Time Machine!

The DeLorean sports car was the brainchild of John DeLorean, the automotive maverick and former General Motors engineer who created the Pontiac GTO in 1964. The DMC-12, with its distinctive stainless steel body and exotic gull-wing doors, debuted in 1981. By 1983, amidst financial difficulties and prosecution on a federal drug charge of which he was later acquitted, the venture unraveled after building only 8,583 cars. Ironically, the futuristic-looking DeLorean car is most recognized for its role as Doc Brown's "Time Machine" in the Back to the Future film trilogy, (1985-1990) starring Michael J. Fox.
