Explanation

APA is affiliated with 54 divisions that represent major scientific and professional inter ests. The divisions operate independently from APA. Upon request, APA will act as a collection agent for dues and assessments paid by the divisions members. Amounts collected and held by APA on behalf of the divisions are included in current assets and current liabilities in the accompanying consolidated statements of financial position. Cash and cash equivalents and investments held on behalf of the divisions totaled $10,763,658 and $11,235,402 as of December 31, 2018 and 2017, respectively

Supplemental Information
Return Reference	Explanation
SCHEDULE D, PART X, LINE 2	ASC 740 Footnote APA recognizes tax liabilities when, despite the managements belief that tax return positions are supportable, APA believes that certain positions may not be fully sustained upon review by tax authorities. Benefits from tax positions are measured at the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50% likely of being realized upon settleme in To the extent that the final tax outcome of these matters is different than the amount is recorded, such differences impact income tax expense in the period in which such determination is made. Interest and penalties, if any, related to accrued liabilities for potential tax assessments are included in income tax expense. APA is generally no longer subject to income tax examinations by the U.S. federal, state or local tax authorities for years ended December 31, 2014 and prior. Management has evaluated APAs tax positions and has concluded that APA has taken no material uncertain tax positions that require adjustment to the consolidated financial statements to comply with the provisions of this guidance.

FORM 990, PART III, LINE 4D	OTHER PROGRAM SERVICE ACCOMPLISHMENTS PUBLIC INTEREST. The APA Public Interest directorate promotes the creation, communication, and application of psychological knowledge to incre ase social justice, human health and welfare, and the universal enjoyment of human rights. In 2018, the directorate managed over $1.6 Million in federal and foundation grants addre sing HIV/AIDS research, prevention, and care, lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender adu it and adolescent health, well-being, and human rights, health disparities and smoking in behavioral health populations. Among 2018 APA-funded programs were activities addressing p sychological issues related to women, children, youth, and families, sexual orientation and gender diversity, racial and ethnic minorities, HIV/aids, socioeconomic status, violence prevention, disability, aging, work, stress, and health, health disparities, and human rights. PUBLIC & MEMBER COMMUNICATIONS. The APA communications department is the primary por nt of contact for news media and the public, and as such, strives to advance psychology as a science, as a profession, and as a means of promoting human health and welfare. The communications department works with the CEO and all APA offices and directorates to identify work products and other information of interest to the media. It uses news releases, social media, the website, videos, advertising and other communications vehicles to deliver in formation about psychology and APA to mainistream and trade media and the public. SCIENCE. The Science Directorate seeks to advance research and training in psychological science, to enhance public understanding of the value and contributions of the field, and to represe in the interests of psychological scientists and students. In support of these goals, the directorate awards research and travel grants for graduate students (134 grants in 2018), supports advanced research training for faculty and students (5 training courses with 117 participants attending in 2018, grants to 6 departments to
