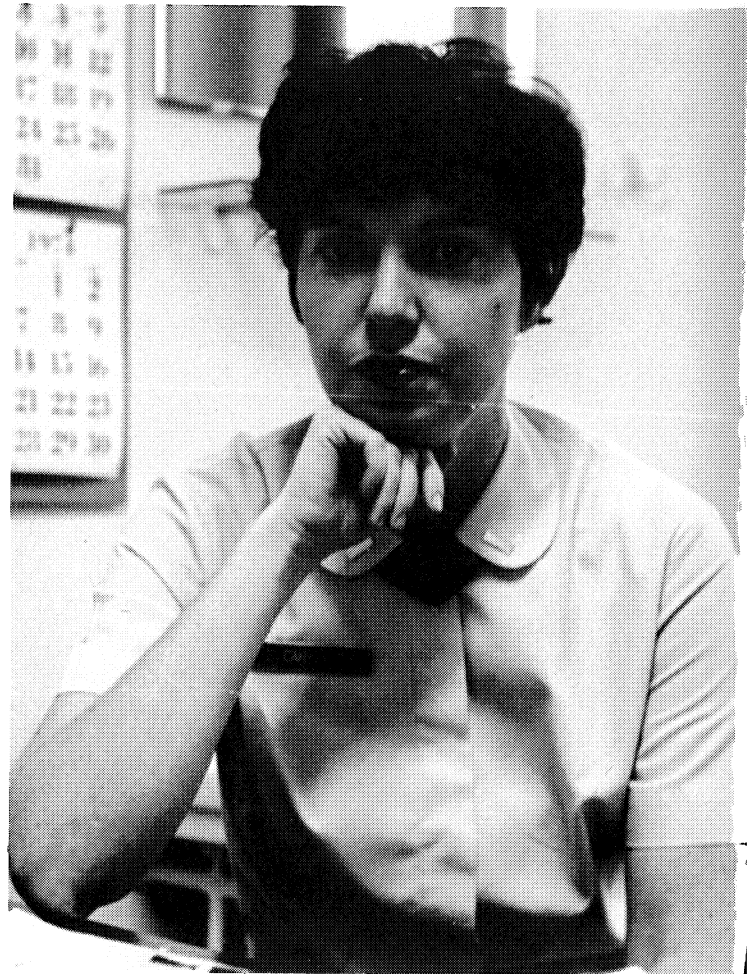

Lynn Weddle making his list and checking it twice.

Mr. Doll making sure that the books are stacked neatly.

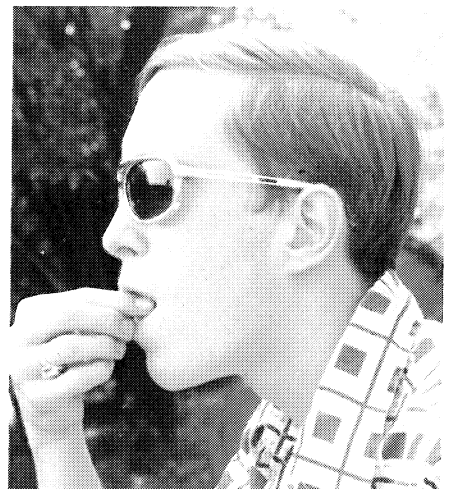

School Officer

Lt. Carter was our school officer this year. She had responsibility of being the messenger between the base commander and our principal, Dr. Penkava. Lt. Carter was also in charge of the bus conduct and handled special cases that dealt with student conduct.

Student Life

Buses

There are twenty-six buses that transport the Zweibrucken High School students to and from school, They came as far as Pirmasens and as close as Zweibrucken Air Base Housing to pick up students in the morning and bring them home at night. There was also an activity bus that was available for those students who participated in after-school activities. Without these buses, the students of Zwei High would have no means of transportation.

Hey Joan what are you staring at?

Dave's doing his last minute homework now?

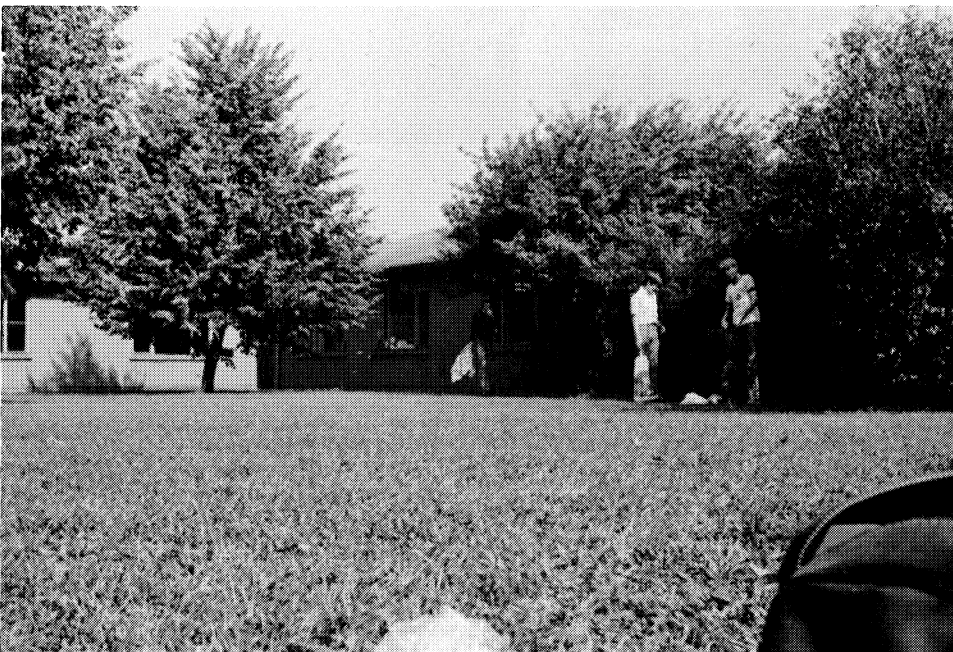

It sure is good to see happy faces around!

Wouldn't you say, getting down on your knees is carrying chipmunk duty a little to far?

Hey man, there is so much trash in here I don't know where I'll stick it all.

Disciplinary action is a part of every school year. Although the firmness it takes varies from school to school, its purpose remains the same: to bring a type of action against those individuals who violate school rules. In Zweibrucken High School, the measures taken were assigned the name "Chipmunk Duty".

Chipmunk duty included picking up trash around school grounds and clearing off the tables in the cafeteria. It was assigned for such acts as throwing snowballs, having an overdue library book, and as some people experienced, holding hands in the hall.

Chipmunk duty was seemingly doled out when the administrators had the energy and the interest to notice what you were doing. It was impossible for them to keep up with the student body. When students did receive it, they often did not take it seriously therefore, Chipmunk duty accomplished nothing as far as disciplining the students.

A portion of the student body felt that chipmunk duty was an elementary or junior high disciplinary action at best. They offered a more mature and productive alternative: detention hall. Detention hall they felt, should be administered after school and be used as a study hall.

Advocates of chipmunk duty argued that transportation for students after school was nonexistent. Besides which chipmunk duty served to get necessary tasks done. The school grounds were policed and the cafeteria was left clean.

Chipmunk

Lunchroom

The students of Zwei High will look back with both fond and hateful memories of the school cafeteria. Of course all cafeterias have their faults, but ours seemed to have more than the rest of them. Although the cafeteria did not serve hot lunches, it was used by those students who bought their lunch from the EES Snack Truck, affectionately called the Roach Coach. The cafeteria itself was not well-lighted or fantastic looking place around, but then one must remember that it did protect you from that cold wind, rain, and snow. That's better than nothing!

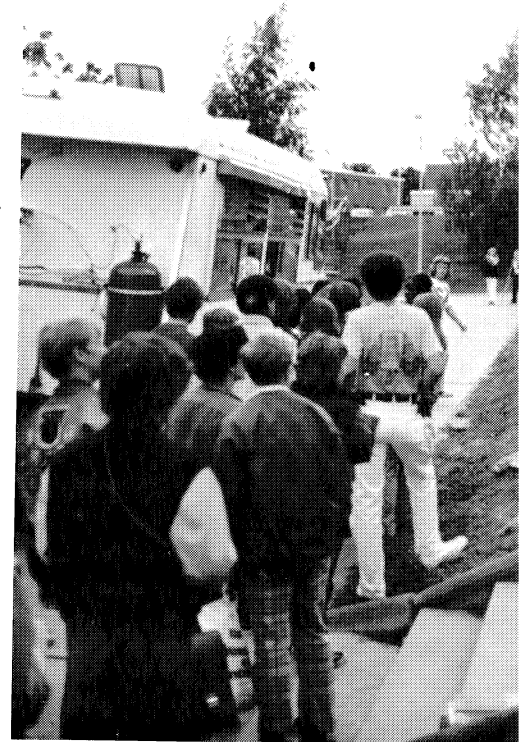

... and the out door lunchroom with the Kama Kazi bees ...

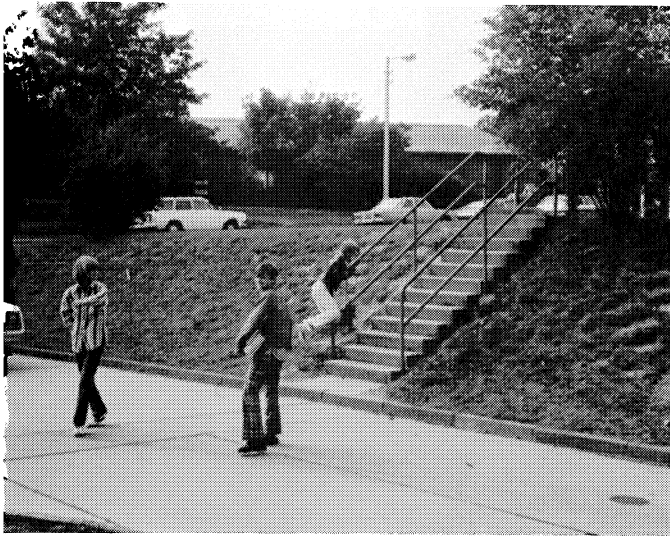

... and the fun lunches ...

