

Program Schedule

Capturing Opportunities in the Energy Transition Via the Supply Network

This in-person program will utilize interactive and active learning pedagogies throughout. Faculty take full advantage of the in-person format and maximize participant interactions and discussions, learning not only from the instructors but from one another. Program schedule is subject to change.

Day 1

9:00 a.m. - Noon	The Energy Ecosystem and Opportunities to Profit <ul style="list-style-type: none">• This session starts with an examination of the swift, historic shift to renewable energy. As costs have plummeted, huge opportunities have opened up, yet these often seem out of reach or are deeply confusing for many. The session will provide examples of smaller organization that have benefitted by finding partners to help transform their supply networks. In addition, this session will examine the basic framework of ESG practices with an eye to finding profitable opportunities to advance benefits for all.• ESG standards and frameworks• ESG trends and issues• Factors companies need to consider as they shape their ESG strategies• Life Cycle Analysis• Circular Economy and links across the supply network• Scope 1, 2 and 3 emissions
Noon - 1:00 p.m.	Lunch
1:00 - 2:00 p.m.	Energy and Sustainability Fluency Skills Digital Skills - Scope 1, 2 and 3 Analysis
2:00 - 3:00 p.m.	Sustainability Fluency Skills Transdisciplinarity & Change
3:00 - 4:00 p.m.	Energy and Sustainability Fluency Skills Change Management <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Three phases of organizational change• Power and credibility of change agent• Timetables
4:00 - 5:00 p.m.	Energy and Sustainability Science - Carbon, water, water flows, energy, chemicals

Day 2

8:00 a.m - Noon	Energy and Sustainability Fluency - Competencies <ul style="list-style-type: none">• System thinking• Futures thinking• Circular thinking• Design thinking
-----------------	--

Program Schedule

Capturing Opportunities in the Energy Transition Via the Supply Network

This in-person program will utilize interactive and active learning pedagogies throughout. Faculty take full advantage of the in-person format and maximize participant interactions and discussions, learning not only from the instructors but from one another. Program schedule is subject to change.

Day 2

Noon - 1:00 p.m.

Lunch

1:00 - 5:00 p.m.

Building a Network and Business Case

- This session will be a combination of group discussion and small group breakouts. With the guidance of sustainability professionals from The Ohio State University and from industry, groups of 4-6 will whiteboard their way to proposals for short sustainability statements and strategies for their businesses. This session will wrap up with a large group discussion to explore commonalities across industries and companies.