Imagine KC Takes a Look Back

Thursday, November 8, 2012 at 9pm

KANSAS CITY, MO, November 2, 2012: KCPT's next episode of Imagine KC looks back at the past couple of years – re-examining some of the stories we've told and taking a look at what progress we've made to become a more vibrant, connected, and green metro.

We Want To Hear From You!

Imagine KC has featured more than 50 stories that help us envision a metro that is more vibrant, connected, and green.

Now we want to get your opinion on policies and programs that could impact that vision.

- What does a successful transportation system look like?
- How can that empty lot in your neighborhood be put to better use?
- What makes a good, local, food system?

Go to ImagineKC.org to be a part of the conversation and tell us what you think.

Imagine KC is a co-production of KCPT and the Mid-America Regional Council.
