

Ms. Frederickson is born in Concord, Massachusetts to George Adolf and Pauline Hazen Magnuson.

Ms. Frederickson studies at Kalamazoo College.

Ms. Frederickson becomes a College Board member of Mademoiselle magazine.

Ms. Frederickson graduates cum laude from the University of New Hampshire, receiving a Bachelor of Arts.

Ms. Frederickson becomes a staff writer at Computerworld Newsweekly in Newton, Massachusetts.

Ms. Frederickson receives a Master of Education from Boston College.

1946

1964

1965

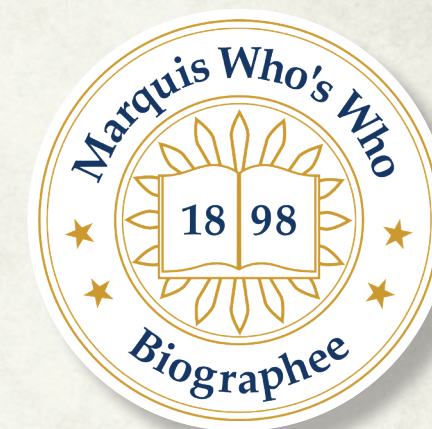

1968

1969

1974

CHRISTINE M. FREDERICKSON

Reporter | Researcher | Editor | Writer | Docent

A timeline of professional milestones

1986

1997

1998

1999

2000

2009

2011

Ms. Frederickson becomes the radio events editor of Antique Radio Classified with Vintage Radio Publishing LLC in Carlisle, Massachusetts.

Ms. Frederickson serves as a docent with the San Gabriel Mission in California.

Ms. Frederickson becomes a new script writer at The Fountain Theatre in Los Angeles, California and authors "Doña Victoria-First Lady of San Gabriel."

Ms. Frederickson serves as an independent contractor and court reporter in Los Angeles and becomes a producer for the Southwest Museum of the American Indian.

Ms. Frederickson receives a fellowship from the National Critics Institute in Waterford, Connecticut.

Ms. Frederickson receives the History Award from the San Gabriel Mission.

Ms. Frederickson serves as a docent with Las Angelitas del Pueblo in Los Angeles.