... and the dessert wasteland?

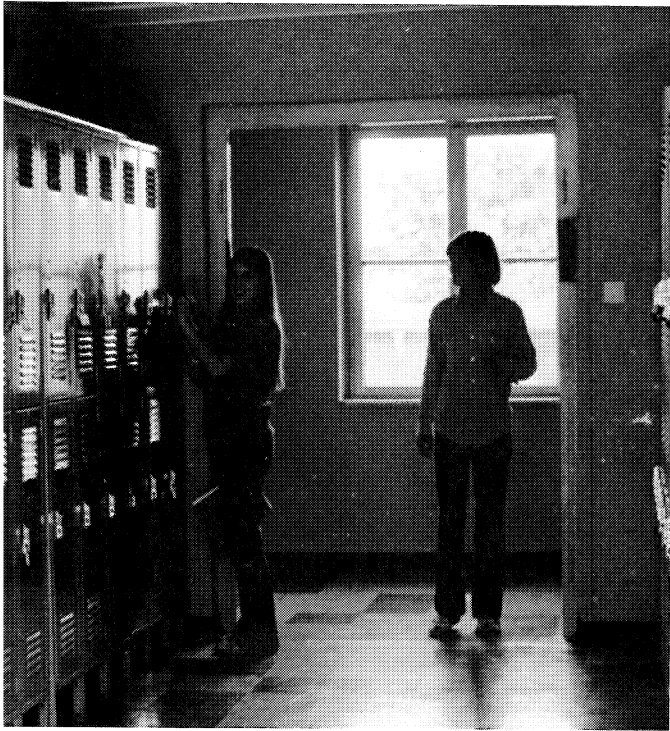

... and the long bread lines for a soybean burger ...

Who bothers walking down the steps anymore. We all take the expressway.

You won't believe what I've got in here!

Halls

During class the halls are silent. At the ring of the bell students begin to appear and quickly the halls fill with traffic jams, lockers slamming and people shouting. The bell rings and once again the halls become silent.

Think what it would be like without the "Putzfraue"?

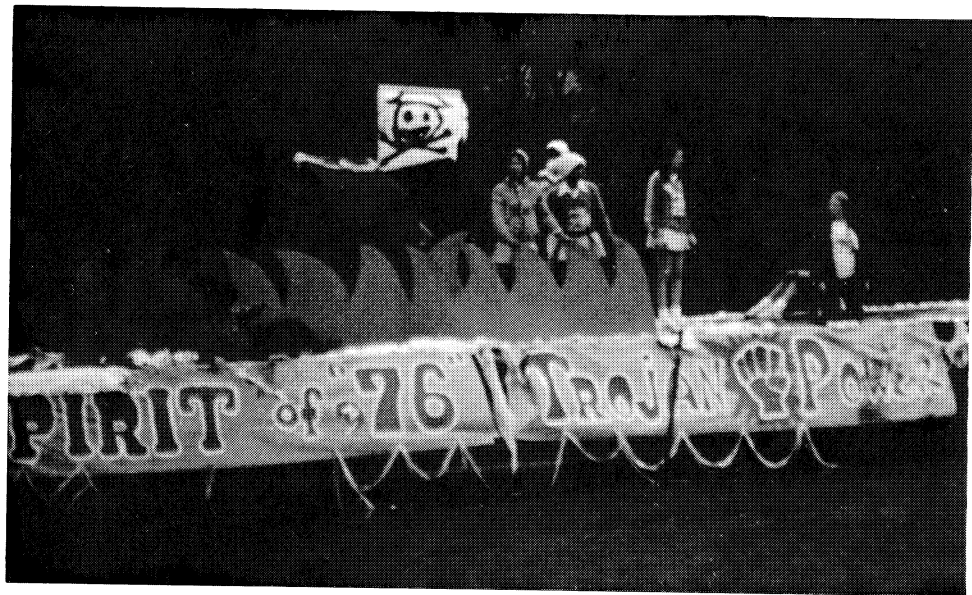

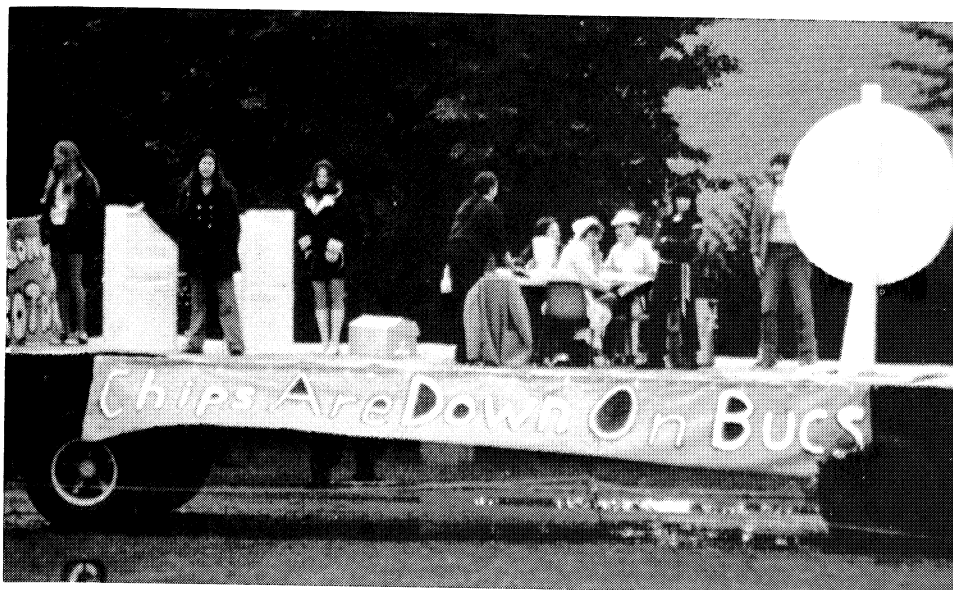

Here is the spirited Senior class of 1975 with their float

The Juniors were right, we sure did sink the Bucs. . .in two feet of mud!

Homecoming this year was as great as ever! Each class had their float and all went well. This year Homecoming was during the second game of the season against the Baumholder Bucs. Like the Freshman class float said, 'the Bucs died in the Trojans Homecoming' when they were defeated by the score of 12-6. During half time the court was announced and crowned by Dr. R. A. Penkava. The night before the game we had the bon fire with the spirited cheerleaders throwing a Buc in the fire and leading cheers and chants. The day of the game the drill team performed and the floats were seeing.

Ah cain't see one fine feller yet!!!!

Now Helen, this is how ah raise mah pigs

Waal, this dadburn sheriff won't let us out.

Now this is what we'll do Mary, Dave, Vince, Karen

Ya'll come

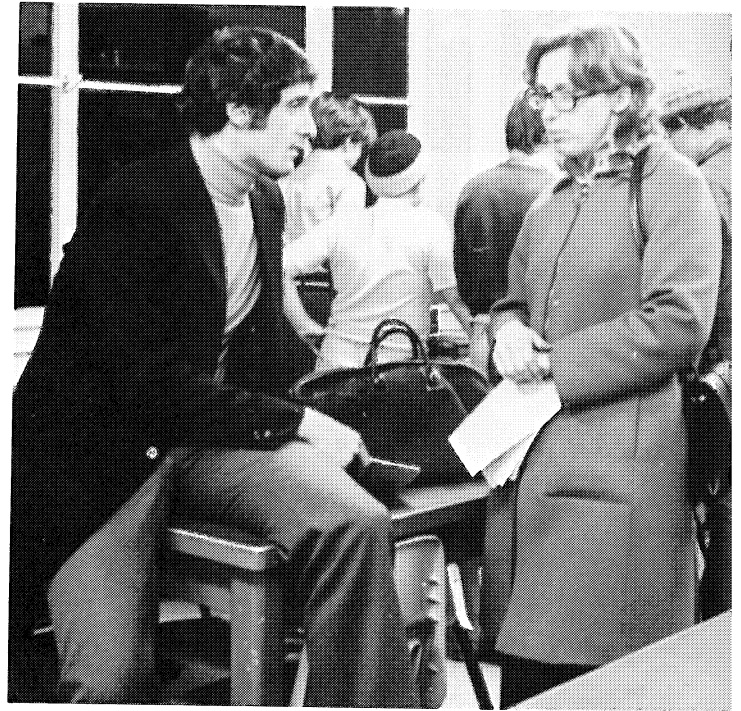

Joan this ain't a sleeping joint ya hear?

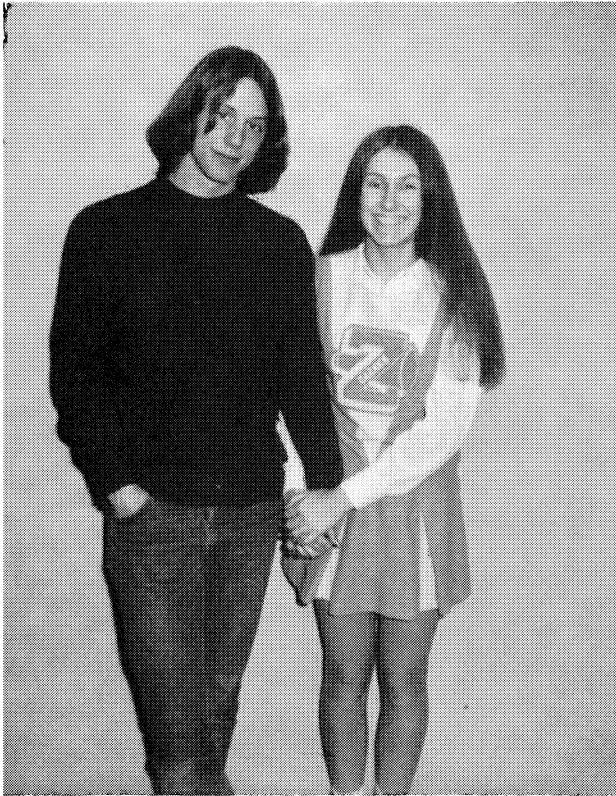

"Y'all come to the Sadie Hawkins dance y'hear?" These were the words heard by everyone from the Senior class, who sponsored the Sadie Hawkins dance this year. Students from grades 7-12 attended the dance held in the Air Base Gym. The marriage booth was overflowing with prospects who joined together in matrimony, while at the same time the divorce had its share of unreconcilable differences. The music was the best ever. The dance was one to remember

Open House

Every year ZHS sets aside an evening during a week for what is known as "open house". On this night interested parents come to the school in order to meet and talk to the teachers, counselors, and administrators who work with their son or daughter. This provides an excellent opportunity to discuss any problems that may have arisen between the student and his teachers. This year's open house was well attended and was considered a success.

