KANSAS CITY, MO, May 4, 2015

KCPT is pleased to announce the receipt of the Edward R. Murrow Regional award for our website www.flatlandkc.org.

Flatland was launched in January of 2015 as one of KCPT's new initiatives to serve the growing digital audience, develop partnerships with other digital media creators and serve as a platform for journalism, storytelling and community conversations.

President and CEO Kliff Kuehl said, "KCPT has devoted a great deal of time and resources to developing new models for our community to access public media. Over the course of the last year we have worked especially hard to create a website that would span the breadth of our city and serve as home for stories of our region. It's an incredible honor to receive this award just months after our initial soft launch."

The Radio Television Digital News Association has been honoring outstanding achievements in electronic journalism with the Edward R. Murrow Awards since 1971. Award recipients demonstrate the spirit of excellence that Murrow set as a standard for the profession of electronic journalism. KCPT was included in the large market category for Region 5: Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska.

1 *KCPT is a nonprofit, community-owned television station serving the greater Kansas City area that provides programming and services—on air and off—that entertain, educate and enrich the community.
