ARTS EDUCATION Grounds For Sculpture runs free educational programs specifically developed to address the needs of vulnerable populations in our community, including seniors, at-risk teens, homeless children, veterans and adults with cognitive and physical impairments. As a community arts organization, we constantly strive to improve and expand our programs and services as part of our commitment to accessibility for all. In 2018, we restructured the Education department to include two new positions: Manager of Group Visit and School Programs and Experiential Programs. We developed a new series of community-driven programs as part of a series we named Common Threads, offering varied points of entry into Joyce J. Scott's work. These included introductions to West African culture through dance and drums led by the Trenton-based Egun Omode performing arts groups, stories of Harriet Tubman's life told by Tubman's cousin, and book club conversations.