Christmas 1974

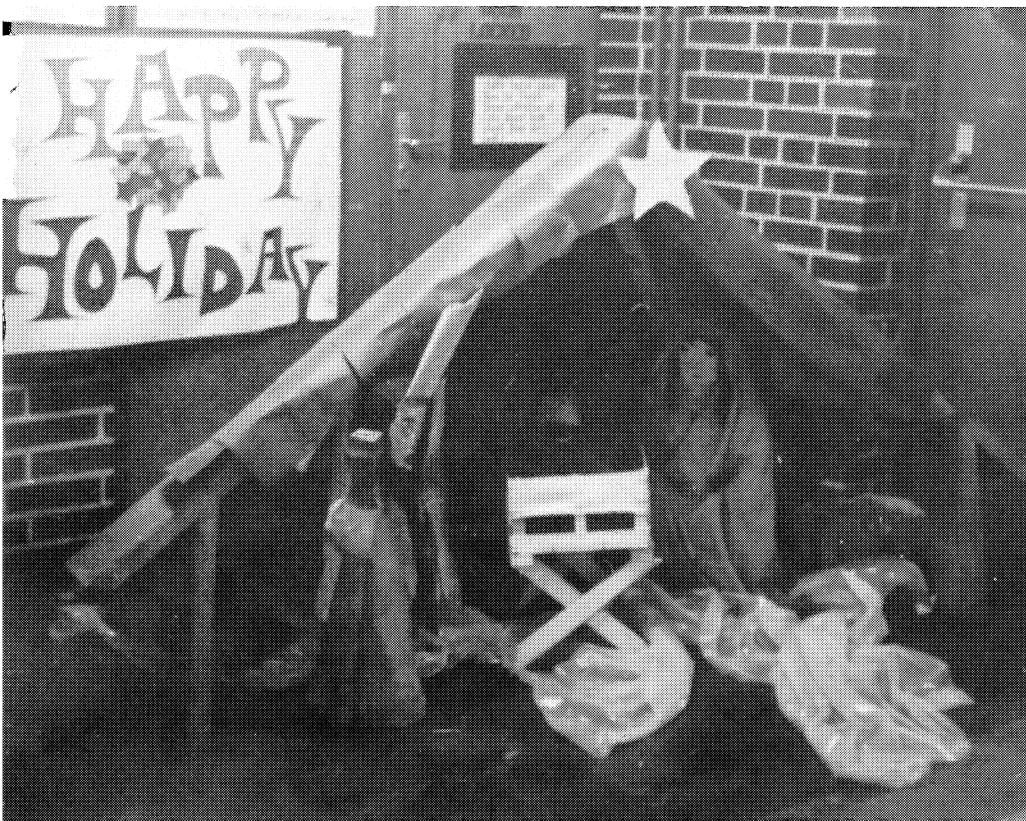

The season of Christmas at ZHS was celebrated in many ways. You heard students humming or singing carols as they traveled to class. There was the tree in the journalism room decorated with candies and the special articles in the Trojan Chaos. There was that very special love all around too. The chorus sang at the Christmas assembly where the student body also watched an excellent play written by a drama student, Hans Hoebeler. The Christmas dance was held at the Town Hall in Pirmasens this year and was well attended in spite of the distance some traveled. The Christmas court was elected as usual.

Report cards come four times a year. Around these hard times most students begin to worry. To some it's great to get them, but to most it just means restriction time is back.

The computers run them off about a week before the students get them. There are always rumors that the computer broke down so they're delayed. It's really, "Who put the cards in the computer wrong?"

In the report cards it tells us the name of the school, name, date, classes that person took, periods, grades and how much credit they got for each class.

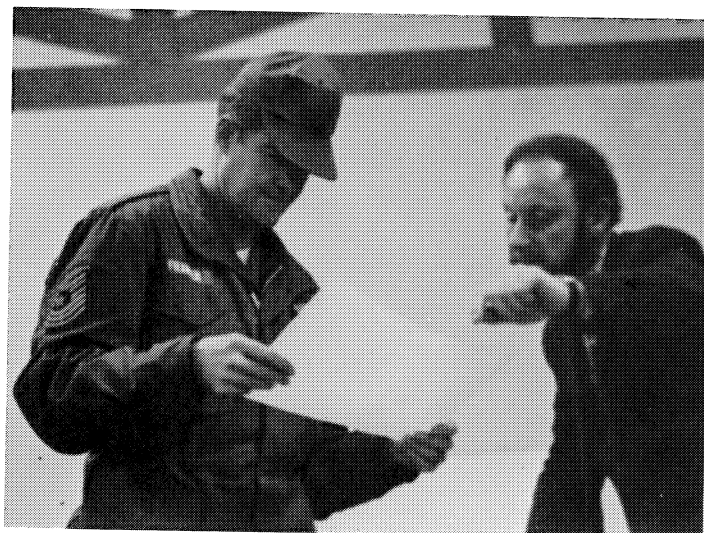

Report Cards

I know my kid's gotta be here somewhere! Or maybe he WASN'T kidding when he said he had quit school . . .!

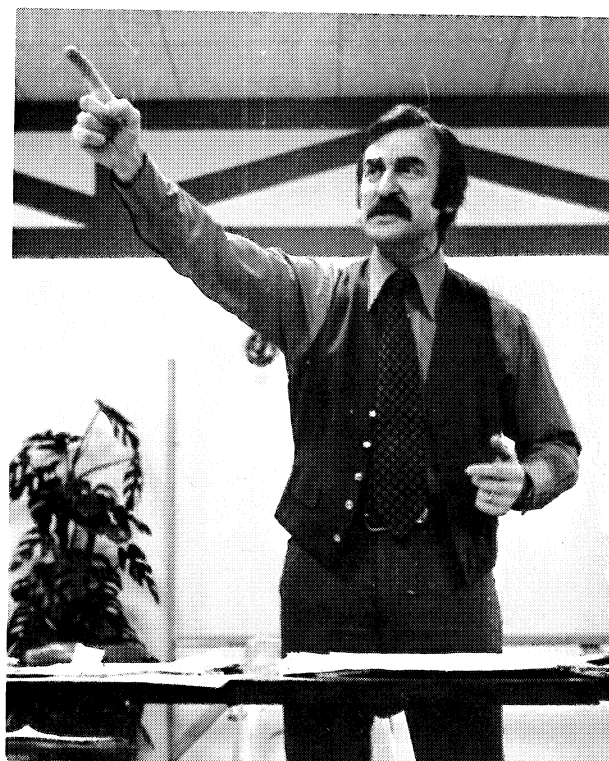

Listen here Mr. Egan, if my kid doesn't come home with straight A's- you've got chipmunk duty for 3 months!

That? That's the computer code for his name. (I hope)

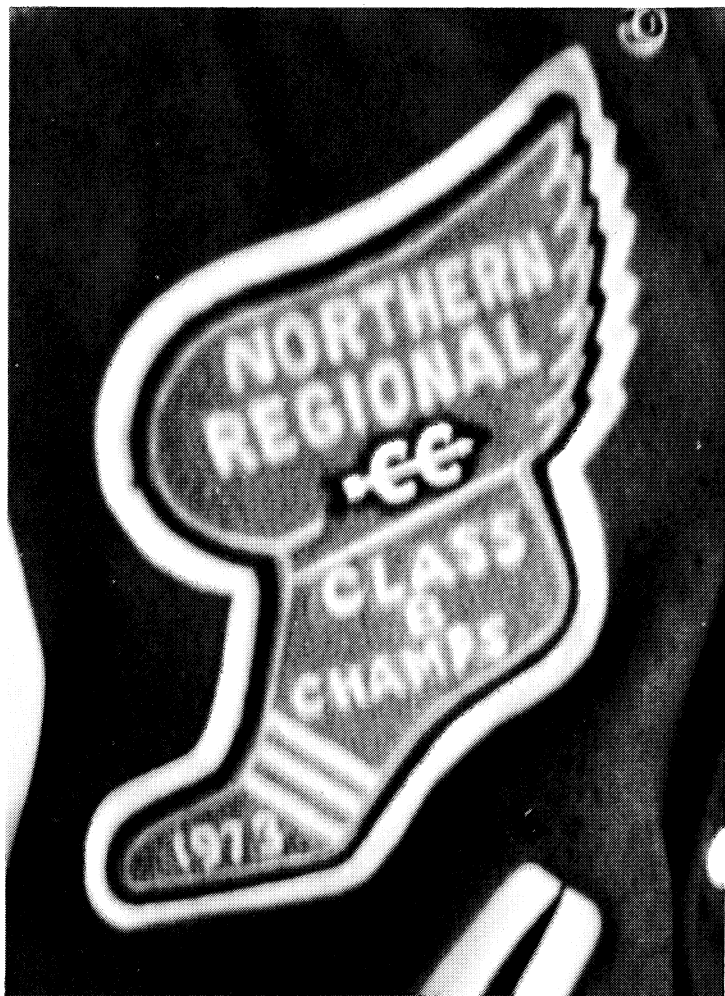

The computer has made a mistake! My son is not taking 17 classes?!

