About the Artist

Jenny Goring is a fine artist and freelance illustrator based in Colorado. Her work is cheerful and uplifting, focusing on the positive aspects of people and our interactions with nature and one another.

Her fine art collages are highly textured, drawing the viewer in closer to investigate hidden details. They are multi-layered both in physical form and in the meaning they invoke encouraging us to ask more questions and have an open heart. As an illustrator, she has created custom visualizations for public and private companies in the fields of government, energy, food and beverage, manufacturing, technology, law, finance and more.

Now, Jenny is focusing on product surface design as a way to bring joy to people in their homes and everyday lives.