Look! It's a bird, it's a plane . . . NO! . . . it's a student with straight A's!

Sports

Varsity

Coach Young is giving the Trojan their final instructions for the upcoming game.

Watching practices is nerve racking, but have you ever tried to put yourself in one of the players positions? Practices are necessary for a winning team and if you have watched the Trojans this year you know that our victories came from long hours of practice. The weather this year was not the greatest but it did not stop our team from practicing. Good work, team.

Trojans

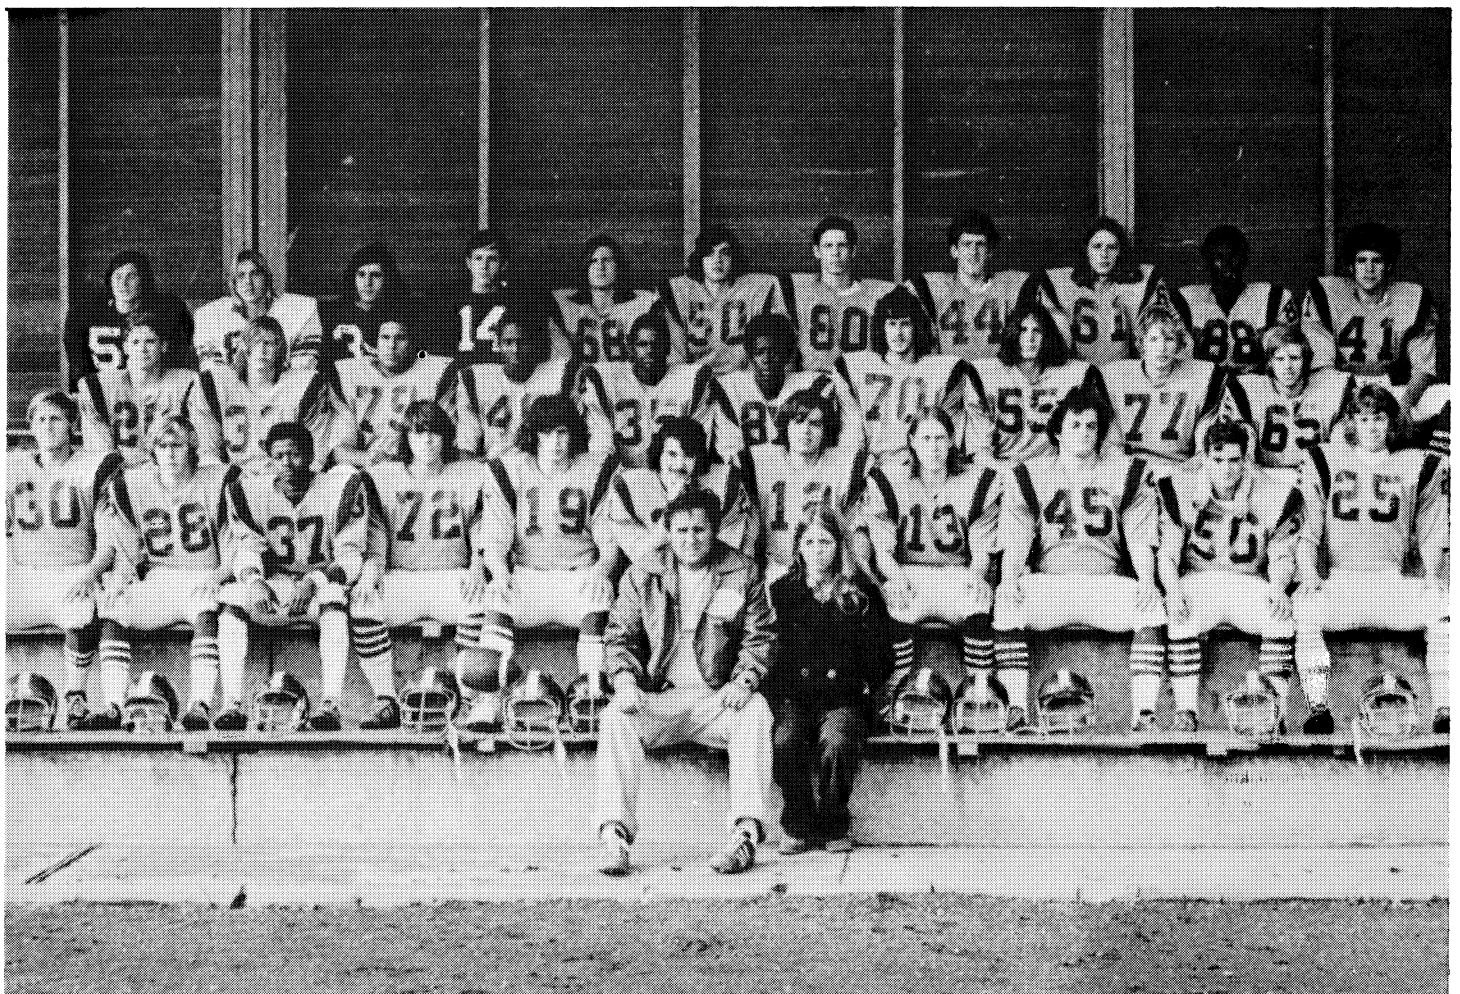

Hey you two, this is no time for a bear hug! We are two points behind and your stopping to become friends, what do you think about that? Well let's get on with the game, OK!

The Varsity football team ended the season with their best record ever. The mighty Trojans did not earn this 5-2 standing without work, however it took them countless days of practice out in the rain; developing and executing plays to the perfection that displayed itself in the season's games. The players were totally dedicated to their work, however hard it seemed. They displayed every trait expected of them even when the going got tough. Of these men, we can remain proud. Hopefully next years team can equal the performance of this years team.

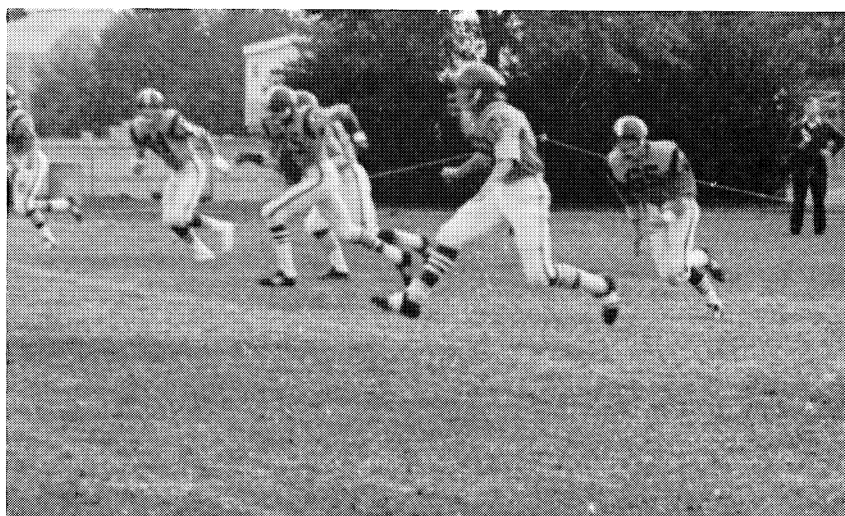

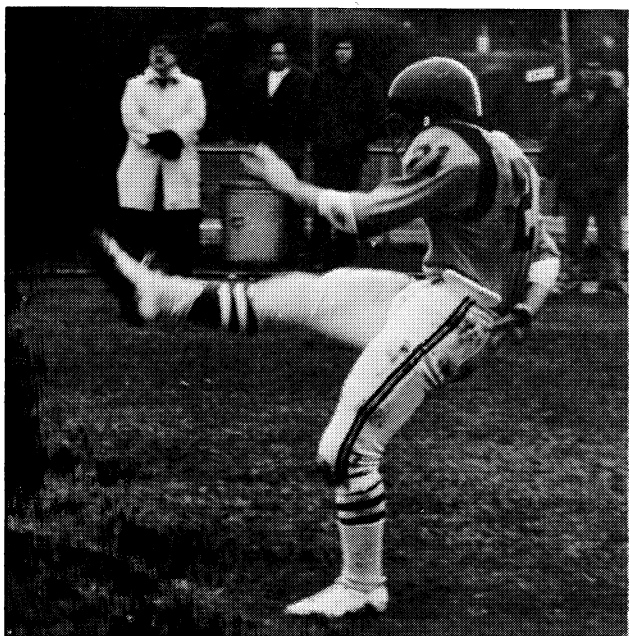

Follow the bouncing ball.

It will take more than a kick to get passed us.

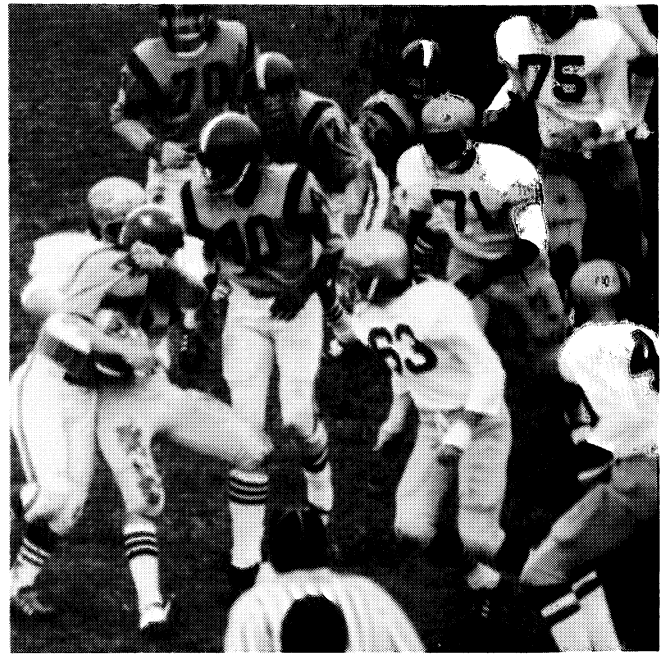

Bob Marshall, 88, seems to be having a little bit trouble.

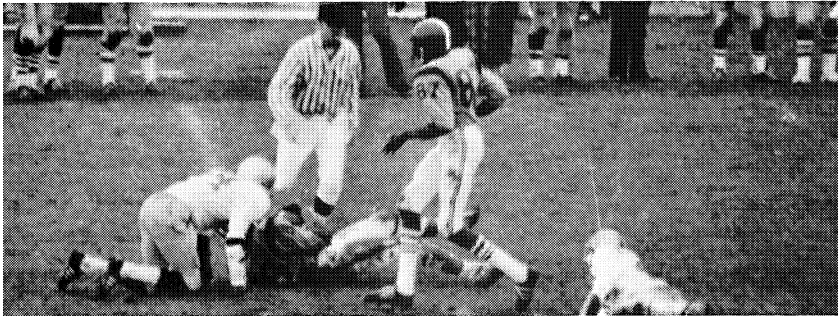

The gang always finds time to ham it up, right guys?

Come on guys don't just stand there, help me!

JV Football

With a very young and inexperienced team, this year's JV kept up the Trojan tradition of playing hardnosed football. They had a very stingy defense whose goal line was crossed only a few times. The offense failed to keep any consistency and drives were constantly marred by fumbles and interceptions. These misses resulted in the Trojans not always able to pull themselves out. Although this was not the JV's best performance, more was gained than most know, even by losing because invaluable experience was gained and posting a 3-4 mark is not as bad as it sounds. Probably the biggest win came at the season opener against Munich. The defense shined and the offense moved the ball well. Munich's only score came late in the 2nd half making the final score 18-6. They went in to beat Baumholder and as the season drew to its close they faced Augsburg. In a very good effort the JV fell short of a victory (in overtime). They put up a good fight and thus ended a successful season. They were coached by Brian and Brent Brady.

Cross Country

For the cross country teams, it was a very profitable year. Zweibrucken's boys team placed first in the Class B Regionals, which were held in Heidleburg. The girls placed third. The cross country finals were held in Stuttgart. Summing up for the cross country teams, it was a very good year.

Golf

This year's golf team finally emerged from beneath the dusty old files of the Zweibrucken recorded statistics files. They smashed the records as much as they lost their balls in the woods. Among the records set was our first golf victory! The Varsity team won one match while the girls won all of theirs and the J.V. won 3 or 4 matches.

Gymnastics

The members of the small gymnastics team were among the most co-ordinated at ZHS. The reasons for the good showing this year was that they participated in frequent practice exercises and devoted much time to form and poise. Yes, the girls worked hard to revive another sport at Zwei High.

Varsity Basketball 1974-75

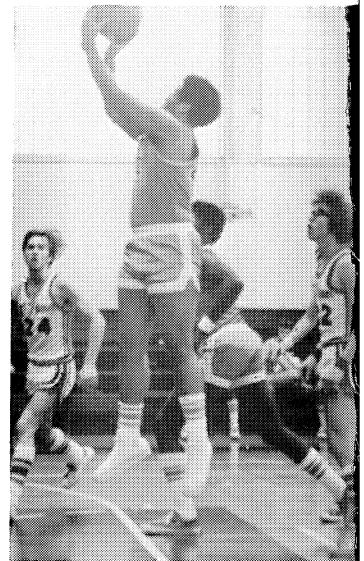

"We want a basket, Trojans!" This cheer comes from all those super enthusiastic basketball fans, who came to watch the Trojans play week after week. The Basketball Team has done really great this year. Coach Kroseman has worked hard to bring his mighty Trojans to victory.

The basketball players practiced everyday during sixth period and after school in the Kreuzberg gymnasium. With all the hard practicing and real determination the Trojans proved to be a really top team.

Due to the lack of funds from USDESEA, our sport season was almost abolished for the rest of the year, but things brightened up and we managed to continue the sports year with great success. This just goes to show what can happen when people stick together.

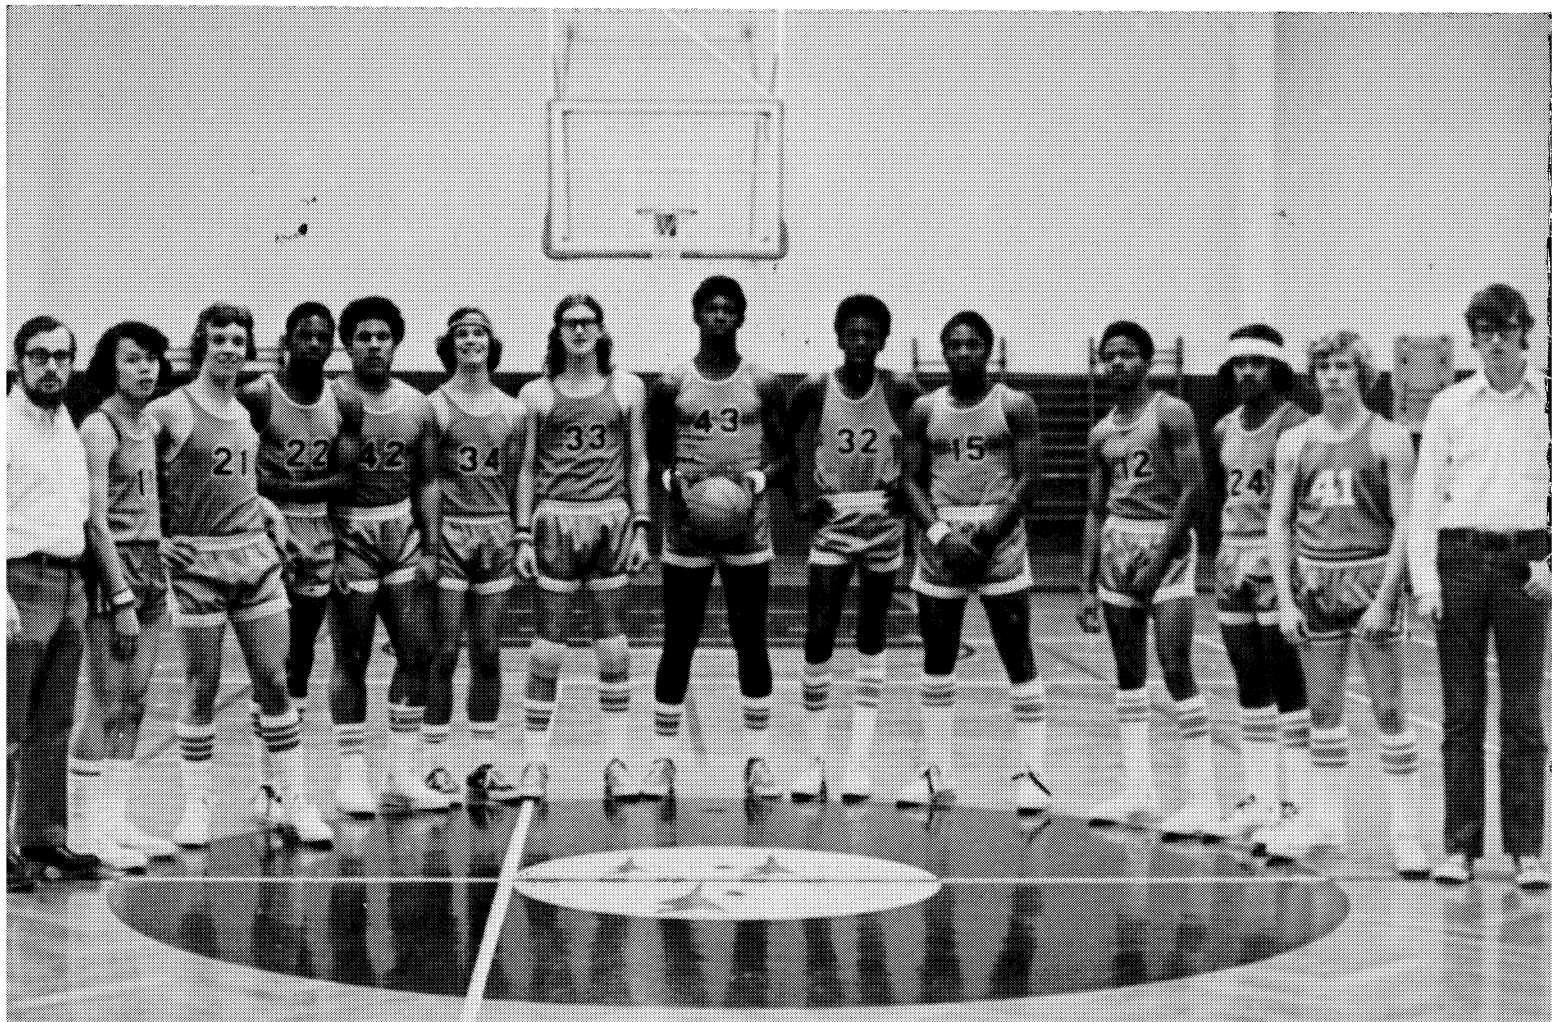

Jeff Anderson reaches for an easy shot.

Jeff Anderson escapes from the arms of a K-Town player.

Spectators and fellow teammates watch attentively as the Trojans await the opening tip-off.

J.V. Basketball

Who were those tall guys dribbling basketballs? It was the J.V. Basketball team of course! The guys practiced every day after school in the base gym. The games were always full of "butterflies in their stomachs" for the guys, as they were more excited, worried, tired and happy than the roaring crowds. With the coach getting them together to send them into the game, and the manager taping or doing last minute "stretch-outs", the guys were raring to go!

Where did everybody go?

Anybody for a game of Basketball?

It looks like a one man show.

Dave took a free shot and got out thru the concession stand.

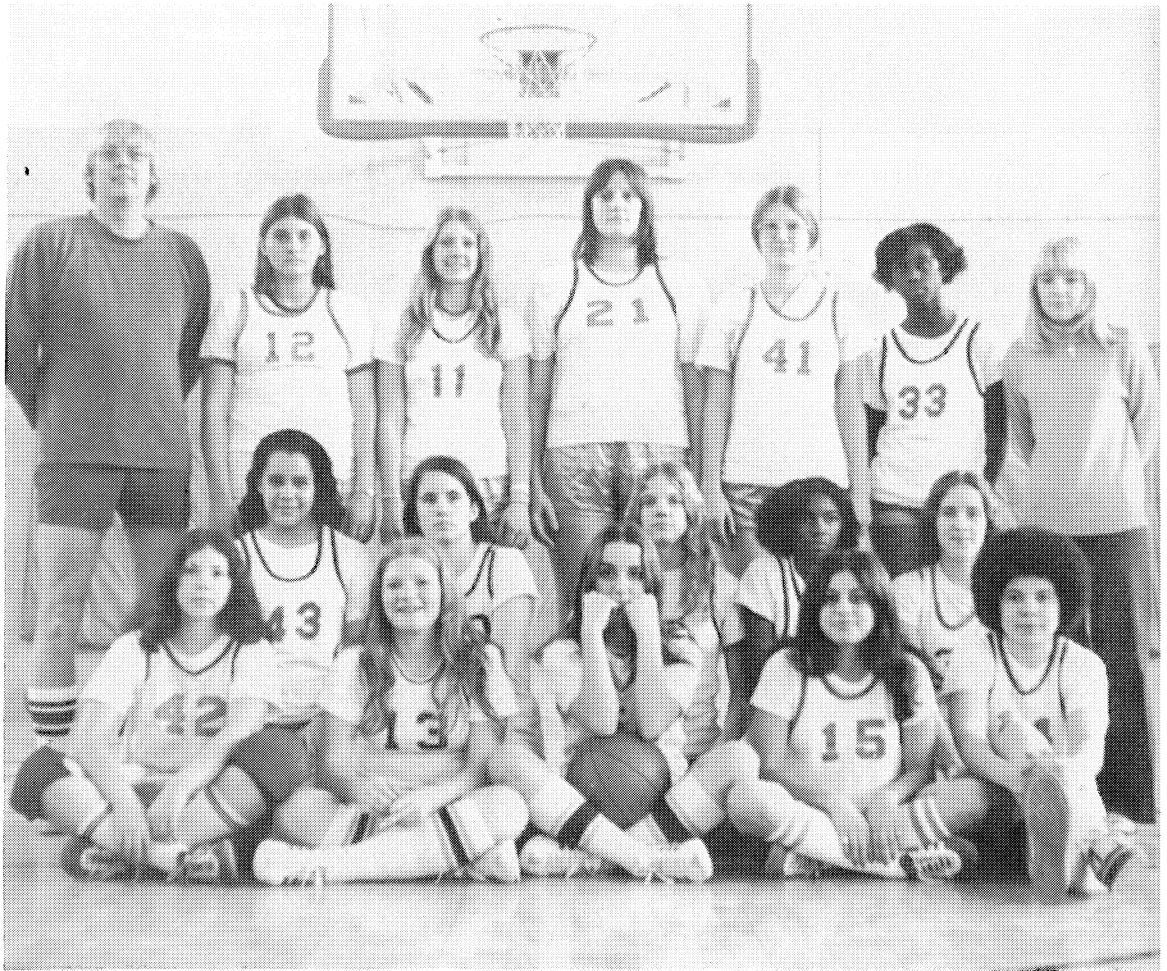

Girl's Basketball

Red Division Champions

The girl's basketball team was a newly formed sport at ZHS this year. The girls had tryouts, same as the guys, and were chosen on ability, height, and dependability. They traveled with the guys to compete in games against girls of other teams of other bases such as Karlsrue, Baumholder, and Berlin. They worked hard and their efforts were rewarded by a good and successful season.

Wrestling

Even though the team couldn't keep all the wrestlers all the time because Dad got his orders, they still had an extremely good year. They practiced from 3 o'clock to 5 o'clock everyday, and their scores showed it. They worked hard to either gain weight or build up their skills. Returning wrestlers were Bruce Brady, Joe Chobany, Vince Danials, Russel Krull, Gerry Oshesky, Jeff Osterman, Brian Simes.

The new wrestlers this year were Mark Carter, Phil Rynn, Chuck Thompson.

And the J.V. were Biff Browning, Darrell Kelley, and Tom Todero.

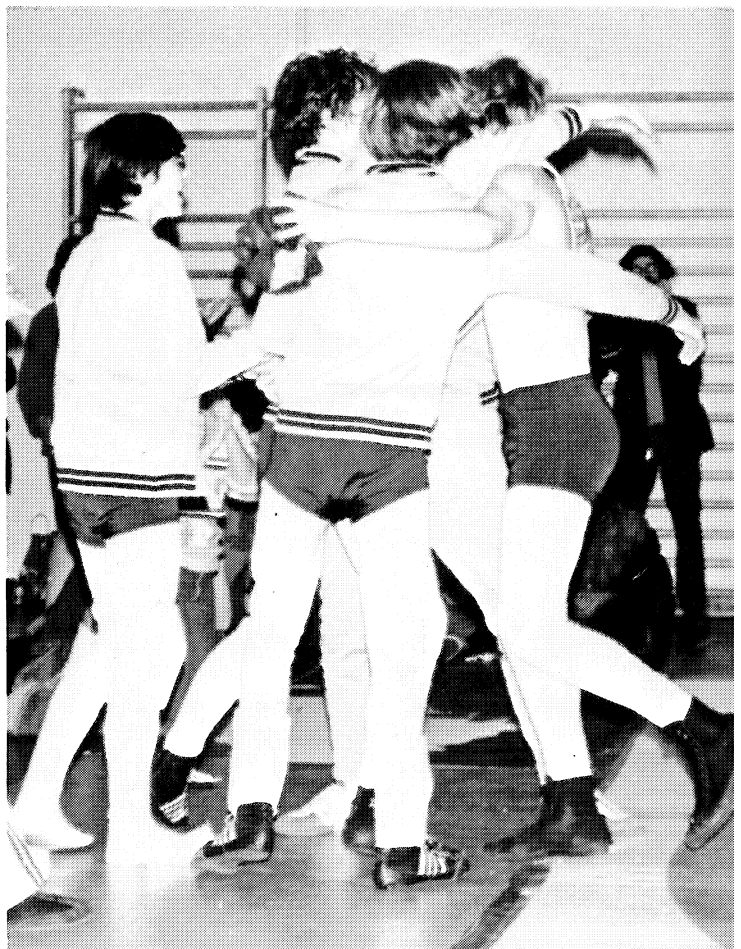

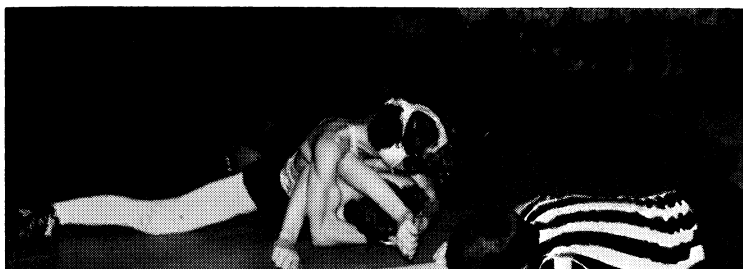

We have excellent scores today, but what is that?

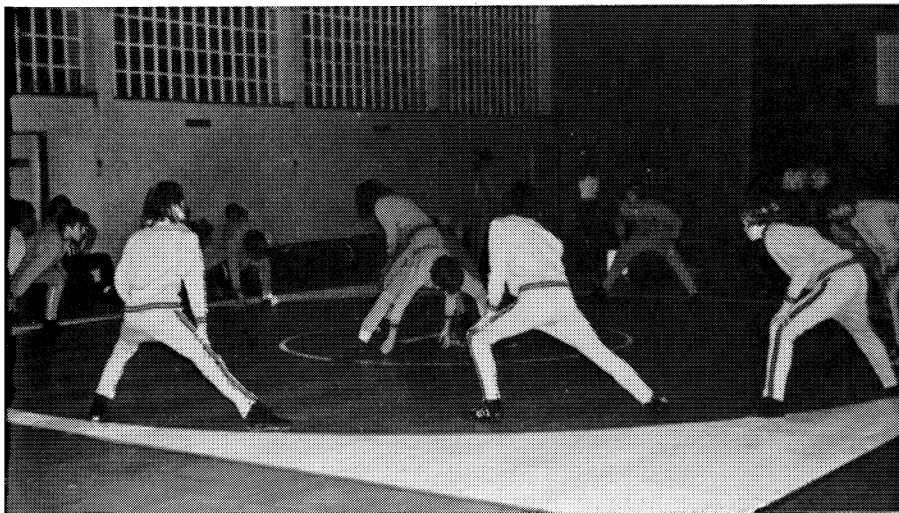

Hey, hey! We're the monkeys.

This is a group shot, although most of them could not fit in.

Whose arms are whose? Look closely and you will find our man is the muscle man.

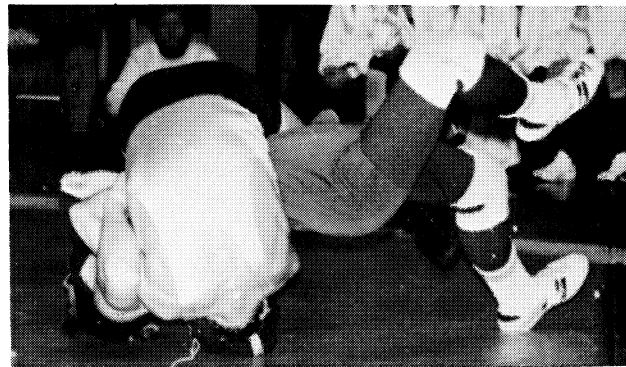

Brian Simes and Mark Rigsby lead the warm up circle.

Varsity Cheerleaders

The Cheerleaders of ZHS have done a great job in boosting the moral and spirit of all of the Trojan fans. With pep rallies, dinners, bake sales and games, the cheerleaders kept the crowds busy thinking of the Great Trojans all the time!

Organizations

German American Club

The German American Club, composed of 422 members, emphasised the students interest in the German Language and culture. (They began working under two sponsors, Miss Brandt and Miss Braser)

The club began its year with a successful Halloween party that associated both Germans and Americans. In November, the club went to the Trier candle factory and toured the popular Roman ruins. During Thanksgiving, some members collected food at the Housing Area for the Marunan Orphanage near K-Town. Everyone was caught by the spirit of December and members of the club visited the traditional Christkindles Market in Nurnburg.

The club joins together Germans and Americans in friendship to have better understanding towards each other. The club also marched in the Rosen Montag Parade in the City of Zweibruecken. The club also sponsored a Valentines Party for the Orphanage.

During the meetings a lot of business is done

Student Council

The 1974-75 Student Council spent many hours discussing and planning different activities. They sponsored the Homecoming activities, Howdy Week, and the Fifties Dance. They were in charge of the hoped-to-be Activity period and the Beautification program. They sent representatives to the Student Council Forum in Naples, Italy in February. They co-ordinated all money-making projects of our school. The new Student Bill of Rights caused much discussion and the council constitution was revised and ratified for next year. The hot lunch program was another Student Council project. Many things were accomplished but some weren't because of some obstacles that couldn't be overcome. The Student Council strove to end student apathy, and helped promote school spirit and pride in ZHS.

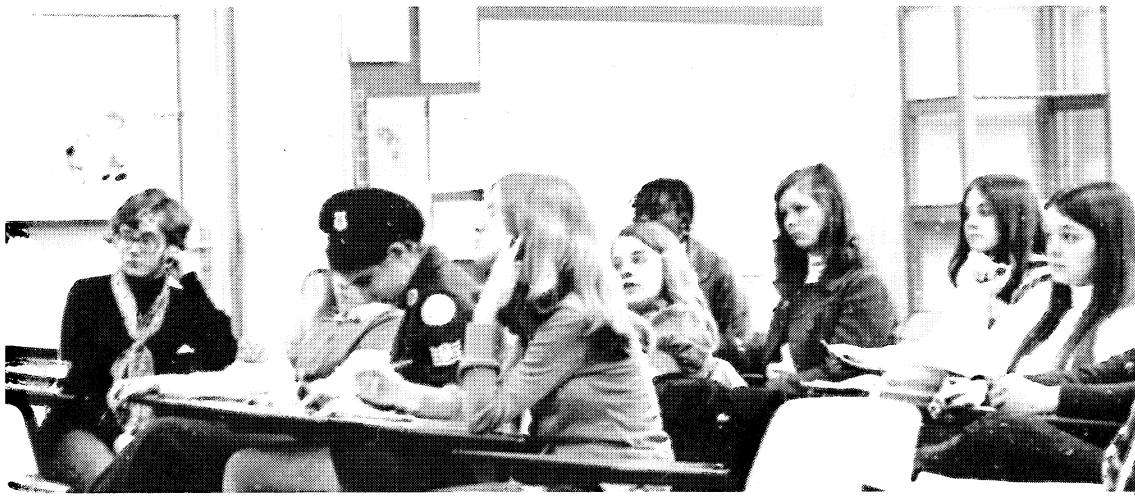

Different plans are sometimes hatched during meetings.

Wait! Could you please repeat that last statement?

We will now adjourn this meeting so I can spend some time with the lovely lady!

The members express mixed emotions.

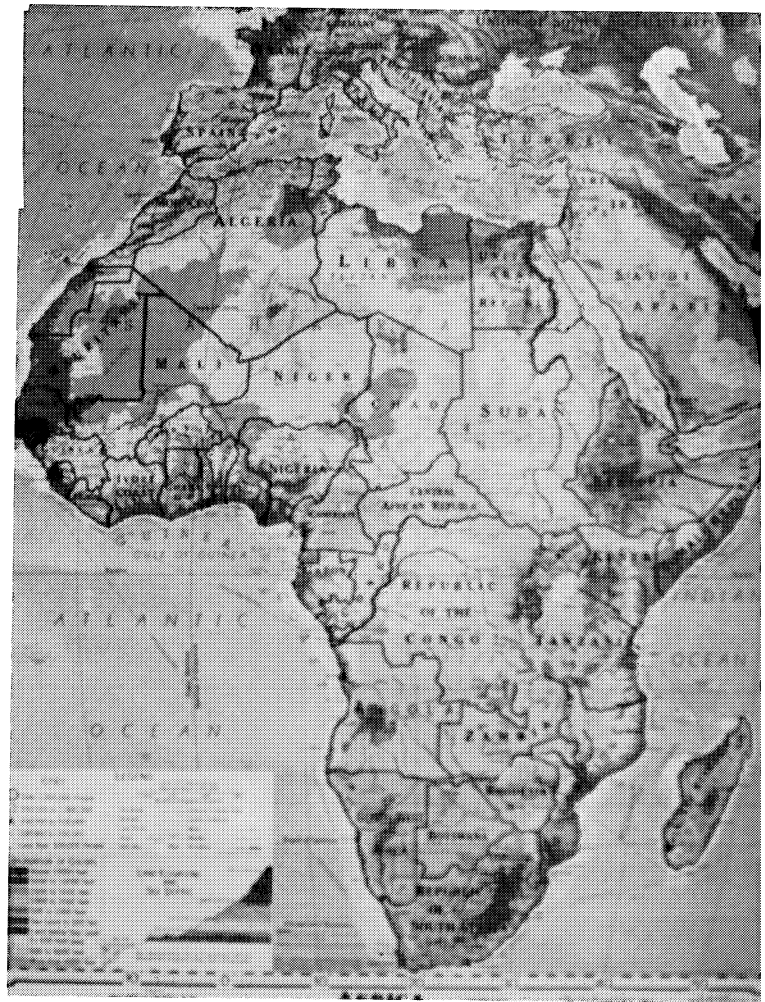

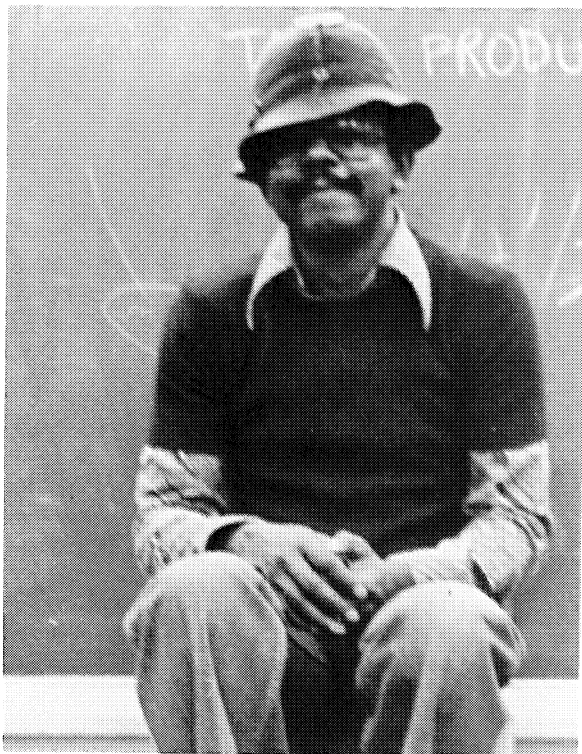

Mr. Zahrary spent many long hours sponsoring the student council.

IPA

The International Political Association was a new club at Zwei High this year. The IPA consisted of students from grades 10-12 who were interested in political happenings. The purpose of the club was to gain a better understanding and knowledge of current events. The members invited guest speakers to their meetings and in January took a trip to the Hague for a Model U.N.

Forensics

The speech department was quite busy this year. The newly formed speech club began meeting on Mondays towards the end of the first semester. They prepared for competition in such events as oratory extemporances, (no previous preparation of a particular speech), oral interpretation, impromptu, and debate. The speech department also sponsored the debate team.

Sunny Zwei Yearbook

The 1975 yearbook staff compiled the photos, and copies into their product-this book. Throughout the year complications arose and things looked tight and even grim at times. Because they missed many deadlines, the yearbook came later than usual. The staff members sold yearbooks, collected patron donations and sold advertising to organizations and businesses to raise the money (around $5000) to pay for the yearbook. They also assisted the professional photographer with school pictures. At the historical Sadie Hawkins Dance, the staff took pictures of people and sold them. Thanks to the hard work and near slavery (???? of maybe a few including the sponsor?) of dedicated people the Sunny Zwei Yearbook staff has produced this book-through tears, hours and laughter.

Safety Patrol

Safety Patrol at ZHS is designed and operated by students from grades 7-12. Its purpose is to prevent accidents and make sure the crosswalks and roads are safe for the students to use between classes. There are 25 members in service for the Safety Patrol. The commander-in-chief of the Safety Patrol is Harry Schwartz who directed and advised all his fellow patrol persons.

National Honor Society

Sue Burke, President; Cindy Turnipseed, Vice President; Jo Alice Randolph, Secretary; STANDING L to R Mike Green, treasurer; Miss Scholton, Sponsor.

The foundation of the National Honor Society is to honor those students who achieved high average scores during their years in high school. It is also to honor those students who show their leadership, character, and service at Zweibrucken High School. The Jr. High Academic Bowl was sponsored by the NHS this year and the members coached the 7-8 graders to compete in various areas of mathematics. NHS also had many bake sales to make money.

Trojan Chaos

The Trojan CHAOS, the school newspaper, was staffed by a group of fast moving, swift talking, and highly informed journalists. They were constantly using their nose for news to publicize events and certain readers with their imaginative writing that was often up-to-date and correctly blocked typed and put together into a final dummy. Their after school work-nights-with between 3 to 25 students at one time doing 3 to 25 different things to produce the paper-lived up to the paper's name. They always got it together and gave the school a good product.

Staff Members-First Semester Herman Fox, Ron Beach, Stephanie Moss, Terry Lillich, Audrey Miller, Marie Savage, Lisa Schider, Nadine Van Bilder, Gary Webb, Jackie Mitzner, and Tey Hastings.

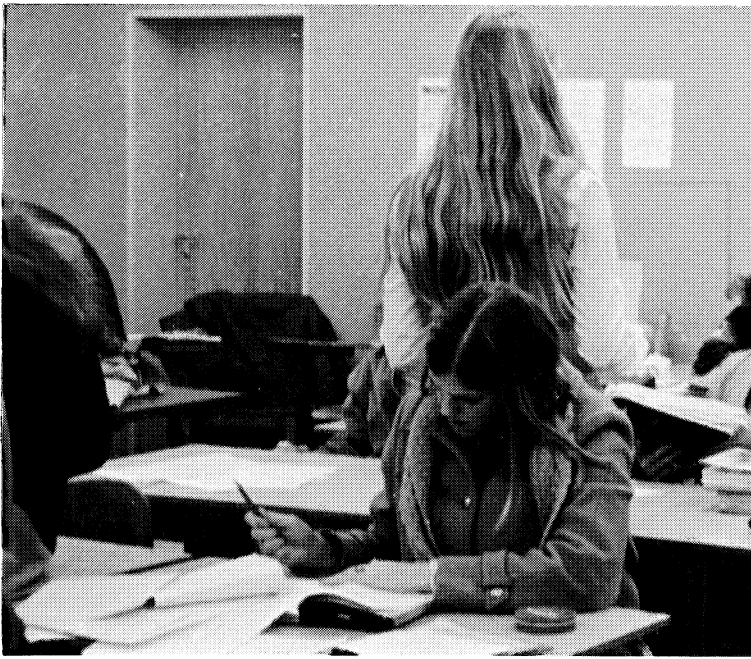

Second Semester only: Billy Carelock, Carmen Jones, Terry Maglothin, Rosa Montez, Tony Palau, Dale Poage, Russell Pratt, Mike Puckett, Richard Stoolmaker, Kerry Taylor, and Thomas Todaro.

Ms. Berry, the CHAOS sponsor was driven to MAD (magazine that is) by those verbose journalists on the staff both semesters.

The staff gets it together at one of their after school work nights with the glue pot, pencils, eyes and mouths all at once at work. Go get 'em journalists.

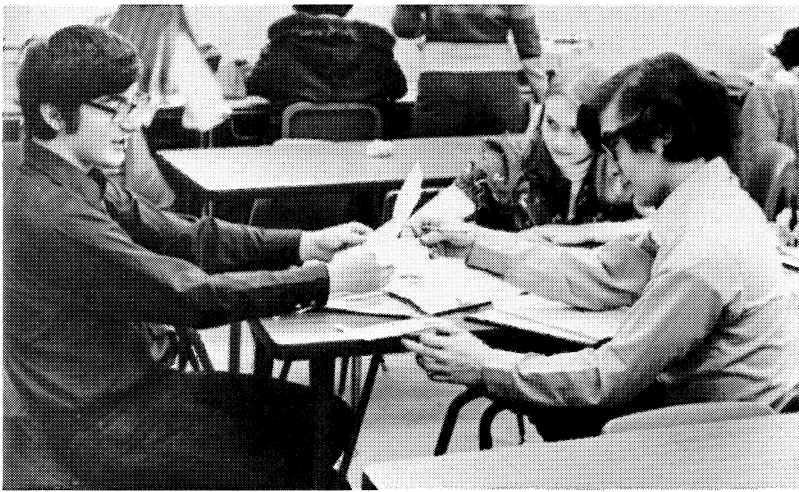

Stacey Groscoat, second semester co-editor, and Karen Parrish, the business manager, put their heads together and come up with an organized staff and unique ideas for the CHAOS.

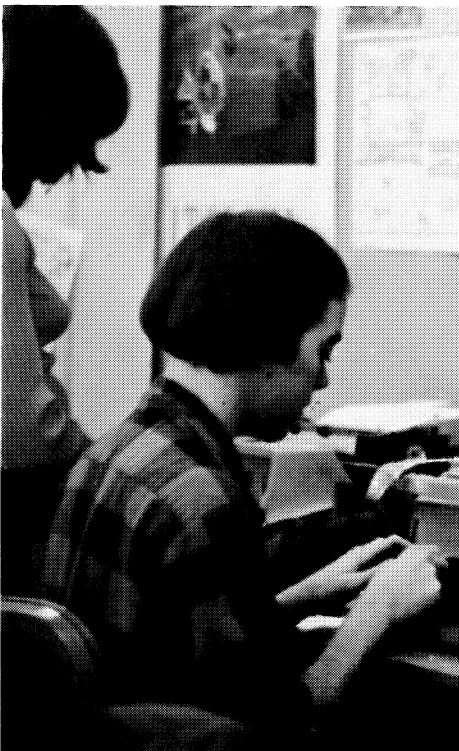

Herman Fox, first semester editor, confers with Ron Beach and Marie Savage, both first semester staff members, about articles to be printed in that issue.

Gary Webb, reporter and staff member first semester, concentrates on a page layout.

Trey Hastings types blocked copy for a news story first semester as Kim Cupp does a headline.

Jackie Mitzner writes up a scoop as Phil Rynn and Stacey Groscoat discuss the sports pages.

Band

This year's band class was once again under the conduction of Haskel Lentz. To enroll in the band a prerequisite was required to know how to play a musical instrument. Different pieces were used consisting of classical, marches, and popular music. The band class performed in most of the football games this year but wasn't expected to perform any concerts.

The three band members are Jim Postelle and Jim Sexton on the drums and Emma Espiritu playing the flute.

Choir

This year's choir was under the conduction of Mr. Lentz, the music director. One of the events the choir participated in this year was the Christmas assembly December 20. They sang different arrangements of music before and after the Christmas play.

Choir, organized for the first time this year was made up of those students who wished to increase their music potential.

Letterman's Club

Sportsmanship and team unity are the main objectives of the Letterman's Club. This honorary club demands much determination and time from an athlete before he is added to the list of dedicated Trojans. By perfecting their skills in the field of sports, members work to uphold the goals of Zweibrucken High School. After achieving this, these boys and girls are initiated and given a letter, a deserving symbol of their skills.

Pep Club

Spirit. The essential factor of ZHS's atmosphere. Trojanland was pulsating with the eager spirit of the Trojans.

Attending football, basketball, and wrestling games and supporting the athletes was the main purpose of the pep club. To be recognized, the pep club ordered new uniforms. To raise money the club had weekly bake sales.

Seniors class of 75

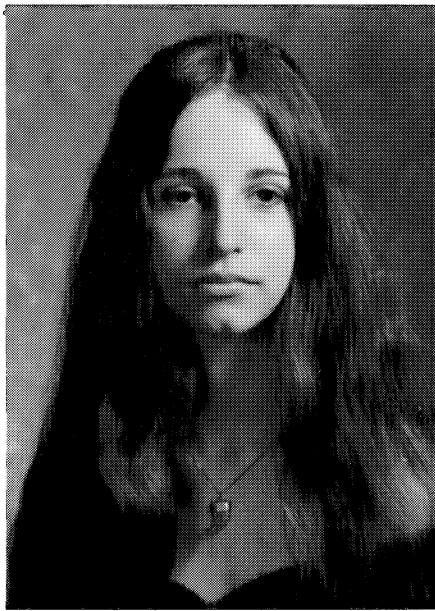

I am the mighty senior. Everybody looks up to me. I have mastered the "fine art" of skipping class and smoking in the bathroom. Only I get to eat at the snack bar and only I can have a free period . . . I find myself confronted with college applications, ACT's, SAT's . . . HELP! (I love beer) These four years have gone so fast. You know, I'm not such a big shot. In fact, I'm just a regular person. Life is just beginning for me. (I'm sorta scared I sure am gonna miss everybody after graduation. I love my class . . . I love my friends . . . I love being a senior . . . (I love me)

I am a junior, and its not as easy as I thought it would be. Sure, I'm an upperclassman now, but a feeling of uncertainty still remains. PSAT's, thoughts about a career, and college occupied my mind a lot of the time.

But I had other worries . . . the prom. I had to raise money, and money, and more money. So, I had bake sales, set up a concession stand at the games, and sold cokes in the halls.

I am a sophomore, the "wise-fool." Leaving behind the lunchtime food fights of the freshmen, I took on the finer art of skipping class. (But still got caught) I'm in a kind of limbo . . . somewhere between the newness of being a freshman and the excitement of being an upperclassman.

I added to the school life by sponsoring the Howdy, Halloween, and Valentine dances. With nothing else to do, I just sat back and looked forward to next year, when I would be an upperclassman.

I am a freshman, humble and awkward. The school awes me, and so do the upperclassmen, Will I ever have their confidence? When I do, I can skip class and smoke in the bathroom. But until then, I'll have to be content to sit in class and raise my hand to answer questions.

I had a typical freshman year - I got lost, baked for bake sales, and had a funny looking float. I didn't have to worry about PSAT's and SAT's. Those are a thing of the future. I guess sometimes it's nice to act immature and not have a thing in the world to worry about!

Robin 'n Beth Smile The End.

Life begins and every day, every year brings a broader understanding, a deeper sympathy, and a conclusion that the greatest thing in the world is people.

When your dreams have failed you - dream again. When your castles tumble—dream again. Never give up—dream again. The next time you'll be stronger and wiser. Think of the things you meant to do and keep those goals in view. Do not listen to the world or look on the failures of your past but set your face toward the coming years. Success comes only after trials and tears—so dream again.

Happiness does not depend upon what happens outside of you but on what happens inside of you; it is measured by the spirit in which you meet the problems of life. Happiness doesn't come from doing what we like to do but from liking what we have to do. Happiness grows out of harmonious relationships with others based on attitude of good will, tolerance, understanding, and love.
